"OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF FARMER COUNTY"

SIX PAGES

FIFTY-SIXTH YEAR

10 CENTS

This summer, it seems to us the bicycle has been making a comeback with our younger generation, and, we might add, some not so young. Our purpose this week is not to write about the older group who have taken up cycling for health and enjoyment, but rather about the younger ones whom cycling is a way of life, and occasionally death.

Truly, we seem to find more kiddoes on bicycles this year than last. We can only say this is on the basis of a "just driving about town" survey. The thing that probably brought this to our attention is the extremely careless way most of these youngsters seem to be riding their bikes. A single or solitary rider usually does a good job of riding his bike by the rules of the road. Not so when they come in bunches of either sex, or when they contain little girls and lovesick boys trying to impress the fair lady.

The youngsters in Texico and Farwell very badly need to be reminded of the obligations of bike riding. After all, the use of public streets demands a modest amount of responsibility on their part.

The incident triggering these cautionary words occurred to us only recently. A group of boy and girl cyclists came down Third, our busiest street, in a phalanx several abreast, lolly-gagging and cutting curlycues on their bikes until we had to stop and almost got ourselves run into before the youngsters finally saw us. Then we got a sassing for being on the street. Several times we have tooted our horn to attract a cyclist's attention and got nothing but some smart words for our efforts.

We know that our fellow townsmen do not want to be a party to any tragedy. No motorist wants to be involved in an accident with a child on a bicycle no matter if the motorist is innocent of negligence.

We do not quarrel with the law requiring cars to stop for school buses, but have felt that just possibly some tragedies have been brought about by removing the responsibility of personal safety so completely from the children. And so it is with cycling. You cannot make the poor motorist the only one responsible for our children's safety. We must impress them with the dangers of riding bicycles and make them obey a minimal set of safety rules when they are on public streets.

This is far easier to write about than to accomplish, but possible a course in "Cycle Safety" in the lower grades might help. Stricter parental observation and correction would go a long way in impressing the youngsters with the virtues of safety even when they are at play. The impression may have to be made with a switch but we think that safety comes first and obedience will be a welcome by-product.

Bids To Be Opened July 20

At the Texico school board meeting on Tuesday evening, plans were made to open bids on the construction of the lunchroom and agriculture shop on July 20. Bids will be let and construction should begin as soon as possible after that date.

Supt. A.D. McDonald stated that three vacancies still exist on the faculty, all in the elementary school.

Extravaganza Set July 21

According to Mrs. Troy Lovett, Curry County Farm Bureau Chairwoman, the Curry County "Cotton Extravaganza" contest will be held Friday night July 21, 7:30 p.m. in the Farmer's Electric Cooperative Building in Clovis.

She advises that anyone needing entry blanks and rules should contact their local Farm Bureau Chairwoman. All entry blanks should be mailed to Mrs. Lovett, Rte 1, Texico, no later than July 18.

"48 YEARS we have taken the State Line Tribune and we still look forward to every issue," stated Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hromas as they examined a 1957 issue and the latest edition, July 7, 1967. Mrs. Hromas said "Only recently I threw away many old issues of the paper which had accumulated as I was doing a little housecleaning."

Can You Top This?

It seems that Mr. and Mrs. E.A. Hromas of Bovina have set something of a record in the number of years they have been subscribing to the State Line Tribune. They have been regular subscribers to the paper for the past 48 years, receiving their first copy in November 1919.

The couple tells how they arrived in Farwell the day before Thanksgiving in 1919 - in the middle of a blinding snowstorm. They found lodging for the night in the tin building (a rooming house) of Mrs. Murphy of Texico. The following day, Mrs. Hromas and the children were treated to a fine meal (turkey, dressing and all the trimmings) for the fabulous price of 50¢ for the adults and 25¢ for each child. Hromas who had eaten a big meal the night before declined a meal on Thanksgiving Day and went about the business of finding lodging for his family.

He found a house in Farwell (across the street from where the water tower now stands) and rented it for $15 for one-month period. Next on the agenda was finding a few pieces of furniture for the family. They finally settled on a table, four chairs, an iron bedstead and mattress. Of course a stove was also a necessity.

Having completed his mission of getting the family settled, Hromas then went to the office of the Farwell Tribune (an old wooden building located about where C.M. Meeks home now stands) and subscribed for the newspaper.

One month later (around Christmas time) the family moved into a granary on their farm ten miles east of Farwell in the Oklahoma Lane Community. Hromas had originally planned to buy land near Sweetwater, but through the efforts of Sam Lawrence, father of Mrs. Sam Aldridge, he was enticed to the Farwell area - where finding the land and prices to his liking, he bought the farm which was to be their home for the next 35 years. They sold the farm in 1954.

The family made their home in the granary until 1928 when a home was built for the family. Through the years Mrs. Hromas added to the family income with her fine brood of chickens and six cows. Hromas pursued his trade of carpenter in addition to his farming activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Hromas tell how for several years they made a trip once a week to Bovina to pick up their mail, since no rural delivery was available from Farwell in their area. It was in 1923 that N.C. Smith was made first mail carrier out of Farwell to that vicinity. In all this time they always received the paper. Asked how the paper of today stacks up against that of former years they replied "We liked the paper when it gave the entire county news - but we like the pictures in the paper now. It was easier to read one paper and get the county news than it is to have to read three papers to get the same news they stated. However, they have no complaint about the latest edition of the State Line Tribune.

