Questionnaires To Be Used To Structure New Tax Rate

During Monday night's meeting of the Farwell City Council, City Clerk Janie Bowery reported that about 85 percent of the questionnaires which the city mailed about two weeks ago have been returned. The questionnaires are for the purpose of re-evaluating residential property in order to structure a new tax rate to accommodate the proposed city budget.

According to state law, residents have to be notified of any change in evaluation prior to tax statements being mailed out. This allows residents time to appear before the Board of Equalization to discuss the changes prior to receiving tax statements which are to be issued on October 1.

campaign and will ask them to cooperate with the Council and the Jaycees in making this project a success.

Mayor Patschke commented that the clean-up campaign needs the cooperation of all Farwell residents, and that it will be greatly appreciated by the Council. Another goal of the clean-up campaign will be to clean the vacant alleys in Farwell. Mayor Patschke pointed out that the Council has the right to clean these lots and that the owners can be billed for this by the city.

The proposed clean-up campaign was also discussed during the Council meeting. Farwell Jaycees have consented to assist in the campaign, according to Don Wilhite, Jaycees representative at the Council meeting. The main street of Farwell will be the first target. According to Council members they plan to have clean up of that area completed by July 3.

Saturday, June 26, has been designated as "Main Street Clean-Up Day". In preparation for this project, Mayor Gil Patschke said the city will mail out letters to business owners explaining the clean-up

The draft zoning ordinance was also discussed during the meeting. It was pointed out that in order for a zoning ordinance to become a city law, the city must develop a zoning map and the map and the ordinance must be presented at a public hearing.

Present at the meeting besides Mayor Patschke, and Mrs. Bowery was Ralph Franse, city commissioner.

Hugh Preston Services Held Friday Afternoon

Funeral services for Hugh Preston, 65, of Farwell were conducted Friday afternoon at the First Baptist Church in Farwell. The Rev. J.L. Bass, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Panhandle, officiated, assisted by Dr. Cliff Ennen of First Baptist Church, Farwell.

Burial was in Sunset Terrace Memorial Cemetery at Farwell under the direction of Singleton Ellis Funeral Home of Muleshoe.

Mr. Preston died Wednesday, June 9, in West Plains Medical Center in Muleshoe, following a long illness.

Born February 5, 1911 in Anson, Tex., Mr. Preston has lived in Farwell for 12 years. He was owner and operator of City Cleaners in Farwell before ill health forced him to sell the business.

Survivors include his wife, Nannie, of Farwell; a son, Don Preston of Lubbock; a daughter, Mrs. Maybelle Latimer of Lubbock; a sister, Mrs. Gladys Pool of Amarillo; and four grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Raymond Martin, Ray Tarelton, Neil Stewart, Clay Henson, Bill Christian, Bob Westphal, Otis Huggins and Leonard Haney.

Ronquillo To Resign - -

New Disposal Rates Effective In Texico

New garbage collection and disposal rates set by the Texico City Council became effective June 1. The new rate for residential structures, including mobile homes, within the city, is now $4 a month; residential structures, including mobile homes, outside the city, is now $6 a month. Commercial rates are $17 a month for businesses requiring a dumpster box and $4 a month for the businesses which use regular trash containers.

Clara Wiehl, city clerk, says that trash will be collected bi-weekly.

During this week's meeting the Council asked for the resignation of Willie Ronquillo, city marshal. According to New Mexico state law a city marshal must be certified after one year of service and Ronquillo did not meet those requirements, say city officials.

Mrs. Wiehl said Texico is now taking applications for a city marshal. She explained that the Council has now decided to require certification as a job prerequisite. Applications can be picked up at the city hall.

Police report in the amount of $222 for the month of May was approved. Other business included agreeing to pay $38 in dues for the Eastern Plains Council of Government and purchasing a flag pole for city hall.

Further business conducted included a report that the swimming pool would not be opened this year. Mrs. Wiehl says this was due to "lack of funds and lack of anyone to run it." Present for the meeting were: Manford Turnbough, mayor, and trustees Marie Christian, Ruby Goforth, Bill Thigpen, and Vane Doshier.

