30 More 3-A Men Called for Physicals

Thirty more Parmer County registrants, who have been previously carried as 3-A men, were set aside to take their first physical examinations at a date yet to be announced when the Parmer County Selective Service board was in session here last Friday.

Board members this week pointed out that the mere fact that a man has been called for a physical examination does not necessarily mean that he will be eventually classified 1-A and then called for military service.

"Registrants may still file claims for deferments after they have been classified 1-A, but such claims must be filed before the registrant has been mailed an order to report for induction," one member of the board is quoted as saying.

Classifications Liberal
When the local board met last Friday they discovered that at that time only one registrant (single) would be left on the list after filling the call for September. That means that all calls to be filled in the future are going to come from the men now classified in 3-A.

The local board deliberated at length what policy would be adopted with reference to calling non-essential men from this group, and it was finally agreed that the most liberal application possible under Selective Service regulations would be used in determining the classification of any and all registrants in the future.

"Backbone of Community"
As one board member pointed out, the men coming from the 3-A group are "the backbone of our community life, our entire economic stability on the home front rests on their shoulders."

This decision means that hereafter emphasis is to be given to keeping the home front as stable as possible, even to the extent of falling short in meeting monthly quotas.

Classifications Listed
Following Friday's meeting, Mrs. Bessie Lee Henneman, clerk of the board, announced the following classifications:

1-A
Steve A. Trigg, George D. Turner, Rufus E. Truelock, Ole O. A. Aulie, Oliver K. Melton, Robert R. Percival, Maynard D. Stucker, John L. Collier, J. W. Green, Roy Q. Whatley, Lester L. Pending Local Physicals

News Reporter Contacts Capt. Jersig At Base

Associated Press Reporter Rembert James went a long way to interview Capt. J. S. (Sheb) Jersig, son of Mrs. Ann Jersig of the 69 Ranch of Bovina. . . but there is no doubt in the minds of Jersig's friends that the reporter found him.

The following is taken from an Associated Press dispatch appearing in the daily press under date of Aug. 21:

"At a Marine Base we found Capt. J. S. Jersig, a cattleman from Bovina, and a personal friend of Gene A. Howe, Amarillo publisher, and of Texas Governor Coke Stevenson. "He has a rubber boat and the Marines go fishing when daily bombings lessen. I found out how to tell which fish are poisonous," Jersig volunteered. "You boil them in a pot with a silver dollar. If the dollar turns black, don't eat them!"

THE PURPLE HEART has been awarded posthumously to Arthur Thomas Parker, above, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Parker of Friona, formerly of this city. The certificate of the Purple Heart was received by the parents this week with the information that the medal would be forthcoming.

Young Parker, a member of the U. S. Marines, was killed in line of duty on Guadalcanal early in 1943.

Farwell Enrolls 246 For New School Term

Two hundred and forty-six students had registered for attendance at the Farwell school up to Tuesday noon, Supt. J. T. Carter said today. This was 33 more than the total enrollment made at the opening of the 1942-43 term.

Compared to the totals on file for last year, the grade school shows a large increase, jumping from 118 to 161, while the high school enrollment shows a 10-student drop, listing 85 for this year as against 95 registered last year.

Complete totals for the various grades:

First	27
Second	23
Third	15
Fourth	25
Fifth	20
Sixth	26
Seventh	16
Eighth	13
Freshmen	12
Sophomores	26
Seniors	22

The eighth grade is a new addition to the school, as Farwell is this year swinging from the old 11-year system of Texas to a 12-year school term, Supt. Carter said. Eighth graders are being given the opportunity of enrolling in home economics and agriculture, a privilege usually restricted to first-year high school students.

The faculty was complete at the opening of school, the superintendent added.

POST CARD FROM JAP PRISONER RECEIVED

Mrs. Anne Overstreet of this city received a post card Monday from Capt. John F. Beale who is a prisoner of the Japanese at Camp No. 2 in the Philippine Islands.

The card gave little information except to indicate that Capt. Beale was alive. He revealed that he was in a hospital, and "was improving". This is the first information that has been received from Capt. Beale since the fall of Bataan.