Reminiscing about their early days in the county, Mrs. Hromas tells how she learned to drive the family car (a model T) out of necessity since her husband was gone from home for days at a time following his trade as a carpenter. She laughed aloud as she told of an aunt who advised her to "burn your furniture and not freeze to death" when she learned that the family was coming west. "It took us three days to come from Baird, Texas to Farwell," stated Mrs. Hromas, as she told how the family stayed the first night at Colorado City, the second at Slayton, and finally arrived in Farwell in late afternoon of the third day.

The Hromas family was instrumental in consolidating the two little schools in the Oklahoma Lane area into one school. All of their children (three) began their education at the Oklahoma Lane school and all completed high school there.

When the Hromases sold their farm in 1954, they moved to Bovina and have made their home there since that time. Hromas continued to follow his trade as a carpenter until September 1966 when he was advised by a physician to "take it easy". His last job was finishing the inside of the Troy Christian home at Oklahoma Lane.

"No, we would not like to go back to the way it was when we first arrived in Farmer County, but would like to be that young again," they stated almost in unison.

When or why the State Line Tribune moved its offices to its present location was a mystery to the couple, but it seems that a fire might have been the cause of the move. The late W.H. (Hop) Graham was the editor of the paper with whom they were quite well acquainted.

Many changes have been made in the paper but the Hromases still think it is a great paper and will continue to take it for "who knows how long."

Farwell School Hires Three New Teachers

At the Monday night meeting of the Farwell School Board three vacancies were filled on the faculty leaving only two vacancies. Still needed are a band director and a first grade teacher.

Aubrey Burrows, graduate of Texas Tech who has taught at Ralls, Tex., for the past three years, has been hired to teach high school math.

Miss Patricia Weaver, a 1967 Eastern New Mexico University graduate, will be teaching high school speech and junior high English.

Miss Penelope Farmer who taught at Tucumcari last year will be teaching in the elementary school. She is a graduate of Eastern New Mexico University.

School Board members voted to sell two school busses, a 1962 Chevrolet and a 1963 Dodge to Southern Bus Sales in Alexandria, La.

Approval was given for replacing several typewriters in the typing department. A contract was also signed with Jack McCreary of Austin to collect delinquent taxes.

The School board of Tax Equalization has been in session at the school for the first three days this week; however, no report was available at press time.

ROBERT S. SHUMAN

Robert S. Shuman Commands 23rd Bomb Squadron

Funeral services were conducted from the Farwell Church of Christ Saturday morning at 10 a.m. for Robert S. Shuman, Farwell businessman and civic leader, who passed away from an apparent heart attack Friday evening about 7:20 p.m. at his home.

Minister Ebb Randol, assisted by Paul Wilkinson, pastor of the Farwell Church of Christ, officiated at the service. Burial was at 4:30 p.m. Saturday afternoon at Chillicothe, Tex., directed by Wards Funeral Home. Steed-Tood Funeral Home was in charge of local arrangements.

Robert S. Shuman was born Dec. 5, 1900 in Cisco, Tex. He was married on Feb. 20, 1926 at Chillicothe and made his home there for several years. He later moved to Vernon where he was in the insurance business for some 20 years. In 1961, he moved to Farwell, where he was co-owner and operator of Shuman - Haseloff Insurance Agency.

Mr. Shuman, a veteran of World War I, had been a member of the American Legion for the past 50 years. He was a member of the Texico-Farwell Lions Club and the Farwell Church of Christ. At time of his death, he was serving as a deacon in the church as well as its treasurer.

Survivors include his widow, Hope; two daughters, Mrs. George Williams, El Reno, Okla., and Mrs. Henry Haseloff, Farwell; a brother, Walter Shuman, Odessa; a sister, Mrs. Opal Bragg, Torrence, Calif., and six grandchildren. He was preceded in death by one child, a daughter, who died in infancy in 1929.

Pallbearers for the local service were W.T. Meeks, Clarence Meeks, Adolph Haseloff, Claude Rose, Clay Henson and Charlie Lovelace. Deacons and Elders of the Farwell Church of Christ and close friends were named as honorary pallbearers.

At the graveside service in Chillicothe, members of the American Legion served as pallbearers and also formed an honor guard. Harry Boothe, Veteran's Service Officer of Hardeman County and a close friend of the deceased and his family, presented an American Flag to Mrs. Shuman at close of the service.

Commissioners Review Cases

In a lengthy meeting on Monday, Farmer County Commissioners reviewed several county welfare cases. They also approved the purchase of a group hospital insurance for county employees, approving a plan submitted by Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

Also discussed was the purchase of a motor grader for precinct 4. Bids will be accepted for purchase of the motor grader until July 24, 10 a.m. The treasurer's report was approved as submitted.

All other business was of a routine nature.

CONDITION SATISFACTORY Mrs. Jessie Orr, mother of Mrs. John Aldridge has been receiving treatment at an Amarillo hospital for a broken hip she suffered in a fall last week. She is reported to be in satisfactory condition.

Lions Ladies Night Observed

Texico-Farwell Lions Club members held its annual Ladies Night on Saturday with a catered chicken dinner served in the backyard and on the patio of the Joe Helton home in Texico.

