

Melbourn Jones, who was unfortunate enough to tangle with a cotton stripper last fall, isn't self-conscious at all about the mechanical devices he wears to replace the right hand he lost in the accident.

Melbourn finds that a hook-shaped device with forked "fingers" that open and shut tightly well answer his needs for heavy farm work, of which he still has plenty.

He says that these contrivances don't necessarily limit the wearer to a life of clumsiness. When being fitted for one at Denver, Melbourn met a man who had lost both hands, and was using two hooks.

This man made a wager that he could diaper a baby faster than any man around who had no physical limitations whatever. It turned out that three men on the hospital staff took him up.

All had children still in the diaper stage.

Melbourn swears the man beat his competition by a full one-third, but says that this is supposed to be kept quiet, because his wife hasn't found out and as yet Melbourn has never had to change the diapers of their smallest child.

Football came back to Farwell with a bang Friday night, and it was surprising and gratifying to see such a large turnout at the game in spite of the foul weather.

Support from the hometown fans will help the team feel like keeping up to the amazing "best class A team in the state" rating given them by sports writers for the Fort Worth Star Telegram last week.

Coach J. D. Atwell has almost recovered from the shock of such publicity, and now says that they are going to enjoy it while they can. Skunking Melrose is a pretty good beginning.

Did you notice how Stinnett disposed of Clarendon (an AA school) Friday night? They appear to be strong again this year. It is much too early to start thinking about regional play-offs, but is interesting to watch how teams we met last year are making out.

At least one faithful football fan got the season started in a discouraging fashion Friday night. Buck Gregory of Lariat braved the lousy weather to come to the game, and parked his car near the goalposts on the south side.

The Steers made four touchdowns but kicked only one extra point. As luck would have it, the ball sailed through the uprights and crashed into the Gregorys' windshield, breaking it. To make matters worse, the car was brand new. "I'd just finished hanging my license plates on it," says Buck.

Stop. Please stop. Bringing us rags, we mean. If anybody wants a testimony on the effectiveness of Tribune advertising, just talk to our rag-buying department which has been swamped with purchase activities for the past two weeks.

We asked for 'em and we got 'em. But we don't need any more.

Things aren't so rosy in the oil industry these days and folks don't get quite as excited about new discoveries as they did a year or two ago for the simple reason that major (and most minor) companies have all the crude oil they can say grace over already.

That means that whenever a new big discovery is made, the producer more or less says, "Ho-hum. That's a field we can pump out when we know we will need it." And that's that.

Down in southern Roosevelt County in New Mexico they're still scratching around, though, and have a pretty nice development of a half-dozen or so wells brought in. This is another of the oil "pincers" movements that seem bent on eventually coming right up to our back door.

Every year the big movement from Lea County moves northward a few miles, and is coming right up the state line. Right now, production is about 35 miles south of Peralta.

Oil activity in Cochran and southern Bailey counties is moving ever closer, too, and there is a new rash of drilling in Lamb County. Up north, we notice that a second producer has been brought in in Oldham County north of Adrian, which is the second good well in the Palo Duro Basin, of which we are a part.

We may end up with oil production yet. But our private advice is for you not to sit around and wait on it. The wait might get tiring.

As a businessman near the bank, we thought maybe Buck Bradshaw would appreciate the chiming of the new clock recently installed by the bank. "How do you like the chimes?" we asked him.

"I don't like 'em," he answered. "Everytime they go off it's like Gabe saying to me, 'Come in and pay that interest, Buck.'"

TEXICO'S NEWEST BUSINESS — Texico's city commissioners installed an occupational license for businesses such as the one shown above, at their meeting Monday night. The private club, which has been operating for the past six weeks, and other similar businesses, will now be charged a license fee of $50 per month to operate in the city limits.

Texico City Commission Revises License Ordinance, Includes "Private Clubs"

Texico's city commissioners undertook the revising of the city's occupational license ordinance Monday night, and that, plus numerous other topics, kept the councilmen on the job until after midnight.

Included in the new ordinance are many new businesses, which previously hadn't been listed, and one of those added to the list will cover "Private Clubs," a much discussed subject in Texico during recent weeks.

The club license fee arrived at by the commission was $50 per month ($600 a year), twice the fee in Clovis, which is the only other dry city in New Mexico where the clubs operate. Several other fees were suggested, but this was the one that was satisfactory with the

Revival Meeting Set at Lazbuddie

A revival meeting, featuring Rev. A. B. Cockrell, Levelland, as evangelist, is to get underway this Sunday, September 15, at the Lazbuddie Methodist Church.

Services are scheduled twice daily during the eight day series of meetings—7:45 a. m. and 8:15 p. m. Also, a prayer service is set for 8 p. m.

Rev. Cockrell is a graduate of McMurry College, and has pastored at several Panhandle towns.

The public is invited to attend these services.

Teachers of the Texico and Farwell School systems were honored Monday night with a watermelon feed in the Texico City Park. At left, several teachers receive their servings which are being sliced by members of the Lions Club. At right, three pros, Calvin Murray, Curtis Miller, and Sidney Bill Miller, are shown "digging in" to the tasty melons. Providing musical entertainment at the feed were the Yucaland Trio and Charlie Phillips and the State Liners.

Steers Blank Melrose, 25-0, in Driving Rain

A driving rain, backed by strong winds, and a better than had been expected Melrose football team held the Farwell Steers under control for half a ball game Friday night before they broke loose and recorded a 25-0 triumph in the season opener.

In spite of the bad weather, about 300 fans viewed the game from cars as the Lovelace cousins, Johnny and Tommy, provided the offensive spark which led the charges of J. D. Atwell and Shelby Jobs to the win.

The first period was scoreless, but the Steers did push one touchdown across in the second period, before adding one in the third and two in the majority of the members present.

City Attorney Earl Hartley told the commission that the license fee had to be something that would be considered reasonable if contested in court. Councilman N. W. Peyton suggested a $1,000 yearly fee, and another one which was mentioned was $500.

Even though the $50 per month fee was approved in the ordinance, the commission did not vote to issue a license to the club now operating in the city limits. This will likely be done at the next meeting if the club owner applies for the license.

The section of the ordinance pertaining to such businesses stipulates that "clubs, organizations, corporations, and unincorporated associations organized and operated for the mutual pleasure and/or recreation of their members," shall be charged the fee.

Section three of the ordinance reads in part, "The Town of Texico may refuse to grant or issue a license under the provisions of the ordinance to any persons, firm, or corporation whenever it may deem such refusal for the best interest of the public."

It also reads that no license can be refused without giving the persons or firm an opportunity to be heard.

Following the assessing of the club fee, Attorney Hartley was asked to draw up an ordinance pertaining to the sale of alcoholic beverage in the town. The new ordinance will make it unlawful to sell liquor in Texico and anyone caught violating the ordinance will be tried in city court and he will be subject to $300 fine.

Presently, it is against the law to sell liquor in Texico, but it is a county violation and not a city one.

The reason for revising the occupational license ordinance was due to the inconclusiveness of the one which was previously in effect. Under the new ordinance, many additional businesses are included, and some of the

Gas Prices Drop

Described as an effort to meet competition, Texico-Farwell gasoline dealers are selling gas at almost one cent less than they were about 10 days ago.

According to reports from several wholesale dealers and service station men, this came about when a few independents dropped one cent to meet the competition offered by a station between Texico and Clovis.

At first only a few independents lowered their prices, but later the other independent dealers followed suit. When this happened, major dealers also dropped down to come within the two-cent dif-

Steers-Mustangs Collide Friday

Farwell's Steers play their first game away from home Friday night when they go to Bovina for a clash with a county rival, the Mustangs, beginning at 8 p. m.

In years past this was the top attraction of the year for both Farwell and Bovina fans. Although part of the lustre has worn off since the teams are no longer in the same conference, some of the old rivalry is still to exist.

The Mustangs, with 10 returning lettermen from last year, will be out to knock the favored Steers from the lofty perch on which many of the pre-season dopsters all over the state have placed the Farwell team.

Last week, the Mustangs played the rugged Fort Sumner Foxes a good ball game before bowing 20-0. Bovina twice got to within the Ft. Sumner 10-yard line without scoring and played a much closer ball game than the score indicated.