Jaycees Set 2nd Tourney

Farwell Jaycees have scheduled their Second Annual Tennis Tournament for July 5-7 at the Farwell High School tennis courts.

Entry fees and other details for the tournament have not yet been finalized, but persons wishing more information about the meet are asked to contact Larry Jones at 825-2152, or any other Jaycee member.

Father And Sons

Father's Day is this Sunday, June 20, and is the perfect time for dad to take the kids to the park and let mom have a few hours' rest. Here Dad Greg Martin and sons Byron, age 4, and Warren, age 3, take some time to enjoy playing on the equipment at Farwell City Park while Mom Betty takes a break. Grandparents of the young lads who are showing their dad how to climb the monkey bars, are Mr. and Mrs. Preston Martin of Farwell and Mr. and Mrs. L.E. Fox of Albuquerque. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Martin of Farwell, Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Keele of Tishomingo, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. O.E. Duncan of Needmore, and Mrs. L.G. Fox of Sudan. The Greg Martins make their home south of Texico.

Texico Chamber Discusses Park

The Texico Chamber of Commerce and Planning Committee met in a joint session Monday night, June 14, at which time the new city park was discussed. It was reported that Jim Pierce left Wednesday to go to Santa Fe, N.M., where papers for the park will be finalized.

Also discussed at the meeting were possible ways to attract new businesses to Texico. A committee, consisting of Lewis Cooper, Olan Schleuter and Tony Mendoza, will look into the possibilities and report back at the next meeting.

A planned project is to apply to the Eastern Plains Planning Council for funds to improve existing dwellings and to attract new home builders.

A report was given concerning the clean-up campaign. The campaign will be coordinated by the New Mexico State Environmental Control Agency, but no date has been set.

Plans for the bicentennial celebration have been finalized. The Texico Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a horse-shoe contest July 3 at the city park in Farwell.

The campaign for new members continues. Anyone interested in joining the chamber is invited to join. Memberships are $10 for personal and $25 for businesses.

Champs Receive Plaque

Farwell's State Champion Girls Golf Team was awarded a plaque from the Amarillo Globe News in a presentation made Tuesday morning at Clara's Restaurant. The Amarillo newspaper presents plaques to the state champions in all sports. Drake Titze, sports writer for the paper, made the presentation to Golf Coach Don Alana and team members, left to right, Penny Hughes, Kathy Booth, Carol Vinton and Deana Williams. The other team member, Claire McFarland, was not available for the meeting. During the recent state tournament at Austin, the local golfers shot a team total of 756 to take top honors for the second consecutive year and also had all team members place among the top ten medalists.

Some people live day to day while others plan ahead. We have tended to be one of the "day to day folks." This we suspect is because we never were a cheerleader.

With the bloom of summer barely open, we noticed that the Texico cheerleaders are hard at work preparing for next fall's activities. They are surely laying a pattern for farsightedness which will benefit them all their life - or it will just cause them to be early wherever they go.

Speaking of summer getting started, we better tell our front yard maple tree that it isn't close to fall. Dumb old tree doesn't know it and is starting to turn its leaves already.

Seriously, we are concerned with this tree as it is exhibiting signs of some kind of nutritional deficiency. Just what, we haven't been able to ascertain. Several "experts" have listened to our description of the patient's symptoms and all have a different cure in mind.

Finding a genuine pure deer tree doctor in this country is next to impossible. Must be because there aren't enough patients. We did get one piece of advice which was to spray said tree with Epsom Salts. This we did, several times, and the darn tree didn't even get diarrhea, let alone get over its pale leaves.

If you have any old family tree remedies hidden away in the archives, come by and tell us about them. We're getting desperate to help our rustling friend in the front yard.

