

SECOND BOND ELECTION COMING

WEED WARRIERS IN ACTION—Shown here near the home of W. J. Banks, where the machine has been in operation, is the two-purpose weed-killer devised and operated by R. D. Hensley, Farwell school maintenance man. The large tank near the motor of the tractor is a tank containing 2-4-D weed spray, and at the rear of the machine can be seen the mower attachment. This mower can be quickly detached to make room for a compressor unit to furnish power for the sprayer.

Local Driver's License Figures In Exploits Of Wild Hot-Check Artist

Law enforcement officers of Texas, Oklahoma, and California moved one step nearer apprehension of an unknown wild hot-check artist, who has left a string of worthless checks in Texas and Oklahoma the past two weeks.

Sheriff Charley Lovelace today revealed the hot-checker, who has issued at least one thousand dollars in worthless checks on Security State Bank of this city, has been using the automobile license of John D. Lovelace, brother of Sheriff Lovelace, of this city, for identification purposes when cashing his bogus instruments.

Duke Skinner, county attorney at Shawnee, in a telephone conversation with officials at the local bank, said the much-sought artist had in possession a driver's license issued to John D. Lovelace of this city, when he presented one of his numerous $75 checks for payment at a Shawnee business firm.

Officers here recalled that the John Lovelace farm home, five miles southeast of here, was burglarized some two or three months ago, and the license was evidently picked up at that time.

A California sheriff notified the local sheriff's department here the first of the week he holds a warrant for the man who was operating under the name of J. D. Lovelace in that state.

In addition to cashing the checks amounting to "about one thousand dollars" on the local bank, the crook is believed to have been engaged in stealing automobiles also. Sheriff Lovelace said Tuesday a check with the Motor Vehicle Department at Austin revealed the license plates used by the unknown man had evidently been stolen from another car in north Texas.

Search for the mysterious "J. D. Lovelace" began early last week when a stream of $75 checks began to arrive at the Farwell bank. All checks are identical, and have been cashed at different places in Oklahoma and Texas.

The checks were drawn on Security State Bank of this city, and were made payable to J. D. Lovelace and were drawn on the account of Cline & Sons, signed by C. L. Cline.

TO DISCUSS WELL PROSPECTS

Prospects for installation of a well in Oklahoma Lane cemetery will be discussed at the annual basket lunch picnic July 4th at the community school house, the Rev. J. J. Terry informed Tuesday. He said all persons interested in the project should make it a point to attend the festivities.

FRIONA GIRL LOCATED

Mary Louise Childs, 15-year-old Friona girl, who was reported to have mysteriously disappeared while attending a carnival in Friona Friday night, was located the next day in the home of friends.

"Necessity is the mother of invention," goes the old axiom. R. D. Hensley, maintenance employee of Farwell schools, put timely advice to good use last week, when he assembled a two-purpose weed remover designed to end weed trouble for both the school and "any others who want to pay a little to have them removed."

Hensley's invention, a combination weed mower and sprayer, was dreamed up mainly to rid the school grounds of unsightly growth. "It's kind of a three-way proposition," was the way Hensley described the set-up when asked just who sponsored the contraption. "The ag department furnished the junk, the school furnished the funds for work, and Hensley put the thing together," said Robert Morton, FFA instructor, who happened to be within earshot of the inventor.

The inventor told a reporter that he could not set a definite price on weed-cutting operations for all who possibly were interested in securing his services, as some of the areas asked to be cleared were much rougher and made it difficult to do a satisfactory job removing the weeds. "We can kill them two ways—with the mower, or with the pressure sprayer," informed Hensley, adding "the sprayer is probably better for the smaller weeds, while the mower will fell the tall ones."

Parties interested in having work done should contact Superintendent Jack Williams, or the inventor himself.

Sheriff Warns About Hot Check Operators

Sheriff Charley Lovelace today issued a warning to all persons in Farmer county to be extremely cautious about accepting checks from strangers, and at the same time cautioned farmers to use care in issuing checks to unknown persons.

He said with the wheat harvest in progress, there were a number of transient workers in the county and already bad checks are beginning to make their appearance. One case of forgery is also reported.

Merchants and filling station operators, who seem to be the main target for hot-check operators, are advised by Sheriff Lovelace to refuse to cash stranger's checks unless they are certain of their identity. Checks purportedly given by farmers in exchange for labor are often forged instruments, the sheriff warned.

SALES MANAGER

Gene Coffman of Friona has accepted a position with Sikes Motor Company of this city as sales manager. Mr. and Mrs. Coffman were here the first of the week looking for a location for the family, and will move here just as soon as accommodations can be secured.

Rev. J. J. Terry, pastor of the Oklahoma Lane Baptist church, will speak over KICA Saturday, July 2, at 3 p. m.

Mother Of Farwell Lady Buried Sunday

Funeral services for Mrs. M. C. Green, 74, mother of Mrs. Travis Brown of this city, were conducted at the Bethesda Baptist church, the oldest church organization in Johnson County, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Green, who had been a resident of Johnson County all her life, died in a Cleburne hospital last Friday after an illness of nine weeks. She was a resident of Burleson, a small community ten miles south of Fort Worth. Her husband preceded her in death about a year ago.

Attending the funeral from here were Mr. and Mrs. Travis Brown and daughter, Yesletta, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ford. They all returned home Monday.

Mrs. Lovelace Resigns As Deputy County Clerk

Mrs. Dorothy Lovelace, who has served as deputy county and district clerk for the past seven years, announced today she has tendered her resignation, effective July 1.

Clerk Loyde Brewer stated that Mrs. Rosa Lee Tabor, of Bovina, had been selected to succeed Mrs. Lovelace, and was spending her time in the office now getting acquainted with the duties. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Denney, long-time residents of Bovina.

Mrs. Lovelace said she would devote her time to assisting her husband, Woodrow Lovelace, in operation of the Texas Company wholesale plant in Farwell.