Melvin Terry, immediate past president of the Clovis Evening Lions Club, was installing officer for the 1967-68 Texico-Farwell Lions officers. Other special guests in attendance in addition to Terry were Mrs. Terry and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith. Smith is president-elect of the Clovis Evening Lions Club.

Local Lions and Ladies in attendance were Messrs. and Mrs. Paul Wurster, Lenton Pool, Bill Christian, Jackie Williams, Bob Westphal, E.C. Prather, Jim Pierce, Bill Whitesides, Joe Helton, Mrs. Joann Getz, and Ray Campbell.

Officers who were installed at the meeting were president, James Craig; vice-president, Wilfred Quicke, secretary-treasurer, Bill Christian; taster, Ray Campbell; Liontamer, W.M. Roberts, directors, R.G. Westphal, Ed Farmer, Bill Whitesides and Hugh Preston.

MM PRESIDENTIAL AWARD -- John Dempster, left, local Minneapolis-Moline dealer, accepts the MM Presidential Award for outstanding tractor sales in 1966, from R. L. (Bob) Moser, sales manager of the Dallas district. The award was the only one of its kind given in Texas and New Mexico. The award was made at a meeting of MM dealers and invited guests in Lubbock on June 30. A special attraction at the meeting was showing of a film strip on a closed TV circuit made in the Farwell area earlier this year. In addition to Dempster, others from this area in attendance were E. R. Smith, Clovis MM sales manager, Leon Marks and Bill Moss.

68 Elections Important; Start Thinking Now

Although it is still a year or so before the American public must choose a president again, it is not too early to start considering some of the aspects of the election. At a time when America is at the crossroads, so to speak, it is of prime importance that a good deal of thought go into this next choice, for the man that we choose to lead us through 1972 will be required to make many decisions that will have a profound influence upon the future of this nation.

At first glance, it would appear that Lyndon Baines Johnson is in a good deal of trouble in his bid for re-election, and rightly so. The Vietnam war has claimed over 11,000 American soldiers and President Johnson has yet to declare that victory is our objective. All we have heard from the President is that he is willing to go anywhere to talk peace. Of this, the American people grow weary. Civil unrest stalks the country. City after city is feeling the touch of the torch, all in the name of civil rights, yet the President continues to appease these rabble rousers with more civil rights bills. The American people grow wearier still.

Crime is on the rise. The streets of many of our largest cities are totally unsafe at night, yet the emphasis is still on the Rights of the perpetrators of the crime and the victims are forgotten. Our President has yet to speak on the subject, and the American people still grow weary.

The cost of living is at its highest point in history. The grocery bill alone is enough to drain the pocketbook of the average man, and President Johnson talks of still higher taxes. Our embassies all over the world are ransacked and burned. The cry of Yankee go home is heard nightly in many parts of the world, yet the administration continues to try to buy the love of these miser-

Main Street Lazbuddie

By Kitty Gallman

Funeral services for Mrs. Louis Smith, the mother of Mrs. C.W. Bradshaw of the Lazbuddie community, were held in Coleman Monday. Mrs. Smith passed away in Lubbock last Saturday. Also surviving her are her grandsons, Otis Bradshaw who is stationed with the Navy in San Diego, Calif., and Lloyd Bradshaw who is stationed at Ft. Bliss in El Paso.

Attending the services from Lazbuddie were Pete Mimms, J.J. McDonald, Mrs. Marvin Mimms, Mrs. George Crain, and Mrs. John McGehee.

Lazbuddie FHA girls had a slumber party in the Home-making Department of Lazbuddie High School Friday night under the sponsorship of Eva Dean Ivy. We understand that no a lot of slumbering took place.

The J.B. Jennings family left this weekend to go to their ranch in DeKalb, Tex.

Returning Tuesday from their vacation were Reverend and Mrs. Roy Havens. Coming with them were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thomas Havens and Roy Glenn, their son and his family.

Wylie Bullock who was hospitalized following a farm accident two weeks ago is still in the Clovis Memorial Hospital but is steadily improving.

My Impressions Of Our Nation's Capital

By Ronald Mayfield
As we entered Washington, D.C., it seemed just to be another large city. Then as we passed the pentagon, the historical monuments, and the huge white buildings with the stone pillars, I began to realize that this is where our laws are made, where the vital decisions for our welfare come into being. As I studied each building and monument, I realized this was what I had read about in history books. There are so many beautiful sights, they cannot be numbered.

As we entered Arlington Cemetery, a feeling which I cannot explain fell on our group, for here lay the men who have fought to make our country free and to keep it free.

Almost everywhere you look you can see men in uniform, and the American flag flying in the breeze. This, I think,

★ My Tour To Washington D.C. ★

By Jill Mimms
I walked along the hall at the Inn of the Six Flags, looking for my assigned room and the three girls who were to be my roommates for the next 13 days. Aha, this was it, 549! I walked in confidently and peered around. The room was a wreck. Two maids were working valiantly, but it definitely had that lived-in look! There were at least 14 suitcases standing in the doorway and they all had Kansas identification tags. I clutched my umbrella and smiled at the maid who smiled back and said she believed the other girls had changed to 555 and I might be able to find them there and why didn't I look? So I trotted down to 555 and knocked a little timidly; but my fears were in vain, for the door was opened by a nice looking girl who proved to be Becky Lehmann, the first of my roommates. We gives Washington an outstanding appeal to the proud American.

