READING AND WRITING

By John Selby

INTEGRITY: THE LIFE OF GEORGE W. NORRIS, by Richard L. Neuberger and Stephen B. Kahn (New York: Doubleday, $3); "A MAVERICK AMERICAN", by Maury Maverick (Covici-Friede, $3).

Two helpful biographies of two valuable political figures fell from the presses almost simultaneously. Of the two "Integrity: The Life of George W. Norris" is perhaps most ordered.

Perhaps it is too ordered, and certainly it is too inclined to accept opinion for fact. The authors are Richard L. Neuberger and Stephen B. Kahn, and their admiration for Senator Norris is almost pathetic at times. Their book reads as if the good senator were standing over them with a whip, ready to take a slash if they grew caustic.

But on the other hand, Norris is one of the most curious of contemporary political figures, a man who started out a regular Republican, but was too adept at putting two and two together to remain a regular anything — except a regular Norris — ite. Nearly every regulation he advocated and was biased for has since come to be accepted generally. He was against war when that course was dangerous. He advocated labor unions as labor's one secure weapon, and fought the anti-labor injunctions through the years. His demand for adequate utilities regulations is actually only an echo. The demand really comes from the "little men" out in Nebraska, who insist that Norris is re-elected.

The curious quiet in which Norris works is very unpolitical, and often conceals facts of importance. One example will have to suffice. It was not Roosevelt, the author of "Integrity" points out, who started the active fight against "reactionary" supreme court judges, but Norris.

Maury Maverick, "A Maverick American" is probably an autobiography, although there is plenty of reason for calling it almost anything else. It is sometimes explosive, like its author. It is full of fact, propaganda, philosophy, humor, and of incidents such as Maverick's study of the Texas tramp. He wanted to know about them, so he became one.

1922 Club Members Are Luncheon Guests Of Mrs. E. O. Price

Mrs. E. O. Price was hostess to members of the 1922 Bridge Club Tuesday and entertained with luncheon at the concession building on scenic mountain.

At games of bridge, Mrs. M. H. Bennett was awarded high score prize and Mrs. O. E. Wolfe, second high. The winners were given attractive tea-pots, as prizes.

Members present were Mrs. J. Y. Robb, Mrs. Wolfe, Mrs. Bob Middleton, Mrs. Roy Carter, Mrs. V. V. Strahan, Mrs. E. O. Price, Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Joseph T. Hayden.

Centerpiece To Crochet

By RUTH ORR

Pattern No. 322

A lacy crocheted centerpiece can do wonders toward improving a dinner table between meals. This one is made in lilet crochet. It works up in a jiffy. The finished size is about 20x34 inches. We also have a design for a buffet set (No. 373) and a runner (No. 394) that match this.

The pattern envelope contains complete, easy-to-understand illustrated directions, with block and space diagrams to aid you; also what crochet hook and what material and how much you will need.

To obtain this pattern, send for No. 322 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Buffet set No. 373 and runner No. 394 each cost 10 cents; send 20 cents for two; 30 for all three. Address: Big Spring Daily Herald, Needlework Department, P. O. Box 172 Station D, New York, N. Y.

Beta Iota Chapter Of Beta Sigma Phi Plan To Meet Weekly

Members of the Beta Iota Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi voted to meet in weekly sessions at a meeting held last evening in the home of the educational director, Mrs. W. J. McAdams.

Plans for the years work were discussed and it was decided to complete the first course of study by October, during which month the first real course of study will be taken up.

A social hour was enjoyed and the hostess served refreshing punch with tasty cakes and candies. The refreshment plate carried out the color note of black and gold.

Personnel includes Miss Elizabeth Northington, Miss Mary Burns, Miss Anne Zafaronetti, Miss Evelyn Archer, Miss Marguerite Alderson, Mrs. B. T. Cardwell and Mrs. McAdams.

First Session At Camp Mary White Closes Recently

The first two weeks session at Camp Mary White, at which three Big Spring girls are enrolled, Camp Phillips, Janice Slaughter and Jacqueline Faw, ended with a bang recently when the traditional "Mexican Night" came to a close.

Emily Ingam Hall was decorated to resemble the market place in Juarez, Mexico, complete with gay blankets, strings of onions and carrots, and even a side of bacon hanging on the wall.

Mexican food was served and every camper was in Mexican costume, as were many of the guests. Each unit entertained the audience with a Mexican specialty of some kind and the staff members did a mock bull fight. The climax of the evening was a game "Pinata," when a representative from each unit and the staff competed in trying to break a jar suspended from the ceiling while blindfolded. When the jar was finally shattered by a lucky contestant there was a shower of Mexican candy, "La Corona."

Guests for the evening were Mrs. Jess Slaughter and son of Big Spring, Mrs. Louis Roar of Tulsa, Okla., Eunice Tilley of Dallas, Miss and Mrs. Guy Cowden, Marjorie Cowden, Guy Tom, Cowden, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Lawrence of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Wilson.

Bank Settles 4-Cent Salary Debt Due Messenger Boy 39 Years Ago

MINNEAPOLIS, July 14 (UP)—It took 39 years, but J. P. H. Brombush, manager of the safekeeping department of the First National Bank & Trust Co., finally succeeded in collecting the 4 cents the bank and Francis A. Chamberlain executive committee chairman have owed him for all these years. It came about like this: In 1897, Chamberlain, then cashier of the Security National Bank, which later merged with the First National, hired Brombush as a messenger boy. His salary was to have been $100 the first year. His pay was given him monthly and amounted to $33.

Those payments amounted to only $99.96. And for some reason the bank never made up the odd 4 cents. For 40 years Brombush continued his services to the bank, being promoted finally to head of the safekeeping department. On completion of his 40th year, 4 cents to Chamberlain, the executive committee was called. And it was voted to settle the long standing account. The 4 cents was paid. Brombush agreed to waive the interest, which would have amounted to about 6 cents.

The executive committee explained that the 4 cents will come out of the bank's contingency fund, created to "meet just such emergencies."

Mishaps Take Lives Of Five

Highway Crashes Are Fatal To Three In Texas

By the Associated Press
Five Texans died violent accidental deaths yesterday. Three were injured fatally in highway mishaps. Jesse Lee Warren, 30, of Mount Pleasant, died of a slashed jugular vein after his car swerved from highway one and plunged into a creek bed.

Fifteen-month-old Charlie Lynn Irish of Center was killed by a car as Sadie Mae Marshall, 10, carried her across a street. The older girl was injured critically.

G. R. Brooks, 54, of San Saba, who fell under his own truck as it was being towed, died yesterday in a Goldthwaite hospital.

W. J. Skinner, 48, perished of burns and a skull injury inflicted when a sawmill boiler at Texarkana exploded. Two other men were injured.

George W. Gunn, 30-year-old iron worker of San Antonio, fell 35 feet to his death while he worked on a construction job.

HELD IN JAIL

LAREDO, July 14 (AP)—Tom J. Dix and W. B. Dix, operators of a refinery in Laredo, were held in the Webb county jail today after bondsmen withdrew from a case in which the brothers were charged with transporting in interstate commerce from Chicago to Laredo 73 allegedly fraudulent $1,000 bonds.

