

FROM THE HOPPER

By HOP

Noticed in the Muleshoe Journal of last week that some man, who claimed to be somewhat of an authority on the subject, made a talk before a civic club in that city and during the course of his remarks he said there was enough water in the underground reservoirs of the Plains county to last for another 100 years at the present rate of consumption.

I only hope he is right. If we could be assured that our underground supply will last another century there should be little cause for work of the part of the present and future generations.

But, the question is, is he correct? I have heard and read many supposed authorities on the same subject who contended that our water supply was soon to be exhausted. We do know that the water level has been showing a steady decline over the past several years. The only season it has shown a gain in recent years was during 1941 when more than 40 inches of rainfall was recorded over a wide portion of the Plains.

Nobody seems to know the correct answer to the source of our underground water; some claim that it is an inexhaustible river and other authorities claim that it is a reservoir that will be drawn dry over a period of years.

Understand, I claim to be no authority. But I do know that whenever we have heavy rains here, the water level rises, which is simple proof that a certain amount of water stored in our surface lakes eventually finds its way to the underground.

And, for that reason, we should begin now holding out rainfall where it falls with the hope of preventing a water shortage in the years ahead of us. Not hundreds, but thousands of cities and villages over the southwest are clamoring for additional water this very day—and little relief is in sight.

A water conservation program to build dams along Running Water and Frio Draws in Parmer County would be a step in the right direction. Thousands of acre feet of water have gone down these draws already this year and nothing is being done to save it. A series of lakes created over the Plains would aid greatly in recharging our underground supply—and maybe, avoid a serious situation in the years to come. We'd better think seriously about this problem!

One of our ardent readers in San Antonio sends us a clipping, which says that the game and fish sportsmen bring to the family table costs on the average of $9.00 per pound. Frankly, I believe that is a low estimate and could be doubled if it were calculated on the success of my fishing and hunting jaunts.

I am reminded of a certain fishing trip that I made one year with Dr. V. Scott Johnson and Jimmie Overstreet to the streams and lakes in the Eagle Nest section of New Mexico. After spending some three days in quest of fish, we started home with less than enough fish to feed one hungry man. Arriving in Taos, we spotted a sign in front of a restaurant, which said, "Trout dinner $1.50." Doc Johnson eyed the sign briefly, then turning to his weary companions, remarked, "D---- if I see how they can do it."

Now I'm in Dutch with Mrs. Ethel Tindol, who with Mrs. J. C. Moore, recently took over the Highway Cafe in Bovina. "You made me appear as only a dishwasher in that news story last week," she said. It was my error and I hasten to correct any wrong impression that appeared in the item. Mrs. Tindol and Mrs. Moore are partners in the newly opened business, and the former is not, by any stretch of the imagination, the dishwasher.

But I can say this for her, she folds up about the finest chocolate pie you will find at a cafe.

Walter Hardage observed, "If the farmers don't make a bumper crop this year, they had better quit." Whereupon, Billy Joe Foster, who heard the observation, replied, "If I don't I'll HAVE to quit."

Speaking again of crop prospects and conditions, a young farmer observed this week that if his crop got rained out again, he intended to replant with 3-minute oats.

DRUNK FINED

L. W. Roserans of Bovina, entered a plea of guilty to drunkenness in Justice B. N. Graham's court here the first of the week and was given a fine of $1 and costs for a total of $18.10.

Father Follows In Son's Footsteps with Mumps

The ambition of lots of fathers is to have their sons follow in their footsteps. Few, if any, have plans for following in their son's footsteps, but that's what Joe Helton, owner of Helton Oil Company, is doing.

Joe is home in bed "enjoying" a case of the mumps. His son, Hal Ed, is in bed with the mumps, too—and he's been there two days longer than his pop.

A week ago Hal Ed came down with the jaw-aching disease, and Father Joe, although he knew he had never before had the mumps, went on his merry way.

"Heck," he said, "If I haven't had 'em so far, I guess I'm not going to have 'em."

Two days later Father Joe was home in bed, holding his jaws. Mrs. Helton, attending physician, reports both patients doing as well as could be expected.

PMA Offices Making Plans to Move Into County Courthouse

Carrying out the request of the State Office, the Parmer County PMA offices will be moved to the county courthouse in the near future, Joe Camp, secretary, announced today.

Camp said that the move could not be made until proper lighting equipment had been installed in the new quarters on the second floor of the courthouse. Fixtures have been ordered and Camp was unable to state when they would arrive and be installed.

For the past several years—first as the AAA then the PMA—the local government agency has occupied one of the Claude Rose buildings two door east of the Security State Bank in this city.

Camp said that the offices formerly occupied by the county agent on the second floor would be taken over by the PMA.

Court Called for Criminal Docket

Trial of five cases appearing on the criminal docket will get under way here Wednesday of next week when District Judge E. A. Bills opens court in the Parmer County courthouse.

A petit panel of 48 members has been called for the session and jurors will be selected from the panel to hear the cases, scheduled to get under way at 10 a.m. on Wednesday. Officials expressed the belief that the remainder of the week—and possibly longer—would be required to dispose of the five criminal actions.

Cases scheduled for hearing include, Ralph Palmateer, child desertion; J. C. Boyles and Harold Delinn Thursman, theft; Bob Pierce, driving an automobile while intoxicated, second offense; J. E. Kirk and Johnnie Miller, theft of cattle; Ernest Wright and Harold D. Thurman, cattle theft.

Garbage Fees Are Due For Texico Citizens

Garbage collection fees for citizens served in Texico are now due and payable, announces W. L. Freeman, city clerk. In making the announcement, Clerk Freeman pointed out that the fees fell due July 1, and are for services during the next six months.

"Quite a few of the people pay up every six months," says Freeman, "and this is to remind them that it is time for another payment."

Residences serviced are assessed $3 for the six-month period, and business houses are $6.

Although some of those owing money to the city for garbage collection have already paid up, Clerk Freeman said that there are a large number that have not. Also, he disclosed that there are "some" delinquencies, and urged these parties to bring back payments.

Town Meeting Slated In Legion Hall July 30

Town meeting night will be Monday evening, July 30, at the American Legion Hall, announces Mayor C. M. Henderson. The meeting, which will begin at 8:30, is designed to afford an opportunity for citizens to visit and see the workings of the city government.

No special business has been scheduled, announces Mayor Henderson.

Cotton Insect Control Meets Are Monday

Second in a series of cotton insect meetings is slated Monday, July 23, County Agent Joe Jones announces. Farmers who are interested in learning how to identify cotton insects and control measures for the pests should be present at the meetings, Jones adds.

Hary Harvey, entomologist with the extension service in Lubbock, will be present to go out into the fields and show the farmers the insects and to explain eradication methods.

Meeting places in the various communities are:

- 9:30—Bovina high school.
- 11:00—Frona gin.
- 2:00—Lazbuddie store.
- 3:30—Lariat gin.

Farmers and interested attendants will go from these meeting places to the fields, Jones says.

Traveling over the county during the past week, I found some damage to cotton from cotton insects," Jones states.

According to Jones, the cotton is a little late, but generally speaking, it looks good and is just as large as crops 100 miles south of Parmer.