Some Improvement In Polio Victim's Case

Slight improvement has been noted in the condition of Donald Ray Verner, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Verner, who is receiving treatment in the polio clinic at Plainview, relatives reported early this week.

His condition was described as "not so good" over the past weekend and Sunday, but since that time he has been showing some, although slight, improvement.

His respiratory organs seem to be the most affected part of his body making breathing difficult, and consequently a great deal of his time is spent in an iron lung. His arms are also affected, family members reported.

PLAN VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Roop of Houston Lumber Co., plan to leave here Friday for Ballinger, where they will remain until the following Tuesday visiting in the home of their son, Clarence Roop and family. The lumber yard will be closed on July 4th, Roop stated.

NEICE DIES OF POLIO

Mrs. L. C. Moore of Bovina was called to Sulphur Springs, Okla., last week after the death of her 12-year-old niece, Nora Belle Stoneman, a victim of infantile paralysis.

Mass Meetings Called To Designate Roads

Mass meetings have been called for the people of Precinct No. 3 and No. 4 to be Thursday and Friday, June 30 and July 1 for the purpose of designating the routes of roads to be followed in the second county-wide road bond election, which will be submitted to voters in the near future.

The people of Farwell, Oklahoma Lane, and Lariat, which comprise Precinct No. 3, will meet at the courthouse Thursday night, while citizens of Precinct No. 4 (Lazbuddy) are called to meet Friday night at the school house.

The hour of both meetings has been set at 8:45 o'clock.

Officials expressed hope that a full representative group would attend these meetings, which are of paramount importance in locating the routes to be set forth in an election call.

Road routes in Precincts No. 1 and No. 2 will remain the same as those designated in the election held May 28, which lacked eight votes of the necessary two-thirds majority.

Wheat Yields Top Most Early Estimates

With harvesting operations already completed in a number of the smaller fields of Farmer County during the past week, a definite account of the yields was being made early this week.

Ideal harvesting weather has prevailed throughout the county during the past week, allowing many growers in the southern part of Farmer and Curry Counties to complete their combinings.

Observers here calculated virtually all the wheat in the southern part of the county would be in bins by the latter part of this week.

Further north, the harvest is not as far along. Many fields north of Bovina are just being entered by combines, while in the extreme northern part of the county, particularly in the Bootleg neighborhood, wheat was not expected to be ready for harvest before the end of the present week.

As reports began to become available, it appears that few, if any, are yielding less than 20 bushels per acre, with some growers reporting yields ranging as high as 30 to 45 bushels. Thirty-bushel yields are not uncommon, but 40 to 50 bushel turn-outs are few and far between.

So far as has been reported here, Harold Carpenter, who farms northeast of this city, gathered 45 bushels to an acre from his small patch of 2 1/2 irrigated acres of grain.

However, Carpenter reports, it was only watered one time. Moving further northeast, G. L. Hough, farming 7 miles northeast of Friona, reports a 40-bushel yield after sustaining a 42 percent hail loss.

While storage space in some centers was becoming scarce, grain buyers over the county generally still

Tax Valuations Same As Past Three Years

Valuations for taxable purposes on land and personal property in Farmer County will remain at the same level they have been the past three years, which is 95 cents on the $100 valuation, for county and state taxes.

This was one of the main items of business transacted when Commissioners Court was in session here Monday.

Valuations for school purposes are not a matter for the Commissioners to handle and vary according to the needs of the district.

The Court heard the complaint of Mrs. Freda Finley and agreed to an adjustment in her valuations on three quarters of a section of land in Syndicate Block A.

Tuesday, July 11, at 2 p. m. in the county courthouse was the date, time and place set for conducting a public hearing on the county budget.

Tuesday, July 11, at 2 p. m. in the county courthouse was the date, time and place set for conducting a public hearing on the county budget.

A second county-wide election for the purpose of voting on a road bond issue in the amount of $800,000 to be used in the construction of farm-to-market roads in Farmer County will be called when the Farmer County Commissioners Court meets here on Tuesday, July 5.

That, in substance, was the agreement reached here Monday when the Commissioners Court heard representative groups from all parts of the county and considered two petitions submitted to them. One petition asked for creation of a special road district, embracing about half of the county, and the other petition sought a second county-wide road bond election.

Supporters of the special road district move, mainly citizens of Friona, expressed themselves willing to forego their desires with the calling of the county-wide election, officials here reported.

Date of the second bond election will be set when the Commissioners meet July 5. Previously, on May 28, voters of the county, by a narrow margin of eight ballots, turned down a bond issue in the amount of $1,150,000.

Members of the Commissioners Court who went to Austin last week, where they had conference with State Highway Engineer Greer, reported on their return that Mr. Greer's only suggestion was for the county to continue its own program of road building, and to disregard routes already under consideration by the state, since state action had already been decided beforehand.

He reaffirmed the intention of the State Highway Department to carry out previous commitments with reference to farm-to-market roads in Farmer County.

Such State roads would include Bovina to Lariat, Oklahoma Lane school house to the "twin houses," and completion of the Friona to Bailey County line road.

Commissioners Court, while in session here Monday, passed an order to the effect that money from the bonds, if voted, would be divided in the same manner now being used in distribution of road and bridge funds to the four precincts of the county.

Under such distribution Precinct No. 1 would receive 30 percent of the bond money; Precinct No. 2, 25 percent; Precinct No. 3, 23 percent, and Precinct No. 4, 22 percent.

County Attorney Sam Aldridge has been authorized to draw up the road bond election proclamation and have it ready when the Court meets next Tuesday.

The County Attorney was instructed to designate routes to be followed in the road building program, and he explained today it would be necessary for the people of Precinct No. 3 (Farwell and Oklahoma Lane), and Precinct No. 4 (Lazbuddy) to hold mass meetings and agree upon the routes of the roads.

