Final Rites for Pioneer

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Frances Whitley, wife of David Martin Whitley, were held at the First Baptist church in Clovis by Rev. J. T. Barbee, pastor, assisted by Rev E. J. Sloan of the Methodist church of this city, on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Whitley died at the family home in this city, Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, following an illness of five years duration.

In the death of Mrs. Whitley, Texico-Farwell notes the passing of one of its earliest settlers. She had been a resident of this community since 1906, and was one of the few remaining settlers who could date residence back to that time. Mr. and Mrs. Whitley came to Parmer county from Willow, near Mangum, Oklahoma, and settled on a farm 21/2 miles north of this city.

After three years of drouth, they disposed of the farm and acquired the Robertson Hotel, located at that time where the Green machine works now stands. In 1912, while the family was attending church services, the building caught fire and burned to the ground.

She and her husband were charter members of the Baptist church here, and until her health failed she was I quite active and faithful in church

Besides her husband, Mrs. Whitley is survived by four children: Mrs. Dora Stewart, Vallejo, Calif.; Robert N. Whitley, Clovis; Dewey Whitley, Geneso, Kansas; and Jewell W. Whitley, of Farwell. Other survivors include a twin brother, Chas. Montgomery, Lawton, Okla.; and two sisters, Mrs. J. C. Temple of this city. and Mrs. Angie Carry, Oklahoma City. Also surviving are seven grandchildren and three great grandchild-

Among those from a distance coming here to attend the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Bud Whitley, of Granite, Okla.; Mrs. Loren Morris, Mangum, Okla.; and Mrs. Fannie Willis, Mangum. Twelve nieces and nephews from distant points were also present for the services.

Mother Of Farwell Man Dies Suddenly

Mrs. T. H. Dillard, 67 years of age, mother of Curtis Dillard of this city. died suddenly at the family home in Blossom, near Paris, Texas, on Tuesday evening of last week.

Mr. Dillard, who is manager for the Southern Warehouse & Storage Corporation of this city, returned here Sunday night, after being called to the old home to attend the funeral.

His mother had been ill for some several days, but her condition was not thought to be serious. Her husband had gone to a nearby store to get some ice cream for the ailing women when she passed away, with only neighbors present. Her death was attributed to a stroke of paraly-

Mr. and Mrs. Dillard had lived at Blossom-in the same house-for the past 45 years. Burial was made at Blossom, Wednesday afternoon. She is survived by her husband and one child, the Farwell resident.

Why Should God Bless America--

INGING is easy. But it never won a battle. What you and I do today is determining whether or not we will be free men tomorrow. All the wishful thinking in the world can't change that fact. Without knowing it, countless Americans are serving the foreign enemies of this country. Every time you and I raise a hand or speak a word to turn class against class, every time we fan a hatred, slow down production, waste a penny of materials or time-every time we do any of these things we are firing a shot at the heart of America. The hour has come when every moment counts-for your country or against it. And let those who think they can "get theirs" by insisting on their rights even when that interferes with the greater rights of the nation-let them remember this-Duped by foreign agents whether they know it or not, they are softening this country for conquest—they are selling their birthright of freedom for the most miserable mess of pottage and poverty anyone can imagine. Ask the belligerent workmen, politicians, managers of France who demanded their "rights" above their country's rights. Their reward is serfdom, hopeless despair, and starvation. God helps those who help themselves. Let us work for America-when and only when the nation which gives us work and liberty is safe, then will be time to think of ourselves .- Selected.

The Texico-Hollene surfaced road, which has been badly damaged in some places during the past two months by heavy rains, is undergoing repairs this week. A maintenance crew from the New Mexico State Highway Department moved on the job the middle of last week, and will go over the entire route making necessary repair work.

Chief attention will be given to the crossings at Frio and Running Water Draws, it was learned here. The heavy rains have badly damaged the approaches at the Running Water bridge, while the bridge at Frio has been out for several weeks. The approaches are being repaired at the former crossing, and a new bridge structure is in prospect over Frio.

Consolidation Move At Standstill Now

Except for verbal discussion, both last week looking toward the consolidation of the Texico and Farwell schools into one district, seems to have been at a standstill during this

The move to consolidate the two districts was launched last week when members of the Texico school board extended an invitation to the Farwell officials to meet in joint session and discuss the possibilities. The meeting resulted in an unanimous agreemnt on the part of attending school directors favoring the proposed consolidation.

No immediate effort will be made to bring the matter to a vote until a legal opinion is forthcoming from the author of the bill making the consolidation possible. H. Y. Overstreet was authorized to obtain this opinion from Francis Wilson of Santa Fe, author of the bill.

