

Tractors on Tinian Excursion

A long line of marine and army amphibious tractors, coming into the beach at Tinian island, looks like a holiday excursion train, one after another as they near the shore. It was just another stop on the road to Tokyo and when the island fell it proved the GIs and Leathernecks were more than a match for the best that Tokyo could give.

Dealers, Committee to Discuss Rationing

The machinery rationing program for the coming year will be under consideration Friday of this week, when dealers of the county have been invited to meet with committee members at the local Triple A office to take a "look see" at the regulations.

Ellis M. Mills, in making the announcement, stated that committee members have been asked to meet at 10 o'clock in the morning to iron out several problems, and dealers of the county are asked to join the meeting at 1 in the afternoon.

"In view of the fact that quotas for all machinery under rationing are to be issued by October 1, it is advisable that we thoroughly understand the program," Mills said. "Trivial misunderstanding of some phase in the past has led to a good deal of confusion in the actual issuance of rationed items, and we are hoping this year to have every part of the program explained in such detail that mixups will be practically eliminated."

Asked as to the quota outlook, Mills said today that he had received nothing definite along this line, and did not expect to until some time during September.

Father of Local Man Passes at Hereford

Z. J. Malone, 65, father of Elton Malone of this city, passed away at the home of his son, Cecil Malone, in Hereford, last Wednesday and was buried there the following day.

Death was attributed to paralysis, Mr. Malone having suffered three attacks during the past few weeks. Deceased had been a resident of Friona since 1936 and had made that city his home until only a few weeks ago, when he moved to Hereford to live with his son.

He is survived by his wife, three sons: Obie in the U. S. Navy; Dudley, Hereford; Cecil, Hereford; and Elton, Farwell; one daughter, Mrs. Jack Stallings, Muleshoe. Other relatives include nine grandchildren, three brothers and two sisters.

Second Annual Dairy Show Success

Register Friday for Fall School Term

Timely Rain Brings Relief to Fall Crops

The first general rain to fall in this section in many weeks came over the past weekend, bringing relief to rapidly maturing row crops and parched ranges.

Farmers agree that the moisture, while a little late to be of maximum benefit to crops, will be of untold value to all crops of the county. This is especially true of fields that had not reached the parched stages.

Range conditions will also be materially benefitted, assuring plenty of grass for the stock during the winter months.

Three Inches in Places

A gentle downpour that continued throughout the day and well into the night on Thursday deposited 1.10 inches in the Farwell gauge, to be followed with an additional .54 of an inch the next morning. A heavy shower, rather local in its scope, visited southwest of this city on Saturday, and farmers in that section are claiming at least three inches of moisture over the weekend.

Other widely scattered showers fell in the Friona section Saturday night, accompanied by some hail that played havoc with mature sudan fields.

In addition to saving the feed crop for the farmers of this county, the rains will also stimulate activity on the part of the wheat farmers. Wheat lands have been put in condition for fall plowing and sowing. Most farmers plan to wait until the volunteer grain is up before beginning sowing operations, thus killing the volunteer growth and planting the fields with one operation.

Considerable work of this kind will be getting underway by the latter part of this week, farmers say.

Application Forms For 'A' Books at Stations

Officials at the local ration board advised again today that application forms for renewal of "A" gasoline ration books were obtainable only at service stations over the county, "and we have none on hand here at the office."

In this line, they stressed that applicants check forms carefully, to be sure they are properly signed. "Last weekend," Mrs. Mose Glasscock said, "we received a handful of applications which were not complete, and consequently, the books cannot be issued."

It is not required that tire inspection records be turned in with the applications, but backs of the old A books must accompany the form. "Please do not bring the applications to the office," Mrs. Glasscock urged. "If you will mail them in, we will be able to handle them much more rapidly than if several people are waiting in the office and taking up additional time. The new books will be returned by mail in plenty of time, since they are not valid until September 22."

Baptist Revival To Close Sunday Night

The revival meeting now in progress at the local Baptist church is slated to close with the evening services on Sunday.

