

By Hop Jr.

What we would like to know is who are we going to vote for this fall if we don't like expanded social security? What party is going to be against more taxation to finance federal housing? Is there a presidential candidate in the land who thinks that we ought to build our schools with local money instead of "free" government money?

Who will be against building dams in Colorado to irrigate more land when our own privately-financed farmers on the High Plains can't even sell their crops?

Is there anyone who will have sense enough to say that it just doesn't make sense—economically or even morally—to pay people for not producing in programs like the soil bank, unemployment compensation, and the guaranteed annual wage?

When will the people have a candidate who will see that America needs to practice more Christianity in its relations with other nations, instead of "buying friends" with food and guns?

These are some of the thoughts we think after Saturday's primary, when our mind points toward the general election in the fall.

If you believe as we do (and of course, there is the possibility that you don't), would you go as far as a California newspaper publisher, who advocates a new political party—the Constitutional Rights Party?

Claiming that a new party is needed dedicated to the preservation of the Constitution and to the protection of our individual liberty and integrity, he says:

There is no party today to which the true seeker of morally sound and constitutional government can turn. Between the Democratic and Republican parties there is little to choose except the name. They are both following the philosophy of subsidy and give-away, ruinous spending and taxation, socialistic planning and undermining of private enterprise, glorification of big government and concentration of federal power.

"This new party is to be made up of citizens who prize individual liberty and integrity and self-reliance and the Golden Rule. They should gather together to draft a constitutional rights platform, a document that would not change with the political wind or seasonal whim.

"This new party would be dedicated above all to free enterprise, and in favor of getting the government out of the thousands of wasteful unbusinesslike enterprises on which it is squandering taxpayers' money. This party would stand for sound business judgment in government, which in its most elementary stage means spending less than is earned; in other words, operating on a balanced budget. This party would renounce theft and confiscation as a national policy; in other words, abolish the income tax and deficit financing. This party would renounce the socialistic enterprises undertaken by our government, such as the electrical power projects, which create a favored class of citizens whose low power rates are subsidized at the expense of the majority of unfavored taxpayers.

"Before it is too late, the thinking citizens of this nation should halt the headlong rush toward socialism and ruin. We should go back to the great moral truths which served as the foundation of our great documents, the Declaration of Independence and the Federal Constitution. We need a moral re-dedication. I believe we have citizens enough who have the courage and the will to lead the way."

We could not go along with Arvo Haapa, writer of these paragraphs, at the present time. Perhaps the day will come when such revolutionary action will be necessary.

But on every hand, we see men and women in our own strong Democratic party here in the Southwest, who believe as we do.

They simply need to organize and effect reforms within the party. Somehow we cannot lead ourselves to believe that the backers of big government in the Democratic party outnumber the advocates of more free enterprise.

Ches Fowler, the sage of Oklahoma Lane, was in Monday morning to cuss us out for supporting Price Daniel, and for things in general. He refers to us as his "Dixiecrat editor".

Ches got a real nice surprise, however. Dolph Moten of the Bovina Blade happened to be on hand and showed him a couple of copies of that newspaper, where-in the candidacy of Ralph Yarborough was highly recommended to the voters.

Ches was very impressed with this, and said he didn't know there were any editors left in Parmer County who had any sense.

He also said that he was going to switch from The Tribune to The Blade for his weekly newspaper reading.

The second go-round of the playoffs is scheduled at the Farwell

Pony League Playoff Game Postponed

The playoff game between Texico-Farwell and Friona Pony League teams for the Parmer County league championship has been postponed, according to Curtis Miller and Calvin Murray, local coaches.

The game, originally scheduled for this week, has been postponed until sometime after the middle of August, due to so many youngsters being on vacations and off to various camps.

Date for the game to be played in Friona will be announced later and practice sessions will not resume until a few days prior to the contest, say the coaches.

1st Graders Must Have Shots, Certificate

Farwell School officials remind parents of children who will begin the first grade this year, that youngsters must have necessary immunization shots and must present birth certificates.

The birth certificate, a hospital or doctor's certificate must be presented to show the child was six years of age before September 1. Also, the youngster must have had the combination shot which includes immunization against tetanus, diphtheria and whooping cough, and a smallpox inoculation.

