

Wheat at Half-Million Mark

Due to adverse weather conditions, the one million bushels of wheat hoped for by grain men at the beginning of the season will likely fail to materialize. As of Monday nine Texico-Farwell and Parmer county elevators had handled a total somewhere in the neighborhood of 416,700 bushels. Estimates of the per cent of the harvest that had been completed ranged from 50 to 90.

Much more wheat has gone into storage than has been sold. Only two elevator operators, Herbert Potts, manager of Worley Mills and M. C. Roberts of Roberts Seed Company reported any substantial amount sold.

All report good quality wheat, both dry land and irrigated, with satisfactory moisture content. At the beginning, moisture ran a little high, but came down nicely as the harvest progressed.

Preach Cranfill at the Santa Fe Grain Company in Friona estimated 40 per cent damages over the area and said that the yield was much lower than he had expected. He added, however, that in view of the widespread hail and freeze damages, the yield has been very good.

Highest yield disclosed by the survey made Monday was 39 bushels from the field of Helen Fangman, Black, reported by J. R. Braxton, manager of the Tri-County Grain Company. He admitted that the crop was much better than he had expected after so much hail damage.

Dalton Caffey was allotted 30% damages on his field six miles east of Bovina and went on to harvest 35 bushels per acre.

D. C. McWhorter at Black

Grain Company told of a yield of 23 bushels per acre after 60 per cent damages. It was from a field on the Vernon Christian farm about two miles west of Black.

Another hail-damaged field, that of A. L. Reznik, six miles north-east of Friona, yielded around 35 bushels. The extent of the damages was not learned.

Frank Seale who farms about five miles east of Farwell on the Amarillo highway harvested about 35 bushels per acre also, according to Potts.

J. P. Macon of Macon Elevator, Bovina, says that 35 is about the top yield turned in there, too. It came from the Amos Steelman field about 5 miles east of Bovina. Archie McCutchan, two and a half

Ballots Readied As Primary Looms In Three Weeks

Drawings for places on the Parmer County ballot for the Democratic Primary election July 24 were completed last week, and the ballot has been placed in the hands of the printer in preparation for the election.

Applications for absentee ballots will be accepted beginning July 4, and the deadline for absentee voting is July 20. Officials this week were of the opinion the courthouse will be closed Monday, however, so this should be kept in mind by prospective absentee voters.

Absentee ballots for the primary may be obtained at the county clerk's office after that date.

Local politics is beginning to warm up now that the month of July has finally arrived, and the handshaking candidates are out "beating the bushes" in their precincts or the county in an effort to get elected.

Only one county office, that of county clerk, is being contested this year. Vieing for this post are Hugh Mosely of Friona and Graham Thornton of Bovina. They filed following the announcement of Loyde Brewer that he would not seek another term.

Two commissioners' precincts have contests, those being precinct No. 3 where J. H. McDonald is opposing incumbent Earl Billingsley; and in No. 4 Ben Foster and J. O. Cantrell are out for the post held by H. L. Ivy, who seeks re-election.

Aside from these local races, the election is expected to manifest only a moderate amount of interest. Probably the only other race that will cause much excitement will be for the governorship. Cyclone Davis, J. J. Holmes, and Ralph Yarborough are out to nip Allan Shivers' attempt for a third term in the bud, and Yarborough is engaged in a vigorous campaign.

Nickles Plans New Gin Here

With two new elevators now under construction, the agricultural business outlook for the Texico-Farwell area grew larger this week with the announcement that Guy Nickles, Lariat and Muleshoe ginners, will start erecting a new gin "within ten days."

Nickles, a long time ginners who lives in Muleshoe, has purchased 21 acres of land from Walter Hardage and Cary Joe Magness on the eastern edge of Farwell as a location for the equipment.

The ginners said he was going to install a gin "you'll all be proud of," and to be included in the setup will be 4-90 Continental saws, a Mitchell feeder and burr extractor, and Moss lint cleaner.

Facilities for composting will be made available, and there will be ample room on the location for both this operation and a large amount of trailer parking.

No manager has been selected for the gin as yet, Nickles indicating that he would "spend a good part of the time running it" himself.

The gin will be the newest and among the most modern in the area with "the best equipment money can buy," according to Nickles. He was optimistic about the cotton crop coming on in the area.

Final Rites For Mrs. G. W. Magness Conducted Tuesday

Cordelia E. Magness, wife of G. W. Magness, died here Sunday of a heart ailment. She attended church as usual and was preparing for a visit to the doctor when she became worse suddenly and died before the doctor arrived.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 with Eugene Sofford, minister of the Farwell Church of Christ, assisted by John G. Reese, officiating. Steed's Funeral Home of Clovis was in charge of arrangements, and interment was in the Oklahoma Lane cemetery.

Mrs. Magness was born in Waco on August 20, 1879. She and Mr. Magness were married in 1898 and lived in the Oklahoma Indian territory, and in Vernon, Texas, before coming to Parmer County in 1920. They farmed in the Oklahoma Lane community for some time and then moved to Farwell in 1934.