Dr. W. R. Hornberg, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Muleshoe, is doing the preaching and is bringing some inspiring messages. Ed Eason is in charge of the music with Mrs. Carl McGuire at the piano.

Rev. W. C. Wright, pastor, said today that he was well pleased with the progress of the revival effort, and issued an urgent invitation to the people of the community to attend the remaining services.

INSTALL NEW UNIT

Mr. and Mrs. Woody McDermott of the City Cleaners have just installed a Cissel steam spotting unit that will be a great help to them in cleaning clothes at their establishment.

JOHN BARRY DIES

John Barry, 69, prominent and successful Clovis business man, died in a Dallas hospital early Tuesday morning, and will be buried in California by the side of his father.

Barry came to Clovis 38 years ago as a traveling salesman and opened a hardware store, which he has operated as sole owner since that time. He was among the few old timers whose residence of this section dates back that far.

Estimated Enrollment At Texico Exceeds 200

Estimated enrollment made at the Texico school on Tuesday morning, during which time new students were still filling out registration cards, was given as "over 200—probably closer to 250," by Supt. B. A. Rogers.

Rogers added that he did not expect to have a complete check of pupils until the latter part of next week, by which time, he believes, the majority of students will be listed on the register. "We had 243 at the close of the second week in 1943 and indications are that enrollment will be that high, if not higher, this year."

The greater part of the students, as is usual with most schools in this area, fall in the grade school bracket, Supt. Rogers estimated around three-fourths of the total enrollment would be in the grades, with the remaining one-fourth in high school.

At least for the present, no vocational agriculture will be taught at the school, since Victor Stout, ag man of last year was inducted into the Army the early part of the summer, and no successor is obtainable. In Curry County, Rogers pointed out, there is now only one ag man—at Clovis.

Lunch Room Opened

The school lunch room, sponsored by the community and aided by state funds, opened on Tuesday with Mrs. Sleta Hall in charge, and a large number of students were already putting "cash on the barrel head" for hot meals at the noon hour.

With state aid, students and teachers can have meals at noon for 15c, which in the long run, is cheaper than substantial lunches may be packed at home, and the hot meal is definitely an improvement over cold sandwiches.

Athletes Turn Out

With announcement that softball games will be played over the county for the next six weeks, boys at the school, under the direction of C. E. Sanders, were hurling the ball around on Monday, preparatory to their first game, tentatively set for Friday, at Field.

Sanders said Tuesday he rather doubted that his boys would make the game Friday, adding, "We have had no time to work out, and really, you can't tell what kind of a team we have on hand."

Machinery Features J. E. Bingham Sale

A large collection of farm machinery, most of which is in first class condition, will feature the big public farm sale being staged by J. E. Bingham on Tuesday, Sept. 5th.

Some good cattle, 200 young pullers and a number of good hogs are also being offered to the highest bidder when the sale get underway at the Bingham farm, located 1 mile north, 1/4 mile west and 4 miles north of the old underpass on the Texico-Clovis highway.

The sale will begin at 11 o'clock, New Mexico war time, and will be in charge of Col. Dick Doshier. O. W. Francis will act as clerk. The Methodist ladies of this city will serve lunch.

A complete list of the offerings will be found in this issue of The Tribune.

If brevity is the soul of wit, women's wear was never funnier.

Wanted: A high school English teacher, a teacher for the grades, and a combination bus-driver and janitor.

That could very easily be the ad run this week by Superintendent J. T. Carter, of the Farwell school, who, with registration looming only two days in the offing, announced that his faculty was still incomplete and a janitor was badly needed.

"Frankly," Supt. Carter said today, "I don't know where they are coming from. We were only shy one teacher last week, but with the resignation of Mrs. Fowler in the grades, the situation become worse."

Carter went on to say that he and local board members had contacted several local people who are qualified as teachers, in hopes of securing them for the vacancies, but all he had received thus far was a flat refusal.

