

FROM THE HOPPER

By HOP

In addition to all the woes I have suffered since the first of the year, I had a son stroke the first of the week; my son struck me for a vacation and the where-with-all to make a trip to far-away places.

Another dream of Oliver Sikes and his wife blossomed forth over the past weekend when they located an overnight cabin on the shores of Alamogordo Lake.

For many years they have journeyed to this popular fishing hole, where they were forced to expose themselves to the rough outside elements, often being driven home because of unpleasant weather conditions.

We are informed that arrangements have been made for local people to recover valuable pictures left in the possession of I. E. Hanna when he died suddenly recently. Relatives of the deceased photographer are scheduled to be here Saturday to assist in delivering such pictures.

A local housewife says she keeps up a constant fight to keep the weeds cut from around her premises. "I can't find my own children half the time," she moans.

Another thing that amuses me is how the ladies fight their skirts down when out in the wind. It seems to embarrass them terribly when the wind whips their skirts up to their knees.

And yet, these same embarrassed individuals may be seen parading the streets in shorts on other occasions. Funny things, these ladies and girls.

"With malice toward none and charity toward all, I want to discuss with the citizenship of Farwell the plight of our newly-installed sewer system.

In conversation with members of the city council, I am informed that less than fifty per cent of the homes and businesses are being served by the system for the very simple reason that the ties-in have not been made, and as a result the system is not functioning as it really should.

The Stockton Construction Company of Amarillo, who installed the job, sent an engineer here last week and he checked the entire system and came up with the report that the only reason the system was not operating with entire satisfaction was because there was not enough water being run through the mains to keep the solids moving.

The system was built with the view of accommodating a city of 5000. But when less than 100 users are dumping sewage into the mains, it is only natural that clog-ups will result. It was the firm belief of the engineer the only way to avoid future trouble is to increase the amount of water into the mains. This can be accomplished only by an increased number of customers.

Furthermore, city officials point out, the $40,000 bond issue voted to install the system cannot be retired unless there is an increase in the number of users. Only about half of the bond issue is to be paid off

Wheat Harvest in Parmer Far Above Early Estimates With 300 Carloads Accounted For in County Elevators

A survey of the wheat yield in Parmer County, compiled early this week by The Tribune revealed that the 1951 harvest will far exceed early estimates when it was feared that a combination of dry weather, green bugs and hail would reduce the yield to zero.

Reports gathered this week by the Tribune from the grain buyers of the county indicate that not less than 300 carloads of grain from this year's crop will be produced in Parmer County, with Lazbuddy being the most favored section of the entire county.

No accounting could be made of the grain stored on the farms where it was produced, and such storage is expected to be a neat little figure within itself.

Bovina is expected to lead the county with receipts this year. Figures released by grain buyers at Bovina indicate that not less than 150 carloads will be received at that point. A considerable portion of this grain has come from the Lazbuddy section. Yields of 12 to 20 bushels in that section are not uncommon, with one or two large fields turning out as high as 30 bushels to the acre.

North of Bovina, between that city and the Harrison Highway, the yield is reported to be running from 4 to 10 bushels.

Grain men at Friona, contacted by telephone on Tuesday, placed the receipts there at "about 115 carloads." Yields in that area ran from a high of 10 bushels on dry land to 20 bushels on irrigated plots.

Lariat receipts amounted to 20 carloads, after most fields in that area suffered repeated hail losses. And in Texico-Farwell the receipts here were expected to reach 25 cars. The southwest corner of the county, particularly around Texico-Farwell and Lariat, was hit by repeated hail storms after the grain had been plagued with dry weather and green bugs earlier in the season.

Taking the above figures, as furnished by grain dealers, the yield for the county is set at 315 carloads, which far exceeds all early estimates by observers, most of whom predicted that "we will be lucky if we get our seed back."

Farm Bureau Film-Showing Project Begins In County Next Week, Runs Five Nights

Sponsored by the Parmer County Farm Bureau, a series of first-quality home-shown pictures will begin Monday night, and they will be shown for five consecutive nights so that every community in the county will have an opportunity to see them.

Directors of the Bureau, in a meeting at the county courthouse last Monday night, drew up the following schedule for showing of the instructional and educational films:

Monday night—Lazbuddy Schoolhouse, supervised by Jim Seaton; Tuesday night—Bovina school cafeteria, supervised by James Roach; Wednesday night—Rhea, the parish, supervised by Melvin Sachs; Thursday night—Friona school auditorium, shown by Joe Menefee; Friday night—Farwell and Oklahoma Lane at the Oklahoma Lane auditorium, Walter Kaltwasser supervising.

All shows are scheduled to begin at 8:30.

In addition to the color films that will be presented, Bruce Parr, president of the Bureau, announced that an attempt will be made to have a representative of the underground Water Users Assn on hand to discuss the program for a short while. "His remarks will not last more than 25

Pvt. Robertson Arrives For Fifteen-Day Leave

Pvt. Joseph C. "Junior" Robertson, son of Mrs. J. C. Robertson, came in Tuesday, for a fifteen day leave. He is to report to Seattle, Wash. August 1, where he will be assigned to the Far Eastern Command.

Pvt. Robertson has been stationed at Fort Sill, Okla. for the past two months where he has been attending survey school.

minutes," Parr said.

The films, which were reviewed by the directors at their meeting, have been loaned from the files of the Agricultural Extension Service at A. & M. Five reels are on hand for county use, but two or three films probably will be all that will be shown at one time.

Listed as most likely to be shown by the directors are "Bountiful Harvest," a sound-and-color film on cotton insect pests, concentrating on early season spraying program.

The second film best received by the directors was "International Pictorial No. 1," also sound-and-color, that will be shown chiefly for entertainment purposes.

Hope To Let Contract For School August 1

"We are hoping that we can let the contract by August 1," said Jack Williams, when asked about the next move toward a new high school for Farwell School and cafeteria after an election last month.

From the time the voters approved the $165,000 measure, the school board has been busy with architects, making plans for the new buildings. Two weeks ago, the project was interrupted by an assumption election to clear any legal snarls that could possibly develop, and the school is now waiting for the attorney general to approve the bonds.

If contract is let by Aug. 1, school officials are hopeful that construction will begin a short time thereafter—around Sept. 1.

The school board is scheduled to have a called meeting Monday night to thrash out some final blueprinting for the buildings.

Six Telephone Circuits Are Now in Service

Six telephone circuits between Clovis and Texico are now in service over which calls to and from Texico telephones and telephones in other cities are being carried, L. L. Gracey, Texico-Clovis manager said today.

Until March of this year three circuits were in use between the two exchanges. In March an additional circuit was placed in service and early this month two more circuits were added.

In order to obtain these circuits, forty miles of copper wire was placed and additional equipment installed in both Clovis and Texico central offices.

Gracey stated that the six circuits now in use will provide a greatly improved and faster service on calls to and from Texico.

New Road Maintainer For Friona Precinct

The County Commissioners, in session here Monday, entered into an agreement to buy a new road maintainer for the Friona precinct at a cost of $14,500.

Other business transacted during the session included hiking the salary of Custodian Noble Goldsmith to $250.00 per month, and the approval of current bills.

Lightning in Courtyard Damages Two Trees

Two bolts of lightning caused little damage but scared a lot of people Monday afternoon when they ripped down two trees in the county courtyard, less than 20 feet from the courthouse itself.

Mrs. Mabel Reynolds, county treasurer, was nearest the electrical display. Seated in her office in the northern part of the courthouse, she saw the lightning dance down the trees and skip across the grass toward her window before it expired.

Bark and limbs were stripped from the trees, and Nobel Goldsmith was on hand after the storm to point to jagged furrows the lightning cut into the lawn for several feet around the base of the tree.

A worn sickle from the courthouse power mower, which had been stuck in a fork of one of the trees, conducted the current for a brief moment, and was burned by the high voltage.

Mrs. Walter Sleepy and two small children, who were in their parked car a short distance from where the bolts of lightning hit, escaped with only slight shocks and terrible frights.

Funeral services for Miss Peggy Jean Cox, 21-year-old local girl who died last Friday night at Wichita Falls, where she had been receiving treatment, were conducted at the Baptist Church Sunday afternoon by Rev. C. M. Fields.

Seven More Street Lights Going In

Otis Huggins, manager of the Southwestern Public Service Co., announced this week that his company was installing seven additional street lights in Farwell, which will bring the total street lights to 49, scattered throughout the city.

Two of the new installations go in at the newly created park site on the courthouse square, and one each at the following corners in the residential section of the city: Ralph Humble, N. W. Peyton, John Aldridge, G. T. Watkins and R. W. Anderson.

Huggins said that the Utilities Company was making the installations and the city would pay for the current used.

INSTALL LIGHTS IN PARK

A service crew installed two light posts at the Farwell Park last weekend, in preparation to lighting the community project in the near future. Otis Huggins of Southwestern Public Service, sponsor of the lights, said that wiring already has been finished, and the fixtures themselves will be added in the near future.

Miss Gloria Ann Johnson was a Sunday dinner guest of Miss Vera Fern Williams.

