

Military Rebel and Ousted President

Left: Maj. Alberto Taborga, who was reported to have led the rebel military forces that overthrew the government of Bolivia. Right: Former President Enrique Penaranda, who was escorted to Arica, Chile, by the revolutionists. One of the first acts of the new government was to seize the tin mines which had been producing for the U. S. and Britain.

Fourth War Bond Quota $247,000

1943 Is One of Dryest Years Locally

Well, After All, She Saw What She Went to See, Didn't She?

By ABIE CRUME
She went to Washington to see the sights and what did she see? She saw the fog.

She saw the fog in New Mexico, the fog in Colorado, the fog in Wyoming, the fog in Utah, the fog in Idaho, the fog in Oregon and the fog in Washington. In fact, there probably wasn't a square inch of fog that she failed to see.

"They've got beautiful mountains out there," she heard on all sides before she left home. Maybe. But she didn't see them. All she saw was the foggy draperies they wear when they feel modest before passing tourists, and the snow they playfully whirl around their heads.

She didn't see Pikes Peak. It was foggy. Puget Sound and Mount Rainier and all the other beauties may have been there, but as far as she's concerned, they're just myths somebody thought up when they got tired looking at the fog.

The only scenery she did see was along the Columbia Highway in Oregon, and then she would just as soon have had the fog come down again. In that case she couldn't have seen that there was a sheer 2,000 foot drop to the river below and the road was two inches deep with ice as slick as glass.

They have tunnels along the Columbia Drive, too, and that's something else she didn't see. She just felt them because they were darker than the rest of the road and the headlights had a funny effect when they bounced back in her face.

To make it complete, she took a "side" trip. The bus went up one grade with the front end on the right side of the road and the back end on the left.

Of course, the kind of weather she saw out there was "unusual". Most of the time it is as clear as Carlsbad Cavern when they turn the lights out.

But after all, it didn't make a lot of difference. Because she saw what she really went to Washington to see. Her husband.

With only 11.26 inches of rainfall during the entire twelve-month period, 1943 will go down as one of the driest years ever experienced here.

In addition to it being one of the driest, the records kept by R. V. Hamm, local weather recorder, reveal that three months of the year—January, March and October—were completely rainless, with not a trace of moisture recorded.

August, which normally is one of the wettest periods of the year, produced only .63 of an inch of moisture. The other low in rainfall was recorded in April, when only .56 of an inch was received.

September showed the biggest amount of moisture received, with a total of 2.22 during the month. January 4 was the coldest day of the year, with a reading of 4 below zero. The record of moisture by months is as follows:

January	0.00
February	.63
March	0.00
April	.56
May	1.03
June	1.78
July	1.75
August	.63
September	2.22
October	0.00
November	.66
December	2.00
Total	11.26

Parmer County will be expected to subscribe a total of $247,000 in the Fourth War Loan, it was announced here today by G. D. Anderson, chairman of the War Loan committee.

Of this amount, a quota of $113,000 in series E has been assigned to the county. This issue is commonly known as the individual bonds, and the most popular of all. The remainder of the entire county quota is divided among other series bonds.

"We'll raise it just like we have always met our quota," Anderson said when asked for his opinion on the outcome of the forthcoming drive, adding, "but I don't know how as yet."

The campaign officially opens on Jan. 18 and closes on Feb. 15. But, Anderson explained, virtually all purchases made during the period of Jan. 1 to Feb. 29 would apply on the county quota.

"We'll have to put on a more intensive campaign in this drive than we have ever done," Anderson predicted, pointing out that practically all of this quota must be raised by the small investor.

The county chairman said that the same corps of workers that had assisted in other drives would be used in the forthcoming undertaking with Mrs. Pearl Kinsley of Friona heading up the woman's division.

Deadline Nearing on 1943 Tax Payments

Mrs. Bess Mansfield, deputy tax collector, today announced that the deadline for payment of current 1943 taxes was nearing, with Jan. 31 as the final date on which such taxes could be paid before they became delinquent.

All 1943 taxes not paid on or before Jan. 31 at midnight will go on the delinquent rolls on Feb. 1, she said. When taxes are delinquent a penalty of one percent is added immediately, and unpaid taxes will start drawing interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from that date.