Accordingly, mass meetings will be held at Farwell and Lazbuddy Thursday and Friday, respectively, of the present week to map out the road programs of these two precincts. The road routes of Precincts 1 and 2 will remain the same as those agreed on in the May election, it is understood here.

FAITHFUL FISHERMEN FALTER

Readers of The Tribune are aware of the recent success of local fishing enthusiasts. The fact is, the entire Tribune staff was aware of the surprising amount of evidence returned from numerous excursions to lakes where "the big ones don't get away."

So the force went fishing—the brute force, that is. Three expectant newsmen out for the slippery fish—what a story! They packed their colorful (and smelly) paraphernalia into a borrowed trailer and set out for what they hoped would be golden hours in a fisherman's paradise—Conchas Lake.

They were out for records—and got some unbelievable ones: 120-degree heat, 18 hours of sun in every blistering day, three days of existence on vienna sausage and crackers, a consequential state of malnutrition, 237 mosquito wells, no strikes (only one stroke), and one (1) fish.

They said the swimming would have been fine, but they were so weak they couldn't wiggle their arms and legs to stay afloat. They also swore a protest against careless boat drivers, who (they insisted) side-swiped their scow and caused them to lose a stringer of fish that dangled from the edge of the craft.

At any rate, they returned home Saturday afternoon, with a well-rehearsed hard-luck story. They planned to have a picture of their fish in this week's paper, but a local photographer maintained he didn't have the complex enlarging equipment necessary.

Health Notes

By Texas Department of Health

AUSTIN.—The people of Texas have been fortunate in escaping any serious outbreaks of typhus fever this year, the total number of reported cases so far being 133. This is a gratifying decrease in the incidence of this disease, but at the same time, it is well to warn that only continued stringent rodent-control measures will hold this disease in check.

This is the advice of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, who says that "typhus is one of the most debilitating of all diseases, and the long drawn-out illness results in such loss of time that this factor is usually even more expensive to the victim, than his doctor and hospital bills."

Inasmuch as typhus fever is transmitted to man by the rat flea, the control of typhus depends almost entirely upon ridding ourselves of rats. No garbage should be left exposed where they can get to it and feed. Granaries and feed houses should be rat-proofed so that rats are starved out. All rat harborages such as trash piles, piles of old lumber, accessive quarters in the walls and foundations of buildings can be effectively rat-proofed at a comparatively low cost, and the sickness is always much less than the damage that can be done by rats, and the sickness they can spread.

"When the rat is gone, typhus fever will go also," Dr. Cox said. "Keep building out, starving out, and killing all rats, and typhus fever will no longer menace the health of our people."

Levelland All Set For Rodeo, July 2-3-4

LEVELLAND—This thriving West Texas City is getting into its best Western bib and tucker in preparation for the annual Levelland Rodeo, Saturday, July 2, Sunday, July 3, and Monday, July 4. All the trappings of a genuine western thriller are being unfurled for display at these three rodeo heydays, by the hospitable citizens of Levelland. Sponsoring the Levelland Rodeo is the Levelland Rodeo Association, a non-profit organization of business men, cowboys, ranchers, and farmers—one of the oldest community rodeos in the Southwest. The Levelland Rodeo boasts one of the biggest and best rodeo arenas in West Texas and features new facilities.

Tim Holt, famous movie star and son of a star, will head the great parade to begin on the Fourth of July. The procession of horses, riders and floats is scheduled to get under way at noon. The Lubbock County Sheriff's Posse and other riding groups have been invited to participate. Immediately following this impressive spectacle, the final two performances of the Levelland Rodeo will swing into action one mile southwest of Levelland, in the new Rodeo Association arena.

In addition to Holt, Elmer R. Robison of West Mineral, Kansas, will be on hand with his trained jumping brahma bull and sensational roman horse act.

Contest events which will qualify winners for a share of the $3950 purse, with entrance fee added, are in the best of rodeo tradition. Bareback bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, bulldogging, bull riding, calf roping, team tying, and ladies' sponsor event are all part of the thrill-menu to be served the spectators at the Levelland Rodeo July 2, 3, and 4.

Modern site of this year's Levelland Rodeo is a new arena and covered grandstand, seating over 3000 persons. Also, there is a new Rodeo Association clubhouse, where dances will be held on the evenings of July 2 and 4. The Sunshine Trio, of Southwestern radio fame, will furnish western rhythms for both occasions. Refreshments are to be handled at the rodeo by an experienced concessionaire. Arrangements have been made to care for all of the thousands expected to attend. There are adequate parking facilities on the grounds to care for large crowds at each performance.

Admission prices established for the Levelland Rodeo by the Association are; general admission, $1.50, and reserved seats, $1.00, both tax included. Tickets are being sold at D. N. Bills' Butane, Inc., Levelland. Cash, check, or money orders will be accepted if ordering by mail.

Seven Steps In Farm Fuel Conservation

COLLEGE STATION—Right on the farm is the place for fuel conservation to begin. And the farm tractor is the first machine on the farm to begin with.

Tractor owners in Texas own nearly 215,000 tractors, and from this number, it's estimated that 21 million gallons—just a hundred gallons a tractor—is wasted every year. That's just in Texas alone.

W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer of Texas A. and M. College, says there are at least seven good ways to save gasoline in order to cut down on the large amount wasted.

- Here they are:
1. Don't let the motor idle when the tractor is not in use. Cut off the engine when hooking up equipment.
 2. Look ahead. Figure out about how much you'll need and when you will need it. Then tell the tank wagon salesman well in advance.
 3. Prepare all the farm storage possible ahead of time, and see that all drums are in good repair. If you need more storage, get the new drums ready before hand.
 4. Make one trip to town do for many. Keep on hand a supply of spark plugs, fan belts, tools, gaskets and other day-to-day tractor repair parts.
 5. Haul full loads whenever possible.