Both have been very active in church work and helped organize the Lariat Church of Christ.

Survivors are her husband, two sons, Chester of Clovis, and Morgan of Cortez, Colorado; three daughters, Mrs. Tom Foster and Mrs. Sterlyn Billington, Farwell, and Mrs. Eunice Ketter, Muleshoe; two sisters, Mrs. Lonnie Oliver, Waco and Miss Ann Collier, Kansas City, Mo.; and one brother, W. H. Collier, of Calif. There are 25 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren. One daughter and two sons have preceded her in death.

Mears Expands With Wash and Grease

Ray Mears Ice, Feed & Produce in Farwell is branching out with a remodeling program now underway. Recently Mears installed gas pumps on a concrete driveway in front of his station, and now he is installing a wash and grease room.

An excavation is being made in the southern part of the building where the feed grinder was formerly located. Mears says it may be some time before the improvements are completed, as most of the work is being done "in the family."

He also plans to lower the office space in the front of the building, install additional pumps, and modernize the roof.

Bovina Plans Big Community Party To Celebrate Independence Holiday

Remember that big shindig the Lions Club at Bovina sponsored last Fourth of July? Well, they're making preparation to pull another such affair this year on Monday, July 5, in observance of Independence Day.

Festivities will begin at the City Park around 5 p. m. and everyone is welcome, announces Ovid Lawlis, general chairman. Plenty of free lemonade will be on hand and each family is to bring its own food. Such organizations as the PTA, The Bovina Women's Study Club, and the Lions will have concessions with watermelon and other typical American refreshments.

Final details were to be worked out at a Lions breakfast this morning (Thursday), but here is a general outline of the activities planned.

Softball tops the list and Lion Harry Charles mentioned the possibility of a hardball game. Anyone with a terrapin may enter it in the terrapin race. (It is rumored that Lion Prexy Arlin Hartzog has several already in training).

For the ladies there are husband calling and rolling pin throwing contests.

Kiddies have begun practicing for the bubble blowing contest, and the sack and potato races. Hogs all over the country will probably prick up their ears when the men compete in the hog calling event.

And for young and old alike, the old fiddlers contest will furnish plenty of good music.

Spotted Rainfall Visits on Weekend

Spotted rains, most of them not amounting to much moisture, still played in and around the High Plains area over the weekend. One area, though, got some real rain. That was near the Pleasant Hill community north of the Twin Cities.

There, L. R. Talley, Mason Neeley, Sherman Horton and others reported rains of up to four inches. Serious washing occurred in some instances, and Running Water Draw was carrying a good flow near Bovina Monday morning after the rain.

In the Rhea area in northwestern Parmer County, some fairly good rains were reported. Melvin Sachs got two inches, and the farm of Johnnie Willams received an inch.

Elsewhere, only showers were reported. Locally the amount

KIDS FLOCK TO SWIMMIN' HOLE

This, said youth program directors Calvin Murray and Curtis Miller, is a "rather small crowd" of Texico-Farwell youngsters who are participating in the summer recreation program. The picture was made Friday morning at the Muleshoe swimming pool and includes around 50 participants. The number has run as high as 70 or over. Certain hours are reserved for the group and they have complete use of the pool's facilities for their recreation program.

SCD Tours Start Tuesday at Rhea

Community soil conservation tours are slated throughout the county next week, sponsored by the Soil Conservation District, cooperating with the county agent, and soil conservation service personnel.

Rhea, Lazbuddie and Bovina are the sites for the tour, and slides of farming practices over the county will begin the meetings in each place. Weed control will be the subject of County Agent Joe Jones at each of the sessions.

Actual practices on county farms will then be observed on actual tour to the farms. On display at each community will be the soil conservation equipment owned by the district for the use of the farmers.

Two DWI's Fined In County Court

Two men charged with driving while intoxicated were fined in county court during the past week; and one man was fined $25 and costs for assaulting a minor.

Benito Aragon of Tucumcari, was picked up by the Highway Patrol near Black Friday. He pled guilty to a DWI charge and was fined $100 and costs. He is sitting out his fine in the county jail.

Clarence Gish, Friona, was picked up in that city Sunday evening by Sheriff Lovelace. He also pled guilty to DWI, was fined $100 and costs, and also chose to sit his fine out.

Silas W. Lowery, farm laborer who works south of Farwell, pled guilty to a charge of assault on a minor last Sunday evening and fined $25 and costs.

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

We Play Games in Asia, Europe While Commies Are in Back Yard

Two weeks ago the United States was suddenly reawakened to its responsibility in its own hemisphere—The Americas. Since late in 1945 we have been spending nearly all of our time and money exasperating efforts to knit first Europe and now Asia into a united front against communist aggression.