His wife is the former Emily Minter, well known local girl and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Minter of south of this city. Mrs. Beale is now teaching art in the city schools at El Paso, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Monroe moved to Albuquerque, N. M., the first of the week, where he has been transferred. He has been employed as a fireman at the Clovis Air Base the past several months and will continue in that work in his new location.

Despite the most severe drouth this section has known in recent years, some fair to good feed crops will be produced by the farmers of the area this year, a checkup here reveals.

Over along the eastern side of the county, crops have suffered very little for rain the entire year. This is particularly true in the Lazbuddy and Lakeview sections. However, this condition does not prevail over the entire county generally. Local showers in limited areas have kept crops growing over a large part of the county with the result that some farmers are reporting harvesting prospects "as good as I ever had."

J. L. Walling, living only a short distance east of this city, is among the favored farmers who seemed to get rain almost every time it was needed. Other farmers of the county report similar experiences.

In the West Camp community, southeast of here, crops are reported fair to good. This is also true of a limited section lying southwest of Texico in Curry county.

Cotton Promising

E. M. Deaton, manager of the Farwell and Larlat cotton gins, reports that while the cotton acreage in the southwestern end of the county is below normal, the yield gives promise of being "pretty good."

Deaton said that the early plantings of cotton had withstood the hot, dry weather of the summer better than the feed crops, with the result that a fair crop is in prospect. Most of the cotton acreage lies in the Larlat section and it is his belief that one gin will be able to handle the crop of this section, which means that the Farwell gin will not be in operation.

Some Wheat Planted

Local showers have also been responsible for quite a bit of wheat sowing north and west of Bovina the past two weeks. But over the county as a whole, farmers are still waiting sufficient moisture to begin sowing operations. Frank P. Wilson, of north of Bovina, reports better than 200 acres of wheat already up, as do other farmers in that immediate section. Others began planting west of Bovina early this week.

In view of the extreme shortage of feed, with which to carry livestock through the winter months, farmers are making every arrangement to sow fall wheat at the earliest possible moment sufficient moisture is available. They contend that wheat planted much later than September 10th will afford very little, if, indeed, any, winter pasture. And with this urgency in view, some farmers have announced plans to begin "dusting in" some wheat fields early next week.

Arranging Stock For Opening Of Hardware

David Harrison is busy this week arranging his new stock of hardware in the Albert Thomas building in Texico, preparatory to opening for business at an early date.

Harrison said the first of the week that he hoped to be ready to open the doors of his new business by the end of this week. Already a fairly good stock has been unpacked and is being marked up and placed on the shelves.

He said that he did not expect his stock of implement parts to arrive before next week. Bowden Darr, until recently connected with the local AAA office, has been employed as clerk.

Middleton Leaves Here, No Supervisor Named

Raleigh C. Middleton, who for the past six months has served as rural rehabilitation supervisor for the Parmer County Farm Security office, left here the last of the week for Lubbock, accompanied by his family.

It is understood that he will be employed as a farm project manager near that city.

Attaches in the local office reported today that no supervisor had been named to succeed Middleton. It was general belief that with personnel cuts in effect throughout FSA, Parmer county may do without the services of a supervisor for some time. Later, a cooperative system between two or more counties may be worked out.

The Third War Bond drive in Parmer County is already off to a good start, G. D. Anderson, chairman of the War Bond committee, announced here this morning.

Chairman Anderson said practically one-third of the county's quota was already in sight. But he warned that the remaining two-thirds plus, was going to require lots of work and real sacrifice on the part of some of our citizens.

Anderson expressed the belief that most of the potential bond buyers of the county are going to wait until the drive officially opens on September 9 before they actually commit themselves as to how many bonds they intend to buy.

He strongly discounted the plea that is circulating in some circles to the effect that the people of the county do not have the money. "We've got the money, and the quota should not be difficult," Anderson said.

He did, however, point out the difficulties to be encountered at the present time, and cited poor crops and income tax payments during the month as two of the major obstacles.