Murray White In Clovis Hospital

Murray White, Texico, who has been confined to the hospital in Clovis since Friday suffering with encephalitis, was reported to be much improved late Wednesday afternoon.

Family friends reported that he was able to take some nourishment on Wednesday and that doctors were encouraged about his improved condition.

Funeral Services Conducted For Mrs. Frank Seale

A beloved school teacher who had for 10 years charted the learning of third and fourth graders at Texico Schools, lost her valiant fight against cancer Friday.

Mrs. Frank Seale, better known to her friends as Velna, died at Clovis Memorial Hospital, where she had been confined for 12 days. She was 48 years of age.

Funeral services were conducted at Texico Baptist Church, of which she was an active member, Sunday afternoon.

Rev. C. C. Morgan, pastor, officiated at the services, and was assisted by Jerry Poteet. Interment was in a Lubbock cemetery, where brief graveside rites were conducted by Rev. Morgan.

Pallbearers were Butch Tharp, Allen Kelley, B. D. Smith, Joe Watts, J. M. Moore and Dick Lockhart, former students of Mrs. Seale.

Steed's Funeral Home of Clovis was in charge of arrangements. Survivors include her husband, Frank, of Texico; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Sheriff of Lubbock; two sisters, Mrs. Roberta Daniell and Mrs. Etha Harding, both of Levelland; three nephews and two nieces.

Mrs. Seale was born January 24, 1909, at Bethel, Okla. She was graduated from high school there, and for two years, was a student at Oklahoma Baptist University at Shawnee, Okla. She received her degree from

Key Rate Action Taken by Farwell Commissioners

Three ordinances were passed by Farwell city commission Friday afternoon, and all were steps toward lowering the town's "key rate" in regard to fire insurance.

The ordinances, suggested by the state fire marshal's office, were the main items of business for the commission at its regular monthly meeting.

At the present time, Farwell's "key rate" is 85 cents, and by enacting the three new ordinances, it should lower it at least five cents, according to the commission.

One of the ordinances was the adoption of a fire marshal's office. Appointed to the post was Wilfred Quikel, city clerk. His job will be to see that certain fire hazards in the town are done away with and also to report on all fires to the state fire marshal's office.

The second ordinance was stipulating more specific standards for construction in the fire zone. In the past the ordinance read only that all construction had to be semi-fire proof. With the new ordinance, several additional standards will have to be met.

The final ordinance was the offering of a $100 reward for anyone found guilty of committing arson in the city limits. Signs have been posted at various places, pertaining to this.

(Several other steps toward lowering the key rate in Farwell have also been taken and next week the Tribune will explain these effects and also explain further the new ordinances.)

Rummage Sales Begin Saturday

A series of rummage sales, sponsored by Theta Rho chapter of ESA will begin Saturday afternoon, at Kirkland Pump Co. building in Farwell, according to Wilma Liner, vice president of the organization.

The sale is scheduled for 3 o'clock in the afternoon and will continue as long as there are customers, she says.

Members of the group are contacting local citizens this week, asking for donations of rummage for the sale. Especially needed are men's shirts and work pants, children's clothing, bedding or household items. "We'll even sell furniture," says the vice president. "All money derived from the sales will be used for ESA civic projects.

Anyone wishing to donate rummage is asked to contact any ESA member.

Graveside Rites For Sapp Infant

Graveside rites were conducted Wednesday morning, September 11, for Ronald Wade Sapp, stillborn son of Mr. and Mrs. Shelton Sapp of Texico, at the Mission Garden of Memories in Clovis with Steed's Funeral Home in charge of arrangements. Rev. C. C. Morgan, Texico Baptist pastor, officiated.

Surviving besides the parents are the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Caldwell, also of Texico.

School Enrollment Is High

Classrooms Crowded As Farwell Students Number Nearly 500

Farwell classrooms are literally "bulging at the seams" this week, with officials expecting more students to enroll in classes before the week is over. The number of students who had registered by Monday of this week totaled 499 and it was expected that more than 500 would answer "here" to roll call before registration is complete.

The biggest classroom problem exists in grade school more than 370 students are attending classes. Enrollment for high school was down about 10 this year, with 125 registered in the higher grades.

The largest classes in the school are made up of fifth graders, with 53 youngsters in that classification; and second graders, with 53 also. The fourth grade has 45 children; the first grade has 50; and the sixth grade has 43. All of the above classes have been divided into two sections for more efficient instruction.

Last week 47 third graders received their daily lessons in one room, "but we know we will have to do something about this situation," officials say.

First successful beet sugar factory was built in the United States in 1870.

Texico School Has Almost 400 Students

Texico School enrollment took a jump this year and by the first of this week, it had reached almost 400, it was reported by school administrators. More than 280 had enrolled in grade school and high school enrollment totaled 106.

This is an increase of 50 over this time last year, with 30 of the additional students being in grade school and 20 in high school.

In regard to classroom space, Fred Danforth, elementary principal, said that the grade school is in pretty good shape. "However, we have taken some of the high school space and have put them in a pinch," the principal added.

For the first time this year a full curriculum is being offered high school students in science, physics, chemistry, biology, and general science. All of the science classes are being directed by a new member of the faculty, Kendall Hanks.

"With the government stressing sciences and mathematics, we are striving to gear our curriculum to the needs of today and are offering six courses in math and four in science," says Superintendent Agrie Jones.

Math courses being offered include algebra I and II, plane

CHANGE DUE SUNDAY — It might not take this large a string around your finger, but telephone subscribers of this area will quite likely have to stop and think before dialing numbers Sunday. The dialing system is undergoing a change and telephone users will have to dial seven numbers each time they ring a number. Prefix letters which Texico-Farwell citizens will be dialing Sunday are Farwell, IVanhoe 6; Texico, HUDSON 2; Clovis, PORTER 2 and PORTER 3; Clovis, AIRBASE, SU 4; and Oklahoma Lane, VALLEY 5. The Oklahoma Lane exchange is the only one where subscribers can dial someone on the same exchange without use of the prefix letters and numbers.

quarter, Johnny scored his second TD of the night from that point. He also kicked the extra point to make the score 19-0. After kicking off to the Buffs, Farwell forced Melrose to kick and they took over on the Buff 43. Four plays later, Tommy scored his second touchdown from the nine. That completed the scoring for the night and following the TD, Farwell's second string took over. The Steers lost the ball on two fumbles and Melrose had moved the ball to the Steer 34 when the first string came back in and halted the drive before the game ended. After racking up three first downs early in the game, Melrose didn't manage another one until the closing minutes. The Steers rolled up 397 yards on the ground, 262 of that in the last half. Tommy Lovelace was the big gun in the attack, having 146 yards to his credit in the last half. Johnny Lovelace had 45. Due to the miserable conditions, individual statistics were not kept during the first half. However, Gerald Christian and Larry Pike, the other Steer backs, made some fine runs during that period. Phillip Berry, listed as a starting back prior to the game, saw only limited action due to an illness during the past week. (Continued on Last Page)

The district attorney for the newly created 154th Judicial District, of which Parmer County is a part, is a familiar figure to local residents. He is Bill Sheehan of Friona, who has been serving as Parmer County attorney. Sheehan has announced that he will resign the local post when his appointment to the new one takes effect.

Sheehan Named District Attorney

Bill Sheehan, 29-year-old lawyer who began his practice in Parmer County seven years ago, is the district attorney for the newly created 154th Judicial District, which was formed Sept. 1 under an act of the Texas Legislature.

Sheehan rose to the position through appointment by Governor Price Daniel, and his appointment named him the D. A. for 16 months. The office will then be filled by an elected candidate.

The new district was formed from six counties and three of the counties were designated as the 154th District. Included in this new district are Parmer, Lamb, and Bailey Counties. Swisher, Castro, and Hale counties comprise the remainder of the old 64th District and are to remain under the same name.

Judge E. A. Bills, who sat on the bench for the six counties, will transfer to the new district, to fill the slate of officials for the 154th District.

Sheehan has served Parmer County for the past term as county attorney, and ended his term in this office by handing a letter of resignation to the commissioners court, telling of his acceptance of the attorneyship for the new district.

This leaves Parmer County without an attorney at present, with the commissioners court due to appoint a replacement for Sheehan until the next county election in 1958.

