

The shocking tragedy which visited this area last weekend served once again to emphasize the need for more stringent control of those who would use alcohol while operating a vehicle on the public roads.

It is a man's own business to imbibe if that is his choice, so long as his activity does not interfere with the safety of those with whom he comes in contact.

We sometimes are inclined to think that we have too much freedom in this country, however, when persons under the influence of intoxicants are permitted to litter our highways with dead and maimed innocent people, and as is often the case, they themselves emerge unscratched from the wrecks which they cause.

It is not the fault of the peace officers of the country, as they are constantly hauling DWI's into the courts for prosecution. Neither can the laws of the land be blamed. As somebody has already pointed out, you can't legislate anything that the people don't want. They'll obey laws when they want to, and disobey the ones they don't like.

The real meat of this particular problem has to do with the state of mind of most of us who constitute what, for want of a better word, is called, "the public." Our indifference to the social problems resulting from the use of booze is steadily mounting. Our minds are under the influence of the pile-driver effects of multi-million dollar advertising campaigns that lead us to believe that drinking is "smart," "refreshing," or "distinctive."

One look at a wreck such as happened last weekend clears the fog created by the liquor interests, however, and it becomes clear that there is little distinction in being at fault in such a tragedy.

Rough calculations have placed the area now in cultivation at our place at about 8000 square feet. Most of it is grass, thank you, although we might as well acknowledge a considerable area is devoted to some of the finest care-less weeds and the biggest goat-heads ever raised in this neck of the woods.

An investment of many thousands of gallons of water over the past two and one half months is beginning to pay off now, and we are discovering that it is no small task to keep this maze of assorted vegetation in trim.

As a matter of fact, we broke the handle out of gran'ma's old lawnmower in an effort about three weeks ago, and were obliged to purchase a new mower.

At the time we stoutly resisted the pep talk of several hardware dealers that we needed a power mower for our place. That, we recall to have said, is where we draw the line on progress. Exercise is pretty nigh nonexistent in this day of wheeled motivation, and if we never do anything but push a lawnmower around for a few minutes each week, we are going to stick with it.

Thus having burned our bridges behind us, we have forged ahead on our project, which, we have been given to understand, is sometimes referred to by our neighbors as "the pasture."

Having run our new lawnmower into a steel lot stake installed by that paragon of lot lines, Sir Wilfred Quickel, which resulted in a notch the size of your thumb in our new mower reel, we are still undismayed over prospects for a good yard this summer if our strength and patience holds firm.

The grass we will admit, is getting thicker and tougher than we ever had thought possible. Unless we break another handle out, however, our stand against power mowers will remain resolute. We only wish our back was as stubborn as our mind.

And we thought times were tough last summer when folks brought us blackeye peas that we had to shell ourselves. Why, those were days of luxury!

This year, garden booty has been mighty hard to come by, even when we are willing to go the limit. As an example, the only way we could get Weedy and Joyce Coffman to let us have some snap beans out of their garden was for us to get up at 6 a. m., bring our own basket, and help pick 'em.

They were mighty good, though, and we feel like the effort was worthwhile.

Bobby Wyrick Places in Rodeo

Bobby Wyrick placed second in the first go-around of saddle bronc riding in the 12th Annual Ft. Sumner rodeo the past weekend.

Others attending from here were Mr. and Mrs. Toll Wyrick and Susie, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Wyrick and family, L. G. Wyrick, and Richard Hapke.

Toll Wyrick was in charge of the stock for the rodeo.

New Procedure on "Special Permits" For Irrigation Wells Listed by Committee

Irrigation well drilling is no longer a seasonal operation in Parmer County according to committee men who issue permits there. The number of permits issued from time to time varies, but to no great extent. Fifteen permits were granted at the last meeting. The greatest number ever issued in a two week period was about thirty-five.

The number of replacement wells is becoming a little alarming, say committeemen. Most of these are replacements for wells that have been pumping less than two years, and too many of them have pumped only a few months. This seems to indicate that more study of formation and other elements should be made before installation is made. Minimum cost of replacement installations run around two thousand dollars.

Effective immediately, "special permit" procedure for drilling a well before regular meeting dates of the committee will be handled in a different manner than previously. The committee requests that pump companies and drillers insist on a copy of the temporary permit before drilling operations begin.

This can avoid embarrassment and possible added expense for their patrons, who may not be sure they have complied with district regulations in locating their well site.

When a farmer feels he cannot wait for the regular meeting of the committee to secure a permit, he can follow the procedure outlined here:

(1) Go to the office in Friona and provide all necessary data regarding the proposed well location.

(2) Such data will be placed on a form which will show exact location desired.

(3) The form may then be taken to three committeemen for approval.

(4) The form must then be returned to the office for issuance of a temporary permit which authorizes beginning of drilling operations.

(5) At the next scheduled meeting date, applicant shall appear before the committee for formal completion of application.

The committee wishes to emphasize that if the driller will require a copy of temporary permits before moving on location, he will be doing a service to his patron by eliminating the possibility of illegal installations which may prove costly as well as inconvenient. The driller who will take this responsibility will soon become respected when a new well is considered.

Four Untimely Deaths Stun Residents on Eve of Holiday

Tragic deaths shrouded a holiday weekend in sorrow for the people of this area last week. Three met the Grim Reaper in an automobile-truck collision Thursday afternoon between Bovina and Farwell; and Saturday morning, one took his own life at his home in Bovina.

ACCIDENT VICTIMS

MRS. A. G. WHITE

MRS. G. D. ANDERSON JR.

Hilliard. Mrs. White was believed to have died when the impact occurred. The boy died shortly thereafter and his mother passed away in a Clovis hospital at 4:05 the next morning.

The accident occurred about 4:30 as Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. White, Johnny and David (the latter a 7-year-old who was thrown clear of the crash and escaped death) were traveling westward toward Farwell in the Anderson car.

