Farm Machinery Repair Course Opens

On Monday night, November 20, plans will be laid for a ten-week course in farm machinery repairing at the agricultural building of the Farwell high school, R. L. Morton, vocational agriculture director of the local school announced today.

Farmers of this community having machinery in need of repairing or overhauling will be permitted free access to the building and tools to make such repairs, Morton stated. He added that the course offered farmers and opportunity to build trailers, paint cars, or repair any farm machinery, including tractors. The equipment of the school, which includes both electric and acetylene welders, drill presses and a large assortment of hand tools, will be available for such repair work at no charge. Each man, he explained, will be required to do his own work.

The course is open to any man out of school, he said.

Classes in evening. Classes will be held in the evenings, at hours to be determined at the initial meeting next Monday night. "We will be required to put in at least nine hours a week for ten weeks," Morton added.

The first meeting will be held at eight o'clock November 20, and farmers of this section who are interested are asked to report at that hour. Persons enrolling will not be required to continue classes for the entire 10-week period, but may withdraw at any time their project is completed, Morton went on. Furthermore, enrollments may be made at any time after the school is underway.

Commenting on the undesirable season to launch such a project when farmers are busy with their fall harvesting, Morton stated, "We had to take it when we could get it," explaining that it was a project set up by the Educational Department of the Department of Agriculture in conjunction with the State of Texas. He said that $200.00 had been allocated to the local project and must be taken up before the close of the present year.

Carpenter Named as Dairy Animal Tester

Harold Carpenter has recently been named by the Parmer County Dairy Association as official herd tester and will assume his duties around the first of December, it was announced here today.

Accurate records on monthly production and butterfat tests of each animal in the herds owned by members of the Association are kept, with tests being made once monthly. Directors of the Parmer Club also announced that they had secured a carload of cottonseed meal, to be delivered from Littlefield after requests of the various owners are received and allotments to each ascertained by the directors.

GETS PROMOTION

Rev. Orion Carter, brother of Supt. J. T. Carter, has been named district superintendent of the Abilene district for the coming year.

Rev. Carter's appointment was made at the conclusion of the Northwest Texas Conference of the Methodist Church at Sweetwater. For the past six years he has been pastor of the First Methodist Church at Childress and is well known here, having conducted a series of revival services here last summer.

Other appointments of interest include that of Rev. R. L. Butler, who was sent to Throckmorton, and Rev. Roscoe Trostle, who was returned to the Bovina-Oklahoma Lane pastorate.

TURNIPS ON BIG SCALE

N. L. Tharp, Clovis implement dealer, who owns an irrigated farm northwest of Bovina, sent The Tribune office a sample of his turnip crop last week. They were by far the largest put on local exhibit this season, one of them weighing more than four pounds. Tharp has a half acre on his Bovina farm, which, he says, "will produce a carload."

When the lowly Peccary is hunted, a number of them may band together and turn the tables, making man their quarry.

Major Thornton Adds Oak Cluster to DFC

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE BOMBER STATION, England—Major Julian R. Thornton, Flying Fortress bombardier and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Thornton of Farwell, Texas, has been awarded an Oak Leaf Cluster to his Distinguished Flying Cross, according to a recent announcement by the commanding general of the U. S. 8th Air Force.

Maj. Thornton's wife, Mrs. Catherine Thornton, resides in Albuquerque, New Mexico. Lead bombardier of the 92nd Bombardment Group, oldest Flying Fortress group based in England, Major Thornton won the Cluster to his D. F. C. for "extraordinary achievement" on a series of outstanding bombing attacks including attacks on Huls and Hamburg, in Germany, and Villcoublay and St. Nazaire in France.

Major Thornton, who holds the D. F. C. and Air Medal with three clusters, in addition to the cluster of the D. F. C., completed a tour of duty in the European theater of operations last summer. After a 30-day leave in the U. S. he has volunteered to return to his group to fly another tour of duty.

Methodists Re-Elect Officials For Year

All of the official board of the Hamlin Memorial Methodist Church was re-elected for another year at the first meeting of the current church year, held Monday evening.

B. N. Graham, who has been chairman of the board of stewards, was re-elected by acclamation, as were all other officials, including C. M. Henderson, vice president; Chas. F. Bieler, secretary; and David Harrison, treasurer.

The official board approved the budget for the coming year, the heaviest ever handed the local congregation, in the amount of $4561.00 and laid plans for meeting the financial obligations of the church for the year.

Treasurer Harrison reported a little less than $1000 in the treasury after closing the books for the past year.