Up to Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Wiison had not disclosed his opinion here. He was asked to rule on the matter of holding the election now, to become effective at the close of the 1941-42 school term next spring.

DRAFT:

The drawing for the second draft, that of 750,000 new 21-year-olds, came at a moment when the controversy was at its height over two other drafts-that of whether the older selectees and National Guardsmen should be kept in more than a year, and whether the bill calling for a "draft of business" if necessary, should be passed.

General Marshall had not pulled any punches in letting congress know his stand in the matter, which was to keep both guardsmen and selectees in over the time limit, and he had President Roosevelt apparently vigorously back of him.

On top of this, the senate military affairs committee revealed that it had been informed that a "vital military weapon" which might prove to be of the "utmost importance" had been denied to the army by the fact that the government did Great Britain, after quietly and | not have the power to "draft indus-

R.A.F. Results Noted

Most analysts agreed that if the bomb tonnage reported from R.A.F. sources as being dropped on objectives in occupied territories and in Germany was reasonably accurate, the damage must be terrific.

Perhaps outstanding of the British claims in this regard, however, was the toll of German shipping of a coastwise nature. This claim ran 300,000 tons since the start of the Russo-German war, and all of it sunk by air action.

Also the R.A.F. directly claimed that at least one-third of the cities of Aschen and Muenster were destroyed or seriously damaged; that at least 301 Messerschmitts of two types had been downed; that 118 British fighters had been lost "over a country where an oil leak may mean a fighter has to bail out," but that 17 of the pilots had been saved. But a New York Times correspondent in Ankara, quoting sources that had recently made it to Turkey from Berlin, painted a picture which He cabled a report that Hamburg and Hanover had practically been ruined as ports, that Bremen was seriously damaged, and that rail junctions had been wiped out, forcing the Germans to take to coastwise shipping to replace damaged rail services.

This writer's informants declared that shipping sunk in the port of Hamburg made it necessary that dredging and dynamiting operations be carried out every week to make the waterway passable at all, because of direct bomb hits and vessels sunk by air action and blocking the passage of other vessels.

HOSE looking for further late summer and early autumn excitement should find what they want in the battle for the batting championship of the American league between its two best hitters-Ted Williams of the Red Sox and Joe Di-Maggio of the Yankees. Heath, Cullenbine or possibly some other son of swat may upset this combination -but we doubt it.

Williams and DiMag are the two A. L. standouts and they still have the better part of three months left in which to prove their places in polite baseball society. DiMaggio's brilliant consecutive hitting streak has given the San Francisco entry most of the publicity lately, but the gangling kid from San Diego and Boston is still far out in front when it comes to the main figures.

Grantland Rice

Anyone who can reach the halfway mark over .400, as Williams did, knows how to handle ash furniture. And even the excellent DiMag will have to keep on swinging his mace effectively to catch or pass the tall, relaxed entry from the Red Sox reservation.

Looking Back

How do the two compare at this spot along the pennant road? Here of years to pay for it, would have to is DiMaggio's five-year Yankee recdo without about $2,000,000,000 worth ord through 1940: 1936- .323; 1937-.346; 1938— .324; 1939— .381; 1940— 352; grand average— .343.

Here is Ted Williams' record for his two complete years: 1939- .327; 1940- .344; average- .336.

But up through the halfway stretch of 1941 Williams is now in front, counting the games both have played under the big tent. Both Williams and DiMaggio can be listed high in the natural hitting class. One of the main features of Di-Maggio's base-hit ability is perfect wrist action. The DiMag has a pair of cocked wrists that carry both power and control.

Too many hitters are body and arm swingers. DiMaggio, well balanced Joe DiMaggio on both feet, lets his body work with his hands, but that brace of cocked wrists deliver most of the poison. The main feature of Ted Williams' bat swinging is his almost complete "The curtailment program calls lack of tension. He was apparently indifferent as he waited for the pitch. "You either hit it or you don't," Larry told me years ago. "Why bother about it? Just take your cut."

The fact might be mentioned here that with this modern lively ball Lajoie, a smoking line hitter with the old one, would soon have several hospitals full of crippled infielders who happened to be in the line

Another Hot Match

With Williams and DiMaggio grabbing off most of the wild laurel sprigs in the American league, you can look for another hot scramble in the N. L. between Pete Reiser of the Dodgers and Johnny Mize of the Cardinals.

It might interest you to know, if you care for the succulent statistics in baseball, that Johnny Mize's fiveyear average with the Cardinals is now .339 up through 1940-just four points below DiMaggio's mark for the same span.