A semi-trailer truck traveling in the opposite direction was believed to have veered into the ditch to Mrs. Anderson's right. She also had pulled from the highway to avoid collision with the oncoming vehicle, and the car crashed into the bed of the truck. The force of the impact dislodged the rear axle assembly of the truck, leaving the rear wheels in a near-by field. The top of the Anderson car was crushed and partly peeled back by the bed of the truck as the car slid under.

The driver of the truck, Paul Dowdy of Benton Harbor, Mich., is awaiting the action of the grand jury tomorrow morning (Friday) with a bond set at $15,000. He is charged with murder without malice for each of the three deaths resulting from the wreck.

Sheriff Chas. Lovelace says that driving while intoxicated is included in the charges against the driver. One witness to the accident, Jack Benton of Plainview, who was traveling behind the truck, is expected to be called for testimony in the case. Dowdy and three other passengers in the truck were uninjured. They have been released and are not implicated in the charges against the driver.

Huggins Dies

Another tragic shock to Bovina and near-by communities was the death of Curtis Huggins, who died at his home early Saturday morning.

He died of a shotgun blast between 5 and 6 a. m. it is believed, although the death itself was not realized until his wife discovered the body slumped in the bathroom floor an hour or two later.

Fun Making Canceled

With these two depressing incidents, Bovina cancelled its annual 4th of July picnic which had been scheduled for Monday. The Lions Club had undertaken extensive preparation for a day of merry-making to honor the holiday, but the program was called off.

Mrs. Lillian Beatrice White was born Oct. 7, 1900, in Mulhall, Oklahoma. She is survived by her husband, A. G. White of Bovina; four sons; Elton Rhodes, Midland; Lilvovus Rhodes, San Pedro, Calif.; Nolan Rhodes, Alexandria, Pa.; Lawrence Rhodes of Odessa;

Two daughters: Mrs. John Wilson and Mrs. Frank Wilson of Bovina; two brothers: C. L. Rury, (Continued on last page)

Returning high school instructors are: Carroll Cates, football coach; Mrs. Carroll Cates, home economics; Mrs. Kenneth Fields, commercial; Mrs. Shelby Jobs, music; Calvin Murray, athletic director and basketball coach; Robert Morton, agriculture; Mrs. Herman Milford, English; Herman Milford, science; W. M. Roberts, principal and math; and Supt. Williams.

Elementary instructors are: Mrs. Elsie Cain, Annabel Ford, Ila Rhea Huffaker, Shelby Jobs, Margaret Kennedy, Mrs. Lenton Pool, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Tucker, Mrs. M. H. Stroup, and Kenneth Fields, elementary principal.

43 Cases Heard In Lewis' Court

Exceeding the legal and posted speed limit on the state highways led the list of violations filed in Justice of the Peace Sam Lewis' court in Texico during the month of June.

A total of 31 persons were fined on this count. Other charges included defective equipment, 5, overloading, 6; violating the SCC laws, 1. Violations drew fines that ranged from $10 to $25, says Judge Lewis.

He also mentions that the New Mexico state police have informed him there have been instances where citations have been issued and individuals failed to show up in court.

"It does not pay to ignore a citation from a state policeman," says Lewis, "as there can then be issued a warrant for the arrest of persons who do not heed the citations."

Lemmons Bros. Sale Scheduled Tuesday

A clean-up farm sale for the Lemmons Brothers near Grier has been booked by auctioneers Dick Doshier and Merl Griffith, and the event is to take place Tuesday, July 13.

Location of the sale is 3 miles west, 7 south and 2 west of Grier on the Lemmons ranch, formerly known as the Hardwick ranch. The sale starts at 10 a. m., MST. Lunch will be served at noon.

A nice list of machinery, a Brown Swiss dairy assortment, some good hogs and lots of miscellaneous items are featured in the sale.

"It will be held under the shade trees, too," reports Doshier.

116,885 Acres Is Wheat Quota

1954 Planting Total Surprise to Everyone

Parmer County's 1955 wheat allotment this week was set at 116,885 acres, representing a decrease of about 15 percent in last year's allotment of 136,673.

County ASC Chairman Joe Camp released the figures this week, also indicating that the individual farm allotments will likely be in the mail "within ten days."

He said that the individual figures are being tabulated as quickly as possible, and stressed that the office probably would not be able to tell farmers what their quota will be in the event they apply at the office because those figures would not be available.

The files in the office indicate that there are 905 wheat growers in Parmer County this year, and that they seeded 105,000 acres of wheat for 1954.

This total acreage was released last week after measuring had been completed and tabulations run on the county plantings, and the figure is a surprise to most agricultural observers who have been estimating the county acreage at between 70,000-85,000 acres.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson two weeks ago proclaimed national cutbacks in wheat acreage because of the large inventory of this commodity now in the hands of Commodity Credit Corporation.

Later this year the nation's wheat growers will vote in a national referendum to determine whether price supports with accompanying acreage controls will be continued.

Liquor Charges Made Against Two Men

J. T. Jasper of Friona was fined $150 and costs after pleading guilty Tuesday in county court to a charge of transporting liquor through a dry territory for purposes of resale.

A trial date for Joe Langer of Bovina had not been set the first of this week. He posted bond of $1000 to a charge of selling liquor in a dry territory.

New Office Next At Worley Mills

The next unit scheduled for construction at the new Worley Mills elevator plant in Farwell is the new office, a 40x20 concrete tile building to be located south of the present office.

Herbert Potts, Worley manager, reports that the grading for the foundation is now being made and that construction is planned for the office in the near future.

An excavation has been made for the scales which will be in front of the office. The office will face east and a warehouse of undetermined size is scheduled to be built later behind, or west, of the office.

Modern appointments and a fresh appearance will feature the new addition.

Friendly Rivalries Spark Fourth of July Funmaking at Oklahoma Lane Party

Following an old tradition, the residents of the Oklahoma Lane community celebrated the Fourth of July with an all-community picnic Saturday with some 200 people present.

Friendly rivalry provided the spark for many athletic contests held during the afternoon, the festivities getting started with a baseball game in which the married men were pitted against the

CROWDS LINE UP AS SPEEDERS FINED

Curious spectators lined the sidewalks near the Texico City Hall Monday to watch speeding holiday drivers get waved down by the state police and be summoned into JP Sam Lewis' court.