Junior Play Comes on Next Wednesday Night

The juniors of the Texico school are this week reminding the public that their annual class play will be presented in the auditorium of the Texico school, next Wednesday evening, November 22.

Entitled "High Pressure Homer", the comedy is written in three acts, and provides exceedingly good entertainment. All members of the cast have been active, and rehearsals are continuing under the direction of Mrs. Pete Murphy.

The play will begin at 8, and admission is 15 and 25 cents.

USO NEEDS MAGAZINES

The Clovis USO has asked The Tribune to make solicitations for discarded books and magazines. "We are badly in need of good reading materials of all kinds," the announcement said. Soldier boys are especially fond of detective magazines and books. People in this area having reading material to donate to the USO may leave it at The Tribune office, or notify Earl Roberts who will pick it up.

New Texico Business To Open Doors Soon

H. W. Whistler, for a number of years a traveling representative of Armour & Company, has leased the W. N. (Pop) Phillips location in Texico, and plans to open a new business in the near future.

Whistler is remodeling the building this week, and will also add another room to the rear to make room for his stock. He stated Monday that he would conduct a distributing center for fresh and cured meats and frozen foods, to be sold at wholesale.

In conjunction with the business, he plans to operate a cafe, and said that he expected to be ready to open the new business within the next two weeks.

It will be operated under the name of the Whistler Distributing Company.

GETS BUCK FIRST DAY

Capt. Lee Bradshaw returned to Farwell Saturday night, bearing the evidence of a successful deer hunt southeast of Alamogordo, N. M. Capt. Bradshaw bagged a nice 10-pointer the first day of the open season.

Incidentally, all other men of the party, including six others from Clovis, got their deer the first day also.

When's Thanksgiving . . . Anybody Really Know?

Question of the week: When is Thanksgiving? November 23rd, or November 30th?

Local calendars, as well as local opinion, are split on the matter—with some listing the fourth Thursday and some listing the last, and fifth, Thursday as the proper day on which Americans should render "thanks."

An old calendar, unearthed at The Tribune office, reveals that in 1939 there were five Thursdays, and the last one was officially shown as Thanksgiving Day.

That, you will remember, was before the President decided that Thanksgiving came too close to Christmas and proposed to "push up" the observance a couple of weeks. His idea was not accepted with any great popularity and the matter was dropped after two confused years, but now, with five Thursdays, nobody seems to remember whether Thanksgiving should be

"In my opinion we face the hardest task ever assigned us."

So spoke G. D. Anderson, chairman of the War Finance Committee for Parmer County, today, when asked his opinion as to the prospects of meeting the county's quota in the Sixth War Loan.

Parmer County has been given an over-all quota of $245,000. Of this amount, a quota of $125,000 has been set for sale of E bonds.

Sale of the E bond quota, in the opinion of Anderson is going to be the most difficult. Admitting that bank deposits in the county were at present at a record high, Anderson blamed the gloomy outlook to the apathetic attitude of our people. "They just don't seem to be interested."

He expressed the belief that the sale of all other bonds, amounting to $120,000, "would be taken care of without a great deal of trouble."

The drive opens on November 20 and closes on Dec. 16, he stated, adding that purchase of any and all E bonds made between Nov. 1st and Dec. 16 would apply on the county's quota.

"It looks to me like a house-to-house canvass is the only way we are to meet the E bond quota," he surmised as he discussed plans for the coming drive. He pointed out that heretofore he had numerous pledges already on file when drives opened, but as yet "there seems to be no interest in the drive now facing us."

"People of the county have got the money; there is no question about that, but getting them interested in investing it in bonds seems to be an extremely difficult job," the War Finance Chairman concluded.

PW Laborers Busy In Parmer County Fields

A total of one hundred and twenty laborers from the Prisoner of War camp at Hereford were placed in Parmer county during last week on new requests, according to a checkup here today by Lee McElroy, county agent, through whom applications for such labor must be made.

McElroy said that the requests for prisoners were being increased, with each succeeding week, with farmers now using the men in practically every type of general labor on the farms. Some are picking cotton, others are in grain fields and others are helping out in farm construction work.

Where farmers are acquainted with the workings of the plan, on the eastern side of the county, a large number of prisoners are being used, McElroy added that all persons who had hired the prisoners for farm work were making favorable comments.

Prisoners are transported from the internment camp by the farmer who hires them, and may leave camp by 7 in the morning. Standard wage rates for various types of work are established.