A requirement of a county attorney is that he must live in the county and be a licensed turned to military service in 1952 and was connected with the legal department of the army until May, 1954, when he was released from active duty. He then returned to his practice in Friona. He is now a captain in the army reserve.

The new district attorney says he will continue to live in Friona and conduct a private law practice, although he will devote necessary attention to duties of his office.

The Sheehans have two girls and a boy.

Amarillo Law Firm Joined By Thomas

Warlick Thomas, 1949 graduate of Farwell Schools and the son of Mrs. Ethel Thomas of this city, visited in the home of his mother this week in preparation for a move to Amarillo. He will be associated with the law firm of Sanders, Scott, Saunders and Smith.

Thomas and his wife have a 6-month old daughter, and they are moving to Amarillo from Austin, where he has attended law school. His studies were interrupted by a two-year period of service in the army, and he was graduated last month.

While at Texas University, Thomas was a member of Phi Delta Phi, the international honorary legal fraternity. He received his LLB on August 24.

After graduation from Farwell High School, Thomas attended Abilene Christian College, where he was a member of the school basketball team for four years. He received his pre-law degree from ACC in 1953, where he was graduated with honors.

Texico FB Meeting Is Tonight at 8:30

Regular meeting of the Texico Farm Bureau is to be held tonight (Thursday) at the school lunchroom beginning at 8:30 (CST), announces B. A. Rogers, local chairman.

Among the business to be discussed are plans for the local organization's booth at the Curry County Fair which begins next week in Clovis. A committee has been appointed to work out plans for the booth, and further plans are to be worked out at tonight's session.

A nominating committee will also be appointed to select officers for the Bureau for the coming year. Officers will be elected at the meeting next month.

Rogers represented Texico FB at the county Farm Bureau officers meeting held in Clovis on Tuesday of this week. Plans were made for the annual county-wide FB meeting which is to be held at Field this year on October 31 at 7 p.m. Rogers says a good program has been planned for the annual meeting and that new county officers will be elected at that time.

Farwell Band Suits Due Here Friday

New uniforms for Farwell's band are due to arrive here Friday or perhaps before that, says Mrs. Erma Jobs, Farwell band director, who received word this week that the uniforms were shipped via air on Tuesday morning. At any rate, the director says, the company making the uniforms guaranteed delivery of the suits before the football game at Bovina Friday night.

Band members will also be sporting the new uniforms and a faster marching style at the annual parade of bands which kicks off the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo next Monday.

Mrs. Jobs reports that she is well pleased with the work of the band so far this year and says that members are doing nicely in learning the new marching procedure.

The band will make trips to all the football games with the exception of Eunice, N. M., and New Home. Half time performances will be presented by the group at all home games also, and plans are being made for the group to participate in the parade at the ENMU homecoming again this fall.

Gram'ma is back from her trip to Hawaii and she is just "bubbling" with stories to tell. The Gramhams have enjoyed hearing about her trip and seeing the souvenirs that she brought home.

The editor and his two junior editors should create quite a sensation when they don their Hawaiian shirts that Gram'ma brought to them. They are just alike, just graduated sizes.

The granddaughters in Hereford were thrilled over their Hawaiian dolls. But Judy, the eldest, is getting a little too observant. She came running into the room where the adults were talking and pointed accusingly at her doll. "Look Meme," she said. "You said my doll came from Hawaii and here on the bottom, it says 'made in Japan.' It did! But even so, it was purchased in Hawaii.

There is the story about Gram'ma missing the boat too—but she didn't mind a bit. She had the experience of sailing above the clouds in a big plane. But we'll let her tell you a bit about it. Below are included a few brief notes as she tells it.

This Christian Conference Cruise was planned and sponsored by a group of ministers in Oregon and California and included people from all denominations. We met in Los Angeles to go to Hawaii by ship or plane.

The ship, the Lurline, is one of the biggest ships making the trip between Los Angeles and Hawaii. It is 632 feet long and accommodates 722 passengers, all in first class. The trip takes five days.

All kinds of small boats and sloops come out to meet a ship upon arrival in Honolulu Bay. Passengers are greeted with Hawaiian songs and presented leis.

Our group, 318 in number, was taken by bus to interesting points on the island—to churches, schools, government buildings, parks, the United States cemetery, and on a trip around Pearl Harbor in a launch. As we toured the Harbor, we heard the story of the bombing in 1941.

It's a trip never to be forgotten—from the time you round Diamond Head and see the beautiful city of Honolulu hugging the bay and spreading over the hills and surrounded by flowers so beautiful that words fail in description. In fact, it is a flower paradise.

Bobbie Richardson had a wonderful summer, and she tells us that she really likes Oregon, where she was one of a group of students engaged in church work for several weeks.

She spent a great deal of time working with Vacation Bible Schools, and was so busy, she says she only had time to visit relatives in Roseburg once, although she was only 30 miles from the city.

Bobbie is one of our talented young people—that we like to brag about, once in a while.

The first weeks in September are filled with so many things to do. We've heard the football team and the band practicing every day at Farwell; church activities are gaining momentum after the summer vacation period; and some of us are trying to get things done, that we hoped to accomplish back in May.

Fall is always a time of activity.

Farwell to Have Mixed Chorus

"Something new" has been added to the schedule at the Farwell School music department this year. For the first time, the department this year will boast a mixed chorus group.

Mrs. Erma Jobs, director of music at the school, made the announcement this week and was happy to report that of the 40 voices in the chorus, 12 are male students. The choruses at the department in the past have been composed entirely of girls' voices.

Mrs. Jobs says that it is hoped that several activities and presentations can be planned by the group during the coming year, and adds that she is looking forward to working with the mixed group.

Pancake Breakfast Sunday Morning

A pancake breakfast has been planned for this Sunday morning, September 15, in the basement of Hamlin Memorial Methodist Church.

Sponsors of the breakfast, which is to be from 6 to 8 o'clock, are members of the Young Adult Fellowship class. Proceeds from the event will help to buy 50 folding chairs for the Sunday School department. No set charge is being made for the breakfast, but persons may donate whatever they desire. Everyone is cordially invited to participate.

TWO PERMITS ISSUED

Two building permits, both to Lenau Construction Co., were issued this week by the City of Farwell. The permits were for lot 7, block 1, and lot 8, block 1, Hillcrest Addition, Farwell.

Polio, Encephalitis, Flu Cases Light In Parmer County

Three feared and publicized diseases have given little cause for alarm in Parmer County so far this year, according to Dr. Paul Spring, county health officer. Polio and encephalitis have been diagnosed, but in almost negative numbers, and Asian flu has not been widespread, although there have been a few cases.

The only case of polio that has been noted by Dr. Spring was in the southeastern part of the county, and the child who contracted the disease had not had polio shots. Dr. Spring estimates that possibly two-thirds of the county citizens under 20 have had the Salk vaccine.

He definitely recommends that for those who have not had the shots, the series of three inoculations be started. He says the state health department recommends that everyone under 40 years of age take the shots. The local health officer is convinced that the polio vaccine is one of the best preventive shots that is recommended today. "We've given some 2,500 shots," he says "with no reactions."

Two cases of encephalitis have been diagnosed in the county, with both patients suffering moderately severe cases. One man was not a local resident, and the other, a Bovina man, has recuperated.

No cases have been as severe as those in 1956, Dr. Spring adds, as he estimates that the percentage of cases is down about one-third from the previous year. He feels that the mosquito control programs practiced in the county have been an aid to control of the disease.

Most of the cases of Asian flu that have been noted in Parmer have been contracted by people who have been away on trips, says the doctor.

The hospital in Friona does not have the vaccine for Asian flu, but will probably get small amounts soon. There will not be enough vaccine for everyone until about February, he predicts.

He says that the shots are being given to members of the armed forces and key personnel in the nation now.

Fair Boosters To Be Here Sept. 19

Lubbock boosters will be in Farwell Sept. 19 to tell of plans for the 40th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair which will be held at the Lubbock Fairgrounds Sept. 23-28, inclusive.

Five of these Good Neighbor trips have been arranged, each sponsored by one or more of the civic clubs of Lubbock. Sponsors of the trip to Farwell will be the Optimist Club, Hub City Kiwanis Club and Southwest Rotary Club.

Traveling in air conditioned buses, the boosters will distribute souvenirs, free tickets to Kids' Day at the fair, and literature. They plan entertainment programs in each city visited and will call upon as many businessmen as time will allow.