The damage that was found on cotton in this area, was caused by webworm and boll worm. Webworms should be controlled while still on weeds, before they move into the cotton. They generally feed on careless weeds on the turn row, and move into the cotton when the weed is either eaten or gets tough, says Jones.

Farmers are warned to watch out for aphids building up; because this insect builds rapidly; stunts cotton growth, and holds it back to late maturity. The insects cause what is commonly known as "honey dew", the agent continues.

Another insect to watch for is the grasshopper, which should be controlled while the pest is still very young, before they spread in the cotton fields. The grasshopper can usually be found in the turn rows before they get into the cotton.

Fleahoppers have been found over the county, Jones concludes. Farmers are urged to be on the lookout for these insects and should be ready to control them.

A guide for controlling cotton insects in Texas may be obtained at the County Agents office.

Most Wheat Going Into Govt. Loan

With the exception of seed that is being retained for planting, practically all of the wheat produced in Parmer County this year is being stored in government loans, according to Joe Camp, secretary of the local PMA office.

Records at Camp's office on Tuesday morning revealed 157 loans had already been made on warehouse loans, and 6 applications had been filed for farm storage. This, in the opinion of Camp, represents "about all the wheat" produced in the county this year. Figures on the amount of grain actually stored to date had not been compiled on Tuesday.

Most growers who produced exceedingly light yields this year, sold their grain on the open market, while practically all farmers who had fair yields retained enough for planting purposes, Camp reported.

Two Bovina Merchants Have Special Sales

Two Bovina merchants are this week advertising special sales on their stocks of merchandise, affording the trade of this county an opportunity for some substantial savings.

W. E. Williams of the Williams Mercantile Co., is staging his regular July clearance sale, which begins today (Thursday). During this event prices have been slashed as much as one-half on some items, and drastic reductions are being offered throughout the entire store.

The C. R. Elliott Company is offering gas and electrical appliances, plumbing fixtures and furniture at greatly reduced prices.

Turn to the Bovina section of the Tribune this week and consider these money-saving values these substantial merchants are offering.

MAY ENLIST IN NAVY

"All men who have received their pre-induction physical may enlist in the Navy if they do before July 30, 1951," reports Irvin W. Flack, MMC of the navy recruiting service.

This announcement is made to draft-age men who may desire to enlist rather than be taken by selective service.

Tribune Buys Photo Shop ... Watch for More Pix

With the aim of providing its readers more and better local pictures, The Tribune this week bought out the photo shop and equipment formerly operated by I. E. Hanna, who died two weeks ago.

The equipment was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Hamilton, of Lubbock, relatives of the deceased Farwell photographer, and will be put into use as soon as possible for developing and printing pictures for use by this newspaper.

However, until the two Tribune hounds can catch onto the hang of operating the darkroom, subscribers should expect a delay of several weeks. As soon as photographic development techniques have been mastered to a degree, The Tribune plans to do all its photo work right here at home.

Operation of the shop will be limited to domestic use for the columns of this paper, reports W. H. Graham, editor, and definitely will not be maintained as a commercial side-line to the newspaper business.

Several inquiries have already been received from persons interested in knowing whether The Tribune will accept outside film for developing and printing.

The answer is a polite but firm "no," simply because staff members who will double up to run the darkroom for the paper will have enough time to take in additional work.

Aged Frona Man Dies In Hospital

Henry Rufus Barnett, age 81, died in the Parmer County Community hospital at Frona Monday night following an illness of about a month, when he suffered a stroke and had been a patient in the hospital since that time.

Funeral services were conducted at the Baptist Church in Frona at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, Rev. Russell Pogue officiating. With Blackburn Shaw of Amarillo in charge, the body was taken to Vernon for burial in the East View cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Barnett had lived north of Frona for the past 14 years, although he had been inactive the past three years. They formerly lived at Vernon (before coming to Frona).

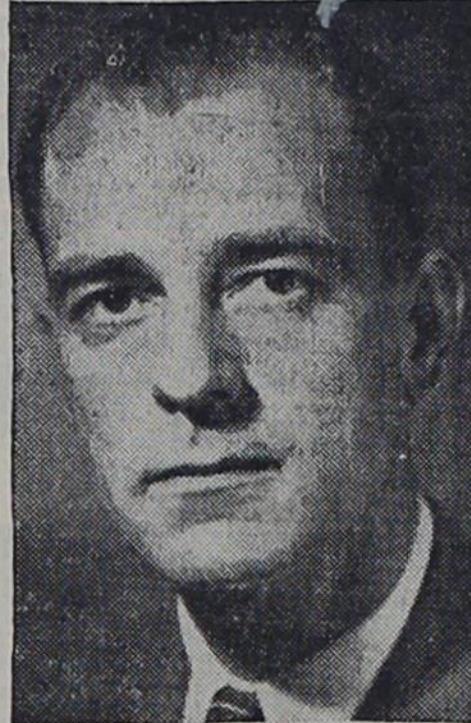

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Maude Barnett, Frona; two daughters, Mrs. Bertha Leveritt, Gary Oklahoma; Mrs. Artie Cox, who resides in Georgia; one son, Elmer Barrett, Mt. Pleasant, Texas. Other survivors include two step-sisters and two sisters.

Pall bearers were: John and Ross Terry, E. G. Phipps, E. H. Lewis, N. C. Tubbs and Roy Clements.

FOREMAN OUT

J. E. Foreman, who suffered a heart ailment recently, was dismissed from a Clovis hospital last Friday, and is recuperating at his home in north Texico. He said it would likely be some time before he would be able to resume work at the Sikes Motor Co., where he has been employed the past several years.

Gracey Ends 11 Years Service as Manager

L. L. Gracey, who has served as manager of the Mountain States Telephone Company at Clovis for the past 11 years, will leave his post there for a new position in El Paso this week.

To succeed Gracey will be William Strickfaden, who will take over Gracey's duties Monday, July 23. He comes to Clovis from El Paso.

In his new position, Gracey will be manager of the El Paso commercial record office. He will leave this weekend for the managership, and will be followed by his wife "in about 30 days."

Strickfaden, who was a commercial engineer in El Paso, was to arrive in Clovis Wednesday night of this week.

Gasoline Prices Decline At Local Stations

Motorists of Texico-Farwell who have enjoyed the lowest gasoline prices in this region for many months, got a further reduction in gas prices early this week.

A check-up at local service stations made Tuesday, revealed that most major dealers were offering regular gasoline at 22 cents per gallon and high-test gas at 24 cents, which is a decline of two cents per gallon under recent figures.

Independent stations posted prices of 20.9 and 21.9 for regular and high-test gasoline, respectively.

Local dealers contacted by The Tribune, said that there had been no reduction in the wholesale prices to them. "We are making the cut ourselves," one dealer stated.

ROBERTS IN WICHITA

M. C. Roberts of the Roberts Seed Company, attended a grain dealers convention in Wichita, Kansas, over the past weekend. From there he went to points in Colorado, where he will attend business matters before returning home the latter part of this week.

Mrs. Harry Jesko and her mother, Mrs. Teresa Kaiser, attended to business, and visited in Muleshoe Saturday.