The school office will be open every day from 9 o'clock until 12 and from one o'clock until four in the afternoon from now until school opens. Any student who needs a transcript or needs to discuss school matters with officials may visit the school at that time.

Regular school board meeting will be Monday night.

Automatic Laundry To Open Monday

The new Texico Automatic Laundry will open for business Monday morning at 7 o'clock, announces Mrs. H. H. Morin, who will manage the concern. Free coffee and doughnuts will be passed out all day.

The new business, which features 12 automatic washers and two dryers, is located east of Roberts Seed Company in Texico.

field on Saturday afternoon, the first game losers playing at 3 and the winners taking the field immediately following.

However, should Lazbuddie win both games on Friday, only the game for third and fourth place between the local squads would be played here, says Calvin Murray, one of the Texico-Farwell coaches. The championship game would then be played at Lazbuddie.

The local squads finished the season in first and second places in the league, the Pirates compiling a 7-2 record and the Yankees 6-3. Both teams wound up regular season play at Bovina last Friday, the Yanks whipping the Foxes 14-3, and the Pirates bowing to the Cats 5-2.

Glass Sliver Lodges In Eye of Player

Ed Combs, who is an employee of Gifford-Hill Western, barely escaped serious injury last week when he was playing softball with the company team in Clovis.

Manning first base, Combs was hit in the eye with a ball. His eyeglasses were smashed and several slivers of the glass flew into his eye. He underwent surgery Thursday and bandages were removed Tuesday.

Combs' eyesight was not impaired by the incident, although he is now wearing dark glasses. Friends say he hopes to be back at his job soon.

This week they announced purchase of the business from Mr. and Mrs. Shorty Milstead and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Milstead. Members of the Milstead family have been associated with the business for many months.

Pre-Election Favorites Win Democratic Primary Races

McDonald, Billingsley To Be in Runoff

Candidates favored to win in pre-election polls led the field for the most part after the counting of ballots in Parmer County ended Saturday night following the Democratic primary.

Sen. Price Daniel surged to a clear-cut lead of 851 votes in the governor's race. His nearest opponent was W. Lee O'Daniel who polled 341 in the county voting, followed hotly by J. Evetts Haley of Canyon who got 316 votes.

Ralph Yarborough, who will face Daniel in the state-wide runoff August 25, received 244 votes in Parmer County.

Also crowded into run-offs were E. R. "Emmett" Day of Friona in the race for commissioner of precinct 1, who although leading the field, will face E. G. "Glyn" Phipps in the deciding election;

And J. H. "Johnny" McDonald of Farwell will meet E. F. "Earl" Billingsley in the precinct 3 runoff.

Mild surprises cropped up in county tabulations. Most political prognosticators had figured Haley to poll more votes than he did. Also, Wright Williams, Friona ginner, came near to upsetting G. D. Anderson, Farwell banker, for the position of county Democratic chairman.

The biggest surprise of the election was the last-minute resurgence of interest in the voting, when county voters went to the polls in larger numbers than had been anticipated.

In all, 1,784 voters cast ballots. Approximately 2,500 were eligible to vote. Here is the complete but unofficial vote breakdown for the county: See the returns by precincts on page 7 of this section.

Bob Brooks Resigns As Manager of Lone Star Elevator

Bob Brooks, who has for the past two years served as manager of Lone Star Elevator in Farwell, this week announced that he has resigned his position to accept a job with Asgrow Texas Co. Brooks was employed by the company previous to accepting the management of Lone Star Elevator.

The Asgrow Texas Co. is the Texas subsidiary of Associated Seed Growers Inc. of New Haven, Conn.

The Tribune was unable to learn who the successor to Brooks will be.

The local man will take over the West Texas and Eastern New Mexico territory for the seed company, and will have charge of sales and some production in this area, possibly hybrid grain sorghums and hybrid corn.

In his statement to The Tribune, Brooks stated, "I regret leaving the employ of Lone Star Elevator, it is a fine organization. But my training and primary interest is in the seed business. I appreciate all the fine support I've had in Farwell and the good association the family has had. We do plan to continue to make our home here."