Maybe we can't cure a sick tree but we can kill a healthy one. Several weeks ago we noted a growth of pesky elm shoots about as big around as a finger struggling up through some very pretty pine trees. We tried to pull the rather small shoots up by the roots and got only raw hands and a sore back for our efforts. The answer was to snip the trees with pruning shears and paint stump with 2-4-D. That really knocked the elm shoots in a hurry. Oops, we didn't get a spray permit but hope that killing elm tree shoots falls under the category of abating a public nuisance.

The last several days have set us to wondering about wind generation of electricity again. Last we remember Clayton, New Mexico was making a big pitch for a federal-funded wind research station in their area. It seems as if we have a rather consistent supply in this area, and if the wind does die down for a day or so we have several local residents who could take up the slack.

With this in mind maybe we ought to look into putting the Twin Cities in the wind energy research pot for some federal funds. Of all the proposals for future energy, the wind seems to possess all the characteristics.

School Posts Last And Found

Note to Farwell High School students: Are you missing coats, sweaters, sea shells or other items? If so, you might try looking for them at the main hall or in the main office of the high school building.

Janet Yakubovsky, high school secretary, reports that lockers in the building have been cleaned out and that all the clothes found in them have been hung on a rack in the main hall. She also says that various paraphernalia was left in the bus after the recent senior trip to Florida, and those items are now in the main office.

Any of these items may be claimed from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. every day from now until June 30. Jack Williams, high school principal, will be at the high school office at various times each day throughout the summer.

Commissioner's Court Has Busy Session

Parmer County Commissioner's Court decided at its meeting Monday morning, June 14, that the County will pay expenses for county justices to attend schools for justices of the peace.

The Court also decided to change an April 12 easement to Deaf Smith County cooperative Inc. to read that the center line of the poles shall be 30 inches inside the county right-of-way.

The Court agreed to pay Wesley Ferguson $320 and A.R. McGuire $360 for excess land they had given for Farm Road 3333.

Among other business the Commissioner's Court voted that the county should pay its proportionate part of the expenses of the court reporter for 154th judicial district to the Court Reporters convention.

A general report was given by Paul Fortenberry, county judge, to the effect that the criminal court docket was relatively quiet, and that the civil docket was being worked to attempt to clear some back cases.

It was also reported during the meeting that the extension of Farm Road 214 in Friona was finished and that the contractor had the caliche on the road running north and east from Friona. Construction of Farm Road 333 and 1381 is to start July 5.

Combines are being conditioned for wheat harvest. Some isolated areas in Parmer County have been harvested.

It is time to consider wheat stubble management. The stubble is an excellent soil insulator. It keeps the sun and wind from drying out the soil.

Recent findings at experiment stations have proved that standing wheat stubble makes excellent seedbed for crops that might follow. No plowing and the insulation effect provide all available moisture to the new crop.

Herb Evans, with the SCS in Friona, points out that the stubble is an excellent place for pheasants to hide feed and make nests. It also provides excellent cover for newly hatched pheasants.

In East Africa, people seeking refuge didn't go into the church, as Europeans do, but went to the drum-makers!

Nosema Locustae is not an Italian film star. It is the proper and scientific term for a parasite which causes a fatal disease . . . one that's good news. Good because the only victim is one of agriculture's top enemies, the Grasshopper. Underway right now, the testing of the effectiveness of the parasite is the largest of its kind in history. Nearly 100 thousand acres of crops are involved and results will be reported over a three year period. Basically, the idea of the program is to have grasshoppers eat wheat bran which has been treated with Nosema Locustae and sprayed over infested crops. Once ingested by the 'hopper the parasites multiply and eventually kill the grasshopper. Scientists are enthusiastic because it could mean effective control without the use of expensive poisons. Initial testing indicated as many as 90 percent of the grasshoppers coming in contact with the parasite were eliminated.

On The Farm In Parmer County

By R. MACK HEALD
County Agent

Mosquito season is almost here and that means the danger increases for sleeping sickness in horses.

One of the most serious diseases carried by mosquitoes is equine encephalitis, or sleeping sickness.

