Lazbuddie Baptists Start Calvary Christian School

By Shirley Gorman

Lazbuddie Baptist Church has undertaken the mammoth responsibility of organizing its own school using the Accelerated Christian Education (A.C.E.) curriculum. Calvary Baptist School will open its doors Monday, Aug. 28, and, as much as possible, will follow the public school schedule for holidays, etc.

The school -- which is expected to accommodate children from kindergarten through 12th grade -- is considered to be the "church in action," according to Rev. Jim Standridge, pastor of the church and school superintendent. Associate pastor Gary Wilcox will be the principal as well as instructor or supervisor, a term which they prefer. Wilcox's wife, Alba, and Larry Zamora will also be supervisors, with other assistant instructors employed as necessary.

The Wilcoxes and Zamora are all graduates of Wayland Baptist College at Plainview. Wilcox specialized in religion with a minor in Spanish. Mrs. Wilcox also has a degree in Spanish, and taught in the Lazbuddie school system last year.

The school has adopted a strict dress code but will not require students to wear uniforms as such. Girls will wear either dresses or skirts and boys will wear either casual or dress slacks. Boys in kindergarten through the second grade will be allowed to wear blue jeans if they are not extremely faded. For physical education classes, girls must wear either culottes or gauchos and boys must wear knee-length shorts. Boys will not be allowed to wear long unkempt hair. According to Standridge, the purpose of this policy (the above statements are just a brief excerpt from the actual policy itself) is to maintain the Biblical directive for men to look like men and women to look like women.

The congregation would sponsor a student or students in exchange for work. Once the details are worked out, they said that it would be possible for any child to attend Calvary

Christian School, regardless of the financial state of their parents. To be sure, organizing this new school is a relatively (Continued on Page 6)

Gary Wilcox, left, associate pastor, and Jim Standridge, pastor, at Lazbuddie Baptist Church are conferring about the new Calvary Christian School which that church is presently organizing. Classes will begin this fall and the special accelerated Christian education curriculum will accommodate students in kindergarten through the 12th grades. Standridge is the new school's superintendent and Wilcox will serve as principal and supervisor.

Texico-Farwell All-Stars To Begin Tournery Action

The 1978 Texico-Farwell Little League All-Stars are hard at work preparing and practicing for the District 3 Tournament slated next week in Clovis. The four-day action will get underway Tuesday, July 25, and conclude Friday, July 28.

The local All-Stars will take on the Western League All-Stars next Wednesday, July 26, at 7:30 p.m. MDT. The winner of that contest will meet the victor of the National League and American League All-Stars games, also to be played next Tuesday. That game will be played Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. MDT. In other upcoming District 3 games, Cannon All-Stars will face their Southern League counterparts on Tuesday. Tucumcari All-Stars which drew a "bye" will play the winner of that game on Thursday night.

If the tournament proceeds on schedule, the final game will be played next Friday night at 7:30 p.m. MDT. The state Little League Tournament will be played the following week. All games in Clovis will be played at Dickerson Ball Park located at 14th Street and Sycamore. In preparation for the upcoming tournament the Texico-Farwell All-Stars have been holding daily practice sessions at 10 a.m. CDT at the

Members of the local All-Stars team are Brad Maxwell, Kevin West, Jeff Johnson, Alan Eubank, Lezlie Castleberry, Roger Robertson, Ronnie Dunsworth, Manuel Cantu, Ronnie Galvan, Dennis Chavez, Joe Steward, Santiago Lucio and Scott Elliott. The coaches are J.W. Eubank and Eddie B. Smith.

Both Eubank and Smith encourage everyone in Texico and Farwell to attend tournament games next week and to support the local All-Stars. Final regular season standings in the Little League Division were: Worley, first; Kelly Green and Tide, tied for (Continued on Page 2)

BTD Committee Meets To Finalize Plans

The Texico-Farwell Border Town Days Committee received some unexpected but very good news Tuesday night during its second and final meeting prior to the July 28-29 Border Town Days Celebration. John Getz, representing Farwell Chamber of Commerce, presided.

Bill Christian of the Texico branch of the Citizens Bank of Clovis reported to the committee that approximately $2300 was still on deposit at the bank in the name of the old Border Town Days organization.

He said the money was deposited three years ago after all the clubs and organizations in the Twin Cities pooled their funds into one monetary pot. At that time Pike Jordan served as president of the organization and Tommie Snodgrass was the secretary.

Following the 1975 Border Town Days celebration the committee became inactive and apparently the account was "forgotten." Presently only Jordan's and Mrs. Snodgrass' signatures are registered with the bank.

In an effort to clarify the situation and to make the funds available for use this year as well as for future BTD celebrations, another Border Town Days committee was officially organized with officers elected and a Board of Directors appointed.

The following officers were elected by acclamation: Getz, president; Lewis Cooper, vice-president; and Tony Mendoza, treasurer-secretary.

The following Board of Directors was also appointed, pending final approval of the respective clubs and organizations: W.M. Roberts, Farwell Chamber; Julia Symcox, Farwell Study Club; Glenn Fant, Lions Club; Richard Haseloff, Jaycees; Johnny Curtis, City of Farwell;

Also, Bill Thigpen, City of Texico; Dorris White, Farwell

Young Homemakers; Ann Cooper, Texico Woman's Club; Gloria Hutchins, Alpha Rho Lambda chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority; Ann Cooper, Texico Woman's Club; Judy Jones, Theta Rho Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority; Dudley Bristow, Rotary Club;

And, Lee Hutchins and Lewis Cooper, the Farwell and Texico volunteer fire departments; Susan Franse, Oklahoma Lane Home Demonstration Club; Tony Mendoza, Texico Chamber of Commerce, and Pike Jordan, Farwell Arena Association.

Getz pointed out that the present committee would "spend as little as possible" of the newly discovered funds and that they would "stick to all present arrangements regarding prizes for floats etc."

He also said that both he and Mendoza would have their names entered on the signature card at the bank thereby making the funds available to the current BTD committee.