Admittedly, the salary situation has a direct bearing on the teacher situation. A recent boost in state finances looked like a god-send, until it was discovered that this proportionately raised other schools, where salary rates were already so much higher that teachers were migrating in that direction.

In the meantime, the hunt goes on. Registration at the school for juniors and seniors will begin at 10 o'clock Friday morning, with sophomores and freshmen to register in the afternoon. Grade students will register on Monday, the first day of school, and classes will convene at 9, Texas war time.

McCuiston Goes To Melrose as Ag Man

T. A. McCuiston, who has been on the Thompson farm south of this city for the past few months, has announced his intention of leaving the farm and going to Melrose, N. M., 40 miles west of here, where he will teach vocational agriculture in the Melrose school for the ensuing term.

McCuiston has taught in the Farwell schools for the past five years, and is recognized as a very efficient instructor. At the close of the term last spring, he moved his family to the farm but his ventures there have not proved too encouraging due to dry weather and low cattle prices.

Santa Fe Mayor Tells Of City's Boys Club

Mayor Manual Lujon of Santa Fe, told a very interesting story of the inception, foundation and growth of the Boys' Club in Santa Fe, the only club of its kind in New Mexico, before the regular meeting of the local Men's Club, last Thursday evening.

Mayor M. C. Roberts of Texico, introduced the speaker, in which he referred to him as "truly a great man."

Mayor Lujon opened his discussion by declaring that the only way he knew to handle his subject was to tell of the Boys' Club at Santa Fe, observing at the very outset that "our problem isn't so much juvenile delinquency, but rather adult delinquency" and he took occasion to point out that it is not the fault of the boys if they have parents who are uninterested in their welfare and their future.

He said that after many months of unceasing work, a fund of $40,000 was raised in Santa Fe and the building for the Boys' Club started. Today, he said, the enrollment has reached 700 boys with an average daily attendance of 135.

Mayor Lujon praised the Boy Scout work, but observed that the city of Santa Fe had its juvenile delinquency problem with the Scout work firmly established in that city. "Now," he said, "the records show that our delinquency problem is almost nil."

"I don't know how successful you may have been in the eyes of the world," Mayor Lujon said, "but I am here to remind you that in the final accounting you are going to be measured by what you have unselfishly done for others."

At the conclusion of the evening program, which was held at the Methodist Church, the Men's Club voted to retain the committee now working on juvenile problems and report any progress made at the next meeting.

Despite inclement weather the opening day, the Farmer County Annual Dairy Show, held Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Bovina, drew for exhibit the cream of the crop in registered Milking Shorthorn and Jersey animals, and large crowds were on hand over the weekend to visit the display.

The actual entry list of cattle was not as large as that of last year, County Agent Garlon A. Harper said today, with the eligibility list restricted to registered stock.

G. T. Watkins and Levi Johnson held the honors for Milking Shorthorn stock, exhibiting the grand champion bull and cow, respectively, while in the Jersey division the grand champion awards went to Luther Grissom (female) and Sterling Donaldson (bull).

Wendol Christian, 4-H club boy of the Oklahoma Lane community, added laurels to his cap at the show, when he was named to receive the 4-H club herdsman award and was also chosen the outstanding 4-H dairy demonstrator in the county.

A registered dairy heifer was presented Christian for his work in dairy demonstration during the year.

The butterfat production contest was one of the most interesting phases of the show, the grand champion being owned by Sam Sides. First place for cow four years and over went to Wendol Christian, and second and third to Leon Grissom. First place in the over-four-year division was held by Sides, second by Turner L. Paine, and third by Christian.