6. Tune up the engine during slack periods when it isn't needed in the field. And don't forget to adjust the carburetor.

7. Put your equipment in field in the best possible condition. By doing so you'll prevent costly breakdowns when in use.

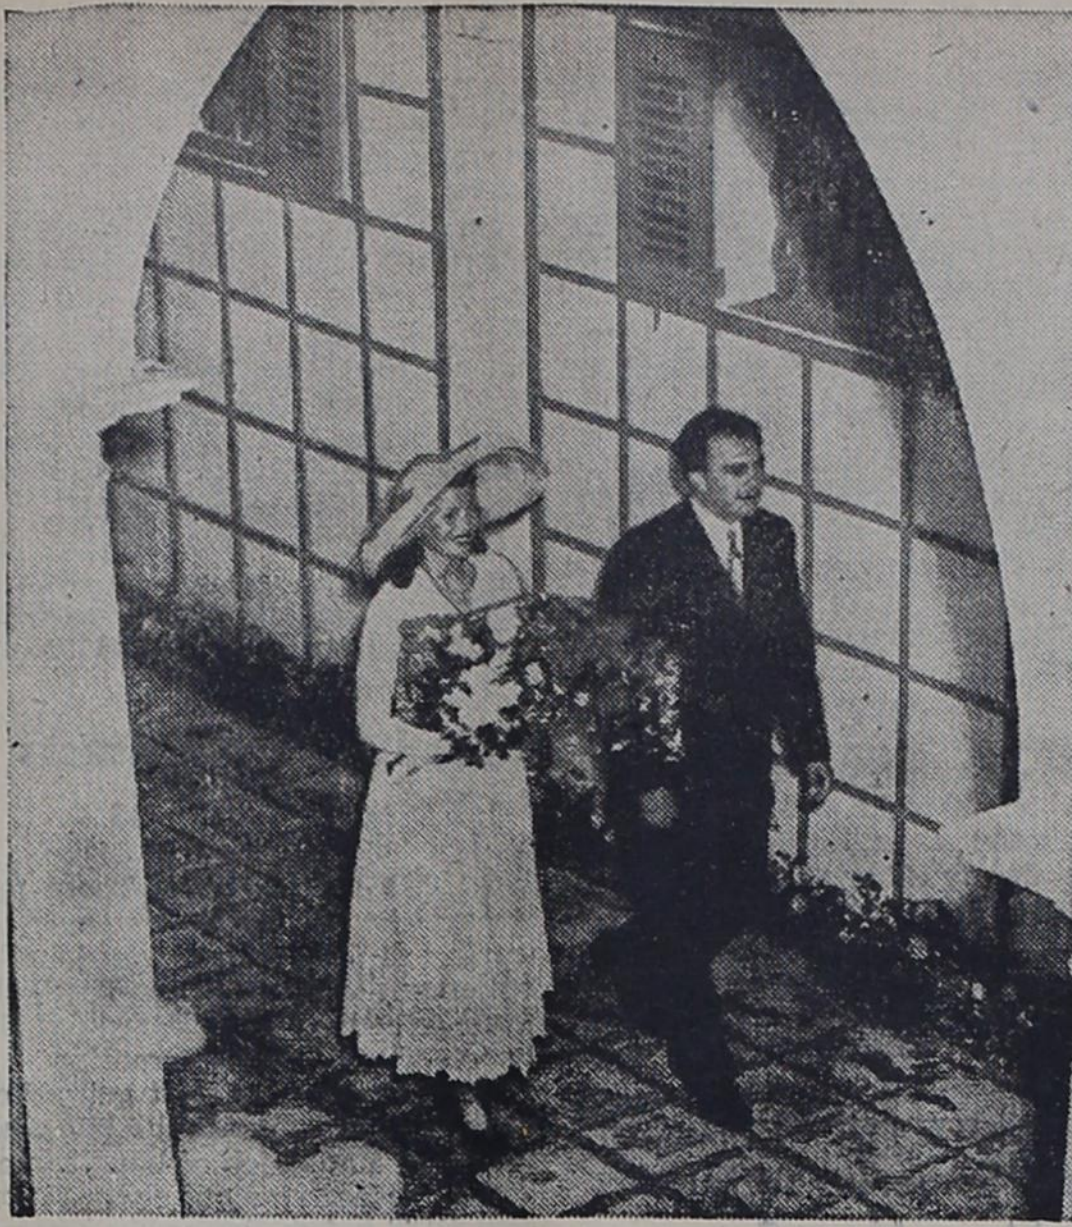

So, here's another 7-Step program the farmer may find to good advantage, Ulich concludes.

Deadline For Minature Auto Body Models Set

DETROIT, Mich.—Judging of model cars to be entered in the 1949 Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild competition will begin July 7, it was announced today by W. S. McLean, Guild secretary.

Deadline for entry of the minature automobiles is midnight, July 1, at which time models must have either been placed in the hands of Railway Express, or delivered to the judging point in Detroit, McLean said. Full instructions on shipping will be sent to the youthful model-builders.

Judges for the competition again will be experts from General Motors Styling Section, industrial arts instructors from Detroit public schools, and members of the Guild's Technical Department. Judging will be carried on in the General Motors Building showrooms where models will be on public display.

END OF THAT LONG CHASE . . . Everybody exhale. Rita Hayworth and Aly Khan have reached the end of their courtship and are now blissfully wedded and pursuing a modest honeymoon on the continent. This photo (just one of thousands) was made as they strolled under an archway at Aly's Chateau de l'Horizon after their civil marriage ceremony. They were wed by the Communist mayor of Vallauris, a little village about two miles from the Mediterranean coast.

Whereas last year judging of models from 21 eastern states and the District of Columbia was done in New York City, all states will send their entries to Detroit this year to provide one of the greatest displays of original automobile styling in Guild history.