Attention is also called to the payment of poll taxes this year, which gives every indication of being the biggest political year in the past decade. A poll tax receipt is still required of Texans before they can participate in elections.

Mrs. Mansfield expressed the opinion that tax payments this year would be exceptionally good, with very little going on the delinquent list. She said that fifty percent of the current payments were made during the month of October. "And they have been coming in fairly steady since then," she added.

Politics Expected To Open Next Week

Indications in political circles this week were that the Parmer County political pot would begin boiling next week with some of the present office holders throwing their hats in the ring for reelection.

So far as could be learned locally there was no indication that any new aspirants would come out in the open this early, but it is believed that a number of new faces will appear on the political horizon before the campaign goes very far.

National and state campaigns give every promise of being the warmest in recent years. What will happen in Parmer County politics remains yet to be seen.

1-A Classifications Given Many Men

The Parmer County Selective Service board was in session here Sunday and devoted most of the time to classification routine.

A number of registrants who have been classified 3-A were removed from that class and either made available for military service or given deferments. This action became necessary under the regulation that eliminates the 3-A class, and all men now classified in that category must be removed and placed in some other class.

In this process, naturally, a number of registrants were put in class 1-A, for the reason that no papers were on file at the office of the local board that would indicate that they were eligible for deferred classifications.

"Just because a man has been classified 1-A does not necessarily mean that he is soon to be put in the army," one board member said, going on to explain that any registrant or his employer had at least ten days to file for a deferred classification after being rated 1-A.

Mrs. Bessie Lee Henneman, clerk of the local board, urged all men now classified 3-A, who were entitled to consideration for deferred classification, to file the necessary papers at the office of the local board at once. Such action, she explained, will eliminate the necessity of handling a registrant's case more than one time.

"If a man is entitled to a deferred classification, he might as well ask for it while he is in 3-A as to wait until he is in the process of being classified 1-A," she explained.

Following is a list of the classifications given Sunday:

- 1-A

Opening of Farwell School Postponed

The Farwell school, which was scheduled to resume on Monday after a ten-day Christmas holiday, is remaining closed this week and will open on Monday, Jan. 10, it was announced early this week by Supt. J. T. Carter.

Supt. Carter's announcement followed a called meeting of the school board, which decided that road conditions made the postponement necessary, since a large percent of the students are transported from the rural sections.

The Texico school resumed on Monday as scheduled. Supt. B. A. Rogers said that most of the roads on the Texico routes ran north-south and were fairly well open.

Faville Appointed Acting Texico Mayor

At a meeting of the Texico town council, held Monday night, LeRoy Faville was appointed acting mayor of the town to succeed W. J. Matthews, resigned.

Faville, who has been a member of the town council, agreed to accept the mayorship until the forthcoming election to be held in April. Carl McCulley was named to succeed Clarence Houston, deceased, a member of the council.

Matthews tendered his resignation on the grounds of being disqualified to hold the office any longer, since he is moving to his farm south of town.

Tax Assessments To Be Made By Mail

Deputy Tax Collector J. C. Wilkerson today announced that he would repeat the experiment launched last year in gathering tax renditions by mail, and was preparing to mail special tax-rendering forms to taxpayers of the county beginning the latter part of this week.

He said he had found that the use of the mails in gathering tax assessments had proven very satisfactory. Furthermore, he claims, it will mean a saving in expense of driving all over the county, to get tax renditions from each individual.

Renditions in the towns of Friona, Farwell and Bovina will be gathered by personal calls, Wilkerson said. But all taxpayers living in the rural areas will be mailed the special forms, together with a stamped envelope for returning it, when completed, to the assessors' office.

Mother Dies Saturday; Buried at Floydada

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Sherrill, 73, mother of Mrs. O. B. Pipkin and Bert McClure of this city, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bessie Wilson, 3 miles north of Floydada, at 1:30 the night of Jan. 1.

Her passing following a stroke she suffered about a month previous, followed by two lighter attacks.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist Church in Floydada on Monday afternoon and burial took place there.