Our efforts have resulted largely in frustration, endless talk, and unfriendliness. The threat of the USSR remains a large one, but we are finding out that it is difficult to wake other countries up to this danger. They are tired of war, and want to be left alone more than anything else.

Billions of dollars in American aid have gone to countries through bartering agreements or outright gifts. The European economy has been beefed up to the point where it is now producing the things we would like to sell the countries. This is a strange set of circumstances.

Thousands of American boys gave their lives in Korea to stem communist aggression. The war against the reds was largely paid for out of our pockets and homes. Few other countries participated with any zeal in this history-making conflict.

Against this backdrop of sacrifice and patience on our part with people who don't want (or seem not to want) to be helped fight communism, comes an incident in our own backyard. The tiny republic of Guatemala in Central America has erupted in civil strife, with anti-communists pitched against communists.

For a pleasant change, the anti-communists seem to be getting the upper hand this time, but there is not guarantee that the winning group will make a sincere attempt to establish a democracy if it is successful in overturning the government.

We, as outsiders, cannot settle the internal problem of these small American nations, but we should be aware of the threat that aggression under arms poses to our own safety. Few people realize that the war in Guatemala is only a scant 800 miles away from Florida! A similar distance could be realized if you imagined you were in the Panhandle and they were having a war in Brownsville. It isn't really very far away.

We must pay an increasing amount of attention to the problems of our neighbors in Central and South America. The continent of South America is just now beginning to awaken from a deep economic sleep. It is endowed with many riches in the way of natural resources. Its people are maturing socially. This new area should be knit into the fabric of a strong, friendly, and united America.

Does Governor Shivers Deserve a Third Term in Office?

Many Texans who will soon go to the polls are pondering the question of whether to again vote for incumbent Robert Allen Shivers to another term as governor of the state. Some of them have already made up their minds. Some of them probably will not decide for sure until election day.

Whatever will be the outcome of the gubernatorial election this summer, Gov. Shivers has already established himself as the all-time champion of Texas politics. He has played the game the way he wanted it played—and has won.

For a brief review of the Shivers era in Texas politics, he was elected to the Senate as its youngest member in 1934. He was lieutenant governor in 1946 when Gov. Beauford Jester died, and so his governorship was in fact an "inheritance."

He has twice then really earned the title, however, being voted in for two consecutive full terms in office. Not until the last moment did he announce to run again this year, and many people were surprised at his decision. He has already served Texas as governor longer than any other man.

This newspaper endorses and supports the candidacy of Gov. Allan Shivers because it believes the best interests of the state and nation will be served through his reelection.

Perhaps it should be "time for a change" as his opponent Ralph Yarborough, is so passionately shouting. But it is not time for a change in the wrong direction. Gov. Shivers has distinguished the State of Texas in a number of ways. If nothing else, he has brought the return of gentility to the state's highest office. We can still remember the W. Lee O'Daniel era when the governor of Texas was the laughing stock of the nation.

Instead of derisive remarks from other states, we now have earned the respect and admiration of them through the graciousness and fairness of our governor. He has been elected chairman of both the Southern Governor's Conference and the National Governors Conference. This is an indication of the respect with which other governors view him.

In 1952, he made his greatest strike for state's rights when he bolted the Democratic fold and materially assisted in the election of President Eisenhower. We were glad to get out from under the thumb of Harry's crowd of leftists, and we think other Texans were too. If Gov. Shivers had supported Adlai Stevenson, Texas would have lost its tideland battle and another fracture would have made in the pillar of freedom from an overcentralized government.

Gov. Shivers is a rich man. He never tries to deny the fact, and indeed there is no reason why he should. His opponent is now screaming foul play because the governor was intelligent enough to make some good money on a perfectly legitimate land transaction. We ask that God protect us from the day when it will be wrong for a man to get ahead in the world by executing successful business transactions.

Allen Shivers has a mind of his own. He is not a puppet subject to the whims of any party. He will not sell Texas to the left-wing "pings" if he is elected again. Moreover, his leadership and experience will continue to work for the good of his native state. He is a man and shoulders above his opposition from every vantage point.

Automotive engineers have long known that friction and corrosion are the two major causes of engine wear. Now, from the laboratories of Continental Oil, comes America's first Double-Duty motor oil. It combines two exclusive discoveries (Oil-Plating and Acid-Proofing)* to conquer both major causes of engine wear.

The unique Oil-Plating additive conquers friction wear by actually fastening a thin film of protective oil to engine parts. Unlike ordinary motor oil, this film won't drain down even when your engine has been stopped overnight. Thus you get full-time protection against damaging wear due to friction.

Exclusive Acid-Proofing additive conquers corrosive wear three ways—it neutralizes acids, prevents rust, and gobbles up tiny particles of dust, dirt, and water and seals them safely in spheres of oil until the oil is drained. ACID-PROOFING actually gives new Conoco Super twice the cleansing power of other premium oils!

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

Austin—This year's campaign for the governorship of Texas is boiling down to an old-fashioned political battle.

