Russians Besiege Memel

German Coastal Flank Destroyed By Baltic Drive

By DANIEL DELUCE MOSCOW, Oct. 10 (AP)—A storm of Russian artillery fire broke today on besieged Memel, German-held port on the Baltic, while to the southward the Soviet armies wheeled and hurled their full weight into a drive on the East Prussian fortress city of Tilsit.

The great Baltic offensive of General Ivan C. Bagration and Ivan Cherniakhovsky, ripping apart the German coastal flank protecting the heart of East Prussia matched in spectacular success the sweep of General Rodion Malinovsky's forces into northern Hungary.

There, after cutting the railway retreat routes behind the German and Hungarian forces in the northern Transylvanian salient, the Russian spearhead thrust into the outskirts of the Magyar military training center of Debrecen. General advances on the looping front put the Russian forces within 50 miles of Budapest.

Marshal Rodion Malinovsky's northward drive across flat grazing country appeared aimed at the Ruthenian highlands, where a junction might be made with Col. Gen. Ivan Petrov's 4th Ukrainian army group on the Czechoslovak border.

Malinovsky's southern wing crossed the Tisza river on a wide front in northern Yugoslavia and swung westward in an advance which outflanked Belgrade and endangered the third largest Yugoslav city of Subotica (pop. 100,010) on the main Belgrade-Budapest railroad.

Berlin said the Russians were using nearly 3,000,000 men in the battle of the Lithuanian bulge in an effort to isolate 15 German divisions still in the Baltic area, and to spearhead a thrust into Germany's easternmost province from the north.

Commissioners Order Emergency To Import Milk

City commissioners met Tuesday morning and issued an order to the effect that health officials may declare an emergency and thus import milk to be recombined in Big Spring by local creameries. The emergency order will be in operation for 30 days and the first shipment of milk will probably be here by the first of next week, officials said.

The official report of fires for September, 1944, shows that the total number of fires in Big Spring stands at 12. Of these two were dwelling blazes, two were false alarms, three were special buildings and four were car fires.

There was no insured loss on buildings or contents. Two were caused by electrical, three were the result of leaking gas or gasoline, one was caused by children playing with matches, one was caused by a kerosene explosion, one, smoking, one hot brakes, and the cause for one was unknown.

The monthly report from the police department revealed that during September there were 128 arrests. Of that number 48 were arrests on charges of drunkenness, followed by 34 arrests for VD check ups. The total of fines collected for September was $3,470. There were 31 traffic violations with six paying fines and 25 remaining active. There were eight car wrecks, 12 cases of investigation, and 162 calls for information and assistance.

The current VD patient load is 108. Last month 113 were examined and 42 were found to be infected. Eight cases were transferred to El Paso for treatment. City Manager B. J. McDaniell reported to the commissioners that water project is progressing smoothly. All pipe for the pipe line from the fields to town is in transit and will be available when needed and all right of way disputes have been cleared up.

Rotarians Hear Fire Program

Rotarians had a lesson in fire prevention Tuesday through a "take-it-or-leave-it" program planned by members of the city fire department.

After Fire Marshal F. W. Bettie had spoken briefly, stressing the importance of prevention and cleanliness as the best ways to avert consistent and serious fire losses, H. V. Crocker, fire chief, conducted the novel quiz program. Members had an option off attempting other fire prevention questions when they correctly answered and when there were winners, the crippled children's fund was the winner.

Chief Crocker analyzed fire causes locally during the past three years and said there had been a tendency for fires caused by crowded conditions to increase. Thus far in 1944, the fire record has shown improvement. Bettie urged that businessmen and residents be especially diligent in reducing hazards of all character.

World Organization Plans Head For Stormy Session In Congress

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Government plans to put the United States into a world organization backed by force headed for a storm of national debate today, with President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull apparently seeking to prevent possible disagreement on any single issue from wrecking the whole enterprise.

This strategy is considered responsible for the determination of officials to refrain now from bringing into the debate the question of whether congress should have to give its approval each time the world organization calls for American men, guns, ships and planes to suppress a threatening aggressor.

An authoritative analysis at the state department of the Dumbarton Oaks security plan, revealed yesterday, shows that it fails to call for any such strong commitment on the part of the United States. It provides instead only for the promise to undertake to supply forces in accord with constitutional processes.

Since responsible diplomatic officials are known to favor a system which would obviate the need for congressional debate and decision each time specific forces were called for, the reluctance to raise the issue is regarded partly at least as an effort to minimize debate on this point at this time.

Another point not subject to discussion is that of the voting arrangements within the proposed 11-member security council. This

Yanks Establish Firm Beachhead

By LEONARD MILLIMAN Associated Press War Editor American amphibious troops in the western Pacific have established a firm beachhead on another of the Palau islands—the tenth to be invaded in less than a month.

Only light opposition was encountered by soldiers of the 81st army division when they landed on Garakayo islet and pushed inland, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced last night. Garakayo is two and a half miles north of Peleliu where U.S. forces hold a fair fleet anchorage and a good airfield, both of which will be used to support Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forthcoming invasion of the Philippines.

Twenty-five Liberators, escorted by fighters, made the first neutralizing strike at Zambonga, which has been a fortress guarding the southwestern tip of the Philippines since Spanish days. Huge fires were blazing on the waterfront, half a dozen seaplanes destroyed and three small ships set afire.

Nimitz indicated that weather conditions may delay the Philippine invasion. "The typhoons have given us much trouble," he said, and will give the Japanese a defensive advantage until the stormy season ends in December. The admiral expressed concern over the present situation in China. He said "we must make landings on the China coast in order to secure a land mass close enough to bomb Japan with all the air power available."

"The Pacific fleet is strong enough in combat vessels to go anywhere," Nimitz said, and "when we have the means to do it we will get the bases in China that we want."

The China-based 14th U. S. air force, operating from crowded Linchow airfield, slashed at Japanese airbases and land and river supply lines for enemy troops pressing toward the only remaining American air base in southeast China.

American bombers twice hit Marcus Island, 1,135 miles southeast of Tokyo, and Iwo Island, 750 miles south of the Japanese capital. Marine Corsairs from Peleliu raided Babelthuap, largest of the Palau islands. Long range Liberators again set fires in Japan's essential Borneo oil refineries at Balikpapan.

Meanwhile, the Allied land forces of the Adriatic began attacking Sarande, the little southern Albanian port which is a supply base for the Nazi garrison on the island of Corfu.

The attack started at 4 a. m. yesterday and Allied troops quickly penetrated to the western outskirts of the town after overcoming opposition.

Biddle Defends Bureaucrats As Public Officers

By The Associated Press Declarations by republicans that what they term "the New Deal bureaucracy" is strangling people's rights have drawn a reply from Attorney General Biddle defining a bureaucrat as "a man who holds a job in public life that a republican would like to have."

Yesterday Gov. John W. Bricker, the republican vice presidential nominee, told a Montana crowd that the federal government now is marked by disorder and confusion," he added: "The dead hand of bureaucracy must be taken off the neck of the people."

Biddle supplied his definition of a bureaucrat to a meeting of the New Jersey state federation of labor at Atlantic City. He said "communism is perhaps the biggest red herring smeared" across the political trail, "but there are other red herrings too—a favorite republican war cry x x x is bureaucracy."