It was suggested that the BTD committee meet again following this year's celebration for the purpose of paving the way for next year's observance. It was also suggested that the committee next year would begin meeting at an earlier date in order to facilitate planning for the 1979 event. A barbecue for next year's Border Town Days was tentatively suggested.

Getz said that due to the extra money held in the Texico bank, it would not be necessary for local clubs and organizations to donate funds towards this year's celebration.

HPJRA Rodeo - -

Jaycees Select Rodeo Sweetheart

Johnny Curtis of the Farwell Jaycees has announced that Brenda Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orie Jones, has been selected as their Border Town Days Rodeo Sweetheart. As such she will ride in the parade and lead the grand entry at the High Plains Junior Rodeo.

The Jaycees are sponsoring the rodeo again this year. Performances on July 28-29 will begin nightly at 8 o'clock. Ticket prices are $2.50 for adults and $1 for children with pre-schoolers admitted free. Tickets for adults may also be purchased in advance for $2.

Co-chairman of the HPJRA rodeo are Mike Norris and Gary Brown. Robert White is chairman of the publicity committee. Entry deadline for all rodeo events is Monday July 24, at 5 p.m. Cindy Moore of Clovis is rodeo secretary.

All forms should be mailed to Box 1531, Clovis, N.M., 88101.

HPJRA entries are available at Rip's Western Wear in Texico. Entries may be turned in to that location (as well as mailing them to Clovis) and representatives of the Jaycees organization will pick up the forms and take them to Clovis.

The original deadline of today (Friday) at 5 p.m. was extended to Monday due to the late availability of entry forms, reports Richard Haseloff, Jaycees president.

The Jaycees will also sponsor a greased pig contest in conjunction with the rodeo. Friday night youngsters eight and under will compete and youths aged eight to 12 will compete Saturday night. Prizes for both nights will be $5 for first place and $2 for second place.

Rodeo Bosses

Farwell Jaycees will again sponsor the High Plains Junior Rodeo Association rodeo in conjunction with the annual Border Town Days celebration, July 28 and 29. Some of the Jaycees who have helped with the publicity campaign and in preparing the rodeo programs are, from left, Robert White, chairman of the advertising committee; Gary Brown, co-chairman of the rodeo committee; Johnny Curtis, treasurer; Richard Haseloff, president; and Mike Haseloff, vice-president.

Talent, Personality - -

Queen Contest Entrants Urged

Discussion of the Border Town Days Queen contest was also on Tuesday night's agenda. In the interest of broadening the contest to include as many entries as possible the committee voted unanimously to include all junior high and high school girls who attended either Texico or Farwell Schools during the 1977-78 school year.

The contest is to be co-ordinated by the Texico-Farwell Rotary Club. Christian, who was the only Rotary club member present Tuesday night was asked by fellow committee members if the club could contact businesses and other organizations regarding sponsoring candidates.

However, it is not necessary for a candidate to be sponsored to enter and there is no entry fee.

The 1978 BTD Queen will reign for one year and may be present at important functions in both Texico and Farwell throughout the year. She will also reign over the 1979 BTD celebration until a new queen is chosen next year.

Sponsors and potential candidates are reminded that the BTD Queen will not be specifically a rodeo queen as has been the case in past years.

Contestants will be judged on the basis of talent and personality. All entrants will (Continued on Page 2)

Some spark of reason is coming out of the hastily called special session in Austin. We are referring to a proposal by State Representatives Jim Nugent and Lynn Nabers.

This proposal would dedicate one-fourth of the revenue from the State's general sales and use tax to reduce school ad valorem taxes throughout the state.

Nugent and Nabers explained that to be eligible to receive additional funds, under their idea, a school district must reduce the ad valorem taxes it levies for maintenance and operation purposes by $200 for each $220 it will receive. The maximum amount by which a school district would have to reduce its taxes would be 50 percent. The "new" state money would be distributed to school districts on a per Average Daily Attendance (ADA) basis with the 1978 share being $220 per ADA.

Preliminary estimates show that the proposal would have the following effect in Farmer County:

Bovina ISD, 24% property tax reduction with $10,195 in new funds. Farwell ISD, 23% reduction with $10,207 in new funds. Friona ISD, 31% reduction with $24,497 in new funds, and Lazbuddie ISD, 20% reduction with $5,644 in new funds. "New" funds means the amount of additional State money to be received by a school district in excess of the amount the district currently is raising through ad valorem taxes for maintenance and operation purposes.

This idea sounds reasonable to us along with the additional virtue of being easy to administer.

A proposal being currently advanced has strong populist appeal but we would think it almost presents insurmountable administrative problems. This is the idea of taxing agricultural, ranching and forest land on the basis of productivity rather than market value. The idea has much theoretical merit but we cannot see how it could be administered.

What is "productivity?" Is it the actual profit that a specific piece of land produced? Or is it the profit the entire farm or ranch shows? Or what is profit? Even the best accountants get confused by the IRS as to what is "profit."

In order to assess a farm, would the local tax assessor have to see the farmer's personal income tax report? Or, would a farmer merely come into the assessor's office and state, "I made $20,000 last year and own 2,000 acres so the tax value of my land is only $10 per acre."

Well, it seems to us that the possibilities for confusion are enormous not to mention the possibility of down right dishonesty in tax rendition.

The idea seems great but we wonder how the concept could be applied equitably, easily and with complete understanding on both sides. In fact, we do not believe it can be so done.

Two couples, the Joneses and the Walkers, who happened to work for the phone company, stopped at a local roadside fruit stand the other day to buy some peaches. Jones, who was unfamiliar with selecting peaches, was having trouble picking out some good ripe peaches. Whereupon, his wife observed: "Let the Walkers do your fingering though the yellow peaches."

Farwell School Board Hires New Teachers

Farwell School Board voted at its July 10 meeting to accept the recommendation of the Board of Equalization which set the tax assessments for 1978 at $10 per head of sheep, $20 per head of hogs and $60 per head of cattle and horses.