Governor Allan Shivers and his opponent Ralph Yarborough are touring the state and throwing punches.

Shivers calls Yarborough the "hand-picked candidate" of the CIO political action committee. Yarborough accuses Shivers of running an anti-labor campaign.

Yarborough asks for sportsmanship and fair play in campaigning. Shivers replies that he is happy to learn that Yarborough is going to quit telling "untruths and run a clean campaign for a change."

Yarborough criticizes Shivers for seeking a third term and pictures him as a Democrat-Republican.

Shivers also drew a jab from the Texas State Federation of Labor at its convention in Corpus Christi. The Federation urged his defeat for re-election and termed his record "obnoxious."

Shivers says his labor opposition is originating from the big party bosses and not the rank and file of workers.

The tempo will increase with the tempefature as July 24 approaches.

Meanwhile Shivers will be using newspaper ads and radio time to get his message to the public. Yarborough, on the other hand, will concentrate largely on radio and TV.

Political Pot

Other state political races, warming up now, saw these developments:

Dudley T. Dougherty, candidate for the U. S. Senate, pounded away at incumbent Lyndon B. Johnson's voting record, declaring Johnson "absolutely unfit to be nominated for Senator."

Dougherty listed nine counts to "indict Johnson before the bar of Texas public opinion."

Former Governor Coke Stevenson, who now is helping to mastermind Dougherty's campaign, reports that the response to his appeal to voters to help elect Dougherty "has been heavy."

Jabs At Vice

Doug Crouch of Fort Worth, candidate for Attorney General, charged that opponent John Ben Shepperd was going easy on friends and prosecuting his enemies.

Crouch also lashed out at what he called flourishing vice organizations in Galveston and guaranteed that he would start his clean-up campaign of the Island City in 24 hours if elected.

Insurance Tangle

Meanwhile Shepperd and Insurance Commission Chairman Garland Smith tangled over an issue involving the General American Casualty Company of San Antonio, latest insurance failure.

Smith held that the firm should include an unusual reason for its failure in the report to the commission—that an accusation by a political candidate had accelerated its bankruptcy.

Shepperd said he wasn't in favor of politics being injected into the issue.

General American directors, although not naming the source, had complained that many of their troubles arose when a candidate for governor had charged that a Texas Insurance firm was deeply in the red. This called unfavorable attention to their company and prevented the re-establishment of financial soundness, they said. A later check revealed that Yarborough had made a similar accusation on the date given by the company's directors.

Shivers Lauded

A committee set up to aid the State Board of Hospitals and Special Schools has commended Governor Allan Shivers for advances made in mental and tubercular care.

Headed by Dr. R. L. Sutherland of Austin, the group listed progress in the state mental and tubercular treatment program as including more patients being discharged from hospitals, reduced hospitalization time, a decline in the death rate of patients, and construction of new buildings.

Committee recommendations called for better salaries for doctors, a new research and training hospital, and organization of a research and training program.

SDX To Help Orphans

High-school age youngsters at the State Orphans Home in Corsicana will enter Corsicana public schools—for the first time—next September. The state provides these girls and boys with everything but spending money.

Members of the Austin Professional Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi became concerned about this unhappy situation and decided to do something about it.

"A little spending money, that's all they want," said Bill Gardner, chapter president. "Just enough to jingle in an otherwise empty pocket. Enough to buy a coke, or an ice cream cone, or a candy bar—just like the other boys and girls."

So SDX invited Robert Boyd, superintendent of the school, to come to Austin and talk to the chapter.

As a consequence the journalists have promised to raise enough cash to keep these 60 young orphan boys and girls in spending money until they finish high-school. And it will be a continuing program for the benefits of the new ones who enroll each year.

High Court Candidates

Two Texas lawyers have been named as possible candidates, either by appointment or election, for the position of the late Graham B. Smedley on the state Supreme Court.

Chief Justice Clyde E. Grissom of the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals and W. N. Stokes, formerly on the Amarillo Court of Civil Appeals, have been suggested.

Irrigation Growth Is Tremendous On High Plains

LUBBOCK—If the irrigation water pumped onto fields in the High Plains area of Texas last year had been diverted to the Brazos River it would have been enough to fill big Possum Kingdom reservoir six times.

That's proof aplenty that irrigation has become big business in that section of the state. And it's getting bigger all the time. Possum Kingdom holds 750,000 acre feet of water.

Since the first irrigation water well was put into operation about 1911 near Plainview the number has increased to almost 28,000 that now supply the "lifeline" to 3,627,105 acres on 15,868 farms in the 43 county area.

There was little development until the late thirties, and by 1940 there were just slightly more than 2000 wells in the entire area. Many of the early-day wells were in the "shallow water belt" in the Muleshoe, Plainview and Hereford section.

An average rainfall of 18 or 19 inches makes supplemental irrigation necessary in most years.

