Of interest to old timers would be a scale ticket brought by the office last week by R. S. Smalts, farmer who moved to town last year after building a new home in Farwell.

The ticket, issued by the Wisdom Wagon Yard, is dated Jan. 14, 1907, and the Farwell man says he can well remember hauling in the load of ear corn for which the ticket was issued.

In those days, the Smaltses lived on a farm three miles southeast of Elk City, Okla., and R. S. was 15 years old at the time he hauled the load of corn to town with a wagon and team.

At 26 cents a bushel, the load brought $6.76!

Thanks to the cooperation of several of our readers, we are now straightened out on the whereabouts of the little community of Walcott we were wondering about last week.

Mrs. V. L. Martin was first to call, and Friday afternoon she explained that Walcott is several miles north of the Harrison Highway in western Deaf Smith County, and that for about five years, that community was the one in which the Martins lived.

A grade school is still active there, and Jack Williams phoned up to say that their being in our interscholastic league is sort of like Vega and Adrian being in our basketball conference; county lines aren't too important.

Thanks also to others who have helped solve our mystery. We are now the proud winners of our first family argument.

With some amusement, we have read through two extensive reports prepared by two supposedly dependable and well-known institutions, on what the general weather outlook is going to be for 1955.

As these reports, or condensations of them, have appeared in several daily newspapers, it is guite possible that you may have run onto the same thing.

when it comes to long-range forecasting, you, or this writer or your neighbor next door can probably conjure up just as good a forecast as the highest paid meteorologist in the business.

Our personal endorsement goes to our old friend Willie Williams, who this week went so far as to put in to print his own prognostications. We notice that on the bottom of a bit of advertising we turned out for him this week was what he called his "long-range weather report" and it read:

One of the most noticeable quirks we have observed of late has been the appearance of most of the cars around town early in the morning, when it's still pretty cold and a lot of frost has covered things up.

Just this morning we saw a fellow who only last week was remarking that the new swept-back "horizon-like" windshields in the 1955 cars were certainly a step toward more safety in driving.

This we will admit, but it was funny just the same to watch him roaring down the street this morning with a place about four inches square scraped off the center of his windshield. He had just as well have had blinders on.

ALL-TOURNAMENT NOMINEES

The above players were singled out for all-tournament honors Saturday night as the Farwell invitational meet drew to a close. In the top picture (standing), are Lynne Hardin, Vega; Glenna Ruth Davis and Linda Kube, Farwell; (kneeling), Clara Jesko and Nealy Steinbock, Lazbuddie. Donna Atkinson of Amherst also made the team, but was not present for the picture. For the boys, it was Norman Killough, Bovina; Don Geries and Joe Roberts, Farwell; and Darrell Read, Bovina. Phil Price of Vega was not present.

WITH SAME NAMES

Things are getting to be sort of complicated for the Lee Thompson family, who find that as time wears on, more and more confusing name combinations are popping up.

For instance, Loren, one of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson's sons, this week has said that next month he will marry Mary Anne Thompson (no relation).

The Thompsons could stand this, but Charlie, another son, is married to Allene Faye Thompson (again, no relation). To top things off, the Lee Thompsons have a daughter named Allene and a daughter named Faye. When the family gets together for a friendly visit, mixups are inevitable, especially for outsiders who wonder just who is who. As additional grandchildren

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Keep Your Eye on Austin During the Coming Year

When the words "big government" are mentioned, most of us immediately think of Washington, and not without good reason. However, as the years pass, our state governments are getting bigger and more powerful, too.

That's why it will be a good idea for businessmen, farmers, and individuals to read newspapers and keep up with what's going on in Austin (or Santa Fe) for the year which we have just begun.

The Texas legislature, which meets only on alternate years, is prepared to grapple with some of the biggest problems with which it has ever come to face.

Chief among them will be the subject of water, as there is no one in the state who has not f It and seen the need for better policies to cope with what is popularly termed "Texas' number one

What the lawmakers in Austin do about water, and what they may decide to do about such matters as state takes, road building, welfare, and many other things will vitally affect all of us.

before that we keep abreast of the events taking place at the state capitol. It wouldn't even hurt to drop your representative or senator a line or two to let him know how you feel on certain issues,

Here's Your Chance To Be a Winner

Everybody likes to be on the winning side. For that reason, if for no other, we should all pitch in and do our part to make the 1955 MOD drive the success that it must be.

At last, there is hope that the end of the war against polio is in sight, and as always, man is proving himself champion of another of life's most torturous diseases.

This drive is hoped to be the last big offensive before victory is assured, as there is great hope held for the Salk polio vaccine which now is in testing stages.

Leaders of the great organization called the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are calling on everything America can muster to help shorten the reign of the killer-crippler, poliomyelitis. One may well wonder why-now that victory is believed to be near-even greater efforts are being called upon from American contributors.

Basically, this is an all-out offensive in which no expense has been spared. The Foundation has spent $9,000,000 (which it doesn't have now, and won't have until after the drive) to buy enough of the new vaccine to inject every boy and girl in the first and second grades in the United States this spring. Over 9,000,000 "shots" will be made. Imagine what an undertaking.

POPPIN OFF... WITH POP

It's easier to do a good job than explain why you didn't.

A man was notified by his psychiatrist, "If you don't pay your bill, I'm going to let you go crazy.'