The schedule of arrival and departure times, and other details of arrangements for the Good Neighbor trips will be completed within a few days.

School Issues Notice To Substitute Teachers

Any person interested in doing substitute teaching at Farwell Schools is asked to contact Kayla Skelton at the school office between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

This announcement was made this week by school officials who say that $8.00 per day will be paid degree teachers for substitute teaching. For further information, contact Mrs. Skelton.

Southern Union Sponsoring Home Safety Program

Southern Union Gas Company will sponsor an intensive accident prevention program in the interest of home safety, according to an announcement today by Elmer Teel, local manager of the Company.

The program is designed to call attention to common types of home hazards and the means of eliminating them. Southern Union will sponsor a series of newspaper ads, TV and radio announcements in this area on home safety. In addition, a booklet entitled "Your Home Is As Safe As You Make It" will be distributed through local schools, churches and civic organizations for a more detailed study of home accident prevention.

The 1957 Home Safety Program is being sponsored by Southern Union in the utility's service areas in New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado and western Texas. According to Teel, Southern Union believes that home safety is everyone's job and that the whole family should be alerted to the dangers that can exist in any household.

Teel pointed out that over 28,000 people die every year in home accidents and that over four million more are injured. Property loss from fires alone exceeds $250,000,000. Another $900,000,000 is lost each year from medical expenses, insurance and wages. He listed the following hazards as the leading causes of home accidents: falls, fires, suffocation, firearms, poisonous liquids and carbon monoxide.

Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Jones

In an afternoon ceremony at the Methodist Church in Bovina on Sunday, August 25, Miss Sandra Patton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Patton of Oklahoma Lane, became the bride of Reggie Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Jones of Bovina.

Rev. W. R. Beard, pastor of the church, officiated at the double-ring service at 4 o'clock.

Baskets of fern, palms and other greenery formed the background for the altar setting featuring two large baskets of pink and white Roubidoux lilies flanking a white kneeling bench. Two stands of candelabra holding pink tapers completed the setting.

Mrs. Shelby Jobs of Farwell played "Clair de Lune" and the wedding marches. She also accompanied Miss Jeanette Hughes who sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "I Love Thee," and Mrs. Troy Christian who sang "The Wedding Prayer" following the ceremony.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Evelyn Steelman of Bovina, high school and college friend of the bride. She wore a sheath dress of blue velvet with neutral colored hat and shoes. Her cascade bouquet was of pink Roubidoux lilies.

James Ellis, friend of the groom, from Kress, served as best man.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a ballerina length dress of gray lace over taffeta. A wide satin cummerbund accentuated the fitted waistline and full skirt. Satin cuffs complimented the elbow length puffed sleeves.

The high neckline across the front formed a deep square in the back. Her white hat was sequin trimmed.

She carried a cascade bouquet of pink rosebuds and white mums with white streamers flecked with tiny pink beads.

Something old and borrowed was a handkerchief belonging to her sister, Patricia. Something blue was a garter and something new was her ensemble. She wore a penny in her shoe for luck.

Flowergirls were Patricia Patton, sister of the bride, and Brenda Jones, sister of the groom. They were dressed in identically styled sheath dresses of pink taffeta and wore wristlets of pink rosebuds, and white hats.

Prospects Continue Good But Farmers Eyeing Weather

As the flood from hundreds of irrigation wells in the Parmer County area dwindled to a trickle, and crisp nights and cool afternoons became the rule, farmers stood back and surveyed their season's efforts this week, with one eye on the sky overhead.

Briefly put, prospects for fall crops are generally good. However, the difference between just "good" and "excellent" or "top" harvests of grain and cotton, especially the latter, are wrapped up in the elements and out of the reach of the farmer.

The weather can make or break prospects from now on, and what happens in the weather circle will mean the difference between just a living and real profits for many operators. The next three weeks will tell the tale.

For the most part, farmers have done all they can to get the most production. Except for late-season insect control (see separate story on worms in grain sorghums), the field activity is ended and there will be time for many to catch their breaths and get combines and cotton strippers in top shape and to make other harvest-time preparations.

All year long, the biggest problem for the most farmers was weeds. It still is the major bottleneck, and only actual experience will bear out how much trouble the worrisome careless weeds and other infestations will be for harvest operations. Some fear losses as high as 25 percent. Others feel the weeds will slow things up but not result in too great a loss in dollars and cents.

Last year, Parmer County produced 14,000,000 bushels of grain sorghum and 60,000 bales of cotton. The Lubbock Cotton Exchange and the Plains Cotton Growers are estimating county production at 46,000. That's off considerably from 1956, but last year was one of the best in terms of yield. The county's cotton acreage is 43,000.

Locally, the crop is being guessed at around 50,000 bales. That belief is based on the fact that farmers generally did a good job of controlling insects this year, and most of the early fruit was set. This partially offsets the fact that cotton is from 10 days to two weeks later this year.

Continued cool weather, plus general rains, could spell real trouble for cotton producers. That, coupled with an early freeze, could knock the yield thousands of bales, and also hurt lint quality. The odds are against this happening, but it can—and does happen. In 1955, just such conditions developed, and the result was painful.

Most grain sorghum is mature, and has only to ripen and dry out. Some varieties will require killing freeze to stop growth, while others will be ready for the combine in the immediate future. Here, again, weather developments will set the pace for harvest.

However, weather is not as critical a factor for grain sorghums in the fall as for cotton.

Most farmers, warehousemen, and agricultural officials are looking for "about the same" harvest of grain this year as last. Irrigated acreage is about the same, although sesame, corn, and other crops have made their bite. New wells have taken up the slack.

Also, area farmers chalked up the biggest year in history in buying fertilizer. They made liberal applications on nearly all cropland, special attention going to fertilizers having high nitrogen content. New hybrids, in general use this year for the first time, are also expected to account for a slight increase in yield.

The big bugaboo in the grain picture is the weeds. Just how much they'll cut total production cannot be foretold at this point.

Water Suit Filed

The High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 filed a law suit recently involving the waste of irrigation water.

The suit names as defendant, Eldon L. Jones, a Lubbock County farmer, and seeks a permanent injunction to prevent the further waste of water from the land that he operates.

On Saturday, August 31, a hearing was held in Judge Robert Bean's 140th District Court in an effort to obtain a temporary court order which would enjoin the defendant from allowing irrigation water to escape from his land until the case is tried. The temporary order was issued by the court.

The case is not only the first agricultural waste case in the history of the High Plains Water District, but it is also the first to be filed under the present ground-water laws of the State of Texas.

Meeting for Poultry Raisers This Week

Poultry raisers and those interested in the poultry industry are invited by E. H. Cummings of Friona to attend a meeting, Thursday night of this week at Cummings Farm Store and to have a meal and see a film on poultry raising.

Meeting time is 7:30. Topic of the film is "New Ideas in the Poultry Raising Industry." Besides the film, discussion of poultry raising in this area is scheduled.

For the open-house type meeting, Cummings will be displaying the recently installed mixing-grinding machinery at the store.

Symbolic of the season is this idle irrigation well near Bovina. The thunder of almost 3,000 irrigation wells in the Parmer County area has died to a murmur as crops are finished out. About the only watering left to do is pre-irrigation and water-up irrigation for next year's wheat.

Weather Damage Severe in South-Central Section

The intense storms of a tornado-filled spring were called to mind by area farmers over the weekend, some of whom were paid visits by hail and wind that caused severe crop damage.

The south-central part of Parmer County between Lariat and Oklahoma Lane appeared to be hardest hit Friday afternoon, as dark clouds swooped down to dump destruction over a wide area.

Cotton and sudan took the brunt of the storm's damage. Within a few minutes, several hundred acres of cotton were "defoliated" by the pelleting hail, which also laid over sudan just as it reached the cutting stage.

Losses to crops in the area affected were estimated at from 50 percent to 80 percent. Some of the farms caught in the storm's wicked swath were those of Fred Bolton, Conrad Nelson, Bud White, David White, Truman Kent, Sam Billingsley, Alvin Mace, and John Range. Generally, the damage was about three-quarters of a mile wide and about three miles in length.