Judges will select 14 award winners for each state and the District of Columbia, evenly divided between the Junior (12 through 15) and Senior (16 through 19) age divisions. State winners will be matched against other state winners in their regions for regional awards—40 in all—which will be expense-free trips to the Guild convention to be held in Detroit late in August.

State awards are, in each age division, $150 for first; $100 for second; $50 for third, and four honorable mentions which are model builder's tool chests. At the national convention eight winners will be selected to receive university scholarships, two each in the amounts of $4,000, $3,000, $2,000 and $1,000.

Duplicate awards will be made to General Motors employees' sons in the competition if they place among the winners, thus insuring that the grand total of 691 awards, aggregating $65,000, will be open to boys outside GM.

Probably the main cause of colic in horses is sudden changes in feeding habits. Feed them regularly with high quality hays and grains. Water temperature for drinking should be cool in the summer and moderately warm in the winter.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON BUDGET

The Commissioner Court of Parmer County, Texas, will convene at the courthouse in Farwell, Texas, at a regular meeting on July 11, 1949, at 2:00 p. m. to adopt amended budget for Parmer County. All persons who are interested are invited to be present for the adoption of the county budget.
A. D. SMITH, county judge

Bobby King of Muleshoe, spent the past week in the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Newton.

No Machinery Shortage For Wheat Harvest

"Parmer county farmers do not seem to be suffering much shortage of machinery," said County Agent Ollie Limer in an interview Monday. He was questioned because a brief survey taken last week indicated that Parmer county farmers could easily dispose of a number of combines that might be available for harvest work.

Limer said there was no shortage of hauling equipment either, since post-war automotive production has assured farmers an ample supply of trucks for grain transportation. Limer admitted that in recent years a need for trucks had made itself evident during harvest, but added the time of such shortage was apparently over.

He estimated the average wheat yield at about 18 to 20 bushels, and confirmed a question directed him that the "yield was comparatively high." An estimate made by him Monday put the acreage cut in Parmer at about 25 percent. "That may be a little high," said the agent, "but with dry weather continuing, it won't be wrong very long."

New Superintendent To Move Here Soon

To move here "soon after the holidays" will be Agrie Jones, incoming superintendent of Texico schools, and C. B. Stockton, new Texico coach.

Two new residences are under construction for the school officials in north Texico, and completion is believed to be near at hand. Jones, who is at present commuting between Texico and Grady, where he was superintendent for the past two years, said Monday he was unable to give a very thorough account of proposed plans for next year's teaching staff, but said both Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Stockton would be added to the corps.

Mrs. Jones will be a commercial instructor in high school, and Mrs. Stockton will teach in the grade school.

Jones has three children, two of whom will attend Eastern New Mexico University next year, and another that will be a senior in high school. The Jones have come from Grady, where they resided for two years. Before that period, they were residents of Portales. Mrs. Jones taught for four years at ENMC.

Stockton is well known in this area, chiefly due to his success with high school athletes. He is particularly recognized for basketball teams

Guard Against Insects In Your Grain Bins

COLLEGE STATION—Those tiny insects in your grain bin may be small, but they do a tremendous lot of damage to stored grain. That's the word from the USDA Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine.

The first place to start getting rid of them is right inside the bin itself. By doing a good job of bin cleaning, and afterward spraying with 5 per cent DDT before the newly harvested grain is put in, you can to a long way toward killing out the hold-over infestation. Also, you're giving the new grain a chance to escape damage.

Dr. H. G. Johnston, head of the Texas A. and M. College department of entomology, says these tiny insects get one out of every eight bushels of farm stored grain in Texas. Missouri loses one bushel in ten, according to 1948 figures. But in that same year, the national loss average to insects was one in twenty. So, Texas is practically at the top of the "high loss" list.

Entomologists point out that grain losses can be lowered quite a bit by harvesting the grain as soon as it's dry enough for safe storage and by storing it in weather-tight bins that have been made insect free by a thorough cleaning and spraying.

Then, after you've got all the grain in storage, check it now and then to see if the bugs are getting into it. If they are, fumigate with a mixture of ethylene dichloride and carbon tetrachloride at the rate of 3 to 6 gallons per 1,000 bushels, depending on how tight the storage bin is, Dr. Johnston says.

Stored grain insects take 300 million bushels of the nation's total production every year. That much grain is worth a lot of today's prices. So Texas has a long way to go in cutting down her share of the 300 million bushels the insects get, he concludes.

Kenneth I. Brown, president, Association of American Colleges: "You cannot do justice to our Americans culture and keep religion as an elective on the fringe of the campus."

Mrs. Bob Stover has as her guest for the next several days, her mother, Mrs. Reid from Little Rock, Arkansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyde Brewer and son were Sunday visitor in the home of Mrs. Brewer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Vestal, in Friona.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Graham and daughter, Sammie, spent Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Crume, in Friona.

VISITING PRESIDENT WELCOMED AT CATHEDRAL . . . President Eurico Gaspar Dutra of Brazil is greeted at St. Patrick's cathedral in New York by Francis Cardinal Spellman. Check Your Plants Now For Termite Troubles

COLLEGE STATION—Your plants may have termite trouble and you not know it. A plant may be killed by them without showing outward signs of injury. Yet, the inside of the plant may be hollowed out by these wood pests.

Termites often kill trees or shrubs by starting underground in the dead or drying roots of the plant, and working upward, says Sadie Hatfield, extension landscape gardening specialist of Texas A. and M. College. Or they may enter the plant at the ground level, boring into dead or diseased wood that attracts them. When you know your plant has been infested with termites, the best idea is to dig it up and burn it.

If the plant dies without showing any signs of disease, take a look at it and see what the symptoms are. Cut the stems and roots in several places and examine the centers. If they are hollowed out, there's a good chance termites did it, says Miss Hatfield. And they may attack other garden plants unless you destroy them. All dead wood and other decayed vegetable matter should be removed. Treat the soil with DDT, using 10 pounds of 100 percent DDT or 100 pounds of 10 percent DDT for every thousand square feet. Distribute evenly, work it into the soil, and soak the ground thoroughly with water.