Between 20 and 30 persons were estimated to have been halted by the patrolmen as they coasted into the Texico city limits. It is reported that they had been checked in a radar device west of the city and found to be exceeding the legal limit.

Most of those being fined for speeding took it in a sober manner and paid up without any fuss or trouble. A few others didn't, however.

One man, identified as an Amarillo physician, blew up and demanded to telephone his lawyer before paying the fine Magistrate Lewis assessed. He did so, and then he "changed his tune" and spoke a little quieter to the judge, observers report. He paid the customary fine without further complaint.

County-Wide Rally Day Set For 16th

Plans are about complete for a county-wide 4-H Rally Day for Parmer 4-H girls on Friday, July 16th in Friona. Registration will begin about 9:30 a. m. at the city park in Friona under the direction of the Rhea 4-H girls and leaders, Mrs. Jack Patterson and Mrs. Martin Wagner.

The morning session, beginning at 10:00 a. m., will be devoted to making hamburger baskets. Several older 4-H girls are to be trained to assist with this basket making with leaders Mrs. M. B. Mayhon, Black; and Mrs. Garvin Thorn, Lazbuddie, assisting. The group will eat their sack lunches at the park. Mrs. C. W. Weatherly, Friona and Mrs. J. E. Whiteside, Bovina will be in charge of the refreshments and lunch period.

After lunch, the three girls who attended the District I 4-H camp near Amarillo early in June will direct some recreation and tell of their experiences. These were Patsy Cox, Lazbuddie; Joy Crow, Friona; and Fern Tipton, Farwell.

At 2:30 p. m. at the school, a dress revue of garments made in clothing workshops in June meetings will be modeled and scored. Ribbons will be presented in three award groups. Mrs. Everette Christian and Mrs. Turner Paine, Oklahoma Lane; and Mrs. J. M. Reed, Farwell, are members of this award and finance committee who have assisted with plans for this phase of the program and will assist the judges.

Other leaders who will assist with decorations and organization of the dress revue are; Mrs. Doyle Chaplin and Mrs. H. T. Magness, Friona, Mrs. J. L. Ivy, Lazbuddie, and Mrs. V. F. Schell, Farwell.

STE-RIKE! (But Look at That Sensational Form)

A tense moment unfolds in the single men vs. married men's baseball game last Saturday afternoon at Oklahoma Lane. Rev. Vernon Willard takes a hefty cut at a ball flung over the plate by Melvin Terry. Darrell Garner prepares to receive the ball in his catcher's mitt, but it turned out to be a foul.

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Knowing Who To Vote For Is Sometimes Real Problem

A candidate for one of the county's commissioner precincts visited the office of The Tribune last week, and in casual conversation touched on a matter of vital interest to us all. How can we, he wanted to know, vote a really intelligent ballot?

Before him was a sample ballot of the Democratic primary to be held July 24. Several of the names he was familiar with; most of them meant nothing to him. Especially in the case of some of the less publicized state posts such as the court of criminal appeals and the supreme court, it is impossible for the average voter to really know which candidate is best.

Oftentimes, voters will merely place an X by the first name on the ballot, for the simple reason that they don't know anything about the other men. Or, the voter may pick out a name that "sounds honest," or is similar to his own name or the name of someone he knows. This is hardly intelligent voting.

The newspapers of America are the greatest information medium ever devised. Is it their responsibility to properly and accurately inform the voter about every candidate? At first, it might seem so, but after all, would this be practical? Indeed, would it be possible?

If, for instance, a daily newspaper with statewide circulation began a series of articles that categorically described each candidate whose name was to have been on the ballot, would it be up to the editors of that newspaper to publish what they believed to be bad, as well as what they believed to be good, about each candidate? If they chose to publish only what was to the credit of each man, what then would be the reaction of the men in opposition to the candidate being described? Surely they would rise up and say, "Look here, now. You have run all these things about what John Jones has done for his state, but you said not one word about what he has done TO IT." Would not printing only the good and omitting all the bad give a distorted view of each candidate?

Instead, newspapers choose the only route left open that will enable them to fairly serve the public. A conscientious newspaper will carefully carry the news of the campaign as each candidate makes an effort to show the public why he, and no one else, should be elected to a certain post. Partiality can be avoided by accuracy in reporting these campaigns and giving each candidate his share of the news space.

Also, any reputable newspaper will accept political advertising from any candidate in the field. This will enable the candidate to speak out for himself even in newspapers that clearly are against his candidacy. He pays for this privilege, to be sure, but he has an opportunity to make himself heard nevertheless.

News coverage and political advertising have no connection (or should have none, anyway) with the editorial view of the newspaper. Many newspapers plug the candidates they would like to see elected in their editorial columns regularly. Many people are influenced by these viewpoints, it might be added.

But The Tribune hopes it will never see the day when people are elected to office simply because their candidacy is endorsed by powerful mass-circulation newspapers or magazines. It should still be the business of the voter to decide for himself who is entitled to his ballot.

There is a need for some type of informational program whereby the voter can fairly weigh the merits of candidates against one another. But we don't have any idea how this could be arranged.

War Was Expensive, But Keeping It Peaceful Is, Too

In terms of dollars and cents, perhaps the cost of World War II and the Korean war could be evaluated, but never the loss of life and limb and the incalculable suffering of humanity.

The cost of keeping peace in the world is not small, either, as a little research will bear out. According to figures sent us by Sen. Lyndon Johnson, the average cost of training an air force pilot is $60,000. A B-47 pilot—cross-trained as a bombardier, navigator, and radar operator—represents an investment of $210,000 for training alone.

During the fiscal years 1951 through the requested defense department appropriation for 1955, approximately $9,400,000,000 will have been spent for ammunition and explosives alone.

"We have to face the fact that the cost of national security will remain high for many years to come. It is a price we must pay," comments Sen. Johnson.