There are three kinds of equine encephalitis - western (WEE), eastern (EEE), and Venezuelan (VEE). Eastern and western encephalitis are the most common.

In 1975, 674 cases of WEE and 55 cases of EEE were diagnosed by U.S. Department of Agriculture laboratories. Also, an additional 105 cases of WEE and 40 cases of EEE were diagnosed by state and public health labs. VEE was a problem in Texas in 1971, but since that time no cases have been diagnosed in the U.S.

VEE has complex natural history with many hosts and it is not known which of these hosts may exist and harbor the virus in Mexico or in the U.S. Since the virtual disappearance of the disease, vaccination against it has declined considerably.

Therefore, if the virus were to re-enter this country, it could spread rapidly since much of the horse population is not vaccinated against it.

Consumption of red meats in the U.S. is maintaining a relatively high level. If the level of slaughter keeps up at the present rate, consumption this year will go up even more.

In 1975, the average American consumed 181 pounds of red meat. This breaks down to 120 pounds of beef, 4 pounds of veal, 55 pounds of pork and 2 pounds of lamb and mutton.

Although U.S. per capita consumption of red meats was high last year, it was still much lower than per capita consumption of red meats in Australia, the world's leading consumer of red meats.

The average Australian consumed about 39 more pounds of meat last year than an individual in the U.S.

Livestock producers can safely assume that there is no practical limit to the per capita consumption of red meats in the U.S. Restrictions on livestock production should not be designed with the idea in mind we will consume all that we produce. The only real question is: At what price will we consume?

The cattleman's profit or loss will then depend on what price consumers are willing to pay for meat.

In this age of mobility, even gardens can be portable so that they can provide for a changing landscape scene.

Everett Janne, a horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says that shrubs, trees, vines, and flowers can be grown in portable containers and moved from the service or growing area when at their prime to supplement the permanent landscape planting.

There can be instant beauty with pots of geraniums, begonias or petunias. Plants can be in the spotlight when they look their best and can be banished when they decline in beauty.

He suggests using sturdy containers such as tubs, barrel halves, clay pots or wooden boxes. Wooden containers should be made of moisture resistant wood such as redwood or cedar. All containers should provide adequate drainage.

Potting soil that is both porous and moisture retentive should be used. Plants in containers dry out much faster than those growing in the ground and will have to be watered more often. During hot dry weather they may need watering every day.

Janne advises using a complete soluble plant food about once every three weeks after the plants are well established and growing.

He also offers a few tips to make moving plants easier. Plan moving a few days in advance. Plants will be much lighter and easier to move if the soil is dry. Use a dolly, wagon, piece of canvas or some other carrier to ease the moving task.

Walking To Philadelphia - -

Transcontinental Trekkers Echo Early Pioneer Spirit

by Shirley Gorman

The American pioneer spirit is not dead. Bill and Juanita Davis are proving this as they continue their transcontinental trek from their home in San Diego, Calif., to Philadelphia, Pa.

As they walk the same land that early pioneers once drove covered wagons over, they pull a small covered wagon which has the words "Philadelphia or Bust!" painted on the sides. The Davises are accompanied by Reno, a police guard dog, who was given to them by the Las Vegas, Nev., Sheriff's Department.

The transcontinental trekkers do not like to talk about it but security has become a problem for them. They have been robbed several times.

Besides Reno, the Davises now have a security guard who travels in a car a short distance behind them. The guard also travels ahead of the Walkers to the next major stop and arranges for security through the local police.

The Davises began their walk about a year ago. Thus far, they have covered 2200 miles and have approximately 1700 more to go before reaching Philadelphia on Labor Day.

The idea of the walk was first conceived as a joke. Davis is a certified chef in the winter and a wilderness guide in the high California mountains during the summer.

They were not having any success trying to hitchhike from Yosemite National Park to their winter quarters in San Diego when Davis built a two-wheel cart and they decided to walk.

Members of a bicentennial committee asked them if they would walk all the way to Philadelphia. Thinking it a joke, Davis said "yes." By the time he realized it was no joke, Davis was "too American" to back down.