HOUSE BETTER

Marvin K. House, who has been ill of bronchitis for several days, was reported better Wednesday.

Jean Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Robinson, underwent a tonsillectomy at Bliving hospital Tuesday morning.

Every Vacation Calls For Bread - And - Butter Letters

By JOAN DURHAM
AP Feature Service Writer
Every vacationer faces one bugbear—the bread-and-butter letter. No matter where a vacationer goes there is someone who should be thanked for kindnesses or services. Add a short thank-you note will leave a very pleasant after-taste, even if it isn't absolutely necessary.

The week-end hostess, the suburban resident who entertains at a supper party, the favorite aunt who invites her niece-to-be to spend a week with her—all should be thanked by letter.

Write Soon
Those letters should be written neatly in pen and ink. (Typewritten letters are not taboo, however, for the habitual user of the typewriter.) They should be as friendly and enthusiastic as circumstances permit. And the sooner they are written the shorter they may be.

Every letter—business or social—has six parts: the return address, date, salutation (Dear George), body, closing (Sincerely yours) and signature.

Most letter writers know that the address goes in the upper right-hand corner of the stationery, the date comes underneath. It is separated by a double space, and the salutation comes third—written on the left-hand side of the page about a double space below the date.

Once they get their letters started, most of them can get most of the way through their epistles without too much hesitation.

Proper Closing
When they reach the conclusion, however, they nearly always face a mental debate.

Closings fall into three categories: formal, semi-formal and informal. Examples of suitable conclusions are:

Formal business letter—"Yours truly,"

Formal social letter—"Sincerely yours,"

Friendly, yet not intimate letter—"Most sincerely yours" or "Yours as always,"

Intimate—"Affectionately yours," "With love," or "Devotedly yours."

The expression "Gratefully yours" is used only when a great favor has been done.

"Respectfully yours" implies that the writer is socially inferior to the person to whom the letter is written.

LIQUOR CANNOT STAND THE LIGHT OF TRUTH

Repeat At Its Worst

Over one and one-third million girls working in liquor-selling places in this country; one roadhouse is sending word to high school students that on every Friday and Saturday night free beer will be given to any high school pupil who comes in and mentions the fact that he is a pupil of such and such a high school; liquor-selling places are deliberately being made attractive in order to entice the very best young people; quiet, decorum, comfort are maintained by strong-armed men in order to deceive and convince the public that alcohol under control is desirable and harmless. This is the situation we face under repeal.

Recently I went with a reporter into the bars of four of the finest hotels in New York to see how control with a capital "C" works, to see liquor drinking when it was considered respectable, I felt as if I was sitting on a volcano. We were told by the man in authority that they enforced quiet. No one would be allowed to remain who lifted his or her voice. They would not sell to one becoming affected. It is their intention and determination to keep the place respectable. What becomes of the patrons who are ushered out, sometimes forcibly, is no concern of the management. The place must be kept respectable to convince the public that liquor drinking can be made respectable.

What I saw was, in my opinion, repeal at its worst. It is more insidious, more deceitful, more dangerous than where the cause and effect are permitted to be apparent. Where will these young people be three or four years from now after once the appetite is started? One will need to go to the garish-lighted "hid in off" type of place to find them. They would not already arrived at the police court or alcoholic ward. It would be far better to require a finished product be displayed at every drinking place if we are really considering the welfare of our future generation than to try to fool ourselves that the effect of a poison may be changed by swallowing it in a palace instead of a hotel, and then hiring a prize-fighter to carry out the victims before others present may see the effect and be warned of the danger.—Editorial by Mamie W. Colvin. — (Submitted by the local WCTU.)

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— Without Colic—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just sits in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your eyes are sore and you feel sour, and the world looks pink.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A more better movement down't get at the cause. I just discovered good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "top not". It's simple, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Substitutes reduce anything else.

THE SPORTS PARADE

By HANK HART

Tonight would be a good time for some of the postponed softball games to be played off. Wednesday is an off day and the lights will be dark unless some of the managers get together and arrange something.

Tex Watkins punches directly over Olle Erickson's heart in last night's bout at the wrestling arena. Sometimes prove fatal. The punishment the Swede took was pitiful to watch. Referee Ray Clements had to assist him from the ring while Tex began his strut that lasted until the timekeeper rang for the next bout.

All three of the games in the major leagues yesterday was decided by one-run margins. Joe Moore, the Texas thin man, opened up against Clyde Passeau, St. Johnson and Hugh Mulcahy to garner five hits in the Giants' 11-10 conquest of the Phillies. The former Coleman player is really one of the most valuable men in either league and compares with Sammy West and Joe DiMaggio as a fielder.

The A. P. tell us that Natic Brown walked one Tony Shucro in Fenway park, Boston, last night. Both figured in the fight news several months ago as fall guys for the contenders but Shucro refused to fall. He took on Jack Scharkey in the former champion's attempted comeback and beat him in ten rounds. Brown was knocked out by Joe Louis in four heats following the negro boys toiling battle with Max Schmeling.

Alice Marble may have plenty of competition in defending her national singles title won last year at Forest Hills. However, if the Polish girl, Jadwiga Jedrejowska, (pronounced Yod-vi ga Yed-zag-yof-ska, making matters more complicated than ever) comes across to try her luck the Californian may find it harder than she expects.

Cleaning the cuff: Ben Chapman's recent outburst against Umpire John Quinn should help him tremendously with the Boston fans but he should be with the Dodgers. He was fined $50 and suspended three days but it isn't the first time. While with the Yanks in 1933, the year the Washington Senators won the title, Bennie, in a game with the Sens, slid into Buddy Myer with his spikes up and Buddy bristled. Chapman wasted little time in throwing fists and was ejected from the field. Whereupon he caught one of Earle Whitehill's remarks as he was passing the Washington dugout and let him have it squarely in the eye. Whitehill sported a shiner for several days. And speaking of brawls the whole American League is going to have it in for Jake Powell soon. It was Jake who fractured Hank Greenberg's wrist two years ago.

Competes In Pole Vault With Varoff

DALLAS, July 14 (AP)—A star-studded field of world, Olympic and national record-holders will perform at the four-day Pan-American games starting here Thursday as part of the Pan-American Exposition.

Track and field events Friday and Saturday will witness 10 Americans with national or world marks pit their abilities against athletes from 21 Central and South American nations.

The entire program will be staged at night in the Cotton Bowl on the exposition grounds as a free attraction.

Argentina's famed soccer team will start an international tournament with the Trenton, N. J. Highlanders, American champions in the initial event Thursday with Canada's Winnipeg Irish club as a third contender.

Earle Meadows, U. S. C. sensation and a native Texan, has warned officials to provide pole vault standards of sufficient height when he attempts a 15-foot ceiling. He holds the unofficial world record at 14 feet, 11 inches, with Bill Sefton, a team mate. Competition will include George Varoff, who holds the listed world record of 14 feet, 6 1/2 inches, and Cornelius Warner, another sky-reacher from Fresno State College.

Also spotlighted will be a 1,500-meter classic renewing the rivalry between Glenn Cunningham, famed runner, and Archie San Romani, his fellow-Kansas Empire (Kan.) State Teacher. Cunningham conquered Romani when the latter fell in a recent duel.