In other board business, Robert R. Long of Hereford was employed as high school speech and English teacher. Paula Smith of Clovis was hired as a part time speech therapist. She will also serve the Bovina school system on a part time basis. Billie Carlyle of Farwell was hired as the migrant teacher.

The Board accepted the resignations of Nelda Askey and Carol Hotze.

In other action, the Board approved setting up "speed bumps" on the streets around the high school, pending the approval of the Farwell City Council. They also okayed the city's plan to pave the street south of the football field — Avenue I between Sixth and Seventh Streets. The Board will pay their share of the cost of the project, not to exceed $2700.

Attending the meeting were Gilbert Kaltwasser, Wilbert Kalbas, Billy Mayfield, Joe Hughes, Doyle Ford, Ted Magness, Jim Walker, W.M. Roberts, James Craig, Tom Knoy, and Jerry Yows.

second; and Aldridge, fourth. In the Pee Wee Division, Citizens Bank grabbed first place; followed by Plano Grande, second; Shirley-Anderson-Pitman, third; and Interstate Fertilizer, fourth.

Approximately 100 boys and girls suited out this season, with the top 13 players being singled out as the All-Stars following the conclusion of regular season play.

Four teams composed the Little League Division and four teams made up the Pee Wee League. Games were usually played on Monday and Thursday nights, but community activities and bad weather did cause a number of games to be made up at a later date.

Prior to the start of the 1978 season, interested parents and friends worked together to get the field in shape, and the happy result was the re-surfacing of the infield with a type of crushed rock — making it possible for activity to begin sooner after a rain than previously.

Parents of players assisted with various activities throughout the season including scorekeeping, umpiring, and operating the concession stand.

This year's Little League Association officers are Betty Jean Castleberry, president; Joe Hughes, vice-president; Judy Jones, secretary; and Jim Walker, player agent.

Parade, Park Events Top Saturday Agenda

One of the highlights of Saturday's BTD activities will be the parade which kicks off at 1 p.m. CDT. All organizations, businesses and interested persons are encouraged to enter a float, farm equipment, antique cars, or decorated vehicle. Children are also asked to decorate their bicycles for the parade. School groups and entries are encouraged to have an entry.

"Friendship" is the theme of this year's parade. Jerry Yows is the parade marshal. All entrants are asked to register with either Yows, 481-3437, or Glenn Fant, 481-9978.

Entrants in the parade are to line up near the Burger Barn in Texico beginning at noon CDT Saturday. From there they will travel east through Farwell to Capitol Foods.

Fant, who is a DPS Trooper, stated that he would try to arrange for traffic to be rerouted Saturday during the parade. He explained that according to law, traffic on Highway 70-84 could not be tied up indefinitely for the parade. He also pointed out that many travelers last year stopped voluntarily during the parade and observed the proceedings.

The Farwell and Texico Chambers of Commerce will jointly donate prizes and trophies for the top parade entries. First, second and third place trophies will be awarded to the top riding clubs, and the best floats will receive prizes of $25, $15 and $10. The best antique car entry will also receive a $25 prize.

Besides numerous floats, a combined Texico and Farwell high school band as well as the Clovis Shriners Drum and Bugle Corps will participate in the parade.

Efforts will also be made to book the Amarillo Gunfighters Association for the parade as well as park activities and possibly for the final performance of the rodeo Saturday night.

After the parade a quantity of various activities will begin at the Farwell City Park with the Old Fiddlers Contest compete Saturday afternoon during the park activities.

Queen candidates' talent renditions may include anything from singing, dancing, twirling, musical instrument, recitation, comedy, dramatics or others. They will also ride in a car during the parade. Transportation will be arranged by the Rotary Club.

All candidates are asked to fill out the entry form which is printed elsewhere in the State Line Tribune. Contestants are asked to fill out the blank and return it to the Tribune office as soon as possible. Entry deadline for the Queen's contest is Monday, July 24, at 5 p.m. CDT.

All entrants are asked to submit a picture of themselves along with the entry blank, as the Tribune plans to publish photographs of all queen candidates in the July 28 issue of the paper. Billfold size pictures are preferred; however, the pictures may be of any size, and may be either a school, studio or Polaroid picture. Color pictures may be used, but black and white are preferred.

Should a candidate not have a picture of herself, she is requested to contact the Tribune office so that arrangements may be taken for a picture to be taken.

Discussions were also held regarding the rodeo on Friday and Saturday nights, the parade which will begin at 1 p.m. on Saturday, and the Saturday afternoon activities at the Farwell City Park following the parade.

Attending Tuesday's BTD meeting were Tony Mendoza, Ann Cooper, Hattie Coffey, Frances Kube, Richard Hasehoff, Glenn Fant, Johnny Curtis, Gloria Hutchins, Bill Christian, Pike Jordan and John and Joann Getz.

MRS. LULU KISTLER

Funeral services for Mrs. Lulu A. Kistler, 98, were conducted Sunday afternoon in the Muleshoe Church of Christ. Mrs. Kistler is the mother of Beulah Hobbs of Farwell.

Funeral services for Mrs. Lulu A. Kistler, 98, were conducted Sunday afternoon in the Muleshoe Church of Christ. Mrs. Kistler is the mother of Beulah Hobbs of Farwell.

Royce Clay, Church of Christ minister in Big Spring, officiated, assisted by Rev. David Hamblin, pastor of the First United Methodist Church in Muleshoe. Delivering the eulogy was Warlick Thomas, a grandson, of Amarillo. Burial was in the Muleshoe Cemetery under the direction of Singleton-Ellis Funeral Home.

Mrs. Kistler died Friday at West Plains Medical Center in Muleshoe following a short illness. She was born Sept. 22, 1879, in Topeka, Kan. She attended nearby Baker University several years before marrying William H. Kistler. They moved in 1909 to the home on the land near Muleshoe which Mr. Kistler had bought in 1908, before Muleshoe was incorporated.

Mrs. Kistler was a member of the Muleshoe Church of Christ, a lifetime member of the Order of Eastern Star, a charter member of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, and a life member of Lubbock Christian College Associates.