"As late as 1945 there were only 4500 wells. But a combination of high priced crops, limited production due to insufficient rainfall emphasized the value of irrigation, and the number of wells drilled increased in great proportion, says Robert V. Thurmond, Irrigation Specialist in the High Plains area for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Most of the 4,500,000 acre feet of water which irrigated fields in 1953 was used on 1,703,923 acres of cotton and 860,625 acres of grain sorghums. This year as irrigated cotton acreage was reduced to 1,306,000 acres farmers have almost doubled their plantings of irrigated grain sorghum—1,479,060 acres.

What has irrigation meant to yield of cotton on acre? Old-timers relate that over a period of several years the average yield on dry land is a quarter to a third. Now, with irrigation, the cotton yield is a little less than a bale an acre.

Irrigated acreage of most every other major crop has also increased this year over the 1953 acreage. Mr. Thurmond points out. Wheat irrigation increased from 239,500 acres in 1953 to 371,760 in 1954; alfalfa acreage is 106,913 this year

Depletion of Water From Income Tax Being Studied

Lubbock—The High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, with headquarters here, is studying the possibility of securing the approval of the Internal Revenue Service in allowing water users to deduct from their income tax the cost compared with 94,035 acres last year.

However, pasture irrigation acreage showed a decrease from 63,851 acres in 1953 to 55,600 acres. That is no doubt due to rainfall received earlier. There're also about 100 acres of sugar beets under irrigation this year, 14,520 acres of barley, 13,645 acres of corn, 7820 acres of castor beans and 18,512 acres of vegetables.

In the 43 county area Hockley, Hale and Lubbock counties top the list with an estimated 3200 wells each.

Power supplies show that butane is by far the most widely used for pumping water with almost 16,000 wells using it. Natural gas supplies fuel for over 6600 wells, electricity for about 4700 wells, gasoline for almost 1100; 460 are diesel powered.

value of underground water depleted through municipal, industrial and agricultural use.

District Manager Tom McFarland explains that there is no such allowance now, but that if possible such an allowance will be obtained.

He said that under the existing regulations, the only way a person can deduct the depletion from his income tax is that the said person sell the land and show a loss which concurrently was the direct result of underground water depletion. He exemplified this by saying that if a person pays $400 an acre for 200 acres of land and if he pumps water from the land for 25 years, thus exhausting his supply to the extent that the land is worth only $100 an acre because of the exhaustion, then the only way he is permitted a deduction for the loss he has sustained, is through the sale of the land.

"There are several problems encountered in securing a deduction permit," the manager said. First, it will be necessary to establish that the landowner has a cost in his underground water as distinguished from the cost of his soil. Secondly, it will be necessary to establish that the underground water is depleted through its use, and thirdly, the annual rate of depletion must be established.

"Obviously," he said, "in areas where pumping does not deplete the underground supply, the landowner would not be entitled to an allowance. However, in areas where it is being depleted by continuous use, such as the Hi-Plains, it appears that a deduction should be allowed the landowner as compensation for the asset consumed in the productive of income."

He further explained that a depletion deduction of this nature would be comparable to the present cost depletion allowance made on oil, gas, minerals and timber.

Also, it would be similar to the present allowance for depreciation on equipment used in a trade or business.

"The reason we think an allowance should be permitted," McFarland concluded, "is that many area natural resources are being depleted, whether people know about it or not."

DUFFY'S

"In the Village"

CLOVIS, N. M.

jattin's from jeanne

Our son is at that observant stage where he mimics everything he sees anyone else do, or the "smarter than you think he is" era.

He has now mastered that all-important art of drinking through a straw, and can consume twice as much "sody pop" as before. He delights in feeding himself, and spreading a thin layer of food in the area around his high chair with no extra effort, and when drinking from a cup, he exclaims "Ummmm" after each try, just to show how good it is.

Since we receive about 50 or 60 newspapers in a week, both the husband and yours truly are avid readers of newspapers. Sonny always sits in his favorite rocker with the magazine rack full of papers on one side, reads an issue, then places it on the other side of the rocker where we check it, then dispose of it.

We looked up one day last week to see Sonny perched in the rocking chair, taking a newspaper out of the rack, looking at it earnestly, then discarding it on the other side of the rocker, just like daddy. He repeated this several times, until he decided there were more worthwhile things to occupy his time.

There is one thing for sure, there is never a dull moment when there is a youngster in the house.

We have queried practically everyone who has been in the shop this week on the CROP drive, which is designed to gain donations of grain for starving people overseas.

We had the first indication of some effort in this county last week, when Raymond Euler was appointed chairman of the drive in Friona, and the Oklahoma Lane men also began some organization. But so far as we can find out, no organized county-wide drive has been planned.

It is a good program, but it takes overall support from the people in the county to be successful. If you don't believe it, ask Wilbur Charles. He utilized his time, effort and own car expense last year, to try to aid this drive, but without the cooperation of everyone, had a disappointing result. Sometimes we wonder if we have too few unselfish people who will donate time to projects of this sort.