Big John is one of the top hitters of his time. Ball players through the South this last spring all picked covered broader and more important | him as the best hitter in the older league. Mize hails from Demarest, Ga., not so far away from Royston where Ty Cobb spent his younger years. (Ever notice how most of the top ones come from the unsung hamlets-not from the big towns?)

Mize has a freshman challenger in Brooklyn's Pete Reiser, who in his first year on big time has been whacking away between .350 and .370 most of the season.

Pete Reiser is the ball player named by Leo Durocher as the "next Ty Cobb-provided there will ever be another Ty Cobb. Reiser is 185 pounds of speed, power, head and heart," according to Durocher's Reiser is now just 21. Don't forget that when Tyrus Raymond was a Tiger debutante he batted .322. But from there on he finished with a lifetime average of .367 for 24 years-and that, my fellow countrymen, is something to shoot at.

But for all that, the stretch duels between Williams and DiMaggio, Mize and Reiser, will add considerably to the general public interest in both races. Suppose someone Berlin: Bela Kun, leader of the They are still the four best hitters of time.

Sharp received a letter from his friend McTavish which bore no stamp, and he had to pay the postage. The letter concluded:
"You will be delighted to hear

I am enjoying the best of health, old chap .- Yours, McTavish."

Sharp pondered over this for a time, then he secured a large stone, wrapped it, addressed it and sent it express collect to his friend McTavish. Attached to it was a note, which read as follows: 'Dear McTavish:

"This great weight rolled off my mind when I received the good news of your state of health. "Yours sincerely,

Washington, D. C. DEFENSE 'INCIDENTS'

Out of 26 major "incidents of damage" in defense plants last month, military intelligence authorities have evidence that 14 were caused by sabotage. The other 12 were accidents.

Of the 14 sabotage cases, four were fires and 10 were mechanical damage. Two are attributed to Communists; the others to Nazi agents. There is no indication that Communists and Nazis worked together.

Since the outbreak of the Russo-German war, the Communist party line has somersaulted. The current dictum is, no intereference with defense output. It is significant that since the Nazi attack on the Soviets there has been a sharp decline in

However, intelligence agents report that the party has made no change in its policy of propagandizing soldiers and sailors. This is being pushed as vigorously as before, although with little success. In fact, party generals are so dissatisfied with results that they recently ordered labor unions dominated by Communists to help their campaign by offering their halls as soldier rec-

Japanese Consulates. Another significant development in subversive influences relates to the Japanese. Since the expulsion of the Nazi and Italian consulates, intelligence officers have found that the Japanese consulates in Los Angeles and Seattle have become the chief clearing houses for espionage on the West coast. The recent arrest of two Japanese spies in Los Angeles caused a flurry in Japanese quarters, and a number of Japanese rushed to Washington, apparently to place themselves under the protection of their embassy. BUSY HUSBAND

This wife and mother issues an appeal to Miss Norris for advice on the problem of getting her husband back into the family fold. Otherwise a model husband, he spends most of his time with others, socially and in business, asking to be left out of family social life. Kathleen Norris gives the reason and suggests a remedy.

would have had one in those dark days. I did everything at one time washing 70 didies a day as well as father died, leaving me a few thousands that I immediately invested a job then, but when I broke down and went for 10 weeks to the hospital we had to borrow. From that time however things steadily improved, we sold both houses five years ago at double what we had paid for them in the depression, and Al went from one promotion to another and our hard times were over. Now we have a nice home, two small cars, and I have a good kitchen helper.

Alf a Stranger.

"But far more serious to me than anything that those difficult years brought," the letter goes on, "is the fact that for three years now my husband has not shared our lives at all. He is amiable, appreciative of good meals and home comfort.

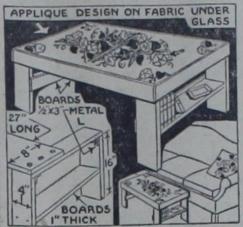

"But dines at the club, entertains some customer downtown, works late at the office and afterwards drops in on some bridge game, makes engagements for all day Sunday, often for Saturday night as well, and tells me, if I make any plan for a family affair or picnic, to go ahead by all means, but not to count on him.

Now I resent, at 39, being relegated to the position of a sort of superior servant, a person who must accept Al's careless announcements and good-bys. I am a college graduate, my family is of a higher rating than his, and but for my father's generosity I don't know how we could have weathered our hard times. Yet I can't beg back my husband's affection and company. The situation is changing me into a broodwretched woman and I wish you could give me an answer to it."

Make Self an Interesting Individual. The answer is, as I said before, is a question. Are you a person or the echo of some other person, Pauline? THANK YOU

AS THE HARVEST SEASON nears a close in this locality, we wish to devote our space this week in saying "THANK YOU" for the generous business the wheat growers of this section have given us this season.