She was recipient of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority Bicentennial Pioneer Woman Award in 1976. She was an active member of the Bailey County Historical Society and had contributed several articles to the Society and the Muleshoe Library, concerning the family history and neighbors.

Survivors include two sons, Gene Kistler of Huntington Beach, Calif., and Merle Kistler of Pomona, Calif.; two daughters, Mrs. Beulah Hobbs of Farwell and Mrs. Ethel Arwine of Lubbock; two brothers, Glenn Woolpert and Ross Woolpert, both of Topeka, Kan.; nine grandchildren, 23 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were grandsons and great-grandsons, Warlick Thomas, Walt Moeller, James Hobbs, Thom Leary, Bill Kistler, John Kistler, Steve Thomas and Allen Thomas.

Farwell Council Sets Public Hearing

Farwell City Council voted Monday night to let the 1978 tax rate remain at 30 cents per $100 valuation as it has been in past years.

A public hearing to discuss traffic control and parking on Avenue A was set for Tuesday, Aug. 1, at 5 p.m., immediately following the Board of Equalization which will meet from 1:30 to 5 p.m. CDT.

The Commissioners also encouraged residents to clean up their property including alleys, yards, etc., and to set the trash out by their respective cans next week. City employees plan to collect regular trash next Monday and Tuesday and to haul the extra trash the rest of the week.

Jack Landrum, head of the sanitation department, said it would be particularly helpful next week if all the excess trash collected during the proposed clean-up campaign were to be set out by the first of the week, as it will give workers enough time to plan their hauls accordingly.

In other action, Ted Magness, Jim Walker, James Craig and Joe Hughes representing Farwell school, met with the Council to discuss placing "speed bumps" on streets around the high school. They expressed concern for the traffic situation around the high school, adding that they wished "to slow down traffic if possible."

The request was approved and following a brief discussion pertaining to size and depth of the asphalt bumps, Landrum stated that he would investigate similar bumps in another city to determine the exact proportions.

It was also proposed that the city would provide the asphalt and that the school would furnish labor to assist with the project. The bumps will be painted with bright yellow reflective paint.

Locations of the three "bumps" will be across Avenue G between the home economics cottage and the new gym; and on Avenue H at the west end of the high school, and at the west end of the bus barn.

County Cotton Farmers Face Chemical Damage

Parmer County farmers -- especially cotton farmers -- are facing serious, if not critical, losses, from the chemical 2-4-D which has inadvertently invaded their fields, producing elongated leaves and prognosises of deformed bolls if the blight continues.

Area farmers are concerned, County Agent Seth Ralston is concerned, and apparently the Texas Department of Agriculture is also concerned as representatives of that office were reported to be investigating county crop damage last week.

However, Ralston said he did not talk personally with the TDA representatives, therefore he has no real knowledge of their activities or findings.

Wednesday morning, Raymond Houtchens, supervisor of the Lubbock TDA office, told the Tribune that investigators were still in the county and would "probably be there for some time." He said they are looking at all the crops in the county, trying to assess the damage.

According to Houtchens, preliminary reports indicate that the severest 2-4-D damage is located in the Oklahoma Lane area. He added that the TDA investigators are contacting all the farmers who have chemical damage complaints.

Houtchens also said that detecting 2-4-D in Parmer County is particularly difficult because not all the chemical damage is caused by blowing winds. A certain type of 2-4-D used does not drift, but rather settles on the area until the heat of the day causes it to volatize and get into the atmosphere, causing crop and produce damage through "fall out."

He reported that effects of 2-4-D damage are being found throughout the county with some areas receiving heavier damage than others. Besides cotton, any type of produce is also susceptible to the adverse affects of the chemical.

Houtchens explained that the TDA investigators usually do all their investigations through observing the crops rather than testing samples because "2-4-D doesn't stay within the plant's system too long."

"There is no mistaking 2-4-D damage," Houtchens said, "It is like no other sight on earth."

Other areas receiving 2-4-D damage include south of Farwell and south and east of Bovina. Ralston said he has also seen damaged fields near Lazbuddie, Clay's Corner and Lariat.

The county agent explained that every year farmers usually have a little 2-4-D damage, but that this year's problem is the "worst in several years." Ralston noted that he has also seen some Atrazine damaged fields.

Ralston said that even if the cotton fields recover they will probably produce a lower grade of cotton. Sometimes, though, he said that favorable factors such as a late fall might help 2-4-D damaged cotton fields to produce a slightly better yield than if the plants had had less time to mature.

Other crops such as vegetables could also be affected, Ralston noted, but he reported that he had not seen any vegetable damage thus far. It is possible for the chemical to produce deformed peppers, thereby ruining the value of the crop, he said.

According to Ralston, the spraying probably took place several weeks ago, but the damage has only become visible within the past two to three weeks.

The Texas Department of Agriculture oversees the laws and regulations which govern the use of herbicides in the state of Texas. According to a TDA booklet: "Any persons violating any provision of the Texas Herbicide Law is guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $2,000 or confined to jail not more than 30 days or given both such fine and jail sentence."

It is possible for the sprayer of 2-4-D or its derivatives and the owner of the fields being sprayed to be jointly prosecuted according to the law if they are found to be responsible for the chemical damage.

Attempting to trace the source of the chemical damage is difficult, Houtchens said, adding that they use various procedures depending on the area and conditions existing at the time.

"We try to establish a pattern and we check the sales reports of herbicide dealers," Houtchens said. "We try to correlate our information to pinpoint where the spraying took place, but it is difficult sometimes."

He said they now believe the chemical damage to be from within the county as well as possibly from Deaf Smith County and New Mexico. According to Houtchens the TDA might have cases to file in the future pertaining to violations of Texas herbicide laws and regulations; however, he said that would not preclude private individuals from suing or being sued.

Billy Dietson, Curry County extension agent, told the Tribune Wednesday morning that New Mexico does not have regulations against the use of 2-4-D and its derivatives. But he added that "we do not have the same type of problem as Parmer County as usually only gardens, trees and occasionally sugar beets or soybeans show 2-4-D damage."