Elroy Robinson, Fresno's crack middle distance ace, who set up new world records for the half mile and 800 meters in the labor athletic carnival at Randall's Island New York, Sunday, will tangle with Johnny Woodruff, lean pit negro, over the 880 yard route. Woodruff, the Olympic 800 meter champion, passed up the half mile at Randall's Island to take a crack at Cunningham and San Romani in the mile and wound up a badly beaten fourth.

The entry list also included such brilliants as Jack Weierhauser, Olympic club American 200-meter title-holder; Davis Ebbittson, Ohio State, and Cornelius Johnson, U. S. C. co-holders of the world's high jump record; Alton Terry, Hardin-Simmons University's American juvenile king, and Ken Carpenter, American and Olympic discus champion.

and it was this same lad who crashed into Marvel Owens early this season. Luckily he didn't hurt Joe Kubel when the two collided a week ago but the Washington fans started taking it out on him and probably will continue to ride him during the remaining days of this season.

Entry List Closes For Tournament

Field Seems To Be Lacking In Brilliance This Year

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—Entries for the national amateur golf tournament close today, and unless there are a half dozen Bobby Jones and Lawson Little hidden in the field, amateur golf in the United States likely will continue as a side show for the professional game.

Time was when the "love of the game" golfers could spot the pros two or three championships and still emerge with the best and brightest. Back in the early 1900's Walter J. Travis, Jerome Travers and Chick Evans played some pretty fair golf.

Next came Bobby Jones. Some of the fellows who were contemporaries of Jones are still playing—but not regularly. Jay Sweetser plays in the minor tournaments and yearly for the Sweetser victory cup. George Von Elm turned pro and Lawson Little followed him.

On the basis of last year's best, Johnny Fischer who beat Jack McLean to take the 1936 championship, is the leading amateur. With him at the top are Johnny Goodman, Reynolds Smith Scotty Campbell, Walter Emery Ed White, and Harry Givan, 1935 Walker cuppers.

The list of players coming up does not include any name that threatens the fading greats.

College golf is the principal source of supply, but it's pretty much a matter of tossing coins to pick the best among Fred Haas and Paul Leslie of Louisiana state; Chuck Kocsis, ex-Michigan star; Bill Barclay, another Wolverine of talent; Bobby Jacobson, the aptly named Dartmouth freshman; Vincent D'Antoni, Tulane; and Rufus King of Southern Methodist.

Columbus Back At AA With Colonel Win

CHICAGO, July 14 (AP)—The Columbus Red Birds were back on top today in the American Association struggle.

Bill McEee came up with another fine pitching job last night to help the Birds whip Louisville, 4 to 1.

FINCHER DEFEATS SHELL IN EXTRA INNINGS

Weber, Watkins And Mar-Allah Are Victors In Athletic Club's Bouts

Add two names to the membership of the hotstove leagues. Johnny Nemanic, who started things here as a main event, and Olle Erickson, a Swede who became too chummy with one Tex Watkins last night, are the lads who are reserving seats around the old fireplace.

Both experienced what it means to encounter men with nasty disposition last night. Erick had two strikes on him to begin with. He took the job of working with Watkins and the tar, sporting tape over one eye and a restlessness to defend a position for about ten of the twelve minutes the battle lasted. Sidewinding blows into the body put the European in that position.

Watkins finally fell on him with a simple body smother to gain the fall.

Nemanic made it second down for the newcomers and plenty to go when he was enjoined Shick Ben-Allah-Mar-Allah out of his good-naturedness into a slightly disagreeable warrior who insisted on playing unfair.

Johnny stayed for an half hour or more but his efforts were wasted. Mar-Allah stayed also.

Shicky won the first fall with an aerial spin and the third with a reversed Tokio special. Johnny escaped white-washing when he fell into a Japanese toe hold and held on until Referee Clements brushed his back.

Probably the most interesting bout of the evening was the second in which Victor Weber put out Jack Terry after gaining an assist through the ropes. The German was friendly enough until Terry stopped wrestling. Vic would have been willing to stop too, but the Ontario native decided to throw a fist or two. It would have been all right with Vic but for the fact that Terry every now and then connected with Weber's chin.

Finally they exchanged long legs. Terry crossed with a right and Vic retained with a left. It could have gone on like that, but definitely if referees had never been born but Clements stepped in and put an end to the haymakers and the boys went back to wrestling.

The New Yorker took more inside fighting despite Clements' insistence on clean fighting but when he turned the tide he altered the outlook quickly. Several body slams and an airplane spin put the Canadian away for good.

Manush Return Gladdens Fans

Associated Press Sports Writer—The calmest man in flatbush when Henry Emmett Manush was left off the National League's all star team was Henry Emmett Manush.

Brooklyn thought Henry Emmett (Heinie) to you, a National League "rookie" after 14 seasons in the junior circuit, richly deserved a place on the honor squad. At 35—he'll be 36 next Tuesday—Heinie might not be quite so fast as in 1926, when he won the American league batting championship, but at least he was powdering the ball.

Heinie just went on about his game, such as the ninth inning home run yesterday that gave the Dodgers a 2-1 decision over the Bees.

Yesterday's was only Heinie's fourth home run, yet, with 38 runs batted in, he leads his nearest teammate, Cookie Lavagetto, by six. He is tied at 335 with Joe Moore, the Giants' thin man who, after his five for six yesterday against the Phillies, is top slugger among the second place Tryer-men.

Moore was the big gun in a 2-0 hit Giant attack that required ten innings to nose out the Phils. 11-0. The last of Joe-Joe's five singles drove home the winning run.

In the only game in the American league, the Indians backed up Dennis Galehouse's 7-hit pitching with some snappy field to edge out the White Sox, 2-1.

The Cards and Pirates, only other National league entries scheduled, were rained out.

Kieberg and Harrison Best Golfers In House

By DILLON GRAHAM WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—A congressional golf tournament would produce a few under-the-scores, many "I'd broke" stories and a mammoth divot replacing a hole for links builders.

The legislators talk as good as back as their duffer constituents, but only a fistful of them can step to the first tee with any assurance their drives will land on the fairway.

About one-fifth of the senators and representatives come under the general category of golfers. Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi and Rep. Richard Kieberg of the West are recognized generally as the best of the lot.

The palm for persistency, however, goes to Rep. Will Rogers of Oklahoma. Barring hail or high water, Rogers bounces out of bed around 5 a. m. every day for a battle against par that so far has been unsuccessful, although he had old man par on the run several times.

Rogers is the only congressional swinger who has made an ace—at least, this year. He banged a midiron shot on the 160-yard second hole at the Soldier's Home course.

Harrison shoots in the high 70's. He is among those who play almost every Sunday in the exclusive breakfast foursomes at the Burn Tree course, where diplomat, supreme court justices, and congressmen compare cards for hooks and slices.

BAUGH ON ALL-STARS CHICAGO, July 14 (AP)—Stars of last year's Northwestern and Minnesota teams led today in first returns from the voting to "elect" a college squad to meet the Green Bay Packers in the fourth annual "All Star football game at Soldier's Hill, September 1.