The white termite don't come out into the light. The dark ones are the only ones that come to the surface. Grass lawns are often tunneled by termites, and this year they have been especially active.

This DDT treatment will rid your lawn of termites, but won't bother the grass, Miss Hatfield says. It isn't necessary to spade the lawn, she reminds, because the water will carry the DDT into the soil.

This is the reason for soaking the soil to a depth of 8 or 10 inches.

Camera Bugs Compete For Cash Prizes At Railroad Fair

Shutterbugs, trigger flippers, camera cooties, and just plain photographers will have a very good chance to pick up some extra money this summer in connection with the Santa Fe Railway's photographic contest at the Chicago Railroad Fair, opening June 25.

Lee Lyles, Santa Fe's assistant to the president, in announcing the contest, said details and rules will be widely publicized later in the company's advertisements. Both amateur and professional photographers are eligible to compete for 85 monetary awards.

Judges will be Hugh Moffett, Life magazine; John Silence, Chicago Tribune; Vern Whaley, Chicago Herald-American; Gil Gallaher, Chicago Daily News; and Maurice Denny, Chicago Sun-Times.

Black-and-white and color prints will be judged separately and separate awards given. Winners in each class will receive $200, with runners-up receiving $100. Those placing third, fourth and fifth will receive $50, $25 and $15 respectively. In addition twenty-five merit awards of $10 each and fifty honorable mention awards of $5 each will be given Lyles said.

Don't Let Your Irish Potatoes Sunburn

COLLEGE STATION—Potatoes are like people—at least in one way. They don't like to get sunburned. It's not good for them.

After 30 minutes in the sun, potatoes become blistered, and from there on out, you've got a job trying to keep them in good quality. J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist of Texas A. and M. College, says home gardeners will find that the best time for harvesting potatoes is early in the morning or late in the evening. And right after pulling them up, move them over into the shade.

A look at the plants will tell the potato grower when it's time to harvest—when 50 percent of the leaves have turned brown. And that means along about now for most of the Texas home gardeners.

Select a cool, shady spot for storing potatoes, and spread them out so they don't touch each other. Boxes and baskets full of potatoes—especially when stored in unventilated rooms—is a fast way to promote decay. If you plan to store your spuds in bins or rooms with concrete or wooden floors, it's a good idea to spread hay or sand over the floor first, Rosborough says.

The potatoes damaged in the harvesting process should be consumed first, and not allowed to keep with the others throughout the summer and fall. The old saying "One rotten apple in the barrel . . ." works just as well with potatoes too.

So don't allow diseased spuds to be stored with healthy ones, he concludes.

Lettuce—like many vegetables—loses its flavor and food value if kept too long, even in the refrigerator. Add salad-dressing just before serving in order not to wilt the leaves.

Five 4-H'ers In This County May Win Honor Medal In Poultry

CHICAGO—Five 4-H members in this county are eligible to receive sterling silver medal awards for outstanding records in the 1949 National 4-H Poultry Achievement program. Resume of Raisin Lore

As old as eating almost is the history of the raisin. For as long as man has grown the grape and pressed its juices he has been drying raisins in the sun.

In exotic Babylon...at all fresco garden parties in palaces along the Nile...in the tents of patriarchal tribesmen... everywhere throughout the East, ancient epicures munched daily on the raisin. Along with figs, nuts, dates, cheese, lamb, honey, oil, grain, and spice, raisins were a common part of Oriental eating.

The Crusaders, rediscovering the art of lavish living, brought back the raisin as a luxury to Europe with them. Then trade began, by way of Italy and Asia Minor, and in the holds of sea-going galleons, the shoulder packs of bold world-travelers, could be found the rediscovered, newly-popular old raisin. Housewives, from then on, searched stalls and markets of the country where such imported luxuries were sold; for these "raisins of the sun" added new glory to their famous pies and puddings.

We Americans came fairly by our native love of raisins. For very early in this country the Spanish padres were drying grapes under the mellow Mission sun. The Gold Rush brought settlers to the San Joaquin valley, where they soon found growing golden muscats more profitable than panning treasure in the streams.

Though the first shipments east across the Rockies did not occur until later in the seventies, colonial cookery was replete with uses for the raisin, too. For plantation vessels, laden with tobacco, came back from Europe stocked with raisins in their holds. And so we find, in nearly every early cook book, a whole school of tarts, trifles, tipples, jansies, and such tidbits, all plentifully enriched with raisins.

Today more than ever, our cookery abounds in uses for the raisin. We munch them between meals for they are energy restoring. We nursed a whole generation of our children on their iron-endowing virtues. And we use them to add flavor, variety, and sweetness to all kinds of wartime foods:

Gourmet French Toast

Rinse—
½ cup seedless raisins
in—
Hot water.
Chop coarsely, using scissors or sharp knife on cutting board.

Combine with—
½ cup honey
4 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
1 teaspoon grated orange rind.
Beat with a fork until well blended.

Serve with—
Hot French toast or griddle cakes.
Serves 6.

Baked Raisin-Prune Whip

Combine—
½ cup coarsely chopped seedless raisins
1 cup coarsely chopped cooked prunes
¼ cup chopped walnuts
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Combine, beating until stiff, but not dry—
¼ teaspoon salt
3 egg whites.

Add gradually, beating continuously—
¼ cup sugar.

Fold in fruit mixture, pour into buttered shallow baking dish, and bake in a moderately slow oven (325° F.) for 40 minutes. Cool in baking dish. The whip will shrink as it cools. Serve with chilled custard sauce. Serves 4 to 6.

Wartime Meat Loaf

Combine in order given, mixing well—

1 lb. ground lean veal (part pork, if desired)
½ cup seedless raisins
1 large onion, chopped
1 cup uncooked rolled oats
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 egg, beaten
1 ¼ cups water.