The chemical 2-4-D and its derivatives are usually used as a weed controlling agent, Ralston said, adding that it was normally sprayed from airplanes, ground rigs, or in some cases, sprinkler systems.

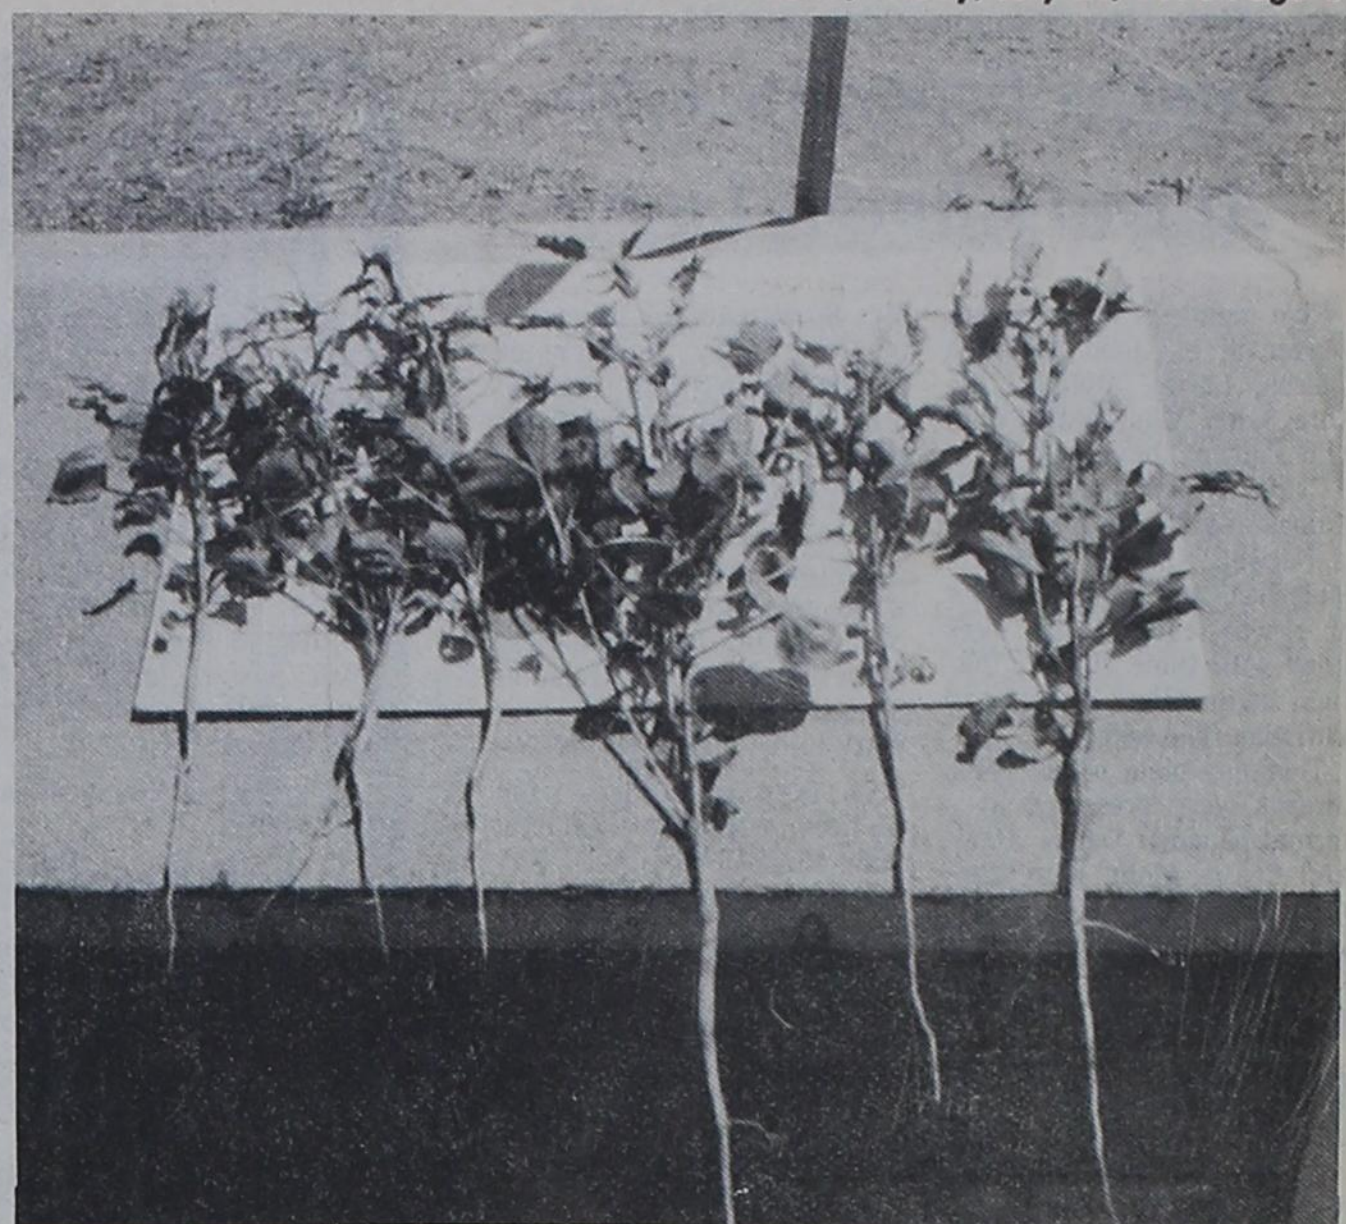

Winds approximately 15-20 MPH are capable of causing the chemical to drift onto other crops and fields, Ralston said. He also pointed out that 2-4-D may not be sprayed in the county between the dates of April 1 and November 1, except by special permission from the TDA.

According to Ralston, farmers in the county have planted 60,000 acres of cotton of which approximately 15,000 acres have received some damage from the chemical. He explained that the chemical produces elongated leaves on the cotton plants and if the problem continues the bolls may also become deformed.