Frankly, grain dealers have been put to lots of work and additional handling charges this year that will materially affect the year's earnings. But we are happy to have contributed our effort and facilities in helping you realize the most profit from your year's labor.

Maybe conditions will be better next year and the farmer and grain dealer alike will realize more from their efforts . . . at least we hope so. At any rate you will always find us doing our best to serve you in the best possible manner.

PICNIC salad, according to my notions, should be easy to make, simple to pack and, most important of all, should still boast of fine zestful flavor when eaten several hours later.

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL-Outlasted five other Brands in Fair Test!

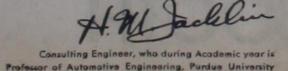

Conoco Nth actually outlasted one big brand by 8,268 miles. Yet all 6 brands tested had exactly the same chance . . . in identical new stock cars. No oil could be added to the strict 5-quart fill locked in each car. And all were to run till wrecked. So it ended up in the death of 6 cars, with the 5 "also rans" averaging not even half the mileage delivered by new Conoco Nth oil . . . Certified.

Why such a difference?

Conoco Nth is preserved by a life-giving new synthetic-man-made under Conoco Patent 2,218,132. You know that vitamin synthetics, for instance, are making up for Nature's life-givers sacrificed in some modern food processing. Similarly, the latest refining methods steal some of Nature's best life-givers from motor oils. But more than making that up today, in Conoco Nth oil, is a new synthetic-Thialkene inhibitor. Magnet-like action bonds OIL-PLATING to engine parts. It can't all quickly drain down-not while you're using Conoco Nth oil. So OIL-PLATING is on guard against wear in advance! . . . and helps mileage, as it did in Death Valley. An OIL-PLATED engine is one more economy you get from a change to popular-priced new Conoco Nth oil.

Carol Coburn, Alaska-born daughter of a "bush rat" who died with an unproved mining claim, returns North to teach school. Sidney Lander, mining engineer, rescues her aboard ship from annoyances of Eric (the Red) Ericson. Lander is engaged to was the unexpectedly frank response. "He's a man of his word. And he's a good mining engineer. Yet he's willing to throw up his chances by hanging about this Godforsaken valley.'

I resented that slur on the land of my adoption just as I resented the implications behind it.

interfering with Sidney Lander's career. I happen to have a career of my own to look after."

"I understand you're to be a teacher here," she said with a commiserative small smile.

"I am," I replied. "And my work will keep me too busy to think of wrecking other people's happiness."

"May I tell Sidney that?" she asked as she buttoned her queenly cloak of mink.

"Of course," I retorted with more vigor than I had intended.

She stood silent a moment, and I could see the hardness go out of her "Thanks," she said, rather quiet-

Before I knew it, in fact, I found myself taking the hand which she held out to me.

CHAPTER IX

It didn't come to me as a surprise when I learned that Sidney Lander was no longer concerned with the management of the Willow Creek Mine. What perplexed me was the discovery that he didn't go to Seward when Barbara Trumbull sailed for the States.

But it wasn't mine to question why. All I cared to remember was that, for reasons entirely his own, he somewhat sedulously kept his trail from crossing mine.

So, in that interim of suspended action, I lost myself in action enough of my own. I trimmed the wick of the lamp of learning and came a little closer to my valley neighbors. And even Sam Bryson, I began to feel, was no longer an open enemy. He thawed out sufficiently around the edges to come and inspect my shack and declare the school board would have to keep me in firewood.

One Sunday, as I was shoveling the drifts from my doorstep, Sock-Eye arrived with a home-manufactured hand sleigh, which same, he dourly explained, would make it easier for me to mush supplies from the village. On that sleigh, however, reposed a war-scarred old rifle and an equally worn revolver, to say nothing of a Morris chair which he had fashioned with his own hands and upholstered with the hide of a moose brought down by his own trusty forty-five.

When he took me out to practice marksmanship on the side hill back of the shack, the rifle made my shoulder sore and the six-gun did things to my wrist. But I soon found I could hit a spruce plank at twenty paces. Sock-Eye, watching me, eventually admitted I handled a shooting iron like an old-

"I'll bet it was your pappy first | showed you how t' handle them peace-makers," he chucklingly ob-

"It was," I admitted as I took a final pot shot and made the bark fly from a hemlock trunk.

"Then he gave you eddication that meant something," conceded Sock-Eye. "I've seen a heap o' changes in this cockeyed country. But she's still raw around the edges. And there's times when slappin' leather's still the short cut t' a square deal."