Narrowly Avoids Kansas City Floods

"It's wonderful to be back to normal again" says Mrs. Charlie Thompson who was stranded in the Kansas City, Mo. flood, while returning home from Ohio.

Mrs. Thompson and two children, Anna Lee and Pat, arrived in Amarillo at 8:15 Saturday evening, none the worse for their experience. They had been in Cincinnati, Ohio for the past six weeks visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Thompson.

The local group began their journey home by train. Their first warning came when a redcap in St. Louis told them that he didn't think they could get through. But the train left on schedule, "and even the built-up tracks were under water some places," Mrs. Thompson states, from Jefferson City to Kansas City. They even saw dredge boats moored to the railroad ties.

Although the train was six hours late, the travelers arrived safely in Kansas City, where they were stranded for 14 hours. They were in the city bus station when the explosion occurred that blew up the levee. "We tried to get out of town by train, but had no luck", Mrs. Thompson states. Only one train left the city during their stay and it was headed for Lincoln, Nebraska.

Finally, one bus driver told stranded passengers that he knew a back road and though he could beat the flood waters to Blue Ridge Bridge, if the bus was loaded in five minutes. People crowded to get on the bus and they were on their way in the designated time the local woman states.

When the group arrived at another station, the bus driver called back to Kansas City to find out that the Blue River bridge had washed out 20 minutes after the conveyance had gone over it.

The bus was troubled by the water all the way to Miami, Okla. A highway patrol had put a block across one river, but they permitted the bus to go through. After arriving in Tulsa, "I felt a weight had been

Although feed crops in Parmer and along the eastern side of Curry County, N. M., are considerable later than at this season of the year, farmers interviewed during the past week say their prospects for a good yield this fall are very encouraging.

Delayed by the arrival of early spring rain, which did not appear until the middle of May, hardly any seed was put in the ground until after the moisture came. Then the young crops were wiped out completely by repeated heavy rains and hail on more than one occasion. Some growers have planted their fields as high as five times before getting a satisfactory stand.

This number of planting, however, has been the exception rather than the rule. But second and third plantings have not been uncommon, with only a very few farmers being fortunate to get good stands on the first plantings.

A large section of the West Camp area, located in one of the best farming sections south of here, has been hardest hit by the repeated heavy rains and hail. Many fields in that section have been replanted the fourth and fifth times. Large acreages of cotton in that section have been abandoned to feed because of the late season.

The most favored section in this immediate section of the county appears to center around the Henry Curtis farm southeast of here, where first plantings are growing off in splendid shape. A large portion of the Oklahoma Lane farmers have replanted the second and third times. Similar reports come from the east side of Parmer County and in the Rhea sections.

But, despite the lateness of the crops, moisture and sunshine have been responsible for rapid growth of the vast feed acreage and farmers generally are looking forward to good yields this fall, barring unfavorable weather conditions during the remainder of the growing season. Normally frost is three months away and farmers agree that 90 more days of favorable growing weather will work wonders on the young crops, many of which are now approaching the "laying by" stages.

Good to heavy rains over most of Parmer County last Friday afternoon, ranging from a quarter to better than two full inches and more. An even inch fell here in Farwell, with the rain tapering off to the east of here with Oklahoma Lane reporting about a half inch and Lazbuddy getting around a quarter of an inch of rainfall. Throughout the Frona section, reports place the precipitation as high as two inches, with a full inch being the most general report.

The Wilsey Switch section, between Farwell and Bovina, came in for a deluge Friday afternoon, with at least 2½ inches being reported from just on the outskirts of this city to Running Water Draw. Farmers north of Bovina received two inches and an inch fell in the Parmer area. With few exceptions, the crops were up to sufficient height to escape damage from the heavy rain.

Some late plantings, particularly just east of this city, were covered up by the washing rain and were ruined. But such acreage is small.

Little rain fell south and west of this city in Friday's rain, but in most instances it was not needed and farmers in those sections were glad to be permitted to continue work in their fields.

lifted from my back," says Mrs. Thompson.

One bus passenger told the local women that her home had been located five miles from the river, and was standing in water.

"When we left Missouri, the bus driver told us that we were the last public conveyance that would leave Kansas City for several days", so Mrs. Thompson felt that she and her family were quite lucky to get home.

She also stated that from Joplin to Tulsa, half of the highway was caved in at places. It was caused by sinkings of old lead mines.

In a final statement, Mrs. Thompson says that the trip was rather exciting, but that she wasn't very jovial about the situation at the time. "In fact, I was very frightened, I've seen all the water I want to see for a long time," she says.

Nancy Jean Clift of Sweetwater spent several days with Darlene Kay Sprawls over the past week.

Four Farwell members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce attended a meeting at Plainview last Monday where they sat in with representatives from seven other West Texas counties.

Attending from Farwell were Bill Sherley, Robert Anderson, John Aldridge, and C. M. Henderson.

"They have a good, workable program that can do much to help our area if we all participate," commented Henderson.

Approximately 60 members attended the meeting, and were treated with a huge barbecue dinner.

August Draft Call Increased in Texas

Austin, Texas—State Selective Service headquarters received official notice today that its August call for 485 men has been increased to 172, Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state director, said in a statement.

This is the state's share of the national call increased from 22,000 to 35,000. Fifty-seven local boards, which otherwise would not have received a call for August, will now get one, the state director said.

"This increase emphasizes that Korean peace headlines do not necessarily have a bearing on manpower procurement for the nation's armed forces," General Wakefield said in a letter to Texas local board members after receipt of the added call.

"This is just another act demonstrating the resolve of our nation not to be caught unprepared again," he continued in his letter to board members. "The recent passage of the new Universal Military Training and Service Act, which extends our manpower procurement program for another four years, is an important step toward our status of being ready. It is, however, but one phase of the long range planning to maintain our domestic and foreign military commitments. I urge you all to keep this uppermost in your minds as you continue in the faithful and diligent discharge of your responsibilities."

"A cessation of hostilities is highly desirable in Korea. All men of good will desire it, if it can be accomplished on honorable grounds. The only undesirable thing about a cease-fire is that it may promote complacency in the minds of our people. This obviously could be an important factor in the over-all strategy of our enemy. We cannot at this juncture indulge in fanciful thinking that peace in Korea, even if achieved, will in any measure determine or slow up the nation's rearmament program. It has been clearly demonstrated that our former ally is not to be trusted. We must of necessity put a question mark before and after all his overtures.

"If the sacrifice of life already expended in this initial test of our compact agreement with the United Nations shall not have been wasted, we must not permit our common hopes for world peace to trap us into an expensive, lackadaisical attitude toward the seriousness of our responsibilities. You gentlemen in your official capacity as members of the Texas local boards have furnished better than the equivalent of a division and a half of military manpower since the Korean fight began. We hope in the next year demands will be less, but we want to be ready to furnish more if the needs of our country demand it."

General Wakefield paid tribute to the more than 500 Texas local board members for their "splendid service to the nation's welfare" as uncompensated personnel of the Selective System.

"I ask that you resolve with me to continue to perform our duties in the best Texas tradition," the state director's letter to the board members concluded.

Shivers Inks Drivers Bill

AUSTIN, June 28 (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers signed tonight a giant appropriations bill, a drivers financial responsibility bill, a labor control bill, and rushed to complete action on numerous others before midnight deadline.