Ralston explained that the damage varies from field to field and farm to farm, but that the county overall is generally affected to some degree or another. He said he personally surveyed approximately 1,000 acres which had been damaged by the 2-4-D.

"The worst damage I saw was north of Friona where the chemical had literally burned the cotton crops," Ralston said. "It looked like it might have taken a direct hit," he added.

Ralston said that 2-4-D damage is evident once the crops are examined, adding that the effect of the chemical on cotton is different from drought because during a drought the cotton plants become wilted, rather than elongated or deformed.

2-4-D Damage

Parmer County cotton farmers face considerable losses this year as a result of damage from the chemical 2-4-D and its derivatives. Pictured are a few samples of damaged cotton plants taken from the Frank Doshier, Jr., farm near Farwell; however, the photographer was unable to capture on film a "true picture" of the extent of the damage and the seriousness of the situation. The chemical, which is usually carried to fields by the wind, causes cotton leaves to become elongated and bolls to be deformed. Vegetables and other crops can also be affected adversely by the chemical.

Auxiliary Discusses Float For Border Town Parade

A very good attendance marked last Friday's meeting of the Farwell Convalescent Center Auxiliary, reports Floe Copeland, activity director.

Members were reminded that active, associate and honorary membership fees are due now. Plans to start a program for 12-13-year-old volunteers at the Center next summer were discussed, but no action was taken.

They also decided to donate 24 towels to be used strictly in the beauty shop. The towels will be in bright colors so that they may be easily recognizable. Additional workers are needed in the beauty shop as this seems to be the busiest place in the Center, reports Mrs. Copeland.

Auxiliary members decided to borrow the bus from the Farwell First Baptist Church and to decorate it for the upcoming Border Town Days parade. Residents will then be able to ride this "float" in the parade. The Auxiliary also donated $50 to the activity fund to be used for the "float" or other related LTD activities.

A committee consisting of Nan Preston, Jan Marsh, Ysleta Kittrell and Sherry Curtis will assist Mrs. Copeland with the float.

During the past three months members have donated 701 hours of volunteer service. Topping the lists of volunteers are Alvenia Cox with unknown hours; Mary Mesman, 57; Dora Verner, 53; and Jan Marsh, 38. "Everyone does a fantastic job and we appreciate them," Mrs. Copeland said.

Lazbuddie Baptists Start Calvary Christian School

expensive venture and, to date, the church has invested approximately $5,000. Additional materials and equipment will be purchased through tuition and registration fees.

The fellowship hall and other rooms in the existing church building will be used to house the classroom facilities, with the fellowship hall serving as the focal point. By the school's August opening date individual "offices" will have been prepared for each student, consisting of a small work area enclosed on three sides -- thus isolating the student from distractions in other areas of the room.

"This procedure allows students from different grades to occupy the same room and still do their own work," Wilcox said.

The offices will be situated around the perimeter of the hall, and in the center of the room, tables will be set up with the necessary material placed on them to allow students to correct their own work.

Instead of textbooks and the traditional classroom setting of approximately 30 desks in five or six rows and a central teacher instructing the group all together, Calvary Christian School offers an alternative designed to bring the pupil and supervisor together on an individual or one to one basis, Wilcox said.

Instead of textbooks, pupils will use PACES (packets of Accelerated Christian Education) similar to workbooks. Each PACE contains a "bite size" amount of work to keep an average pupil busy for three weeks. However, depending on the speed of the child it may be finished in either a shorter or longer period of time, Wilcox said.

Twelve PACES represent a year's work in a single subject, according to Wilcox. "Since the students work at their own rate, some may finish either less or more than the prescribed number of PACES for any given subject for any year."

Wilcox said the A.C.E. approach is designed to help students learn through self discipline. Each child works alone until he needs help. Then he raises a flag which is kept at his office and the instructor comes for an individual conference.

Students also set their own daily goals concerning the work they intend to do in each PACE. This is always done under the guidance of the supervisor. Positive incentives are used to motivate children to learn.

The students take short tests throughout each PACE, and self check all the work at the tables kept in the center of the room. Again, the pupil must raise the flag for permission to go to the center table.

According to Wilcox, the pupil keeps working on all the wrong answers until they are corrected. When the student thinks he is ready, he asks the instructor for the final test and if both agree that the student is ready then it is administered. A student must make 80 or above on the final test before progressing to the next PACE.

"The beauty of this program is that no one is pushing the student to compete or keep up with the rest of his classmates," Wilcox explained. "He works at his own rate and must really master the material before proceeding to the next step."

Wilcox also stressed that a student in the eighth grade, for instance, may be working on a fourth grade reading

PACE if that is all he is capable of doing. Tests are administered before classes begin to determine what the educational needs of all students are, he emphasized.

A variety of subjects will be available through the A.C.E. curriculum, Wilcox said, but special emphasis is placed on mathematics, English, social studies, science and spelling as these are considered the core of the curriculum. However, Wilcox said, they could also teach other subjects such as chemistry, biology and typing, just to name a few. Portable labs are also available, but Wilcox explained that it was possible to teach chemistry without doing any actual lab work. He said the Bible is related to each subject in an A.C.E. School.

Students at Calvary Christian School will also have regular P.E. classes, and athletics will be available for those aged 14 and up. Teams for basketball, flag football, volleyball, tennis and other sports will compete with other A.C.E. schools. A.C.E. schools also host UIL type competitions several times per year.

Parents will be appraised of their child's progress with report cards issued four times a year. According to Wilcox, the school will use particular grade classifications to identify students only because "it is the accepted method of identification." But in actuality they believe that the child's capabilities and not age should determine the level of instruction he receives.

"We will try to instill a Christ-like character in each child as well as teach them the core subjects," Standridge said, adding that "Sunday school once a week is not enough to do the job properly."

Standridge and Wilcox both emphasize that they are "not at war with the public schools," but they add, "We do feel that they are not allowed to teach our children what we want them to know regarding the Biblical view of all things."