Killing Frost Aids Farmers With Crops

The first killing frost of the season was in evidence here on last Thursday morning, Nov. 9th, marking one of the latest dates for frost in this region in recent years.

Generally, frost hits here between October 12 and 20, which throws the 1944 visit of Jack Frost behind schedule for at least 20 days.

Farmers received the freeze with rejoicing. Most of them had been compelled to postpone their combining operations till a killing frost in order that the large growth of "sucker" crop could be handled through their machines.

Excessive fall rains caused a second growth to spring up among the heavy grain sorghum crops, making combining inadvisable due to the heavy moisture content in the sucker crop. Hence, there was nothing to do but wait until frost had matured the second growth of grain.

Ideal harvesting weather has prevailed over the area since the visit of the frost, and farmers are combining their grain as rapidly as humanly possible.

Car Situation Is Somewhat Improved

The shortage of railroad cars in which to ship the large fall grain crop out of here showed some improvement Tuesday when 13 cars were set out in the Texico-Farwell yards.

Local grain men immediately set to filling the cars and all the allotted shipping facilities were full by Tuesday night. By shipping out the 13 cars, grain men said they expected to be able to receive grain from the farmers for the rest of the present week.

At Lariat, the car situation continued to bottleneck movement of grain from that area, with only two freight cars being set out there since the latter part of last week.

W. W. Vinyard, local Santa Fe agent, said that he had been given no promise of a continued improvement in the car supply. "We can only hope for an improvement," he said.

DOOSE IS OPERATED

C. J. Doose, local Conoco representative, is convalescing nicely after an emergency appendectomy, which he sustained on Tuesday night of last week. He is confined in a Clovis hospital.

Cattle-Chasing Dogs Will Be Shot

Every night, Glasscock reports, his stock is chased to and fro by the frolicking dogs. He warned local people that he did not want to shoot pets, but advised that dogs had better be penned at night.

Mrs. Hanna's Public Sale Comes Nov. 21

Due to the fact that she is leaving the farm, Mrs. J. T. Hanna is staging a general clean-up farm sale at her place, eight miles east of Farwell, on Tuesday, Nov. 21st.

A good herd of milk cows, all of which have been tested for tuberculosis and Bang's disease, will be the main feature of the sale. A list of extra good farm machinery will also go under the hammer, as well as a large collection of household goods. One two-room house will sell to the highest bidder. Other items include horses chickens and hogs.

The sale will get underway at 10:30, Texas time, with Col. Dick Doshier in charge, assisted by O. W. Francis as clerk. The Methodist ladies of Oklahoma Lane will serve the lunch and there will be plenty of free coffee.

A complete list of the offerings will be found in this issue of The Tribune.

Local Interest Plans Will Feature Program

Without elaborating on what was in prospect for the program Thursday evening, C. M. Henderson, president of the local Men's Club, said "it will be an interesting program, dealing with local problems."

He also said that a short picture, showing the activities of the Future Farmers of America would be shown.

Henderson urged a full attendance on the part of the men of the community, adding, "Don't forget the sandwiches and pies."

TO OPEN BUSINESS

Joe and Clyde Magness have formed a partnership and will open an Allis-Chalmers agency in Farwell in the near future. It will likely be two weeks yet before the business will be in operation.

They have purchased the old Zip service station location, and it is being remodeled this week. Besides carrying a line of A-C implements, they will also carry a stock of parts and will open a repair shop as soon as a suitable mechanic can be obtained.

Ford Robot Bombs May Strike Germany

The story behind the story of the Ford-built jet-propulsion engine, which is powering reproductions of the German V-1 robot bomb for test

The story of the engine, which was turned out in record time thru close cooperation between Ford engineers and the air technical service command at Wright Field, dates back to 1918 when Gen. H. H. Arnold, then captain and now Chief of the AAF, viewed a Ford-built robot bomb engine with Henry Ford at Dearborn. The World War I model looked promising, but the war ended before it could be tested far enough to be placed in use. It was turned over to the Edison Institute at Greenfield Village for safekeeping.

Ford interest in robot bomb engines was renewed August 9 this year when Col. D. J. Keirn, chief of the power plant laboratory at Wright Field, telephoned Ray R. Rausch, Ford general superintendent and asked, "Would you people be interested in building a robot bomb?" to which Rausch replied that Ford would not be interested in building the whole bomb but would like to work out the jet-propulsion engine.