Sammy Baugh, Texas Christian led the voting for quarterback. A floating excavator in the Umfolosi river, Zululand, frequently "digs up" crocodiles.

DEFENDER

Lee Henry (above) of Abilene, captain of the 1937 West Texas Mertz Cup team, is sending his golfers against a squadron of picked San Angelo golfers in defense of the cup. The West Texans won the cup from the Angoleans last year. The Mertz matches annually take place in Angelo before the qualifying rounds of the San Angelo invitational golf tournament begins.

Invaders Ahead In Mertz Play

SAN ANGELO, July 14 (AP)—Billie (Bob) Coffey of Fort Worth and Eudde Wheeler of Seymour had C. E. (Red) Covington and Hezlie Carson of San Angelo two down on the first nine holes in the Scotch foursome in Mertz cup play preliminary to the San Angelo country club's invitational tournament opening tomorrow. Marlon Altman and Bill Powell of San Angelo led J. C. Southworth of Sweetwater and J. P. Bohanon of Abilene one up in the first nine.

MARTIN COUNTY TO HAVE HD AGENT

STANTON, July 14 — Martin county farm women will again have the services of a county home demonstration agent, according to a decision of the county commissioners' court.

Choice of the young woman to fill the office awaits recommendation of Miss Kate Adele Hill, district extension officer. Demonstration work will begin in September.

Service of a demonstration agent were dispensed with during the depression years. Miss Joellene Vandy, now of Roby, having held the position last.

A number of country club women met with the court in the deciding session Monday.

Smugglers Worry Australia CANBERRA (UP)—The government has found it necessary to increase its fleet of sea-going launches for the suppression of poachers and especially narcotic smugglers. A new craft has been ordered constructed at a cost of $50,000 which will aid in the patrol off the Northern Australian waters.

Milstead In 4-1 Victory Over Ships

Morris Sands Aids In Tulsa Win Over Beaumont

By The Associated Press Tulsa snapped Beaumont's eight-game winning streak while San Antonio mauled the loop-leading Oklahoma Indians to feature last night's play in the Texas league.

The five-hit hurling of Lefty Milstead of the Oilers, coupled with a home run by Morris Sands to break a 1 to 1 deadlock in the eighth, blasted the Exporters out of the win column with a 4 to 1 defeat.

The high-flying Indians suffered a 9 to 1 walloping by the Missions who capitalized on the wildness of Ash Hillin, a former team mate, to rush over four scores. The victory evened a two-game series.

A ninth-inning run through Jim Stroner's second-base error and Chuck Hosteler's single gave Galveston a 3 to 4 victory over the Fort Worth Cats. Eddie Cole pitched four-hit ball for the winners.

Houston's Buffs swept a short series by administering a 5 to 3 beating to the tail-end Dallas nine when Manager Ira Smith rushed to Johnny Stevenson's rescue to halt a Steer rally.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—Don't let anyone kid you into betting there will be a Max Schmeling-Joe Louis heavyweight title match this year. Possibility is remote—even if Max changes his mind and comes down to earth in his financial demands. Here's why: Before Louis and Tommy Farr were signed for the Yankee stadium, Aug. 26, Jacobs had booked Louis into London against either Len Harvey or Jack Doyle. Jacobs sent his personal attorney, Sol Strauss, to England to square things with Arthur Evelyn, Wimbledon stadium promoter.

Evlin was a good sport. He stepped gracefully aside, saying he wouldn't think of standing in the way of another British boxer (Farr) getting a shot at the title. In return for this sportsmanship, Jacobs guaranteed Louis would go to London in September to fight either Harvey or Doyle under the Evlin banner. So Herr Schmeling must wait until next year, all because he was too arrogant to bother to reply to cables and letters. How does it feel back there behind the eight ball, Mister?

Collapsing of Hal Schumacher's arm recalls that Doc Scanlon, old big league pitcher, now a Brooklyn physician, predicted Schumacher's career would be short because of his unorthodox delivery. Jimmy Bradlock told a Brooklyn sports carnival he'd be ready for another fight in September and hopes it will be against Max Baer again.

Rumor has it next year's National League contracts will contain a clause making it mandatory for players selected to appear in the All-Star game. Suspicion is some of the boys have been giving the game the old duckaroo. Leo Kelly, who fights "Tiger" Jack Fox here tomorrow night is a deacon in the St. James Baptist Church in Los Angeles.

JOE PICKLE HOMERS FOR ADVANTAGE

A home run by Joe Pickle in the twelfth inning with no one out gave the Fincher Roadrunners a 7-6 victory over the Shell Raiders and their initial second half victory Tuesday night on the Mundy diamond.

The Roadrunners came from behind in the eighth frame to tie the score when Buck Tyree crossed the plate to pull the game from the fire and had a hard time all the way in keeping pace with the rejuvenated team in red.

Two runs in the first stanza gave the Raiders more advantage than the Runners could not overcome in the eighth frame. The Browns team added another in the fifth and two in the sixth while Alvin Underwood tallied the first Fincher run in the opening frame, tacked on another in the third and two in the fifth.

Tyree pitched six hit ball in ending the victory for the Runners while his mates combed the offerings of Black for a total of seven.

Leader A Little Weary, But Scouts Themselves Still Excited About Sights Of Eastern Cities

"If you want to go crazy," opined Darold Wilson, field executive in charge of the troop of jamboree scouts from this area, "try putting 26 boys on a subway."

Darold was keeping a weary but watchful eye on the remnant of the troop as the train discharged 8 Big Spring scouts from the group here Monday evening. Under his arm he clutched the cash box and explained that "we're down to less than five dollars." He weakly shrugged his shoulders in a gesture to show how far down he felt physically.

But the boys, loaded with knapsacks and souvenirs, appeared to have been little the worse for the wear of three weeks away from home over a trail of several thousand miles. All were jabbering about "the swell time" in Washington and New York, and laughing about the boy who almost got left on the subway.

They were talking about a thousand and one things, so The Herald prevailed on George Miller, senior patrol leader of the Buffalo Trail council troop, to sketch the happenings in Washington. Here it is:

George's Report "The boys arrived in Washington very tired but in true scout spirit they jumped in and set up camp, by pitching tents, making tables, and setting up cots. The first three days of training period were devoted to odds and ends, setting up displays and drilling."

"On July 1 the jamboree officially opened when reveille was blown. Then the national colors were unfurled and 26,223 boys snapped to attention while 1,621 banners of the U. S. were raised."

"First trip of interest was to the big league game between the Washington Senators and Boston Red Sox which ended in a 2-2 tie. That night the first pageant was presented before 22,000 boys."

"On July 2 the boys from Texas visited the Smithsonian Institute saw displays on aeronautics, medicine, animal and bird life and a million other things of varied interest. It was impossible to see all of the four buildings."

"Next day we visited the library of congress, the capitol, senate building, armory where Dan Beard lighted a torch which will burn on two continents (at Washington and in Holland at the world jamboree.)"

At Annapolis "July 4th all scouts were required to attend church except the Big Spring boys, who by special permission, were permitted to be guests of John Quinn at Annapolis. The Quinn was raised in Big Spring. That night a great convocation was held and ended in a brilliant fireworks display."