My teaching was an odd sort of teaching. For morning by morning, in parka and mukluks, I set out for one or another of the lonely homesteads, and there, beside a stove crackling with spruce wood and birch, I held my classes, sometimes with the Monday's washing or the Tuesday's ironing being done on the other side of the room, sometimes with the sourdough sponge being worked into loaves on the far end of the table at which my solemn-eyed little scholars were at work with paper and pencils. I was asked, as a rule, to have dinner with the family. Sometimes, when I started for home, I'd be given a jar of blueberry jam or a bowl of sauerkraut, sometimes even a slab of deer meat. But very few of them, I found, were able to be givers. Most of them were shockingly destitute.

I did considerably more than teach the three R's and correct papers and pass out assignments. Sometimes I looked after a baby or two, and took the bread out of the oven, and airily prescribed for an earache or frostbite, and tried my hand at cutting a pupil's hair, and attached much- me askance. needed buttons and even more urgently needed patches to the gar-against my hip.

When Sam Bryson first told me he had a girl in need of schooling I pictured a frail and frostbitten child in pigtails. But Salaria Brysonuniversally spoken of as "S'lary"turned out to be something quite different. I found myself confronted by a dusky and wide-shouldered "I have no intention," I said, "of Boadicea who towered several inches above me. She wore her hair close-cropped, dressed like a man, and could swear like a trooper. She was hard-muscled and strongly-knit and could swing an ax or drive a team or carry a deer carcass over her shoulder. She proved herself fonder of hunting, in fact, than she was of housework. And taken all in all she seemed about the most perfect specimen of physical womanhood I ever clapped eyes on.

Her attitude toward me as a chalk-wrangler was openly hostile, until she discovered I was Alaska born and had once lived in a hill camp. She was willing, after that, to overlook my unhappy dower of book learning. But there remained something pathetic about S'lary. She had missed so much of life, without quite knowing it. She was as strong as an ox and as tireless as a sleigh husky and as fearless, in one way, as a wildcat. She knew her woodcraft and could keep herself alive, I suppose, in any corner of Alaska. But she was afraid of that side of life which a schoolteacher stands for. The sweat came out on her face when I gave her a list of third-grade words to spell.

S'lary, however, was seldom meek. She shared her father's resentment against the outsider in general and all invaders of the valley in particular. And certain newcomers, she intimated, would live longer if they talked less about that raft of broken-winded cheechakos

"But if they was failures there." contended Salaria, "they'll sure fail here. And all they'll do, after the first freeze-up, is amble out and give the valley a bad name.'

"But they're to bring their women and children," I pointed out, "and the government is to stand behind them and build their houses and supply them with seed and stock."

I could see Salaria's eyes flash. "And it's a hell of a lot the gover'ment did for the old-timer," she exploded. "They fixed it so we couldn't even land a salmon or kill a deer without havin' a warden at our heels. They put the bush-rat out o' business by playin' into the hands o' the big minin' companies. They kept us with the Indjins and Eskimos and squealed like a stuck pig when we asked for a school allowance. And they wouldn't even build a road for us."

"Perhaps," I suggested, "they'll bring along some of the things we seem to need."

"What t' hell do we need we ain't got now?" was Salaria's prompt

I meekly suggested that hospitals and schools and churches and good roads and telephones and a radio station might help a little.

"Then you don't approve of Sidney Lander?"

Salaria's smoldering eyes grew perceptibly softer.

I suspected this was merely an excuse for a man-to-man talk.

"Secret? It ain't no secret," was the prompt and primitive reply. 'Even ol' Sock-Eye knows Sid Lander could do what he likes with me. PAUL PREACHES FAITH IN CHRIST

LESSON TEXT-Romans 3:21-31; 5:1, 2. GOLDEN TEXT-As it is written. The just shall live by faith .- Romans 1:17.

Justification by faith is a doctrine which lies at the very heart of the gospel. It provides the answer to man's age-old question, "What must I do to be saved?" (Acts 16:30).

"This was a question with which Paul had himself grappled, and for years he had sought salvation in the traditional Jewish way. Then one day he met Christ and he underwent a spiritual transformation through faith in Him, apart from the works of the law. Because of that Sock-Eye appeared at my door experience, and because of the and presented me with a bearskin, divine revelations made to him, he was able to show others how to be saved and how to live a life of victory. Among the writers of the New Testament it is Paul who most clearly sets forth the doctrine of justification by faith, a doctrine which has brought comfort of soul to multitudes, and the consciousness of sins forgiven." (Olmstead).

> I. How Can God Be Just and Justify Sinners? (Rom. 3:21-31).