(Editor's Note: Ronald Mayfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Mayfield, won his trip to Washington in the speech contest sponsored by the REA, and became part of the Government in Action Youth Tour along with Jill Mimms, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Mimms, also of Lazbuddie.)

got me installed in 555, I met another of my roomies, Dianne Loehr, and, deciding not to wait for the unknown quantity of Miss Susie Carter, we departed for the pool, where we met dozens of people with red Texas-shaped badges with various and sundry names on them. These were our tour-mates. We were on the lookout for any who might be on the same bus as we, Bus No. 1, later known as Wonderful Bus No. 1. I met Susie Carter and we all returned to our room to get acquainted and to relax before the orientation dinner later.

That is how I spent the first hour of the Government-In-Action Youth Tour to Washington. The next 12 days proved to be the most exciting, active ones I had ever spent. My roomies came to be very, very dear to me; my busmates were marvelous; and my chaperones, Denver and Vada Nance of Keller, were two of the most wonderful people I have ever met. And this lost of Wonderful People would not be complete without mentioning Ken Loyd, the Great White Father, in charge of everything and everybody; Patteann Daniel, the Super Photographer; and all the other chaperone and kids who made up the NOBLE NINETY NINE, as we call ourselves. Oh, yes, I left out the greatest bus driver of them all, Ray Bass of Wonderful Bus No. 1!

We left Dallas at 7:30 sharp (almost!) Friday morning, three bus loads of us. We played get-acquainted games, and sang some, but after the first day we slept a lot! My roomies and I were averaging about four hours of sleep a night! Curfew was reasonably early; but it just took us so long to get organized and clear out our things enough so that we could get in our beds! You can imagine what havoc four girls and their clothes, make-up, hair rollers, etc., etc., for two weeks could wreck on a room! But I would like to say this: Only once in the whole 13 days we were gone were we late getting to the bus, and only once did we leave anything behind. If you had seen the condition of our room five minutes after we unlocked the door, you would understand fully what a great accomplishment that is!! We made overnight stops in Little Rock, Nashville (where we attended the Grand Ole Opry, and about 40 of us got Porter Wagoner's autograph), and Roanoke, Va., where we had Sunday devotional, Roanoke was the first place that we got any comments on our accents, although our little red badges got us a lot of attention wherever we went! (In the Capitol in Washington, one little boy looked at us and said "Mama, they're from Texas!" in an awed tone of voice.) The further we went, the better our group behaved, the more people who noticed our beautiful Texas badges, the prouder I became that I was from Texas!

We arrived in Washington at about noon on Monday, June 12, and was I glad to see it! It seemed slightly unreal to actually be there at last; and besides -- the roads in Tennessee and Virginia are not straight and lovely like those in the Texas Panhandle! Wonderful Bus No. 1 was carrying some pretty motion-sick kids, (and chaperones!) including me!! Monday afternoon we had our publicity pictures made on the Capitol steps, then went to the Sam Rayburn Building where we held a reception for our congressmen. Although my own representative, Bob Price, was unable to attend, I did get to meet Senator Yarborough, and most of the Texas representatives did stop by for at least a few minutes.

Monday night after our supper, which included ham with cherries, not pineapple, on it, hard bread, hard English peas, fruit cocktail, lemon pie, and Coke -- you could have water if you asked for it, and tea and coffee not at all -- we began to see Washington. Our first stop was the Iwo Jima monument, or the United States Marine Corps War Memorial, as its official name is. This is a very, very impressive thing; the six huge statues are exceedingly lifelike, no detail was left undone. Here began the feeling of deep respect for the past -- and the work of the present -- that stayed with me all over the historic sites of Washington. We also visited this night the Lincoln Memorial, which is very beautiful indeed; the Jefferson Memorial; and the Washington Monument. As I had been sick that morning, I was "chicken" and took the elevator both up and down the Monument, which was about 900 steps. Most of the group walked at least one way. They were exhausted -- and sore!!

Tuesday morning we were served a breakfast of bacon, and underdone scrambled eggs, which we had quite often in Washington. I do not mean to complain about the food; all our meals to and from Washington were delicious, but the planned meals which we were served at our motel were not the best! But to continue with our sight-seeing, Tuesday morning we visited the White House, which looks exactly like the pictures, and then we went to the Wax Museum, where we ate lunch. Let me tell you about the Wax Museum!! It begins with a ferocious depiction of Leif Eric-son, goes through Ben Franklin and his experiments with electricity, through General Lee's surrender at Appomattox, through Jonas Salk's discovery of a vaccine against polio, through President Kennedy's death, right up to the soldier serving in Vietnam. It is wonderful! Every history book should be illustrated by a wax museum. I mentioned how lifelike the figures of Iwo Jima were; well, I had to admit that these wax ones had those beat when I saw one of them breathing, I really did! His chest moved visibly up and down, and that was quite a shocking thing to see, I tell you!!

Tuesday afternoon we went again to Arlington Cemetery. We learned that there are an average of 24 funerals conducted there every day, and all around us we could see the evidence of this fact. There was row upon row upon row upon row of white headstones as far as the eye could see; here a fresh-made grave; there a family and a priest leaving a grave; down the road a full-scale military funeral with caisson, flag-draped casket, and service honor guard.