A special election for the purpose of voting on a $40,000 bond issue has been called by the city commission of the City of Bovina, and the date of the election has been set for Saturday, July 28.

In calling the election, Bovina officials explained that $30,000 of the proposed bond issue would be used in extending and repairing the present waterworks system, and $10,000 was to be used in the construction of a combination fire station and city hall.

The proposed bonds will be general obligation tax bonds, maturing serially over a period of 20 years, and will bear interest at the rate of not to exceed 4 per cent.

Voters will cast their ballots at the office of Homer Martin, city clerk, and only tax paying residents within the corporate limits of the City of Bovina will be eligible to participate in the election.

Officials who will conduct the election are: S. A. Calhoun, presiding judge; W. J. Parker, judge; Mrs. Earl Richards and Mrs. A. B. Wilkinson, clerks.

It was only three years ago that the voters of Bovina approved a $25,000 bond issue for the installation of a water system, and the new issue is being called to keep pace with the growing needs for expansion of the water system. At present, the city has no city hall nor fire station in which to house its modern fire-fighting equipment.

Since the water system was installed, the city has obtained its water from a well owned by the Santa Fe Railway company. No new well and tower are contemplated in the expansion program, and present plans call for a continuation with the Santa Fe to use the railroad's well and water tower, which has adequately meet the city's requirements over the three-year period.

No Polio Reported In Parmer County

Keeping his fingers crossed, Dr. Paul L. Spring, Parmer County health officer, reported on Saturday that "so far we have not had a single case of polio in Parmer County this year."

"However," he went on, "some cases have been reported in New Mexico, around Clovis and Melrose, I understand, and it is quite possible that we may have a later development."

By July of 1950, Parmer had only reported one case of the crippling disease, Dr. Spring said, adding "our worst year was 1949, when we had a total of 10 cases in the county, as compared to three listed on the books for 1950." Texas generally seems to have a decline of the dread polio, the physician commented.

As to preventative measures, Dr. Spring admonished mothers to "keep children from becoming exhausted," as the theory is fairly well established that most children are exposed to the "bug" during the summer months but the majority of them are able to withstand the disease if they are not physically below par.

The virus which causes polio, the doctor went on, has been isolated and has been located on flies and in polluted water, "but as yet we aren't certain that the disease is carried in that manner or is passed by direct contact." Indications are that the disease is not spread by direct contact, the idea being substantiated by the fact that it seldom strikes more than one member of a family.