Rev. Abbott Concludes Local Revival This Week

Rev. Earl V. Abbott of Houston, who is conducting the local United Pentecostal revival, has been conducting healing campaigns in this section of the country for some six months and there have been many outstanding healings taking place, according to Rev. C. A. Hatcher, pastor of the local church.

Good crowds have been reported at the local open air meetings, the pastor reports, and Rev. Abbott has been doing some outstanding preaching. According to Rev. Hatcher, many have been healed of cancers, hernia, heart disease, stomach ailments, goiters, deafness and dumbness, and bad eyes, as well as many other afflictions, as Bro. Abbott prayed for them.

"God has given this man of God great favor and God has been blessing him as he labors in behalf of suffering humanity. Rev. Abbott has a great compassion for those who are suffering, and he invites those that are afflicted or sick to attend this healing campaign," the pastor further states.

The revival is held at 8:30 each night four blocks west of the Furniture Mart. The services will continue through this week.

Air Force Doesn't Want Him—Draft Board Does

Glenis "Pete" Hughes, who has been working lately with the uncomfortable feeling that the draft board was breathing down his neck, admits that the jig's up this week. He had planned to enlist in the Air Corps shortly before his induction into the "walkin' army."

Pete, who figured from what he heard over the radio and read in the papers that he had lots of time, waited until Friday before deciding to join up, but found to his surprise and disgust, that the Air Force closed the door in his face.

"They told me I could join as late as Saturday," he said, "but after I got up there they said all of the vacancies had been filled up."

So Pete is expecting his draft call any moment now.

Ray Magness, formerly of Farwell, had even tougher luck. He boarded the bus that was to take him to Amarillo for processing, but the chartered vehicle broke down right here in Farwell, and he didn't get to join either.

Clovis Publisher Is Lions Speaker

Repeatedly insisting that "these are my own ideas," Chas. Fisher, publisher of the Clovis News-Journal, in an address before the local Lions Club Tuesday night, predicted, "some US policy makers will be shown up within the next four or five weeks."

Fisher tied this remark directly into a discussion of "Red infiltration" in the United States after a discussion of the Korean situation in which he deplored the loss of American lives and warned that Russia might dictate the terms of peace in Korea.

Lion L. S. Pool was named to succeed Grayson Roberts as third vice president, who had resigned, and Lion Agrie Jones was named to arrange the program for the next meeting.

Roy E. Kessie To Explain OPS Rules

OPS price specialist Roy E. Kessie, in the Consumer Durable Goods Branch, will stress requirements of the service establishment regulations (CPR 34) and the need for filings by other firms when he visits in Farwell next Tuesday morning, July 24, 1951.

He will maintain offices while here in the County Court room, Court House.

The price specialist, from the Lubbock district office, will assist business men with their filing requirements under the regulations. He emphasized, that despite the fact the deadline has passed, firms which are delinquent should immediately comply. The specialist will visit business men in their offices if appointments are requested and time is available.

The clinics have been held weekly throughout the district during the last several months and they are expected to continue in August, according to C. J. Taylor, district price executive.

He Gets Her Goat, So . . . He Gets Her A Goat

When Mrs. Glenn Phillips became slightly provoked at her husband recently, Glenn soothed her temper by bringing her a peace offering.

But Glenn didn't select the usual type of gift such as candy or flowers. He brought Liz (Mrs. Phillips) a "real-live" baby goat. The new addition to the family is now making it's home in the fenced-in backyard of Mrs. J. C. Robertson.

Though "Goatie" or "Billie" as the miniature animal is called, disrupted things quite a lot on his arrival by jumping on the radio and breaking Chinese figurine, then vaulting to the divan and eating the newspaper, the goat is well accepted at the Phillips residence.

Not only does the Phillips family pamper the animal, but practically everyone in the neighborhood seems to have adopted the "Kid".

School Opening Depends On End of Repair Work

Conclusion of repair work on the old high school building will be the chief factor in determining when Farwell Schools will open this fall, says Jack Williams, superintendent. Friona Woman Surprised As She Questions King

This is the second in a series of letters written by Mrs. Jane Gallagher, Friona woman, who is attending the University of Oslo in Norway.

The next day—rather the same day except a few hours later—then the Captain's dinner; at about 7:30 Chris called me out of the cabin, and we went on deck to see the first view of Norway. At first all I could make out was a vague shadow on the horizon, but before long great rock islands each with its own lighthouse, came into sight.

Then gradually on both sides of us, the rocks changed into green meadowed islands; not very big; but large enough for a house and a few sheep. Then much later the mainland, and the town of Bergen, smuggled down among the hills came into view. Chris was almost jumping up and down, and so was I.

Much as we have traveled in the states I have never seen anything to equal the tall spires and crooked streets of Bergen on that dusky evening. Perhaps I should add here, that those tales you hear about the sun not setting are not quite true. The sun sets quite properly, but the sky is never dark. Except for a few hours, usually an hour and a half or two, the light is about equal to our early evening.

In other words you can easily read small print out-of-doors at midnight. About 9 P. M. we docked at Bergen. The customs officials came on board, and we all had our passports checked, made out a declaration of money and valuables, and received our landing permits. Chris, Willy, and Stan—a Harvard botanist and Maria, a Danish passenger took off for the hills.

We rode a cable car, much like the one up Pike's Peak, to the top of the mountain, and had supper at Fruien. We walked around the mountain until almost eleven, went back inside the restaurant for coffee, and came back down the mountain at 1:40 A. M. just in time to catch the boat. We were all much too excited to sleep, so we sat on deck and talked.

Later we watched the ship slowly move inland through the fjords to Stavanger. Chris, who hadn't been home for three years, was naturally too excited to sleep, and so was I, so we sat on deck with the night watchman and talked. We were quite comfortable in light coats in spite of the fact that just over our heads, on both sides, the mountains towered so high that snow still covered their peaks.

We were still on deck when the ship pulled into the dock at Stavanger. We checked with customs again, and got off for breakfast. Chris took me to a little typical Norwegian Cafe, far down the winding streets in one of the 800-year-old buildings. We had pastry and coffee and pastry and coffee and coffee and pastry, more and more. When he got the bill it came to about forty cents. Food here seems limited, but generally inexpensive.

Stavanger is truly a lovely little place. It is extremely old and what we would call quaint. We went to the flower market, and bought early spring flowers, iris and something I did not recognize, of almost fabulous colors, and then dashed back to the ship. We made it just as they pulled the last rope from the gangplank. But we did make it. Then it was, of course, far too late to go to bed. So we watched until we were back out to sea, and then went down and had breakfast on the ship.

Later the same day we arrived at Christiansand. We had all given up by noon, but I did wake up as they played the Norwegian anthem.

I have forgotten to mention the wonderful crowds of Norwegian people who met the boat at every port. They came whether they had anyone to meet or not, just to be sociable. It seemed that the whole town must be at the dock waving and cheering. They were wonderful. As we would walk down the gangway, no matter what time of day or night, they would smile and hand us flowers and make us welcome.