Ford engineers went to Wright Field the same day. There Army officials told them that in view of Ford's World War I experience, it was felt that the company's personnel and resources would be invaluable in rushing through the reconstruction design and production engineering as well as subsequent production of jet-propulsion engines.

They were advised, moreover, that no specifications were available on the engine to be built—only a 5-page Allied Command report describing the apparent construction details of unexploded Nazi robot engines. The only photograph Ford engineers had to go by was one clipped from a popular picture magazine showing the robot in flight over England.

Ford was asked to undertake the job of getting these engines into production as quickly as possible. Meanwhile, Colonel Keirn telephoned that a bomber carrying various parts of a German robot propulsion engine had arrived from England.

More Ford engineers were sent to Dayton. The German engine parts—all badly mutilated by their 400-mile-an-hour contact with the earth—were studied closely, metals analyzed. Drawings were made on the spot and rushed to the plant. Strictest secrecy was observed. Trusted production men worked day and night in widely-scattered parts of the Ford plants to complete the scores of precision parts needed for the powerful revolutionary propulsion unit.

But the pledge was kept with the Air Force officials, and three weeks after Rausch received the phone call from Colonel Keirn, the first Ford-built robot bomb propulsion engine was successfully operated.

Santa Fe Remodels Box Cars For Use

TOPEKA, Kansas—Reconstruction of box cars has started at the Santa Fe Railway shops in Topeka for the first time since 1942 when materials were restricted. H. B. Lautz, general manager, Eastern Lines, announced today. The current program calls for 1,500 cars of 100,000 pounds capacity.

"These cars," Lautz explained, "are in no sense second hand equipment. True, considerable salvaged material is being used, but everything going into the cars will be in first-class condition. Trucks and underframes are completely overhauled and new A-B brakes are being applied. They will be suitable for any high-class cargo."

Rebuilt cars will go into service immediately to relieve the severe shortage of equipment for handling grain, flour, and other high-class loads.

The Santa Fe always maintained a large number of high-class box cars suitable for flour and grain loading. War demands have taken many of these cars to other railroads and cars received in replacement are not suited for such loadings. Another factor in car shortage is that the Santa Fe has not been able to get steel and lumber for its regular car rebuilding program.

"The rebuilding program is hampered by a manpower shortage," according to Lautz. "We are turning out six cars per day with 350 men," he explained. "At the present rate, it will take about 9 or 10 months to finish the 1,500 cars on the current program."

Caves of perpetual ice are found under the lava flows along Highway No. 66 in western New Mexico. Although the summer temperature may reach 100 degrees, the ice in the caves does not melt.

We used to ride a lot

Wistful young America may not be able to understand why those long, lovely rides in the country are now only a memory.

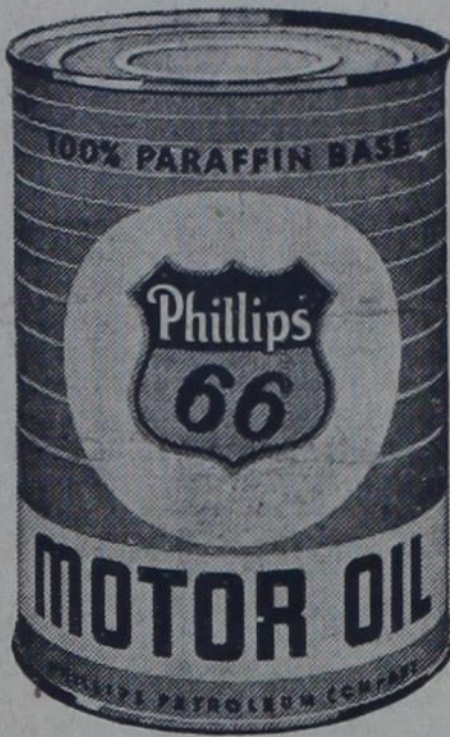

But their patriotic fathers, meeting the necessity for conserving gasoline and for prolonging the life of tires and cars, have reduced their driving to a minimum. They know that "Care for your car—For your country" is more than a slogan, that such care is important lest the nation face a wartime crisis in domestic transportation.

So now, more than ever, they want a quality oil to preserve and protect their motors. Their only question is: How can I tell which are the quality oils?

Here is one easy answer, in a very frank statement by Phillips: If you want our best oil, remember we specify that Phillips 66 Motor Oil is our finest quality... the highest grade and greatest value... among all the oils we offer to average motorists.

Experts recommend changing oil every two months. Especially, don't neglect the seasonal change this fall. Get rid of contaminated, summer-thin oil. Drain and refill with a quality lubricant. Ask for Phillips 66 Motor Oil.