County To Buy

Parmer County's share in the nation-wide drive to sell 15 million in bonds has been set at $316,500 and figures released by the County Chairman today reveal that practically $100,000 of that amount has already been pledged.

The largest purchaser to date, he said, is Parmer County itself, with the decision on the part of the Commissioners Court to invest at least $43,000 in government securities.

Pleads for Cooperation

Chairman Anderson made an earnest plea to the citizenship of the county to get behind the drive with all the assistance possible. "It ought not to be necessary for solicitors to contact individuals for bond sales," he said, adding that all persons of the county should decide the extent of purchases and report it to any one of the solicitors.

To assist in staging the drive, Anderson has named the following helpers: Mrs. Pearl Kinsley, Friona; W. E. Williams, Bovina; Bill Sherry, Lazbuddy.

ITALY QUILTS

An Associated Press flash just received this (Wednesday) morning from Allied Headquarters in North Africa announces the capitulation of Italy, under the specified Allied terms of "unconditional surrender".

SEVENTEEN ADDITIONS

A revival meeting, which had been in progress at the Baptist Church in Bovina for two weeks, came to a close Sunday with 17 candidates for membership by baptism. Baptismal services were conducted at Friona Sunday afternoon. Rev. E. J. Speegle, former pastor of the Bovina church, who is now a student at Fort Worth, did the preaching during the revival.

NEPHEW DIES IN CRASH

Mrs. John H. Birchfield, living two miles southeast of this city, was advised of the death of her nephew, Raymond French, 20, on Monday of this week. French was killed when a trainer plane in which he was flying at Fulton, Ky., crashed. The body was returned to Elk City, Okla., and burial was made near there, at Berin, a small community.

TWO ARE ACCEPTED

Two registrants under Selective Service were sent to Lubbock for their final type examination by the local board last Tuesday and both were accepted. Cecil Vernon Lovelless was accepted for the Navy, and Milton B. Blaylock, a transfer, was taken for the Army and will leave here on Sept. 21 for Fort Sill, Okla.

Post Article Reviews Battle In Which Local Boy Participates

"Comeback at Kasserine Pass", an article written by Frederick C. Panton dealing with the American push against Rommel in Tunisia, which was published in The Saturday Evening Post, issue of May 29, 1943, tells of a battle in which local boys participated according to a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Anderson from their son, Lt. G. D. Anderson, Jr.

The article reviews the fierce fight put up by Americans to stop Rommel after his break-through of their position at Kasserine Pass, which continued setback endangered the whole Allied front, and is an eyewitness account of the author-reporter.

Lt. Anderson, in his letter to his parents, calls attention to a paragraph by the author as follows:

"On this miserable dawn (February 22,) Rommel was twenty-four miles away. Two moderately difficult mountain gaps and one badly outnumbered American armored combat command stood between him and his goal. The battle crisis had come and the issue hung in the balance of the next ten hours."

This "one badly outnumbered American combat command," Lt. Anderson recounts, "is none other than our outfit".

Battle Fought on Plain

This furious battle for control of Kasserine Pass was fought on a wide plain at the foot of the pass, with rainy weather adding to the exhausting fight of the opposing armies drawn up on either side and scattered in bunches of cactus and gulches over the plain.

Another reference made by Lt. Anderson to the article deals with

Must Meet Bond Call

(Editor's Note—We are indebted to Clyde Warwick of the Canyon News for the following, which has been altered to make it applicable to this county.)

When it was announced last week that the War Bond quota for Parmer county would be $316,500 all of us were inclined to shake our heads and say that it could not be done.

After thinking it over, all of us agree that it must be done.

The monthly quotas have been met most of the way through, and by the end of the year it is believed that the monthly sales will be equal to or more than these calls.

This extra War Bond drive is for the purpose of taking up the slack in the war financing in the first place, and, no doubt, as a secondary factor to test our patriotism. We have been saying that the war will be over at such and such a time, and most of us visualize the date when the actual hostilities will cease. Perhaps this has shaken our patriotism to a considerable degree and we are not working at the job of winning the war as hard as we should be.