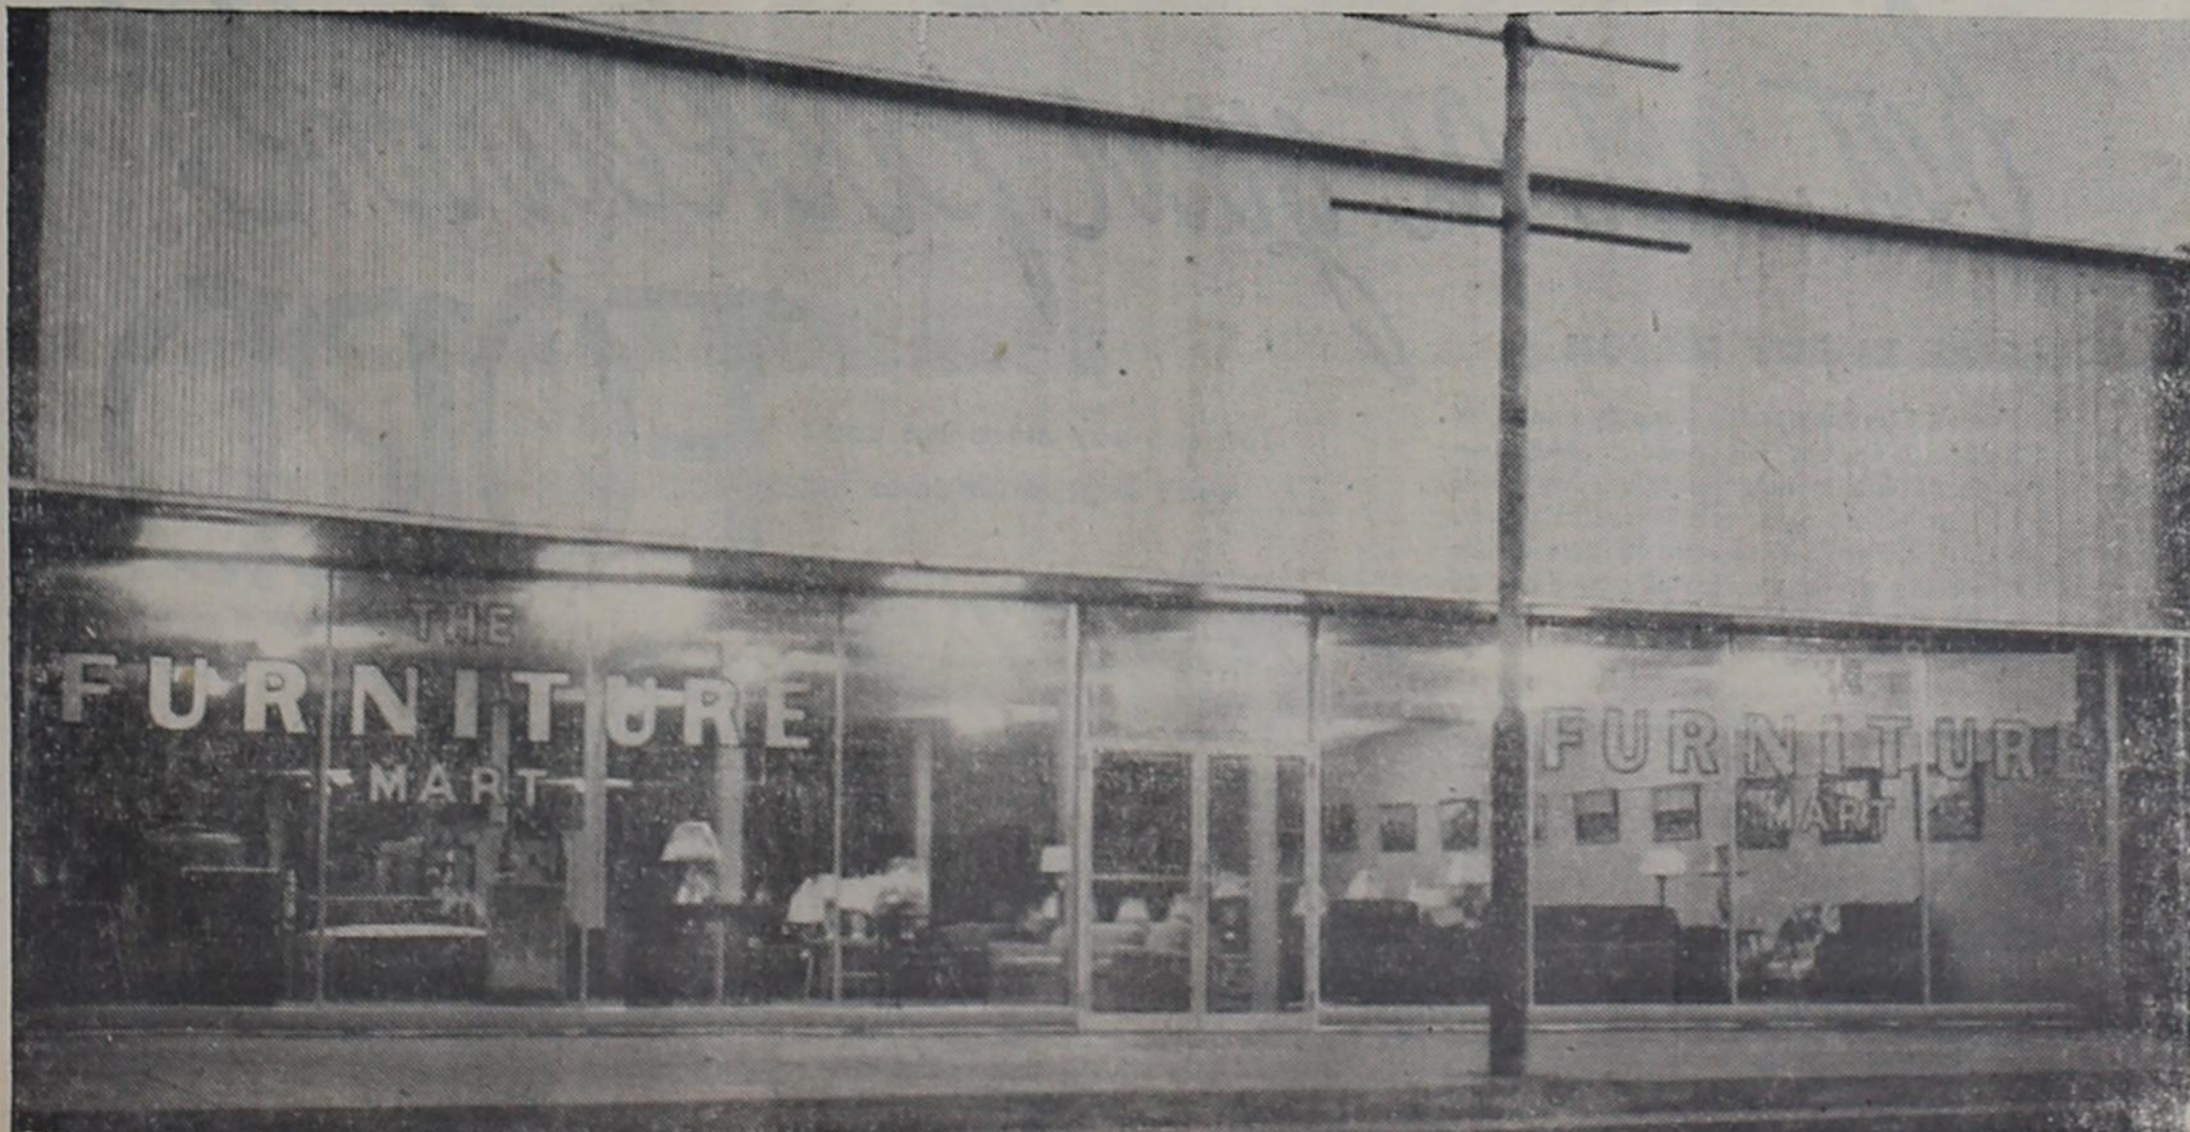

Hanna Funeral Held Sunday Afternoon

Final services for Ira E. Hanna, 65-year-old local resident, were held at the Memorial Chapel in Clovis Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. A. W. Harris of the Assembly of God Church.

Burial took place in the Clovis Cemetery under the direction of the Memorial Chapel.

Hanna, who had lived alone since the death of his mother in April, 1946, was found dead at his home in east Farwell late Tuesday afternoon of last week. His death was attributed to cerebral hemorrhage.

In addition to a good representation of local people, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Hamilton and son, Bruce, of Lubbock, attended the funeral. Mr. Hamilton was Mr. Hanna's cousin.

Loan Rate on Wheat And Sorghums Given Out by PMA Office

The 1951 government loan rate on wheat and grain sorghums was announced here today by Joe Camp, secretary of the Parmer PMA office.

Already, 74 wheat loans for the current crop have been made, Camp said, adding that the loan rate had been set at $2.16 per bushel on wheat stored prior to Sept. 3 of this year. This figure, he explained, will be subject to a deduction of 1 1/2¢ per bushel for storage on grain stored in approved elevators.

Wheat stored on the farms will not be subject to storage charges and the full $2.16 per bushel will be loaned on such grain approved for loans. Loan contracts mature on April 30, 1952, with the grower being permitted to redeem his grain sooner in event he should elect to sell the grain by paying of his loan, plus 3 per cent interest.

The loan rate on grain sorghums has not been set at $2.09 per hundredweight, less storage charges, which will vary according to the length of time the grain is on storage.

Camp said that the storage rate which is calculated to affect practically all of the grain sorghum produced in this area was 15 cents per cwt. Sorghums stored during the period between Oct. 4 and Nov. 27 will carry this rate, he said. Loans mature on March 31, 1952. The full loan of $2.09 per cwt. will be allowed on farm stored grain sorghums.

The grower, may, at his option, remove the stored grain at any time he elects, Camp added, by paying off the loan, plus 3 per cent interest charges.

Getz Estimates Damage For Fire At Over $100

Damage from a fire in the feed mill at Farmers Supply in Texico early Wednesday morning has been estimated at $135 by John Getz, owner.

Getz, in making the estimate, commented that the fire itself was of little consequence, although some feed was damaged by water. He figured damage to the building to be about $35 and counted around $100 injury to feed stored near the fire.

A Los Alamos fireman discovered the blaze early last Wednesday morning and turned in the alarm.

Friona Woman Writes of Interesting Experiences During Ocean Voyage

This is the first in a series of commentaries from Mrs. Jane Gallagher, Friona woman, who is on her way to Norway for a scholarship at the University of Oslo. She is writing her parents, Rev. and Mrs. George E. Meyer. Additional notes from her travels will be carried in subsequent issues.

(Aboard the S. S. Stavangerfjord, Norwegian American Line enroute for Oslo, Norway.)

Dear mother and dad:

All the signs on the Stavangerfjord were in Norwegian and nine tenths of the crew spoke no English. I had a marvelous time wandering from deck to deck on that most confusing ship until I bumped into "Chris"—(real name is Christian, quite often used in Norway). "Chris", a young civil engineer who just finished his graduate work at McGill in Canada following regular work at Harvard, was on his way home to Oslo for a three-months vacation before he goes to work in Arizona. He speaks the language. "Chris," seeing me wandering about apparently bewildered in the maze of the Norwegian directive signs, which meant nothing to me, steered me patiently down to my section of the ship and read the numbers off until he found mine. Sure enough my luggage was neatly stacked in the room. It was my room. Naturally I got lost about ten times my first day out. I never could find my cabin.

By the time Chris and I discovered my room it was almost noon. The ship was to leave at noon that day. As I stepped out my door, lo and behold, I bumped into "Willy" (Aside—Willy is and has been a student at West Texas State College). "Willy", Chris and I went up on deck. We met "Willy's" New York Aunt. We three watched the crew load cargo which included a yacht someone was taking to Bergen for a summer among the Fjords "The Laughing Gull" it was named.

At 11:40 they sounded what we guessed was "the all ashore signal" in Norwegian naturally, and Willy's aunt obeyed the signal and went ashore. We stood at the rail of the ship. All this time the ship's orchestra was on the top deck all but blasting its lungs out. At high noon—twelve o'clock high—they played what we later learned was the Norwegian national anthem (Ja vi elsker) and as we left the pier the orchestra played "The Star Spangled Banner". Boy, was it moving.

We found a comfortable spot on the very back of the ship and waved as we left New York. About half an hour later we passed Ellis Island and the dear old girl with the torch. I think "Willy" and I felt like crying. I'm sure about one of us, but naturally we did not admit it, while "Chris", for him it was just another port.

At twelve thirty we went down to the dining room and picked up our table reservations. At one thirty we went back to eat. Our waiter was most courteous but insisted on teaching us Norwegian. He bore a close resemblance to "Twedledee", round and plump and jolly but was extremely persistent.

He would serve us and say "Mange Takk" and indicated that we were to repeat. Before many meals we had learned to ask for coffee, bread, butter and meat and many things in Norwegian names.

At the time we looked upon it as a joke but now I am glad we had that little briefing on the language and the courtesies, for I can go into any restaurant in Oslo and ask for exactly what I want. We sat at a table for eight. Six of us were Oslo University students. "Willy", "Chris" and I and three girls; one a librarian from Baltimore, Md., one a poet who had served with the armed forces in Okinawa as a nurse and the third a Hood College, Mass. student.

After lunch we went into the "social hall" to talk, and talk we did.

And the weather got bad. Small craft warnings had been flying all up the coast for two days and the ground swells began to roll us rather viciously. I staggered, and I mean just that, up to the deck and rented a chair for the voyage. For the first three days out I spent most time sleeping there, day and night. The stewards were very kind and I had most of meals on deck. My ego was boosted by the fact that there were many, many more right with me. "Willy" of course, the globe-trotter that he is, was gay as a lark and never even wobbly.

When I awoke the Fourth day I realized that I'd spent too much time on deck. My face, the only part of my anatomy exposed for three days, was wind-burned rather badly. I spent the remainder of the trip "peeling". I must have been a lovely sight to the poor customs men who looked vaguely at my passport picture and back at me again.

The weather calmed and so did my stomach. I began to enjoy life again. The rest of the trip was restful, more or less calm, although we had only one really warm day on the trip. Maybe I had just gotten used to the motion of the boat. I don't know. Anyhow from then on it was fun. The orchestra played every night.

We learned Norwegian dances and taught some of our own to the Norwegian passengers. We became quite a social group. Among other things we learned to sing the Norwegian national anthem in its original language.

Two of the passengers had birthdays on the trip. The crew put on quite a celebration. Singing their own version of the birthday song, they had a festive occasion of it. The captain came and sat down at our table. I found him a fascinating character. He spoke amazingly good English except for a few misinterpreted words and he was extremely cordial.

The Captain's dinner, the last night at sea, was really some occasion. Everyone was "dressed" for the affair and I mean it to the limit. The tables were decorated to perfection, with smorgasboard, which was always a work of art almost unbelievable.

The watermelon had been cut in diamond shapes, and inside the emptied shell was a miniature ocean with a marzipan model of the ship. The other dishes, ham, pork, roast beef, fish salad etc., etc., almost indefinitely were equally beautiful.

Somehow everything looked like a picture from a fairy tale. After we had eaten the orchestra started in the social hall and everyone danced. They started off with what they called a Paul Jones, a mixer dance and from there things went on and on.

The dance ended with the captain leading a conga line through all the halls, past the cabins in and out the library and lounges, on and off all the decks and finally back to social hall. Everyone had a wonderful time even if they did stay up most of the night.

Football Field Grass In Best Shape Ever

The bermuda grass cover for the Farwell football field is in better shape than it has ever been before, say workers at the school. In fact, Coach Tom Hestand says, "If I can get a team to match the field, I'll be in good shape."