Bricker in a speech last night in Great Fall, Mont., said President Roosevelt had exhibited "violent antagonism to veterans' legislation."

Today also brought the funeral of Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 republican presidential nominee, to be attended by the 1944 choice, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, in New York City.

Publication of a pamphlet "an American Program" by Simon and Schuster, Inc., showed that its foreword was an appeal by Mr. Willkie for the voters to demand that candidates make "meaningful statements on our international obligations and our attitude on racial minorities."

British Take Corinth; Fifth's Advance Halts

Greek Security Battalions Give City To Tommies

ROME, Oct. 10 (AP)—British and Greek forces have occupied Corinth, it was announced today. British forward units entered Corinth without opposition. Two hundred and fifty members of the collaborating Greek "security battalions" surrendered yesterday morning. No Germans were met in the city, which is at the south end of the Isthmus linking the Peloponnese and the Greek mainland.

Air Offensive Hits At Bochum

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Numerous Allied air formations flew against the Germans at sunrise today in continuation of the unprecedented daylight aerial offensive after the RAF executed a heavy night attack on Ruhr steel capital of Bochum.

The British heavy bombers made a saturation attack on Bochum, a city of 303,000, dumping thousands of fire bombs and a profusion of explosives and set fires which glowed for many miles through layers of clouds and fog. The Nazis had spent a year rebuilding Bochum after the last heavy attack, on Sept. 29, 1943. Some major industries had been placed in working order again.

Bochum is a large rail center 65 miles northeast of invested Aachen, at the center of an area which produces nearly a third of all the Ruhr's coal.

Mosquitos bombed the port of Wilhelmshafen. Night fighters supported both the heavy and light bombers and the air ministry said seven planes in all were lost.

Bad weather yesterday limited battle support to the bombing of a railroad bridge at Euskirchen by U.S. Marsuders. Some 1,100 Eighth airforce Fortresses and Liberators from Britain, with 900 fighters plowing through fog, attacked military targets in the Schweinfurt-Coblenz and Mainz regions of southwest Germany.

Five bombers and three fighters were missing, one of the lightest losses yet on a major run into Germany.

Willkie Rites Set Today In New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—Distinguished Americans gathered here today for the funeral of Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 republican presidential nominee. Among the mourners who arranged to attend the 3 p. m. (EWT) services at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church were Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, representing the president, and Governor Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts.

The body will be accompanied to Rushville, Ind., Willkie's birthplace, by his brother, Edward Willkie. It will be placed in a crypt awaiting the arrival of Mrs. Willkie who will remain in New York for the return of her son, Lt. J. G. Philip Willkie, USNR, from Atlantic convoy duty. He will accompany his mother to Rushville for the burial.

The hearing for Rankin, who said he would not sign a waiver for removal to Atlanta, was before Justice of the Peace Frank Hurley.

Charles Stewart, indictment attorney in the office of Solicitor General E. A. Andrews of the Atlanta circuit, told the Star-Telegram by telephone that extradition of Rankin would be sought.

Rankin, in an interview with the Star-Telegram before his release, was quoted as saying that the matter at Atlanta might be the same one on which he was tried and acquitted in court martial proceedings while he was a lieutenant in the army, stationed at Atlanta. Rankin later resigned from the army.

Stewart said Rankin was indicted at Atlanta Sept. 8 on charges of Irby Q. Rankin and an alias, Charles Richard Martin. The indictment charged that he married Willie Jarrell Rankin in Tarrant county June 8, 1941, and that he subsequently married Miss Gloria Alyce Cook, and Miss Frances Leach at Atlanta.

Ft. Worth Teacher Released On Bond

FORT WORTH, Oct. 10 (AP)—Irby Q. Rankin, athletic director at Lake Worth school, was released today under a $1,000 bond after a hearing on a fugitive warrant from Atlanta, Ga., where he is under a circuit court indictment charging bigamy.

The hearing for Rankin, who said he would not sign a waiver for removal to Atlanta, was before Justice of the Peace Frank Hurley.

Rain, Mud And Stiff Defense Slows Campaign

ROME, Oct. 10 (AP)—Rain, mud and stiff German resistance have virtually halted the Allied advance toward the Po river in Italy, but the Fifth army's heavy artillery now is keeping the Bologna-Rimini highway under systematic fire, headquarters disclosed today.

Allied headquarters said continued bad weather and the water-logged ground combined to keep activity at a minimum. In the Eighth army's area, operations were confined to patrols, while in the Fifth's sector some local improvements were made in forward positions.

Airfields in the Athens area of Greece were bombed by the Mediterranean air force last night, while light bombers and fighter-bombers attacked Adriatic shipping and gave support to mixed ground forces in Italy. Five Allied planes were missing from approximately 300 sorties.

Increasing resistance was encouraged by Americans along the German defense line south of Bologna and Imola. Strong hill positions held by the Nazis protect Bologna, although the Americans are within 10 miles of the city and have moved within heavy artillery range of its network of railways and highways.

Hodges' troops had edged into the southern outskirts of Aachen, onetime center of Charlemagne's government, but the main assault on the city had not yet opened. The enemy garrison there perhaps numbered no more than 1,500 men.

Ultimatum Given Nazi Command; Pincers Move In

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—The U.S. First army completely surrounded Aachen today and delivered to the German garrison there an ultimatum to surrender within 24 hours or be conquered by ruthless attack. Doughboys had sealed off the Siegfried Line city with a wall of troops, tanks and guns, and already were building up a 25-mile front six to 10 miles inside the reich for a breakthrough punch toward the Rhine.

The U. S. commander told defenders holed up in Aachen that unless the city was "promptly and completely surrendered unconditionally, American army ground and air forces will proceed ruthlessly with air and artillery bombardment to reduce it to submission."

Aachen is "now completely surrounded" by 1st army men, his ultimatum said. Earlier today the two jaws of a doughboy vise had chopped the German escape lane northeast of the city to only a mile in width, and choked it off with curtains of machine-gun fire.

Canadian troops to the northwest meanwhile shoved forward in drives intended to clear perhaps 15,000 Germans from the Scheide estuary—a prime necessity to open the big port of Antwerp to Allied supplies for the battle of Germany.

Amphibious forces which landed yesterday on the south shore of the Scheide advanced 2 1/2 miles, and the Berlin radio said new forces had landed today. The Canadians in the bridgehead over the Leopold canal struck forward after throwing back 30 Nazi counterattacks in four days.

The bottling of Aachen's "fight to the death" defenders came as Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's U. S. 3rd army snapped a German bulge in the Nancy-Metz sector back into a straight line.

The 1st army in the Aachen sector has forged a 25-mile front and was fighting on the approaches to Duren and Julich, highway keys to Cologne and Dusseldorf. Americans were six miles from Duren—10 miles beyond Aachen and 20 from Cologne—and seven miles from Julich, where an excellent highway branches to Cologne 23 miles beyond and to Dusseldorf 26 miles away.

Hodges' troops had edged into the southern outskirts of Aachen, onetime center of Charlemagne's government, but the main assault on the city had not yet opened. The enemy garrison there perhaps numbered no more than 1,500 men.

Doomed City Lies Before Americans

By DON WHITEHEAD WITH AMERICAN TROOPS OUTSIDE AACHEN, Oct. 10 (AP)—A doomed city lies before the American 1st army. Aachen is under paper bombardment from our 105 millimeter guns which are hurling in 200 shells which burst in the air and tell German soldiers and civilians they must surrender within 24 hours or see Aachen obliterated.