Resignation of Brooks is to be effective August 15, he says.

Brooks began his first duties with the seed company immediately after receiving his college degree in agronomy and plant pathology in 1952. He and his family moved to Farwell in June of 1954 after his acceptance of his present position, with the local elevator.

Brooks is past president of the Farwell Chamber of Commerce and is still active in the organization. He is a member of the Church of Christ.

The Brooks have two sons, Chucky and Mark.

Judge Bills Hears Non-Jury Cases

District Judge E. A. Bills was here Friday to hear non-jury civil court cases, officials in the county clerk's office report.

Other than two adoptions which were granted, the remainder of the docket had to do with trespass to try title cases. Six were heard and the titles cleared in all cases.

Next district court is scheduled August 17.

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Federal Aid to Education Can Be—And Is—Dangerous

There still are people with good intentions who cannot see what fuzzy thinking it is to believe that federal aid to education is a desirable thing.

"He who pays the fiddler will call the tune." The federal government can and will tell us what to teach in our schools if we allow them to assume our financial obligations.

An amendment to the federal aid to education bill in the last session of Congress would have denied funds to states who practice segregation. This is accepting the same principal as telling the states what curriculum shall be taught in the systems.

The amendment actually was passed, but fortunately the entire aid bill was defeated and the amendment never was made into law.

It isn't necessary for you to take our word for what the dangers of federal aid to education can be. These are the sentences of Congressman Walter Rogers:

"It must be remembered that the concentration of power in a centralized government can provide the authority in that central agency which could be used to tamper with the thought processes of those to be educated.

"This is a possibility that should be guarded

Citizens of Tomorrow

we've wanted for some time. Back in the club year, when LaMoin Williams was hostess to ESA, she served the most delicious dessert.

So this week, we have the directions for copying her successful dessert. It is a chocolate cake square topped with a dip of ice cream that has been rolled in almonds.

The first and most difficult job is to blanch the almonds.

Place shelled almonds in a sauce pan and cover with cold water and bring to boil. Remove from heat and drain. Run cold water over almonds, then turn out on coarse cloth, and rub off outer skin. To French fry the almonds, pre-heat salad oil to 370 degrees and put nut meats in frying basket. Fry until delicately browned. Drain on absorbent paper and sprinkle with salt. Chop nuts and roll balls of ice cream in chopped almonds. Place the ice cream balls on top of chocolate cake or brownies and serve.

Hazel Gast was beaming all over the place early this week on her daughter's accomplishment. Sherri has reached the proud state of "teen-ager". She had her thirteenth birthday last week.

Hazel didn't seem to feel any older as the mama of a teen.

The Grahams had their first fresh okra of the season Friday, thanks to Mrs. Felix Monroe. The big, middle-sized and little men in the family, all enjoyed the treat.

Our appreciation to Mrs. Monroe. Sure was good.

The Grahams like to go places. They also like road maps. And we never get home without getting on the wrong road and going umpteen miles out of the way, at least once. We are famous for failing to see signs that say "detour." Too, we never make a round trip without managing to hit, somewhere along the line, many miles of "road under construction."

We have been known to ford a creek or two to keep from going back the long way, because we missed a detour. But regardless, it is always fascinating. And needless to say, we are the navigator, which might explain the reason for some of our problems.

Our husband is the driver and self-elected heckler of the navigator. You know how it is! "If YOU weren't charting our course, maybe we wouldn't be in Clovis when we were trying to get to Mule-shoe." Stuff like that!

He didn't have the heart to rebuke us, when we took the short route on the map and averaged 30 miles an hour through the middle of the Ozark mountains recently, instead of the far-away route, on the red highways. He'd just say "we really saw the country on that trip." We did too!

But we wouldn't change it. Bet we are the only people in the world who can take 250 miles to get to Silvertown, our home town, which is only 110 miles for most drivers,

AND TALL, TOO—Creating quite a bit of discussion around the northeastern part of the county these days is the tall sorghum alnum crop of Harold Joe Wells, above.

Harold Joe Wells Grows New Grass

There's a new grass growing in Parmer County that shows promise of being adaptable to permanent pasture conditions. It's name is sorghum alnum, which when pronounced, makes the speaker sound as if he is tongue-tied.