The Texas delegation formed a line of two's and walked in silence to President Kennedy's grave, where we placed a wreath of yellow roses, joined hands, and said a silent prayer. Audible ones are not allowed. We then went to the changing of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, which lived up to everything I had ever heard about it. The guard walks down a rubber mat, turns, clicks his heels, waits a precise number of seconds, turns back, clicks his heels, waits, and walks to the other end of the mat, where he repeats his drill. The only muscles I saw the man move that were not a part of his drill were his throat muscles when he swallowed. It was plainly shown us how well these men are trained; when the ceremony was being completed, one of the restrictive poles fell because the crowd was pushing in too far.

Yellow and white were used in decorations. The cake, white with yellow trim, was served with yellow punch and ice cream. Yogi bear napkins,

Sherry Wall Is Shower Honoree

A pre-nuptial shower was given for Sherry Wall, who was married to Gary Blain Sunday, last Thursday at the Farwell Baptist Church fellowship hall. Hostesses for the bridal courtesy were Mmes. Bruce Blair, Bunk Phillips, Cotton Robertson, Dick Gerles, Joe McWilliams, Charlie Hromas, Asa Smith, Raymond Martin, Bill Dollar, Valeta Roberts.

Chosen colors of the honoree, yellow and white, were used in room decorations and carried out in refreshments. Donna Dunn and Peggy Eason presided at the serving table which was covered with white net over an underskirt of yellow. Centering the table was an arrangement of yellow and white daisies and glads flanked by yellow candles in crystal holders. White cake squares were served with yellow punch, mints and nuts. Crystal and silver table appointments were used.

Connie Phillips registered guests at a table centered with an arrangement of daisies.

Corsages, presented to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. John Wall; and Mrs. Billie Blain, mother of the groom-elect; were made from artificial fruit, minute kitchen items and ribbon bows of yellow and white. Mrs. Blain and Vickie Blain assisted in opening gifts.

Hostess gift was a steam iron and a set of Teflon cookware. Approximately 30 persons attended the social and many others sent gifts.

Mrs. Ruby Dixon, who has been visiting in Albuquerque and Santa Fe for the past several weeks, returned home on Friday.

Recent Bride Shower Honoree

Mrs. Bill Roth was honoree for a post-nuptial shower on Sunday with members of the Companion Class of Texico Baptist Church as hostesses. The social was held in the fellowship hall of the church.

Chosen colors of the honoree green and white, were used in room decorations and carried out in refreshments. Serving table was laid with white lace over green and centered by candles which flanked the punch bowl, filled with green punch. Individual cake squares, white decorated with minute wedding bands, were served with the punch, green and white mints, and nuts. Mrs. Jim Pierce and Mrs. Johnny Hammitt presided at the serving table.

Karen and Gaye London alternated at the guest register. The bride's book and guest register was made by a sister of Bill Roth, Mrs. Carmen Tucker.

The gift table was centered by an arrangement of roses. Mrs. Roth, mother-in-law of the honoree, and Mrs. Tucker, a sister-in-law, were presented with corsages made from minute kitchen items and ribbon bows. They also opened the gifts in the absence of the honoree, who was unable to attend.

Signing the guest register were Mmes. Guy Cox, Olan Schlueter, Bud Pearce, Leroy Schuville, Harvey Hudnall, and members of the companion Sunday School Class. Approximately 50 persons sent gifts who were unable to attend.

Visitors In Hapke Home

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hapke and family are a daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crosby and children, Joyce, Diane, and Freddie and Ronny. The Crosby family left their home at Huntington Beach, Calif., the latter part of June and spent several days on a sight-seeing trip enroute to Texico. They plan to be here until around August 1.