Time is running out for Aachen. The messengers demanding its unconditional surrender have been back from their mission for two hours and there has been no reply from the city. A chill autumn rain slants down on its old structures.

There was no middle course for the Nazi commander, whose troops were dug into the rubble of the ancient capital of Charlemagne on orders of Hitler to stand and die in his defense.

He either must surrender unconditionally or see Aachen obliterated. (See AACHEN, Pg. 2, Col. 2)

Churchill Confers With Stalin

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill was disclosed today to have plunged immediately into talks with Premier Stalin at Moscow which advances from the Russian capital indicated might continue for a full week.

PIN-WORMS GO! New Treatment Gets Real Results

Anyone who has ever had Pin-Worms knows how tormenting and embarrassing this affliction can be, and how hard it is to eliminate the tiny crawling creatures since they get a foothold inside the body. Millions of people—rich and poor, children and grown-ups—have suffered in silence with the misery of Pin-Worms, and doctors have tried for years to find a way to deal with this pest. Old-fashioned worm "cures" usually don't work on Pin-Worms.

Today, thanks to an important scientific discovery (a remarkable drug known as mebendazole), a new and highly effective treatment has been hailed by doctors. This drug is the vital element in P-W, the new Pin-Worms tablet developed by the laboratory of Dr. D. Jarvis & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicine.

P-W makes it easy to deal with Pin-Worms. The small, convenient P-W tablets act in a special way to destroy the creatures. They take chances with Pin-Worms! Just ask your druggist for P-W, and in mere 48 hours the direction.

P-W means Pin-Worms relief!

Howze Hits Top By Bowling 300

Pete Howze rolled the game all bowlers dream about Monday evening when he slammed strikes in all frames for a perfect 300.

His game, in approved league competition, made him the third Big Spring man to bowl a flawless game and the second to accomplish the feat on local alleys.

J. C. Loper, now a bowling alley operator in Ft. Worth, achieved the perfect round here in 1938, and Jake Douglass did it in 1941 on Ruidoso, N. M. alleys. In 1942 Harry Hoekendorf, now of Midland, rolled a 299 in league competition to establish the record broken by Howze.

Only few bowlers here have gone above 290 in competition, among them Rat Ramsey, the late Ben Daniels, Hiram Brimberry and Douglass.

Since Howze's record came in the midst of league play, he undoubtedly will receive national recognition from the American Bowling Congress and is due to earn a medal for the feat.

Schools Of Trade Will Be Set Up In Europe For Army Of Occupation

Editor's Note: This is the fourth—and last—in a series on veterans' benefits, ranging from demobilization to jobs and pensions.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—When the war against Germany ends, some of the troops who whipped the Nazis will be sent to fight Japan, some will be kept in Europe as an occupation army, and some will be sent home as soon as possible.

The troops still in Europe will have more time on their hands than they have now. For them the war department has worked out a program to help them:

Prepare for civilian life either by continuing their education, interrupted by the war, or by learning some occupation to fit them for a better civilian job than the one they left.

These troops will get schooling—if they wish—from the sixth grade through second year college. Or they can choose courses in mechanical and technical subjects and practical training in trades and vocations.

But no one will be delayed in returning to the United States by taking part in the program. When a soldier receives shipping orders, he will be brought home no matter what stage of any course he's taking.

The program will work something like this:

The schools will be set up in— for example—units of 1,000 men each. Then, when not engaged in their military duties, they can go to school. There will be two kinds of programs: Educational and athletic. The men can choose either, or part of both, or neither.

In the educational program they will say specifically what they wish to learn. For instance: One man might choose foreign languages. Another might want to be an automobile mechanic.

Then, from among their own number, qualified men will be chosen to teach. For example: A former experienced newspaperman would be selected to teach a class in journalism if some men wanted to learn journalism.

Textbooks have been selected from existing civilian instruction materials. The men chosen as instructors will use those textbooks after a brief training period.

The material for each course has been divided into units of work, each unit requiring 20 hours of classroom work.

The men taking the courses will be given a certificate of work accomplished. This will help them toward obtaining credits when they return to high school or college in this country.

This educational program is a natural development of the United States Armed Forces Institute (USAFI). This has conducted correspondence courses and other educational services for troops on active duty but anxious to use their spare time to continue their education.

Marquez Picture In El Paso Herald-Post

Mr. and Mrs. Chon Marquez had a real surprise during the weekend when they found their son in a picture carried in the Saturday El Paso Herald-Post.

Mrs. Ricardo Marquez, 28, was a 1938 graduate of Big Spring high school and enlisted Jan. 28, 1941 in the army, going first to Fort Sill, Okla., and then to Fort Clark, Tex., for training before he was shipped two years and two months ago to the Southwest Pacific theater. He has been in the Solomon, fought on Guadalcanal, was in New Guinea, New Britain, New Caledonia as an infantryman.

"Through The Back Alleys Of Europe With The Ninth," Bemoans Captain

By HAL BOYLE

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN GERMANY, Oct. 4 (Delayed)

(AP)—Doughboys of the famous fighting Ninth Infantry division are peeved because they have fought in six countries and on two continents without hitting a town large enough for them to relax and raise a little whoopee.

"We have never been in a town of any size in French Morocco, Tunisia, Sicily, England, France, Belgium or Germany," said Capt. Lindsey Nelson of Columbia, Tenn., who remarks a little sourly that the boys plan to call the history of their outfit "Through Back Alleys of Europe with the Ninth Division."

Boasting his case, Nelson said when his "company division" finally got to Verdun, a medium-sized Belgian town, three liaison officers got lost because they had forgotten how to get around in a city, and nobody slept much because they weren't used to bright lights.

One street light was burning! "We always just miss the big towns or go between them," he said woefully. "The only one we got to that was fairly large in Africa was Bizerte—and there were only three buildings and one civilian standing in it. It was a complete wreck."

"Other divisions after the end of the American campaign went back to bivouacs near Oran or Algiers, but they sent us to Magenta, 50 kilometers due south of Sidi Bel Abbes in the direction of the Sahara desert. Sidi Bel Abbes was full of fleas, flies, dogs and Arabs, and there weren't any souvenirs to buy, and all you could do was walk around until you got sunstroke, or sit in a cafe and drink beer that was 99 per cent water."

"Then we went to Sicily. The British on our left flank and the Americans on our right headed for Messina—a real city—but we only got as far as Randazzo. It looked like Bizerte with an Italian accent. Nothing was left in one piece."

"We came to France and we thought sure we'd get a pocketful of Paris. But they started us in the opposite direction, toward Cherbourg. Just as we reached the western side of the town, they turned us around and told us to go out and clean up the rest of the peninsula."

"When they sent us through the St. Lo-Perriers line, there wasn't a town in sight—we were in the middle again. We started for Paris, and it finally looked like we were going to get into town—and what a town! But the day Allied troops entered Gay Paree we were in the town of Christy 30 kilometers south, with a population of not more than 100 persons on market day."

Crosby County Boy Named As Star American Farmer By National FFA

AUSTIN, Oct. 10 (AP)—Twenty-year-old Elton Ellison of Ralls, Crosby county, announced yesterday as the Star American Farmer of the Future Farmers of America began his agricultural career with a pig a feed crop and a cotton patch.

