CLUB CALVES EXEMPT

COLLEGE STATION—Calves or cattle produced by members of 4H Clubs and Future Farmers of America have been exempt from the custom slaughter provisions of maximum price regulation 169 by the Office of Price Administration.

The exemption was contained in a recent amendment to the regulation. It is conditioned upon certification by a sworn statement from the club agent, county agricultural agent, or vocational project leader that such animals are club animals, and written permission being given for such exemption from the local OPA district office.

George W. Barnes, animal husbandman for the A. & M. College Extension Service, interprets the amendment to mean that buyers may obtain such animals at auction or private sale at whatever price they choose to pay. But when the meat enters the retail trade it must sell at or below ceiling price for meat of that grade. Moreover, the slaughter of such animals may, if necessary, be charged against the civilian quota for the next quota period.

The amendment specifies that "club cattle or calves" means any cattle or calves which have been bred, raised and fed, or fed only, by a member of a 4H or FFA club member under supervision of the Extension Service, or by an individual participating in a vocational agricultural project under the supervision of a vocational agricultural teacher in any recognized vocational agricultural department.

The exemption does not include club-produced swine. OPA explains, however, that it has received a request to expand it to include hogs.

AUSTIN—With the advent of summer and the ensuing exodus from city to country resorts and picnic spots the annual problem of ivy poisoning is once more making its appearance.

In order that city dwellers may guard against this poisonous plant by instant recognition of it, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has issued the following statement. "Poison ivy may be best recognized by its leaves and its fruit. Each leaf is divided into three leaflets, the margins of which vary from smooth to more or less notched outlines. The small greenish flowers appear in May or June and the fruits which are the size of a small pea are pale green and poisonous when immature."

The symptoms of ivy poisoning range from slight redness and itching to exaggerated swelling and blisters, accompanied by severe burning sensations. There are all gradations between these extremes. In mild cases the skin is covered by numerous small blisters containing a colorless serum which is not poisonous. The poison cannot spread from broken blisters but pustules may form and infections may result as secondary consequence. Recovery usually occurs in from 10 days to three weeks. Occasionally a persistent skin inflammation follows.

"The best prevention is to recognize the poison ivy plant and stay away from it," Dr. Cox said. "The victim of ivy poisoning may not be fatally infected, but to say the least, the attendant discomfort and disability is far from pleasant and well worth avoiding."

Grade crossing accidents—which are growing in number—every day delay an average of 38 trains a total of 22 hours.

It has been estimated that rivers of the world carry 88 billion pounds of nitrogen into the oceans annually from the soil.

Poppy Day Will Be Observed, May 29

In connection with National Poppy Day, which will be observed on May 29, Mrs. Foister Rector, of the Friona American Legion Auxiliary, has submitted the following:

The poppy is America's tribute to those who have died for American freedom. This year of all years, every American should understand the meaning of the poppy. This year the petals of the poppy have been dyed afresh by the blood of young Americans, your son and mine. Reverently the poppy must be worn in honor of those young men, and in memory of those others who made the same sacrifice 25 years ago.

These little flowers, made of crepe paper in replica of the wild Flanders poppy, are made at Legion, Texas, by the disabled veterans. The poppy-making has kept the hands of hundreds of unfortunate, men usefully employed during the winter and spring, helping them pass the long hospital hours and aiding in their rehabilitation program.

Faith in America with those who have died in the nation's service will be pledged anew on Poppy Day. The wearing of the poppy is a personal pledge that "we will not break faith" with those who died but will carry on to the achievement of the thing for which they gave their lives—freedom.

Millions of Americans will wear the poppy this year as a tribute to the dead of both World Wars and a mark of their determination to conclude this present war with complete victory. The poppy is the symbol of life given in service for America. The wearer makes an unspoken pledge to the nation's heroic dead that he will live as they died, serving America.

The Auxiliary women ask that as they approach you on poppy day that you buy one and wear it proudly.

Fresh Pineapple Now Available for Canning

COLLEGE STATION—Fresh pineapple now is making its appearance on Texas markets, and with a No. 2 can of the sliced fruit requiring 23 blue ration stamps, many homemakers will be canning the delicious and popular fruit. In some stores canned pineapple has disappeared from the shelves.

What's more, says Winifred Jones, specialist in food preservation for the A. & M. College Extension Service, as a rule pineapple can be bought and canned for one-half to one-third the retail price of a good grade of canned pineapple. For the past few years home demonstration clubs in the state have bargained cooperatively for pineapple by the truckload at a price that made canning of pineapple at home a real saving.