MARINE RECRUITING OPEN TO 17-YEA-OLDS

Active recruiting of 17-year-old boys in the Marine Corps has again been authorized by headquarters at Washington, it was announced recently by Captain William B. Wisdom, in charge of the Marine Corps station in El Paso.

"In this connection," the captain said today, "boys who are eligible for duty with the Marines make a mistake if they want to join the Marines, by waiting for the draft. Assignment to the Marine Corps through the induction center is problematical. Only a small percentage of inductees may be so assigned, and usually more than enough to provide the quota ask for Marine Corps duty.

"The sure way," he continued, "for a 17-year-old to get into the Marine Corps is to volunteer now. He can be placed on the inactive list, and called up as much as six months later, affording time, in many instances, to complete high school.

"While the Marine Corps seeks boys who have finished high school whenever possible," Captain Wisdom pointed out, "the Corps also provides the means whereby a boy can complete his high school education and secure a diploma, while he is serving in the Corps. The Marine Corps Institute is for that purpose. It is free to every Marine, and the diploma is the same as would be obtained at the high school at home, good for entrance at colleges and universities later."

Applicants should call at the Marine Recruiting Station, El Paso, Lubbock, Santa Fe, or Albuquerque for further information.

PANHANDLE VOTE TRENDS STUDIED ON FULL RETURNS

Some politics: Returns from last Tuesday's election, as finally tabulated by the Texas Election Bureau, show that the Panhandle was the biggest solid area favoring the Republicans over the Texas Regulars.

Every Panhandle county gave the Republicans a majority over the Regulars. President Roosevelt carried all Panhandle counties; he carried all Texas counties except Bandera, Comal, Gillespie, Guadalupe, Kendall, Kenedy and Washington. The Regulars carried only one of these counties—Washington.

High Opposition Vote
The final count, with approximately 10,000 votes still not in, was Roosevelt 813,986; Dewey, 186,157; Regulars 129,285; Socialists 551; Prohibitionists 858; America First 245.

This makes the total 1944 opposition vote 317,096 in Texas. In 1932, Hoover got 96,682 votes in Texas; in 1936, Alf Landon Republican, received 103,711 votes in the state. In 1940, Wendell Willkie received 199,152 votes in Texas. The Roosevelt vote last Tuesday fell off a little in the state, as compared with 1940. That year he received 840,151 votes. In 1932, Roosevelt got 753,304 votes in the state and in 1936 he received 734,485 votes.

In 1938, Herbert Hoover carried Texas with 367,036 votes to 341,032 for Al Smith.

Two-Party State Now
In 1920, when Franklin D. Roosevelt was running for vice-president with Jim Cox on the Democratic ticket, the party carried over Warren G. Harding by 288,767 to 114,269 votes in Texas. That year, Farmer

Jim Ferguson was a candidate for President on the American Party ticket. He got 47,968 votes in Texas.

The vote last Tuesday probably marked Texas as a two-party state. Except for the Hoover victory in 1928, the Republicans received the biggest vote in their history in the state. The Roosevelt opposition was more than 100,000 more than four years ago.

Except for San Antonio, the Amarillo vicinity was about the strongest Republican spot in the state. Bexar county, in which San Antonio is located, voted 35,161 for Roosevelt, 23,880 for the Republicans and 1,676 for the Regulars.

Votes Compared
The vote in Potter county was 6,549 for Roosevelt, 2,779 for the Republicans and 801 for the Regulars. The Regulars had more support in other cities of similar size. Taylor county (Ablene) voted 7,794 for Roosevelt, 591 for the Republicans and 1,113 for the Regulars. Tom Green county (San Angelo) voted 6,275 for the Democrats, 1,073 for the Republicans and 949 for the Regulars. Lubbock county gave Roosevelt 7,567, Dewey 1,167 and the Regulars 2,021. The vote in Wichita county (Wichita Falls) was 11,426 for Roosevelt, 1,589 for the Republicans and 1,608 for the Regulars. Travis county (Austin) voted 15,386 for Roosevelt, 2,310 for the Republicans and 2,501 for the Regulars.

The only big region in the state showing consistent Republican strength, as compared with that of the Regulars, was the Panhandle.—The Amarillo News

NEW COURSE PLANNED FOR TEXAS UNIVERSITY

AUSTIN—One of the most popular of new courses to be offered at the University of Texas in the spring term, which begins in March is that in airport administration, according to letters and information received by Dr. John H. Frederick, business professor of transportation and industry, who will teach the course.