Today he owns a tractor, other farming equipment, five cows, two brood sows, a flock of 400 hens and until he entered the armed forces operated the home farm in partnership with his dad, purchased an additional 260 acres in partnership and rented an additional 270 acres.

Applying vocational agricultural knowledge he acquired in Crosbyton and Lorenzo schools and Texas Technological college, he progressed to the point where farming earned him a net of $3,500 last year.

He was unable to appear in person at the FFA convention in Kansas City to hear himself proclaimed the "best all-around young farmer" among 250,000 members of the organization and receive a $500 award. It was the first time the award went to a Texan.

Robert A. Manire, state director of vocational agriculture for the state board of vocational education, said that from the time he first enrolled in vocational agriculture Ellison has been a strong believer in cooperative work among boys and men.

He has held several offices in local and district units of the FFA and has served on several judging teams. He participated in 15 projects undertaken cooperatively by members of his chapter while in high school and since graduation has been a member of the Lubbock County Cooperative association and the Ralls cooperative.

He studied at Texas Tech for three semesters and lived on the home farm for two of these semesters. The third semester he lived on the college farm.

Farming hasn't always been easy for him. He has contended with droughts, pestilence and low prices. But, says Ellison: "I like farming. It's the only life for me. And I believe if we will be good to the soil it will be good to us."

Why Housewives Can Still Get Food in Cans

Much of the food the housewife buys in cans today would not be available were it not for the new electrolytic tinning process developed by U.S. Steel. Our armed forces and lend-lease requirements have first call on the limited tin supply, but this revolutionary method of tinning saves two-thirds of the tin formerly used, and makes it possible also to provide a large proportion of cans needed for civilian foods. This electrolytic method produces an amazingly thin, uniform coating, and, with it, U.S. Steel alone has saved the nation more than five million pounds of tin to date.

St. Louis ended its "streetcar series" Monday afternoon between the Cards and Browns, with the National league champs taking the long end of a 4-2 count in games, and dispelling Brown fans' hopes for another storybook finish such as they witnessed when the Browns clinched their American league pennant by downing the New York Yankees in four straight games, the last four days of the season.

Pitching proved the difference with a new record set by hurlers of both teams when they totaled some 99 batters as strikeout victims, topping the 1931 mark of 87 strikeouts in a seven-game series by the Athletics and Cards. Big Mort Cooper and Denny Galehouse, playing a return engagement after Galehouse and the Browns had dropped the Cards in the opener, provided the new record Sunday by striking out 22 batters, 12 for the Card and 10 for the Brownie.

It was the first time since some 15 years ago that a pitcher had struck out 12 men in one series game, this mark being set by Howard Ehmke for the Philadelphia Athletics at 13 men whiffed against the Chicago Cubs.

Brownie fans across the nation were pulling for the home team to come through yesterday afternoon and take the game to even it all up at three each, but Max Lanier and Ted Wilks pitched a three-hit ball for the winners, and new World's Champions shut out all hopes for another Brownie chance.

At any rate it was one of the best series in recent years and showed that the Browns were not the pinch losers that pre-clash predictors declared. There was never a dull moment during any game, and if the Brownies had jumped on every scoring chance quite a different story might have been told by the score sheets. But Card hurlers always managed to bear down in the clutches and leave runners stranded for the American league champs in their first time in the series. So ends the 1944 baseball season with a storybook finish for the Browns, but one that was certainly earned. In the writer's opinion any one who can down the Yankees four straight games in any kind of a contest get my world's champion pennant without a playoff.

The Randolph Field Ramblers, unquestionably one of the greatest teams in the history of the Southwest, have been receiving a lot of paning by hometown scribes in Houston and Austin after severely drubbing the Rice Owls and Texas Longhorns in the past two Saturdays.

An irate Austin writer, Weldon Hart, even went so far as to demand explanation from the army air forces for the congregation of such a group of stars and questioned them as to why "if the boys are so tough why aren't they over there fighting?" Personally I think that is too much. Most certainly it was quite a severe drubbing that the two Southwest conference title contenders suffered, but most certainly both coaches knew what was coming when they scheduled them. Intention for their program was outlined last spring by the Rambler coaches and there was little question left in the minds of anyone that the Randolph eleven would top most of the nation's gridiron offerings. Why this sudden hue and cry I can't see.

It is to be admitted that it is undignified for the leading teams in the Southwest to go down to such a bitter defeat, but this is a war year and anyone with a little foresight realizes that no one expects a group of youngsters to win such a game. It does not count against anyone particularly, and certainly it should be a treat to see such a team in action as the Ramblers must sponsor.

It strikes me as funny, however, why Hart and others didn't scream about professionals and other stars when last season J. R. Calahan, a lend-lease gift from Texas Tech with three college years behind him, led the Steers to a Southwest conference flag and a tie with the even-then experienced Ramblers led by Glenn Dobbs in the Cotton Bowl. As well as I remember most of the other teams were mostly civilian and young, and even those who had Navy and Marine units failed to keep them all year, or at least failed to show a star-studded aggregation as Texas had. I don't remember any such statements then.

While speaking of Calahan and the Raiders I might mention that an ex-Steer is making quite a showing up there for the Big Red. He is little Bobby Barron and in the opening game with Lubbock Army Air Field, which is the only one I have seen, Bob was quite a bit of dandruff in the Pliers' hair. He is running as blocking back off the T-formation and doing quite a nifty bit of ball handling and passing for Dell Morgan's outfit. With a year of experience and weight Bob should turn out to be one of the top-notch passers and players in these here parts.

Orange Bowl Heads Prepare For Game

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 10 (AP)—The 1945 Orange Bowl football game is nearly three months off, but already two dozen teams are being scheduled as possible participants. C. F. (Jack) Baldwin of the schedule committee said 15 southern teams were on the preliminary list: Georgia Tech, Alabama, Tennessee, Auburn, Mississippi State, Wake Forest, Tulane, Duke, Georgia and Louisiana State. The others are Southern Methodist, Rice, Texas, Texas Christian, Texas A&M, Oklahoma A. and M., Tulsa, Colgate, Holy Cross, Pittsburgh, Villanova, Missouri, Nebraska and Michigan State.

Green steams of young onions will flavor soup and stews.

For the first time during the current season, with the exception of their opener against Colorado City which was a 0-6 loss, the Big Spring Steers go into a game as the favorites, but with their fingers crossed.

Friday night the local eleven will invade the grounds of the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes, which will be the fourth encounter of the year for each team and the first game for the invaders on foreign soil. The Tornado eleven has a better record than the locals, but comparative scores mark the difference.

The Lamesa team opened the season with a 7-0 win over the tough class A Tahoka eleven, while at the same time the Steers dropped a 6-0 decision to the Colorado City team. The next week the locals bounded back for a 33-6 victory over the Cisco Lobos while Lamesa and Brownfield battled to a 6-6 tie. Then while Lubbock dropped Big Spring 25-0, Odessa ran over the Dawson county boys 45-0. Reversing the field, last week the Odessa Browns roared over the Steers 34-6, while Lubbock trimmed Lamesa 40-0.

In the last two games for each team comes the margin of difference, which is almost too slight to speak of. The Steer defensive is certainly much better than their host team's on paper. They held the two winners to less points than did the Tornadoes and scored against the Browns after threatening to score all during the last period against Lubbock. But there is no sure way to judge the two teams as reserves played a big part in the scoring drive against Lubbock, which failed to pay off after the Steers had moved to the two yard line, and whether these reserve men saw action against the Tornadoes there is no way of knowing.