Miss Jones offers these tips to homemakers who are unaccustomed to buying fresh pineapple for canning. Fruit that has ripened before being gathered has the best flavor and contains more fruit sugar, a factor of prime importance in view of sugar rationing. Ripe fruit, she says, is orange in color and the spines may be readily pulled out. The specialist warns against the purchase of over-ripe fruit, since there is more waste. Under-ripe fruit should be wrapped in thick paper and kept to ripen a few days at an even temperature between 65 and 70 degrees Fahrenheit.

Other advantages of pineapple are its nutritional contributions. It is credited with being an aid to digestion and a better source of protective food values than many fruits.

Complete directions for canning pineapple are available from county home demonstration agents.

Final Goals Issued For '43 Production

Final county production goals on grain sorghums, soybeans, and Irish potatoes (a newcomer to county quotas) have been released by the state office, according to Ellis M. Mills, local AAA supervisor.

In the grain sorghum line, the acreage has been set at 130,000, with a total of 14,000 acres in soybeans the 1943 goal, Mills stated. He added that intentions listed by farmers on AAA planning sheets indicated that both these goals would be surpassed.

However, along the Irish potato line, Mills said he was not in position to state whether or not this quota could be attained, adding that he did not know whether any farmers in the county intended to produce potatoes on a commercial basis. Seventy-five acres of this crop is set as the county's contribution to national food production goals.

Here's How to Make That "Tub" Garden

By ELSIE CUNNINGHAM
Home Demonstration Agent

Are you victory gardeners in Farmer County looking for some method of getting tomatoes, peppers, squash, cucumbers to grow and produce through the hottest and driest weather?

If so, I suggest that you try a tub garden. A few gardeners over the county have found this works. It is easy to make, costs absolutely nothing except your time, and it is worth consideration.

Here's how to make a tub garden. Get an old tub, or cut a discarded oil drum in half or use several five gallon cans. We will assume that you have an old wash tub, so proceed by cutting long slashes about half way up from the bottom, 4 or 5 to the tub (3 to a 5-gallon can). Sink the lower 2-3 of the tub into the ground on sacks tacked on poles, convenient to the water supply. Fill to the ground level with barnyard manure and cover with one or two inches of good top soil. Pour in water until tub is full.

Here's how to plant and care for a tub garden. Select a drought resistant variety of tomatoes. Set tomato plants opposite each gash and about 8 to 10 inches from the sides of the tub. About 10 to 12 inches farther out and between tomato plants set 8 or 10 bell pepper plants around other tubs or buckets. Try squash, cucumbers or cantaloupe.

Water thoroughly through the tub 2 or 3 times weekly. Keep the weeds down. In hot weather provide a shade and windbreak.

SANTA FE CARLOADINGS

Santa Fe handled a total of 34,669 cars in the preceding week of this year.

Farming Talk

WITH

Garlon A. Harper
County Agricultural Agent
Texas A. & M. Extension Service

Rodent control is one farming operation which never receives the proper amount of consideration from a farmer until he has a serious infestation of the rodents on the farm. The main rodents which are harmful in this county are prairie dogs, rats, and rabbits. The Bureau of Biological Survey has estimated that it costs a farmer a dollar to feed a rat for a year. That figure was rather surprising to me but it is reasonable to figure the cost that way when you consider the amount of grain and other feeds which are wasted by rats. That loss could run into just a lot of money if rats on a farm were allowed to increase without hindrance.

Ranchers have realized the loss they have been taking from prairie dogs for a long time but few of them have been patient enough to keep their prairie dogs until they had completely cleaned them out. A good kill is not effective unless they are ALL KILLED. One of the safest and most effective methods of killing prairie dogs is the use of poison grain. The proper use of this grain has a lot to do with the effectiveness of the percentage of kill you get. Clean and unpoisoned grain should be put out several days before the poison grain is put out. The grain should be placed out away from the holes and into the edge of the grass where the dogs start feeding. Prairie dogs seldom feed right next to the holes. If this clean grain is cleaned up by the dogs in two days then you have a good chance of getting an excellent kill with the poison grain which is put out after clean grain is eaten by the dogs. About a tablespoonful of the grain should be put out opposite the holes in the edge of the feeding grounds. This is enough to get a good kill for that particular hole and is not enough to poison cattle. A cow would have to eat about 3 pounds of this poison grain before she would get enough to kill her.