Official word of their trek was not released until they had completed the first 700 miles of their journey. "By then I knew we could make it," Davis said.

The original Philadelphia arrival date of July 4 had to be rescheduled due to bad weather and illness. The Davises were on a northerly route until 13 degrees below zero weather and Mrs. Davis' bout with pneumonia, which caused an 18-week delay, forced them on their present southern route. Now by July 4, they plan to be in Wichita, Kan.

Davis said he thought they were the only trekkers to be officially sanctioned.

The Davises carry with them dried, reconstituted and some canned food and usually about six gallons of water. Their security guard now carries extra water for them.

Davis said they have run out of water before. Once while crossing 236 miles of a Nevada desert they ran out of water after the first 75 miles. After barely subsisting on cactus and sheer determination for several days they unknowingly made camp one night near a stock water tank. "We found it the next morning when the cattle came to drink," Davis remarked.

The Davises cannot accept sponsorship by any organization. Their needs are purchased through funds donated by individuals.

They are keeping a record of their journey, which so far totals nearly four albums of signatures of those giving contributions, letters of certification, bicentennial medals, and news clippings about their journey. Once they reach Philadelphia, the books will be placed in Freedom Hall. The names of contributors, etc., will also be inscribed on a monument in Boulder City.

Today, Bill and Juanita Davis of San Diego, Calif., are walking the same land the early pioneers once drove their covered wagons over. They began their walk nearly a year ago and thus far have covered 2200 miles and have approximately 1700 miles to go before they reach Independence Hall in Philadelphia, Pa., on Labor Day. Traveling with them is Reno, a German Shepherd police dog. He was a gift to the transcontinental trekkers from the sheriff's department in Las Vegas, Nev. The car pictured in the background belongs to the photographer who stopped the cross-country travelers.

Surveys Necessary To Soil Conservation

Would you build a house without some kind of plan? Of course not! A good plan is essential for any home building project. Among other things, it must specify using the available materials to their best advantage.

In the same way, land use must be planned. The available material, your soil, must be used to its best advantage.

A soil survey is the basic building block for sound land use planning. A scientific inventory of our basic land resource, it reveals the kinds of soils and their characteristics. We learn how soils are distributed, what they developed from, and how they behave. The work is done according to sound scientific and technical standards. This includes a nationwide system of soil classification, interpretation, and publication. By using a soil survey wisely, all land uses can be planned in a logical order.

The Soil Conservation Service is responsible for all soil survey activities of the Department of Agriculture. Soil surveys are made cooperatively with State Land Grant Colleges and other agencies. The surveys are designed to furnish soil maps and interpretations needed in programs dealing with soils and soil use.

There are published soil survey reports available for 17 counties in the Texas Panhandle. Seven others have been completed and are in the process of being printed. These will be published at a later date. Only two counties, Oldham and Roberts, remain to be completed. Soil survey activities are presently underway in these counties with completion expected in about two or three years.

The use of a soil survey is another step forward in protecting our environment and to make the best use of our natural resources.

Although the primary use of soil surveys has been to help farmers and ranchers plan their operations, the national soil survey program is essentially a resource development program for the benefit of all people.

For further information regarding soil surveys and their uses, contact your local Soil Conservation Service office.

Portraying Area Homemakers

by Shirley Gorman

Mrs. Ronald (LeAndra) Byrd of Farwell, our area homemaker for this week, is an energetic talented woman who believes in becoming involved. Part of her energies are channeled toward caring for her son Chad who is two and one-half years old.

Hobbies also keep LeAndra occupied. She loves to sew for herself and Chad. She became interested in sewing while in high school, but she admits that after her marriage nearly four years ago, her interest in sewing grew. "My mother wasn't around to sew for me then," Mrs. Byrd said.

The young homemaker also macrames. "I liked plant hangers, so about a year ago I bought a macrame book and learned how to do it," she said. Mrs. Byrd also likes to cook, do liquid embroidery and grow house plants.