The Steers will go into the game after one of the severest games to date. The Odessa Bronchos showed no mercy on the locals, on the field or the scoreboard. Several Steer players have been nursing bruises and cut lips this week and Kenneth Huett looms as a doubtful starter today. Huett had two teeth broken in the game Friday and missed workout yesterday.

However he is expected to be on the field this afternoon to resume practice. He was the only missing player on the squad out for practice yesterday. Always a tough team to beat on their home ground the neighboring county team will certainly be no cinch win for the Steers and Coach John Dibrell is drilling his eleven hard this week in preparation for a gruelling battle under the lights come Friday.

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, Oct. 10 (AP)—How good is Randolph Field?

Well, listen to the two coaches whose teams have played the Ramblers—Jess Neeley and D. X. Bible.

Neely: "I don't recall ever seeing a football team with so many stars. We dared think we might play Randolph a good game because the Ramblers might not want to play their very best and might not be in the sharpest condition. We learned otherwise." (Score: Randolph 39, Rice 9).

Bible: "Randolph Field has the individuals for one of the greatest football teams of all time. The only question in my mind is: Will these men have the old college urge all season? Will they play hard all the way? It is the greatest collection of stars I ever saw (Bible has been coaching college teams for more than 30 years). But I have seen better teamwork. If Randolph Field gets well-coordinated and keeps its victory spirit, well-coaching would have a lot fewer worries if I had a team like that." (Score: Randolph Field 42, Texas 6).

L. B. McGinnis, of Galveston, father-in-law of Jack Jakucki, star pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, explodes the story that the former Texas leaguer cost St. Louis only a three-cent stamp. The tale has been told that Jakucki, working in the Houston shipyards and pitching semipro ball on the side, got a letter from the Browns asking if he'd like to play, that he accepted and thus he cost only three cents. McGinnis says this is quite erroneous. He reveals that a Brown scout in Houston came to see Jakucki at Galveston several times and that there were a number of telephone calls before Jack finally left to train with St. Louis.

No Play-Off In Post Tournament

There will be no play-off for the post tennis championship at the Big Spring Bombardier school, according to Capt. Floyd B. Burdette, director of physical training and manager of the recent net tournament.

Tennis enthusiasts at the post were disappointed Friday when the scheduled playoff between Lt. Hale H. Hendlin, officers' champion, and S/Sgt. Jerome Pinkston, enlisted men's title winner, was called off at the last minute.

Lt. Hendlin left on a flight under special orders late Friday afternoon, making necessary the cancellation. Capt. Burdette explained. It is not known when he will return. He had been a heavy favorite to annex the post title over the colored star from Section F.

Departure of Lt. Hendlin made it necessary for him and his partner, Major Herbert Moreland, to forfeit the officers' doubles title to Capt. Roland F. Hatfield and Lt. Barney McCoy.

Official's singles champion: Lt. Hendlin.
Enlisted men's singles champions: S/Sgt. Pinkston.
Officers' doubles champions: Capt. Hatfield and Lt. McCoy.

Badminton Tourney Resumes Tuesday

The officers' badminton tournament at the Big Spring Bombardier school will resume Tuesday with six contestants remaining to battle it out for the singles title.

The quarterfinal matches will pair Lt. Frank Wones against F/O Donovan O. Otteson; Major Arthur Foukas vs. Lt. John Lee; Capt. John J. Auerbach vs. Lt. Joseph Wheeler. Lt. Wheeler, winner of the championship last year, is a favorite to repeat in the current competition.

Trophies with a gold shuttlecock mounted on a wooden base will be awarded the winners.

Without Painful Backache
Many suffer today owing to backache which is caused by the fact that the kidneys are Nature's chief way of filtering the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 5 quarts of urine daily.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause headach, backache, rheumatoid pain, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sensations shows there is something wrong with your kidneys.

As Chick sees it, the pros should make a special effort not to detract from the college coaches' importance... They're all in the same game, he argues, but in different sectors. The high school coach, for instance, is a local figure; for college coaches take on state-wide or even nation-wide importance; but the pro coach is mainly concerned with his own community... of course, they all depend to some extent on the same fans, but Meehan says his trans-America league is steering away from cities where Sunday afternoon school or college ball is a big thing... That, of course, might be merely showing that Chick is a smart promoter.

The Bitter End
Walt Woods and Harold Bradbury, who work together in Canton, Ill., had two-bits bet on the opening game of the world series, reports Scribe Jimmie Murphy. Woods won. Next day Bradbury wanted to get even but Woods refused to listen until his pal said: "I'll bet you two bits the Cardinals score in the eleventh inning today."... Woods, of course, jumped at that one and displayed a very red face when the game went into extra innings and the Cards finally won in the eleventh.

SWC Teams Bear Down For Tilts

Southwest conference grid teams bore down in practice today faced with the problem of competing in four intersectional games this weekend.

The only non-intersectional battle finds Southern Methodist meeting the Randolph Field powerhouse at San Antonio Saturday, the third conference team to play the Ramblers, who hold 59-0 and 42-6 wins over Rice and Texas, respectively.

Topping the intersectional games is the annual Texas-Oklahoma classic to be played Saturday in Dallas. Texas head coach D. X. Bible said his objective for the week was to assemble the best possible lineup and try to give it more polish before the Sooner game which he and assistant coach Blah Cherry listed as a difficult assignment. Halfback Bobby Layne, Texas sparkplug, and tackle Jim Plyler, defensive stalwart, missed the Randolph Field game last week because of injuries but both appeared likely to start against Oklahoma.

Coach Glen Rose put his Arkansas Razorbacks through a chalk talk drill and loosening up exercises yesterday in preparation for their game Saturday with the Norman, Okla., Navy Air Station at Fayetteville, Ark. The Porkers emerged from their 6-6 tie with Texas Christian last week in good shape.

At College Station, two Texas Aggies who have been alling were expected to be in top shape Saturday night for the battle with Louisiana State at Baton Rouge. Cotton Howell, end, and guard Sleepy League will be ready after being out since the Texas Tech game.

Although Houston's Rice Owls came out of their Louisiana State game without injuries, Coach Jess Neely viewed the current week's game with Tulane at New Orleans with pessimism. "I'm just afraid they have too much for us," he said. "They have just about the same team they had last year." Tulane beat Rice 33-0 in 1943.

Superb Pitching Leads Cardinal Nine To World Championship Flag

By JACK HAND
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10 (AP)—The best team in baseball won the world series and that's as it should be.

Superb strikeout pitching and perfect infield play by the St. Louis Cardinals with an occasional flash of power cooled off the Browns' hot streak and left them a beaten ball club, losers 4 to 2 in games after a tough uphill struggle in a six-tit battle at Sportsman's Park.

Overshadowed by the total of 92 third-strike victims that swept all series records off the books was the routine destruction of American league rallies engineered by Marty Marion and the other Cardinal infielders who supplemented "Mr. Shortstop." The Red Bird quartet handled 124 chances without a boot while the Brownie inner circle bobbled seven of 126 tries.