Continuous care and meticulous watering have been credited with the lush green cover, which, for the first time ever, is almost free from grassburrs. School maintenance men devised a portable spraying water system which has given the expanse of grass enough water to grow heavily and firmly.

Attention Please

Mr. W. W. Branscum, President of the Board of Directors of the Bailey County Electric Cooperative Association, announces that they are now in the process of working up applications for domestic and irrigation services which will be known as the N section.

When survey is completed this data will be submitted to the Rural Electrification Administration in Washington, D. C. and request for a loan will be made to cover the cost of construction.

New Filing System Used in Clerk's Office

A complete new filing system has been worked out for all civil and probate court cases, County Clerk Loyde Brewer says. "The new system makes documents easier to find, and we can file more cases in less space," Brewer adds.

The new filing system includes cases back to the beginning of 1947. Formerly kept in folders, the cases as now filed, have better system, according to Brewer.

"All the old cases were full, we had to do something," the county clerk concludes.

C of C Invites Six To Meet

Six members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Farwell have been invited to attend a meeting in Plainview Monday, July 16.

There, they and members from 27 other West Texas cities will be treated with a barbecue dinner before settling down to work on the organizations expanded activities and general program of work. B. P. Bludworth, WTCC president, announced today.

Included in the invitation are Gus M. Byran, Security State Bank, Southwestern Public Service Company, Capitol Freehold Land Trust, Henderson Grain & Seed Company, and W. M. Sherley.

The meeting has been arranged on invitation of WTCC officials and civic leaders in the Plainview area.

This will be eighth of a series of conferences with small groups of key men held in larger cities of the region in recent weeks. These meetings have stimulated much interest in work of the organization. The other meetings were held in Wichita Falls, Abilene, Monahans, Denton, Vernon, El Paso, and Pampa.

Fred H. Husbands, executive vice president and general manager, will report on the enlarged program of work outlined for the coming year, and on additional staff personnel engaged to work on activities and projects. Members in the following cities have been invited: Tulia, Lubbock, Canyon, Dimmitt, Littlefield, Leveland, Hele Center, Abernathy, Floydada, Crosbyton, Matador, Lockney, Muleshoe, Hereford, Silverton, Ralls, Lorenzo, Slaton, Brownfield, Farwell, Friona, Morton, Tahoka, Seminole, Seagraves, Post, Spur and Petersburg.

Twin Cities Baseball Team Beats Lazbuddy In Close Contest

In a close 15-14 contest, the local Texico-Farwell baseball team nosed out Lazbuddy No. 2 on the loser's field Sunday afternoon, after being beaten by the same team only last week.

The local group, barely able to muster nine men to field a team, played a game that was tied four times before the winning run crossed the plate. Carlos Woods homered for the local aggregation.

Jack Woods and Leon London pitched for the local stickmen. Three players were used by Lazbuddy: Mack Steinbock, Chub Embry, and Billy John Thorn.

No accurate record is available here, as no local official scorer attended the game. Wilfred Quickel, manager, was absent from the lineup, as were one or two other players.

The starting lineup included Carlos Woods, catcher; Jack Woods, pitcher; Blackie Smith, first base; Eddie Smith, second; Joe Camp, third; Kenneth Livingston, short stop; Ronald London, left field; Lloyd Routon, centerfield; and Bob Dollar, right field.

Another game, probably with the same Lazbuddy team, will be played on the Farwell field Sunday afternoon, a team spokesman says. He also commented that a practice session has been called for Saturday afternoon at 4:30, to be on the field across the highway from Henderson Grain Company.

The twin city nine is not in an organized baseball league this year.

It's Doughnut Time

Long Johns and Bismarcks are two members of the popular doughnut family. They're exceptionally fluffy and tender because they are made from a sweet yeast dough.

Doughnuts are one of the best breads invented to go with hot fragrant coffee, rich cocoa, or just plain chilled milk. Both cake and yeast-type doughnuts are available in variety from the bakers, but they are fun to make at home now and then. Doughnuts are appropriate for informal parties at which they are guaranteed to disappear by the dozens.

A bit of nutmeg is added for spice to the sweet yeast dough used for yeast doughnuts, Long Johns and Bismarcks. Today's recipe tells how to use the one dough for plain doughnuts with the hole, twists, Bismarcks, and Long Johns. When cool, roll plain doughnuts and twists in granulated sugar, or cinnamon and sugar. Sprinkle Bismarcks with powdered sugar and frost Long Johns with confectioners' sugar icing.

To check the temperature of the fat used for frying doughnuts without a thermometer, drop a one-inch cube of bread into the hot fat. If it browns in 60 seconds, the temperature is right for frying doughnuts.

YEAST DOUGHNUTS

2 packages yeast, compressed or dry
1/4 cup lukewarm water
1 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind (if desired)
1/4 cup melted shortening
3 cups sifted enriched flour (about)
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
Fat for frying

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk. Add sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Add 2 cups flour and nutmeg. Mix well. Add softened yeast, eggs, and lemon rind. Beat well. Add shortening. Mix well. Add more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until satiny. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise until doubled. Punch down. Let rest 10 minutes. Roll out to 1/2 inch thickness and cut with doughnut cutter for plain doughnuts. For twists, roll small portions of dough under the hand and twist the dough back on itself. For Bismarcks, roll the dough 1/2 inch thick and cut into pieces 1 inch wide and 3 inches long or cut with a biscuit cutter. Let rise until doubled, and fry in deep fat (375° F.). Makes about 3 dozen doughnuts

Majority of Texico-Farwell Citizens Have Quiet Fourth of July Celebration

According to a telephone survey made in Texico-Farwell at the first of the week, the majority of the Twin Cities citizens, observed no special celebration on July 4. Farmers continued their farming operations, most business houses were open, and many people just spent a quiet day at home.

Mrs. Hamlin Overstreet appropriately described her fourth of July celebration with "I didn't do a thing—in fact, that is the way I celebrated."

No special functions were planned crackers, and setting off fireworks display at 4-Lane Drive in theatre Wednesday night. Children over town celebrated by "popping" fire crackers, and setting off fireworks throughout the day, and into the night.

Some of the people contacted, entertained friends and relatives on the holiday. Visiting Mr. and Mrs. James Bruce were her niece and nephew, Judy and Bud Koons of Colorado. Visiting Mrs. C. F. Beiler was her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne London of Amarillo. Mr. Beiler and Barbara, however, visited his sister, Mrs. Sent in Albuquerque during the holiday, and remained until Sunday.

For those who spent the day at home, activity was varied. Mrs. Guy Cox canned cherries on her day off; Mrs. N. W. Peyton, who attends summer school at Eastern New Mexico university, used her extra time to study; Riley Boss "celebrated out in the field" and his wife quipped, "I stayed at the house and tried to keep as cool as possible."

Others who spent the day at home were the Kenneth Livingstons, the Sam Aldridges, the Loyd Cains, the C. M. Crows, Mrs. W. G. Dyer; the B. O. Favilles, Mrs. Dorothy Jack, J. H. Leavell, the Robert Mortons, the Carl Schmitts, and the Charles B. Stocktons, and the Earl Booths.

Really Celebrates
Mrs. F. E. Autry did quite a bit of running around, during her July 4th celebration, she says. Big event of the day was a family reunion in Alamogordo, commemorating the 55th wedding anniversary of Mrs. Autry's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tice Elkins.

"Heinie" Henderson stated that the past Wednesday was just another work day for him; as it was for the Joe Blairs. Mr. Blair cut wheat all day; Mrs. Blair prepared a special fourth of July chicken dinner, however.

Karl's Auto Clinic was open for half a day, then Mr. and Mrs. Gast had an afternoon holiday. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Helton also closed their business in the afternoon, and worked at home.

Mrs. Les Means states that she kept their business open all day; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hughes worked as usual, and J. E. King was combining wheat on the fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis enjoyed a watermelon feast as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Smokey Gast on the afternoon of the fourth, then the Curtises attended the fireworks display that night.

The Claud Roses and the M. C. Roberts operated their businesses as usual; Charlie Holland worked in the field and Mrs. Holland observed a typical day.

The Perry Crawleys returned from a trip to various points of interest in Texas and New Mexico, on the night of the fourth; and one group of local people had a family reunion in Wichita Falls. Included in this group were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hardage, Peggy and Jimmy, Mr. and Mrs. "Pop" Spurlin, Mr. and Mrs. James Spurlin, Violet Crow, of Memphis, Tenn. formerly a Spurlin, was present for the reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Smart attended a rodeo in Amarillo; their daughter, Betty Agnes, accompanied Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Hatcher and family to Burnett.

As for the Tribune staff, it was press day for the paper; therefore, it was a full work day for all staff members.

Home Tour Postponed Until Later Date

The home tour, which was scheduled in Texico-Farwell Tuesday, was postponed at the first of the week, until a later date, it has been announced by Mrs. Jack McManigal, president of the Parent-Teachers association.