Couple Wed In Garden Ceremony

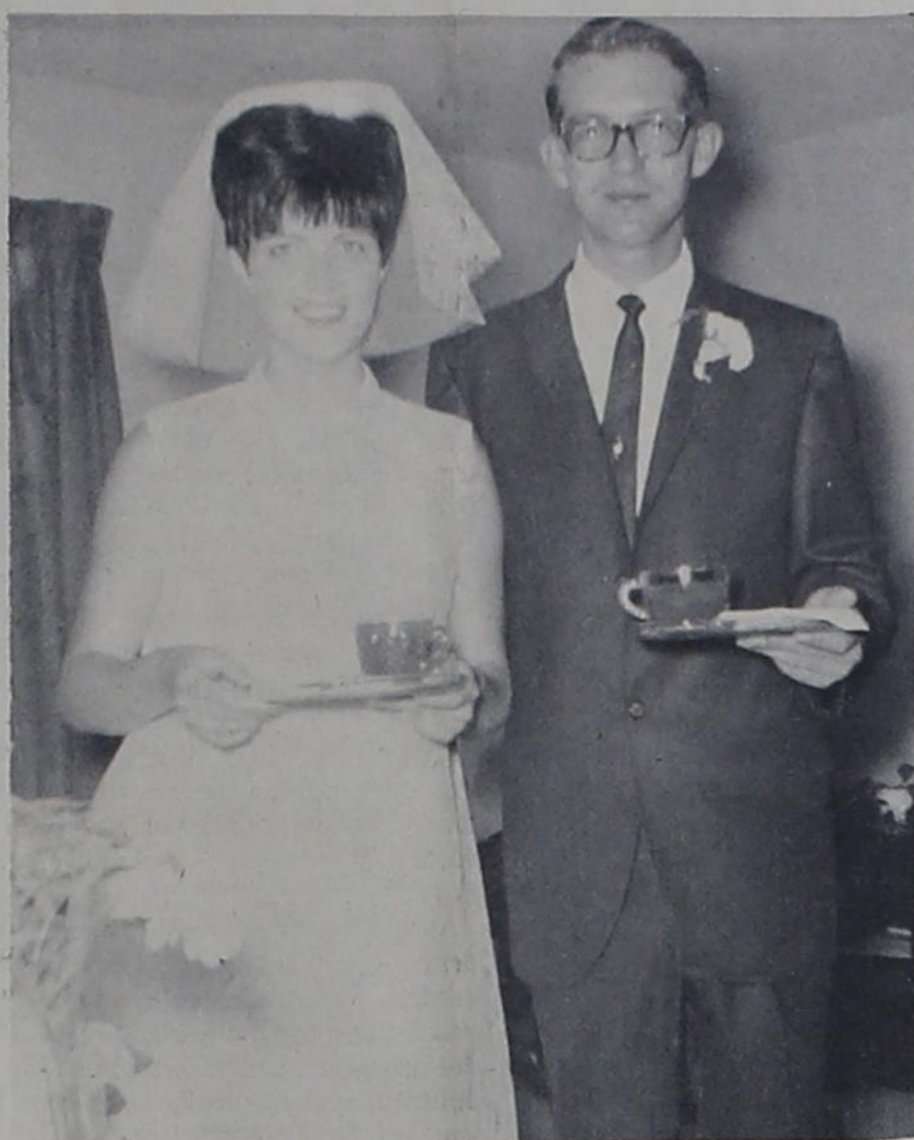

The garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Volley Stacy, Maud, Okla., was setting for the wedding of their daughter, Barbara Geraldson, and Bill Roth, son of Mrs. Tena Roth, Texico, on Friday, June 30.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a sheath dress of celadon green designed with a coat of patterned scalloped lace. Her Chantilly lace veil was held by a minute pillbox hat. She carried a bouquet of white carnations accented by ribbon streamers atop a white Bible.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Beverly Hannett, Konawa, Okla. Miss Hannett was attired in a sheath dress of mint green faille. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations with ribbon and net accents.

John Gott of Albuquerque served as bestman for his brother-in-law.

Mrs. Stacy, mother of the bride, chose a blue dress with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of pink and white carnations.

Mrs. Roth wore a patterned jacket dress of green and white accented by white accessories. Her corsage was also pink and white carnations.

Following a reception in the home of the bride's parents, the couple left for a wedding trip to Eufaula Lake. The bride wore for travel, a knit dress of pink and white accented by white accessories. Complementing her attire was a corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The bride, a graduate of Maud High School, is also a graduate of Charles School of Hair Design at Shawnee, Okla.

The groom, a 1961 graduate of Texico High School, attended Eastern New Mexico University. He is presently employed by Public Finance Company in Pampa. The young couple are now at home at 1118 Bond Street in Pampa.

Saturday Wedding Unites Margaret Haseloff, Gene Beavers

Margaret Ellen Haseloff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.H. Haseloff, Farwell, became the bride of Ross Eugene Beavers, Clovis, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Beavers of Plainview in a 7 p.m. wedding at St. John Lutheran Church at Lariat Saturday, July 8.

The double ring service was read by Pastor Herbert F. Peiman, grandfather of the bride, in front of a setting of seven branched pyramiding candelabra holding white tapers extending over the altar flanked by baskets of white gladioli and majestic daisies. Candles were lighted by brothers of the bride, James and Mike Haseloff, who also doubled as ushers.

Appropriate nuptial selections were played on the piano by Mrs. Otto Streit, aunt of the bride, who also accompanied Loyd Wagner of Clovis when he sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "O Perfect Love."

Matron of honor was Mrs. Betty Roberts of St. Louis, Mo. Bridesmaids were Sharon Wende, St. Louis; Gayle Beavers, Plainview, sister of the groom; and Carrie Haseloff, Farwell, sister of the bride. They were attired in identical floor-length princess style dresses of yellow embossed cotton over taffeta, designed with scoop necklines and cap sleeves accented at the hemline with a band of wide tubing. Their headpieces were layered petals of yellow silk organza. They carried nosegays of white daisies accented by yellow ribbon streamers.

The bride, escorted and given in marriage by her father, chose a floor-length wedding gown of white peau de sole, designed with a high front neckline dipping to a V in center back and short sleeves. Accenting the dress back was a large self bow with shaped streamers which formed a train. Her shoulder length veil of bridal illusion was held by two rosettes of peau de sole. She carried a bouquet of white roses surrounded by stephanotis atop a white Bible, a gift from an aunt, Mrs. Fred Hammonds, at time of the bride's confirmation.

Following tradition, something old was the Bible, new was her wedding ensemble, borrowed and blue was a lace garter from the matron of honor.

Bestman was Donnie Hopkins, Ballinger, Texas. Groomsmen were Don Clark, Plainview; Eugene Guthals, Clovis; and Richard Haseloff, brother of the bride, Farwell.

Mrs. Haseloff, mother of the bride, was attired in a blue lace dress with matching straw hat and bone accessories. Her corsage was of rosebuds.