It's something to think about.

Mrs. A. H. Haseloff sent us her favorite recipe this week. It really sounds delicious, and ice-box cookies are ever so handy.

ICE-BOX FILLED COOKIES

- 2 cups brown sugar
 - 1 cup melted butter
 - 4 cups flour
 - 1 tsp. vanilla
 - 2 tsp. soda
 - 3 eggs
 - 1 tsp. salt
 - 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
- Filling
- 1 lb. dates cut in half
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 1/2 cup water (or more)
 - 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Cook until dates are soft and thick. Cool. Roll out half of dough at a time. Spread filling on dough and roll up. Chill in ice-box (I freeze mine, as they slice better) slice, and bake in moderate oven. Remove from pan while warm.

Wheat Loans Rise As Harvest Moves

Gloria Dial Attends Girls' State, Austin

Attorney General John Ben Shepperd last week told 325 delegates to Girls' State that they were better qualified and more likely than any previous generation of women to fill government offices. Gloria Dial from Farwell was a delegate.

"Any girl who can squeeze the family car into the garage so that it takes a professional stunt driver with a corkscrew to get it out may well be able to maneuver a bill through the Legislature," he said.

The Attorney General spoke at the Governor's Inaugural Banquet of Bluebonnet Girls' State, where he outlined the problems of his office and condemned what he termed "the systematic robbery of public schools" in Duval County.

"How would you like to live in the richest school district in the state," he asked, "and go to school in a shoddy building, wear an outmoded and patched-up band uniform you were ashamed to be seen in, use worn-out athletic equipment and lack many common educational facilities, all because a few men were robbing the coffers of the school to support a political machine?"

"Stealing is bad enough," he declared, "but stealing from school children is heinous and unpardonable."

Shepperd stood up for the younger generation and said, "The only people who criticize it are those who can no longer claim membership in it."

"When I hear about teen-age dope addicts, I remember the thousands of middle-aged crooks and racketeers who commit most of the 300,000 crimes in Texas every year."

"We see a lot of headlines about juvenile delinquents, but we never read a line about the teen-agers in church, in the charity drive or at the Battle of Bloody Ridge."

The 325 delegates from all over the state met in Austin for a series of government workshops. Sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, Bluebonnet Girls' State is an annual program in which the delegates divide into "political parties," campaign for their candidates for local and state offices and a legislature, and then operate their own model government.

HAVE you watched the face of the sunflower as it follows the sun through the day? It seems ever so fearful that it will lose one single ray of the sun. It looks ever to God. And in repayment for that devotion the creative power of the sun blesses with abundant beauty and fertility. Straight and tall grows the stalk, strong and sturdy are the fibers which support the sunflower. Little wonder that one of the states delights to call itself "The Sunflower State." For it is a symbol of the rich harvests that fill the grainaries for bird and beast. The sunflower looks to God all day.

How rich and beautiful would our personalities become if we thus basked in the sunshine of God's grace and goodness! You and I can begin the day with our first glance toward the gracious Giver of the blessings which surround us. For the health and the vigor of body and mind. For the opportunity of living with those who love us. For the place of toil where we may lose ourselves in good service. For these and other blessings we ought to look toward the warmth and beauty of divine grace. Perhaps the ordinary job will take on radiant meaning and we shall enter into a fellowship of helpfulness with God if we would but turn our eyes upward. Would it not give every life a larger glory, if all the day long we are mindful of our kinship to deity? The day would come to wonderful climax as we walk in the cool of the evening, to report the good attempted in His Name. Let us ask God to walk with us to church. Let us keep our eyes fixed on Him just as the sunflower does.

Post Office Plans To Regionalize Here

Walter Rogers Says

Congressman Walter Rogers, of Pampa, today announced that, under the decentralization program of the Post Office Department, postmasters in the twenty-eight counties of his district will report directly to a district manager nearer their communities, rather than to Washington.

When the plan is effective postmasters in Armstrong, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Childress, Collingsworth, Cottle, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Donley, Gray, Hall, Hansford, Hartley, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Lipscomb, Motley, Moore, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Sherman, Swisher and Wheeler Counties will report to the district manager at Amarillo.

Plans call for six district managers in the two state regions of Louisiana and Texas, operating under a Regional Manager in Dallas. "This is intended to eliminate a major bottleneck in the Postal Service and to enable our own local personnel to solve problems at the local level," Rogers said. "The result sought is better service, greater economy, and quicker solutions to problems."

The Cincinnati and Chicago regional offices were opened November 24, 1953, and April 30, 1954, respectively. According to Postmaster General Summerfield, the success of these operations has prompted the decision to move ahead on the decentralization program. Additional regional offices will be established at Portland and Minneapolis as soon as possible. Subsequently, other regional offices will be established covering the remainder of the nation.

Rogers pointed out that, in decentralizing its operations, the Post Office Department will be adopting a procedure employed by many large business organizations in the country, as well as recommended by the Hoover Commission. He added that, under this plan, field personnel will be delegated authority equal to their responsibility.

