

Politics always make the headlines. This was again proved several weeks ago when we had the much heralded World Food Conference in Rome, Italy. We heard all kinds of political hogwash and cant coming from that vast assemblage of politicians and economists. Strangly enough, there apparently was not a single food scientist in attendance. This is standard in the world of politics - getting together of a large group to talk about something which basically they know nothing

At this world food conference, the standard gaggle of bleeding hearts and ne'er-dowells did the expected. They gave Ole Uncle Sam a fit for not providing more food to feed the peoples whose governments and preposterous religious beliefs won't let them feed themselves. Did we hear any suggestion that these world mendicants feed themselves? We did not! All the ballyhoo was based upon the supposition that these poor countries could not feed themselves and that they were doing all they could to provide their own food.

This supposition is the maximum canard. These countries are NOT doing all they can to feed themselves. Not by a long sive, idealogical unsound government that prevents the introduction of modern advanced scientific methods of farming. They are mainly in their mess because of divers and scientifically unsound religious practices. It is the contentions of a growing body of food scientists that world food production could be doubled and redoubled if political and religious considerations were put aside in favor of scientifically proven methods of food management.

This is where the political boondoggle comes in. At the time of this international teeth-gnashing soiree in Rome, a large gathering of certified food scientists was taking place in Chicago, Ill. It was at the Chicago gathering that the real discussion of food production was going on. It was there that actual proven methods of getting bigger crops was explored. It was there that the lie was put to the talk of international starvation. It was at Chicago where the knowledge to save the world's multiplying millions was on

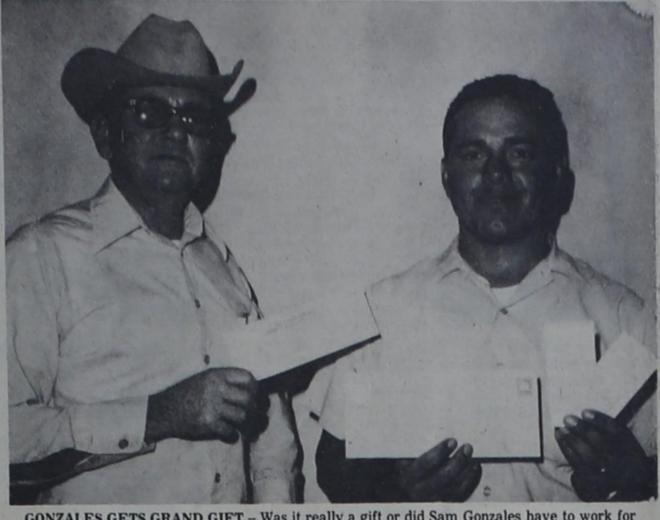

Yet, was a SINGLE POLIT-ICIAN there to soak up even a little knowledge which could be translated into action that could save their own countrymen? NO, THEY WERE NOT. They were in Rome giving Uncle Sam hell, and he was taking it as usual.

It was in Chicago where Dr. Richard Bradfield, truly a towering figure in agronomy, said, "The greatest production potential for food production is that band of 150 miles on either side of the Equator. The cultivable land there is about the same order of magnitude as all the land that is in production in the world today. It isn't nature's failure. It's man's failure to use what nature has provided."

These are true words. But how are you going to change the governments and religious beliefs of the majority of the world. This we do not know. We do however believe that massive giveaway programs by the United States, no matter how well intentioned, IS NOT THE ANSWER. A much more realistic approach by our political and religious bodies must come about before world hunger if finally appeased.

God in his infinite wisdom has endowned his children with the natural resources and mental capabilities to provide health and comfort to all. His children, in their pursuit of mammon, have strayed from the will of the Almighty and will pay the price for the errors of their ways. This is written in past history and apparently will be so in the future. The world must return to a more moral and rational basis or suffer the consequences.

GONZALES GETS GRAND GIFT - Was it really a gift or did Sam Gonzales have to work for his honor? According to pigskin prognosticators from throughout the area, "The football contest is a lot of fun, but it sure is a lot of hard work," and this hard work reaped a lot of fun for Gonzales in the form of two tickets to the Cotton Bowl Game to be played in Dallas New Year's Day 1975 and $50 expense money. Gonzales topped a field of 447 contestants in the 16th Annual Area Merchants Football contest by accumulating 82 total points. Second Prize of two tickets to the Sun Bowl and $25 expense money was won by Billy Meeks who had a total of 81 correct calls. He was awarded the prize when a tallying of point spreads revealed Meeks was off 200 points compared to two other second place contenders, Frances Norton with 213 and Sue Kirkland with 207. Gonzales was presented the Grand Prize by Bill Roberts of Interstate Fertilizer, one of the sponsors of the annual contest.