Mother of the groom, Mrs. Beavers, wore a two-piece pink suit of silk shantung, black patent accessories, a flower hat. Complementing her ensemble was a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Aunts of the bride were hostesses for a reception in the Parish Hall immediately following the wedding. Serving table was covered with white lace over yellow and centered by an arrangement of white shasta daisies in a milkglass bowl. The five-tiered wedding cake separated by columns, was topped by two large wedding bells. After it had been cut by the bride and groom, it was served with yellow punch, mints and nuts. Mrs. Don Madison, Lubbock, Kathy Engleman, Jackson, Miss., and Pam Woods, Okmulgee, Okla., presided at the serving table. Milkglass table appointments and napkins inscribed with the names "Margaret and Gene" completed table decor.

Guests were registered by Jo Beavers, sister of the groom, Plainview.

TO WED -- Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Drager of Friona announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Virginia, to Andrew Wayne Jesko, son of Mrs. Lucy Jesko of Lazbuddie and the late A. J. Jesko. Friends and relatives are invited to the August 5, 4 p.m. wedding at St. Teresa's Catholic Church in Friona. No invitations are being mailed locally. The bride-elect is a granddaughter of Mrs. R. S. Hines of Farwell.

When Mr. and Mrs. Beavers left for a wedding trip the bride wore a mint green linen two-piece dress with black patent accessories. Complementing her ensemble was a corsage of roses lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gable of Loving, N.M., are expected for a visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W.F. Gable this weekend.

Marcia Wilson Is Bride Of Lt. Allen Lockhart

St. Albans Episcopal Church in North Providence, R.I., was scene for the wedding of Marcia Sloan Wilson, Johnston, R.I., and Lt. Allen C. Lockhart, CEC, USN, Davisville, R.I., at 2 p.m. on Saturday, July 8.

The double ring service was read by Rev. Walter M. Hotchkiss.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas T. Wilson Sr., Johnston, R.I. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. John T. Lockhart, Texico.

Maid of honor was Miss Lillian E. Cooper. Bridesmaids were Mary E. Baledreau and Lorene H. West. The maid of honor and the bridesmaids were attired in identical sleeveless floor length linen gowns of marigold and lemon ice. Their headresses were matching circlets of daisies holding minute veils of illusion, trimmed with tiny daisies. Their bouquets were of daisies and wedding gown of silk linen designed with a scoop neckline and short sleeves. A band of Venice lace encircled the waist and also adorned the bottom of the skirt. Small lace motifs enhanced the A-line skirt. The fullsweep Watteau train terminated in chapel length.

Her floor length veil of illusion fell from a half hat of daisies. She carried a bouquet of roses and daisies accented by streamers of ivory.

Serving as bestman was Lt. Thomas F. Stark, CEC, USN, Washington D.C., Ushers were LCDR Robert F. Phenix, CEC, USN, Davisville; LCDR John A. Walter, CEC, USN, University of Michigan; Lt. Alexander Shaker, CEC, USN, Davisville; Lt. John W. Hall, DC USN, Washington, D.C., Lt. J. G. Joseph E. Fleagle, CEC, USN, Davisville; and Capt. Frank J. Homan, USMC, Davisville.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held at the Quonset Point Officers Club.

The bride is a graduate of Mount Pleasant High School and a 1965 graduate of Rhode Island College. She is presently teaching in Providence, R.I.

The groom is a 1955 graduate of Texico High School and received a degree from the University of New Mexico in 1960.

He was commissioned in the U.S. Navy in 1961 and has served in various areas including Vietnam. He is presently stationed at Davisville, R.I.

Following a honeymoon trip to Puerto Rico, the bride and groom will be at home at North Kingstown, R.I.

Tour --

The three men involved in the guard-changing never batted an eyelid! The guards are changed every hour on the hour, so the men are not required to maintain this severe discipline but one hour every day, but that would be enough, in full dress uniform, in the sun, with about 50 people wondering if he is going to make a wrong move during the tour he is there!

Tuesday evening we went again to the Iwo Jima monument to see one of the most beautiful and impressive sights of our tour. It filled us with a deep sense of patriotism, or, as one boy put it upon re-boarding Wonderful Bus No. 1, "The first thing I'm going to do when I get home is visit my friendly neighborhood Marine recruiter!" The performance of the Marine Barracks Band of Washington, D.C. was excellent. We also saw a drill team from the Seabees perform -- and that was coordination practiced to perfection! In addition we witnessed a three gun salute and heard "Taps" played in memory of all Marine dead. After such an impressive performance, even I was considering joining the Marines!

Wednesday was Rural Youth Day. We met with about 900 other kids representing the cops in 26 other states for a program consisting mainly of a quiz show called "It's a Challenge!" with teams The Stars and The Stripes participating. Texas was not one of the participants this year; two of our group kept score. Questions asked the team included ones about cooperatives, the arts, politics, etc. After this, we all boarded our buses in order to go to the White House, by special invitation of the President. Let me take just a few lines here to brag on Texas a little bit! Due to the fact that the buses were lined up according to the alphabet, Texas was last in line. The other states thought this was a great joke and laughed heartily, and we were naturally disappointed; but Texas did not boo, nor did we complain. We merely went to our buses in the speediest way possible and were ready and waiting before anyone else. We arrived last at the White House, proceeded to the South Lawn, and lo and behold, there was an empty space for Texas right under the President's nose!