Here is an opportunity to test our patriotism and to see whether or not we are as good in backing our fighting men with our dollars as we are in boasting of the coming final victory over the Axis.

One thing is sure and certain: The money is available in this nation for such a large financial drive. There never has been a time when the banks had such large deposits. All that our government asks of us is that we shall take part of our money, invest it in the safest bonds on the face of the globe, and hereby assist in financing this war so that it really may be brought to a successful close.

The money which we have, the property which we have accumulated, or the investments which we may have made are not secure until the Axis partners are thoroughly whipped. If we lose this war, we shall have nothing left. When we win the war we shall get our money back with a low rate of interest.

While it is simply a good proposition, there is not a single citizen of Parmer county who would exchange places with the citizens of conquered nations, or would like to exchange places with the men in the foxholes, on the planes or ships, or are driving the tanks and jeeps up to and through the battle lines.

Let's back the men who are doing our fighting!

QUANTITY CANNING

COLLEGE STATION—The cycle of a victory turns swiftly from planting to harvesting, and maturity brings the problem of conserving the surplus. Colorado County women set an excellent example of stocking the home food supply by opening three community Victory preserving centers.

According to County Home Demonstration Agent Hettie Mary Clegg, the Columbus Gardening and Canning Club reported 2,148 containers of food processed in the last 18 days of May. The largest number filled in one day was 360. Vegetables brought in included green string beans, beets, greens, and blackeyed peas. About twenty number two cans of pineapple also were canned.

Women of Weimar opened their cannery on May 3, and through the remainder of the month processed 13,400 containers. Miss Clegg reports that they expect to process as many more. The Weimar cannery operates Inspectors from the state Department of Education complimented the management and the work of the supervisors. Negroes in the Weimar area also have access to the facilities of the cannery.

The Glidden women's home demonstration club organized a neighborhood group for canning work, and at the end of May had processed 550 containers of food. Canning of corn, peas, and tomatoes reached its peak in Colorado County in early June. As a further indication of the steps taken to assure an ample supply of food for home use, Miss Clegg says that freezer lockers at Columbus and Eagle Lake are reported to be stocked almost to capacity.

A BOY DIED LAST NIGHT

(Editor's Note: Capt. Jack Holt, with 30 years in the movies behind him, is now a featured player in this country's biggest drama, World War No. 2. His son is also a member of the cast. Capt. Holt has many reasons for wanting the war to end: that's why he was willing to take on an extra task, that of guest speaker on a recent broadcast of What's Your Name, Soldier? Eighth Service Command soldier radio show. His talk, reproduced here, is a special message to all of us.)

A boy died last night . . . it doesn't make much difference about his name. The important thing is that he died . . . in pain and awful loneliness, out somewhere in a waste of sand, out in a starless silence, 10,000 miles from home.

"Missing in action," read an obscure line in this morning's paper. That was all. The fine head and the shining face and broad shoulders remain only a picture that looks out upon a quiet living room on a shaded street.

Last night in those agonizing hours in unspeakable isolation, he went through a thousand deaths without the one thing that might have helped a little . . . the sound of a familiar voice, the pat of a friendly hand. Last night he died in utter desolation, in an unimaginable loneliness . . . the pain was bad enough . . . but then he must have had that dreadful thought in those last endless hours . . . never again to see Mother and Father and sister and brother.

Is all this too much for you? It's cruel and it's brutal, but it really happened last night . . . just like that. If people could only understand it, if they would just grind deep into their thinking . . . the stark, terrible reality of it . . . then every petty, selfish interest would be swept away. They would sacrifice everything to make themselves worthy of that boy. If we who have basked and walked secure in this land would understand about this boy . . . we would wait no longer for government decrees, and the urging to attend rallies and buy bonds, and save our scrap and the many so important things in which we could be of so much help.

There just wouldn't be anyone left who would try to make of this war a means of gaining personal interest this day, tomorrow, the day after that, or ever—until victory is ours.

We the people would rise up and demand that our leaders take everything, exact everything needed . . . make us walk, feed us the commonest fare, take away every cent of profit . . . we the people would rise out of our complacent comfort and easy security . . . just to avenge that boy! . . . That boy, who died last night . . . died for you and me!