More Cowboys Can Be Seen At Reunion Than Anywhere Else

Stamford—You can see more real cowboys in Stamford than in any other place on earth—if you are there, July 1, 2, 3 and 5 when the famous Texas Cowboy Reunion will be in progress.

The coming together of the old-timers is the feature usually thought of in connection with the celebration but the occasion is a reunion of younger cowboys, too.

In fact, there are more of the young cowboys than of the old-timers—and that's saying a lot, for there are from 400 to 500 old-timers on hand. But there will be two or three times that number of the present-day riders on the range. In fact, something like 500 of them will take part in the rodeo (which is strictly for genuine cowboys) and many more cowboys will be in the stands.

The younger cowpokes do not observe the formal features of a reunion such as the older ones do but there are many greetings by friends who haven't met since a year ago.

So—old-timers, young fellows and waddies whose age is in between, combine to give Stamford the biggest gathering of real cowboys in the world. There is a rodeo every night and also, on the final day, an afternoon performance.

Special Train To Go To Convention

WACO—A special train will carry Texas Farm Bureau members to the national convention in December in New York, TFB President J. Walter Hammond has announced.

The state farm organization has completed arrangements for the 11-day trip which will include sight-seeing tours in St. Louis; Williamsburg, Va.; Washington, D. C.; and New York City. The Farm Bureau Special will leave Dallas Dec. 7 and return Dec. 18.

While in New York the Texans will attend the 36th annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation. An estimated 175 members and their families are expected to attend from the Lone Star State.

The group will stop first at Williamsburg, birthplace of American history, for a comprehensive tour of the restored colonial settlement. A chartered bus will take them through Jamestown to Old Point Comfort, Va., where they will board a steamer for Baltimore.

In Washington, the Texans will visit many of the government buildings and other points of interest. They will also tour George Washington's colonial home across the Potomac at Mt. Vernon.

A sight-seeing tour of many of the most interesting places in New York City is also planned for the group.

On the return trip, the delegation will stop over in St. Louis for tour of Forrest Park Zoo, Shaw Gardens and other points of interest.

Here are the costs for the round trip, including railroad fare, Pullman, all tours, boat trip to Chesapeake Bay, baggage handling in Old Point Comfort, Va., Baltimore and Washington, D. C.:

One person in lower berth, $205.
Two persons in lower berth, $185 each.
One person in upper berth, $198.

Sleep Is Important To Healthful Living

Austin—Sufficient sleep is an important part of healthy living. Adequate sleep helps you feel well, and builds up your resistance to disease, declares Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. An occasional night of too little sleep will not hurt you. However, when you habitually go from day to day without sleep, damaging results are felt.

In addition to ruining your disposition, insufficient sleep plays havoc with your coordination and timing. Workers who are short of sleep and rest tend to be accident prone. Some men who try to hold an extra-time job to increase the family income, have paid a heavy penalty in damaged health and accidents.

Good sleeping habits take practice. It's like anything else you do. No one can learn to become an expert swimmer, just by reading about various strokes. You have to spend hours practicing to become a good swimmer.

Listening to the radio, watching television, or working on hobbies that persons are loathe to quit are sometimes causes of staying up too late. Late entertaining also cuts many hours of sleep. A regular time and routine for getting ready for bed will help put you in the mood for sleep. The routine may mean reading the evening newspaper or a light story after you are ready for bed. Or it may be listening to soft music just before you turn out the lights and snuggle under the covers.

A regular routine for getting children to bed also helps put them in the mood for sleep. It helps when mothers are relaxed and pleasant when it's the children's bedtime. After reading them a quiet, pleasant story, the children will probably be ready to turn out the light and fall asleep. This helps form good sleeping habits, which means much to a child's health. Young children need lots of sleep—about 12 hours for preschool youngsters, and nine to ten hours for older children.

In their first game of the season, the Texico-Farwell Little Leaguers defeated the Little Dodgers, a Clovis Little League farm team, 31-0, Tuesday.

The game was called at the end of the fifth inning. Little League games are normally six innings long.

Also seeing action were Carroll Huggins, Freddy Ferguson, Tommy Wurster, Mack Crawley, and Travis Taylor.

Coach Calvin Murray says that no other games are scheduled at present, but that they will be released as soon as they are known.

Ask Residents To Protect Paving

An appeal was made today by Farwell city officials for residents to cooperate in helping keep the gutters clean where paving has been installed. A collection of trash and dirt against the curb prevents proper drainage and also serves to soften the seal between the paving and the gutter, it was pointed out.

Board Sets Values On New Residences

The county commissioners, meeting as a board of equalization, spent nearly all day Monday setting tax values on new homes and other property in Parmer County.

They also conducted a business session in which routine matters of paying bills were attended to.

