

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Give this Campaign More Than a Passing Thought

Without a doubt, this has been one of the most slam-bang gubernatorial campaigns in Texas history. Subscribers of newspapers, and owners of radio and TV sets have been royally entertained and often misinformed.

Under all of this noise-making, under the veneer of personal smears coming from the campaign camps of both sides, lies the real issue that will be settled Saturday. And the shame of it is that many voters will never see beyond the smoke of battle, into the very serious issues that are at stake.

Let us dwell no longer upon these shouts of accusations, which, if held up before the light of facts, disappear one by one. Shivers made nothing through "swindle," in the lower Rio Grande Valley, Yarborough did not rob the El Paso school district when its legal representative, Shivers did not order Captain Allee and the Texas Rangers from Duval, Yarborough's campaign manager is not the former manager for Henry Wallace . . . we could go on and on, but it is senseless.

Instead, let us decide just how it is that we want our state to be run in the next two years, and toward what philosophy of government we want the administration of our state to lean.

Neither of the men in this campaign is a villain; but they do happen to have different ideas on what a state government should be. Allan Shivers is more conservative. He does not believe in deficit spending (in Texas this is unconstitutional) or of obligating the state for more than it can reasonably be expected to pay for.

He knows that real progress in anything is not done overnight, or all at once, but real progress is always the outgrowth of a stable, constant pushing forward toward objectives. Rome was not built in a day, and Texas will not be remade in one, either.

Most important, he believes that individual states should have control over their own social and economic problems, and that federal control over states should be kept at a minimum, thus avoiding greater centralization of government.

Allan Shivers thinks that free enterprise and personal initiative should be permitted to work as nearly without control as possible, and that personal business endeavor is entitled to its reward. He has struggled against intervention from without—from the federal agencies who would regulate this or that part of our state's economy.

He does not think that Texans want more from the state if it means more taxes, especially in the form of a state income tax or general sales tax. He knows that there is ample wealth to be tapped in the fabulous state of Texas for all that a state government should ever be expected to provide. And he is working toward a more just means of sharing the burden for this purpose.

To us, the choice is a clear one. To others, who have been numbed by the exciting campaign, it may not be. We think that Allan Shivers will make the best governor because he is best qualified. We think Allan Shivers will carry the run-off by 100,000-plus votes, perhaps more if it is possible to get the voters out in large numbers.

We don't see how another two years of the kind of steady progress that Texas has enjoyed during the past five could possibly hurt this state or its people. Allan Shivers will again receive our vote.

Guess Who Got Stuck For Evading Taxes

We like to see the black hearted people who will cheat their friends and countrymen, get stuck—good. We especially enjoyed a court sentence handed out by Federal Judge Walter Bruchhausen last week. He was speaking to Joseph Nunan Jr., former commissioner of internal revenue.

"The law-abiding citizens of this country who are carrying their share of the taxes, gain no comfort from the dishonesty of the defendant," said the judge.

Nunan was then sentenced to five years in prison and given a $15,000 fine for chiseling on his personal income tax returns—$91,081 worth.

The judge is right. We common taxpayers reach the boiling point when we discover that some of the guys who come around at odd moments to check our income tax returns are themselves gypping the government out of its just share.

There is no surer way to encourage distrust in America than to allow men like Joe Nunan to hold high public offices.

Ralph Yarborough has charged that "The Republicans have bought the daily press." If he has any buyers for good weeklies, we wish he'd send 'em down here. We might strike a bargain.

FFA Boys Return From Annual Trip

Eleven FFA boys from the Farwell school returned last Monday night from their annual FFA camping trip. They went to Lake Brownwood on Thursday, August 12, and stayed for three days.

They camped out, cooked all their meals in the open, fished and swam. On the way back they stopped at Lubbock for more swimming and spent some time in the amusement park.

They were accompanied by Robert "Prof" Morton and Clarence Christian.

AUSTIN—Saturday will tell the tale. That thought is undoubtedly uppermost in the mind of gubernatorial candidates Allan Shivers and Ralph Yarborough . . . and thousands of Texas voters who have followed the fiery campaign from infancy to its high-tempo climax.

As August 28 approached, Governor Shivers and Judge Yarborough stepped up their respective campaigns. Both made special appeals to the thousands of potential balloters who shunned the polls in the first primary.

In rallies and radio broadcasts over the state, the governor told listeners that good, sound state government was the only medium through which Texas could continue its prosperity.

"This is no time to start experimenting. This is no time to throw the state government into complete turmoil," Shivers said as he pictured Texas' present financial and economic picture as bright. Shivers said that the state is now free of depression, that industry and employment are "booming."

"Most families are now better set financially with money in the bank, and the state government has a balance of $27 million with which to work improvements," the governor explained.

He underlined the evils of government leaders trying to buy public support with public money as "leading down the road of waste, extravagance, and corruption."

Shivers also lashed out at the claim that he had broken a political pledge given at the 1952 Democratic Convention.

"My opponent has charged that I pledged to support whomever was nominated at the 1952 Democratic Convention," he said.

Shivers read from the convention record that the only pledge he made was to put the Democratic national nominees' names on the Texas ballot. That was done, he said.

In a skirmish over the labor-union vote, the Governor accused Yarborough of being "ashamed" that every strong CIO box went for the Austin attorney in the first primary.