For recreation, the Ronald Byrds like to snow ski. Around the first of the year they enjoyed snow skiing at Red River, their favorite place.

LeAndra and her husband are both active members of the First Baptist Church in Farwell. She teaches the fifth and sixth grade Sunday School class and her husband teaches the four- and five-year-olds. They have each served their church as lay witnesses.

"The lay witness service is interdenominational and lasts for 42 hours," Mrs. Byrd explained. She plays the piano at the lay witness service and is also the assistant organist at the First Baptist Church in Farwell.

LeAndra, husband Ronald, and her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Chadwick of Farwell, are members of a gospel singing group called "The Lighthouse Quartet." Last summer, the quartet sang at a Baptist church in Lubbock. They have been together about a year. Originally the singing group consisted of six members; but two girls, Pam Monk and Jackie Hutcheson, later left the group. The singing quartet takes voice lessons once a week at Bovina.

When Mrs. Byrd first married, she lived at West Camp. They now have been living in Farwell about three years.

Since moving into their present home, LeAndra has wall papered the kitchen, painted the tile board in the bathroom and put up bathroom fixtures. She said future plans include laying new carpet.

The following are three recipes which our homemaker has consented to share with our readers. The first one is Mrs. Byrd's own creation.

Raylene Poe, Gerald Gohlke United In Sudan Ceremony

Miss Raylene Poe and Gerald Gohlke were united in a double ring ceremony Friday, May 21, at 7 p.m. at Sudan's First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Herman J. Schelter of St. John's Lutheran Church, Lariat, officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Poe of Sudan and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Gohlke of Oklahoma Lane.

Altar decorations consisted of a large bouquet of rainbow-colored gladioli and carnations with baby's breath and greenery, flanked with spiral candelabra, arched candelabra and two smaller candelabra which held pink candles with greenery and flowers tied with pink ribbons. The white velvet kneeling bench was trimmed with greenery and flowers.

Pews were marked with hurricane lamps holding pink candles surrounded by flowers in the rainbow hues, and tied with pink ribbons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white chiffon gown over bridal satin. It was styled with a natural waistline accented with Venice lace, a sheer v-shaped yoke edged in matching lace with scattered embroidered flowerlets, and a stand-up collar of the same Venice lace that her sister, Mrs. Tommy Seymore, wore at her wedding.

The bride's bouquet contained yellow roses centered with a lift-out orchid corsage, baby's breath and stephanotis. As she walked down the aisle she kissed her mother and presented her a long-stemmed yellow rose.

Following tradition, the bride wore an old veil for something old, and borrowed, a blue garter, and her gown for something new. She also wore pennies in her shoes minted in the couple's birth years.

Serving the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Tommy Seymore. Bridesmaids were Kathy Campbell and Melody Poe, sister of the bride. The matron of honor wore green and the attendants wore blue and pink, respectively. They wore floor length gowns with flocked flowerlets fashioned with empire waists and wedding-ring collars trimmed with lace and velvet ribbon, butterfly sleeves, and matching wide brimmed hats trimmed with ribbon. They each carried a nosegay of rainbow-colored carnations, baby's breath, stephanotis with ribbon.

Nita Whiteaker, accompanied by Mrs. Randy Humphreys on the organ, sang "The Wedding Song" and "Whither Thou Goest." Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Humphreys and Mrs. Kathy Jayhau, pianist, alternated playing traditional wedding music.

Best man was Steve Fain of Dell City. Groomsman were Roger Kerr and Cameron Morgan. The ushers were Brett Poe, brother of the bride, Steve Ritchie, Derwin Beauchamp and Mike Hill.

Candlelighters were Michelle Hanna and Tina Butler and Theresa Butler, cousins of the bride. Their dresses were also in rainbow colors.

Linda Gohlke, sister of the bridegroom, registered guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Poe wore a beige floor length gown, orchid corsage and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother was also attired in a floor length beige gown and orchid corsage. As the couple left the church, the bride presented a yellow rose to the bridegroom's mother.