It is fitting that the United States, one of the few countries in the world built on Christian principles, should incorporate into its national pledge, "One nation, under God." We are thankful for this recognition to the Almighty through whose good graces we are enjoying the privilege of living in the finest country in the world.

the Texas Safety Association, and Services Advisor for the Gulf Oil Corporation said today.

Col. Tilley made that statement in connection with the courtesy "Code of the Road" traffic safety program which was introduced in Texas by Col. Tilley in a statewide release.

The Colonel said that respect for the law simply means respect for the rights of others, and that this, basically, is good manners—or courtesy.

"And the importance of courtesy in avoiding traffic accidents and making our streets and highways safe for drivers and pedestrians cannot be overemphasized," he said.

He said that joint sponsorship of the program on the national level by three prominent organizations was indicative of the importance of the effort. Cooperating in nation-wide promotion of the "Code of the Road" program are the National Safety Council, the Inter-Industry Highway Safety Committee and the National Committee for Traffic Safety.

Continuing his discussion of respect for the law as basic to courtesy, the Colonel pointed out that a major expression of respect for law is observance of the "Signs of Life," the signs, signals and pavement marking which state the law and warn of traffic dangers.

"But true courtesy goes beyond the strictly legal aspect of the traffic problems," Col Tilley said.

Bobby S. Poteet, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Poteet of Box 21, Farwell, Texas, and an Air Force ROTC cadet at Texas A&M, prepares to take off on an orientation flight in an Air Force T-28.

While at summer training, Cadet Poteet observes and actually participates in Air Force operations.

Following completion of the summer training, he will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the United States Air Force Reserve and enter flight training to win the coveted silver wings of an Air Force pilot.

STOP

Traffic question: How long should you pause at a stop street? Laws differ, but you'll be safe if you wait "until traffic clears". If you're behind another car, stop at the street line. Don't barge ahead and across when the car ahead of you does; the law says you must honor the stop street independently.

Automatic transmissions mean you don't have to shift gear at stop streets, a joy to the woman driver. If your tends to stall at such times, have it checked by a trained mechanic. The dealer who handles your make of car knows its mechanism best.

Most important, always honor a stop street. It's dangerous not to, because the fellow coming the other way counts on the fact that a stop street tells you to wait for him.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

AUSTIN — Texas' campaign trails are sizzling as figures in the quest for the top political job enter the speech-making home stretch.

Governor Allan Shivers' bid for re-election was boosted by the announcement of State Senator A. M. Alkin that he would support the governor.

In a string of campaign speeches broken by a brief personal visit to the Rio Grande flood area and a request to President Eisenhower to designate five hard-hit counties as disaster areas, Shivers:

1. Charged that opponent Ralph Yarborough does not have the interest of the state's old people at heart. The governor said that his opponent has "never lifted a finger to help increase old-age assistance," but has worked to boost pensions for retired judges.

2. Received support from an Austin union barber who said that charges made against the governor in a Corpus Christi labor convention were "unjust." G. O. Edleman said that the governor had always been helpful to the laboring people and that the "anti-labor" accusation brought against Shivers was the work of labor's "would-be bosses."

3. Reiterated his stand against changes in segregation laws and hit out at Yarborough for "mud slinging."

4. Cited industrial gains and the fact that more people are working and making more money in Texas than ever before. "Is this what Yarborough wants to change?" Shivers inquired.

Yarborough Busy
Candidate Yarborough continued his campaign, aided by a chartered airplane that shuttled him to more than 30 towns for brief speeches.

He promised to "clean out" the Texas Insurance Commission if elected.

He also demanded an audit of the books of John Van Cronkhite, a former Shivers campaign manager whose name came up in the bankruptcy case of Lloyd's of North America.

Yarborough declared against third terms, saying that "when politicians become fixtures their cronies become fixers."

The candidate promised an administration dedicated to quick aid for farmers and ranchers, better roads and highways, better schools, and expanded veterans land, health, and state welfare programs.

The Court of Criminal Appeals finished its nine-month term and recessed until October 1. Expected to shut up shop soon were the Supreme Court and the Third Court of Criminal Appeals.

A new associate justice for the Supreme Court is to be appointed by the governor before the court resumes business in the Fall. The new justice will replace the late Judge Graham B. Smedley.

Hugh Lyerly, executive assistant attorney general, resigned July 1 to enter the private practice of law in Dallas.

He joined the firm of Coke and Coke.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

It's the light on the youngster that makes this an appealing picture. The camera could be in deep shade and it wouldn't make any difference.

It's the Light on the Subject That Counts

Light is something vitally important to us, that is certain. One of the things in our lives which depends on it is our picture taking. Without light, we can't have a picture. It is the light entering our cameras when we open the shutter that creates the image on the film. This light is reflected from the subject, into the camera, and on to the film.

We're prompted to talk of this because of a story we heard the other day. This story actually happened. The scene took place in the highly photogenic Greenfield Village near Dearborn, Michigan. A place frequented by tourists and photographers.

One of the attractive features of this reconstructed village from an America of yesteryears is the covered bridges. Another, the horse-drawn carriages in which visitors may ride through the grounds.

Our story concerns a visitor who wanted to take a picture of the carriage as it came into view through the opening in the bridge. This visitor thought it a picture well worth waiting for, so she had the setting for the picture in her viewfinder and was waiting for the horses to appear to snap the picture.

And, just as they did appear, another visitor grabbed her arm, exclaiming, "You can't get a picture here. You're standing in the shade!" The well-intentioned bystander took no notice of the fact that the bridge and the road were perfectly lighted by the mid-afternoon sun.

We tell this story, of a snapshot lost, because it is indicative of how little many of us know about the lighting for our pictures. The amount of light where the camera is, has nothing to do with the picture. It is the light on the subject that counts.

Mrs. Dyer And Sons Return Home

Mrs. Claude Dyer and sons returned recently from a voyage to England to visit relatives of Mrs. Dyer. It was a sad homecoming for the local people, who found Mrs. Dyer's mother, Mrs. Elsie Haines of Evesham, Worcestershire, England, extremely ill.