Just think about this boy, and you'll understand why I do not think it necessary to make an impassioned plea to buy war bonds.

Oil requirements during 1943 are estimated at 4,000,000 barrels a day, while the first three months of 1944 are expected to call for 4,250,000,000.

Health Notes

By Texas Department of Health

AUSTIN—“Texas health officials are making every effort to improve the sanitary conditions of public eating places, and in addition schools are conducted to instruct foodhandlers. Moreover there are laws, rules and regulations requiring the use of approved equipment and methods in such establishments. Nevertheless, one of the most forceful influences for sanitation is not being used, and that is the public's unfavorable reaction toward dirty and insanitary places,” states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

“The public cannot do the job entirely, nor can health departments bring about desirable and essential practices without the help of the public. As for hygienic practices, persons serving food and drink should be clean; should not cough or sneeze over the utensils and material served; should keep their hands away from their mouth and nose, hair and face; should handle all utensils by the outside instead of putting their fingers on the inside of service utensils. These are conditions a person can see, and unless these safeguards are practiced, disease may result.”

Milk served can also be appraised by the patron. Texas law requires that a milk bottle cap state grade of milk and whether it is raw or pasteurized. However, if milk is brought to a patron in a glass, he cannot know whether it is from a graded supply or whether it is raw or pasteurized, but if served properly in its original container, with covered cap and legal label, the patron can secure from the label the information he should have before ever being willing to drink strange milk.

The patron should note sanitation conditions in food establishments. Are the floors, walls, ceiling clean? Are tables and counters clean? Are pies and other ready-to-serve foods protected from dust, dirt, and flies? Are flies prevalent?

“Be assured that what can be seen as a patron at the table or counter usually will be many times better, cleaner and safer than conditions in the kitchen and other places out of sight of the patron,” Dr. Cox warns.

PLANTING THE FALL GARDEN

COLLEGE STATION—Scattered showers over Texas forecast the turn of the season and the time to begin fall garden work in earnest.

J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist for the A. & M. College Extension Service, recommends planting mustard greens with the first good rain because this vegetable grows quickly and should be ready for the table in four weeks. Fall beans require about 45 days to mature, and if planted in early September in most parts of the state a good supply should be available before cold weather. The stringless green pod Leaf lettuce should receive special consideration because it is more tolerant to heat than the head variety. Black Seeded Simpson or Grand Rapids are good varieties. When the weather cools head lettuce may be planted.

As carrots require special preparation of the seed bed, Rosborough advises spading the row to a depth of eight or ten inches and mixing in well rotted manure or compost to prevent packing. When carrots reach hard layers of sub-soil they become misshapen. Plant the seed one inch deep, firming the soil by tamping with a hoe or walking on top of the row. Lay boards on the row after planting to retain moisture and keep the earth cool. Re-

YELLOW LEAVES ON SHRUBS PREVENTABLE

COLLEGE STATION—Yellowing of the leaves of shrubs, rosebushes, shade trees, peach trees and other plants in spring and summer is preventable.

Generally, says Sadie Hartfield of the A. & M. College Extension Service, addition of copperas and sulphur to the soil at the rate of about one pound per large shrub or small tree corrects the trouble. Sometimes, too, fertilizers are mixed with the soil at the same time. But, as wartime conditions limit the availability of these materials, Miss Hartfield suggests other effective means of control.

A four or five inch vegetable mulch applied to shrubs for the next few weeks will help protect their roots from heat cold and drying winds. Because it conserves moisture, a mulch reduces the amount of water needed by plants. It should be applied several inches thick over an area of several square feet about the trunk of the plant, where it will be gradually worked into the ground.

The materials for mulching plants may consist of compost, grass cuttings, straw, or almost any other kind of decaying plant substance. Grass clippings furnish nitrogen and other plant food. Also, in decaying they will help to acidify the soil and release iron for the plants.