The President looked much better than he does on television; he made a very good speech, and shook quite a few hands, although mine wasn't one of em, worse luck! He also asked one of his visitors, Billy Graham, to say a few words to us, so we felt like we received a double treat.

Wednesday afternoon we visited Mount Vernon, and I was very, very impressed with that. It is an exceedingly beautiful place, very "homey", and as much as it was during George Washington's time as work and research can make it, I suppose! Washington's grave and that of his wife are also located on the estate. Travelling back to Washington I got a glimpse from the bus window of the church building where George Washington and Robert E. Lee worshipped.

Wednesday night a "Shindig" for all the states was held, but as I do not dance, I took advantage of this time to visit with my father's cousin and her family. I returned fairly early and climaxed my evening by getting to bed at a very early hour, 10:30. The sleep was wonderful!

Thursday morning we descended upon the National Archives Building, where we saw the original Constitution, the Bill of Rights, and a 1776 copy of the Declaration of Independence.

By noon we were on Capitol Hill and free to do whatever we liked, as long as we remembered where we were from, and stayed in groups of three, which was a CommonSense Item to be observed everywhere. My group decided to take the tour of the Capitol, which we did after eating lunch in the U.S. Senate Building cafeteria. We arrived at this place by riding the subway, which my roommate Becky thought was the most fun thing we had done during the whole trip! The tour of the Capitol was very good; we visited the House of Representatives and the Senate, where I saw Everett Dirksen, Margaret Chase Smith, and Ralph Yarborough. The chambers that these bodies meet in are much smaller than I thought they would be; of course, they are large enough for the purpose they serve, but they appear awfully small from the visitor's galleries!

Thursday night Texas, Oklahoma, Iowa, and Illinois took a cruise down the Potomac, and I got to meet some of the kids from other states. One of the girls from Iowa had never seen cotton growing!

Friday we visited the national headquarters of rural electric cooperatives, and then we were turned loose on the Smithsonian Institute. Of course we did not get to see nearly enough there! My threesome took a tour of the FBI headquarters, and that is something that no one should miss! It was very, very interesting.

Our planned activities for Friday night were cancelled so that we could get everything

P. Hill Pals Hold Work Day

Pleasant Hill Pals 4-H Club held a work day at the community center on Thursday with club members and interested adults gathering at the corner late in the afternoon. Lawns at the center were mowed, weeds pulled from the flower beds and cactus garden, and stone benches made for the picnic area. Cactus, brought from Mexico by Mr. and Mrs. E.I. Hester and given to the club, were planted in the flower garden along with a Century plant and Resurrection plant, also donated by the Hesters. In addition several club members brought rocks and cacti for the rock garden.

Squared away for our departure the next day, but I was lucky enough to get to attend the graduation of one of my cousins in Arlington. I returned to the motel at about 11:30 to find that my roommates were still in a state of chaos, so it was quite a while before we got to bed!

Saturday morning the Great White Father insisted that everyone, everyone, take a Dramamine to prevent car sickness (it didn't help) and we were provided with pillows, so Bus No. 1 slept most of the way to Knoxville. Our other stops were Chattanooga, for a devotional and Father's Day ceremony for Ken Loyd on Lookout Mountain, Memphis Sunday night, and Texarkana at about noon on Monday, so that we could get ready for the big tacky farewell party Monday night. It was a marvelous party! We had bus song competition (which I might mention, Wonderful Bus No. 1 won!), a Tackfest contest, and a lot of tears; among other things.

But the most tears came Tuesday morning when we pulled in at the Inn of the Six Flags and it was really time to say goodbye for the last time to all the kids you had ridden with, and lived with, and kidded with the past two weeks. It was hard to leave those people!

We saw some beautiful country between here and Washington, D.C.; but the most beautiful thing I saw was the Lazbude elevator on the horizon, and the beautiful flat land around my home! It was great to get back, but I sure wish I could go again next year. It is the experience of a lifetime!

Tennesseans Visit In Benderman Home

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Benderman this week have been his sister, Mrs. Talmage Blankenship, and a nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Blankenship, all from Nashville, Tenn.

Benderman remarked that this is the first time his sister, the elder Mrs. Blankenship, had been west of the Mississippi.

Mr. and Mrs. Benderman joined their visitors on a trip to Santa Fe, Albuquerque, and other points of interest in New Mexico.

Visit In Meissner Home

Recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G.P. Meissner have been their son and family, Rev. and Mrs. Reuben Meissner, Lois, Richard, Cynthia, Janet, Debra and Mary from Glencoe, Minnesota; also Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Gloyna, Brenda and Michael of Amarillo.

Visiting in the Meissner home last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Schroeder and children Gregg and Michele of Kansas City and the Gloyna family from Amarillo. Mrs. Schroeder and Mrs. Gloyna are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. G.P. Meissner.

Mrs. S.G. Jones is in Amarillo today for x-rays and consultation on a shoulder that was broken sometime ago.

Aldene Bradley has spent the past three weeks visiting in Abilene with a brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bradley and daughters. She is scheduled to return home this weekend.

MEET MR. WUNSTOP DUZZIT

A woman was driving along a country road, when she noticed two linemen start up a telephone pole. "They certainly are stupid," she said to her friend, "they must think I never drove before."