Many G. I. students, men and women, are now enrolled in the University for prerequisite work in airline administration, and still others are planning to take the course.

The University of Texas is the only institution which offers air administration courses that have the approval of the American Association of Airport Executives, and inquiries about the course have come from servicemen in every theater of war, as well as from 10 or more states in the Union.

Airline officials are so interested in the course that two airline services have already asked to interview graduates for positions, Dr. Frederick said.

TEXANS DOUBLE MAIL

AUSTIN—With Texas boys fighting in all parts of the world, Texas homefolks have almost doubled their pre-war volume of mail, ac-ording to a survey.

Postal receipts in 45 Texas cities during September amounted to $2,561,066—the equivalent of more than 85,000,000 three cent letters, while in September, 1940, postal receipts were only $1,359,360.

August receipts were $2,406,033 and those of September, 1943, were $2,065,064. For the first nine months of 1944 receipts were $20,948,992 compared to $18,170,439 for the first nine months of 1943.

Land Loans

One of the larger Life Insurance Companies of Texas is making approximately 80 per cent of its real estate loans in West Texas. A West Texas man is in charge of the loan and real estate department for West Texas and will make prompt inspections. He will assist you in working out a loan to meet your needs.

Interest rates of this company are as low as the lowest. Terms, five to twenty years, lenient options and reasonable release and subdivision privileges.

This company, besides making loans on real estate, will buy outright or make loans on first vendor lien notes.

If you owe money on your land, check and see if you can't get a better rate of interest and better terms.

A WORD OF SINCERE

THANKS

John Aldridge

I realize the effort required on a write-in campaign, including some little trouble for each voter, along with the absolute necessity of loyal support from my friends—and for that reason I shall always treasure my election as Judge, 69th Judicial District.

As previously stated, I have given up my law practice and paid my own way in the campaign. Being District Judge is my only occupation and I want you to know that I hope in a small measure to repay your kindness by serving the 69th Judicial District to the best of my ability, acting at all times in a manner fitting to the office to which you have elected me.

NO CERTIFICATE NEEDED FOR THESE "SPARES"

Keep spare lamp bulbs on hand in your home to replace burnouts as soon as they occur. Most electric dealers now have bulbs in all common home sizes. You need no points, coupons or certificates to buy them—never did, in fact. So don't be without light these dark fall days and longer evenings.

It costs you little to have light in your home where you need it. You can be sure you are getting all you pay for if you keep your home lighting equipment in shape this way:

Begin by putting the RIGHT SIZE bulb in each lamp or fixture. Then keep the shades and diffusing bowls, as well as the bulbs, free of dust and dirt.

Use white or light-lined shades on your lamps, to reflect more usable light.

Move lamps closer to points of use, to shed more light directly on the work. You can often increase their usefulness by rearranging furniture so that one lamp will serve two people.

Your eyes need the correct amount of diffused light to perform difficult seeing tasks like reading or sewing without strain. Now is the time to see that your home lighting equipment can furnish proper illumination.

Original Passion Play
In Lubbock, Nov. 18-21

The Lions Club of Lubbock takes pleasure in announcing the sponsorship of the original Black Hills Passion Play, featuring Josef Meier as the Christ, which will be presented in Lubbock November 18 through November 21. The company comes to Lubbock after touring every principal city throughout the country, and successes in Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, and San Antonio, as well as other large cities, assures people of this area the greatest theatrical treat ever brought to this section.

The Black Hills Passion Play is now in its 702nd year of continuous presentation. The play is being sponsored in Lubbock by the Lions Club, with all proceeds going to the club for the furtherance of its Youth Activities fund, it was announced by W. A. Petty, president of the Passion Play Committee.

The great drama had its origin in 1242 A. D. in Luenen, Westphalia, the first of the major passion plays throughout the history of the world. After nearly 700 years of presentation in its home in Europe, with the rise of the Axis regime, the play started on a world tour, and in 1932 arrived in the United States. At the request of many Americans the famous Passion Play was finally permanently transplanted to the United States in 1938 and a home established for it in the Black Hills of South Dakota in the tiny village of Spearfish, and the largest Passion Play grounds in the world were erected with the stage more than three city blocks long and 8000 seats in the Amphitheater.

The first presentation was given in the summer of 1938. The script was translated and adapted into the English language, and this world-famous drama is now being presented in major American cities for the first time with the dialogue spoken in English. It comes to Lubbock after breaking all-time attendance records in such typical American cities as Philadelphia, Washington, and Baltimore, and has just completed an appearance in Dallas, where the play was shown to more than 50,000 people, which is an all-time high for any attraction presented indoors in that city.