"The following day we were shown through the department of justice by G-men, and in the evening we visited the Washington zoo. On July 6 we viewed the city from the Washington monument that night we saw another pageant from a different region and put on the region No. 9 (Texas and part of Oklahoma and New Mexico) show evening of July 7. Washington people and papers said it was the best of the lot. Earlier we had gone to Mt. Vernon up the Potomac by boat."

"We went to the tomb of the unknown soldier on July 8 and a scout representing the region placed a wreath on the tomb. We broke camp the next day and left for New York where we saw the Empire State building, Statue of Liberty, the aquarium, Radio City, and other points of interest."

"Our long trip was begun, and we bundled up the pounds of souvenirs we had received from other regions because of the fancy bargaining power of our—of all things—old West Texas horned frogs."

MASCOTS AT THE JAMBOREE

Mississippi and Barkley of Kentucky.

Capital Shocked Although Robinson's health had not been quite as good as in former years, his sudden death was a tremendous shock to his senatorial colleagues and all of official Washington.

The Democratic leader had been working with terrific energy during recent weeks in an effort to devise a compromise court bill for which he could obtain senate approval. The substitute measure now under debate was drafted under his direction.

Robinson had been one of the outstanding political figures in Washington.

After attending the University of Arkansas and the Virginia Law School, Robinson began reading law in a small lawyer's office back in 1892. Two years later, he was elected to the general assembly of his home state.

To Congress in 1902 While serving in the legislature, Robinson continued to practice law, and has, off and on, since. But public office became his chief career when he was elected to Congress in 1902, during the administration of President Theodore Roosevelt.

After serving in the house 10 years, Robinson retired to become Governor of Arkansas. He only stayed in the governor's office a few months, however, because a vacancy appeared in the senate and he was quickly chosen to fill it.

Robinson was only serving his second term in the senate when he became the recognized leader of the opposition to ratification of the Washington Arms Treaty. This projected him into position to be chosen Democratic leader in 1922 when Oscar Underwood, of Alabama, retired from that post.

When the democrats gained control of the senate along with the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Robinson became majority leader.

These West Texas boy scouts attracted attention at the recent national jamboree in Washington by displaying unusual mascots. In the top photo are Midland scouts with horned toads. They are E. J. Hagsdale, J. Lewis and John Scarborough. Below is Sammy Mullinger of Big Spring with a frisky month-old coyote. The little animal was mascot for the Texas section at the jamboree.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Eubanks and Mrs. Steve Baker have returned from California where they have been vacationing for the past two weeks.

As such, he has been the New Deal's legislative chiefman, and stepped through congress the mass of new laws initiated by President Roosevelt.

Vice-Presidential Candidate Even before he became senate leader, Robinson had become recognized nationally in the Democratic party. He was chairman of the party convention in 1920 which selected Roosevelt as vice presidential candidate.

Eight years later the Democratic convention chose him as vice presidential candidate to run on the ticket with Governor "Al" Smith, of New York. Because of that, he had been chosen as the official administration spokesman for replies to Smith's attacks on the New Deal.

Again in 1936, when Roosevelt was renominated at Philadelphia, Robinson was the convention's permanent chairman.

In his capacity as majority leader during the New Deal, Robinson supported the administration's program from beginning to end. Critics have contended that he was abandoning his principles in doing so because he was a conservative at heart.

greatest search the navy ever has attempted, the pair were forced down, out of fuel, after missing the small coral islet which lifts itself but two feet above the ocean.

Meanwhile the Mincweepers Swan and the coast guard cutter Itasca were ordered to search six islands in the southern part of the Gilberts. The islands are the Arorua, Nukunua, Tamana, Onotoa, Peru, and Tapetua.

Navy officials estimated the Swan and Itasca should reach their allotted search area tomorrow.

Britain Makes A 'Last Offer'

LONDON, July 14 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden presented to the nonintervention committee today Britain's "last chance" compromise plan for recreation of the control of arms shipments and foreign volunteers in the Spanish civil war.

He suggested abolition of the naval patrol and substitution of a system of observers to inspect incoming cargoes at every Spanish port.

Frontier control along the Franco-Spanish and Portuguese-Spanish borders would be restored.

Limited belligerent rights would be extended to both sides in the Spanish conflict by all the 27 nations in the nonintervention committee.

LOCAL GROUP ON COLORADO PROGRAM

Big Spring entertainers will be featured in a Friday evening performance at the Colorado amphitheatre, J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager, said Wednesday.

Greene said that a balanced program had been arranged for the occasion but that transportation for the artists performers is lacking at the time.

He urged those who can furnish cars for the entertainers to list their names at the chamber office. Greene was anxious that a large delegation attended from Big Spring.

Among those to take part on the program are Helen Eloum, "L" Drifters (string band), "B" Basham, Jane Marie Tingle, Edith Gay, Paul McCrary, Luther McDaniel, Joe Robert Myers, and Sonny Boy Williams.

FIRST-RATE OFFICIAL

The services of Gibb Gilchrist will not be altogether lost to Texas, because he will be able to be of value to his state in his newly-chosen position as dean of engineering at A. & M. college; but Texas will sorely miss him, The Herald believes, from the post of state highway engineer.

His has been a tremendous job well done. He has served efficiently under four gubernatorial administrations, worked in harmony with a changing membership on the highway commission. He has achieved this because road building was his assignment and he carried out that job.

Moreover, he has directed construction and maintenance of roads at a cost of more than $300,000,000, with never a suggestion of irregularity or the casting of the slightest doubt on the operations of his division. His administration included a change from partial financing of highways by counties to a program of state and federal financing, a sweeping shift in policy that was accomplished in business-like fashion.

Perhaps Gilchrist did not please all cities or counties; perhaps he rejected some special appeals. But Texans have only to review the mighty development of its highway system to know that in Gibb Gilchrist it has had a first rate official in directing the engineering division.

WHEN VOTERS FAIL

Reports from Austin show that about 900,000 Texans will be qualified to vote on the constitutional amendments next month, as compared to about 1,350,000 who were qualified for the elections of 1936. Observers think not more than 500,000 will vote for the amendments this year—and that appears to be a pretty liberal guess.

Changing the constitution is a vital process, one that should enlist the active participation of every voter. We get all "steamed up" over selection of officials, who can be changed every two, four or six years; but we are too unconcerned to further our duty in deciding what changes should be made our basic government. It's not a situation to be proud of, that we permit such a comparatively few voters decide important constitutional questions for us.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Billy the Oyster Man suggests that you quietly spurn soap if you wish to avoid 'fishy' hands after preparing, say, a nice catch of trout for dinner. Billy the Oyster Man is, in a way, a symbol that bridges the old, rocco New York of another day and the hurly-burly of 1937.

In catering to celebrities for decades he has prepared pompono for Caruso, sturgeon for Lily Langtry, mountain trout for John Barrymore, yellow perch for Miriam Hopkins, sea-bass for Maurice Chevalier, frog legs for Claudette Colbert, land-locked salmon for President Roosevelt, swordfish steaks for Wallace Beery, shark's fin soup for Cole Porter, lobster for General Pershing, fried catfish for Irvin S. Cobb... the list stretches from here to there.