However, Harold Joe Wells, Friona farmer, believes that sorghum alnum may turn out to be a lot more useful to Plains farmers than when used in a pronunciation exercise.

He is growing six acres of the tall, luxuriant plant on his farm north of Friona, and the passer-by likely would mistake the unusual plant for sudan or Johnson grass. However, it is not.

It is being introduced to the Plains by a Wellington seed man, who claims that it will "stand the drought well, that cattle prefer it, and that it will produce more tonnage of green forage than any other grazing grass, with less expense and less delay in getting to use it."

Harold Lillard and Eric Rushing also are interested in the unusual grass, and are growing some this year.

Wells' sorghum alnum now is doing fine after being planted May 1. He intends to sell it for seed. It cost him $4 a pound to obtain seed for his planting.

He is estimating his yield to be somewhere between 1,000 and 2,000 pounds per acre.

Wells, who has watered the grass three times, believes that it has good possibilities for irrigated permanent pasture. It lasts four years from one stand, and usually produces the heaviest in its fourth year.

He says an article in the June issue of Progressive Farmer illustrated the work being done by the Wellington seed man.

Sorghum alnum, claim promoters, is a sweeter grass than Sudan, and cattle prefer it for that reason. It is supposed to have originated in New Zealand. Although it has many characteristics of Sudan and Johnson, it is supposed to be easily eradicated by plowing once the farmer is through with it.

It is advertised as being able to graze two cows per acre under dryland conditions, for six months out of the year. For this reason, Wells believes that the grass will be a "natural" for dryland ranges in the Southwest, and that seed production may become important.

Market Still Firm In Potato Deal

Market conditions for potatoes grown in the Friona and Lariat areas were still reported favorable this week by area producers. Spuds were selling all the way from $5 to $6.50 a hundred.

The lowest the market has seen this season is $4.75, which is considered anything but disastrous. Yields are running from 200 to 250 sacks of No. 1's.

County Fair Gets Scratched

Directors of the Parmer County Fair & Dairy Show decided this week not to attempt to stage the annual show this fall. It will be the first time in 12 years that the county has been without the harvest time exhibition.

Secretary-Treasurer Bill Sheehan, in making the announcement, said that the directors of the fair who could be contacted decided that lack of interest this year would make it very difficult to have a successful fair.

The death of Floyd Schlenker, who was president of the Association, was a contributing factor, and added to other troubles, the condition of the fair barns is poor. Major remodeling was felt to be necessary before they would be acceptable for any show to which the public would be invited.

On the board of directors are Sheehan, Clyde Hays, vice-president, Arlin Hartzog, John Getz, J. T. Gee, Eugene Boggess and Walter Kaltwasser. Joe Jones, county agent, is general superintendent.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

We have reached the time of the year when it is very easy to tell what kind of a job of irrigating a farmer is doing. The kind of weather we have been having sure makes it show up.

In a large number of fields, the crop is suffering to some degree from lack of moisture. In many cases, this is caused by not having enough water to irrigate as often as it should be watered. On the other hand, much of the cause is poor use of water that is available. It certainly looks bad to pass a field and see the crop suffering from lack of moisture and at the same time see tail water running off of the farm. One is made to wonder why farmers continue to let this happen.

Some farmers have been asking about planting vetch between sorghum middles. The seeding rate per acre should be from 10 to 14 pounds of good seed. The planting dates range from July 15 to October 15. The district has specially adapted seeders for this job. You may rent one by contacting one of the district supervisors.

Last week was National Farm Safety Week. Here are a few figures to impress on our minds the importance of safety on the farm.

In 1954, farming had a grand total of 2,100,000 injured. This year we are told that we can expect 1,100 farmers to be killed on the farm. Although the tractor is a farm machine and should not be operated on the highway, one-third of these tractor fatalities will occur on the highway.

Sixteen percent of the people killed by tractors will be children under 10 years of age. The monetary loss according to the National Safety Council is $1.5 billion each year.

Let's practice farm safety every day in the year.

The American farmer uses more petroleum power on his tractors, trucks, automobiles, and self-propelled implements than is used by all other industries combined.