Carrying tons of scenery and electrical effects, the great drama is the largest stage production in the world today. The 32 principal roles enacted in the play are, of course, highlighted by the sincere portrayal given by Josef Meier as the Christ. John Rosenfield, drama critic of the Dallas Morning News, says "Josef Meier's performance shows the perfection of years of training. His forceful gestures and kingly stride are often as effective as his resonant speech." Other outstanding roles are carried by Robert Brewer as Judas Iscariot, whose work has been acclaimed by critics as an acting gem; Clare Hume is seen as Mary, the Mother, supported by a score of other principals each being prepared for his work over a long period of time and tradition in the centuries-old play. Meier is the seventh direct descendant to play the Christ over a period of the last two hundred years. There will be a supporting cast of 125.

Reserve seat tickets are now on sale at the Passion Play Headquarters, 1115 13th St., Lubbock, and mail orders may be made by writing to Passion Play Headquarters at that address.

SPECIAL NAVY BRANCHES TO ACCEPT VOLUNTEERS

DALLAS—A major change in procurement policy whereby qualified men of selective services—as well as in the 17 and 38-50 groups—may volunteer for special Navy service and be assured of assignment to that branch upon induction has been announced by the Navy Department.

Lieut.-Comdr. Dan Henry, officer in charge of North and West Texas Navy recruiting, said he had been authorized to announce that, effective immediately, men who have physically qualified for armed service through pre-induction examinations, and before reporting for actual induction, may take the Eddy test for radar and radio technician training, without obligation, at any Navy recruiting station or sub-station. Successful applicants who have not received orders to report for induction will be given letters of directed assignment to submit at the time of induction. These letters will assure assignment to the Navy and enlistment as Seamen, first-class, in the Naval Reserve, in which the men will enter a 10-months course of concentrated, technical training in radar, radio and related subjects. Need for men in these fields is the Navy's No. 1 urgency just now. Basic knowledge of mathematics, science, shop work, electricity and radio is beneficial but not required.

Only by taking—and passing—the Eddy test prior to induction are men of draft age eligible to apply for voluntary enlistment in the Navy, Commander Henry said. High school graduation is the minimum educational requirement.

VETERANS ENROLL

AUSTIN — Approximately 225 World War II veterans—two of whom are women—have enrolled in the University of Texas for the winter term which began Nov. 1.

Some 150 G. I. students, that is, those without vocational handicaps, have registered, according to B. G. Lahr, training officer for the Veterans Administration. Seventy-one vocational rehabilitation students are registered, he said.

The majority of the returned veterans have signed for degree courses.

Hypnotist Will Appear Here November 24

Hypnotism, once considered a sort of carnival side-show act, has come of age and enjoys both medical and scientific approval. Time Magazine has had two articles in recent months on the subject, stressing the important uses to which it is put today, and local people will have an opportunity to see a master of the art at work on November 24 when William I. Fayssoux makes his appearance at the Farwell auditorium, sponsored by the Texico-Farwell Woman's Club.

For many years Fayssoux has been presenting programs of hypnosis, telepathy and magic. While he explains the scientific facts of hypnosis and telepathy, the program is primarily entertainment—and hilarious entertainment at that.

The performance will be given by volunteers from the audience while under the hypnotic spell—those who are timid become aggressive, those unable to sing will burst into song. In addition, there will be uncanny performances in telepathy and magic. The magic features the famous Harry Houdini mail escape and the Alexander Heerman trunk illusion. Time of the show is 8 o'clock, and the admission is 15c for grade students, 25c for high school and 35c for adults, at the door.

Season tickets are on sale, and Mrs. Clyde Magness urged members who still had such tickets on hand to sell them and turn in the proceeds to her as rapidly as possible.

Texico, Pleasant Hill Split Season Openers

One for each was the final tally of the season's opening cage games in the Twin Cities the past Friday night, when Texico and Pleasant Hill fought their battles in Texico, with the girls losing to the visitors and the Texico boys taking their game.

Score in the boys' fray stood at 21-15, Coach C. E. Sanders reported, with a total of 17 boys being used by Texico during the match. White was far out in front so far as local scoring was concerned, hitting the net for a total of 14 before leaving the game on fouls.