Miss Hatfield says that yellowing of leaves in Texas frequently indicates a lack of iron, although it might be lack of nitrogen or other elements. Most Texas soils have ample iron but it is combined with other minerals and not available for plant use. But as soon as the soil is acidified the iron is released for plant roots to take up. Iron deficiency is especially noticeable in limestone regions, blacklands and other areas containing an abundance of lime. However, ceniz jaujullo and other plants native to west and southwest Texas require alkaline or lime soils and to make them acid would spoil the health and appearance of these plants.

USE PROTEIN EFFICIENTLY

COLLEGE STATION—Since the most effective conservation of limited protein supplies ultimately must be left with the producer, it is important that protein concentrate feeds in their unmixed form be available at all times to ranchers and farmers.

Guides to efficient use of protein feeds issued by the A. and M. College Extension Service point out that any individual stockman's need for protein concentrates will depend on the kind of livestock being produced, the amount and condition of available pasture and roughage, and the amount and type of home or locally grown grain available.

And, in any event, the producer should use protein feeds only as they are necessary to meet the basic requirements of digestible protein according to feed standards in common use, livestock specialists say. Present and probable future shortages of protein concentrates will not permit their use freely as a source of energy.

To aid farmers and ranchmen in the best possible use of protein feeds, the Extension Service has issued four free printed leaflets related to the feeding of beef cattle, sheep and goats, dairy cattle, hogs, and poultry. These are available from county agricultural agents throughout the state.

Don't let too much money go to your head—put it in War Bonds!

SEED TREATMENT FOR SMUT CONTROL

COLLEGE STATION—The heavy losses which Texas wheat growers suffered a decade ago from infestation of "stinking" smut have been reduced to a minimum. According to E. A. Miller, agronomist for the A. and M. College Extension Service, control was achieved through seed treatment. Oats and barley also are subject to smut.

The chief treatment of this fungus disease are the darker green color of the leaves and heads of the plants, and the offensive odor of the smutty heads. The diseased kernels are filled with a sooty powder consisting of millions of spores. During threshing most of the kernels pop open and the spores are scattered over healthy seed. If such seed is planted without being treated, the spores may germinate with the wheat, especially if weather and soil are rather cool at planting time. The parasitic threads of the fungus grow up with the plants and at heading time infest the young kernels.

Miller cautions that successful control has not eradicated the disease. Therefore seed should be thoroughly cleaned and treated before being planted unless the farmer is certain that it is not infected.

Chemical treatment consists of cleaning the wheat by fanning or otherwise to remove smut balls and treating the seed either with two ounces per bushel of 50 per cent copper carbonate, or one half ounce per bushel of ethyl mercury phosphate called improved ceseran. Barley and oats may be treated with a similar amount of improved ceseran, or a mixture of one pint of commercial formaldehyde and 10 gallons of water. The solution is sprinkled uniformly over the seed while it is being shoveled from one pile to another on a clean floor or wagon box.

The job may be done in a commercial seed treating machine or home made container with a tight fitting lid.

More than 422,700,000 man days were lost in industrial plants in 1942 due to absenteeism.

WORKING for VICTORY ON THE SANTA FE

Through these hectic days and busy nights, troop trains, regular trains with troop cars, and freights loaded with war materials keep rolling along the Santa Fe.

Watch a section hand grab his pick a little tighter after a trainload of American fighting boys has rolled past. "We'll-get-'em-through" is his attitude these days.

Yet—he is only one of more than 60,000 employees on the Santa Fe who are doing their bit to "keep 'em rolling" all along the line . . .

moving millions of troops and millions of tons of materials needed for Victory, where and when they are needed.

They know that if you stop the wheels that move them, you stop everything that floats and flies as well!

And they never forget that thousands of boys in our armed forces came from Santa Fe ranks and from the families of Santa Fe employees, and these boys who are fighting for all of us have the toughest job of all!

You bet, we're backing them up in the best way we know—and that's by buying War Bonds, and seeing to it that movements essential to Victory come first on the Santa Fe!

Donations Are Asked For School Cafeteria

In view of the fact that no commodities are being allocated to school cafeterias this year by the state, and points for canned goods are exceptionally high, contributions of food from gardens was being asked today of patrons of the Farwell school in order that the cafeteria may continue to serve students.