Reason for the postponement, according to Mrs. McManigal, was because of several cancellations of home owners to be included in the tour, because of vacations, visitors, and farming operations. Although a definite date for the tour has not been determined, Mrs. McManigal feels that it will be held sometime in September. This should enable local people to catch up on their work, so that more time can be devoted to making the function a success, according to the PTA prexy.

"Because the tour was all planned, we did hate to postpone it," Mrs. McManigal continued, "but we had to make cancellations from those whose homes particular interest had been shown."

The PTA president also emphasized that tickets which have already been sold, will be good for the tour later in the summer. Tickets sell for $1.

Club members ask that any person who wishes to model in the show, turn in her name to one of the above named committee members, or Mrs. B. A. Rogers, president of the group.

Also discussed at the Tuesday night meeting was the small building owned by the Woman's club. The building is located in Farwell park, and the club asked for sealed bids for the construction quite some time ago. Several bids have been received and will be opened Saturday, Mrs. Rogers states. The house will go to the highest bidder.

Next meeting is planned August 14 and all members are urged to be present. All attendants will vote on whether or not the local club will federate; and a final decision will be made at that time, it was stated.

Ladies decided that the executive members of the club would meet one hour before each meeting to dispose of business other than that which should be presented to the members.

RAIN AND HAIL

A dashing shower of rain, accompanied by considerable hail, fell across the southwest corner of the county Monday afternoon. Most reports set the rainfall at a half to a full inch.

Considerable hail fell along with the rain, but it was of the "mushy" variety and did little or no damage to young crops. A strip of hail extending from the Henry London farm to Lariat fell during the storm, which moved from the southwest to the northwest and no report of the length of the hail coverage has been received here.

Thether ball and horseshoe pitching tournaments began in conjunction with Texico-Farwell Youth program Friday. The first round of games were not completed by press time this week, however.

Picnic which was scheduled for Wednesday night was called off, but a game night is scheduled July 19 in the Legion hall, it was pointed out.

One-hundred-fifteen young people are enrolled in swimming classes now, Coach Kenneth Livingston announced Wednesday.

Regular meeting of Farwell Future Farmers of America was held Monday night, with light attendance, Robert "Prof" Morton, said Tuesday, so very little business was conducted.

Principal business at the present includes making of plans for the annual summer FFA trip. A call meeting is scheduled Friday night at 8:30 and Morton urges all members to be on hand to arrange all the details of the trip.

Several maintenance operations are scheduled to receive attention in and around Farwell this week, including mowing of weeds, grading of streets, and additional work on the dump ground of the city.

Weed mowing was delayed last week, but Mayor C. M. Henderson said it was hoped to be started the first of the week. Mosquitoes and flies have become more noticeable lately, and the city is anxious to begin such operations, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Crow were in Amarillo Saturday, where she received medical treatment for hemorrhage of the eye. Her doctor, Dr. Campbell, reported that her eye isn't improving very rapidly.

CONSTRUCTION PROGRESSING

The new building under construction for Texico schools is progressing rapidly, according to Agrie Jones, superintendent of school. Workmen are nearly through laying brick Jones adds.

228 PEOPLE PRESENT

Rev. C. M. Fields, pastor of Texico-Farwell Baptist church, reports that 228 people were present for Sunday school at the church the past Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Parton and family visited Sunday with relatives in Portales.

Lula Daniel of Kinta, Oklahoma is spending the summer with her cousin, Mrs. N. W. Peyton.

The good woman cannot tell a lie—unless it's ours.

Farms Likely Targets For Biological Warfare

Biological warfare is considered a much greater threat to livestock raising than the atom bomb. Authorities doubt that an attacker would waste expensive atom bombs on rural areas where most livestock are kept, but they believe that an enemy nation might attempt to destroy large numbers of meat animals by the intentional spread of disease germs. Farmers, veterinarians, and livestock sanitary officials are being alerted to this danger. Biggest hope of preventing such losses is prompt diagnosis and reporting of any suspicious outbreak, such as appearance of an unfamiliar infection in herds or flocks. Widespread outbreaks of familiar diseases that ordinarily cause only limited trouble also could be a danger signal.

Work Accident Rates Go Down

American workers were safer in 1950, the National Safety Council reports.

Industrial injury rates for last year, released by the Council in advance of the 1951 edition of its statistical yearbook, "Accident Facts," show a substantial reduction in both the frequency and severity of 1950 accidents as compared with 1949.

Twenty-nine of the 40 basic industry classifications reduced their frequency rates, and 23 reduced severity rates.

Rate Down 8 Per Cent

The accident frequency rate for employees in all industries submitting company reports to the Council, based on the number of disabling injuries per 1,000,000 man-hours, was 9.3 in 1950—a reduction of 8 per cent from the year before.

The accident severity rate for all industries reporting to the Council, based on the number of days lost per 1,000 man-hours, was .94 last year—also a reduction of 8 per cent from 1949.

Farm Tractor a Vehicle? Not always, study Shows

When is a vehicle not a vehicle? According to a survey of state laws on driving while under the influence of liquor, recently conducted by the National Safety Council at least seven states do not include farm tractors in the legal definition of a motor vehicle.

In those states, a farmer can have his driver's license suspended, crank up his farm tractor, head for the nearest tavern and drive home in his cups without risking arrest for anything worse than creating a public nuisance.

Pull off the road to change a flat and save your life—there's no spare for that.

Before you question your husband's judgment, take another look in the mirror.

LUMBER PRODUCTION

It would take 1,900,000 boxcars, which would reach across the United States five times, to carry the nation's lumber production in one year.

Texas 4-H clubs have helped raise funds for the March of Dimes.

Better not tell a restaurant man you're hungry enough to eat a horse. You're liable to eat just that.

National Safety Council figures show that about half the drownings each year take place in only three months—June, July and August. Don't take chances in the water.

Finish Sewer Line For School Buildings

School workmen, after six weeks of continuous labor, have finally completed the elaborate installation of sewer line hookups for Farwell Schools say school officials.

Robert Morton and R. D. Hensley were credited with "90 per cent of the work" for installing the system, at a considerable saving to the school.

In addition, their work was approved as a first-class job by a city inspector who issued the permit to tie on the municipal system.

Lines extended on either side of the school buildings, east and west, and flow into two manholes before joining onto the main city line.

Disposal from the home economics building facilities, as well as some plumbing in the high school joins into a manhole on the school property on the west side of the building.

A four-inch line extends from the agriculture building on the east side of the school, and soon grows to a six-inch line with the addition of some drainage from the high school.

Provisions for this line, which reaches to the final manhole in front of the school, have been planned so that they will be adequate for the inclusion of lines from the new cafeteria and high school building that are yet to be built, explain officials.

The only division of the present disposal set-up that is not attached to the new system is the old cafeteria. Until the new building is erected and cafeteria service in the basement is discontinued, sewerage will be returned to under ground pools located at the west side of school property.

These old cess pools are to be caved in and covered up as soon as possible.

RECEIVES BROKEN ARM

Bernice Christian, teen-age daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everette Christian, received a broken arm while skating at Oklahoma Lane gymnasium on July 4. Her arm is healing satisfactorily.

Farm Directors Hold Regular Meet

Directors of the Parmer Farm Bureau held their regular monthly meeting at the county courthouse in Farwell Monday night. Several projects were discussed at the meeting, including scheduling of films that will be shown in a community series throughout the next several months.

"We are setting this up on a trial basis to see how the public reacts to it," said Bruce Parr, president, in detailing the plans.

Another project discussed at some length but tabled for further consideration was a plan to map and place markers over the county, checkerboard fashion, in order that directions and distances might be easily determined by persons unfamiliar with the county road system.

The directors reasoned that if signs could be placed on section road corners carrying numerals in one direction, and alphabetical letters for roads running at right angles the numerated ones, it would be a simple matter to give strangers directions, as well as for the long-resident farmer to determine distances at a glance.

The matter was shelved until early estimates of the cost of such a program could be worked out by the Rhea Farm Bureau, which originated the idea.

Present at the meeting were Melvin Sachs, Raymond Euler, Bruce Parr, Joe Jones, F. H. Reeve, Joe Menefee, and Walter Kaltwasser.

BACK TO HARVEST

Ed Hardage and his three combines, assisted by a crew of local young men, pulled in from the wheat harvest early this week and began making plans to move on to Kansas the latter part of the week.

Hardage said he would likely go from here to Hays, Kansas, and follow the harvest to the north. Opening the season at Iowa Park, Hardage and his crew closed out the first lap at Englee, N.M., and pulled in here Monday afternoon. Members of his crew are, Donald Joe Pipkin, Harold Doshier, Jess Coburn and Bob Gerles.

Conversion Program For Grade School Moves Ahead Rapidly At Farwell High

Alterations and remodeling for converting the old high school building into a grade school at Farwell schools moved along rapidly this week, as local labor removed fixtures and equipment in preparation for conversion plans.

Most of the heavy re-arranging will be done on the second floor of the high school, where several partitions will be reset to allow space for grade school classrooms.

At present, workers are busy taking down lighting fixtures and are scheduled to tear out ceilings this week throughout the entire high school building. All equipment has been temporarily moved out of the way and is stored in the gymnasium.