Mrs. Haines, 65, passed away on the day of the departure of the local people, as they began their trip back to the States.

The Dyers left here April 10, and returned June 24. They also visited Mrs. Dyer's three sisters, one brother and other relatives in England.

Although Mrs. Dyer was at the bedside of her mother much of the time, she did take the children to see some scenic spots in her home country. She saw the play "Romeo and Juliet" at the Stratford on Avon Theatre, enjoyed boat racing on the River Avon on one holiday, and visited Bristol, a large dock city. They spent a day and a night in London where they saw Buckingham Palace and St. John Park, and crossed the Waterloo Bridge over the Thames River.

The weather was wet, says Mrs. Dyer, but the country was beautiful. The boys picked up English sayings while there.

One of the more noticeable changes to Mrs. Dyer since her last visit to England was that there is no more rationing.

Mrs. Dyer is employed at the Security State Bank here.

A service station, we think, should be more than just a place to "buy gas," even though the sale of gasoline is our main business. Along with gasoline, we provide our customers with a wash and grease service they can rely on, the world's finest motor oils, tires, batteries, accessories, and courteous, "on the ball" service always.

Our son now has a new sand box, the biggest aid to harmony in the Graham household since Ronny learned to play outside. He digs, builds and buries his toys, and is content for longer periods of time than ever before.

We feel that in mentioning the sand box (his daddy built the economy size) that we should thank Clay Henson for the use of his pickup, and the D. O. Rollands for the two pickup loads of sand it took to fill the box.

And as long as we are doling out the thanks, we don't want to forget Smokey Cates, who brought us the nicest, crispest garden lettuce.

Mrs. C. D. Houghtling sent us her easy frosting for working girls. We can think of any number of people who will be interested in this recipe.

Frosting

Sift together 2 cups confectioner's sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt and three tablespoons cocoa.

Put in bowl, 3 tablespoons butter and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Then add confectioner's sugar alternately with 3 tablespoons hot milk or coffee.

Several people have informed us that we weren't too wise when we selected a shadow box fence, to limit our young son's play area and keep him in watching distance. They warned us that he would soon learn to climb.

No, he hasn't yet, but we feel we've had the first installment of the story of the fence. Our little three year old niece, Betsy Crume of Hereford, visited us over the weekend. She was playing in the back yard, or so we thought, when we heard a tap tap at the front door. There stood Betsy! Her mother immediately inquired as to how she got out of the backyard. "Why, I climbed the stair fence," she remarked matter of factly.

Miss Dial Recounts Girls' State Events

By GLORIA DIAL

June 21, 1954, began one of the most memorable weeks of my life. I spent that week in Austin at the School for the Deaf, attending the 1954 session of Bluebonnet Girls' State.

Before I begin to tell about my experience, I'd like to give a short definition of just what Girls' State is. When I was given the honor of representing Farwell this year, I found that very few people knew what I was talking about when I said "Girls' State."

Indirectly, Girls' State is a method. It's a procedure in which the sponsors, the American Legion Auxiliary, hope to bring home the importance of local government. We girls, all of us seniors next year, are going to try to make a better community by stressing the necessity of stronger county and city government.

Registration began on Monday. Everyone was lost and didn't know where to go, but this was soon remedied by the junior counselors. The junior counselors, or J. C.'s, as we called them, were citizens of 1953 Girls' State that were chosen to help show the girls where, when, and what to do.

After everyone finally got registered, their bags taken to their rooms, and finally found out what floor they were on (I was on the third), we began to get acquainted.

We were assigned to cities and counties, and after a lot of serious concentration, we named our county Mr. Chairman, and the two cities in it were Point of Order and We Object.

We got an early start each morning as the bugler blew reveille at 8:30. That's pretty early for "city" like me. The flag was raised and the revised version of the pledge of allegiance was said, after which we all developed enormous appetites by a vigorous session of calisthenics. The President of the United States and his cabinet have changed the pledge by adding only two words. It now reads thusly: I pledge allegiance to the Flag, of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands.

One nation, under God, indivisible, With liberty and justice for all. We were privileged to hear many very interesting and informative speakers during the week. Among these speakers were Clarence Manion, former Dean of Notre Dame; and another outstanding gentleman from our own state government, John Ben Shepperd, Attorney General of Texas.

From the first minute I arrived at Girl's State, all I heard was "What office are you going to run for?" or "I'm running for such-and-such office and I'd sure appreciate your vote." I didn't know what was going on at first, but it didn't take me long to find out. After I discovered that the girls were campaigning for state, county, and city offices, I decided to get into the swing of things by filing for the state office of Attorney General. Campaigning continued until the primary elections which were held on Wednesday night. Each party, Nationalist and Federalist, was to have one nominee for the final election. I was a Nationalist, and was very excited when I found out that I had passed the party primaries and would get to run in the primary run-offs. My opponent won the party nomination, but she too was defeated in the finals. It was quite an experience to run for a state office, one which I'll never forget. We Nationalists carried the election by electing both governor and lieutenant-governor from our party.

Thursday was our big day. We made a visit to the State Capitol building, the museum, the Governor's mansion. I especially enjoyed going through the Governor's mansion, as we got to see the many old paintings and relics from the old days of Sam Houston. After our tour of the state buildings, we returned to the school to dress formally for the inauguration banquet which was held in the Tower Cafe, a few blocks away. John Ben Shepperd presided over the inauguration ceremony and presented the girls that were elected to a high state office their certificates.

In case you boys are interested, there was only one male allowed on the campus. That was George, the photographer. He immediately became accepted by the girls and soon acquired the nickname of "Daddy George." At the end of the week, the Senate and House of Representatives passed a bill making him an honorary member of Girl's State.

It seems that all good things have to come to an end. The citizens of Girl's State of 1954, closed the session with many mixed emotions. Everyone was tired and homesick, but reluctant to leave the place where we had spent many hours in learning, enjoying ourselves, and making new friends. The last assembly was very sad, as we all realized that soon we would be leaving, and not for a long time, perhaps never, would we be able to see our new friends, sing our Girl's State song, and enjoy the fellowship of so many talented and wonderful girls. We were all glad, though, that we had been able to attend Girl's State and all of us returned home with a strong resolve to take what we learned that week home with us to the many girls who didn't have the privilege of attending the 1954 session of Bluebonnet Girl's State.