She is survived by three sons, Bert McClure, Farwell J. C. McClure, Memphis, Pfc. Alfred Sherrill, Keesler Field Miss., and four daughters, Mrs. O. B. Pipkin, Farwell, Mrs. C. J. Faulkner, Howe, Mrs. Cora Lee Shipley, Floydada, Mrs. Bessie Wilson, Floydada.

Mrs. Pipkin and her brother, Bert McClure, went from here to attend the funeral.

Farm Buildings Go At Auction Sale

A rather unusual farm sale, with a number of practically new farm buildings to go under the hammer, is booked by Buzard Brothers, 17 miles northeast of Farwell on Monday, Jan. 10.

Besides the farm buildings, 30 head of top-notch cattle and 37 hogs will be offered to the highest bidder. A list of good farm machinery and 100 acres of summer fallowed wheat is also included.

The sale will be conducted by W. D. Wanzor of Muleshoe, and Jack Williams will act as clerk. Lunch will be served at noon and the sale will get under way at 11 a. m., Texas war time.

CLOSE LAND DEAL

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. McDonald, of Brownfield, who have recently bought the Ira W. Taylor quarter section southwest of Texico, were here Monday closing up the deal.

Roads Improve Some Since First of Week

Rural roads, many of which have been practically impassable for the past three weeks, are showing some improvement under fair weather conditions that have prevailed since the first of this week.

Rain and snow that brought 30 inches of moisture to already waterlogged road conditions on January 1, gave a set-back to some dirt roads that were just beginning to become passable up to that time.

Even with the improvements, many of the country roads, particularly east-west lanes, remain closed to traffic, with the result that many farmers are making long detours to reach town.

Road conditions were responsible for the postponement of the opening of the Farwell school for another week, following the Christmas holiday period.

Nelson C. Smith, route carrier out of Farwell, turned his car over to his substitute, Clifford McGuire, after he had put his car out of commission in an effort to get the mail through.

Cattlemen Ask For More Protein Feed

Stressing the fact that continued snows have covered pasturage to a great extent and handicapped farmers in getting feed out of the fields, Ellis M. Mills, of the local Triple A office, on Monday sent a wire to B. F. Vance, at College Station, urgently requesting that more cottonseed meal be made available in this area.

Mills pointed out that since the rationing set-up, meal had become available to producers in this area in small amounts, but emphasized that weather conditions made it imperative that more of the highly concentrated feed be received here in order to prevent excessive shrinkage.

"We have feed in the fields which will keep the cattle alive," Mills stated when interviewed, "but this type feed will not keep aimals from losing weight rapidly."

Along this line of thought, Mills made pertinent remarks concerning certificates issued by the AAA which are necessary to buy cottonseed meal.

Such certificates, he stated, are set up on a 30-day feeding period. In event the holder has not been able to secure feed his certificate calls for, he is not required to renew it by calendar months. Rather, date of renewal or extension should be figured from the time the meal actually becomes usable as feed, he stressed.

OUR PLEDGE

We pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

ONLY THE WORTHY REMAIN FREE

As the calendar heralds 1944, grim predictions of allied political and military leaders rank foremost in the minds of all people. Nineteen hundred forty four is the year of decision. It is the year of total war and destruction, death and suffering. It may well be the year of military victory--thanks to the courage of our fighting men and the American production miracle.

Armament production in the United States has reached staggering proportions. In November, every 5 minutes saw the birth of a new plane. The month's total was 8,789, of which 1,000 were heavy bombers. More than 150,000 war planes have been built since the start of hostilities.

Nineteen million tons of merchant ships were launched in 1943, compared to 1,163,000 tons in 1941.

Naval and shipbuilding has outstripped the imaginations of the wildest dreamers. About a dozen aircraft carriers were turned out in November alone. Warship tonnage in 1941 was 2,132,000. Out of the ashes of Pearl Harbor it rose to 5,000,000 tons in 1943, a colossus bent on the destruction of the Japanese aggression and Nazi tyranny. Tanks, guns and supplies are being produced in unbelievable quantities.

These things were made possible by the productive genius of free enterprise. In the hands of 10,000,000 American men and their companions in arms, they are America's answer to the warped leaders of Europe and Japan who have challenged our freedom.