To Test S'beans

Fertilizer and variety tests on a new Texas crop, soybeans, will come up for inspection by regional farmers on Wednesday, September 18, when the High Plains Station holds its first annual Field Day at Halfway.

"Soybeans will offer promise as an important crop in the farming economy of the region when we learn how to grow them and when we realize how beneficial they are to the physical and chemical properties of the soil," Dr. T. C. Longnecker, head of the station, said Tuesday.

"They were grown on a very limited scale in the High Plains of Texas until 1956, when approximately 25,000 acres were planted. Many farmers, however, were disappointed in soybeans because of their low yields."

He said the soybean fertilizer tests at the station were being conducted to determine whether the yields could be increased by fertilization.

The first test involved applications of phosphate at the per-acre rates of zero, 40, 80, and 120 pounds, and nitrogen at the per-acre rates of zero and 40 pounds. Both were applied at planting time, alone and in all possible combinations.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUNE FLOYD

Those tag-end vegetables which are in the gardens right now can be combined in many ways to make soup mixtures which will be very tasty when the weather gets cold. Just about anything you can pick and process will make a good addition to a pot of beef stew during the coming months.

Had you ever thought of using shoe bags for something besides shoes? They make very good storage units for just about anything that is small enough to fit into the pockets. One we saw recently was made out of scraps from nursery curtains and was hanging near the play pen.

The baby's toys were gathered up from time to time and put into the pockets within reach of the tiny hands. Just taking them out of the pockets was fun for the crawler for whom they were intended.

Denim shoe bags make good holders for vacuum cleaner attachments, men's socks, or any other group of small articles that need to be stored.

A budget stretcher for the pre-school-age children on your list at Christmas time is an apron filled with Crayolas. A small piece of material from the scrap bag, a few minutes stitching time, and the Crayolas fitted into the slots prepared for them add up to a gift that any child will be pleased to receive. Then, long after the Crayolas have been lost and broken, the children will still enjoy putting on the aprons when helping in the kitchen. Our Susan received one such apron from the Muri Sylvesters several years ago and she still wears it often.

If you have green tomatoes in the garden, you might like to try the following recipe for Mock Minicemat.

Ingredients: 1 peck tomatoes, 12 sour apples, 2 pounds raisins, 2 pounds brown sugar, 2 tablespoons cinnamon, 1 tablespoon ground cloves, 2 tablespoons nutmeg, 2 tablespoons salt, 2 cups vinegar, 2 cups rendered suet

Put tomatoes, apples and raisins through food chopper, using fine blade. Cook thoroughly and add remaining ingredients. Cook slowly about 3 hours. Can and seal while boiling hot. Makes about 6 quarts.

Steamed pudding makes a nice addition to any meal. The newest one we have run across is carrot pudding. Your pressure cooker is ideal for steaming puddings provided you fasten wax paper securely over the top of the pan in which they are being steamed.

Carrot Pudding

- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon allspice
- 1 cup finely grated potatoes
- 1 cup finely grated carrots
- 1/2 cup melted butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup chopped or ground raisins
- 1 cup coarsely broken nut-meats

Sift, then measure flour. Sift three times with spices, salt and baking soda. Combine with other ingredients in the order listed and mix thoroughly. Turn into large mold and steam 3 1/2 hours. Serve hot with hard sauce.

Hard Sauce

- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 cup coarsely broken sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla or other flavoring

Cream the butter until very soft. Stir in the sugar and flavoring. Grated lemon rind, nutmeg, or powdered cinnamon may be used. Store in a cool place.

How soon they begin to exercise their masculine discrimination, I thought, amused, with deeper merits ignored, refused. I met Miss Meade, her face was one of the plainest I'd ever looked upon, and a bit severe, but when she smiled I saw with the gaze of a trusting child, there was nothing stern, nothing commanding, but only the love and understanding for little lost children she might have had. Guest speaker of the Soil Conservation District banquet, Austin Meredith, talks with A. W. Anthony Jr., (r) who received the plaque from Lions International for Parmer County conservationist of the year. Meredith spoke on the need for a Canadian River Dam.

been in the planning stage for several years, and the cities are supporting it. Federal money is needed to build the dam because the cities cannot get extended credit over a long enough period.

"This area is among the most potent agricultural areas of the world as long as there is plenty of water available. If cities continue to use water from our underground supply, this agricultural area will diminish. Already, drawdown of test wells indicate the danger of losing this area's irrigation water," he said.

The speaker told the annual gathering of the soil conservation district that the engineering feasibility of the dam has been attested by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Such a dam would be valuable to the entire area in ways other than furnishing water for the cities. It would be a much needed spot of recreation for persons in the area who fish, boat, and drive to lakes for vacations.

Shortly before Meredith spoke, A. W. Anthony Jr., Friona, was presented a plaque designating him conservation farmer of the year.

Of Anthony it was said during the presentation: "Here is a farmer whose crops are not enjoyable to look at. He keeps them so clean from one end to the other that one cannot tell which end one is viewing the field from." A. L. Black, the chairman of the SCD board of supervisors, made the remark.

Also, practices which indicate wise use of the soil are other things which Anthony follows. Besides that, his buildings are always neatly kept, the group was told.

Included on the program was music furnished by girls from Bovina.

Need For Dam Is Pressing, Says Banquet Speaker

Speaker A. A. Meredith of Borger, an official of the Canadian River Municipal Authority, told Parmer County Thursday night of the need for the Canadian River Dam project and how it grows each year.

"We need to save the underground water for farmers," he said. "There are 11 municipalities on the High Plains that are sapping water that should be saved for farmers because these cities depend upon the underground water for their supply."

A dam on the Canadian could be constructed that would furnish water to the cities, and take this drain off the underground supply. The project has Meredith presented a film on the Canadian River Project at the close of his talk. The film offered information on how persons throughout the area feel about the project, and the practicability of constructing the dam.

"Besides impounding the water for municipal use, about 140,000 acre feet of water could be stored, and if not needed for the cities, could be used to further develop the area around the created lake. An oasis of the most fertile land in the United States could be created by applying water from the proposed lake, making it possible to produce food and fiber, Meredith said.

11 To Attend Bureau Meeting

Parmer County Farm Bureau will be represented at a District II meeting Sept. 19 in Lubbock, according to Gilbert Kaltwasser of Farwell, president of the county farm organization.

Among those scheduled to attend from this county are H. P. Hamilton, L. F. Bruns, John Henderson, John Range, Vernon Symcox, Donald Christian, Raymond Euler, Jack Patterson, Dennis Williams, Spencer Hough, and Kaltwasser.

Activities at the all-day meeting include a policy development planning meeting in the morning, and a banquet and queen contest that evening.

The policy development planning session will get underway at 10 a. m. at the Lubbock Hotel. Current state and national issues will be studied and techniques for obtaining maximum participation in this year's policy development campaign will be discussed. County Farm Bureau leaders, including policy development committee members, will attend this session which is slated to adjourn at 3 p. m.

H. W. Robertson, organization director for the Arkansas Farm Bureau, will be speaker at the banquet which starts at 5:30 p. m. at the hotel. The banquet meeting will kick off the District II membership fall roundup campaign. County and community membership chairmen, as well as other county Farm Bureau leaders in the District, are invited to the district-wide kick-off banquet meeting.

H. L. (Hub) King, Brownfield, District II director, will be in charge of the policy development planning meeting and will act as toastmaster at the evening banquet.

Highlighting the one-day Farm Bureau meeting will be the District II queen contest in which a dozen county Farm Bureau queens from this district will vie for the honor of representing the district at the state finals in Dallas in November.

Wilma Norton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Norton of Farwell, will represent Parmer County in the contest.

The queen contest will start at 8 p. m. at the O. L. Slaton Elementary School on Avenue Q in Lubbock. Ed Cumbie, Bronte, TFB fieldman, will be master of ceremonies.

On-Farm-Storage Loans Available

Time for harvesting grain sorghum is near. Prentice Mills of the county ASC office reminds farmers, "We believe that orderly marketing of grain crops is a wise policy to follow. Farmers generally should avoid rushing excessive crop supplies to market immediately after harvest," he says.

Mills points out that the government price support program is designed as an orderly marketing aid. This program allows farmers to finance "holding" operations and spread marketing over the periods of the year when prices are usually higher.

"Since proper storage is important in orderly marketing, when additional on-farm storage space is needed, special government programs provide financial help to build or buy the required space," Mills says.