Black bear are found in the Big Bend country of Texas.

1 cup sifted flour
Fat for frying
3-4 cup water
2 tsp. vinegar
1 tsp. prepared mustard
1 tsp. brown sugar
2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. chopped onion
2 c. canned tomatoes
1 1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/4 tsp. chopped garlic

Wash chicken, pat dry with a paper towel. Cut into serving pieces. Flour, coating each piece thoroughly. Heat fat until hot but not smoking. Fry chicken until golden brown. Blend together a small amount of water with 2 tsp. of the flour. Add the remaining 3/4 c. of water. Mix well with the remaining list of ingredients. Drain excess fat from chicken. Pour sauce over chicken, cover; simmer an hour or until tender. Takes less time for broilers. Makes 4 servings.

After the Lazbuddie 4-H Club meeting the other day, I found out that Katherine, Beverly and Mrs. Jack Smith were planning to paper their living room this week. This will be added to Katherine's and Beverly's 4-H record of home improvement. I like the way this family works together. I visited in their home not too long ago and all were busy, Katherine washing dishes, Beverly and Mrs. Smith ironing. They also play together. Have heard reports of family fun. You know this is a homey philosophy, but if more families worked and played together there would be less worry about juvenile delinquency in the U. S. today.

Anaerobic, produced by Capitol Sanitation Company of Austin, Texas, is now on the market and available to the public and cities for the treatment of sewage disposal. Capitol Sanitation laboratories have been serving cities throughout the United States with these products, and their technicians are ever searching for a condition that our product could not handle.

Today we can say that we have been able to take care of most all of the problems of the treatment of septic tanks, city sewage lines and disposal plants for seventeen years.

The septic tank is a device utilizing the theory of anaerobic digestion just as our large municipal sewage treatment plants practice, however the septic tank is more subject to upsets due to the fact that the waste is from one household or establishment and not a mixture of wastes that may tend to counteract each other, becoming balanced by the time it reaches the city plant. In the septic tank an extra amount of bleaching material, strong acids, or alkalis may kill off certain strains of bacteria, and promote the growth of others, causing the contents to become out of balance they cannot do their job (decompose the organic matter).

The new building, which is to be at the intersection of Main and 11th Street, will be a brick structure "as modern as any in town," the partners announce, and "something the area will be proud of."

One side of the building will be used for real estate, the other for insurance.

Douglas has been in business in Friona for four years. Bingham has maintained his office at the Hub for two years, having bought out Alvin Glascock earlier this year.

Some Friona Farmers Try Carrot Growing

A few Friona farmers are venturing into the field of carrot production this summer, after a successful season with potatoes has generated interest anew in vegetable growing.

Hardy May, east of Friona, has 45 acres up and coming, and reports the crop is progressing satisfactorily. Although this is his first year to try the rabbit specialty, he says that the carrots have come up to a good stand.

Others who are giving carrots a whirl are Kenneth Christi, who has 20 acres, and Herman Neff, who is growing 40. There likely are other producers in the northeastern part of the county who have been attracted by the interest in vegetables in the Hereford area.

Valsing of Hereford is furnishing a "package deal" to encourage producers. Under this arrangement, the company supplies the fertilizer, seed, and oil needed for spraying. They will go up to $50 per acre on this basis. Return from the sale of the carrots will be split with the vegetable-producing concern.

May is hoping for a yield of around 10 tons per acre this fall, which is considered a good average. The market at the present time is $40 per ton, and Hereford growers who planted earlier this year have been quite pleased with the income.

As for himself, May says he is growing carrots to sell—not to eat. He doesn't like their taste. "I'd just as soon eat a piece of wood, myself," he says.

PARMER GETS 9 WELLS

Statistics from the office of the High Plains Water District in Lubbock show that Parmer County farmers drilled nine new irrigation wells in June.

Every foot of exploratory hole drilled last year cost oil men an average of $24.30.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

The newest diet we have read about was based on coffee. There seems to be no end to the things that someone thinks up for fat people. Someone has suggested that the best thing for anyone who is overweight to do is to do some push backs. Push back from the table, that is.