"Any kind of vegetable which may be canned or preserved is greatly desired, it was pointed out, with patrons requested to make donations of beans, peas tomatoes and other crops now in good production in gardens.

It is not asked that the donors bring the food in "ready to go"—although such contributions will be gladly accepted. Volunteers are being recruited to prepare and can the food. The first of the week five bushels of peas were donated and canned for use during the term.

Families who have good gardens and several children eating at the cafeteria are advised that they may "pay" for the children's meals by food contributions.

Officials urge that any person having a surplus of vegetables to be donated bring them to the school, or contact Mrs. Jim Hughes, in charge of the cafeteria this year.

Meatless Meal Magic

Rank prepared mustard high on your roster of flavor aids for wartime foods. For mustard has the very thing your ration hampered cooking needs. Mustard is an urbane flavor. It is a suave sophisticate with a fascinating touch of firebrand concealed beneath its yellow surface.

You can count on the warm, stimulating quality of mustard to add life and zest to meatless meals. Vegetable platters, in particular, are improved by this discriminating condiment. For mustard points up the earthy goodness of a vegetable, and gives a fillip to the flavor that suggests the heft and bulk of meat.

Rice, too, can be converted from a vegetable to main course dish by mixing with a little mustard. Just add onion slivers, some shortening to brown, a trifle of cheese for heft, and pungent prepared mustard. Try both these dishes, so—and see!

Mustard Rice

Wash, draining well—
1 cup uncooked rice.
In—
2 tablespoons shortening
sauté until tender, but not brown—
1 small onion cut in thin slices.
Add, stirring over high heat 5 minutes—
Rice
2 tablespoons prepared yellow mustard

1 1/2 teaspoons salt
Add, then cover—
3 cups boiling water.
Cook rapidly 10 minutes. Reduce heat to low, continue cooking 45 minutes or until rice is tender. Add grated cheese and mix well with rice. Serve hot. Serves 6.

Fried Noodles with Vegetables and Mustard Sauce

Cook as directed on package—
6 oz. (1 pkg.) egg noodles.
Melt—
2 tablespoons fat or meat drippings.
Add and brown—
1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs.
Add, mixing well—
Cooked noodles.
In center of platter arrange—
Mound of cooked noodles.
Around noodles place, alternately—
6 whole cooked carrots
1 head cooked cabbage, cut in 6 wedges
3 medium cooked beets, cut in halves.
In saucepan melt—
1/4 cup fat.
Add, blending well—
1/2 cup flour.
Add and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened—
2 cups milk.
Add, mixing well—
1 teaspoon salt
Few grains cayenne pepper
2 eggs, well beaten
1/4 cup distilled white vinegar
2 tablespoons prepared yellow mustard.
Heat and serve over noodles and vegetables. Serves 6.

20 H. P. Engines Will Be Rationed to Farms

Announcement of the rationing of internal combustion engines of "20 h. p. or less" by the county machinery committee was made today.

No definite allotment has been issued the county, officials said, it being the belief of administrators that there are sufficient engines for all necessary use.

However, persons wishing to buy such engines must make application and receive certificates for purchase from the machinery ration group.

Plow Fireguards On Pasture Land

Farmers and ranchmen of Parmer county were urged this week to plow fireguards to prevent the burning of badly needed range grasses for livestock feed.

Farmers and ranchmen may use AAA range building allowances to construct such fireguards. According to AAA specifications, construction will be paid for at the rate of five cents per 100 linear feet.

The shortage of livestock feeds to produce badly needed meats for war purposes makes it imperative that all grass be conserved insofar as possible, AAA officials said.

Farming Talk

By GARLON A. HARPER

County Agricultural Agent

Texas A. & M. Extension Service

Many of you farmers saw the fine dairy bulls which we had exhibited at the Parmer County Dairy Show on August 28th. You could see the good dairy type these bulls were showing, but unfortunately most of these bulls were young and you did not have an opportunity to see the type of heifers these bulls will produce and the milking ability these future heifers will probably have. However, you did have an opportunity to see some of the milk and butterfat production records back of many of these bulls by studying the star certificates on the bulls which were displayed. All of these bulls have very excellent butterfat records back of them. Their daughters should almost universally be high producing cows.