Following are the individual placements at the show:

Black Market Activities Spotted on Cigarettes

Because of a shortage of popular brands of cigarettes, there has been a tendency among some retailers to increase prices, District Price Executive J. B. Mooney of the Lubbock OPA office, said today. "Many complaints have been received by this office that prices of popular brands of cigarettes have been advanced to as much as 25 and 30 cents," he said. "There has been no increase in the ceiling price that wholesalers and retailers pay, and any increase charged smokers in this district or state is a violation of OPA price control regulations." Mooney also said he had received reports that cigarettes have entered black market channels through street vendors, who sell at black market prices and who, in addition, do not have state licenses to retail cigarettes. The OPA executive pointed out that smokers who have been overcharged for cigarettes have the right to sue the seller for three times the amount of the overcharge, or $25, whichever is the greater.

Sixty Candidates Try For SPAAF Team

SOUTH PLAINS ARMY AIR FIELD—More than 60 soldier candidates for the SPAAF football team are going through their paces this week as coaches bear down in grid drills for the approaching season.

With only one month in which to prepare for their opening tussle against Amarillo AAF at Tech stadium, Sunday, Sept. 24, the SPAAF team is bearing down in an effort to weed out the team and set some sort of lineup for the game.

Second tussle on the nine-game schedule is set for Fort Worth on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 30, when the Commandos play TCU.

The SPAAF squad will play five games at home, all at Tech stadium. They include Lubbock AAF on Sunday, Oct. 22; the 13th Armored Division of Camp Bowie on Saturday, Nov. 11; West Texas State on Friday, Nov. 17; and Texas Tech on Saturday, Dec. 3.

Not Enough Tires To Fill Eligible Requests

Tire panels of rationing boards have been deluged with tire applications since the announcement that all B and C gasoline card holders were eligible for new tires, Ely Fonville, district rationing executive, reported today.

Though these ration holders are eligible for new tires, Fonville emphasized the fact that there aren't enough tires allocated to the boards to meet applications. "The August quota is large enough to provide new tires for only 20 percent of the eligible drivers," he said.

Tire panels are doing their best to supply the needs of the people, but since there are not enough tires to fill all applications, their responsibility is to make tires go as far as they will and put them to the most essential use, officials said.

Fonville pointed out that local boards have been instructed to screen applications carefully and issue certificates only to more essential drivers. When grade 3 tires are available locally, it may be necessary to fill some less essential requests with certificates for these.

The only solution to the present tire problem lies in taking every precaution to prolong the life of the tires now in use. "Even if you are eligible for a new tire, don't make application if you can possibly get any further mileage out of the tires you are now driving," Fonville urged.

CATTLE SHIPMENTS UP

AUSTIN—Stampeding 31 percent ahead of last year's total, round-up of shipments of Texas-raised livestock showed that 7,876 carloads went to the nation's markets in July the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research announces.

Sharp increases occurred in movements of cattle, calves, and sheep to out-of-state markets and to the Fort Worth stockyards, the report shows, while shipments of swine dwindled.

By far the greatest bulk of shipments went to Fort Worth, 322,582 head out of a total of 445,948 head. Chicago markets received 23,244 head, Kansas markets 15,569 head, and Kansas City 12,288 head.

SOME BUSINESS HAS BOOM, OTHERS LAGGING

AUSTIN—Business over the state for July this year reflected the general uncertainty of the trend toward reconversion, with some activity still booming and others lagging, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

A million and a half dollars of new business was incorporated during the month, but two major construction material industries—cement and lumber—slowed with a series of cutbacks in production during June and July.

One Texas business concern—unidentified as to the field of its activity—went into bankruptcy during the month, the first commercial failure in the state since July, 1943.

In addition to the 58 new corporations chartered to operate in the state, the University bureau counted the news of business expansion by revealing that in 39 major Texas cities the building permits totaled $3,197,985, which was down sharply from the $5,000,000 level in June.

Texas industry already established, however, was still forging a steady stream of products for victory apparently as electricity consumption continued to rise at a steady rate. Use in July this year was 7.9 percent higher than a year ago and 6.2 percent higher than that of June.

The flow of Texas oil to the world-fung battlefronts and industry, too, was stepped up with more than two millions barrels daily pumping out of Lone Star soil. Even gasoline sales for autos and trucks of Texans was up over last year's figures.