Kill Johnson Grass With Oil Method

Application of an effective herbicidal oil to the crowns and the first few inches of the stem of established Johnson Grass kills this grass at the ground line. Repeated application of such treatment at intervals of 10 to 15 days, as needed to control growth, will eradicate root-stock infestations of this grass in a single season. Six or more consecutive treatments are usually required. Lion 1, Esso 38, Lightfoot 23, Varsol 1, No Ho, Lion 7, Tulsa, Toxisol, Stoddard Solvent (Phillips), Solvasol (Magnolia), and many other herbicidal oils are satisfactory for this purpose.

Naphtha content should be 15-23 per cent for a good job. Should not be mixed with kerosene or diesel.

Cotton can not be expected to survive the spot oilings required for the most effective treatment of established infestations of this grass. Basal treatment of the grass, however, can be successfully made in cotton rows with the accidental spraying of only an occasional cotton plant. Knapsack sprayers have proven satisfactory for use in making treatments of this type.

Stems of established Johnson Grass can be "cut" with oil applied from a hand sprayer faster than they can be cut with a hoe. Also, repeated oiling eradicates established Johnson Grass. Hand hoeing, as done by an ordinary field hand, only temporarily delays the growth of the grass. The oils suggested for use in spot treating Johnson Grass are volatile and have little or no residual effect on the soil.

Carried on Back
The knapsack sprayer is carried on the operator's back. It is light and easy to carry if it is not overloaded with oil. The spray tank usually has a capacity of three gallons, but in spot oiling established Johnson Grass in cotton rows, the operator seldom needs more than a gallon of oil with him at any one time. A gallon is enough to oil the established Johnson Grass in the rows of 1/4 to one-third of an acre of cotton in most cases. Adding a small quantity of oil to the spray tank every few "rounds" from a reserve supply at the end of the rows is much more efficient than for the operator to fill his sprayer to capacity.

The knapsack sprayer is equipped with a hand pump which is conveniently activated by the operator with his right hand as he walks. The pump on the sprayer is capable of developing 60 or more pounds of pressure per square inch, but to maintain such pressure by hand is both fatiguing and undesirable. A pressure of 10 pounds per square inch or less is more desirable than higher pressure in spot oiling Johnson Grass in cotton. Such pressures are easy to maintain with only infrequent strokes of the pump handle.

The operator's left hand is free to manipulate the spray wand and the spring tension valve in the spray line. Only a single nozzle should be used on the end of the spray wand. This nozzle should be equipped with a 50-mesh screen and fan-type Teejet 8002 nozzle tip, or its equivalent. Nozzle tips with this size orifice are seldom sold with a knapsack sprayer and may have to be purchased separately.

MEET IN BOVINA

Next meeting for directors of the Parmer County Farm Bureau is to be Monday night in the Legion Hall in Bovina, it has been reported.

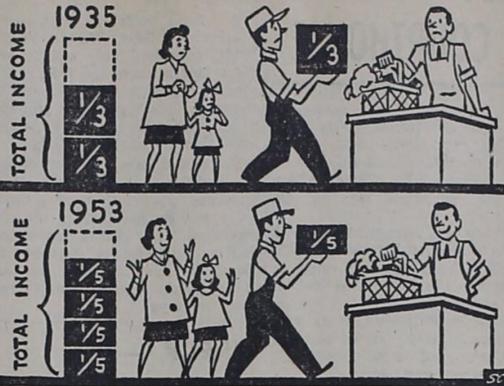

Due to weather conditions, it is more difficult to fly from Europe to America than from America to Europe.

Bayonets were named for Bayonne France where they were first made.

Smaller Part of Income for Food

Chances are a good argument could be started by anyone who said food costs less today than it did in the not-so-palmy days of mid-thirties.

While price tags were much lower in those days, they didn't tell the whole story. The value of money changes. The only real measure is how much work the average consumer has to do to earn enough to buy his food, so says a special report from the Agricultural Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Take the basic food, bread, for example. In 1935 a loaf of bread may have cost less in pennies than it does today, but the average factory worker had to work nine minutes to buy that loaf. In 1953, the same worker could buy a loaf of bread, improved by enrichment with essential vitamins and minerals, in less than six minutes, the National Chamber points out.

This reduction is found throughout the range of commonly-used foods, and is reflected in the overall average. In 1935 the average factory worker with two dependents spent about a third of his income for food; in 1953 the same worker spent less than one-fifth, or 19 per cent, of his income on the food bill.

"There's entirely too much fuss about the price of food and too many attempts to arouse consumer antagonism against the farmer," the report said. It pointed out that food prices to a certain extent are due to price supports, but even with this, the worker still does less work today to pay for his food.

The reduction in prices is due to improved technology, the report continues. Newer and better ways of doing things enable the farmer and the processors to turn out food at lower costs.

Food costs may seem too high, but they've never been lower. The facts show that the American consumer is getting the biggest bargain ever in food—and in a greater variety of better foods, the Chamber says.

stallment buying, and establishes a credit rating which facilitates borrowing of money.

More Than Two Million Deaths Recorded in 1953

HARTFORD, CONN.—(Special) The worst automobile accident toll in the nation's history—more than two million casualties—was recorded in 1953, according to figures released by The Travelers Insurance Companies.

Traffic deaths totaled 38,500, an increase of 900 over 1952. The injury total reached 2,140,000 compared to 2,090,000 for the previous year.

The totals are statistics from "The Passing Scene," twentieth in an annual series of traffic accident data booklets published by The Travelers. Accident facts from every state in the country are collected and analyzed for the publication by Travelers statisticians.

Excessive speed was the most dangerous mistake in 1953. Speed killed 13,870 persons and injured more than 600,000. Drivers under 25 years of age were involved in almost 25 per cent of the year's fatal accidents although they constitute only about 15 per cent of the total of all drivers.