It was pitching again in yesterday's finale played before a chilled, top-coated congregation of only 31,630, when Billy Southworth's crew regained the world championship they lost to the Yankees a year ago. Outstanding in the Nationals' 3-1 clinching victory was the relief pitching of freshman Ted Wilks who failed miserably on his only start in the third game.

The Fulton (NY) Polish had regained the confidence his 17-4 season record justified by stopping the Browns without a hit in 3-2-3 innings after starter Max Lanier went haywire on a wild streak in the sixth.

Wilks fanned four and Lanier whiffed five, making it 49 strikeouts thrown by the Card staff for another new record. The previous high for a six-game set was 44 hung up by the Chief Bender-Jack Coombs-Eddie Plank trio for the Athletics against the Giants in 1911.

Three singles mixed in with a costly error by Vern Stephens and a walk in the fourth inning scored three runs, overcame the Brown's 1-0 lead and meant the ball game.

Although the victors outthrew the Browns, 240 to 183 George McQuinn, Luke Sewell's only consistent performer at the plate, led both teams with a .438 average and drove in five of his club's 12 scores. Emil Verban, the Cards' weak hitting second baseman picked up three for three the last day for a 412 mark that topped Walker Cooper's 318 and Stan Musial's 304. They were the only 300 hitters among the regulars.

There was no standout here and nobody wore the goat's horns. Mort Cooper's feat of striking out 12 men, only one short of Howard Ehmke's all-time record in Sunday's game probably was the biggest thrill for Brother Mort who really blazed that fast one right past the American leaguers that day. For the Browns, Mark Christman's failure to hit was a major disappointment but the entire club was pitifully weak in that department.

When McQuinn beat Cooper with a two-run homer in the first game it looked as though the Browns' streak might carry through to one of the biggest upsets in years. Even after they had lost the 11-inning second game 3-2, it seemed they might yet do the job when Jack Kramer fanned 10 men and won, 6-2, to put them one up Friday.

The Cards started swinging loosely for the fences Saturday as Harry "The Cat" Brecheen pitched himself in and out of trouble to come up with his first series victory 5-1. Cooper's 2-0 win over Denny Galehouse in one of the prettiest duels in recent years was the payoff. Even the most rabid Brownie fans were prepared for yesterday's defeat.

Willkie: Great American

Fate has dealt America a sore blow in the death of Wendell Willkie, a great American by understanded standards.

An unique character was Mr. Willkie, for even though he lost his bid to recapture the republican party's nomination for president, he commanded honest respect and a wide and attentive following. This was a tribute to his forthright personality and to his magnetic and forceful qualities of leadership.

His rise to prominence was typical of those men who made their own way by means of hard work and brains. His beginning was humble enough, yet he became head of one of the nation's largest businesses. In this capacity, he opposed certain government policies with such vigor that he came to public attention.

Soon he had captured the popular imagination of the rank and file of the republican party, and many independent voters, and although he had been a democrat, he was accorded the GOP nomination in one of the major upsets of American political history. The old guard couldn't forgive him for that, nor could they put the yoke on a man of his caliber. And thus it was the die-hards of the party which nominated him possibly did as much to bring about his defeat as the opposing party.

Mr. Willkie was an unusual character in that while a big business man, he was more or less a progressive or a liberal. He was inclined to look well ahead. More than that, he apparently was a man with a sense of economic and social justice. No one could ever accuse him of lacking in fortitude. He was a hard-hitter, but with a clean fighter. This made him a good campaigner and a popular figure.

One of his greatest virtues was to make decisions and to stick to them like a man. It must have been a bitter pill to the man to stake his all on the outcome of the Wisconsin primary and find repudiation as his reward. He took it with his shoulders squared and his head up.

This must have been the way he went out into eternity. Under different circumstances, he might have gone down in history as a president of the United States; but even in the face of odd turns of events, history must accord him a place as a great American.

Worth Inquiring Into

Economic and transportation consideration may be such that we will not be able to exploit one potential resource in this area, but we think the words of Dr. Willard H. Dow are of interest.

Addressing the newly-formed Magnesium association at New York recently, he said that "magnesium holds within itself a greater power to increase wages while at the same time decreasing costs than do all the laws and all the politicians on earth." He added that the country is "close to a potential post-war shortage of magnesium, despite wartime increase in production capacity from six to 800 million pounds a year."

In the light of this, it should not be forgotten that in Borden county there is a field of water with an abnormally high magnesium content. It is far superior to sea water as a source and might be subject to profitable exploitation. At any rate, it is one of these things which we certainly should inquire into more thoroughly.

There were two outstanding reasons why our senate refused to ratify the covenant which President Wilson had sponsored. There was opposition to article ten, providing that "the members of the league undertake the respect and preserve against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league." There also were objections to the six votes of the British empire, as against one vote for Uncle Sam.

Perhaps if the world of that day had experienced the Hitlerian attempt to enslave it, there would have been a different attitude towards the league. Maybe mankind has needed his second cruel lesson to drive home the value of peace.

What the more pessimistic envision is a wholesale exodus from government of some of the men best equipped to handle the big disposal job and a refusal on the part of many others to take jobs under the new Surplus Property Board.

The point that's made, for example, is that no man who hoped to get back into the automobile industry within two years after the close of the war would have anything to do with that division of SPB, which will handle the sale of trucks, jeeps, machinery or plants in which any of the major producers are interested.

The same would be true for all the experts who have been giving their time to government business but hope to return to private business as soon as they can be released.

Carried to extreme, this prohibition could mean that the entire details of disposal would have to be left to government career men or those who have no experience in the articles and markets they are dealing with and no ambition to go farther in those fields in the immediate postwar world.

The War Today

by Dewitt Mackenzie
Associated Press War Analyst

There's only one thing which can make the brave new Dumbarton Oaks program for permanent peace effective, and that's the unselfish and two-fisted determination of the major powers to carry it out, come hell or high water.

Actually the task rests primarily at the outset on the big three—America, Russia and Britain. In their hands is a vast military strength which can compel peace—by force if necessary.

So long as these mighty powers stand together, there will be peace. The moment they fall out, there will be dark trouble—and nobody can stop it.

British Prime Minister Churchill the other day declared:

"The war could easily have been prevented if the League of Nations had used courage and there had been loyalty by the associated nations."

That's a true bill. The league failed (in part) because it lacked guts. It didn't have the courage of its convictions.

It was, in my view, more than lack of guts which made the league fail. One of the main reasons for failure was that some important nations used it for power politics. Blocs of countries, serving self-interest, were pitted against one another. They were suspicious of one another—and with reason. They lacked the courageous determination to make the league work for peace.

There were two outstanding reasons why our senate refused to ratify the covenant which President Wilson had sponsored. There was opposition to article ten, providing that "the members of the league undertake the respect and preserve against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league." There also were objections to the six votes of the British empire, as against one vote for Uncle Sam.

Life's Darkest Moment

Ernie Pyle: Front Line Correspondent Feels Romance Of War Only In Magazine

Editor's Note:— This is No. 25 in a series of Ernie Pyle war stories we are reprinting during Ernie's leave of absence.

BY ERNIE PYLE
ON THE CENTRAL TUNISIAN FRONT, March, 1943 — The other night I was sitting in the room of Lieut. Col. Sam Gormly, a Flying Fortress commander from Los Angeles. We were looking over a six-weeks-old copy of an American picture magazine, the latest to reach us here.