But we have no cause to rejoice. Tens of thousands of our men must die in 1944 to meet the challenge of the dictators. Usual year-end speechmaking and editorial phrase-making are out of place. The people were told when war started that they would have to make sacrifices. They were told this was total war. And yet, other than those who have given their men, no one has so far made an iota of real sacrifice. It is not in the cards for such a condition to continue.

Sometime in the none too distant future we, at home, are going to find out what total war means, even though we may not feel the impact of bombs on our cities.

A pretty good indication of how we are going to find out can be seen in the gusts of bitter controversy sweeping through the land over strikes, taxes, subsidies, and inflation. They are prelude to the storm. When it hits full fury, the test of our love and freedom will be upon us.

No person in this nation can ever shut from his mind the awful vision of the last days of 1943 in which 1,000 marines lay dead on the beaches of one little South Pacific island. Those men died for the right to be free. We at home have yet to prove worthy of the freedom for which they died.

Health Notes

by Texas Department of Health

AUSTI—Speaking of control of communicable diseases, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, health officer, said today that whooping cough is one of the hardest to control. This is because it is highly contagious and begins as an ordinary cough. It is catching during the week or ten days before it can be recognized by the "whoop." Even then a physician is not called often and children are allowed to play with others when they are known to be sick.

In children under the age of three years, and especially babies, whooping cough is dangerous and often fatal. Frequent spells of coughing and vomiting weaken a child to the extent that the disease becomes dangerous. The majority of deaths are due to pneumonia, which is the most frequent and dangerous complication. Because this complication is so dangerous, it is advisable to have a doctor as soon as the child becomes sick.

Dr. Cox further advises, "Do every thing you can to protect children from whooping cough. Often prevention and control of whooping cough, especially among infants and small children, may be accomplished through the use of approved vaccine and convalescent serum," Dr. Cox said. "Keep them away from playmates who have colds, especially when whooping cough is prevalent. Teach children not to put objects in their mouths that have been handled by others and to wash before meals. In spite of all precaution, if your child seems to be developing whooping cough, call your doctor at once. He can do much to relieve the patient's distress if treatment is begun early and will advise the parents about diet, rest, exercise, and fresh air for the patient."

... but what has this automobile to do with your ELECTRIC SERVICE?

FRANKLY, it has nothing to do with your electric service. We use it here to illustrate a point.

Automobiles were "rich man's toys" not so many years ago. They cost a lot of money and they cost a lot to run. They were gas-eaters and oil-eaters. The hills they could climb in high were few and far between. If you got them up to fifty miles an hour, the noise and vibration were terrific.

Today millions of American families have beautiful, powerful cars that out-smart, outshine and outperform the best models of the Twenties in every way, yet cost less than half as much.

This progress has not been confined to the automobile. Time was when electric service provided only your light. Today you can use more lights, a radio, refrigerator, vacuum cleaner, washing machine and many other appliances, and the electricity to operate all of these costs very little more than you used to pay for light alone.

Like the automobile, your electric service improves steadily year after year. At the same time, its price comes down. This is possible because of the constant effort of the people of your electric company to improve service and reduce rates. It's an effort that goes on and on. In the last 10 to 25 years, the engineering improvements and operating economies of your electric company have made it possible to cut the average price of household electricity just about in half. Because of it, your electric service will be better and cheaper in the future than it is today. The credit belongs to a group of people who are never content to rest on their laurels, who strive to do their job just a little better today than they did it yesterday. They're the people of your electric company.

You give the enemy a sweat each time you save a kilowatt

Farming Talk

By GARLON A. HARPER
County Agricultural Agent

Texas A. & M. Extension Service

There are many reasons why every family in Parmer County should start planning a victory garden now. Last year the interest in home gardens was very good and in spite of the severely dry season which these gardens had to go through, much good was accomplished along this line. Of course, we are all hoping for a more favorable year during 1944 insofar as moisture is concerned and if our hopes are realized this will be an ideal year for home gardens.

It is not at all necessary to call attention to the fact that there is a food shortage of a certain degree and that with a large majority of the rural and small town families growing a garden our people will be better fed, and more food will be left in the stores for those who cannot produce their own vegetables. Our home economists tell us that the family which produces a well balanced home garden is better fed than if they were able to buy all the vegetables they want from the corner grocery. Really fresh vegetables out of your own garden contain more food value, minerals, and vitamins than those which have been produced in commercial garden areas and shipped to us.