Supt. Jack Williams, in detailing the work that is being done, pointed out that the building will be re-wired so that none of the conduit will show as it does at present.

A new fiber acoustical fire-resistant ceiling will be installed in all grade class rooms, and lighting fixtures from the old rooms, which were only three years old, will be placed back into service.

New windows for the building are to be installed, he says, and this move will do away with the drafty window units that formerly admitted cold air and sand.

Fourth through the seventh-grade classes will be located on the second floor, he notes, and the present superintendent's office will be taken over by S. S. Jobes, grade school principal.

The partition between the old study hall and library will be altered so that two classrooms can be used in their places. Also, a partition between the mathematics and English rooms will be adjusted, and in their place will be a large classroom and a smaller library room.

Sixty-one lockers will be available for students on the second floor, and all lockers will be located in recessions next to the wall to improve appearance.

Roof, Walls Repaired
Work to be done on the entire building includes repairing and re-topping the roof, and much re-plastering on inside walls.

All of the old high school and old grade school building are to be re-roofed, as well as the gymnasium and home economics buildings.

Wherever cracks and unevenness occur on inside walls, plastering will be done to pretty them up, says Williams.

All rooms and hallways in the building will be painted before school begins next fall. Downstairs, the first through the third grades will be adequately housed in renovated classrooms. Provisions are being made for a nurse's room in the space formerly occupied by the bookroom.

Misdemeanors Feature Texico Court Cases

Seventeen misdemeanors were featured in the Texico JP court through the month of June, announced Sam Lewis, magistrate. In addition the Texico judge heard cases for two worthless checks, and had one suit and garnishment.

All of the misdemeanors were in conjunction with regulations at the Texico Port of Entry. Three of the 17 were for evading the port, and the remainder for overloading.

Both of the worthless checks were collected, commented Lewis.

Failure of Pump to Arrive Causes Anxiety

Failure of a pressure pump to arrive for the Texico-Farwell Waterworks had company officials worrying this week over the supply of water for the Twin Cities.

When contacted Monday afternoon, V. C. Venable, water superintendent, said "I'm almost out of water right now. I can't afford to stay right at the tower and regulate the pressure, and sometimes it gets a jump on me."

This is because both pumps at the tower in Farwell are not automatically controlled, and since one of them has to be "kicked in" manually when the pressure falls off, occasionally this action is taken too late to keep up pressure.

Venable has been kept busy lately doing work for the city, and as a consequence, has had trouble keeping an eye on the water level in the tank.

All this could be relieved, he says, if parts to install the pressure pump at the Santa Fe tank in Texico would arrive, but so far they haven't.

"We may have to hire a man to stay at the tower and keep an eye on the pressure," Venable says.

Mothering Baby Pigs Is New Undertaking For Farm Woman

The task of mothering six orphan pigs has proven to be quite an undertaking for Mrs. Backie Williams, but she was found equal to the occasion, although without previous experience.

What with rearing a fair-sized family, caring for an invalid mother for many years, to say nothing of tolerating a stubborn husband, she had had her hands pretty well occupied through the years.

But when it fell her lot to adopt six tiny pigs, she gets herself to the task—and is quite well, thank you. Equipped with a half dozen nursing bottles, she sees that each tiny porker gets his feeding on regular schedule. The biggest job is mixing enough formula each morning to run over a 24-hour period, she says.

Good Turn-out Reported At Pentecostal Revival

Rev. C. A. Hatcher, pastor of the United Pentecostal church, reports a good turn-out at the church's revival at the beginning of the week.

Attendants at the open air meetings were forced to move to the church Tuesday night due to poor weather conditions, "but we plan to have our meetings outside as long as the weather permits", Rev. Hatcher states.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bob Smart are assisting Rev. Earl Abbott, internationally known speaker, with the revival. The local pastor urges citizens to bring afflicted persons to the services, as Rev. Abbott conducts a healing campaign.

Churches from Muleshoe, Clovis, Portales and Friona have dismissed their services to attend the local revival.

Gay Malone of Hereford was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sterlyn Billington over the past weekend.

Lazbuddie School Lacks Three Instructors

Lazbuddie school board met in regular session Thursday night and elected the bus foreman and the lunchroom personnel for the coming school term. Raymond Treider was selected by foreman and lunchroom workers include Mrs. N. M. McCurdy, director, and Mrs. Perry Barnes and Mrs. Raymond Treider, Archie Sims, superintendent of schools, says.

Due to the recent resignation of Mrs. Morris, second grade instructor, and Mr. Lavender, sixth grade teacher, the school lacks three instructors including the above two and a commercial teacher.

When the faculty list is completed, names of the entire personnel will be published, Sims states.

in taxes; the other to be met with revenue from the system. As matters now stand, the income from the system will not meet the expenses of operation and allow a surplus to meet the share of the revenue bonds.

Members of the city commission are hesitant about passing an ordinance which would compel a complete tie-in on the part of every residence and business house; they much prefer that such tie-ins should be made on a voluntary basis. But drastic steps must be taken in the immediate future if the sewer system is to operate properly and at the same time produce sufficient revenue to retire the bonds, officials say.

I am informed that local dealers have a good supply of pipe on hand, and can get more on short notice. So there appears to be no shortage along that score.

Local residents who have not as yet connected with the sewer would not expect to be permitted to use cess pools and outdoor toilets in Clovis, Amarillo or any other city. Yet, here in Farwell, they seem inclined to drift along with their present facilities.

The members of the city commission are our friends; they are reluctant to force anybody into connecting with the sewer. Yet, on the other hand, they have obligated the city to pay off the bonds, and they have no other choice but to see that this obligation is met.

Seventeen-Day Trip Through East is Great Experience For Wesley and Rea Foster

"The most wonderful thing that ever happened to us" is the succinct way Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Foster sum up their recent seventeen-day trip to the East coast when Wesley served as a delegate to Lions International Atlantic City and Rea accompanied him "to keep the journal of the trip" and keep her husband in line.

Laughingly admitting that she let Wesley (accompanying him, of course) take in one of the famed "leg shows" in Memphis, Tenn., Rea reports that "it took hours for Wesley eyes to pop back into focus". However, the biggest thrill of the trip excluding even the impressiveness of the convention in Atlantic City, was the Foster's stop in Washington, D. C., where the 35 delegates from this part of the world spent two days taking the unusual sights and visiting places famous in American history.

Primed beforehand, by their reading, of course, the Fosters were even able to take their "character" of a New York taxi driver in stride, and Rea didn't bat an eye when he bruskiy informed her, after a question as to "what is that building?" that he would "point out the sights you ought to see". It was that same driver, incidentally who queried one member of the party, asking him if he knew O'Dwyer (former New York mayor, now ambassador to Mexico). The lion delegate retorted "No, I'm from New Mexico", to which the driver challenged, "New Mexico—Old Mexico—what the hell, don't you know anybody outside your own district?"

The traveling Texans (and New Mexicans and Oklahomans) were enthusiastic about the courtesy of Washington police, with Rea adding "we must have asked them a million stupid questions" as they took in the sights of the National Capitol. Leave on June 17

The trip to Atlantic City actually began on Sunday, June 17th, when the Fosters joined a party on a chartered bus leaving out of Lubbock and the second day out found them crossing Arkansas and on to Memphis, Tenn. Here they stopped to view the mighty Mississippi where they were invited aboard a light tender and "covered the boat from deck to galley."

At Nashville, the trippers saw Vanderbilt University and the Parthenon, built like the famous Parthenon in Greece, with the first highlight of the trip coming in the visit to "The Hermitage" home of Andrew Jackson, fifth president of the United States. "The Hermitage" is furnished in the original furniture, Rea reported. The second night on the road came at Knoxville, where a tired party of Knoxville Lions still waited at 11 p. m. Rea writes in her journal, "their wives were there in hats and gloves and we dreaded getting off looking just like we were—well-traveled people", and then adds, "one consolation was that the Tennessee women are not as pretty as Texas women!"

On through the beautiful Smoky Mountains, the bus travelers found the winding, narrow road something for their vehicle to navigate with "one narrow bridge taking several attempts before we completed the turn and hit the bridge right". Near Roanoke, Va., the group viewed the natural bridge, one of the seven in the world, which is on land deeded to Thomas Jefferson by English Crownhead, and was surveyed by George Washington, who left his initials and surveyor's cross some 23 feet up on the southeast wall.

On toward Washington, the road ran through Shenandoah National Park on the Skyline (Blue Ridge), where they got their first taste of cops. The officer halted the group and informed the driver that the highway was built for cars only, but allowed the bus tourists to go on without a ticket. Washington and Lee University, Virginia Military Institute and University, and Monticello were also on the list, but the latter, home of Jefferson, was already closed, to the visitor's regret.

Visit With Representatives Then came Washington, where the first stop was the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and the tourists saw the actual paper money being minted. The Washington Monument elevator carried the group to the 600-foot top in 70 seconds, where the imposing white marble Supreme Court building appeared the most beautiful. Inside the Court building is an impressive spiral marble staircase with shining rails, which winds up six flights and "is a beautiful sight."