It was full of photos and stories of the war; dramatic tales from the Solomons, from Russia, and right from our own African front. The magazine fascinated me and, when I had finished, I felt an animation about the war I hadn't felt in weeks.

For in the magazine the war seemed romantic and exciting, full of heroics and vitality. I know it really is, and yet I don't seem capable of feeling it. Only in the magazine from America can I catch the real spirit of the war over here.

One of the pictures was the long concrete quays where we landed in Africa. It gave me a little tingle to look at it. For some perverse reason it was more thrilling to look at the picture than it was to march along the dock itself that first day.

"I don't know what the hell's the matter with me," I said. "Here we are right at the front, and yet the war isn't dramatic to me at all."

When I said that, Major Quirk of Bellingham, Wash., rose from his bed onto his elbow. Quirk is a bomber squadron leader.

"It isn't to me either. I know it should be, but it isn't. It's just hard work, and all I want is to finish it and get back home."

So I don't know. Is war dramatic, or isn't it? Certainly there are great tragedies, unbelievable heroics, even a constant undertone of comedy. It is the job of us writers to transfer all that drama back to you folks at home. Most of the other correspondents have the ability to do it. But when I sit down to write, here is what I see instead:

Men at the front suffering and wishing they were somewhere else, men in routine jobs just behind the lines bellyaching because they can't get out, all of them desperately hungry for somebody women to besides themselves, no damn little wine to drink, precious little soap, cold and fairly dirty, just totting from day to day in a world full of insecurity, discomfort, homesickness and a dulled sense of danger.

The drama and romance are here, of course, but they're like the famous falling tree in the forest—they're no good unless there's somebody around to hear. I know of only twice that the war will be romantic to the men over here.

Once when they see the Statue of Liberty, again on their first day back in the home town with the folks.

And speaking of drama, I've just passed up my only opportunity of being dramatic in this war. It was a tough decision either way.

As you've seen, correspondents at last are allowed to go along on bombing missions. I am with a bomber group that I know both in England and elsewhere in Africa, and many of them are personal friends by now. They asked if I cared to go along on a mission over the hot spot of Bizerte.

I knew the day of that invitation would come, and I dreaded it. Not to go, brands you as a coward. To go might make you a slight hero, or a dead duck. Actually I never knew what I'd say until the moment came. When it did come, I said this:

"No, I don't see any sense in me going. Other correspondents have already gone, so I couldn't be the first anyhow. I'd be in the way, and if I got killed my death would have contributed nothing. I'm running chances just being here without sticking my neck out and asking for it. No, I think I won't go. I'm too old to be a hero."

The reaction of the fliers astounded me. I expected them to be politely contemptuous of anyone who declined to do just what they do every day. But their attitude was exactly the opposite, and you could tell they were sincere and not just being nice.

Today And Tomorrow

Tribute To Al Smith

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Those who knew him best admire Al Smith the most, and all would wish if they could to perpetuate his fame. They cannot do this in the ordinary way by erecting a monument to some manifest public achievement with which his name will always be identified. For the greatness of Al Smith was that of the great performer—of the artist who acts his part, who plays his instrument, better than his audience have ever heard it done before.

The stage on which he played his part was not the nation and not the world but the City and the State of New York. On that local stage he was, I shall always believe, the foremost master in our time of the art of popular government. He did not contend with the greatest issues of this epoch: he governed only one state of the 1920's of relative quiet and ease. But though he dealt with issues that few now remember, the way in which he dealt with them left an impress upon those who watched him and followed him that they do not forget.

When we try to define his peculiar distinction, we must say, I think, that he made good government popular in New York. That calls for rare gifts in any democracy. For the business of governing, when you really settle down to it, is over long stretches prosaic and tedious. To a degree which threatens the maintenance of democratic institutions, politicians who must appeal to masses of the voters make their living by talking about almost everything but the business of governing. Even in war time most political oratory has about as much relation to the conduct of the war and the making of peace as the radio plugs for laxatives, deodorants, and hair tonics have to the news of the day.

The greatest menace to popular government lies in this separation between what responsible officials have to do when they administer the government and what politicians talk about when they appeal for votes. For this means that democratic institutions are not educating the people for the tasks of government. While Al Smith was Governor of New York, he bridged this chasm as no one before or since has ever bridged it. He was able to fascinate great audiences with the business of financing and administering public affairs, and to make them share his own interest in problems that the ordinary public relations expert would say were too dull and over the people's heads.

It would be easy to think that he did this because he was such an engaging and amusing human being, and such a good showman. But that would be, I think, to miss the main point, which is that Al Smith knew the city and state like the palm of his hand; he knew the City Hall and the Legislature, and all the men who had been in every part of the state, and who were the head man and who was the janitor. When he thought about the public business, he was not thinking about a mass of boring papers on his desk at Albany but about the living persons and objects that went to make up the business of government.

His mastery of the subject was his real stock in trade; no one who heard him had the least doubt that he knew what he was talking about. There lay the difference between Al Smith and others who also in their own way had popular magic and a catchy style. He stood out above all the other showmen, and grew in popular confidence while they declined, because his were the honest goods, and the people, if they are given long enough to realize it and to choose, do in fact see through the charlatans.

His career is a standing contradiction to the notion, now so current, that experts in public relations can create a synthetic public man, that professionals can be hired to write speeches which will endow him with a fictitious personality, and make him seem to be what he is not. Al Smith was his own public relations expert as every first rate public man has to be in the field, however large or small, where he works.

The notion never entered his head that some one who was not running for office, who had not been elected to office, who had never walked the floor at night worrying over his responsibilities, could be his conscience, his brain and his voice. He would have said, I am sure, that the man who could do that for him ought to be the Governor of New York. For "public relations" is another name for political leadership, the one function of a chief executive that it is impossible to delegate.

Al Smith's speeches were prepared in conversations with his kitchen cabinet, and by cross-examining those who had expert knowledge. But no ghost wrote his speech. When he had gotten all the advice and the suggestions he wanted, he jotted down on an envelope the points he wished to cover, and then he went out before the audience and made, not read, a speech. No one can do that who is not so full of his subject that he has more to say than he has time to say, and is so sure of his knowledge that he is not afraid of making boners. But the effect was convincing in a way that no speech can be which the audience feels intuitively was written by some one who may have known more about the subject than the man who is reading it.

I do not suppose that this conveys much to those who did not know Al Smith when he was at the peak of his powers. For it is not easy to put into words a quality so indefinable, yet so overwhelmingly impressive when you meet it, as his luminous gift of mind and heart for making government altogether sincere in its contact with the people.

Hollywood—Tuttle Is Movieland Ballet Boss

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—If ever Hollywood turns out a movie told in ballet technique, the odds are that Frank Tuttle will be the man to direct it.

He even has a touch of ballet in his Bing Crosby production about a prizefighter, "The Great John L." He had a real ballet dancing — with Linda Darnell dancing — in the film too, but overlength necessitated deletion. This doubtless pained him. What is left is the performance of Simon Semenov, ballet dancer and actor, who took leave of absence from the Ballet Internationale of New York to contribute his feet to pictures—not dancing, but fighting.

Semenov played the French exponent of the form of foot-fighting known as savate, in the story, tangled with and nearly knocked out the American pugilist Sullivan. Savate required nimbleness of feet, hence Semenov—who played his role after a couple of weeks' practice in a Hollywood gym.