I think of one of the most touching sights we witnessed at Stavanger. Chris and I had just walked down the gangway when I noticed an elderly man with a name written on a piece of paper. Since he was evidently looking for someone and didn't speak English, Chris asked if he could help.

I couldn't follow the rapid Norwegian, but later Chris told me in his rather shy way that the man's grandson, whom he had never seen, was on the ship. Chris went back and had the youngster paged over the loud speaker. He turned out to be a nice boy of about 14 who was on his way to an uncle's in Oslo. He was glad to see his grandfather, as was the grandfather to see him, even though they could not speak together to any extent, yet they had a wonderful two hours just looking at each other.

They were still at the pier when we came back from breakfast.

Well I started to tell about Christiansand. I hated to wake any of the people I know, because I realized they were tired. So I left the ship alone. I should have known better because, as usual, I got lost.

I ended up at the market—fish that is. Somehow I connected it with the sea, the smell of the sea etc. I saw what I took for a ship's officer standing near some other men in pseudo naval attire, so I asked them the way. In exceedingly good English I was given precise directions back to the wharf. Later when I described the uniform to Chris he roared. It seems that only the king and crown prince wear that much gold braid.

We checked, and sure enough both were in Christiansand. As we left town, and passed the royal yacht in the harbor, the medium height man with all the gold braid smiled. I just know he was grinning at us because Chris and I were the only ones standing right in the bow of the ship. These dumb American tourists, or something like that, you know.

I am awaiting the reception to be given very soon by the royal family for we Americans and wondering if I shall see again the man of "the much gold braid."

At 3:30 A.M. on the day we arrived, Chris woke me up and we went out on deck to watch the ship pass through Oslo fjord. It was similar to Bergen only on a grander scale. Truly words can't describe it. So much of Norway seems to be beyond words. We watched the ship sail into the fjord. Finally we tore ourselves away for breakfast. It was only 6:00 A.M. and I called "Willy" and the three of us ate practically cleaning out the windows. By 7:30 we were out on deck watching the small villages along the shores. All the way in for miles, you can see the shore on both sides, with little green islands, and white houses and goats. Chris pointed out the hull of a ship sunk during the war. The bow still stands out like a warning to the next land that tries to invade the fjord.

We saw Oslo in the distance. As the ship in time, nosed into the wharf, the two national anthems, theirs and ours, spread out between the mountains came echoing back in an amazing harmony all their own. This pier was full of people waving and smiling. We were so welcome. We had come from that wonder-land America.

The customs men set up a special gangway for we students and our luggage and we left the ship without difficulty. We had landed.

O yes I forgot and must add, that we all had our pictures taken as we got off the boat and again as we arrived a Blindern by the News Reel. However I don't know whether they will be shown in America or not. Willy and I are going to town tonight to see them as we hear we both appear.

More Yet to come—Jane.

When YOU neglect the safety features on your car you run a grave risk to the same people at the saving of only a few cents.

Water Users Plan Public Meeting

Water users will have an opportunity Aug. 9 to say whether they think the State Board of Water Engineers should create an underground water conservation district in the Panhandle-South Plains.

The Board of Water Engineers has called a public hearing for 10 a. m. Thursday, Aug. 9, in the municipal auditorium at Plainview. Underground water users from the 21-county area designated by the Board as the proposed High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 may testify at the hearing.

On evidence presented, the Board will decide whether to create the water conservation district, which would be the first and largest of its kind in the state. Creation of the district will then have to be approved by the voters.

The proposed water district embraces about 15,000,000 acres of farmland which lies over a huge underground water reservoir. It covers all of Lubbock, Hale, Parmer, Castro, Crosby, Deaf Smith, Dickens, Floyd, Garza, Hockley, Lamb, Lynn, Oldham, Potter, Randall, Terry and Cochran counties.

If created, the district would act through an elective five-man board of directors to promote conservation of the area's underground water resources. This would be done through regulation of the spacing of irrigation wells, preventing pollution, conducting educational programs on water conservation and conducting experiments on the recharging of the reservoir.

MAY TEACH HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fields, both of whom are now students at West Texas State at Canyon, were here the first of the week visiting in the home of his brother, Rev. C. M. Fields and family, and at the same time looking for housing. Both Mr. and Mrs. Fields have made application for teaching positions in the Farwell school system. Mr. Fields is completing his MA degree this summer.

New Mexico Lawmakers Adopt 'White Cane Law' For Protection of Blind

The "white cane law," an outgrowth of past meetings of Lions International, has been adopted by the New Mexico legislature, announces Otis Huggins, president of the Texico-Farwell Club.

"Lions, wherever they work," says Huggins, "have always maintained a keen interest in the welfare and well-being of the blind."

The new law, which is now in effect in 46 states, contains four main provisions:

Section 1. It is unlawful for any person, unless totally or partially blind or otherwise incapacitated, while on any public street or highway, to carry in a raised or extended position a cane or walking stick which is white in color or white tipped with red.

Section 2. Whenever a pedestrian is crossing or attempting to cross a public highway, guided by a dog or carrying a raised or extended position a cane or walking stick which is white in color or white tipped with red, the driver of every vehicle approaching the intersection or place where such pedestrian is attempting to cross, shall bring his vehicle to a full stop before arriving at such intersection or place of crossing, before proceeding shall take such precautions as may be necessary to avoid injuring such pedestrian.

Section 3. Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to deprive any totally or partially blind or otherwise incapacitated person, not carrying such a cane or walking stick or not being guided by a dog, of the rights and privilege conferred by law upon pedestrians crossing streets or highways, nor shall the failure of such totally or partially blind or otherwise incapacitated person to carry a cane or walking stick, or to be guided by a dog upon the streets, highways or sidewalks of this Commonwealth, be held to constitute nor be evidence of contributory negligence.

Section 4. Any person who violates any provision of this Act, shall upon conviction thereof, be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding twenty-five dollars (25.00) and costs of prosecution, and in default of payment thereof, shall undergo imprisonment not exceeding ten (10) days.

No Acreage Allotments Or Marketing Quotas Placed on 1952 Wheat

No acreage allotments and no marketing quotas will be placed on 1952-crop wheat, says Joe Camp, secretary of the Parmer PMA. This information was released following an announcement last week from Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan. Department officials stated that the supply of wheat during the 1952-53 marketing year is expected to be below the quantity specified for marketing quotas in existing legislation, and that the continuing need for food in the uncertain world situation makes it advisable not to establish acreage allotments for the 1952 crop.

Legislation requires that the determination as to marketing quotas be made before the beginning of the marketing year—July 1.

Residents Speculate Over Small Twister

Twin City residents were busy speculating over whether a small twister passed through here Friday afternoon late. Evidence shown in damage from high winds seems to support the theory that a small cyclone may have passed overhead.

For instance, three power line poles were snapped off and others were splintered four miles west of Texico. Workers for Southwestern Public Service company were of the opinion that a tornado had caused the damage. However, no surrounding fences or lines were damaged.

A brand new horse barn at the home of Phil Hawks in eastern Farwell was strewn along in pieces for a hundred feet by winds Friday evening. The owner, who was out re-building early Saturday morning, said the storm struck about 6:30.

A colt was in the barn at the time, but was left uninjured. Hawks commented that he believed the building was simply lifted off of the colt, leaving him standing there.