Rabbits can be killed by the use of the same poison grain. For them a small mound of dirt should be placed along the trail and a small amount of the grain placed on top. About three such mounds will be more effective than one since a rabbit IS INCLINED TO JUMP around from place to place and will get more poison grain if it is scattered out. A good way to keep rabbits out of soybeans which is a favorite food of the rabbit, is to plow several deep furrows around the field. A rabbit won't cross these deep furrows just anywhere but will make a trail across them at one or two places. The small mounds of dirt may be located near this trail or poisoned grain may be scattered along the trail.

Poisoning rats is a long and steady job for those who want to completely eliminate the pests. We have a bulletin in the office which gives several types of poisons which are effective. Use of several of them is recommended in order to completely eliminate the rats. When new farm buildings are constructed an effort should be made to make them rat-proof.

Aviation Careers Open To 18-26-Year-Olds

LUBBOCK—Despite rumors to the contrary, Lt. Col. Marvin B. Durette, commanding officer of the West Texas Recruiting district, announces that men between the ages of 18 and 26 who have not yet been called for Selective Service induction may apply to the nearest aviation cadet examining board for physical and mental examinations.

Those passing and who are found acceptable will be given a letter to the induction station requesting assignment to the army air forces. After induction, the men will be assigned for preparatory training, upon completion of which they will receive appointments as cadets.

To those 17, but not yet 18 years of age is offered the opportunity of volunteering for enlistment in the Air Corps reserve. These men will be called to active duty for pre-flight training at the end of the first school semester after reaching the age of 18.

SCHOOL CLOSINGS—

Gives Three Sub-Topics

Answering the logical question of "How to prepare?", Rev. Butler divided his sermon theme into three sub-topics, listing as first the "lesson of thriftiness".

"You are now at the crossroads," he pointed out to the class, "and I say to you—Choose well your rut, you will be in it a long time". Too many people, he went on, are concerned with the undramatic business of getting their daily bread and meat, never looking into the future, making no preparation for the changes which must inevitably come.

Along this line he charged the seniors, "Don't be afraid to put your minds and souls to work . . . such exercise leads to great returns . . . you must choose either the law of diminishing returns or the law of increasing dividends." Rev. Butler used here the parallel of a car battery, which when used insufficiently fails to recharge itself and is consequently stagnant and of no value.

A second sub-topic was "Laying a Good Foundation", in which he listed four requirements, "A good Christian home, a good education, a good name, and the right attitude toward God and man".

"Don't ask for a guaranteed future," he advised the seniors. "Our country does not owe us a living—but it does owe us a society in which we can make a living," the pastor said.

As a warning to the class, he stressed, "Don't try to look at the outcome first . . . work the little problems through life, and when you come to the hardest one you will be prepared to solve it." He added the caution that "Christianity must always be placed at the front if America is to survive as a great nation."

His final minutes were spent on the idea of "preparing for the best as well as for the worst". Specifically, the speaker pointed out, "We are living in a period of crisis . . . the future is pregnant with possibilities . . . and it is the time when the youth of the world must decide whether they will turn down God, or whether they will build brotherhood and good will throughout the world."

As concluding thoughts he offered, "Be prepared to invest your lives, the best is yet to come; be willing to wait on God; answer your problems as they arise; let your life revolve about Christ and build a good foundation now in order that you may lay a mold on eternal life . . . hang out your light."

Other numbers on the program included the invocation by Rev. M. L. Pike, Methodist pastor, a vocal solo by Mrs. W. H. Graham, "Holy, Holy, Holy" by the audience, a number by the school chorus and the benediction by Supt. H. D. Bentley. Mrs. Sterling Donaldson was at the piano for the processional and recessional marches.

SEABEES ASK ENLISTMENTS

The "Seabees", the lads who do the navy's emergency construction work on bases, camps, harbors, etc., under wartime conditions outside the continental limits of the United States, urgently need men between the ages of 18 and 50 who are skilled in the building trades as: blacksmith, bulldozer operators, carpenters, concrete workers, electricians, mechanics, pipefitters, riggers, steel workers, welders and many others.

Lt. Parrott civil engineer officer, will be in Amarillo May 22-23 to certify men for the Seabees. Men should have two letters of work reference at the time they report and those between 18 and 38 must have 1-4 or 3-4 draft classifications. Filling out application papers for interview with Lt. Parrott does not obligate the applicants in any way.