Her husband being slightly indisposed, a young and inexperienced wife attempted to take his temperature. In a state of great excitement, she called the doctor: "Dector, please come at once. My husband's temperature is 136 degrees!" she explained.

The doctor replied: "Madam, the case is beyond my skill. Call the fire department."

WHAT BETTER TIME THAN NOW

WE ARE STARTING OUR

Year of SERVICE

To The Clovis Trade Territory

Yes, Starting this year, we will begin our 50th year of service to the wonderful people in and around Clovis. Mr. Charles V. Steed founded the Home in Clovis in 1905.

We feel that it is especially appropriate that this happy announcement is made at the beginning of the year, because all of us are eagerly looking forward to the promise of what tomorrow may bring.

For us, we are sure that it will bring even more pleasant associations with what we have come to believe are the finest people in the world—the people with whom we are able to help when they need someone the most.

The perpetuating element of this funeral home has been built around the word "service," and we pledge a continuance of this policy in the years that lie ahead.

Social Events of Interest

Newly-Weds Are Living In Clovis

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Walls are making their home at 517 Connelly in Clovis, N. M., following their marriage here January 2.

Mrs. Walls is the former Rose Hines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hines. Wall's parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Walls.

Rev. E. J. Keith, pastor of First Baptist Church, Farwell, officiated at the double-ring ceremony, in the local church, before an archway entwined with woodardia fern; and side basket bouquets of white mums and stock. Flanking the central arrangement were pyramid candelabra with white tapers, with the wrought iron bases entwined with fern. A white satin kneeling bench was in the foreground and was also entwined with mums and fern. Behind the arch was an accenting arrangement of woodardia

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Shelby Jobes played pre-nuptial selections, then accompanied Miss Catherine Bell, who sang "Because." At the close of the ceremony, Miss Bell and Rex Pool sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Donald Joe Pipkin, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Ted Magness and Mrs. Joe White.

The attendants wore aqua streetlength dresses of antique taffeta, fashioned with shirred insets which extended into fitted bodices, and straight skirts. White nylon fleece short jackets with three-quarter length sleeves, and white velvet handbands studded with rhinestones, completed their ensembles.

Mrs. Pipkin carried a colonial bouquet of white mums centered vith white carnations, and tied with aqua ribbon, and Mrs. Magness and Mrs. White, carried colon-

Food Sense - Not Nonsense

Scoring For You - The Vitamin, Pyridoxine

It's teamwork that scores, whether it's the ice hockey team or that invisible team—the food you eat and your body. This changing of food into energy is an organized activity, in the midst of which are the B vitamins, each doing a specific job. One of the least spectacular of the vitamins, but nevertheless playing an essential position, is the B vitamin Pyridoxine, discovered in 1938, has received little publicity as compared with other members of the vitamin B complex family. This is, perhaps, because there is no apparent lack of pyridoxine players on the food team as the vitamin is widely distributed. Good sources are fish, meats, seeds including grains and yeast. This B vitamin is not destroyed by heat. Therefore, food products produced from grains, such as enriched bread and cereals are good sources of pyridoxine. Only small quantities of the vitamin are found in milk and vegetables.

In the early studies on the B vitamins, this one was designated as vitamin B₆. From the beginning, it was recognized as necessary for growth. Research is now focused on the place of pyridoxine in changing proteins into energy and its role in other processes involving proteins. There is some evidence that pyridoxine works with certain fats to prevent a specific kind of skin ailment.

In recent years, studies suggest that pyridoxine is required by humans as shown by its effect on blood levels and other body processes. Only in a few instances have naturally occurring deficiencies of this vitamin been observed in humans, probably because of its abundance in food.

The therapeutic usefulness of pyridoxine now is attracting the attention of scientists. Under observation is the possible beneficial effect of pyridoxine in early pregnancy. Much work remains to be done on this problem and other possible uses for this vitamin.

Wises Celebrate 60th Wedding Date

Open house was held Sunday afternoon for Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wise, parents of Mrs. Dan Ethridge, in the Ethridge home, in honor of the Wises' 60th wedding anniversary. Minda Ella Webb married John Harmon Wise, December 30, 1894, in Oklahoma. The marriage was solemized by Rev. J. J. Ward in the home of Minda's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Wise moved to McCullough County in 1896, and lived on a farm two years, then they journeyed, by covered wagon to Castro County, and settled 15 miles southeast of Dimmitt. On the latter move, they were delayed by snow for three days. Before moving to Friona in 1953, they had a stock farm in Castro County, lived in Arkansas, Dawson County, and Lovington, N. M. The Wises operated a hotel in Lubbock for 21 years just prior to moving to Parmer County.

The Wises are active members of the Baptist Church and attribute their long happy married life to taking Christ into their lives and the fact that they both came from Christian homes.

Mr. Wise spent his anniversary day laying flooring in a house under construction and thinks that hard work and the fortune of good health has also helped them to be happy throughout their married

Many friends gathered at the Ethridge home to honor them and saw some lovely decorations. Decorations were a centerpiece on the serving table, of white rose buds, sprinkled with silver, and on the registration table were white stocks and tulips arranged in an heirloom butter dish which was a wedding present of the bride and groom. On the coffee table in the living room was a wedding picture of the Wises and beside it hung a picture taken of the couple recently. Mrs. Milton Dickson of Loving-