Actually, no one has turned in any reports that they saw the tornado—if there was one.

There were 23 girls representing all the areas of Texas in the contest. An entertainment committee of Houston citizens had planned three days of activity and entertainment for the girls. Miss Wilson said, "they really made us enjoy ourselves."

The round of activities started on Wednesday morning when they began their registration. They had lunch at the River Oaks Country Club. Host for this occasion was Bueno Bagnolia, chairman of the committee, who presented each girl with favors of ten dollars. Mrs. Johnson, vice chairman, then gave each girl a perfume set with three bottles of different perfume.

Following the luncheon, they went for an Auto Tour through the beautiful River Oaks section viewing the lovely homes, and later attended a television show over KPRC-TV. Five of the girls were interviewed on the program.

Wheat Harvest Is Concluded in Friona Area; Runs Far in Excess of Expectations Here

A harvest that ran far in excess of what even the most optimistic had predicted some weeks earlier was concluded in the Friona area during the past week except in a few isolated cases where small patches of the wheat remained to feel the combine.

Grain received at the local elevators was put principally into storage, although both Arthur Drake, of the Friona Wheat Growers, and G. "Preach" Cranfill, of the Santa Fe Grain, reported that they had shipped out several carloads of the wheat bought on the open market. Drake said Monday that he had already shipped some five cars, and was loading nine more boxcars the first of the week for market shipment.

At the Santa Fe Grain, Cranfill said that the total receipts from the 1951 crop ran to some 123,000 bushels, around "100,000 bushels more than we received last year." Drake estimated that his elevator had received around 175,000 bushels of grain this year, as compared to the "30,000 bushels we got in 1950."

Neither of the men expected any storage shortages for the coming crop harvest, with both indicating that they had a good deal of space remaining in the huge elevators, and added that wheat put on CCC storage could be moved out to make room for the coming crop, if the necessity arises.

Although some reports of 25-bushel irrigated wheat were received here, the overall average for the area seems to have run between 7-9 bushels per acre, including both dry-land and irrigated crops. On the former, some fields harvested only enough for the owners to receive their planting seed, but in the main, the dry-land cutting turned out much more than had been expected, reports say.

Row Crops Up

Over the area, row crops are showing a good growth. Showers have interfered with planting operations during the past few weeks, and it is the exception, rather than the rule, that farmers got a stand on their initial plantings, with some of them forced to plant as many as four times to get the crop up after repeated showers washed both seed and young plants.

A drenching 2.08 inch rain recorded in Friona proper late last Friday afternoon failed to reach far to the north of the city, with only light showers reported some five miles out, but on the other hand, a good rain received to the south, east, and southwest of the city as the cloud moved across the county.

Farmers south of town report very little damage from the rain, as most crops were sufficiently large to take the precipitation without washing, but northeast of town some scattered areas of fairly heavy hail were reported. G. L. Hough is reported to have sustained a heavy loss on young cotton, while both Estis Bass and Steve Struve also report hail damage.

Local Maize Is Being Trucked to California

Around 375 truck loads, the equivalent of 100 boxcar loads, of Parmer County maize is in the process of being moved to California feeding areas from the Friona Wheat Growers.

Arthur Drake, manager of the elevator, said the maize was contracted in March, and shipments have been going on during the past few weeks. Primarily, the grain is bound for areas around Los Angeles, where extensive feeding operations are in progress, Drake reported.

Attend Fire School At College Station

Two local volunteer firemen are spending this week in College Station, attending a state-wide school for fire fighters, which opened on Monday and will conclude on Saturday.

Expenses for the two, Troy Kemp and Doc Camp, are being paid by the city, Manager Roy Wilson said today, adding that the city fire rate is credited with 3 per cent by the attendance of firemen at the school.

Wreck Victims Are Moved on Friday

Sgt. Don Jackson, of Biggs Field, El Paso, and Mrs. Maxine Barnes, of Tulsa, Okla., both of whom had been confined for treatment in the Parmer County Community Hospital following a wreck early last Thursday morning, were moved by ambulance to Amarillo on Friday afternoon, hospital attaches reported today.

Mrs. Barnes, 26 years old, was critically injured when the car which Sgt. Jackson, 22, was driving, overturned near Black, east of Friona. It was believed by officers that the driver dozed off and the car left the pavement and overturned. Mrs. Barnes' young daughter, Helen, age 6, suffered only superficial injuries, and was dismissed from the local hospital following treatment of her bruises and lacerations.

Mrs. Barnes had not regained consciousness before being moved to an Amarillo hospital, where she was slated to receive treatment from a brain specialist for her injuries. The patient was taken to Amarillo Veterans Hospital for treatment, having received a cut lip and severe bruises.

The trio had been in Amarillo, visiting Mrs. Barnes' brother, Cpl. Dewey Herring, who is stationed at the AAB, and were enroute to Clovis to meet Sgt. Jackson's wife when the accident occurred. Mrs. Barnes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Herring, of Canadian, and Sgt. Jackson, whose mother Mrs. Vonnice Fesler, was killed in Amarillo on April 1 in a car accident, is the nephew of John Price, of Amarillo.

Junior Boys Attend Baptist Sessions

Seven boys representing the junior department of the First Baptist Church in Friona were at the summer encampment of Baptist young people, held the past week at the camp grounds near Floydada.

Keith and Dwain Menefee, Teddy and Jimmy White, Allen Neff, Delmar Renner and Gary Sherrieb were the locals included in a group of 896 boys and their sponsors who assembled on Wednesday and continued their camp through Friday. Rev. Russell Pogue, local pastor, was director of the week-long camp, which featured the intermediate gathering the first three days, and also attending from here was Mrs. Pogue.

Engineer Arrives To Start Paving Survey

M. R. Smith, Jr., of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper, Lubbock, arrived here on Monday of this week to begin surveying work for the paving program soon to be instigated in the residential areas of Friona.

City Manager Roy Wilson reported that Smith will start the survey work for the curb and gutter part of the program first, and it is hoped that the paving work will actually get underway sometime in August.

Signups for the work are continuing over town, as property owners join hands with a city bond issue in paying the cost of the program to give Friona a good number of all-weather streets.

Local Merchants To Amarillo Showing

Several local merchants were in Amarillo on Sunday and Monday, attending a gift showing held for store operators of this area.

Visitors on Sunday from here included Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Foster, of the Foster Dry Goods, and Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Beene, of the City Drug Store. Mrs. Henry Lewis, operator of the local variety store, was a visitor at the show on Monday.

J. D. Hamlin, local resident, left the past week to enjoy a vacation outing, which he will devote to fishing, he announced before leaving.

New officers for the Friona Lions Club were installed at the meeting of the Club on Thursday evening of last week, with Mr. Meharg, of the Hereford Lions, as the installing officer.

Receiving oaths of office were Wesley Foster, Boss Lion; Joe Menefee, first vice president; Bruce Parr, second vice president; L. R. Dilger, third vice president; Bill Sheehan, secretary-treasurer; Eugene Boggess, tail twister; Allan Romich, Lion tamer. Directors of the Club are J. T. Highlight of the evening's program was given by Mrs. Wesley Foster, who reviewed the trip made recently by the Fosters to Lions International at Atlantic City. Due to the press of business, the group voted to have Foster give his report on the convention proper at a later meeting.