Lunch the first day was enjoyed in Speaker Rayburn's own dining room, with Reps. Mahon and Rogers as hosts, and the group got a thrill in being introduced to many "news-paper names". They sat in the galleries of the House of Representatives (largest legislative chamber in the world) for a few minutes; saw the Presidents room, rode the little cars that go under the buildings to the Senate office building, and then moved on to the Department of Justice, and to the Museum of Natural History and Arlington Cemetery.

"The changing of guards at the Tomb of the unknown Soldier was the most impressive ceremony I've ever witnessed", Rea reports. They visited Lee Mansion and then rushed back to meet Rep. Rogers, who had invited the five couples from his district to the Detroit Tigers-Washington Senators baseball game. "We had sandwiches at one of the Hot Shoppes, where we first noticed electric hand driers in the ladies' lounge," Rea says, adding, "We kept looking for paper towels and stumbled into the drier."

The following morning the group visited Mt. Vernon and saw the tombs of Martha and George Washington, stopping on their return to Alexandria to visit Christ Church (Episcopal) where Washington worshipped, and where Robert E. Lee was confirmed. The Pentagon was seen, but not visited inside, and then visitors took a look at the Jefferson Memorial and the Mellon Art Gallery.

At the Library of Congress the visitors saw the famous Gutenberg Bible, printed between 1450 and 1455, one of the three known copies; the Articles of Confederation; Bill of Rights; Declaration of Independence; and the Magna Carta of 1225, Pennsylvania Avenue, adorned with statues of monument of American historical individuals; saw the White House, and then Blair House, of which Rea says "it wasn't nearly so impressive as I had expected."

Upstreet, the Atomic Energy Commission's heavily guarded building was pointed out with the last stop at the Lincoln Memorial, where the Gettysburg address is inscribed on the wall. They dined that night at Hogate's, the most famous eating place in Washington, which can seat 3,000 on its three floors, and followed it with a boat ride down the Potomac, where they heard and visited with orchestra leader Shep Fields.

Down to Annapolis Enroute to Annapolis, the route crossed America's first railroad at Bladensburg, built in 1828. The group toured the Naval Academy; saw a crypt containing the body of John Paul Jones and the famous Perry battle flag with the words "Don't Give Up the Ship". In Baltimore, they visited John Hopkins University and medical school; crossed the Susquehanna river at Aberdeen on a toll bridge and rode a ferry across the Delaware at New-castle.

When the scenery palled, the group visited, and one popular member threw them into a tailspin by tossing a key, which her husband told her was no good, out of the window, only to be informed that it was their house key. As they neared Atlantic City they got a brief police car escort and in arrival the men rushed out to register.

Convention Notes The first evening was "the best of the convention", featuring Cornelia Skinner and other notables. Early rising came the next day in order that they might see the 12,000 Lions parade for three hours, and Rea notes that the most beautiful float was one from Pennsylvania, decorated with 15,000 roses each set in a small vial of water and not one wilting in the hot sun.

Tuesday's session was highlighted by an address by Gen. Mark Clark, and the trippers visited the various booths set up to distribute literature (Continued on last page, this section)

New Phones in Offing For Friona Residents

Friona residents who have longed for the convenience of a home or business telephone will have their dreams realized in the near future with extended new lines being promised soon by the Southwestern Associated Telephone Company, which services the city.

Roy Wilson, local City manager, reported that G. D. Shelly, district manager of Lubbock, had advised him of the proposed installation of new phones over the city, and it is expected that such work will be started shortly.

According to word from Shelly, the company has a total of around 80 new subscribers now on hand, and plans for the extension will allow for another 20 potential customers in the future. Although Shelly could not be contacted for definite word, it was presumed that the majority of new phones would be on the two-party system, particularly in the residential installations.

Friona is served entirely by an automatic dial system, with long distance operators answering out of Hereford. Office of the company which serves Friona for repairs are located in Muleshoe.

Dedication Program To Be Held On Saturday

A special dedication program is slated for Saturday of this week, July 14th when services will be held at the Methodist encampment grounds in Ceta Canyon.

Rev. J. E. Tidwell, local pastor, made the announcement, adding that he hoped that several local residents would be able to attend the program, slated to begin at 11 o'clock in the morning.

Ceta Canyon has been the scene of the Methodist camps for some years, with a rather extensive building program being completed recently. At the camp are former Army barracks buildings, which have been converted into individual cabins and asbestos shingled; a large dining hall which will seat between 500 and 600; a beautiful ranch style manager's home, completed just last year; a tabernacle; bath houses, and swimming pool.

Pastor Engaged In Camp Management

Rev. Russell Pogue pastor of the local church is out of town this week serving as director for the Baptist boys' encampment, at the camp grounds near Floydada.

Rev. and Mrs. Pogue left Monday morning for the camp, with the intermediate boys holding their summer meeting Monday through Wednesday, while the junior group began activities Wednesday evening and will continue through Friday.

Foreign students were slated as special speakers for the missionary portion of the boys camp.

The girls' summer sessions will begin on Monday of next week, with the intermediates meeting the first three days and the juniors finishing out the week. Elizabeth Truly, missionary to Africa, will be a special speaker.

Intermediate Camp To Begin On July 23rd

Intermediate boys and girls from this area of Methodist churches will gather in Ceta Canyon on Monday, July 23rd, as they begin a week-long encampment.

Ages for the group fall between 12 and 15. Rev. J. E. Tidwell, local pastor, said today and already plans are being made for a large delegation to be on hand for the local church. Last year, 14 young people from the Friona Methodist Church were in attendance.

Cost of the camp is $12 per youngster, which includes housing and meals as well as access to all other facilities including the swimming pool. Attendants are required to furnish their own bed rolls, and also such linens as towels and wash cloths.

Local Salesman Wins Trip To Meeting

H. T. (Tiny) Magness local salesman for the American Casualty and Benefit Insurance Company, was in Dallas this week, along with Mrs. Magness, attending a company convention.

Magness was awarded the trip for his top salesmanship in this district. He and Mrs. Magness returned to their home Tuesday, after having spent the first of the week at the convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance Crume and daughters, Judy and Beth, were in Farwell on Thursday evening, for a belated Fourth of July visit in the W. H. Graham home.

July 15 Date for Church Opening

Thirty-seven years ago, on January 20, 1914, the Friona Baptist Church was organized with a total of 14 members. On next Sunday, July 15, the present membership of 470 will hold formal opening services in the newly-completed $85,000 building.

Actually, the group held its first worship program in the beautiful new sanctuary on last Sunday, but with last-minute details still to be attended, formal services, to which all residents of the community are invited, are slated for the 11 o'clock hour on the 15th.

Complete plans for the opening day program were not available the early part of this week, according to Charles Allen, a member of the program committee.

However, a special speaker is expected to be on hand for the eleven o'clock worship service, which will culminate with dinner on the ground. An afternoon session is also planned, during which all former local pastors who are present will be invited to speak, and in the evening Robert Lacey, former member and now studying theology in Fort Worth, will fill the pulpit. Special music is to be provided by the choir from Dimmitt during the morning services, Allen said, and other specials will be prepared by the local church aggregation.

One of the most beautifully and perfectly planned of the newer churches in Parmer County, the structure has a present overall size of 50 by 130, and plans are for the educational wings to be added at either side of the present sanctuary in the future, Rev. Russell Pogue, pastor, said today.

Finished on the exterior with cream-colored fire proof brick, the bell tower is one of the dominating features of the new church. This tower will be equipped with a bell, and later, if feasible, chromatic chimes will be installed, the pastor said.

Woodwork throughout the building is of solid oak, with paneled exterior doors and slab doors on the interior, the pews and pulpit furniture are of light-toned oak, as is the paneling in front of the choir loft. The main auditorium features an acoustic-tiled oak-beamed ceiling with hanging chandeliers done in gold and iron, which are extremely pleasing to the eye.

The 80-foot auditorium will have pew seating for some 460 persons, while additional seats may be installed at the back of the auditorium, which opens into two distinct vestibules, and is separated from the pews by an oak chancel rail.

Three unusual eleven-foot windows of corrugated glass dominate the front of the building, actually on the inside they are at the back of the auditorium, which runs east and west, and all other windows throughout the building are aluminum casement, of rippled glass in the auditorium proper and clear glass in the classrooms and offices.

Very light green is used to tint the sand plaster in the auditorium and a number of the classrooms and offices, while the hall, both upstairs and down, is done in soft peach. Upstairs are seven classrooms and two assembly rooms for the primary and beginners departments with soft pastel tones being used on the plaster and woodwork, save for the doors, which are slab oak. Also on the upper floor at the rear of the auditorium are two sound chambers, gridded and prepared for any future organ installation, with conduits already run for such addition.

Downstairs, other than the auditorium proper, are two choir rooms, at either side of the choir loft, which will currently also be utilized for nursery rooms during the Sunday School hour; the pastor's study, spotlighted by built-in bookcases in matching oak; rest rooms for both men and ladies, with the latter featuring a small stool for children; the "bed" nursery, with an acoustically tiled ceiling and a radio outlet for local services; a janitor's storage room; church supply room; and secretary's office.