Tuttle's interest in ballet began when, after graduating from Yale, he went on tour as press agent for Diaghileff's Ballet Russe, with Nijinsky as star. And then he met and married Tatiana Smirnova, ballet dancer. It was Mrs. Tuttle who, about 12 years ago, made the screen's first experimental ballet short, with David Lichine and then little known Nana Goliner.

Tuttle himself, who has directed musicals and vigorous melodramas like "This Gun for Hire" and now is detailing the life and loves of a ring champ, says he is working on an idea for a screen ballet.

John Auger, producer and director of RKO's "Pan-Americana," believes he has the perfect answer to the good-neighbor type of movie — one that can't possibly offend, through Hollywood ignorance or saucerisms our neighbors of the south.

The answer: "Our story is set in three Latin-American countries—Mexico, Cuba and Brazil—but all our characters are North American. We are using authentic songs composed by Latin Americans, and authentic Latin American talent in song and dance, but we're not trying to show the people down there a Hollywood conception of their lives and customs. Even the heavy, Isabella, turns out to be a Latin from Brooklyn—

PLANE OVERDUE

ALEXANDRIA, La., Oct. 10 (AP)—Ester Field Army Air Corps officials today asked residents in the Jasper, Tex., area to look for a P-40 plane piloted by Capt. John W. Meredith, Pollock Air Field, which has been overdue since last Saturday on a flight from Houston.

Pollock is an Ester sub-base. Ester reported it received word that the plane was believed to have been seen in the Jasper area.

Iron Lung Fund Has $100 Stride

The VFW Iron Lung fund took another $100 stride Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning as response began to spread in proportions.

Among donors was L. C. J. Mahr, an overseas veteran, who overheard talk about the drive and wanted a share of it. Continuing to say a good word for the fund in odd moments, Pancho Nall ran the amount he has brought in single-handed to more than $100, and Tuesday morning he was enroute to the oilfields to receive iron lung gifts from the people of that area.

Gifts may be mailed or brought to The Herald office.

Farm Loan Unit To Hold Session

Annual stockholders meeting of the Big Spring National Farm Loan association will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday in the association offices in the State National Bank building, Ira Driver, secretary, announced Tuesday.

Directors whose terms expire are W. S. Satterwhite and M. M. Edwards. Hold-overs are Walter Robinson, C. E. Anderson, and A. J. Stallings.

The local association shows total assets of $100,046, of which $4,519 is in cash, $1,585 in accounts receivable, $28,700 in investments, $58,300 in Federal Land Bank stock, and $6,940 in an indemnity account. There are slightly less than 300 members who have a total of 391 land bank loans in force in the amount of $1,156,420. In addition, 185 commissioner loans are outstanding in the amount of $309,900. As recent as two years ago the total loans stood well above two millions.

In Texas more than 153,000 land bank loans for $148,000,000 have been handed since 1917 when federal funds were advanced to establish the land bank. Federal funds long since have been repaid and today the 153 local associations in Texas have a big stake in the 10 millions capital stock and 30 millions of dollars surplus in the land bank set-up, according to Driver.

Auxiliary presidents led a discussion period. The afternoon's program includes music, worship service conducted by Rev. J. E. Moore, pastor of the host church; speeches by Mrs. Thomas D. Murphy of Fort Stockton and Mrs. Preston A. Black of Barstow and a business session. A luncheon was conducted at noon.

Mrs. Sam Baker is presiding in absence of Mrs. R. V. Middleton, Presbyterial vice president, who is ill.

SHAEP Press Section Established In Paris

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—The press section of Supreme Allied Headquarters moved to Paris today with 45 war correspondents.

The correspondents attended the regular morning "briefing" at old SHAEP headquarters in Britain and had one hour to write their stories before boarding special planes for France. The customary afternoon conference was scheduled for 5 p. m. at the new press headquarters in a Paris hotel.

"Moving closer to the front will shorten our lines of communication many miles and should considerably speed up the relay of official news," a SHAEP spokesman said.

For the initial move, press services were permitted to send two correspondents and individual newspapers one. The Associated Press is represented by James M. Long and Lewis E. Hawkins.

Special WAC Film Now Showing Here

"To the Ladies," a two-reel short subject, is being shown at the Ritz theatre today and Wednesday in behalf of the army's earnest appeal to enlist 22,000 women as hospital technicians.

The Ritz is cooperating in an Eighth Service Command program to call attention to the women of America to the desperate need for technicians. Casualties have been great and are steadily increasing in number, according to army statements, leaving military hospitals dangerously understaffed in many instances.

Particularly needed are laboratory, dental, medical, x-ray, surgical technicians, medical stenographers and psychiatric social workers and assistants.

Complete information may be had by contacting Lt. Dede Cook or her aides at the WAC recruiting office in the post office basement.

Poage Says France Needs Government

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Rep. Poage (D-Tex.) returned from a trip to Europe with five other members of the house, predicted: "Unless we step in and set up a government for France or recognize some element and stabilize internal affairs chaos and anarchy will exist."

Poage, an advocate of "hard" peace terms for Germany, said he was surprised "to find so many people in England" in favor of relatively easy terms of surrender.

Another who made the trip, Rep. Fisher (D-Tex.), said he thought peace terms should be severe enough to prevent future aggression and that he believed most Englishmen favored destruction of German militarism.

With minorities clamoring for control in France, said Poage, there "will be a problem to retain law and order when winter comes and food and fuel shortages haunt the people of Paris and other big cities."

Von Rautter Guilty On Espionage Charge

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—Wilhelm Albrecht von Pressentin Gennant von Rautter, 44-year-old naturalized American who pleaded guilty to espionage with the plea that he was "forced into it almost at pistol point," was sentenced to 29 years in a federal penitentiary today.

Von Rautter, who was arrested Jan. 11 in his apartment near the Brooklyn Navy Yard, had told Federal Judge Grover C. Mowcowitz that he was forced into espionage work by the Gestapo who had threatened his family in Germany.

He was charged with attempting to send information to Germany by writing in invisible ink between the lines of apparently innocent typewritten letters.

FBI Head J. Edgar Hoover said at the time of Von Rautter's arrest that the man was a German count and had been trained in espionage.

Stevenson Willing To Arbitrate Fight

AUSTIN, Oct. 10 (AP)—Gov. Coke Stevenson said today he would be willing to arbitrate general differences between University of Texas regents and President Homer P. Rainey, if he were asked to do so.

The governor said, however, he would not volunteer his services and did not intend to do so unless specifically requested.

Asked if he was referring to the current controversy between university officials and Regent D. F. Strickland of Mission, over a report that Strickland through Vice-President J. Alton Burdine had told Rainey that he was making too many speeches, Stevenson said: "No, I am referring to general differences."

Strickland has denied that he had originated any message for relay to Dr. Rainey concerning his speeches.

Union Leader Says Wage To Be Dropped

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 10 (AP)—George A. Haberman, president of the Wisconsin state federation of labor (AFL), declared last night that he had been told by an official he did not identify that the Little Steel wage formula was due to be abolished by Sunday.

Speaking at a meeting of local 534 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Haberman asserted that the new wage limit would be "25 per cent above" the level of January, 1941, or 10 per cent over the wage increases allowable under the Little Steel formula.

"You can look toward that increase," he said. "Unions now in the process of wage negotiations should proceed under that assumption."