GETS CRUSHED FINGER

Gary Sherrieb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sherrieb of east of town, received treatment at the local hospital Monday morning for a badly smashed right forefinger. The youngster was assisting in erecting a hog fence, using iron stakes, and caught his finger between the stake and hammer. No bones were broken, but the member was badly crushed and extremely painful.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Vice and children, of Tulia, visited during the weekend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Lovett.

Over Five Hundred Attend Opening Worship Services at First Baptist Church on 15th

The commodious sanctuary of the new First Baptist Church was filled to capacity on Sunday morning, when the formal opening of the building was held, with approximately 500 people from both this community and a distance, on hand for the special services.

Rev. F. E. Swanner, district missionary, was here from Plainview as the guest speaker at the morning service, and Claude Miller, local tenor, was the soloist at the hour. Two candidates for baptism answered the invitation call at the conclusion of the program, young Martha Kuykendall, and Mrs. Gordon Massey.

Following a basket dinner served in the auditorium of the old church, an afternoon program was held at 2:30, with many visitors present. The service opened with a song program, led by local director Charles Allen, following which Mrs. J. N. Messenger, the only charter member of the local church still holding membership in the church, was recognized, and Mrs. J. B. Harlin, of Hereford, the only other charter member present, was also recognized.

Two former local boys who are now engaged in the ministry, Robert Lacewell of Fort Worth, and Lawrence Dumont, of Denver, were recognized, and special music was provided by the Dimmitt church choir, directed by Noel Gallehon with Pat Youts at the piano.

Highlight of the afternoon was a chalk talk by Mrs. Jay Sanders, who drew the picture of the church, and Miss Joyce Miller sang "My Cathedral" during the drawing, with Miss Mary Lou Miller singing "Bless This House" at the conclusion of the talk.

The evening service included two of the features of the church, the baptismal rite and the Lord's Supper, with the pastor, Rev. Russell Pogue, as the evening speaker.

Receiving baptism during the evening were Mrs. Frances Collier, Judy Taylor, Martha Kuykendall, Mrs. Gordon Massey.

Out-of-town visitors present for the day included representatives from churches at Rotan, Texas; Summerfield, Denver, Amarillo, Hereford, Plainview; Springfield, Colo.; Bovina, Farwell, Dimmitt and Tulia.

Rev. and Mrs. Joe Wilson, who now reside near Floydada, were visitors during the day, and Rev. Wilson, former local pastor, was among those recognized at the afternoon program.

Chitwood Showing Some Improvement

S. V. Chitwood, who sustained a crushed vertebrae in a car accident near Morton some weeks ago at the same time his aunt, Mrs. Effie Chitwood, of San Antonio was killed, is showing improvement, relatives report.

Chitwood was taken to an Amarillo hospital, where he received treatment and he was then placed in a cast to protect the vertebrae. However, he has not been immobilized, and is able to move about with the cast. Indications are that he will have to wear the cast for at least three months, his mother, Mrs. Bert Chitwood, said Sunday.

Chitwood also received a blow on the face which loosened a number of his teeth, and he is making dental appointments to have them removed. His wife and young daughter, Dixie Lynn, who received only superficial injuries, have suffered no ill effects from the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Graham and daughter, Sammy, of Farwell, visited Sunday evening in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Vance Crume, and family, in Friona.

Wedding Rites Held In Clovis on July 14

Wedding vows for Madyrnn Faughn, of Hereford, and J. W. Green, of Amarillo, were read the past Saturday, July 14th, at 12:30 o'clock in the Christian Church in Clovis, with Rev. Clyde Dickeson performing the simple but impressive single ring ceremony in the church chapel in the presence of intimate friends of the couple.

For her wedding, Mrs. Green chose a street dress of deep rose crepe with a round neckline accented across the bodice with floral applique of the same material. Her small hat was of navy blue velvet touched with rhinestone; and other accessories were also in navy, while she chose a white carnation shoulder corsage.

Accompanying the couple as attendants were Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Lefler, of Abilene. Lefler and Green were ship-mates during the past war and had continued to be close friends. Mrs. Lefler was dressed in a street costume of navy blue, with a navy and white hat, other navy accessories and a shoulder corsage identical to that worn by the bride.

Mrs. Green, the daughter of Mrs. Mrs. George B. Whitehead and the late C. L. Whitehead, of Hereford, has been employed in Friona for some time, as bookkeeper for the Friona Motor Company. Green is associated with the Singer Sewing Center, in Amarillo, and the couple will make their home in that city. He is a brother of Dudley Green, of Hereford.

Other attendants at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Vance Crume and daughter, Judy, of Friona; and Miss Roxie Lynn Faughn, of Hereford.

Worship Symbols Are Studied by Ladies

Continuing their study of corporate worship, members of the WSCS of the local Methodist church enjoyed a special program Tuesday of last week, during which they visited other local churches.

The first portion of the program was held at the Methodist sanctuary, with Mrs. J. H. Boyles and Mrs. J. E. Tidwell speaking on "The manner of worship", and "Leadership in Worship". Mrs. Allan Romich then took over the discussion, presenting "Arts and Symbols of Our Churches", which she illustrated with various drawings showing different types of crosses, the Alpha and Omega signs, and gave their history in Christian worship.

At 4:30, the group adjourned to the Congregational Church, where the pastor, Rev. Geo. E. Meyer, outlined the symbol "three" used in the structure of the altar portion of that church. The "three," the speaker pointed out, stands for "faith, hope and love", as well as designating the Holy Trinity, and is used wherever possible in the church.

The group then went on to the new First Baptist church, only recently completed, and visited also in the educational building of the church, returning to their own church for dismissal.

If travel broadens one, then some of the femmes we've seen lately must have been around the world.

'The Robe' Reviewed By Mrs. Geo. Meyer

Sponsored by the Past Matrons Club, a book review and silver tea was held the past Thursday afternoon in the parlors of the Friona Congregational Church.

Speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. George E. Meyer, who reviewed "The Robe", by Lloyd C. Douglas, in a most interesting manner, presenting the highlights of this intensely fascinating religious novel.

Entertaining rooms of the church were beautifully decorated with seasonal flowers, with the group using daisies, asters, babybreath and gladiolus in profusion about the rooms. Mrs. Opal Buchanan presided at the tea table, serving lime sherbert punch and wafers.

Mrs. Pearl Kinsley, president of the club, reported that attendance was not as good as had been hoped by the sponsors, due to the current busy harvest season, but added that the group appreciated the patronage of those who were able to attend.

In Amarillo

Amarillo visitors during the past weekend included Mrs. Ernest Anthony and son, Jimmy, and Mrs. J. K. Anthony and son, Darrell, who were in the city on Friday for Darrell to receive medical attention; Mrs. A. W. Anthony, Sr., and daughter, Pat, and Mrs. Estis Bass, who were there on Friday for both Miss Anthony and Mrs. Bass to have medical care.