The building is floored throughout in asphalt tile, with a dark mold-board effect of tile being run in the halls to facilitate cleaning work, and around the halls, a four-foot-high strip of smooth plaster was run, with all paint being of the oil base for easy cleaning. The baptistry, at the front of the auditorium, is reached by steps from either side behind the choir loft, and is done in a soft grey and blue.

Rev. Pogue stated that plans are to arrange floral decorations on the ledge separating the baptistry from the choir, in order that they may be enjoyed by all attendants. Something else which will make services more enjoyable is a 16-inch slope from back to front of the auditorium, removing the annoying necessity of craning to see the speaker.

The pulpit proper is arranged on a dais half-circle in front of the choir, with the flooring being done in oak and stained to match the other varnished effects throughout the building. Oak hand rails are installed on the stairs leading to the class rooms, and in the vestibules, oak hat racks are available.

Furnishings for the building are estimated at upward of $7,750, with officials refully admitting that they still have new additions to make, in the way of nursery and class room equipment, and stair coverings.

The entire building is vented for central air heating, with two separate units installed, one for the main auditorium and another to serve the classrooms and offices. This was done, the pastor explained, in order that the rooms might be used during the winter for meeting purposes, without the entire building having to be warmed. Air conditioning, he added, "is a thing of the future."

Construction of the building contracted to G.G. Gilliland, was begun on March 12, 1950, when Mrs. J. N. Messenger, the only charter member of the church still active, turned the first shovel of dirt. Other charter members of the church included Mr. Messenger, Mrs. Minnie Maxwell, Miss Willie Owens, Mrs. L. D. Ballard, W. H. Saffold, Mrs. Lillie Babcock, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Taylor.

When the church was organized, services were held in the school building, and on February 15 of the first year J. T. Burnett was called as pastor, while in May of that same year the group purchased a small building, which they consequently sold in 1924 and which is now occupied by Weir's second hand store here in Friona.

Following that sale, worship services were held again at the school and in the Methodist church for two years, and on Thanksgiving Day, 1926, the group celebrated by holding their first service in the basement of the old building still being used. At this time, L. A. Blair was pastor, and a membership of 76 was enrolled.

Rev. R. J. Jones served shortly as the local pastor, to be followed by Rev. M. M. Rollimeth, old-timers recall. The members backed a building plan, which saw the completion of the auditorium in use until last week.

Having grown through the years, to a membership of 255, the present pastor's home was built in 1934, although not in its present location, having been moved one block north of the building just two years ago to provide room for construction of the new sanctuary.

In 1931, Rev. E. Ray Lansdowne came to the church as pastor, remaining until 1934, when succeeded by Rev. David E. Moore. Rev. Joe Wilson served from 1937 to 1942, and in 1944, R. L. Jenkins began his work as pastor. Rev. Clayton Day took over in 1945, to be followed by Rev. T. B. Allen in 1947, and finally by the current minister, Rev. Pogue, who came here the early part of this year.

Building improvements throughout the year include the erection of the educational building at the back of the old church, containing a general assembly room, seven classrooms and a kitchen; and another educational building was erected south of the church in 1947, containing six rooms and occupied by the junior department of the Sunday School.

Rev. Pogue said today that the membership hopes soon to start another expansion program, which will see the erection of the two wings pictured in the architect's sketch, and all other buildings on the church property will be eliminated.

Trip Review To Be Given For Lions

Wesley Foster, local businessman who represented the Friona Club at Lions International in Atlantic City, the last of June, is slated to give a report of his trip at the regular meeting of the Lions Club on Thursday evening of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster returned just last Wednesday evening from the 17-day trip to the East on which they visited a large number of America's prominent cities, and all local Lions are urged to be on hand at 8 o'clock to hear the review of the excursion.

City Commission Voices Protest of Gas Hike Approved by Texas Railroad Commission

Meeting in regular session on Thursday evening of last week, Friona's city commissioners approved a plan to file a stiff protest with the Texas Railroad Commission concerning a proposed rate hike for users of natural gas in the city, Mayor Mack Baunum reported on Friday.

Actually, the West Texas Gas Company headquarters in Lubbock, has already received an approval from the Railroad Commission for increases in gas usage rate over the territory it serves, but Baunum indicated that the city's protest to the Commission would likely be given a hearing before final determination is made of the case.

Boiled down to a nutshell, the proposed new rates would make an average overall increase of 16.1 percent for Friona, Baunum said, adding that only three towns served by the West Texas company are bracketed at this figure in the requested raise on rates.

The company's position, Baunum went on, is the lower use by consumers in Friona supports their request for the largest increase locally, but city commissioners maintain that such a rate should not be approved, particularly when the city does not even have a resident "gas man", with repair service being made out of Hereford. Some months ago, the company advised that it would maintain an office in Friona, but to date, this has not been effected.

As to the increase, the largest raise would be paid by the "little" consumer, homeowners particularly. Looking over the figures submitted, the graduated scale differs sharply for small consumption, while remaining at very near the same level for commercial users, it was revealed.

At present, the first 2,000 cubic feet of natural gas goes for 62½¢; the next 48,000 for 45¢; next 50,000 for 30¢; next 400,000 for 25¢; and all over 500,000 at 20¢. In the new rates, the initial 62½¢ charge would be maintained; but the next hike comes at another 8,000, up to 45¢; the next 40,000 goes at 50¢; next 50,000 at 45¢; 200,000 at 35¢; all over 500,000 at 25¢.

"We are going to file our protest, and then await the action of the Railroad Commission", Mayor Baunum said, adding, "we may not get any satisfaction out of the matter, but we'll fight it until the raise goes through."

FOSTER'S TRIP—

and advertising paraphernalia. Amateur night was held that evening, and the ladies were honored at a breakfast and style show, featuring hats made by Mr. John, Chanda and Hattie Carnegie on the next morning. Senator Kefauver spoke at the Wednesday session, and in the afternoon the Fosters visited the famed Steel Pier, which Rea describes as "only a cheap carnival."

There were 30,000 Lions at the convention, with Texas having 400 voting delegates, second only in attendance to Pennsylvania. After the voting on Thursday the sight-seeing tour began again, as the group headed for New York.

New York is Next

We mingled with the crowd at Macy's for a few minutes, Rea recorded in her journal, and went to Radio Music Hall in Rockefeller Center to see the famed Rookettes, but "discovered we had just missed them". Out again, they took in the RCA building, clear to the top of its 71 stories to see New York and pick out buildings "we had heard so much about".

Determined to get in to "South Pacific," the locals and their friends paid scalper prices but noted this as one of their best entertainment of the trip. At the dock they saw the Queen Mary, the Statue of Liberty, and then drove to Chinatown, the Bowery and Greenwich Village, returning by way of Times Square and Broadway.

A taxi tour Friday took them down Riverside drive, past Columbia University, Grant's Tomb and into Harlem, up to The Cloisters (medieval art museum), through the Bronx, by Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds, and through Central Park, described by the driver as "the muggiest park in the world."

Lunch was enjoyed on the 34th floor of the Chase National Bank, overlooking Manhattan and the bay, visited the bank's huge vault, and saw all Wall Street and the Stock Exchange, then climaxed the day with a boat ride around Manhattan Island, where they got a close look at the Queen Mary, the Independence and the Saturnia; passed by the block-long ovens of the National Biscuit Company; around Ellis Island and the Statue of Liberty on Bedloes Island; Staten and Long Island; Governor's Island; the famed "Wasp" and "Hornet", aircraft carriers, and got a good look at the thousands of New York's famous buildings.

Also getting a gander from the locals George Washington bridge, 3500 feet long and the second largest suspension bridge in the world; the Ford plants and the apartment building atop which Hearst, the publisher, has an 89-room apartment, including a swimming pool and gym. Friday night they braved the subway crowds and attended the Yankee-Detroit ball game.

And Now Toward Home

New York behind them, the delegates headed for home on June 30th, taking the four-lane Turnpike route which runs 327 miles, has no crossings and bypasses all towns, with restaurants and filling stations along the way. The road pierces the Alleghenies with 71 tunnels, the longest being 6,782 feet; it crosses 27 1/2 streams and rivers; and a fee of $10.00 was charged for the bus, with 61 toll houses along the route.

Along the Monongehela river the group saw a paddle-wheel boat pushing a coal barge, and enjoyed the scenery of Pennsylvania, crossing the Ohio river and continuing to Columbus where they saw the university. Through Indiana, the travelers commented on the beauty of its rolling farm lands, and at Greenfield they visited the home of James Whitcomb Riley.

Crossing the Wabash River at Terre Haute, they continued to Illinois and through that state to St. Louis to send the night. From St. Louis the route led across the southeast corner of Kansas, where they saw lead and zinc mines, and after crossing Oklahoma they made their final stop at Lubbock on the evening of July 3rd, returning to their respective homes that night.

Brotherhood Meeting Held Tuesday Night

The regular meeting of the Mens Brotherhood of the Friona Baptist church held a regular meeting on Tuesday evening of this week, at the church.

Following supper served by the church ladies, the group devoted the evening to painting and other work on the old building, now to be converted into an educational building with the completion of the new sanctuary.