The portion of Romans just preceding our lesson is devoted to a devastating treatment of man's sinfulness, bringing him face to face with the question, "What can I do about it?" The answer has a hope-

1. Man has no righteousness of his own, and cannot by any of his "What's the trouble?" I asked own works save himself. "He has tried many ways, in every age, but "The immejit trouble is that out no human being, or groups of men or women, have ever devised any he announced. Why not She surprised me by her new de- receive it in all its grace and power, termination "to better herself." She not trying to explain it away or to at last seemed willing to improve evade its requirements? Why attempt to provide some other means of salvation when we know that "without the shedding of blood is no remission" of sin (Heb. 9:22)?

Man receives salvation by grace through faith, apart from I could see a faraway look come works. Man can only be "justified freely by his grace" (v. 24). It is for "them that believe" (v. 22), it is "through faith" (vv. 25, 26) and, she hungrily inquired. "He smells note with care, "man is justified by faith apart from the works of the law" (v. 28). Thus God establishes the law (v. 31) and yet becomes the righteous justifier of a repentant believing sinner.

2. Standing in Grace.

"To stand in grace is to occupy the position wherein love is able to carry out its desires. To stand in grace is to come into such relationship with the Lord that He may do that thing that is in His heart, the thing which His love prompts. To stand in favor is to be unafraid. It is to be able to pass into the presence of One of whom we are unafraid, and know that there will be welcome. It is to know that to come into the presence of this One is to receive, not necessarily a gift, but love, and of Himself, in a communion which is unbroken and perfect" (G. Campbell Morgan).

3. Rejoicing in Hope. The world is sorrowful for it has lost hope, but the believer rejoices "in hope of the glory of God" (v. 2). Sharing of Wheat Supply Has Complicated Aspects

Distribution of Surplus to Nations Needing Flour Is Vital Problem; Nazi Film Is 'Scare' Drama.

States, Canada, Australia, and Ar- Canada where wheat is the very gentina, there is a wheat surplus for export or carry-over of 1,137,-000,000 bushels-an all-time high.

But there is little chance for many of the hungry mouths to be fed by the surfeit. That is the topsy-turvy world's answer to man's ancient cry for bread!

Haltingly, gropingly, with small hope for any answer to the surplus problem, except "plow it under," the representatives of the four "wheat powers" have met again in Washington for the first wheat conference since 1938. They examined the question from the production point of view, for distribution of the earth's abundance to the world's starving is a problem too complicated for any one group to solve.

It is quite probable that the conference will have dissolved without taking any constructive action by the time this appears in print. Before long, however, it is expected that there will be an international agreement on world quotas. Unwillingly, perhaps, Canada, Australia, and Argentina will be forced to join with the United States in a division of such world market as exists. I use the word "forced" purposely, for it is the big stick labeled "export subsidy" in Uncle Sam's closet which will bring the competing nations to yield to the American farmer his share of the world market. An export subsidy would permit the American farmer to sell his wheat regardless of the world price, for he is then paid the differential by the government. This means that as much American wheat can be sold as the government is willing to subsidize and the market can absorb.

U. S. Subsidized Export.

Although it was not expected that an agreement on quotas would come out of this summer's conference, such an arrangement is assured before long for one was on the point of consummation when the war interrupted. Why? Because, when the United States, in 1938, subsidized the export of a million bushels of wheat, just one million bushels had to remain unsold by the other wheatgrowing countries.

Unless, by mutual agreement, the world market is shared, Uncle Sam can again cut under his competitors and make up the difference to the American farmer out of government

But even if an agreement on world quotas is reached, that does not solve the problem of surplus wheat. To raise prices substantially, production will have to be cut down. And as for the hungry consumer, then even the faint hope of obtaining his daily bread is removed.

The farmer in the United States at the present time is able to make up in part for the loss of foreign markets and low prices by obtaining government loans on his wheat crop at higher than market prices.

Wheat Prices Higher. department of agriculture for June, "Computed on the basis of export values, current prices (of wheat) are now about 40 cents higher than existing export price levels . . . at the present time market prices in the United States are below the loan values established for the 1941

But no government can go on forever taking the surplus wheat crop and piling it up-there are not sufficient storage facilities. On the basis of the new crop prospects, stocks will be increased another 200 million bushels to a quantity almost equal to a whole year's domestic needs.

And so, as you know, the department of agriculture is encouraging the reduction of wheat acreages, encouraging the raising of other products instead and establishing wheat quotas within its own boundaries.