For those of you who like chocolate cake, here is a recipe which we like very much. It was given to us by Louisa Wilson several years ago.

PRIZE CHOCOLATE CAKE

- 1 cup shortening
 - 2 eggs
 - 2 cups sugar
 - 3 1 oz. squares unsweetened chocolate
 - 2 1/2 cups cake flour
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon soda
 - 1 cup sour milk
 - 2 teaspoons vanilla
- Thoroughly cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time beating thoroughly after each addition. Add melted chocolate and mix well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with sour milk and vanilla. Bake in three layers in a moderate oven. Ice with soft fudge icing.
- 4 1/2 cups sugar
 - 6 tablespoons butter
 - 1 tall can condensed milk
- Combine above ingredients and boil four minutes. Pour over two packages chocolate chips and one pint marshmallow cream. Stir until smooth. Then add a pinch of salt and one teaspoon vanilla.
- This icing can be eaten for fudge or stored in the refrigerator, then melted over hot water and used for icing.

"Build a better mouse trap and the world will beat a path to your door." Now, if we just knew who came up with the idea that carbonated water is fatal to mice, we might see a path being beaten to his door. Ever since we read about using carbonated water as a mouse killer, our curiosity has been aroused.

If we are fortunate enough to trap a mouse without killing him, we are going to find out whether he will survive after drinking carbonated water. The idea seems to be that mice are not equipped with facilities to belch and the gas that forms on their stomachs kills them.

Any time we see pictures of pretty things to sew, it is just about impossible for us to resist the temptation to buy material and patterns. Getting things made is a much bigger job at our house than getting the materials and patterns.

The things that are being shown for fall are very tempting. Never before have we seen prettier fabrics and designs. If anyone has a good idea for getting about half a dozen garments made in one day, we surely do need it.

Think all teachers of sewing tell their pupils that it is never wise to deviate from the instructions that are with the pattern. That is good advice, we feel sure. However, as we were making a blouse one evening last week, we made a change that worked very good.

The instructions called for a zipper placket. The zipper was to be opened from the bottom and sewn in the side seam. Since the blouse was form fitting, getting the zipper in just right was a problem. After trying to figure an easy way to get the zipper in just right, we decided to move it over to the seam in the center back.

Zippers in the center back of any garment are so very easy to sew in that we have been putting them in skirts and dresses that way for a long time. Now that will be the place for them in blouses, too. Don't know why someone didn't think of locating them there a long time ago. Zipper feet are not needed if you use the center back idea.

Here's something that just about fits all of us. The author is anonymous. "In controversial matters, my perception's rather fine. I always see both points of view, the one that's wrong, and mine."

PORTABLE LIGHT TURNS NIGHT INTO DAY FOR WORK OR PLAY

Outdoor work areas on farms can be utilized in the cool of the night now that portable outdoor lighting is available. Tractor or farm machinery preventive maintenance, usually hot daytime work, can be made reasonably pleasant and at a time when the machines are not in active production. Added bonus, of course, is the use of these portable lights for entertaining, croquet, table tennis, or other nighttime outdoor activities. Also, night-flying insects tend to go to the light source; consequently, they stay up high (13 feet) and annoyance is reduced.

ANAEROBICUL

Is a biochemical inoculum compound containing multiple strains of bacteria, and the enzymes formed by these bacteria during the incubation (culturing) period. These bacteria are blended into proper food mediums to sustain them, and also to furnish quick available food as soon as they become moist or wet.

This compounded product contains the anaerobic and facultative type organisms utilized in anaerobic digestion systems such as: Imhoff tanks, separate sludge digesters, grease traps, septic tanks, cesspools, etc.

Remember: When you practice good sanitation, you are practicing preventative medicine.

HEALTHY HYBRIDS—If you want to see how hybrid grain sorghums are showing up against common types such as Martin's and Caprock, the Rene Snead farm at the Hub is the place to do it. Here Rene shows how he has carefully marked each variety in order to distinguish the strains.

Hybrid Sorghums Growing in Parmer

You may think that hybrid grain sorghums are still in the future, but if you look around a little bit, you will discover that a considerable number of the area's farms are blossoming forth with small and large plots of this new development in small grain production on the Plains.