A government loan program covering on-farm storage makes available up to 80 percent of the cost of such storage, and additional information is available at the ASC office in Farwell.

Owner operators, share tenants, share landlords, or producer partnerships are eligible for the loans. The loans are available through local banks or directly from the Commodity Credit Corporation. Applications can be made at the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office. The loan can be paid off over a five year period with interest at four percent per year.

The storage structure to be bought or built by a farmer and on which a loan is made must meet the requirements for storage under the price-support program. Structures for the storage of wheat, corn, oats, rye, barley, soybeans, dry edible beans, rice, peanuts, cottonseed, flaxseed, and winter cover crop seeds are eligible under the programs.

Plan Field Tour

Nine members of the Parmer County Certified Seed Growers Association met at the courthouse in Farwell Monday night, and among other things, they made plans for a field tour which will be Wednesday, September 25.

An itinerary of the tour will be published next week.

Working on the tour is a committee made up of Harold Lillard, chairman, and Bob Jones, Steve Bavousett, Harold Joe Wells, Charles and Frank Seale, and Joe Jones.

Dr. Lee Coffey, associate agronomist of Texas A & M will be with the seed growers on their tour of county farms. This will mark the first public appearance of Dr. Coffey in Parmer County.

The newly-formed group also took under consideration the desirability of adopting a uniform seed bag with standard Association information on one side and individual grower advertising on the other.

The representative of a Lubbock bag company was on hand to talk to the men, and a decision on this matter is expected this month.

Seed growers also talked about reserving special plots through the Extension Service, which tests seed purity in off seasons by growing samples in Mexico.

The walnut caterpillar has been reported infesting pecans in several counties in South and Central Texas. It may be controlled with DDT, parathion or lead arsenate.

Planned selection will pay off in any breeding flock of sheep. A recently released Bulletin, B-858, gives helpful information on selection practices. It is available from local county agents.

The season's first harvest scene can be found in a number of fields of sudan, where stately sudan stalks foretell the coming of "frost on the pumpkin" weather. Most irrigated sudan yielded abundantly this year.

Sudan Crop Good But Outlook Sad

Farmers without storage, and financing or who have not made prior arrangement for delivery of the crop for their own or neighbors' operations aren't too excited about sudan prospects this week.

First cutting of the 1957 crop, regarded as a good one, got underway last week. The pulse of the market, if there was any, was slight indeed. No sales have been reported as yet.

Weak demand and poor prices were not altogether unexpected, however. It has been common knowledge that the big carry-over in production of sudan during the past two years has seriously depressed prices, and the situation was not expected to have immediate improvement.

There is no information on the acreage devoted to this minor cash crop, although it is generally believed that fewer acres are in sudan this year than there were last year.

Thousands of dollars are lost annually by poultrymen and egg handlers because of quality loss due to improper handling of eggs from the time they are laid until consumers use them. Heat, age, and humidity are the three biggest enemies, says F. Z. Beamblossom, extension poultry marketing specialist.

Certain changes are necessary in the recommendations in L-256, "Texas Guide for Controlling External Parasites on Livestock and Poultry," because residue tolerances are not discussed. These tolerances are explained in the supplement to L-256, "Insecticidal Residue Tolerances in Livestock." It may be obtained from local county agents.

Mesquite wood ground into a meal is a source of bulk in rations for cattle when other roughages are scarce and relatively high in price. Steers fed a mesquite meal made a higher net profit than those fed cottonseed hull ration.

which is published this week.

A practice that has been on the shelf for the past several years is to be tried this year in the eastern portion of the county, we hear.

Swathing milo is the idea. J. I. Crawford, a custom combine operator who was given considerable publicity as the "Pride of the Plains" in a John Deere publication "The Furrow," says he is going to try swathing some maize near Black this year.

This being his first experience at swathing maize, he isn't sure of the outcome, but hopes it will help harvest more pounds per acre than is possible through cutting it while standing.

He expects some trouble in picking the maize up from water furrows, but believes it can be done. If considerable rain falls, the practice is no good, he says, but this area is not afflicted with overdoses of rain.

We wonder where all the milo is to be stored this year. If all that is harvested, it is likely that considerable milo will be piled on the ground, more than was piled on the ground last year.

Elevator owners and managers around the county report that some C.C.C. milo and wheat in storage has been shipped on to other storage places during the past month, with a little still being moved.

After a week and a half of steady cutting, the probability exists that every elevator in the area will be full. Then there is only the ground left.

As strong as this area goes for grain production, we wonder why there is not more on-the-farm storage. Loans from the USDA are available for construction of farm storage facilities for grain, and if certain specifications are met, grain can be placed in the loan, though it is stored on the farm.

In the corn belt, a farmer is said to be doing a pretty fair job if he averages 60 bushels of corn per acre.

In the Parmer County area, there are dozens of farmers who are producing quite a bit more than the equivalent of 100 bushels of corn, in milo with an average of 5,000 to 6,000 pounds per acre.

Using 56 pounds per bushel, any farmer who produces as much as 5,600 pounds per acre is doing a pretty good job, according to corn belt standards.

We wonder how many farmers in the area this year will get 7,000 pounds of milo per acre? Pound for pound, that is 125 bushels of grain per acre, and that is pretty good.

Wilma Norton, the Parmer County Farm Bureau queen, will be going to Lubbock this month to represent us in the district contest there. We wish Miss Norton luck.

She is not only very attractive, but has a number of other charming attributes also. Wilma will do us proud, we are sure.

We have no statistics to support this notion, and even after harvest they would be difficult to obtain, but it seems to us that the hybrid grain sorghums are looking better on poorer land than on land generally considered ideal for grain production.

Now, it will take another sentence to explain the one just written! What we are speaking of is the percent of improvement over average conditions. The ratio is in favor of poorer land, we believe.

That is, a farmer who produces grain on land that is shallow, low in plant food, or has some other deficiency will find that he can increase his average yield from, let us say, 2,100 pounds to 2,800 pounds per acre. That is a solid 33 percent increase.

A farmer on good land who often makes 4,500 pounds and finds he can make 5,200 pounds with hybrids under the same conditions has increased his yield the same number of pounds per acre, but ratio-wise, has gone up the ladder only 15 1/2 percent.

And percentages are very important to profit-and-loss figuring, as any shrewd farmer-businessman knows. Get the point?

Hybrids have been advertised to do better under drouthy conditions than standard varieties, but we haven't any official information that they do better under adverse conditions other than dry weather. Our notion may have some merit, and again it may not.

Bulk handling is swiftly replacing milk cans on dairy farms. Nationally, the number of farm tanks doubled in 1955 and again in 1956, according to A. M. Meekma, extension dairy husbandman. Producers usually expand their herd with the installation of this system.

Ensiling methods have a lot of effect on the quality of the silage, says A. M. Meekma, extension dairy husbandman. The immediate exclusion of air is important in controlling heating and encouraging proper fermentation. But, he adds, the type of plant used also plays a big part in determining the quality of silage.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

The District II Farm Bureau policy development meeting and queen contest will be held in the Lubbock Hotel next Thursday, September 19, beginning at 10 in the morning. The queen contest will be at the O. L. Slaton School auditorium at 7 or after, in the city of Lubbock. Miss Wilma Norton will compete there.

The farm-to-market road situation will no doubt receive a great deal of attention at the meeting. Since we have several hundred miles of these roads in use, it is too easy for us to become complacent. There are those who have quite a bit of legislative power and influence who intend to put a stop to such construction. Farm Bureau will be fighting for continuation of the program, and speeding it up, if possible. You all know how important it is to you.

Parmer County's ninth annual Farm Bureau convention will be held Monday night, October 7, in the Hub community building. J. Garland Smith, or "Cotton John," as he is generally known, will be the speaker of the evening. All members will receive personal invitations, and everyone will be cordially welcomed to attend this, another meeting that will have more to do with the future of farming in this county than any other we know of.

The safety department of Texas Farm Bureau has a very interesting and impressive automobile safety program for presentation to high schools. It is a demonstration made with the Farm Bureau "safety station wagon," in which there is student, faculty and safety department participation. We hope it will be available to some of our county schools in the next few months. Demand for the program far exceeds the ability of the department to present it at this time.