And what he says about safeguarding the hands is this: Thoroughly chill the hands in cold water before touching the raw fish. Later, cleanse in hot water and salt. This leaves them odorless and sweet, a measure of satisfaction that soap somehow fails to achieve.

Then there is this note, a nature item which ornithologists will appreciate... It isn't true that swans, ducks, and the larger species of wild fowl fly high in summer to avoid the extreme heat... Being practical minded, they seek the upper altitudes in search of a tail wind to help them get home in a hurry. Croil Hunter, an executive of the North West airlines, reports seeing a brace of snow geese, at 10,000 feet, hugging his tail on the run from Seattle. "You go faster with a tail wind," he explains "and those ganders were in a hurry. They probably didn't want to have to explain to mama where they had been. They got so close the pilot had to step up his speed. I really believe they would have hopped on the tail for a ride if they had caught up with us."

The "wry" cocktail has made its appearance in New York bars and it gives you just that sort of grimace... Adele Astaire is planning a vacation from her Lismore castle, among the yew trees, in Ireland... She wants to make another excursion into the theater.

On warm days Lee Shubert, the producer, moves his office to the roof of a theater... Adolphe Luque, famous curve-ball pitcher who is now a coach with the Giants, wears brass buttons on his underwear... honest... The absence of panhandlers in Manhattan is explained... They've all moved out to Coney Island, where the sands are cooler than the park benches.

A telegraph operator in this office spends all his spare time reading obituaries... "They fascinate me," he explains.

TODAY AND TOMORROW

By Walter Lippmann

THE DEGRADATION OF THE DEMOCRATIC PROCESS

There is ample room for honest differences of opinion about the way in which the courts have interpreted the Constitution, about the relation between the judicial power and the legislative, about the personnel of the present Supreme Court, about its record. But can there be any real difference of honest opinion about the manner in which the Administration has sought and is seeking to treat these great problems?

LIPPMANN
Is there any one who now denies that the proposal made by the President last February was presented in a message that was inaccurate and misleading? That the real intent was concealed? That when the real intent was avowed, it was revealed as false to the plain words of the platform on which he was elected? Is there any one who denies that the supporters of the measure were unable to defend it at the public hearings? That they have been silenced by the weight of argument against it, and have never dared to make a formal reply to the criticism of the Senate committee? That they had to withdraw the bill without daring to let it be discussed on the floor of the Senate, without daring to let it be put to a vote?

And can it now be denied that they are seeking to achieve precisely the same end by altering the outward form but not the inner substance of the original proposal? That the new bill does all that the old bill aimed to do, that it does the very same things which public opinion condemned and the Administration did not dare to defend, that the only respect paid by the Administration to public opinion has been to shift from a frontal attack to a flank attack, that its reply to the defeat of the first measure has been to cover the defeat of one trick by inventing another trick?

If this is a different bill from the original bill, why is it not submitted to the appropriate committees of both Houses? Why are there to be no hearings? Why is there to be no thorough examination by competent men? Why is there no official report explaining the intent of the bill and its operation? If this second bill is what it pretends to be, an honest attempt to meet the criticism brought against the first bill, why is the regular procedure abandoned? Why are the leaders of opinion denied the chance to appear before a committee and express their views? Why is the Senate being asked to vote without having before it a considered defense or a thorough critical analysis?

There is no escape from the conclusion that what the Administration could not do by an open appeal to public opinion, it is now proposing to do by slick maneuver and sleight-of-hand. There are a few weak senators, men without real convictions or without the capacity to understand the issues, whom it needs. They do not dare to vote for the original bill because it has a bad name. So a new name has been invented. The same package is now tied together with pink ribbon instead of red ribbon. For them this second bill has been devised: to enable them to support the Administration and at the same time to confuse their constituents by saying that they voted for a "compromise." They are to go home and tell the people that they have committed no sin because their illegitimate infant is a somewhat smaller infant than the one which was originally conceived.

The manner in which this measure is being promoted is an apparent and deliberate degradation of the democratic process. The issue is as great as any that can be raised in the realm of constitutional government. The procedure is to pass the measure in the heat of the summer, when public opinion is at its lowest vitality, to achieve the end by evading the duty to report to the public, by breaking down the physical resistance of the opposition.

Surely a measure which signifies so much is entitled to cool calm, and thorough consideration. No one can pretend that the Administration strategists are willing to let it have cool-calm, and thorough consideration. Their procedure betrays their purpose. They do not want debate. They want to force the issue. They do not want to convince the public. They want to score a victory. They do not attempt to prove that they are right. They are determined to prove that they are irresistible.

This is not the way men act when they are loyal to the principles of democratic government. This is the method of arbitrary men, and, if they succeed, the damage they will do to the court will be only an aspect of the damage they will have done to democratic government. For they will have established the precedent that the customs of democracy do not bind a dominant party, and that those who hold the power may use it without scruple.

Nudism in Hawaii Debated
HONOLULU (UP)—Although Hawaii may have gone partly nude in its early days, Rep. Y. Char is determined that it shall not go completely nude in the future. He has introduced a bill prohibiting nudism. A similar bill introduced two years ago was laughed to death after the legislators had made a survey of the modern swimming suit.

Associated Press Story To Be Told In Forthcoming Photoplay

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 14 (AP)—"Freedom of the Press," a film depicting the history of the Associated Press and the part it has played in the development of the free American press, will go into production immediately. It was announced by David O. Selznick, president of the Selznick International Pictures, Inc.
"The story of the Associated Press has been the procession of world history, the birth and deaths of kings, the fury of wars, the lightning strike of catastrophes, historic political battles, and of unending heroes who got the story, no matter what the cost," Selznick said.
"It is a story yet to be told, which under the title, 'Freedom of the Press,' soon is to take living form on the screen."
Producer Selznick said the motion picture will describe the Associated Press at its beginning in 1848. It will show the growth of the non-profit cooperative association into the largest news-gathering organization in the world. It will be, in effect, a cavalcade of American journalism in all of its romantic and exciting aspects.
"The picture will present a truthful outline of the nature of the Associated Press and its firm development of the principle of unbiased news," Selznick said.
Hitherto unpublished records to authenticate the production will be made available by the Associated Press, of which approximately 1,400 newspapers in this country alone are members.

FLAME TRAIL

By Marie De Nervaud

CHAPTER 18
Strange News For Kay
Marshalling her wits to meet the coming interview, Kay walked the short distance from the bunk house to the cabin in silence.

She felt that she would give anything to be rid of Tom Runyon, and have a chance to rest. But some instinct warned her that it would be foolish to let him go away with the suspicion that she could see he still harbored against Ted. Tired as she was, she would have to change his line of thought, or he might make trouble.

"Shall we sit out here?" Kay sank down on the top step, and leaned back against the post that held the rail of the tiny porch in place.

Kay couldn't quite read the look in Tom Runyon's dark eyes as he gazed at her. Her thoughts suddenly flew to those luminous black eyes of Ted's, so different from the ones bent on her now. Ted's eyes had a light that seemed to come from within, while Tom's were just black and round, and staring, but no whit less intent.