The bride's table was decorated with a silver candelabrum holding pink candles and rainbow-colored flowers, greenery and baby's breath. The three-tiered white wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was served with fruit punch, mints made by the bridegroom's aunt, and nuts. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Serving at the table were Ann Poe of Denver City, Bernadette May and Sonja Kerbe of Farwell.

The bridegroom's table was covered with a blue denim cloth and decorated with the bridegroom's western hat which held the bridal bouquet.

The double horseshoe-shaped cake, iced in chocolate and edged with green icing, had the couple's names lettered in yellow. Coffee, mints and nuts were also served at the table by Sherri and Carolyn Hobbatsch of Littlefield and Cheryl Gohlke of Farwell.

Other members in the house-party were Mrs. Leroy Young, Mrs. Leonard Pierce, Mrs. Louis Kessler and Mrs. Liz Kaltwasser.

For the honeymoon trip, the new Mrs. Gohlke wore a green knit western suit with a white shirt and the orchid corsage from the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Gohlke is a 1974 graduate from Sudan and attended college at Sam Houston. The bridegroom is a 1973 Farwell High School graduate and a senior at Texas A&M University.

Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Gohlke, grandparents of the bridegroom, hosted the rehearsal dinner for members of the wedding party on May 20 at their home in Littlefield.

TOPS Queen Presented

Virginia of Farwell was presented as the New Mexico State TOPS queen at the TOPS International Recognition Day Convention at Anaheim, Calif. June 3-5. ## Virginia Perry Returns From TOPS Convention

Mrs. W.T. (Virginia) Perry of Farwell recently returned from a TOPS (Takes Pounds Off Sensibly) International Recognition Day Convention at Anaheim, Calif. The convention which was held June 3-5 also included members of KOPS (Keeps Pounds Off Sensibly).

At the TOPS New Mexico State Convention held in Albuquerque April 30 and May 1, Mrs. Perry was crowned New Mexico State Queen. The Queen is selected on the basis of the individual who has lost the most weight.

Mrs. Perry has been a TOPS member for two years. During the last 14 months she has lost 87 pounds. She was presented as the New Mexico State Queen during the California convention.

Six thousand people from the 50 states, Canada and several foreign countries attended the convention. Members sponsored talent shows and a doctor read a report on obesity. Several members also gave inspirational accounts of their experiences with obesity and their efforts through TOPS to lose weight, and further efforts through KOPS to keep the weight off.

A bicentennial image was carried out one night when the women were dressed in gowns of the 1800's. Several Kops members also wore their wedding dresses. One member wore an 1890 wedding dress which belonged to her great grandmother.

An International King and Queen were crowned at the convention. As in the state convention, the honor is given to those who have lost the most weight. The Queen lost 181 pounds and the King lost 190 pounds.

TOPS and KOPS clubs were first started in 1948 in a small Wisconsin community by Esther Manz. Members constantly watch their caloric intake. The amount of food consumed daily depends on the size of the person and the rate at which the calories are burned.

"WHAT IS A CHURCH"

Do you know that most people, even the great majority of religious people, do not even know what a church is? Ask the average man on the street what a church is and he will probably reply: "A church? Well, anybody knows that! A church is a building where people go to worship!" But this is not correct. The word translated "church" in our Bibles, simply means assembly, so a church is not a building, but the assembly of people who meet in the building. And a church is not necessarily a gathering of worshippers. The riotous mob that had gathered at Ephesus in Paul's day is called a "church" (Gr. ekklesia) in Acts 19:32, and this passage states that this assembly, or church, was "confused, and most of them did not know wherefore they were come together." So a church is simply an assembly, not a building.

The church of which the Bible has most to say is "the Church of God, which He hath purchased with His own blood" (Acts 20:28). St. Paul calls this church, again and again, "the Body of Christ," or "the Church which is His Body."

We do not join this Church by water baptism or any other religious rite; we join it by faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. Referring to believers in Christ, Paul declares: "By one Spirit are we all baptized into one Body" (I Cor. 12:13), and in Rom. 12:5 he says "Ye being many are one Body in Christ."