The 1974 contest ended last week with Wardlaw, Jack D. this time, calling nine games correctly to take the first place weekly prize money of $5.

Following Wardlaw and taking second place and $3 was Doyle Green. Green called eight games and came out six; points off on the tie-breaker score. Eugene Guss also called eight games correctly but missed the tie-breaker score by nine points to be awarded $1 for third place in the weekly competition.

In reviewing the final week's entry blanks, it was revealed that all three winners missed their calls on the Dolphins-Jets clash. Green and Guss got their second incorrect call when they both selected Tech over Arkansas. Six other persons also finished up the final week with eight correct calls to their credit. They were Sam Gonzales, Sue Kirkland, Terry Newell, Fern Christian, Eldon Embry and Jo Walker. Tiebreaker scores for these "eighters" ranged from 11 points off to 34 points off.

For the fourth time this year, all three weekly winners' names were new additions to the winners' column in the 12week football madness game. There were several new records set this year in the way of statistics for the contest such as a record number of entries. A total of 447 entrants made their bids for weekly prizes and grand prizes during the fun with two "never before" winners taking tickets to the Cotton Bowl and Sun Bowl

Eighty-two was the magic number for Sam Gonzales of Muleshoe as the pigskin prognosticator came from a third place position last week to top the 447 entries this week and take the Grand Prize in the 16th Annual Area Merchants Football Contest. Gonzales racked up a 12-week total of 82 points for the win. He was the only entrant to accumulate 82 points over the contest period and came out of the competition with two tickets to the Cotton Bowl Game to be played in Dallas on New Year's Day 1975. Booterie in Clovis has shown the pup.

Mrs. Williamson first became interested in assisting the Davises when she read an article in the "Clovis News Journal" describing their plight and their high medical bills. "I have four children of my own, and I felt that I should do something to help this young couple," she stated.

Mrs. Williamson called Patsy Bell of Clovis to see if a fund had been set up to assist the young couple. A fund had been established and cans to collect donations had been placed at several locations. Desiring to assist in paying the hospital bills of the young couple, Mrs. Williamson decided to auction the puppy to the highest bidder who would give it a decent home. "I realize the money for the pup will only be a drop in the bucket toward their medical bills, but I hope it will stimulate interest in helping them," Mrs. Williamson stated.

Bob Brooks, administrator at Memorial Hospital in Clovis, reported that the couple is now at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston. David is undergoing treatment and Delores faces further surgery in the attempt to save her leg. Brooks said he estimated that Delores faces about six months further hospitalization.

When the couple was dismissed from Memorial Hospital in Clovis and transferred to Galveston, Brooks stated, their hospital bill amounted to approximately $19,000, not including doctors' fees, etc.

Brooks stated that neither of the couple's families have the resources to help with the mounting medical bills, and the couple had no insurance of their own. "All the nursing service at the hospital here fell in love with them," Brooks

Several Clovis merchants and individuals have donated various articles of clothing and merchandise and some money to help the couple.

The couple was admitted to Memorial Hospital in Clovis following a car-motorcycle collision at approximately 1:55 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 1, about 1.1 miles east of Farwell. A car going east on Highway 84 crossed the median into the west bound lane colliding with two motorcycles.

Contenders failed to hit number 79 with their totals but two persons came up with 78 points. Bill Boling and Jim Rogers both came out with 78 as Rogers slid out of the running for the top prizes. Rogers had been in serious contention for the Cotton Bowl Tickets from the first week of the competition but only during the final five weeks did he make a show in the winners' circle.

The first week of listing in the leaders' column, Rogers jumped into the second place position. He then fell to third but bounced back the following week to regain his second place seat. During the 11th week of competition he was moved down to fourth place and Tire, Texico Feed Lots, and remained there during the finally tally. As the final week's entry blanks were being scored a notation was found at the very bottom of Rogers' entry. It simply stated, "LAST DITCH EFFORT!!! Pipe and Iron, Booth and It's been fun!"

1974 saw a lot of records set and a few "coincidences" crop up. Among those to be noted are the number of entries involved in the contest. Final total showed that 447 persons from across the Twin Cities, Clovis, Post, Muleshoe, Amarillo, Portales and many more places had been in competition for the prizes. Only three weeks did our first place weekly winner correctly predict all ten games on the entry blank. And one week two persons called ten to tie for the position making only four "10 rights" for the season.