In particular, they do not approve of evolution being taught in the public schools as they believe in the story of creation as told in the Bible. They also decry the humanistic philosophy which they say is becoming more and more accepted in public schools and even in institutions of higher learning.

Both Standridge and Wilcox and the creators of the A.C.E. philosophy believe that secular institutions are now committed to a belief in humanism: man and his accomplishments are valued as the highest and only goal.

"A school system reflects the value of the society it serves. Therefore, America's humanistic - based schools teach that man is the center of existence and all things are explained by natural terms," according to "Facts," an A.C.E. publication.

The magazine also states, "Believing man is the center of knowledge, humanists deny the existence of any permanent standard of conduct, each child is encouraged to decide for himself what is right and wrong. Christian children in secular institutions are greatly influenced by the authority of both teachers and textbooks to accept many humanistic ideas, even though such ideas are in direct conflict with Biblical principles."

Calvary Christian School will emphasize theistic philosophy in which students will be taught that there is a personal God and that He is the highest possible reality. The goal is to have Christian teachers, administrators and parents work together with the Holy Spirit to instill within students a belief in God, Standridge said. At CCS, students benefit from the enforcement of standards of conduct as outlined in the scriptures. They will learn to distinguish between acceptable and unacceptable behavior, he said.

Discipline will also be an important part of the new Christian school. Demerits will be administered for breaking rules such as speaking or getting out of one's place without permission. If a child wants to ask a question or to correct work he has completed in his PACE he must raise a flag and get permission from the supervisor first.

Receiving three demerits in one day means a 20-minute detention after school. For each demerit received beyond three in one day, another 20-minute detention session is added up to a maximum of one hour.

Students may also receive demerits and be kept after school for loafing and "goofing off" instead of doing their work. Since students set their own individual goals, they are expected to do so accurately and realistically and to live up to their agreement.

As a last resort students will be "padded," and if that happens the parents will be notified, Wilcox said. But he emphasized that the padding will be used only after all other methods have been tried.

But positive rewards are also to be administered for students who fulfill their obligations. Such rewards may involve the right to get out of their seat without express permission. However, these privileges are earned on a week-by-week basis.

The A.C.E. program is designed so that students do not have homework as such. They are encouraged to complete their daily PACE goals within the framework of each school day.

The basic A.C.E. philosophy is to prescribe the level at which a student should be working (after a battery of tests are completed) much as a doctor writes a medical prescription after examining his patient. Students are encouraged to set goals under the supervision of the instructor and learning is accomplished through control and motivation. Measurement of the student's progress is another important part of the A.C.E. program and suitable rewards are always administered to the students who live up to the bargain.

Both Standridge and Wilcox, say however that even though Calvary Christian will be using the A.C.E. curriculum they are not considered to be an A.C.E. school. "We will be using the curriculum in the way which best fits our needs," they said.

According to Wilcox, A.C.E. maintains a special lab school in Lewistown, Tex., in which all the PACES and other teaching materials, etc. are tested before they are incorporated into the program. "Everything we will be using has already been tested so we know it works," he stated.

Modern visual aids are an important part of any A.C.E. program. Education is enforced and accomplished through hearing (cassette tapes), seeing (PACES) and working, Standridge said. A special mechanical reading tutor which increases comprehension, reading skills and speed will also be used.

Everything the students at Calvary Christian learn will be carefully screened, Standridge said, pointing out that high school literature classes will teach the Psalms and biographies of great religious men as opposed to classics such as the plays of Shakespeare for instance. Standridge said that some carefully screened classics might be considered acceptable teaching material.

A typical day at Calvary Christian might begin something like this, Wilcox said: Students recite the pledge of allegiance and repeat a Bible passage, the same one for a month at a time, until it is memorized. Singing and daily devotionals will also be held in addition to P.E., athletics and studies in the core curriculum subjects. Students will spend a great part of the day studying and completing assignments at their individual offices.

Standridge said they will not be accredited by the state of Texas nor do they wish to be. Calvary Christian is an integral part of the church, but a separate entity from the public school system.

In order to be accepted into the A.C.E. program, the church must accept the doctrine of salvation by grace, Standridge said. The Lazbuddie Baptist Church had to apply to the A.C.E. main office in Dallas for admittance.

After being accepted, both Wilcox and Standridge attended special briefing sessions in Dallas and they are scheduled to continue their studies this summer. But now that they have taken the first step -- which actually began two years ago when the seed was first planted -- they are confident they can make the school a reality.

Standridge's eldest son, Jimmy, who would have graduated from Lazbuddie High this school year will instead finish his high school career at Calvary Christian. Standridge said he concurs with his son's decision but he did leave the choice up to him entirely. However, Standridge has two other sons who will also attend Calvary. "It was our decision jointly because that is the kind of family we have," he explained.

Standridge said they feel a big difference between them, other A.C.E. oriented schools and the public school system in general, is that "we teach a child to make a life while secular institutes teach him to make a living."

Donald R. Howard, Ph.D., Dallas, is the president of A.C.E. which was initiated in 1970. Since then, 2,000 schools have been established in the United States, six in the Panhandle alone, and A.C.E. also has international schools as well.

According to Facts magazine, "A.C.E. is committed to the belief that learning rather than teaching is the vital issue in education, and that learning must be based on Scriptural rather than secular principles."

One benefit, says Standridge, is that the program is designed so that the existing church facilities can be temporarily turned into a classroom every week. Not having to buy or build another building for the school is a tremendous cost savings, he said. Also establishing a school in conjunction with the church is a way of utilizing the present facilities which otherwise would be dormant for much of the week, he explained.

The A.C.E. curriculum is Christ-centered and the daily emphasis is on the word of God.

The following statement taken from Facts magazine sums up the feeling of Standridge, Wilcox and the others at Lazbuddie Baptist who felt that the time had come for them to take a firm hand in the education of their children:

"When your church opens it new Christian school, it will be providing the only educational institution that is truly an extension of both the church and the home.