Porter led the Pleasant Hill scoring attack with 6, being held down considerably by Paul of Texico, who did excellent early season guarding. Roop was the ball hustler for the locals. The Texico girls came out on the little end of a 12-21 count, being unable to stop Porter, tall forward from Pleasant Hill, who bagged 14 of the winners' points. Evelyn Brown, tallest of the Texico guards, had the responsibility of handling Porter, but failed to reach the lofty forward.

Betty and Peggy Flye, at forward for Texico, racked up 6 and 4 points respectively, while missing a good number of their shots.

Tentatively, no game is arranged for this weekend, unless a set planned for the 24th with Ranchvale can be played on Friday. If so, the games will occur at Ranchvale.

Farwell Basketeers Play Conference Ball

Farwell cage players both boys and girls, will be engaged in conference games this year. Coaches J. T. Carter and Dottie Dell Quickel report. The district to which the teams belong is split in two halves, to shorten traveling distances, and at the conclusion of the season the high teams of the division will meet for a series to settle the conference championship.

In Farwell's side of the district, teams include Bovina, Oklahoma Lane, Lazbuddy and Spring Lake. A schedule for the conference teams has been arranged, and non-conference games will be slated to complete the season's schedule.

For both boys and girls, the schedule now includes:

- Dec. 1, Bovina, here.
- Dec. 15, Spring Lake, there.
- Jan. 5, Lazbuddy, there.
- Jan. 12, Oklahoma Lane, here.
- Jan. 19, Bovina, there.
- Feb. 5, Spring Lake, here.
- Feb. 9, Lazbuddy, here.
- Feb. 16, Oklahoma Lane, there.

Coach Quickel today listed Booth, Meeks and Gast or Ford as probable first-string forwards, with Moore, Randol and Thomas or Schleuter as the starting guards when the first game is played with Bovina in the local gym.

Coach Carter did not have a tentative first-string outlined this week, but expected to make a definite announcement concerning the starters against Bovina later.

GET REGISTERED GILTS

Two FFA boys of the Farwell chapter have just added registered gilts to their project work. The gilts are from Clarendon and are of the Berkshire strain, being purchased by E. D. Harvey and Herschel Harding.

There are very few registered Berkshires in this section, and hog breeders welcome this new strain among the breeds of this county.

TO ATTEND STATE MEET

County Judge Lee Thompson announced today that he was making plans to attend the annual convention of the Texas County Judges and County Commissioners at Galveston on Dec. 6-8. He said that some of the county commissioners might attend, depending on the progress they make in getting their harvesting completed.

Grub Treatments Are Outlined By McElroy

Now is the time to begin making arrangements for the fight against cattle grubs, according to Lee H. McElroy, county agent. The actual treatment depends upon the nativity of the grub in the backs of the animals.

The proper time for the first treatment is indicated by the 3rd instar of the grub, which is apparent by the grub's dark brown color. This is the stage just before the grub emerges from the back of the animal and pupates in the ground. The adult heel fly emerges in the spring, according to moisture and temperature.

The demand for leather and meat has been greatly increased by the war, McElroy reminded, saying, "Everyone should be aware of the damage done to both leather and meat by the presence of these grubs. The average dockage is approximately $3.80 per animal where the grubs are present." This figure, he pointed out, was taken from the packing houses of the United States over the past few years. For the past several years, 40 percent of all animals sent to market were docked this amount, according to Paul Gregg, assistant entomologist of the Texas Extension Service.

The three treatments recommended for destroying grubs are the dust, dip and spray. The treatment may be combined to kill both lice and grubs, McElroy added. The combination of 5 percent rotenone mixed with sulphur is used. For a few head, McElroy recommends the dust treatment, but for larger herds, lists dipping or spraying as the most economical.

For the dust treatment, mix equal parts of sulphur and 5 percent rotenone in any type convenient can with holes in the lid and dust the material on the back of each animal. One pound of this mixture should dust 15 animals, and the method will give 95 to 98 percent control of the grub.

For spraying, a coarse spray is needed, and should be directed straight down on the backs of the animals. A mixture of 5 pounds of rotenone, 10 pounds of wettable sulphur and 100 gallons of water are the proportions. Each animal requires about 1/2 gallon of the mixture, and 90 percent control can be expected, with practically 100 percent control if repeated consecutively for two years.

The dip method is recommended in connection with treatment for both lice and grubs and gives approximately 70 percent control each year. If repeated three years in succession will eliminate the lice and practically eliminate the heel fly.

McElroy urged that all farmers of the county take some sort of action against grubs, and advised that further information was available at his office in Farwell.