If you have a garden spot or if you can provide a garden spot this year, start planning early and really do a good job this year. You will want the garden plot to be on rich soil, away from trees, and fenced if necessary to keep your neighbor's chickens out. You should try to produce a well balanced variety of vegetables and should select your different kinds of vegetables according to the individual taste of your family.

should be planted early, some will require especial attention, and certain varieties are more adapted to this area than others.

I have a number of bulletins of a practical nature, which are free to you for the asking.

Regulations on Sale Of CCC Bins Eased

Instructions have been received at the Parmer County AAA office modifying regulations governing the sale of CCC grain bins to farmers or warehousemen, and provision is also made whereby the bins may be rented on CCC bin sites as additional storage space for a period ending July 1, according to Ford N. Welch, chairman of the Parmer County ACA committee.

Sales to farmers for the storage of grain or other commodity on which a loan or purchase program is available may be made for cash, or on a note and chattel mortgage basis, the notes maturing December 31. In the latter case the producer shall make a payment of 7c per bushel on the stored commodity, but not less than 60% of the bin capacity. Payment may be made at time of purchase, when a loan on the stored commodity is made, or when the stored grain is marketed.

Bins sold for other purposes will be for cash or on a note maturing December 31, accompanied by a down payment of not less than one third of the purchase price. Warehousemen may buy the bins, where available, for any purpose, for cash or on a note and mortgage basis with a one-third down payment.

May Be Rented
Bins which have been erected on bin sites may be rented to warehousemen or farmers for storage purposes for the period ending July 1, and the rental agreement may be extended an additional year if the grain is to remain in storage past July 1. Rental rates will be 7c per bushel of the rated capacity for the first six months and 5c per bushel for the additional year or fraction thereof, according to Welch. Arrangements for the purchase or

Russians Push West as Winter Sets In

With their great ally winter now increasing in strength and ferocity daily, the Russians have begun new drives to crush the Nazi invader. A full-scale push toward Rumania was begun at (1) Cherkassy. At Kiev (2) a fierce Nazi counterattack failed with heavy losses. Map shows the line of furthest German advance on July 12 and indicates the approximate present front.

rental of Parmer County bins may be made at the AAA office in Farwell. In addition to a large supply of erected bins, there are in the county several unerected granaries of good quality for farmers who need them and have the time necessary for erection. It is suggested that farmers anticipate their storage needs in time to move bins to their farms before wheat harvest.

Cagesters Journey To Melrose Friday

Two boys teams of the Texico school will journey to Melrose on Friday night of this week, for lively cage contests.

Previously, the Texico first string defeated Melrose, when the latter visited here, but the second string players lost their match at that time.

The seniors will admittedly be hurt by the absence of Box, who has gone to the army, but Coach C. E. Sanders indicated that he was preparing Paul and Roop to fill the vacancy on the team.

Fiber Cases Will Move '44 Egg Yield

Fiber cases will have the job of moving to market at least 80 per cent of the 60 million eggs expected to be produced in 1944.

On that account the War Food Administration and War Production Board urge egg handlers and dealers to report without delay the approximate number of fiber cases they will require for next year's marketing season.

According to information to the

A. and M. College Extension Service from WFA, reports of egg case requirements should specify the number needed at least for the period February 1 through June 30, and should list the names of the expected suppliers. Report forms are available at field offices of the War Production Board and when completed should be sent to the Containers Branch of WPB at Washington.

The importance of ordering cases from suppliers at once is emphasized. There will be less chance of repeating the shortage of 1943 if requirements for next year are known and orders for egg cases are placed early. The shortage at the peak of the 1943 marketing season forced many producers, handlers and others to transport eggs in pails, fruit crates and other makeshift containers. That experience makes it imperative to obtain a close approximation of actual needs now so that materials and equipment may be allocated to manufacturers as soon as possible.

Re-use or salvage of wooden and fiber cases both will help, but are not expected to supply more than a small part of the entire need for 1944, WFA indicates. Main dependence will be on fiber cases, which after more than a year of fairly general use have proved largely successful.