It is hard enough to carry out such a policy of controlled production and distribution in our own country. How much more difficult it is to obtain such a working arrangement where clashing national interests interfere! In spite of ma-

'Victory in the West'

Is Real 'Scare' Drama

The other day I sat with a group of invited newsmen and a few army officers and watched a movie called "Victory in the West." It was a German propaganda film, showing how the German army smashed through the Low Countries and France. It was seized as it was being smuggled into South America to impress our southern neighbors with German might-and well it might! The film was a wonderful job in propaganda, photography and 'scare' drama.

The military efficiency revealed in that picture is a partial answer to why the rivers of western Europe and later Russia, usually considered such powerful obstacles against an advancing army, were crossed so easily by the Germans. The movie showed the German advance in the Low Countries with dramatic shots of engineers swimming rivers, crossing in frail rubber boats, and building bridges under shell fire. The German propagandist ex-

"The men were led, not by officers using telephones and written orders, but by officers who lay beside their troops in the same dirt."

Later, an American official, familiar, through long study with German military methods, gave his explanation of German successes. He said: "The Germans were led by trained varriors, not one of whom ever had a clerk or a desk."

Today in Washington there is a quiet but persistent movement led by General Marshall, chief of staff, to get rid of American officers who have difficulty functioning without desks, stenographers, clerks and caddies. For a long time the general has been working with congress for legislation which would make it possible to remove officers, young or old, whose records show that they are incompetent. Such a measure is pending but there is strong prejudice against it in some

An Appraisal of Hitler's Business Methods

"Truth is anything that helps the German cause." Thus spake Hitler. And Douglas Miller, 15 years in the American embassy in Berlin, (commercial attache for last five years during the Nazi regime) tells the following story in his new book which has made a considerable stir in Washington, "You Can't Do Business With Hitler" (Little, Brown & Co.):

While the commercial treaty with Germany guaranteeing the United States equal treatment with other nations was still extant, Mr. Miller discovered that Denmark was being given preferential treatment in regard to importations of lard by According to the report of the Germany. He called on the foreign office to protest and was told that America was treated precisely as any other country. Mr. Miller produced evidence that Denmark was given a 25 per cent larger quota than the United States. I quote the rest from Mr. Miller's book:

The German official appeared to be only slightly embarrassed. He reached into his desk and pulled out the German text of the identical treaty and explained that was the way things were done nowadays. I said, "Well, what can we do, now?"

He said, "You can file a protest."

"Yes, but we have already filed a great number of protests, many of which have not even been answered and none of which appeared to do any good."

I took my hat and started for the door. The official accompanied me to the door and said: "I hope this little incident will not disturb our friendly personal relations, because I want you to remember that I have to earn my living somewhere."

Quills and Feathers

Soon the time will come when college and back-to-school wardrobes will be the paramount theme in every household where schoolfaring daughters live. Why not look ahead and, in idle vacation days, make up a simple basic wool dress and brief jacket which will serve as a suit for a "starter" on the fall clothes program. The costume pictured will prove ideal as a manypurpose outfit.

To Feature Fall Hats

There is much novelty in the new hat arrivals. The tendency is to manipulate fabrics in intriguing and original ways. Among the fabrics used often is jersey, with an angora finish and milliners are creating draped turbans and toques of long scarf effects in lacy featherweight woolknit manufactured especially for millinery purposes. These scarfed novelties will also be worked into snoods and apron drapes at the back of hats.

Look for quills and feathers galore, for they are "on the way." Not one quill but several, will appear dramatically posed on a beret or turban or novelty shape. Featheradorned felt hats will be very popular this fall.

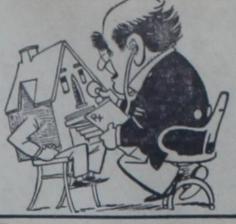

Bretons still maintain as a favorite type in the simpler and widerbrim felts. Sometimes these will have a crochet edge instead of a ribbon binding.

Belts Cleverly Handled Reduce Waistline Span

In the march toward smooth silhouettes designers are manipulating belts in subtle ways. The latest move is to inset the belt in a svelte graceful midriff treatments. When shopping for the new gown take note of this, for it is surprising how this technique takes away inches from the waistline span.

Braided Effects

Scarred Floor

Q UESTION: How can I refinish a badly scarred, horribly varnished and stained soft white pine

Answer: The best treatment for ish the spread. your floors would be scraping with a floor machine. You can undoubtedly find someone in your neighborhood who does work of this kind. The machine will not only take off all of the old finish, but will bring the floors to an even smoothness, while the new wood that is exposed can be finished in any desired way. If you cannot have the floors scraped, you can take off the finish with trisodium phosphate; three pounds to the gallon of water. If you cannot get this chemical under its own name, ask at a grocer's for a colorless, latherless cleaning powder. The finish will soften and can be wiped and scraped off. Rinse with clear water and allow to dry before refinishing.