As the oil followed Texans to the fighting fronts, so did the folks back home follow the boys by mail in July. Bureau statistics show that postal receipts for the month boomed to almost $3,000,000, indicating a definite upswing in back-home letter-writing. The folks at home, meanwhile, were experiencing a slight, almost unapparent, rise in the cost of living. Bureau figures showed that the living costs rose just half a point during July to an index of 126.1.

SCHOOLS OF TOMORROW MAY USE FREE FILMS

AUSTIN—Just as the schools of today have free textbooks for students, so may the schools of tomorrow supply free educational films for visual instruction, delegates to a Visual Education Conference at the University of Texas were told.

John W. Gunstream, of the State Department of Education, raised the question in line with emphasis on the fact that "there is not a single subject in the school curriculum that could not be improved by the use of visual aids as a teaching device."

While approximately 1,000 16-mm films are owned by Texas schools, these films are in the hands of less than 10 percent of the 5,700 schools in the state, he declared.

Since there is no lack of projectors or other equipment, Gunstream pointed out that the real reason for the lack of interest in visual education aids lies with the school teachers and administrators.

"School people simply are not convinced that only through intelligent and extensive use of visual aids can the school measure up to its educational obligation," he declared.

Gunstream's address was part of an intensive two-day meeting on the campus when Texas teachers from all parts of the state gathered to discuss the role of the visual aids in the post-war school room.

MECHANICAL BRAINS

WORKING in metal boxes, computing devices aim guns with superhuman accuracy and make the fire power of the big bombers something that enemy fighter pilots do not particularly relish. Through the Sperry Automatic Computing Sight in the Sperry-designed Ball Turrets, underneath the big bombers, the gunner swings his turret horizontally in a complete circle and vertically from the position shown here where guns are parallel to bottom of the plane, to positions in which the bullets feed into 50 caliber guns through the system shown in cut-away part of the drawing.

Using the Automatic Computing Sight the gunner lines up his target with two vertical hairlines in the Sight. The trick is to keep the enemy plane exactly framed within these lines which are moved in or out by means of a range knob as the target approaches or recedes. As the gunner follows the target in its course the Sight automatically makes deductions from this "tracking" process, which it translates into the relative course and speed of the target. Taking this data, the range data and other factors such as the bullet weight, the gears and levers and circuits that make up the mechanical brain arrive with superhuman speed at an answer—the answer is expressed at the critical moment when the gunner places his triggers and fires his 50 caliber machine guns at the target.

Health Notes

By Texas Department of Health

AUSTIN—Mental disorders today represent a real problem, declares Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, and it is estimated that more than fifty per cent of all hospital beds are filled by persons suffering from mental or nervous disease.

It thus appears that modern civilization is exacting a terrific toll. High speed living, with its cruel exactions upon nature, is responsible or a large part of the trouble. But improper personal conduct must also shoulder much of the blame. The fact is that nearly fifty per cent of the patients entering hospitals for mental disorders are there because of organic or toxic causes.

For example, general paralysis is the direct cause of one-fifth of the mental troubles in males entering hospitals and one-tenth of the disorders for all groups. This condition is an organic disease of the brain and in fact is one of the late stages of syphilis. It is a preventable disease. Early and effective treatment of acquired syphilis will block the end results of general paralysis in the insane.

Dr. Cox said that excesses and syphilis combined are responsible for approximately one-fifth of the hospitalized insanities. Nevertheless, improper living habits continue to impair many brains. Insufficient sleep, neglect of bodily care, and a constant over forcing of nervous energy are the pitfalls to avoid in this connection.

"Nature demands that her fundamental laws be at least reasonably observed. A constant outraging of the physiological economy takes its toll not only in bodies but in minds. Insanities and lesser nervous disorders could be spectacularly reduced if this fact were more generally respected. Training for mental health must be started in childhood as that is the time when corrections can be made to the best advantage."