Week end crashes accounted for 15,800 killed and 800,000 hurt during 1953. Forty-one per cent of the deaths and 36 per cent of the injuries occurred on Saturdays and Sundays last year.

The pedestrian record reflected the third consecutive year of improvement. Booklet figures show pedestrian casualties reduced by 50 to 8,600. Crossing between intersections, "jay walking," still is the chief cause of pedestrian deaths and injuries.

"The Passing Scene" also reports that three out of four 1953 auto accidents happened to passenger cars driving in clear weather and dry roads.

Eighty per cent of the vehicles involved in fatal accidents were traveling straight ahead.

Saturday was the most dangerous day to drive.

1953 was the fourth consecutive year of increase in the death toll.

Texas Highway Map Has Publication

AUSTIN—Publication of the official highway travel map for 1954 was announced in Austin recently by D. C. Greer, State Highway engineer, and it is now available for free distribution.

Incorporating many changes and new features, it is believed that this is one of the best travel maps the department has published. For the first time this year, type has been used for all names and symbols appearing on the map, instead of the hand lettering previously used.

This greatly improves legibility of all names.

A different size and type face was selected for the various categories of names that appear on the map; counties appear in one type, cities of similar population density will have the same size type; mountains will have their own lettering style, while rivers will appear in still another size and type face, Greer stated. In all, 33 different styles and sizes of type were ordered for the new map.

Over 1300 villages, towns, and cities are to be shown on the new guide. Each of these falls into one of the five population categories—towns of less than 1,000 persons, towns up to 5,000, those with 25,000, and cities with populations up to 100,000.

After a city's population passes this mark, Greer said, it will be shown as a stippled outline of the city limits. Thirteen insets of the largest towns showing highway routes through these towns are continued in the margins of the map again this year.

For the past two years the Department has been attempting to develop a relief base for the travel map that would succeed in showing the contours of the land to better advantage without adding to the expense of the printing, Greer said. This year a method has finally been developed to show a true relief which can be reproduced in brown, conforming to all standard cartographic relief practices.

Also to improve the legibility of the map and to allow for the showing of more detail, the width of the highway bands has been reduced in size on the 1954 map. This is a particular advantage for cities where several highways converge, Greer pointed out.

He went on to say that Texas is so large that any attempt to map it at a scale that will accommodate all information of interest to tourists would not be practical. The size of road maps has been fairly well standardized all over the United States, and any attempt to squeeze Texas onto the same size sheet of paper required by the average state must necessarily prohibit the use of much interesting information.

All items that render service to the traveling public are clearly designated including roadside parks, historical points of interest, state and national parks, and tourist information bureaus. A mileage index, which shows the distance between principal cities in Texas, is also compiled for the users assistance.

The department usually receives about one-half million requests in each year for a copy of the travel map. Copies may be obtained free of charge from any of the district highway offices in the state, the travel information bureaus, or by writing direct to the Texas Highway Department, Austin 14, Texas.

Boy With a Penny And a Million-Dollar Idea

COLLEGE STATION—The bygone lad who pondered with a penny at the candy counter was a wise boy. He wanted to make sure that he was getting the most for his money.

Today his penny isn't much good, but his idea is!

Everyone can make sure that the goods, services, and satisfactions they receive for their money have real meaning and value. They can do this by setting up long-time and short-time goals for the family which will help indicate which purchases are worthwhile.

When the lad with the penny finally decided what to buy, he paid his money and that was the end. What if he had been able to charge it?

Families today have a choice between charging and paying cash. Which is best?

Cash is usually cheaper and there are no bills later, says Mrs. Eulia J. Newman, home management specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Credit is convenient, allows in-

Flora Lee Anderson was born near Hollis, Oklahoma, on June 12, 1922 the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Williams. The family came to this part of the country in 1930, and she grew up in the West Camp community.

She was graduated from Farwell High School in 1939, and later attended Texas Tech College. She entered civil service work in 1943, but soon accepted a position as receptionist for the Democratic National Executive Committee in Washington, a post which she held during 1943-44.

On June 9, 1945, she and G. D. Anderson Jr. were married in San Antonio. To the couple were born two children, Gabe David III, in 1947; and John Hilliard in 1949.

Mrs. Anderson was appointed district committee woman for the 30th Senatorial District, and last year actively participated in organizing the Young Democrats in Parmer County. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson had lived in Bovina for six years.

Happenings at Friona

LAURIE COOPER AND MRS. OSCAR BAXTER

New Gin Being Built Southwest of Friona

Due to the substantial increase in interest in cotton production in the Friona territory, facilities for handling this commodity have naturally been forced to expand. Most recent development in the expansion is the new gin now under construction two miles southwest of Friona on Highway 60. Construction began last Friday and John W. Davis, builder and manager, says that it will be ready for use by the beginning of the season.

To be known as the L&H Gin Company, it will be a modern 5-stand, 80-saw operation in an all-steel building and will be powered electrically. Floyd Lindsey and Glen Huls, Lubbock are the owners.

July 18, Set for Ex-Students Meeting

Mrs. Ray Landrum, president of the Friona Ex-Students Association, announces a call meeting of the officers and members for July 18 at 3 p. m. in the Friona City Park.

The purpose of the meeting is to begin plans for the second annual get-together at Christmas. Some 190 persons attended the first affair, a banquet, last year and it is hoped that more interest will be shown this year.

Any graduate, ex-student or former teacher is urged to attend the planning session and contribute any idea or suggestions.

Those who live out of town may send their suggestions to any of the officers.

Officers are Mrs. Landrum, president; Carl Schlenker, vice-president; Mrs. Sam Williams, secretary; and John Blackburn, treasurer. All live in Friona.

Announcements of future meetings and plans will be made in The Tribune.

City Adopts New Utility Codes

Becoming effective July 1 were the provisions of the National Electric Code and the National Plumbing Code, announces City Manager Roy Wilson. The board of city commissioners voted to adopt these codes last March.