TFB would like to determine who is Texas' safest tractor operator. Here in the office are entry forms for anyone considering himself a participant in such a contest. There will be a county, district and state winner. If you wish to enter, come in and prepare your form before September 22. Age is no factor in this one.

Consider this: "A wicked man taketh a gift out of the bosom to pervert the ways of judgment." Proverbs 17:23.

Grade "B" eggs are just as high in food value as Grade "A" and "AA," according to extension food and nutrition specialists. Thrifty homemakers need not shy away from Grade "B" eggs, but rather take advantage of this good buy.

Turkeys will be the big food value in meat departments for the third successive month, the Agricultural Marketing Service reports, in announcing its September plentiful foods list. Bartlett pears are a co-feature on the list.

THE PARMER FARMER

By LELAND BOYD AND W. H. GRAHAM JR.

We notice, besides an extra portion of weeds intermingled with the milo crops this year, that "bastard" stalks have reared their heads in more than a few fields.

In addition to sapping moisture from legitimate plants, they are sapping considerable income from farmers whose fields are afflicted with the nuisance.

Bruce Parr, whose farm is south of Black, is having the tall stalks eliminated from his crop by a crew of men with knives, who are slashing the "tares" down. He estimates that it is costing about $9 an acre to do it this way, but he plans on having no further trouble with rogue maize this crop.

Around the county area, a growing number of farmers are doing the job with a sickle blade on stilt, (mowing the undesirable plants just above the maize heads.)

Whether it is careless weeds or bastard maize, this is a cheaper operation than the hand cutting way, but the bastard stalks are likely to grow stalks and give further trouble if this method is used.

This highlights the vital part which seed selection plays at planting time. When a farmer is unlucky enough to plant and grow a batch of seed that gives trouble with rogue milo, he then sees how well it would have been if he had planted seed in which he knew what he was getting.

Parmer County Certified Seed Growers, a recently formed organization of 14 farmers of the county, have started a campaign to call attention to the desirability of planting good seed. In the campaign are included signs located at fields, and advertisements, one of

NON-CERTIFIED

The picture at the left is a field of non-certified Hybrid 660 milo growing on the Bruce Parr farm south of Black, being rouged by a crew of laborers. Parr says the approximate cost of this operation is $8.00 per acre.

"I am going to be sure that the seed I buy for future crops are not inferior, and are test grown beforehand. I am paying several times the cost of good seed for getting the bastard stalks cut out," he says.

CERTIFIED

A few bastard stalks can be seen growing in this field of Hybrid 660 on the Eugene Bogges farm southeast of Friona, but not enough to be objectionable.

This seed was certified and test grown before being placed on the market for sale, letting the farmer know just what he could expect, and Bogges is pleased with the results.

It has been estimated that this field of milo will produce 8,000 pounds per acre, due to good seed and planting it in double rows.

Storage Conditions Vary Over County

Will there be a shortage of storage space for the 1957 milo crop due to roll from the fields within a few days or weeks?

Opinion is divided among elevator operators, a spot survey by High Plains Farm & Home indicates this week. It is apparent that conditions are expected to vary from place to place.

Generally speaking, storage is expected to be inadequate in the central and north-eastern part of the county (not counting arrangements for storage on the ground), and sufficient in the southern and southwestern parts of the county.

Friena and Black elevator managers and owners are skeptical because hold-over milo from another bumper crop in 1956 is still stored in the elevators, under the ownership of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Loading orders on the 1956 crop have been coming in slow, and owners when requesting loading orders are told that everybody else wants the same thing.

Depending on what the CCC does between now and the end of milo harvest this year, about 35-40 percent of the potential storage is already occupied by the CCC grain.

A sharp dip in price is forecast by one of the operators in the eastern end of the county, possibly to as low as $1.40 per hundred. Reason for the drop will be the loss of demand when elevators are full and there is no place but the ground to pile the grain.

D. C. McWhorter of Black Grain Co. says the storage problem this year should be no greater than it was last year. He recently attended a meeting of grain dealers on the High Plains, and heard reports that terminal storage was still available in southern portions of the state. The trouble will be getting enough railroad cars during the peak of harvest to move the bulk of the crop out fast enough, he says.

Arthur Drake of Friena Wheat Growers says the CCC has not indicated that they will issue orders for enough loadings to make room for the 1957 crop. "At one time we asked for loading orders for several hundred carloads, and got only 30. This leaves considerable milo in the bins now, but part of this is waiting for the orders," he says.

Pete Braxton of Tri-County Elevator says that it looks now as though there will be a little more trouble with getting adequate storage than last year. J. E. Knight, assistant manager of Continental Grain Co., also feels that storage this year will be inadequate and that it will probably be necessary to dump quite a bit of the crop on the ground, as was done last year.

In Bovina, J. P. Macon says "I'm not as pessimistic as some," and he feels that quite a bit of the crop will sell outright and be moved out immediately. He can take up to 500,000 bushels, and then will go on the ground.

Also, Macon feels that this year's crop will be near the size—perhaps slightly smaller—than last year's.

Johnie Williams, manager of Sherley-Anderson-Pitman at Farwell, says it's a little too early to tell, but that the big affiliated Sherley elevator at Bovina, plus the 1,250,000-bushel new unit under construction at Lariat now, will give them lots of storage.

Also, Sherley at Bovina and S-A-P at Farwell have previously stored considerable grain on the ground and are prepared to do that again should it become necessary.

Lone-Star Elevator will be two-thirds empty by harvest time, believes Bill Dollar, manager. They are moving out considerable grain from their 300,000-bushel elevator now, and have extensive terminal elevator connections. It is not the plan of Lone Star to put grain on the ground, he says.

Herbert Potts of Worley's says his firm has held back room in anticipation for the coming harvest, and still plans to move some out. They have total storage of 1 1/2 million bushels.

An accident hit one steel storage tank and the flat storage unit last week, but repairs should be made well in advance of the need for storage during harvest, believes Potts.

Climbing Cutworm Hits Area Sorghum

An outbreak of climbing cutworms spotted the Parmer County area grain sorghum outlook this week. First reports of infestation came from an area west of Hub on the Billy Baxter farm.

The damage was reported to be locally heavy, but County Agent Joe Jones reports that the worms have not invaded Parmer County on a large scale—yet. "The worms seem to be getting started in fields that have a lot of tickle grass between the rows," says Jones. He suggested that farmers with such conditions in their fields make inspections often.

Jones did not indicate that the cutworm would be any big problem to control. A solution of 1/2 to 1 gallon per acre of DDT insecticide should do the trick, he believes. A mixture of two pounds of DDT per gallon is one of the recommended formulas.

The agent described the work of the worms as comparable with cotton leafworms. They are doing the same thing to grain sorghum (ragging the leaves) as leafworms do to cotton plants.

Also on the subject of insects Jones says there have been reports of weevils showing up in planting wheat seed, and he suggested that farmers make inspection for this trouble, too.

standards, announced in Washington, had been relayed to him by Regional Director Ed McDonald in Dallas.

At least 16 inches of seating space must be provided for each passenger, and all seats are to be securely fastened to the vehicle, he said.

Aisle seats are prohibited on buses with a seating capacity of more than 10 persons, unless such seats are designed and installed so as to fold and leave a clear aisle when they are not occupied, he added. If aisle seats are used on buses with a capacity of 10 or less, they must be secured to the vehicle.

In lieu of this regulation, seating space requirements prescribed by the state in which the bus operates, or size requirements by the Interstate Commerce Commission may be followed, but in no case is the individual seating space to be less than 16 inches.

King said he was particularly concerned with seeing that the new requirements were known and understood by all employers of Mexican Nationals in this area who do not use commercial carriers to transport their workers.

Underplanting No Worry for Farmers

At least one worry—the worry of having an allotment reduced because of "underplanting"—has been removed for farmers.

Prentice Mills, County ASC office manager, this week reminded farmers that they will not be forced to plant their full allotments to preserve their base for future figuring.

"The history acreage of all 1957, 1958, and 1959 'old' farm allotments of cotton and wheat will be equal to the farm allotment for such crop," he says. "The allotment is automatically considered planted."

Last year, farmers could sign a special form to preserve their history on wheat, but even that step has now been eliminated.

However, regulations have been tightened in another field. For 1958 and thereafter, any wheat acreage in excess of the farm allotment will not be considered in establishing future allotments.