Pack into a greased small loaf pan or shape into a loaf, and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 1 hour. Serve hot or cold. Serves 6.

beam spans supported on metal shell piling. Completion of the project is expected during the summer of 1950.

Old inhabitants of Corpus Christi recall the construction of the first causeway between Corpus Christi and Nueces bays in 1912. It was a concrete structure with concrete slabs and piers. Prior to the building of a bridge, an underwater roadway had been the only means of access to the north for teams and vehicles. The road was defined by stakes, and if the driver deviated from the narrow course on the reef his team might very possibly be drowned.

The discovery of important gas fields near Corpus Christi, which lies on the southwestern shore of Nueces Bay, brought sudden activity to the community in 1913. Prior to that time it had been a typical, sleepy little Southwest Texas coastal city, whose principal claim to historical fame had been as a bivouac for General Zachary Taylor in the Mexican war. Its residents had begun to clamor for improvements and there was considerable thought even then of a deep water port.

The gas fields increased the traffic north and east, and proved the need for the first causeway.

On September 14, 1919, a disastrous hurricane struck the city, completely destroying the causeway and damaging most of the structures open to the sea. A new bridge was begun and was completed in 1921. It is this old structure, which is now being replaced.

Total cost for the causeway itself will be approximately $2,457,000. Engineering fees, test piles and contracts for hydraulic embankment, pavement and structures on the approaches probably will push the overall cost of the project to more than $3,000,000.

Expert Tells How To Poach Eggs

COLLEGE STATION — It's the grade that makes the difference. And with eggs that means Grade AA or A. A perfect poached egg is tender, has a smooth, round shape and stands up.

Here's a tip from Louise Mason, extension foods and nutrition specialist of Texas A. & M. College, about poaching eggs. To make sure it's tender, cook it at a low heat because boiling toughens the white, and the bubbling may break the yolk.

To keep a compact shape to poached eggs, shell them just before poaching. Even the best eggs will flatten out after standing a while,

Miss Mason says. Have enough boiling water to cover the egg in a shallow pan. Break the egg into a saucer, swirl the hot water rapidly in the pan with a spoon, and slip the egg from the saucer into the hot, swirling water. It is the movement of the water that sets the edge of the egg into a round, even shape.

Take the pan off the stove, cover it and let stand for about five minutes. Then it's ready for the table.

There are several different ways to serve poached eggs besides the old standbys of toast or corned beef hash, Miss Mason says. A poached egg on a bed of hot, cooked greens makes a tasty dish, she says, or you can serve it on a split toasted bun with cheese sauce.

It isn't how you fix them. It's the grade that counts, the foods specialist says.

Growing By Mowing Says Lancaster

COLLEGE STATION—Pasture grasses have a pretty tough time of it fighting their way through weeds. And, many times, weeds win out in the plant war.

Mowing is generally considered a good practice for getting rid of the weeds in pastures, says Robert R. Lancaster, extension pasture specialist of Texas A. and M. College. Mowing the brush, brambles, vines and the husky weeds that spring up on newly-cleared, fertile land puts them on the way out and gives the desirable pasture grasses a good chance to take over.

At the same time, mowing pastures freshens the over-grown, stemmy grasses. But, often, too much is expected of weed eradication by mowing, especially on poor-land pastures, he says.

Pasture weed control in the humid regions of Texas usually calls for fertilizing, and in some cases reseeding. Until the pasture grasses are thrifty enough to replace mowed weeds, mowing is hardly worthwhile.

If you're going to mow to control weeds, mowing must start when the first of the worst weeds begin to bloom, or soon enough to mow all of them before the seed can form. Bitterweed, a common pest in bermudagrass pastures, may hold enough vitality to mature seed from the blooms even after it has been mowed. So, the way to stop this, Lancaster says, is to mow early and often. Cut high enough the first time so the sprouting stubble can be mowed again and again as it blooms repeatedly.

Grazing too close in both fall and spring might injure the pasture, Lancaster concludes. So, to avoid this, two pastures might be grazed alternately.

Many Town Lots Go At Sheriff's Auction

A large number of lots, all located within the city limits of Farwell, will go on the auction block on Tuesday, July 5, when sheriff's sales are held at the courthouse on property cited in delinquent tax sales.

In all, fifteen different citations are being published, with some of the lots involved being considered very good locations.

A large portion of the property is situated on the eastern side of town, running from Fifth street (behind the courthouse), to Ninth street, the edge of town.

Some of the lots fall due north of the courthouse in Block 14, and there is also some property up for auction on Block 16, behind the bank. Block 18, directly west of the courthouse, and Lot 31, the first block south of the courthouse.

Corner lots are available in Block 7, at the intersection of Seventh street and the Lubbock highway, and at the other end of the block, on the corner of Avenue B and Eighth street. Three groups in the middle of the same block are also going under the auction hammer.

Block 11 also offers two groups of corner locations, on the east corners intersecting Avenues B and C with Eighth street, as well as two center-block lots on the west side.

Other corner locations on the eastern side of town include one group of lots each in Blocks 9 and 10, intersecting Ninth and Eighth streets, respectively, one group of three lots on the intersection of Avenue D and Ninth street in Block 22.

On the western edge of town three lots are up in Block 16, at the intersection of Avenue C and Second street (west from the Charley Thompson residence).

Due north of the courthouse in Block 14 are two single lots and directly behind the courthouse, Block 19, facing Fifth street, are two listings, one for a single and one for a double lot.

One single lot is available in Block 18, directly west of the courthouse, two are listed in Block 28, facing Second street, and two are on the corner of Block 31, facing west, the first block south of the courthouse.

Sheriff Charley Loveless said today he planned to begin the sale of lots at 10 o'clock a. m. next Tuesday, and the sale would continue until all lots were sold to satisfactory bidders. All sales will be for cash, he added.