Strict enforcement of the codes will mean a saving on utility bills for the individual, and will reduce fire hazards, explains Wilson, but they will apply only to new constructions, and rewiring or replumbing of old structures.

Two city electricians, L. A. Parsons and Nick Dudley, have been issued licenses under the new code.

Dan Ethridge, Friona insurance agent, estimates that the newly adopted codes can, if properly enforced, reduce the city's key rate from 1 to 4 per cent. Further explanation is to be available at a later date.

Gordon Wright Earns State FFA Degree

Gordon Wright, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wright, Friona, has qualified for the degree of Lone Star Farmer conferred by the Future Farmers of America. He will receive his award at the state convention of the FFA in San Antonio July 21, 22, and 23.

To be eligible for the degree a boy must have made a minimum of $500 on his vocational agriculture farming program, have had three years of vocational agriculture and show outstanding leadership. Each boy's record books are sent to the state committee for scoring.

Two degrees, Greenhand and Chapter Farmer, are conferred by the local chapter. The Lone Star Farmer degree is topped only by the American Farmer degree, which is conferred on a national level.

Wright is a transfer student from Shallowater, and completed a major part of his projects there. His first year projects were five acres of cotton, one dairy heifer, and 80 capons and broilers. The next year he had three beef calves, five acres of cotton, three acres of milo, one dairy heifer and 150 chickens. Third year projects were 30 acres of crops, a beef calf (which placed in the Hereford Fat Stock Show in March), four hogs and chickens.

Other FFA activities include serving as secretary of the Shallowater chapter for two years and treasurer one year. He was on the Dairy and Livestock Judging teams at Shallowater. An honor student, he was also a class officer for two years.

City to Be Sprayed Soon

Arrangements have been made to have the whole city of Friona sprayed in the future. Equipment is presently in use spraying crops and when that is completed and weather conditions are right the spraying will be done.

"We are very pleased with the results of spraying the garbage cans," beamed City Manager Roy Wilson. A spraying apparatus has been provided for the garbage collection crew and once a month they spray the cans, inside and out, and the places where they sit.

Scouts Will Paint New Street Signs

Painting of the new street signs is to be done by the Boy Scouts announces City Manager Roy Wilson. The signs will be white with black letters. Some 80 of the planned 140 are already set up. When the project is completed there will be posts at each intersection and two at Main and Eleventh streets.

The posts are financed by the Progressive Study Club and work is donated by the city workers, the Lions Club and Boy Scouts.

in & around FRIONA

Well, the Fourth of July has come and gone. And seems like everyone either went somewhere or had company. Jim Richey went fishing at Buffalo Lake, but would make no comment about his catch. Didn't you even catch a big one that got away, Jim?

A spider (or some such critter) bit Casey Dunn in an attempt to put him out of commission for a few days. And he almost succeeded. Casey was in the hospital Monday but was back on the job Tuesday.

Congratulations are in order for Gordon Wright who is to receive his Lone Star Farmer degree this month. So far as we can learn, he is the only county boy to earn this state FFA award this year.

J. A. Blackwell, a real old timer, was here on business and visiting friends over the weekend. Blackwell was in the hardware business here for 20 years and before that lived at Texico where both he and his wife taught school. He left in 1944 and now lives in Corpus Christi.

Mrs. Mary Mayfield is visiting her sister, Mrs. F. E. Wilder in Albuquerque. She's been gone for some time and all the fellows at Friona Consumers are ready for her to come home. They're getting tired of hearing Howard weeping and wailing.

Mrs. Sam Williams followed us all over town by phone Tuesday trying to catch us to give us the story about the meeting of the Ex-students Association. That was something we didn't have even an inkling of, and we're sure there must be dozens of similar stories

Sheehan Attends State Convention

Bill Sheehan, attorney at law, returned last weekend from the State Bar Convention in San Antonio. Beginning June 30, the meeting lasted until July 3. Gunter Hotel was the site of the sessions and speakers included Governor Allan Shivers and Attorney General John Ben Shepperd. The rest of the Sheehan family visited Mrs. Sheehan's mother in Dallas during the convention.

Don Lewis in Charge Of Friona Park

Friona Park was opened Saturday afternoon by the new manager, Don Lewis. Some 250 persons from Hereford and other places enjoyed the rides and watermelon feast. The park is open every evening except Sunday afternoon and Wednesday.

Most popular with the children so far are the airplane and kiddy car rides. Miniature golf is the favorite of the older participants. Other facilities available are ping pong, croquet, horseshoes, and volleyball.

Lewis asks anyone who uses the park on Sunday afternoon to cooperate by picking up their picnic refuse, and leaving the park as clean as they found it. Cooperation of the public is also asked in caring for the equipment.

Kiddies Enjoy Park Rides

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

We are more firmly convinced every day that the penalty for driving while intoxicated should be more stringently applied than that for carrying a concealed weapon without a license.

Wheat straw has been baled and placed in the barn for the Fall Fair and the Spring Stock Show. We express our appreciation to the following who made this possible: Giles Cobb, who contributed the straw; Bud Elmore, who baled it at a very reasonable rate; Bruce Parr, who furnished a truck; Raymond Schueler, who furnished a truck and supervised the following volunteer crew members; Robert Schueler, Richard Kinickie and Les Bruns. This is an annual task. Maybe you would like to place to assist next year.

Bailey County Farm Bureau is, we believe, due commendation for the Good Neighbor Cotton Seed Program they promoted for the benefit of dry land farmers who are hard hit by drought conditions. We understand they provided, through individual contributions, over 1300 bushels of cotton seed. The seed was made available to applicants free of charge.

R. W. Shelton and Olan W. Turner are the two newest Farmer County Farm Bureau members.

May we suggest that you vote in the July Primaries? May we also suggest that you consider the moral and religious qualifications of candidates? We are not referring to denominational ties, but rather to the characteristics that determine the future action he or she may take concerning vital moral and national issues that confront them. We take pride in calling ours a Christian Nation, so let's elect Christian Statesmen to guide us in that direction; and be sure we're in a position to follow such leaders.