Most of the farmers who have hybrids this year are planting only a few rows or acres to the new seed. These are primarily "experimenters" who want to see how hybrids will measure up to other common varieties which have been grown on the Plains for years.

A few farmers have obtained seed from commercial sources and have considerable acreage. Their numbers are very limited, however.

The largest group of hybrid growers in the county are those working in cooperation with the county agent's office. Seed was secured through Agent Joe Jones from experiment station locations.

One of the most interesting projects of this kind is the farm of Rene Snead of the Hub community in central Parmer County, where six varieties of hybrids are growing side-by-side with Martin's Milo and Caprock.

Four of the hybrids, Texas Nos. 660, 620, 590, and 611, are from the agent's office, and two, DeKalb Nos. E-56 and F-62, were furnished by that company.

All are separately marked and are receiving identical treatment.

They will be harvested and weighed separately in order that results may be exactly compared.

Right now, one variety looks much like another, and without the signs detailing which rows are which, it would be hard to tell the difference. The two DeKalb varieties are the only ones which appear strikingly different. They have fan-shaped, open heads.

Snead, who says that judgment shouldn't be passed until after the combines have done their work and the grain weighed in, admits that in appearances at least, the hybrids aren't too impressive.

"That hybrid maize will sure have to go some to beat my Martin's," he declared, as he looked across the field.

Snead's farm is considered an ideal site for experiments of this nature. First, he is centrally located at the intersection of Highway 86 and the Muleshoe-Friona farm-to-market road.

Then, his land is of the mixed type, representing a compromise between the tight clays to the north and the sandier soil to the south. His place lays well, and he is regarded as a top farmer.

Agent Jones recommended that persons interested in seeing how the test is progressing stop by where they can see for themselves the different strains under identical conditions.

Snead pre-irrigated the field, and has irrigated twice. He planned to irrigate again this week. The crops are on land that was in cotton last year, and an application of 66 pounds of anhydrous ammonia was applied for a nitrogen boost.

The hybrids are getting a test on dryland, too. John West of the Oklahoma Lane community is growing nine varieties on an un-irrigated tract.

Others who are trying out the hybrids (all irrigated) are Cecil Winegeart, Gilbert Kaltwasser, Walter Kaltwasser, Oklahoma Lane; Ed Steinbock (35 acres of Texas 620), John McGee, Ben Foster and Jack Smith, Lazbuddie; Arlin Hartzog, Bovina; Melvin Sachs, Rhea; Taft Lovett, Friona; Bruce Parr, Black; James Mabry, Hub; and Leon Langford, Farwell.

A list of those who obtained seed commercially is not available.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

One of the newest Farm Bureau members is Glenn D. Welch. Mr. Welch and family live northwest of Bovina, where he is employed by James Readhimer.

We are glad to see most farmers who use gasoline as a farm fuel filing for the 2c federal road tax refund. Next year, it will be a 3c refund, making a total of 8c per gallon exemption. Farm Bureau has championed both the state and federal road tax exemptions for farm-used fuels. This channels approximately thirty-two thousand dollars back to the pockets of Parmer County farmers each year.

According to USDA reports, real markets, including exports for farm products, are looking somewhat better. We are hoping that milo market prices will exceed the loan offer enough that it will move from the field to market, instead of into government storage. Some wheat went that way this season, and a trend continuing in that direction would, we believe, bring relief to producers exceeding any government assistance possible.

Senate Bill 1135 is one we hope doesn't get far. It proposes making Civil Air Patrol and similar civilian defense project workers, auxiliary military members. The promise of disability and retirement benefits for workers and members of their families is being used to promote the bill. A few moves in that direction would put most Americans under direct supervision of military heads. A majority of independent civilian families is necessary to a continuing democratic nation like ours.

If farmers will take as much interest in the establishment of the Texas Research Foundation substation as their bankers and other business friends have expressed so far, we believe it will be established. The proposed project would benefit the farmer first, and the interest of others is significant.

CONSIDER THIS: Be thou diligent to know the state of thy flocks, and look well to thy herds. Proverbs 27:23.