Pickle Your Garden Patch

When you make up your summer planing schedule be sure pickling is included in your plans. Of all the means of preservation—that time-honored that runs from the first rosy tinkle of strawberry jam in June to late-fall stewed tomatoes—nothing is pleasanter to think about than pickling time.

You remember how your mother's kitchen used to smell? There was an incense that hung in steamy clouds upon the air. And nothing was ever sweeter, sharper, or more pungent. Why, the very memory makes your taste buds leap and water with an eagerness that takes you back to childhood days again.

The smell that hovered in my mother's kitchen always made me think of our aurea chair. There were the muted notes of the herb jars—thyme and sweet marjoram, bay leaf and a little basil. The tannic same in sweet and strong with cinnamon, and mace, and allspice. And the cloves, rumbling like a throbbing bass note, were deep and rich undertones.

Then, ringing out as clear and bell-like as our best soprano, was the smell of vinegar. Cider vinegar it was, or clear white vinegar distilled from grains. And we could no more conduct a pickling time without these fragrant favorites than we'd miss the county fair.

Seems like we've drifted, the past twenty years or so, from a lot of those good folk-and-family customs. But the war has brought us back to them again. So this year, when your Victory Garden is ready for the harvest, why don't you treat your family to those old-time tastes and smells.

You can use all kinds of vegetables for pickling. Try corn, green beans, tomatoes, peppers, celery, and beets. You'll find these recipes make reliable and mighty savory relishes:

Corn Relish

- Boil for 5 minutes—
- 2 1/2 quarts (10-12 ears) corn.
- Cold dip, cut from cob, and measure.
- Combine—
- 1 cup chopped green pepper
- 1 cup chopped red pepper
- 3/4 cups chopped onion
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 tablespoons dry mustard
- 2 1/2 tablespoons yellow mustard seed
- 2 tablespoons salt
- 1 tablespoon celery seed
- 6 cups distilled white vinegar
- 1 cup water
- 1/2 teaspoon turmeric.
- Simmer for 20 minutes. Pack in mediately into clean jars that have been rinsed in hot water. Be sure liquid covers all vegetables. Fill jars to not more than 1/2-inch of top. Seal as directed for hot pack method for type of lid being used. Process immediately submerged in boiling water bath for 15 minutes. Yield: 7 1/2 pints.

Sandwich Spread

Wash and remove stem-ends from—6 pounds green tomatoes.

Remove seeds and cores from—2 1/2 pounds green peppers 1 pound red peppers.

Remove skin from—1 1/2 pounds onions.

Put the vegetables through medium grind of food chopper and drain through a strainer. Pour boiling water over ground food and drain well again.

Combine—4 1/2 cups sugar 1 1/2 cups flour 1 1/2 tablespoons salt 1 1/2 tablespoons turmeric 1/2 cup prepared yellow mustard.

Add slowly, stirring constantly, until well blended—

4 1/2 cups distilled white vinegar.

Add vegetables and simmer until thick, stirring frequently. Pack immediately into clean jars that have been rinsed with hot water. Fill jars to not more than 1/2-inch of top. Seal as directed for hot pack method for the type of lid being used. Process immediately submerged in boiling water bath for 30 minutes. Yield: 9 pints.

Pickled Green Beans

Combine—

2 quarts distilled white vinegar 2 1/4 cups sugar.

Add, tied loosely in a cheese cloth bag—

1 1/2 teaspoons whole allspice 1 1/2 tablespoons whole cinnamon 1 1/2 teaspoons whole cloves 1 1/2 tablespoons yellow mustard seed.

Heat to boiling and boil in covered pan for 5 minutes.

Allow spices to stand in solution overnight.

Wash, trim and cut lengthwise—6 pounds green beans.

Cook until tender in boiling water to which—

1/4 cup salt has been added.

Drain. Cover beans with spiced vinegar and simmer for 15 minutes, covered. Pack immediately into clean jars which have been rinsed with hot water. Cover with boiling liquid. Fill jars to not more than 1/2-inch of top. Seal as directed for hot pack method for type of lid being used. Process immediately submerged in a boiling water bath for 15 minutes. Yield: 7 pints.