Shivers, who has claimed that outside labor organizations are supporting Yarborough, said that Yarborough had now turned his back on his supporters by claiming that the union boxes had gone for Shivers.

Shivers also reported that 59 members of the State House of Representatives had announced their support of him for governor.

Takes Dim View

While Shivers' picture of the present administration was a bright one, Yarborough's was the opposite.

In a theme developed in the early days of the governor's campaign and followed steadily, he lashed Shivers and the state administration with curt and critical accusations.

Yarborough pitched in a new charge as he drove and flew over the state.

Big billboards over Texas urg-

GOV. SHIVERS SENDS CONGRATULATIONS TO DISTRICT

Board of Supervisors
Parmer County Soil Conservation District
Farwell, Texas

Gentlemen:

I wish to join with the people of Parmer County in recognizing the many fine accomplishments of the Parmer County Soil Conservation District. A systematic program of soil conservation has been in progress in Texas since 1949, and the work done in your district in that period is, indeed, outstanding and makes appropriate the observance throughout the County of "Parmer County Soil Conservation District Week," which is being observed August 27 through September 3, 1954.

My congratulations and best wishes to the members of the Board of Supervisors and to all who have cooperated with you in the improvement of the soil of Parmer County.

Sincerely Yours,
ALLAN SHIVERS

ing motorists to drive safely were paid for by an oil company, Yarborough stated, a direct violation because Shivers' name was on the billboards.

He said it was a violation for a corporation to contribute to a political campaign.

In stump speeches Yarborough also had nothing but criticism for state government.

He re-warmed charges, developed earlier in the race, that a long tenure in office had caused corruption in the capital and that Shivers was conducting an "untruthful" campaign.

Yarborough reiterated accusations that state printing contracts were let illegally.

At Gonzales he asked 150 courthouse square listeners to make sacrifices in time and effort to "preserve their freedom and liberty" by voting for him.

He also declared the need for a drouth-relief program and promised if elected to draw up a comprehensive drouth-relief plan."

Could Pose Problem

The possible problem of having a state governor belonging to one political fraction and a Texas democratic organization of another strain is causing loss of sleep for some party leaders.

The problem is this: Shivers, as a conservative democrat, presently heads the state's party organization which also is conservative democrat.

In addition, his followers took control of the party convention to be held September 14.

If Yarborough, as a liberal-loyalist, wins the August 28th run-off, the situation for the next two years could see the head of the state Democratic Party at odds with his party's official organization.

PRESERVE YOUR SOIL

In these days of high production, high yield and good prices, it is fairly easy for a good farmer to hold title to his land. But contrast this era with that of a generation ago, when it was extremely difficult to hold the soil itself, let alone hold title to it.

Actually, this is the hub of the Soil Conservation District program to make it possible to keep title to our lands by keeping the land itself intact and productive. Wind or water eroded land grows increasingly less valuable.

Our land, plus our energies, are at stake in the future. By following the advice of the supervisors of our Soil Conservation District and the Soil Conservation Service Technicians working with them, we can hold on to our soil and make it more productive.

HOLD YOUR SOIL! IT'S YOUR MOST VALUABLE NATURAL RESOURCE.

The Good Earth

— OUR RICHEST HERITAGE! —

America has been more richly endowed with the natural blessing of fertile land than any other nation on earth. It is from this productive soil that has sprung the greatest social and economic progress in the history of the world.

Farmers, as tillers of this vital resource, are charged with maintaining, or even improving the life-giving productivity of the soil. It is a responsibility vital to the very existence of this nation.

Sherley Grain Company hails the work of the Parmer County Soil Conservation District, which is bringing us ever nearer the goals of soil culture.

SOIL CONSERVATION

IN ACTION!

Here is an excellent illustration that shows the benefits which accrue to those farmers who practice good soil conservation methods.

WARNING!
TEXAS FARMERS-RANCHERS WARNED OF CIO LABOR PLANS

AUSTIN, Tex., Farmers and ranchers of Texas were warned this week that the CIO plans to organize the farm workers of Texas if its candidate wins the Governor's race.

This warning came from Governor Allan Shivers who charged that the backers of his opponents "want to turn the state government over to the same bunch that is trying to wreck Port Arthur."

"One of the first things they would do is put one of their red-hot organizers from Port Arthur in as labor commissioner. Then every time a farmer or rancher wanted to hire someone he would have to go through the CIO."

Governor Shivers said there was no doubt in his mind that the aim of the CIO after the job of organizing industry in Port Arthur and along the Gulf Coast is finished is to begin organizing farm labor in all parts of Texas.

"You can imagine what will happen when the CIO starts dictating how many laborers are needed to plow ten acres of land, refusing to allow a man to work more than thirty-five hours a week during the harvesting season and telling how much a farmer can charge for his crop," he said.

The Shivers administration, the Governor said, has worked hard to help preserve and protect the rights of the working man.

"But as long as I am Governor, the professional labor bosses who have been sent to Texas from the East—specifically those in the CIO and its Political Action Committee—are not going to run our State Government," Shivers promised.

Shivers said the average working man in Texas appreciated good government and that they were not going to let CIO bosses and professional organizers from the East do their thinking—and voting—for them.