With as many of these highly rated bulls as we now have in the county and with them scattered over the county as widely as they are, there is little excuse for any farmer who is interested in breeding better cows to fail to get his better cows bred to one of these bulls. Most of these bulls, when bred to just an average good cow, will produce a cow which is capable of producing a very fine butterfat record. So that leaves the matter entirely up to you. Improvement is within your reach if you will only take advantage of it. It may be a little trouble and you will have to pay the owner of the bull a small breeding fee, but these matters are nothing when compared to the thing you will get out of the deal.

Let's say that you have a pretty good cow. If you breed her to a scrub bull you will get a heifer which is lower in production than was the cow. If you breed her to one of these better bulls you can depend on getting a heifer which will produce, on the average, at least 100 pounds of butterfat more per year than her dam produced. What is that worth to you? If butterfat sells for an average of 30c in coming years that will mean that this heifer will be worth $30 per year more than she would have been if she had been sired by a scrub bull. You can depend on milking that heifer for at least 5 or 6 years. Five times $30 is $150 in my way of figuring. Can you afford NOT to use these better bulls?

Opening of Baylor Delayed to Sept. 21

WACO—President Pat M. Neff of Baylor University announces that government priorities which will delay installation of dining room equipment has necessitated postponing the opening date of the institution's fall session from Sept. 14 to Sept. 21.

"The unusually large number of students who have signed for places in Baylor this fall has made necessary a change to the cafeteria system of serving in our dormitories," the President said. "The manufacturing plant which has the contract for installing equipment has received a governmental rush order which will make impossible completion of the work by the previously scheduled time."

Marine personnel wounded between Dec. 7, 1941, and March 31, 1943, have staged almost a perfect comeback. Ninety-seven percent are again in active service.

Eureka! City People Can Kill Animals For Family Tables

One of the best bits of news to come out in some time—so far as the meat situation is concerned—was received this week by the Parmer committee, with the announcement that urban producers may slaughter their home-grown animals for family consumption.

In the original set-up, city or small town dwellers were denied the privilege of killing and eating such animals as they had raised in their own back yards, since such residents were not considered "farmers".

Now, however, the powers-that-be have ruled that if Mr. Jones raises an animal—be it calf or hog—to the slaughter stage, he may kill same for family consumption without going through ration channels to receive a permit for such slaughter.

"Family consumption" is stressed in the notice, which advised that if Mr. Jones expects to sell any or all of the animal, he must then secure a regular slaughterer's permit and take in the necessary ration points. Storing of such meat in lockers for home use as needed is allowed.

Apply to Area Supervisor

Concerning commercial slaughterers and butchers, it was announced that in the future such applications for authorization to butcher will be sent to the area supervisor, in this case located in Amarillo. Further details may be secured along this line at the AAA office.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Commissioners Court of Parmer County, Texas, will conduct a hearing on the county budget as prepared by the county judge for the year of 1943 at the court house in Farwell, Texas. Soybean Crop Looks Good For Parmer Co.

Reports gleaned from various producers in the county indicate that Parmer County may expect a "reasonably good" crop of soybeans this fall, according to Ellis M. Mills, AAA supervisor.

"A number of people have made inquiries concerning the sale of the beans, which are now nearing the harvest season," Mills said, adding, "Frankly, we haven't any information along this line."

The Commodity Credit Corporation, he went on, will buy the beans at $1.80 per bushel from the producers, but urge that where local buyers will handle them, the producers sell at home. Elevator men here have signified that they will buy the beans, with the view of consigning them to the Littlefield seed oil mill, the supervisor said.

Since soy beans are considered as an essential war crop, it is believed that some ruling will be received at the AAA office by time actual harvesting gets underway. Remembering the mixups which occurred over selling and transporting the beans last fall, producers are anxious that specific regulations—if they are to be made—be given them regarding the sale of beans.