Ensign Lewis Cox Weds Miss Sherley Shepard

On Wednesday evening, August 23, Miss Sherley Shepard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Shepard of Lubbock, and Ensign Lewis C. Cox, Jr., son of Minister and Mrs. Lewis C. Cox of Clovis, were united in marriage in an impressive double-bridal ceremony, performed in the bride's home in Lubbock.

The wedding vows were administered by Minister Cox, pastor of the local Church of Christ, before an altar of palms and fern. On the mantle were orchid and white gladiola, carrying out the colors of Abilene Christian College, where the couple attended school.

The bride, wearing a white satin gown with gathered skirt and a lace bodice, was given in marriage by her father. Her fingertip veil was gathered to a tiny halo and she carried a bouquet of orchid roses and gladiolas. The maid of honor, Miss Evelyn Cox, sister of the groom, wore orchid net over taffeta and carried a Colonial bouquet of yellow roses and gladiolas.

Best man was Naval Aviation Cadet Edward Templeton. Miss O'Veta Morris was usherette, and Pfc. Bill Paton, of the Marines, assisted her as usher.

Mrs. Shepard wore navy blue and had a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother wore black, with a white carnation corsage.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Shepard. Ensign and Mrs. Cox cut the first slice of the tiered wedding cake, and 50 guests were served. Miss Vala Sherrod presided at the guest book and Miss Cox was in charge of the punch bowl.

FSA Urges Owners To Conserve Supplies

Taking care of what we have is one way to boost available food supplies, suggests Wilbur B. LeVeque, Farmer County supervisor for the Farm Security Administration. FSA is emphasizing to the families co-operating with its program in this county that protection is a twin to production.

"Everything and everybody must do double duty these days," says Mr. Le Veque. "The only way this is possible is to take the very best care of what we have. Protection doubles the life of our farm equipment and household appliances, conservation increases the power of our soil to yield its maximum in food and fibre required for our nation at war. Care increases the production and lengthens the life of our livestock, workstock and poultry," he added.

Mr. LeVeque warns that even with an early end of the war, new machinery will be scarce for many months.

"To keep this machinery going we must use the right fuels, motor oils and greases. We must replace worn parts immediately to prevent further wear which might result in complete breakdown. And we must get out of the habit of leaving valuable equipment out in all kinds of weatehr."

The FSA is urging families co-operating with its program to properly care for their record-breaking output of canned goods for home use. Sturdy shelves in well ventilated closets, free of light which might discolor fruits and vegetables, are recommended.

Attention also is being given the housing of layers, prior to the advent of cold weather. "Eggs do not come from trees", comments Mr. LeVeque. He declares that FSA families find that proper housing boosts egg production.

Correct methods of harvesting and storing hay and other feed crops are advocated, and every family is urged to retain all plant and animal waste in a compost pile to increase the fertility of next spring's garden.

Benson's Fall Term To Begin Next Week

On Tuesday, Sept. 5th, Benson School of Commerce, Clovis, will start its fall term. John Benson, owner and president of the school, is a professional accountant and court-reporter, as well as a commercial teacher of many years experience, who has originated the method of giving business training by individual instruction to pupils of all ages.

In the past, Benson student groups have won national and international prizes for shorthand and typing, in one instance placing third in competition with schools throughout the world. The management would prefer to have students and their parents visit the school and inspect the teaching facilities and staff.

People who are interested are invited to write or call at the school for detailed information.

B-5 Gas Coupons To Fill Future Requests

B-5 gasoline coupons will be issued to fill future applications for B rations when the present ration board supply of B4 coupons is exhausted, and will be valid immediately upon issuance, district OPA rationing executive Ely Fonville has announced.

Because of a shortage of B-4 coupons in this region, the B-5 coupons were validated early and gasoline dealers are being notified.

Fonville pointed out, however, that all outstanding B-4 coupons are still valid.