The result of this new regulation will be that farmers will be no longer able to increase their allotment histories simply by planting in excess of regular allotments, and paying a penalty for such overplanting.

Previously, some farmers have deliberately overseeded allotments and paid a penalty to increase their base acreage. This no longer is possible.

PREPARE FABRIC BEFORE CUTTING

Lovely fall fabrics now are available for every type of garment. Read labels carefully and prepare fabric properly before cutting, suggest extension clothing specialists.

Look for labels that state shrinkage control. If sanforized or guaranteed not to shrink more than two percent, additional shrinkage is not necessary.

Check the grain line of the fabric before cutting. Correct grain line insures proper hang and drape of garment. During weaving, warp yarns are parallel to each other and so are filling yarns. The one set of yarns is at right angles to the other set. By the time fabrics are purchased in the store, one or more of these conditions may have been changed. Yarns may have been pulled or stretched "off grain" in the handling process.

To check: Straighten each end of fabric by pulling thread or tearing. Fold fabric lengthwise with selvages together.

Lay folded fabric on flat table. If crosswise yarns are on the diagonal, stretch in place by carefully pulling on the true bias. If after stretching, the grain of fabric is on diagonal it should be steam pressed or dampened, dried and pressed so the grain will return to its correct position.

Directions for pre-shrinking cotton or wool fabrics can be obtained from your county home demonstration agent.

Lemon juice mixed with melted butter and parsley makes a simple, yet delightful, sauce to serve with fish. This sauce also helps give carrots a unique taste.

To tone up the flavor of a slice of cantaloupe, or other melon, squeeze a bit of lemon juice over the top. Lemon adds extra "zip" to prunes or bananas, too.

Wonderfully refreshing appetizer—or dessert—for hot days is an icy fruit cup. Empty a can of fruit cocktail into refrigerator tray, and freeze until syrup is mushy. Spoon into chilled serving dishes and top with perky mint sprig.

Use raisin bread for "extra special" cinnamon toast. Toast bread, first then spread with an egg white beaten until creamy with 2 tablespoons sugar and a half teaspoon cinnamon. Brown lightly under broiler, and serve piping hot.

Try this change from garlic bread: soften instant minced onion in equal amount of lemon juice. Blend with soft butter and spread on French or whole wheat bread. Toast under broiler or in hot oven, and serve at once. The flavor is always mild with this easy-to-use dry onion, and the bit of lemon is a delightful surprise.

Ordinance—

Some of the new license fees now in effect are fruit and vegetable peddler, $5 per day; balhoo cars, $5 per day; auto parts stores, $25 per year; clothing and dry goods stores, $15; itinerant doctors, healers, dentists, and corn doctors, $100; junk dealers and auto salvage, $25; laundries, $15; special auction sales (bankruptcy, liquidation, etc.), $25 per sale; and public dances, $10 per night.

The above additions include only those which affect businesses located in the city at the present time, or any possible transient business undertakings. Many others, none which are now located in the town, were included in the ordinance and the commission can at any time vote a special fee for a business not included on the list.

One change in the ordinance was that of tourist courts and hotels. The commission adopted the one now in effect in Clovis, which is as follows: An establishment with rooms renting at $1.50 or less per night, the fee is $1 per room for one year; rooms renting at $1.50 to $2.50 per night, $2 for each room per year; and rooms renting for over $2.50, $3 a year for each room.

Other businesses which will be affected by the ordinance are ones which have more than one business under one name. In the past only one fee was assessed for each business, but in the future a person will be charged a separate fee for each phase of his business.

An example: A furniture dealer, also selling used cars, would pay two fees, and a clothing store, also doing shoe repair, would need two licenses.

Other major items of business for the councilmen included a discussion on a $40 fee for tapping the city's water mains and the garbage rate for one resident who was operating a trailer court.

The reason for bringing up the tapping fee was due to a citizen's complaint and belief that it was keeping some people from building in Texico. Councilman Peyton was in favor of cutting the fee in half, but the other members thought that $40 would not be a deciding factor if a person were going to build in the city. The fee was left the same.

In regard to the garbage fee of the one resident, the commission discussed the problem at length before deciding to raise it to 50 cents a month for each trailer located on the lot. Water and sewer rates for the individual were discussed, but it was decided to leave them as they were.

Other business for the commission was as follows:

Attorney Hartley reported that nothing had yet been received by him, concerning the city limit extension suit, which was reviewed several months ago by the state supreme court.

A report was also read that the 1957-58 proposed budget for the town had been approved by the state. Too, the city decided to contact Murray Morgan, state land commissioner, to find out what steps could be taken to obtain a lease on some state land north of Texico for a dump ground.

Presently, it is leased by a private individual who will not relinquish the property to the city.

A request by Agrie Jones, Texico School superintendent, concerning the school's water rate was heard, but no action was taken. The request was that the school's water rate be lowered. It was pointed out by the mayor that the city could not lower any water rates until the bonded indebtedness on the water system is paid off.

Several outsiders were on hand at the meeting and the city officials present were Scotty Levins, mayor; Peyton, Judge Stone, Olan Schlueter, and Joe Helton, councilmen; Juanita Autrey, city clerk; T. L. McLeod, constable; and Hartley.

August bills approved were: Water and Sewer Fund—Kemp Lumber Company, $114.29; Southwestern Public Service, $183.88; Clovis Printing Co., $1.76; Jones Bros., $7.50; Texico Blacksmith, $23.50; Mountain States Telephone, $6.30; and Farwell Waterworks, $29.26; mission Friday included the adoption of the 1957 tax roll, as presented by the tax assessor-collector.

Recreation Fund—N. W. Peyton, $116.78; and Southwestern Public Service, $3.36.

Also, the clerk was instructed by the commission to write S. C. McCarty, district highway engineer, informing him that the city had investigated and could obtain the right-of-way for Ninth Street paving.

The garbage disposal service in Farwell was discussed, because of complaints from citizens. The clerk was asked to contact the man in charge of the trash hauling, to see if service could be improved.

Approved at the meeting was a sewer extension agreement, worked out by the clerk and mayor, with B. V. Hughes. Under the terms of the agreement, Hughes will pay for the extension to his business in east Farwell at the present time, and the city will pay for it later out of the sewer funds.

The commission also made appointments for the planning-zone commission for 1957-58. Three citizens named to this commission were G. T. Watkins, C. C. Christian, and W. N. Foster.

Bills for the month, approved by the officials, were as follows:

C. G. Hromas, labor on fire station, $610.79; Wilfred Quickel, salary, $275; V. C. Venable, salary, $125; Felix Winegeart, salary, $150; Wilfred Quickel, expenses, $25; Quickel, spraying time for three months, $45; Mountain States Telephone Co., $16.50;

Texas Tech in Lubbock. Before beginning her duties on the faculty at Texico, she held positions in schools in Gould, Okla., West Camp, Farwell, Amherst, Odessa, and Monahans.

The Seales were married on November 16, 1942 in Lubbock. They had made their home on a farm south of Texico for the past eight years.

Mrs. Seale had been a member of the Baptist Church since she was 12 years of age. Other than her duties as a school teacher, she was interested in working with young people, and had taught the junior girls Sunday School class at Texico Baptist Church for a number of years. She also had served as a Girl Scout leader here immediately after the war.

She was active in several organizations including Order of Eastern Star, was a current member of Texico Woman's Club, and was past president of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Seale first became ill the latter part of 1956 and underwent surgery on December 21. A few weeks after the operation, she returned to her duties at Texico Schools, and continued her teaching duties until the end of the term.

She was active until three weeks before her death, and had looked forward to once again instructing the third graders. But after her admission to the hospital, she weakened rapidly, and passed away, Friday, September 6.

Quarterback Club To Meet Tuesday

A film of the Farwell-Bovina football game is scheduled to be shown at the first meeting of the Farwell Quarterback Club Tuesday night. All area people are invited to attend the meeting and become members of the club, which will back the Steers during the coming season. The meeting will be at 8 o'clock.

An organizational meeting of the club was held last week, but officers were not elected due to light attendance. Several signed up for the club and enough memberships were received in order to pay for filming tomorrow night's game.

In addition to viewing the film Tuesday night, officers will be elected, says a spokesman for the group.