According to tradition, the first printed news sheet appeared in Nuremberg, Germany in 1457. It was called The Gazette.

English Farm Student Visits

A mutual interest in the breeding of the Southdown sheep, and in farming in general, has helped to bring together two young men, one American and the other English, for the second time. The young Englishman was a guest in the home of his friend and his family, Cary Joe Magness, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Magness, the past week.

John Craig, the 24-year-old Englishman, who is visiting the United States as a representative of rural young people in England under the International Farm Youth Exchange, and the local boy met one another when Cary Joe was stationed in Europe with the Army. Cary Joe, during a leave, toured several countries and while in England, inquired about visiting a farm which was noted for its Southdown sheep. He was referred to the farm of John Craig Sr.

There he met John Craig Jr. for the first time. When the new friend learned that he had been selected as a representative to tour this country, he wrote Cary Joe, hoping they could see one another again.

The IFYE is a project of the National 4-H Club Foundation.

After eight weeks of living on farms in New Mexico in conjunction with IFYE program, John was given a week to spend as he wished and he chose to visit his friend in Farwell.

John lives in the village of Ringmer, Lewes Sussex England, where he is associated with his father in farming 1100 acres. Milk is the main enterprise, and crops of wheat and potatoes are grown commercially. Oats, hay and silage are farmed for use on the farm. The Craigs have a flock of 200 Southdown sheep. Besides John and his one brother, 23 full-time workers are employed on the farm. John Sr. is principally occupied with business committees and duties having to do with agriculture, the young man says, and leaves much of the farm management to his partner, John's uncle. Cary Joe explains that the older Craig is one of the better known livestock judges in England.

Employees of the farm have cottages there on the farm.

Asked about equipment used on the 1100 acres, John named five tractors and five horses, also miscellaneous machinery. He added that the tractors on the farm are all manufactured in the United States. The horses are used for carting feedstuff and carting off root crops when the ground is too wet for heavy crops. The Craig estate is unusual in that only about three percent of English farms can boast this many acres.

John was interviewed by two selection committees before he went before the third committee in London to determine his eligibility for being a representative of IFYE. Nineteen young people from the United Kingdom were named to make the trip. One of the qualifications is that those selected must be a member of the Young Farmer (4-H) club.

He has been a member for 11 years, and has at one time held most of the club offices.

He left his home country May 4 and docked in New York on the Britannica on May 12. After five days orientation in Washington, he took the bus for New Mexico, the state assigned to him, as his host state. He stayed with six different families, trying to grasp the routine of farm life in that area.

His next stop was Farwell, and his host showed him every phase of farming in this area. He has seen the irrigation procedures, the feed lots in the area, the elevators, and a seed plant where he learned something about seed production.

Just for fun, a group of young men took him to Alamogordo to try his luck at water skiing. John wasn't too excited about his ability at the sport, although he considered it a unique experience.

According to his observations, he has noticed little difference in the methods of land conservation in the United States and England. They do not irrigate on their 1100-acre tract, but several experiment stations in the country are testing feasibility of irrigation for England. The most impressive feature about his visit has been the people. "People are so friendly," he says, and too, "you have to go a long way to get anywhere here."

The Craig farm is situated on the South Downs, a range of hills where the Southdown sheep originated. It is an old farming section, and John thought their farm had been in cultivation at least since the 1300's. Their Village Church dates back to that time.

The farm is situated only a few miles from the English channel and elevation is 20 feet ranging to about 400 feet near the Downs. Average rainfall is 25 inches, and temperature this time of year is usually from 65 to 75 degrees.

The visitor left Farwell Sunday morning for Ames, Iowa, for a 4-day conference with the other delegates, before he goes to Maryland for more study on farming practices. He will return to England September 19 on the Queen Mary.

Explaining the Farm Youth Exchange project further, this project is designed so farm youth from the U. S. can live and work with farm families in other countries, and vice versa. The Exchange now includes about 50 countries.

The project is dedicated to the belief that understanding people is the foundation of world peace, and by learning another way of life by living it, rural young people can better understand the problems and attitudes of those in other parts of the world.

Participants have farm experience, secondary school education, faith in the project, and a desire to know and understand other people.