Sticky Shellac

Question: I have an oak bureau on which the old finish was removed with sandpaper, soap and water. A thin coat of shellac was put on a month ago, and since that time the shellac has dried but is still sticky. Is there any finish to take care of the stickiness?

Answer: Either the shellac was of a very poor quality, or thinned with And so, while the vacation spirit poor alcohol, or else the surface ceptance by women everywhere, is going strong throughout the na- was not properly cleaned before women who recognize the chic, the tion, fancy turns to cool sleek shellacking. Ceiling Finish Question: A plaster ceiling, about In the same category as this 11 by 25 feet, has had wallpaper rerecently patched. I want to put on a finishing coat of plaster. Local masons doubt that plaster will stay on. Can you advise me?

Answer: Instead of plaster, use a kind of plastic paint made with gypsum. There are several brands on the market. These paints contain a binder that will hold to your old plaster. The paint can be put on with a whitewash brush about onequarter inch or more thick, and can be smoothed with a trowel or a mason's float. These paints are intended to be used for texturing, but can equally well be given a smooth sur-

Veneered Surfaces

Question: Some time ago you recommended scraping a veneered top rather than using liquid varnish remover. Why? I was for many years in the piano manufacturing business and when we had occasion to remove varnish from a case we always used liquid remover. No harm resulted by this method.

Answer: My reason for suggesting scraping for removal of finishes on veneered furniture is due to the fact that not all veneers are glued with the same type of glue or in the same manner. A poor quality veneer on furniture may separate when a liquid is applied. Therefore it is safer to use a scraper, unless the veneer is known to be of high quality workmanship and materials. Oil in a Sewer

Question: My house is near the end of the city sewer line. It is frequently filled with an odor of gasoline and oil, and my neighbors notice it also. Flushing out the sewer by the city is of help, but the odor returns. What can you sug-

Answer: Your letter is clear evidence that garages are dumping gasoline and oil into the sewer. Many communities have suffered from this to such an extent that it has been prohibited by ordinance. The danger is not only from odor, but from possible explosion. You should report the condition to your local fire department.

Leather Club Chair

Question: I have a leather club chair, which is near a radiator. The leather is beginning to crack and dry. What kin dof dressing would be best to preserve the leather and restore its flexibility?

Answer: Leather exposed to high temperatures may be completely destroyed. You may possibly be able to restore its flexibility by applying a leather dressing. You can get this at a large department store, or at a leather goods store.

4-H Clubbers Take Plegde Seriously

The four H's in 4-H Club represent an equal training of the head, hands, heart and health of every child. Sixteen members of the Farwell boys 4-H club responded to the call of Adult Leader Stanley Hillhouse last Wednesday afternoon, July 23, and in a very short time they had cleaned about 80% of the weeds and grass from the garden being sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association. The products from the garden will Encampment Dates be used to feed school children in the Farwell school system during 1941-42.

"That part of the Club pledge which reads: 'I pledge my health to home, my community, my country, job in a cheerful manner," remarked; Stanley Hillhouse. "I can think of no greater service these boys could perform than volunteering to contribute labor to this cause. We hope, through our efforts, the children who take advantage of the hot lunch program in the Farwell school next winter, may be better fed due to the quantity of products which will be canned from this garden," he said.

Grass and weeds were about to smother out the crops in the garden —which was recently discontinued as a WPA project—when Mr. Hillhouse and his 4-H clubbers asked permission to be responsible for the labor necessary to provide clean cultivation. Mr. Hillhouse has had the gar. den plowed since last Wednesday, and it is expected the yield will be greatly increased, due to the work of the Farwell club boys.

Led by the Club President, Glenn Phillips, the members brought their contribution of old aluminum to the meeting. These boys are also doing their part in the National Defense Program.

Those assisting in weeding the garden were: Raymond Brand, Fred and Duane Curtis, Earl Deaton, Max Ford, T. A. Gilson Jr., Bobby Hart, Glenis and Hollis Hughs. Club members are reminded that, if they wish to attend this encampment, they must have record books completed, the agent stressed, and urged all boys who are lagging in this phase of the work to get to work immediately, in order that they will be eligible for attendance.

Th girls, likewise, have requirments for attendance at their gathering, which will be August 13-14. Miss Elsie Cunningham, demonstration agent, stated. In order to be eligible, girls must have ten of their goals completed, by August 1st.

Both sponsors are urging that all club members, who can possibly do so, plan to attend. There will be swimming, baseball, shooting, games, and educational periods during the meetings, it was added.