"You make some picture there do you know it?"
"I'll bet you are." He put one foot on the lower step and leaned toward her, his elbow resting on his knee. "I'm not going to keep you, but I just want to get one or two things straightened out in my mind. Just how long have you known this Ted Gaynor?"

"Goodness! I never can remember dates! It seems as though I'd known him for ages! But then, I feel as though I'd known you quite a long time, and we only met yesterday." Kay glanced up at him from under her dark lashes with deliberate coquetry.

"I certainly feel that way about you!" Tom Runyon gave a flattered laugh, adding, "Say, what is it about you that keeps a fellow looking at you, and forgetting what he wants to say?"
Kay laughed. "Why say anything," she asked demurely. "It's too lovely here in the twilight to be asking questions. I know what I would like to have you tell me, though!" she added as an afterthought.

"What?" He was all eager attention.
"Tell me about your work as fire patrol. You did it before you came here, didn't you?"
"Sure I did." He cleared his throat with a pleased air of superiority. "That's why the Protective association sent for me to come up here and see if I couldn't get to the bottom of these mystery fires. I've been handling a situation a whole lot like this in Wyoming, and believe me, I ran that firebug to earth!"

"Tell me about it!" Kay fixed him with her eyes full of flattering inquiry.
"Well, it was this way"—Tom Runyon settled back, and Kay was just breathing a sigh of relief at getting him side-tracked, when he leaned forward once more, and broke in abruptly on his narrative.

"So He Didn't Tell You!"
"Before I get going on that, I want to ask about this Gaynor guy." He looked keenly at Kay. "Did he tell you about the fight he had today?"
Kay looked at him with startled eyes. How could Tom Runyon possibly have found out about the fight on the mesa?

"Fight?" she echoed faintly.
"So he didn't tell you!" Tom exclaimed. "I had a hunch he wouldn't!"
Kay gazed at him with bewildered amazement. What was he driving at? If Tom Runyon knew about the fight at all, he must know that she had been there, and had seen the whole thing! But there was no possible way for him to know. He had come to the ranch from the opposite direction, so he couldn't have run across Scrap Johnson and have heard it from him!

"I don't understand what you're talking about," Kay said finally.
"Are you sure he was in a fight?"
"Sure as shooting." Tom Runyon assured her. "The guy that came out to relieve me saw the whole thing."
"But he couldn't have!" Kay burst out. Then she hastily tried to cover her lip break. "I mean, he must be mixing Ted up with someone else."
"Not on your life he wasn't," Tom declared positively. "It was right there in Kelly's joint when it happened."

"Kelly's joint?" Kay echoed in a relieved tone. "Oh that wasn't Ted! He was waiting for me outside the bank. I remember now he did say something about having seen a fracas of some kind at Kelly's."
"Seen it!" Tom scoffed. "I'll say he saw saw it! He was the one who started it!"
"But—how—why—" Kay bit her lip and broke off short. The last thing she wanted to do was to discuss Ted, and she still felt sure Tom Runyon was mistaken.

"That's just what I mean," Tom leaned forward and shook his finger impressively at her. "There's a lot you don't know about that Gaynor guy." Tom Runyon was so positive, Kay felt it would be better to sift this rumor to the bottom.
"I was fighting with a fellow named Scrap Johnson, about some girl," Tom answered. "I reckon that's why he wasn't so keen about mentioning it to you!"
His tone had a malicious edge, but Kay hardly caught his words. Her mind was flashing back to the events of the morning. It might have been possible, while this had been in the bank, for something to have happened. She had been so preoccupied with her own troubles when she came out that she had not noticed Ted particularly.

She suddenly remembered something Ted had said when he had announced on the mesa that he meant to fight Scrap Johnson. He had said he was going to give him a "second lesson." Kay had noticed this remark at the time, with a wondering conjecture, but in the fast moving events afterwards, she had forgotten it.

"Yeah, the two of 'em had it out, hot and heavy." Tom's voice was recounting the story as he had heard it. "Everybody thought this Scrap fellow was going to lick the stuffing out of him, but Gaynor got him down by a trick twist. Then he threatened he'd kill him if he ever heard him mention his girl's name again."
"A Black Haired Filly?"
Tom paused to let this piece of information sink in, his eyes never leaving Kay's face.

Feeling his gaze on her, Kay steeled herself to hide her surprise and confusion. Pride came to her aid, and helped her conceal the hurt feeling that Ted's lack of confidence gave her.
"There was no reason why he should have mentioned it if he didn't want to," she observed lightly. "Perhaps as long as he won out, he might have thought it would have seemed like boasting."
"He probably won't mind boasting about to the black-haired beauty he was fighting for?" Tom chuckled as he scanned Kay's expression for her reaction to this remark.

"How do you know she was black haired?" The involuntary question burst out before Kay could stop it.
"Because Scrap Johnson had said something about a black-haired filly!" Tom Runyon went on, deliberately giving a garbled account of the information he had received, his eyes narrowing as he observed the flush that spread over Kay's cheek. "That's what started the fight!"
"Well, he evidently had his reasons for not mentioning it." Kay tried to speak lightly and indifferently, but something seemed to give way inside her. She felt she couldn't possibly go on with this conversation. She simply had to be alone.
She abruptly stood up, and held out her hand.

"I'm afraid I'll have to say good-night." With the greatest effort of will, Kay kept her voice from trembling. "I've had a strenuous day, and I guess I haven't entirely got over the shock of yesterday."
"Poor little girl!" Tom Runyon's voice was a trifle over-sympathetic as he took her hand in both his, and bent his face close to her. "You go and get a good sleep, and any time you need any help, you call on Tom Runyon. Just you forget about this investigating business—leave that all to me."
"Thanks." Kay smiled faintly at him as she drew her hand away. "I hope you'll come over any time you feel like it."
"Trust me!" Tom Runyon boomed heartily. "You're going to be seeing a whole lot of me, young lady, and don't you forget it!"
Feeling a weak dizziness gradually overcoming her, Kay turned without further ceremony and bolted into her cabin.

Tom Runyon strode off to the bunk house with a half-smile of satisfaction.
Scrap Johnson "resigns" and makes a fool of his boss, tomorrow.

Decline Shown In Crude Production

TULSA, Okla., July 14 (AP)—Daily production of crude oil in the United States declined 9,947 barrels the week ending July 10, to an average of 3,529,600 barrels daily, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.
Oklahoma had a decrease of 900 barrels daily to 618,500, East Texas was up 2,785 to 474,800 and the total State of Texas registered a decline of 19,543 barrels daily for an average of 1,418,679.
Louisiana had a decline of 12,134 barrels daily to 254,465, California increased 12,000 barrels daily to 667,750 and Kansas production was down 825 barrels daily to 192,175.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF BANKRUPT'S PETITION FOR DISCHARGE
In the District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Texas.
In the matter of Charles Wesley Deats, bankrupt. No. 1179 in bankruptcy.