'Range Country' Begins East of the Hudson

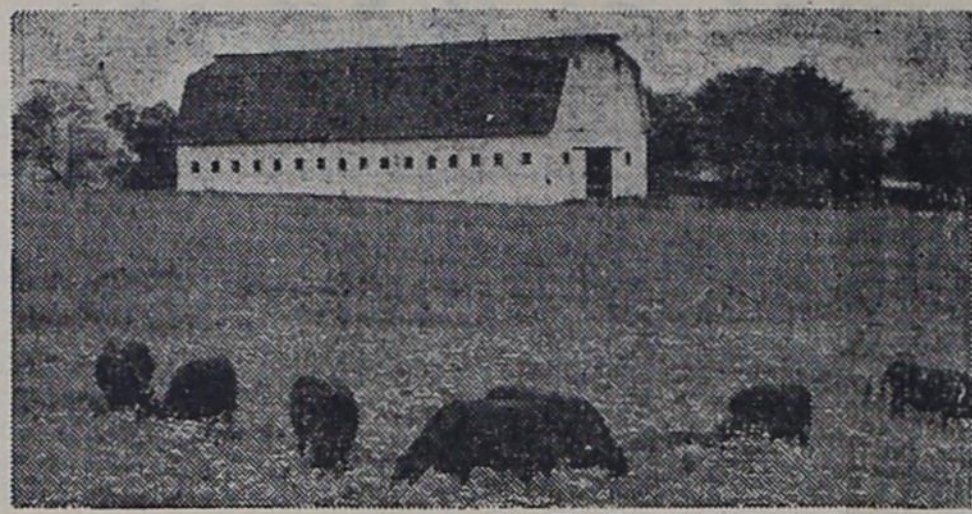

Dutchess County, N. Y., best known as the home of the late President Roosevelt, also is the home of the nation's finest Aberdeen-Angus cattle.

Range country begins within commuting distance of the teeming metropolis of New York—not out on the Lone Prairie—where hundreds of highly pedigreed black Angus roam the grass-carpeted hills.

Fuerst Stock Farm, at Pine Plains, is one of the principal breeding establishments upholding the reputation of Dutchess as a nursery for top seed stock. In the short space of 15 years, Myron Fuerst and his wife, Agnes, have developed a herd recognized for its superior qualities by other leading breeders in the United States, Canada and even South America.

Sprawling over 500 acres of rolling landscape, the Fuerst Farm is the setting for an annual sale of breeding stock which this year attracted some 500 breeders from 22 states and Canada. Fuerst and neighboring Bethel Farm sold 66 animals with receipts totaling $149,525. Top price was $11,100 paid for a fine yearling bull, Bethel Bandolier 15th.

The huge sale pavilion stands apart from the other farm buildings and is on a high plateau which provides a sweeping view of the picturesque countryside. Painted white, the long, graceful

Other main buildings such as the brood barn and winter shelter for breeding stock also have asphalt shingle roofs to keep the valuable animals warm and dry and to provide fire safety, all-important on farms which generally are far removed from organized fire protection.

Bridge Club Meets In Slagle Home

The regular meeting of the bridge club was held the past week in the home of Mrs. Roy Slagle, with Mrs. J. C. Wilkinson receiving a prize for high score at the conclusion of the evening.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Wilkinson, Pearl Kinsley, O. F. Lange, Hazel Weir, Carl Maurer, Bert Chitwood and Wayne Stark.

Local Hunters, Anglers, Landowners Requested At Meeting in Dimmitt

Continuing the policy that was inaugurated last year, the Texas Game and Fish Commission is once more holding a series of Public Meetings in the twenty-eight counties of the Panhandle over which it exercises regulatory jurisdiction. The purpose of the hearings is to permit landowners, sportsmen, and other interested persons to present their opinions on open seasons, bag limits, shooting hours, and other questions to representatives of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

The various opinions secured are then consolidated and presented to the Commission. To the extent compatible with the supplies of game on hand, as determined by Game and Fish Commission Biologists and Wardens, the Commission will be guided by the requests of landowners and sportsmen in making the actual regulations.

The meeting for Pomer and Castro Counties will be held at the Castro County Courthouse in Dimmitt on the night of July 20th at 8:00 o'clock. All hunters, fishermen, and landowners are urged to attend and participate in the discussion.

Safe - IT'S AN Electric WATER HEATER!

When you have a child in the cuddly, crawling stage, you have the perfect reason for installing an automatic electric water heater—the safest water heater made. Your child can crawl right up to the water heater, pull itself up by holding on to its spotlessly clean sides, wrap its arms around the water heater and be perfectly safe, thanks to the complete insulation and no-flame features of an electric water heater.

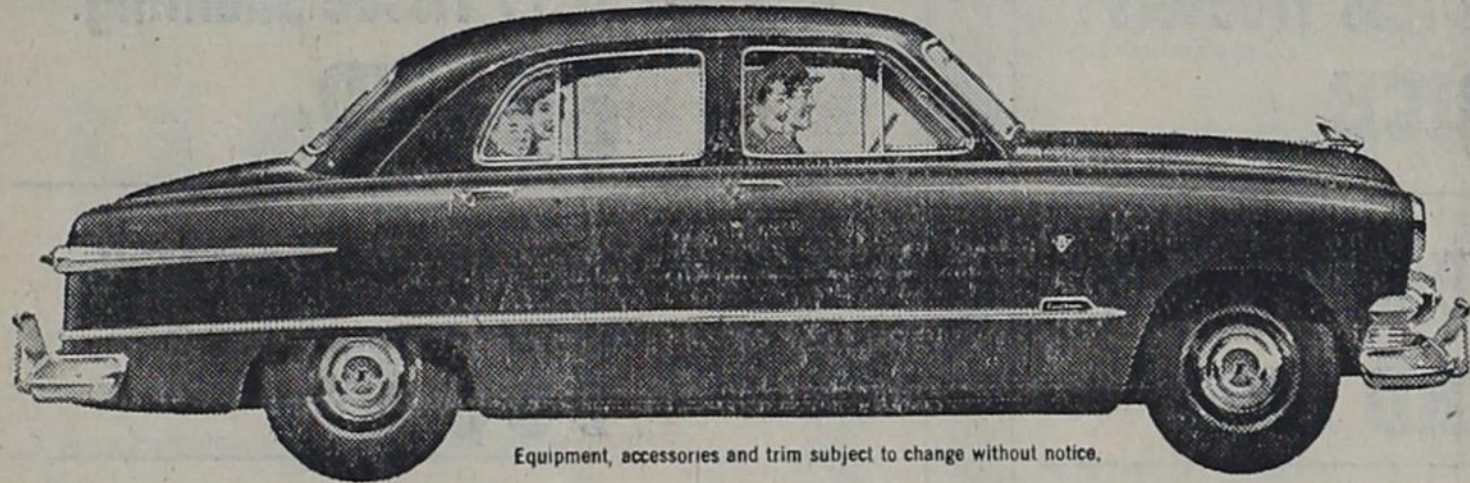

These same features make an electric water heater equally safe for you, too. There's no fear of gusty winds blowing out a flame—there's no flame. There's no waste heat, either, because only an electric water heater is completely insulated so that all the heat goes into the job to be done.

Reddy Kilowatt's special water heating rate makes electric water heating economical, too. For plenty of hot water always, safely, economically, see your electric appliance dealer now.