We have been asked to warn local motorists to be exceedingly careful when approaching any of the grain elevators located adjacent to paved highways. Many truck loads of wheat are entering all of the elevators at this time and several near-accidents have already been reported. Truckers, too, are asked to use extreme care in entering or leaving elevators. Hundreds of tourist automobiles are plying the highways now and there is much danger of serious accidents unless extreme caution is utilized by those who are acquainted with dangers about our grain elevators.

If all residents of Texico-Farwell were as interested in ridding the Twin Cities of weeds as Harry Jesko, we would not have any weed problem. After ridding his own premises of weeds, Harry swung his hoe into weed patches along the full length of the alley behind his property and then crossed the street and worked up and down the street to rid vacant lots of surplus weed growth. The results are just the difference between wishing something could be done and getting out and doing it.

And while we are speaking of weeds, we might remind the county officials that a little weed cutting about the county courthouse would not be out of order.

Charley Gray was just in from Bovina and reported he had all his wheat cut, which averaged 22 1/2 bushels.

New, large and modern homes seem to be the rage in Farwell just now. The Melvin Sniders are nearing completion on their brick-veneer home. Work on the Raymond Suderth place is progressing nicely. The foundation has been completed on the Buddy Jones place, and Jack Williams is getting materials on the ground for a new home. Nell Walling was heard to remark this week they planned a new home in Farwell at an early date.

Rev. Duncan Attends Methodist Meeting

Representing Texico-Farwell Methodist church, a part of the Clovis district, the Rev. Murphy Duncan, pastor of the church, attended a meeting of six district churches at Millinsand, N. M., last week.

The meeting had been called for the six delegates of churches of the district in order that they might plan a program for the forthcoming Sacramento Methodist assembly in August.

Rev. Duncan said the delegates estimated attendance at the assembly to be "about one-hundred-fifty." He added the assembly would be a week in length and would be exclusive to the Clovis district.

Represented at the meeting were these churches: Texico-Farwell, Portales, Rosedale, Logan, Jal, and San Jon.

Supt. Williams Goes To Plainview For Study Of Gilmer-Aikin Bill

"I cannot say anything definite about what the Farwell school may receive in state aid from the new Gilmer-Aikin bill until I have returned from the meeting," said Superintendent Jack Williams as he left Friday for Plainview, where he and other superintendents of this school district will meet for two days to thrash out the program.

Williams was certain the new bill would be of definite aid to the school, but said nothing could be officially ascertained until he had returned. He said it was likely that Farwell schools might be permitted to have a 17-teacher staff for the coming year, but insisted again that "just didn't know."

The Gilmer-Aikin bill arrived after much exhaustive research throughout all Texas schools last year. Two years ago, when the bill was first conceived, a Gilmer-Aikin committee was set up in every county of the state. They reported to a central office in the capital what they considered to be an improvement for the Texas school system.

Now that the bill has finally been created, and is actually in force, it will mean a great deal to the state school system as a whole. Superintendent Williams said he and a number of other superintendents from comparatively small schools were a little disappointed that schools in larger cities would receive (in proportion) the same amount of aid that smaller units would get.

Williams stated that teachers were allowed on a daily average attendance basis, and complained that because of several reasons, rural schools had a more difficult time getting a large daily attendance than schools in cities. He cited the disadvantage of the type of work in this section—farming—with its seasonal rushes. Often students feel they are unable to attend school for a short time because of pressing work on the farm. Also he said that since a great many children were transported to school from a distance in the country, where oftentimes roads are not at all satisfactory, attendance would diminish because of bad weather.

"Just recently we had an epidemic of measles and influenza," said the superintendent, "and that alone caused the average attendance to drop enough to cut us short on another teacher."

Driver Slightly Hurt When Auto Turns Over

Harold Whitener, age 22, who lives 6 1/2 miles north of Texico, escaped with slight injuries when the car he was driving left the road and overturned last Saturday evening, as the young man was en route to his home from Texico.

Young Whitener was alone at the time of accident and has not been able to explain how the mishap came about. His injuries consisted of lacerations on one hand. His car, a 1948 Studebaker, was badly damaged, as it left the road and came to a stop upside down.

Nervy Drivers Perform For Holiday Fans

Dust, smoke, fumes, sweat, heat, noise . . . you'll experience them all if you get close enough to the "hot rods" that will be racing at the new track west of the Twin Cities, July 3rd and 4th.

If you don't mind a lot of racket, and can stand a lot of heat, and are not allergic to a little dust, chances are good for an enjoyable afternoon watching a tangled mess of skilled and nervy drivers try to run over each other with roaring machines.

About fifteen cars are expected to burn up the track over the holidays at the Curry County speedway, and spectators agree that even though the going's rough on the caliche embankment, there'll be enough excitement to keep everyone resisting sand and noise "just a little while longer."

Some of the cars are remade stock models and some of them show highly professional design and workmanship. Most of the howling mid-gets are powered with "souped up" V-8 engines, although an occasional in-line power plant can be found—the motors are merely a reflection of personal taste.

Most of the drivers are young and supple—they have to be. It doesn't take an expert to see how experience and physical condition are necessary for the rough and dusty loops around the track.

Drivers from all over the country will participate in the races. Some of the contestants in the forthcoming race will have raced here before—some will be newcomers.

Races will be at 3 p. m. (CTS) both days of the meet—Sunday and Monday.

Farwell FFA Meets Friday Night

A called meeting of the Farwell chapter of Future Farmers of America will be at the agricultural building Friday night at 8:30, informed Robert Morton, adviser for the school chapter. He said the meeting would be important because it would deal with two paramount problems: election of new officers for the organization, and a discussion of the annual summer trip for FFA members.

Asked where the boys might choose to go, Morton waved his hand back and forth to the east and west and replied, "either this way or that way—there's not much telling."