OFFICE OF REFEREE
Abilene, Texas, July 13, 1937
Notice is hereby given that Charles Wesley Deats of the County of Howard, and district aforesaid, d.d. on the 25th day of February 1937, file in the Clerk's office of said Court, at Abilene, a petition setting up that he has been heretofore duly adjudged a bankrupt under the act of Congress approved July 1, 1898; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the Court touching his bankruptcy, and praying for a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate in bankruptcy, save such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

On considering the above mentioned petition, it is ordered that any creditor who has proved his claim, and other parties in interest, if they desire to oppose the discharge prayed for in said petition, shall, on or before the 24th day of August 1937, file with the Referee for the Abilene Division of said district, a notice in writing of their opposition to a discharge in the above entitled case.
D. M. OLDFHAM, Jr.
Referee in Bankruptcy.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

PENSIONS HIGHER

AUSTIN, July 14 (AP)—Old age assistance officials saw indications today of a rising average grant as investigation of recipients continued.

W. A. Little, acting director, said average payment for July was $13.75 compared with $13.54 in June. Net reduction in the rolls was 4,185 between June 1 and July 1.

Hot Weather is Here— Beware of Biliousness!

Have you ever noticed that in hot weather your organs of digestion and elimination seem to become torpid or lazy? Your food does not seem to digest properly, you feel a sense of fullness and belching, and a feeling of restlessness and irritability. Perhaps you may have sick headaches, dizziness and drowsiness or blind spots on suddenly rising. Your stomach may be coated, your complexion bilious and your bowels sluggish or insufficient.

Consumption of Cotton Is Higher

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—The census bureau announced today that cotton consumed during June totaled 681,394 bales of lint and 66,618 of linters, compared with 669,460 and 70,480 for May this year, and 555,449 and 64,891 for June last year.

Cotton on hand June 30 was reported held as follows: In consuming establishments 1,550,540 bales of lint and 269,690 of linters, compared with 1,815,035 and 281,928 on May 31 this year, and 989,426 and 206,712 on June 30 last year.

In public storage and at compresses 3,091,797 bales of lint and 82,710 of linters, compared with 3,367,788 and 73,353 on May 31 this year, and 4,521,371 and 46,030 on June 30 last year.

Imports during June totaled 35,593 bales, compared with 30,984 in May this year, and 12,462 in June last year.

STATE AGENCIES SCORED BY ETEX GRAND JURORS

TYLER, July 14 (AP)—A long Smith county grand jury investigation into alleged East Texas oil field law violations has ended today in sharp criticism of "the utter lack of cooperation" between the Texas railroad commission and the state comptroller of public accounts.

The grand jury charged the state had wasted millions of dollars fruitfully trying to enforce its regulations on the oil industry because employees of the comptroller's office failed to report known violations to proper authorities.

RELIEF FROM HEAT

By the Associated Press
A brief respite from the eight day heat wave which has gripped the Middle West and Atlantic seaboard was promised today with the weather bureau's forecast of continued thunderstorms.

Meteorologists said, however, there would be little change in the 90 to 100-degree temperatures in most sections.

Deaths attributed to the heat totaled 360. Slightly cooler was forecast for parts of Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin, while somewhat warmer weather was sighted for South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas.

DENVER, July 14 (AP)—Business was shoved aside today while 25,000 members of the benevolent and protective order of Elks, which has been holding conventions for 73 years, went out to enjoy their 1937 convalescence.

No general convention session was on the program until 10 a. m. tomorrow, when Charles S. Hart, new grand exalted ruler, and other new national officers will be installed.

WINDSTORM DAMAGE IN ELECTRA SECTION

ELECTRA, July 14 (AP)—Houses were unroofed, outbuildings wrecked and crops damaged in a windstorm which whipped through the Red River bottoms north of here last night.

The storm tore a path from two to three miles wide, damaging cotton and killing livestock. No one was injured. A three inch rain fell in north Electra and houses were damaged by the high wind.

In the Elliot community 15 miles northwest of here Herbert Garrett's house was blown from its foundation and furniture ruined by a heavy rain. The family was not at home. Cotton was ruined on several farms in that vicinity.

L. B. Slaughter, Electra merchant who was at his farm 12 miles northwest of here said the storm area was two to three miles wide and 15 to 20 miles long in Wichita from the truck in flames from Mexico to Try New Crops

BERKELEY, Cal., (UP)—Mexico is out to become a second California, according to Miguel Brannhila, chief of the Mexican National Commission of Irrigation. He has just completed an exhaustive study of soil conditions in this state with a view to establishing in Mexico those California crops best suited to soil conditions there.

ONE KILLED AND ONE HURT IN ACCIDENT

HENRIETTA, July 14 (AP)—Lloyd Belew of Sherman was killed early Wednesday morning and his brother, Woodrow, of White-wright, was critically injured when a light truck in which they were riding crashed into a bridge over Dry Fork creek two miles east of Henrietta.

The body of Lloyd was hurled from the truck in flames from gasoline which saturated his clothing when the tank of the car burst. The body was found in the bed of the creek, burned almost beyond recognition.

Woodrow lay in the burning truck, both legs broken and suffering other injuries and severe burns. He was brought to a Wichita Falls hospital.

The two brothers were bringing a load of onions from White-wright to local markets.

Cake Racketeers Appear
PASADENA, Cal., (UP)—The "cake racket" is the latest in local racketeer annals. The system consisted of persuading citizens to advance $12 for a year's supply of cakes, one to be delivered monthly, and the profits to go to unprivileged children. Whether the children got the profits or not, the police do not know.

HAWAII WANTS QUIET NIGHTS
HONOLULU, (UP)—Steps have been taken to insure the stillness of the Hawaiian night. Honolulu has become the fourth American city to introduce night classes for husbands to train them to quiet a crying baby scientifically instead of pacing the floor.

GREEN MAY BE OUSTED BY LEWIS' MINERS' UNION

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—William Green, arch-enemy of John L. Lewis in the American labor movement, may lose his membership next week in Lewis' United Mine Workers.

The miners' policy committee last February directed the union's officers to expel Green, veteran president of the American Federation of Labor, because he has fought Lewis' CIO. The union's international board will meet here next Tuesday for the first time since the policy committee took that action. Persons close to the situation predicted today Green would be ousted with few, if any, dissenting votes.

R. W. Baker, James Ripps and Wayne Burch are visiting here for a few days before returning to a surveying project near El Paso.

Three Girl Fliers In Line For Amelia's No. 1 Rank As A Flier

Laura Ingalls, many women fliers will tell you, is "right next to Amelia Earhart" in reputation, although she has not done much flying recently. Laura cut Amelia's east-west transcontinental record by three hours in 1935, while for her spectacular solo flight around South America the international league of aviators named her the outstanding woman flier of 1934.

Louise Thaden says she's too much of a sissy to try any spectacular water flights but she has shown plenty of stuff on land. She holds the speed record for women—197.9 miles an hour. She beat a field of men and women in a race from New York to Los Angeles for the Bendix trophy last year. She was awarded the Harmon trophy for the outstanding woman flier of 1936.

Ruth Nichols has had some bad crackups but always has come back for more. In 1931 she set a woman's record in non-stop straight line flying from Oakland airport to Bowman field, Ky. Next year she ascended 21,000 feet to beat Clarence Chamberlin's record; she was hailed as the outstanding woman flier in 1932. Crash injuries have kept her laid up for the last two years.