"The Bible outlines two institutions with responsibility for rearing and teaching children. These are the home and the church. Today, only a Christian School provides an environment and teachings that profitably occupy the student's time and support the training of the home and the church.

"Christian schools declare all knowledge to be part of God's truth. Training in discipline, responsibility, and self-control is provided. Every facet of education is related to the Bible. The student is freed from conflicting theories that attack belief in the Bible. Students are encouraged to recognize that their lives belong to God and that a ministry in his service is the highest possible goal."

Wilcox said they are seeking membership in the Texas Organization of Christian Schools and the American Association of Christian Schools.

Both Standridge and Wilcox agree that Calvary Christian School will not be for everyone. They encourage everyone interested in the school to meet with them to discuss all facets of it. Interested parents are given a registration packet which explains the goals, policies and requirements of the school. "Before a child is accepted, we want to meet with both parents to discuss the school," they emphasize.

"It is important that parents know what we are trying to do and believe as we do before they can benefit from sending their children here," Standridge said. "We do not want to come between the child and his parents. We have to be one in religious thoughts or it won't work," he added.

Even though it hasn't happened yet, Standridge said he would not hesitate to turn students away if he did not believe that the parents were sincere and compatible in interpreting the Bible the way Lazbuddie Baptist does. The school is open to all Christians, not just members of the congregation.

Anyone wishing more information should contact either Wilcox or Standridge at First Baptist Church, Box 67, Lazbuddie, 79053, or call 965-2126.

Farwell Church of Christ

IT IS BETTER FOR US, individually and collectively, that we be concerned with sincere appreciation and approval of others and their useful work. This is the Christian way.

MUCH APPROBATORY ACTION is justified, and should replace the all-too-common ugliness of carping criticism which does so much to dissipate our strength and general well-being.

SOME CRITICISM MAY BE NECESSARY; however, we must remember that approval is also necessary and justified. Our aim must be more APPROVAL AND LESS criticism.

MANY FAULTS AND SHORTCOMINGS can be overcome by looking for the good points and expressing approval of them. We must even be sure to approve ourselves, when we can do so honestly.

ALL OF US DO BETTER under "a spirit of approval than under a spirit of criticism."

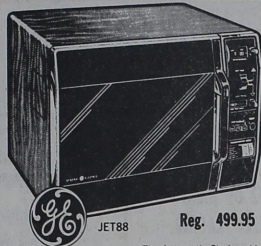

WE DO NOT LOSE STATUS or prestige, when we give approval to other people. We don't lose anything of value, but gain much. We will feel better and be stronger, and will be happy in the knowledge that we have encouraged and upbuilt someone else. In our association as Christians, this is one way to make the Lord's church stronger and more useful.

FAILURE TO GIVE APPROVAL, when it is justified, is an irreparable loss. Christians must be sure to avoid this great loss.

Nat'l Farm Safety Week July 25-31

President Carter has proclaimed July 25-31 as the 35th annual National Farm Safety Week. This year's theme is "Manage to Prevent Farm and Ranch Accidents." The National Safety Council estimates that 5,400 farm and ranch residents were killed and 480,000 disabled from work, home, recreation, and traffic mishaps during the past year. Agricultural work-related mishaps claimed some 1,800 lives with 180,000 more suffering disabling injuries. Of these work casualties, about 1,600 and 160,000, respectively, were farm or ranch residents. The cost of these accidents approach $4 billion, including fire losses and property damage. Success in farming requires good management. To help assure continuing success, make accident prevention a management goal:

 1) Keep informed about safety.
 2) Read and follow all product labels.
 3) Inspect all equipment, correcting hazards when possible.
 4) Take needed precautions before starting work. See that equipment is O.K., shields are in place, and that needed personal protective equipment is worn.
 5) Train helpers; see that they do things right.
 6) Keep children off and away from machinery.
 7) Respect your physical and mental limitations each work day.
 Please follow these few guidelines to help prevent you or someone you know from becoming a farm casualty.

Gardening News

The less you pack the soil in your garden, the better, say NMSU Extension people. A plant's roots will have an easier time getting into soil that's loose and loamy than they will soil that's hard and packed. Wheel tracks and foot paths, once established, should be used throughout the growing season.
 *****
 Plant nematodes are microscopic worm-like animals that live in the soil. They feed on living roots and cannot grow and reproduce without a favorable host plant. Crop rotation is one way to keep them in check in the garden, say NMSU Extension people.
 *****
 The most popular vegetable in home gardens is the tomato, say NMSU Extension people. A recent survey showed that tomatoes are grown in 95 percent of all gardens in America.

Lights Installed At Friona Intersection

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation has announced that as of 10 a.m. July 14, the new signal installation at the intersection of U.S. 60 (11th Street) with Spur 270 (Main Street) in Friona was placed on flashing operation.

Monday, the signals were placed on standard stop and go operation. All motorists are urged to approach this intersection during the initial period of operation with caution to allow everyone to become accustomed to the stop and go operation.

SHERIFF'S REPORT

Parmer County Sheriff Charles Lovelace reports that two batteries were taken Saturday night from two irrigation wells on the R.J. Garner farm near Lariat. They are valued at $50.

An aluminum irrigation valve was taken from the Ernest Ramm farm near the intersection of Highways 1731 and 84.

Sheriff Lovelace said they are holding Jessie Colley, 48, of Friona for allegedly writing $464 in bad checks. He appeared before Parmer County Judge Paul Fortenberry Tuesday and was fined $54, including court costs. Lovelace said they are still holding Colley since he has not paid the fine yet. Lovelace said that authorities in Clovis, Dimmitt and Muleshoe also have charges against Colley for allegedly writing worthless checks.

Angel Andrade, 22, and Martin Hernandez, 45, alleged illegal aliens, have been turned over to Amarillo Border Patrol agents, reports Lovelace. They were arrested by DPS Trooper Glenn Fant.

Irene Woods, who recently moved back to Farwell from Olney, Tex., has returned to her post as day dispatcher as the sheriff's office, reports Lovelace.