NOTES

From the Parmer County SCD

By STEVE BAVOURETT

Next week, the Parmer County Soil Conservation District is going to hold the early summer tours. Tuesday, July 6, the Rhea community tour will start at the Parish House at 2:00 p. m. Wednesday, the 7th, the Lazbuddie tour will also start at 2:00 p. m. Then at 2:00 p. m., the 8th, we will meet at the American Legion Hall in Bovina for that tour. Everyone is invited to attend any or all of these tours. We will show some slides, then go to the field and talk to some of the men who are using some of the conservation practices that are relatively new to most of us.

Claude Miller was in the office last Monday. He was interested in a cropping system for his dryland farm. This is another service that is available to you through the Soil Conservation Service. He wants to plan the cropping system and supporting conservation practices that will help him control the existing wind and water erosion.

Perry McMinn came by the office. We discussed the vetch crop that he had just turned under by listing. He said that he had done a pretty good job. McMinn wants to plant this ground to hegar as he is afraid he will have volunteer vetch and he doesn't want it in a wheat crop. He was wondering about fertilizer. He decided that he should apply a high nitrogen fertilizer to give his hegar crop a boost and to help decay the vetch. McMinn has used vetch before. He believes that the ease with which the ground works and the decrease in blowing is worth what the vetch crop costs.

LICENSE ISSUED

Records at the county clerk's office show that a marriage license was issued last Thursday, June 24, to Sammy Dale Sudderth and Wanda Pearl Roberts, both of Bovina. They were married by Grady Preer, Church of Christ minister.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

Exemptions for tractor gas are handled a little differently currently than they have been in the past. We realize it is not quite as convenient as it should be, but the dealers and the ones who take care of filing for you are working in cooperation with the comptroller's office in the slight change in procedure.

In an effort to serve farmers better and more efficiently from every angle, government agricultural agency representatives and Farm Bureau Officers have been meeting occasionally to discuss mutual problems. We sat in on the one last Tuesday and would like to pass along the following suggestions:

Abandoned cotton acreage must be officially measured if you want it to apply to the history of your farm for future allotment. If you will make an early date for the measuring (through your ASC officer, Joe Camp) and manage to be on hand yourself to observe and assist in such measuring, you can be sure it is done right. It is your responsibility, and if you will not be there to assist, you really should not blame someone else if an error does crop up. Your cooperation will be appreciated, too.

We believe the SCS boys are rendering a wonderfully good service to our farmers. It seems they could do a little more for you if you will remember they are professional men, and limited in number. If you need them, be sure to call on them; but if you have a job you and your son or employee can do just as well, let the specialist continue working on something they alone can accomplish by utilizing their training. We believe that if you will bear this in mind, everyone will be able to accomplish more. Steve Bavousett is the director of SCS. These same things apply to County Agent Joe Jones' duties. Be sure to use them if you need them, but if you don't really need them, someone else does. They want to serve you as efficiently as possible.

Good Americans should, we think, consider the present pressure to bring every citizen under compulsory "Social Security" in the light of this quote from the Federal Security Administration booklet. (These principles)—"are basic essentials of the attainment

POPPIN' OFF... WITH POP

"Hey, there!" a passing motorist called to a hillbilly who was reclining under a tree, "your house is on fire!" "Know it," replied the hillbilly without moving. "Well, why don't you do something about it?" asked the motorist. "Do in it now," the hillbilly replied. "Bin a prayin' fer rain ever since it started to burn."

Autumn is when an unwatched boy, raking, leaves.

He who has health, has hope; and he who has hope, has everything.

The weather may be lousy, but our gas is fine. Drive in and try it right away. I'll be glad to see you!

varied between a quarter and a half an inch. Ed McElroy got a half inch west of town; none fell in Friona, but about a half fell east of there; only a sprinkle hit Bovina.

County agent, Joe Jones, says that all irrigated crops are in excellent condition and coming along very well in growth. Dryland, however, is another matter.

Most rangeland of native grasses is in serious condition due to insufficient rainfall, and considerable feeding is being necessitated.

miles east of Bovina, got some 30 bushels per acre, reports E. H. Johnson, employee at Bovina Wheat Growers, Inc.

A high of 30 bushels per acre was reported by Penrod Anderson at Sherley Grain in Bovina. It came from the Sam Aldridge-Bobby Hart field six miles west of Bovina.

Several elevator men have expressed themselves about how farmers have greatly improved their yields through better farming practices. One of these practices is fertilization, which has paid off heavily during this year of scant rainfall and far from ideal growing conditions.

Wheat yields have been vastly improved under better conditions using fertilizer, especially on land that was irrigated.

FREEDOM'S TORCH STILL BURNS BRIGHTLY

On this weekend as we observe another anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, let us rededicate ourselves to the truths so boldly set forth when this country was established.

Let us not forget that our freedom is not free—that many men and women have given limbs and lives that we may enjoy the pursuit of happiness.

Freedom's torch still burns brightly in this wonderful country called America, and long may it endure!