In the final week of guessing, Farwell junior high student Jack D. Wardlaw was declared first place winner. In the first week of guessing Larry Wardlaw was declared first place winner. Each of the Wardlaws called nine games correctly to take their wins and they were only person during the respective weeks to call nine games. Cotton Production Reports Requested By ASCS Officials Cotton producers need to file production reports for each cotton allotment farm each year, says Prentice Mills, executive director of Parmer County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. It is important that all cotton produced on a farm be identified to the farm on which it was produced, he adds.

"The producer who is operating more than one farm should take care not to commingle the cotton from his farms. Separate production evidence is required from each farm in order to establish future payment yields. It is also needed in determining eligibility for and amount of dis-aster payments," explains

Mills. Cotton farmers are asked to file their production records with the county ASCS office as soon as possible after they have completed a farm's cotton harvest.

"We have a standard form for evidence of cotton production and the procedure is the same as for 1973. Most producers in Parmer County are familiar with the requirements and if anybody has any questions, a telephone call or visit to the ASCS office will get the answers." Mills advises.

Farmers applying for disaster payment eligibility are not to plow the cotton field until after it has been inspected by an ASCS representative.

"We do want to stress that commingling of cotton from more than one farm is to be avoided. Individual farm production records must be maintained," concludes Mills

The home management specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, contends that now - more than ever people should include life's "little things" in their thoughts of thankfulness.

"The biggest events in life depend on the smallest - and long-term goals are reached by tackling several short-term ones," she said.

"For example, few families can buy an automobile or house with a lump-sum payment. Only through small, manageable payments are such luxuries possible."

Money is only one family resource to be thankful for, the specialist continued.

Brandon, organist, who played appropriate wedding selections and also accompanied Homer Tankersley who sang "My Own True Love" before the bridal procession. After the couple exchanged vows, they knelt on the white satin covered bench as Tankersley sang the "Lords Prayer." After a closing prayer by Dr. Scott, the couple lighted the unity candle.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Whitington chose a floorlength dress of mint green polyester knit with lace and small beads accenting the bodice, neckline and cuffs. Her corsage was bittersweet carnations with apricot satin

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the chapel of the church. The table, covered with a full skirted ivory satin cloth, featured four cakes on revolving stands which set off the three sumptuous tiers that soared above. Small apricot-colored roses blossomed out amid the rich swags and scrolls of snowy icing. Bittersweet roses accented the top of the cake. The bride's bouquet was placed on the table. Former school friends of the bride, Mrs. Stanley Stutts, Mrs. Wiley Snyder, Mrs. Jesse Porter and Mrs. Bob Lazenby, served the wedding cake, mints, nuts, and apricot punch to the wedding guests. Also assisting with the reception were Mrs. Benny Fulgham, Mrs. Sam Barnes, Mrs. S. F. Good, Mrs. Marie Chapman, Mrs. Charles Stanfield, and Mrs. Otha Lock-

For her going away attire, Ann chose an ensemble of blue sueded pigskin leather which was fashioned for her in Florence, Italy. It consisted of an A-line skirt, knee-length coat and a silk blouse. She accented it with navy blue accessories and carried the orchid from her bridal bouquet. Breaking tradition, the bride presented her bridal blue garter on the arm of his best man, Harry Whitington.

Reconciliation postulates alienation. Only enemies can be reconciled. Thus God's message of reconciliation takes us back to Adam, the father of the human race, who first rebelled against God, and explains why God must deal with us all on the same level, as sinners who need salvation.

In Rom. 5:12 we read: "...By one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned."

Thank God, though, the message of reconciliation is not concerned exclusively with the "one man" by whom sin entered into the world. Indeed, it is chiefly concerned with the "one Mediator between God and men, the Man Christ Jesus" (I Tim. 2:5).

"Therefore as by the offence of one, judgment came upon all men unto condemnation; even so by the righteousness of one, the free gift (of salvation) came upon all men to justification of life.

"For as by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous" (Rom. 5:18,19).

It is by this other "one Man" and His death on Calvary, then, that sinners may be reconciled to a holy God. In Col. 1:21,22, Paul, the apostle of reconciliation, writes to "And you, that were once AL-

IENATED AND ENEMIES in your mind by wicked works, yet now hath He RECONCILED, "In the body of His flesh, through we were reconciled to God by the death of His Son" (Rom. 5:10). And thus, too, the apostle pleads: "We pray you in Christ's stead, BE YE RECONCILED TO GOD. For He hath made Him to be sin for us, (Him) who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him" (II Cor. 5:20,21).