Many sincere people have had their names on the rolls of religious organizations for years before learning this great truth, that the true Church, the Church of God, the Body of Christ, is not a building, but the company of those who have come to trust in Christ as their Savior.

We sincerely hope the reader belongs to this one true Bible Church—and also attends a local church, an assembly of believers in Christ who love and study the Word of God, so as to "grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ" (II Pet. 3:18).

Texas Extension Service Appoints New Director

SWCD Conducting Production Checks

Are you interested in your irrigation well production?

Leon Grissom, chairman, of the Farmer County Soil and Water Conservation District says, "We have a service available to the farmers in Farmer County that is not too well known. This service is measuring irrigation well production."

About 15 years ago the district purchased a flow meter. This meter is adopted to about any size discharge. The preferable way to check a well is to attach the meter to a short piece of pipe coming from a valve. The well or wells being checked should have been running at least 24 hours and preferably more.

This service has been used by a lot of producers who plan to put in center pivot systems. It is necessary to know your GPM before buying a system.

With the gas bills going so high, a lot of producers are interested in how efficient their operation is.

"If you have a well or wells that you'd like checked, contact the Soil Conservation Service, Friona," Grissom concluded.

Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel has been named director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System's public service agency which provides agricultural, homemaking, 4-H and consumer assistance to thousands of Texans throughout the state.

Pfannstiel's appointment was made Tuesday, April 25, by the Texas A&M University System Board of Regents, subject to concurrence of the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture. The appointment was effective June 1.

The 2,000-employee service, which operates offices in all but two of Texas' 254 counties, is a joint county-state-federal program which has traditionally served farmers, ranchers and residents of rural communities and is becoming increasingly popular with urban dwellers.

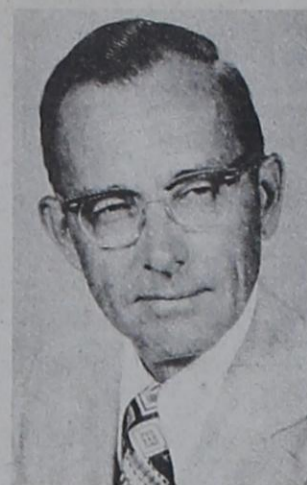

"We have searched throughout the nation to confirm what we thought was the case all along: that we already have in our ranks the best person for this key position," pointed out Board of Regents Chairman Clyde H. Wells in announcing Pfannstiel's promotion.

Pfannstiel, 48, has served the Texas Agricultural Extension Service for 27 years, being associate director since 1971. He joined the Extension Service upon graduation in 1949 from Texas A&M. He worked his way up through the ranks, from assistant county agent in Wharton County to county agent in Matagorda County in 1952, to administrative assistant at the service's College Station headquarters in 1956 and to assistant director in 1959.

He succeeds Dr. H.O. Kunkel, Texas A&M's dean of agriculture, who has served as the Extension Service's acting director since February when Dr. John E. Hutchison retired as director of the largest state Extension Service in the nation.

"Dr. Pfannstiel is undoubtedly one of the most qualified administrative officers in the nation's entire Cooperative Extension Service," Dean Kunkel noted. "He has been eagerly sought by several other agencies but has chosen to stay and serve in Texas."

In addition to his B.S. degree in animal husbandry from Texas A&M, Pfannstiel earned a master's in extension education from Michigan State University in 1952 and a Ph.D. in extension administration from the University of Wisconsin in 1959.

Pfannstiel is a native of Bexar County. He is a colonel in the U.S. Army Reserves and is a member of numerous professional organizations.

Tennis Fashions Bright, Bold

Spring fashions for the tennis court include traditional white - and new bright colors, too, Beverly Rhoades, a clothing specialist reports.

She's with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Colors such as tomato red, clear blue, brown, burgundy and jade green are growing in popularity.

"Combinations include traditional red, white and blue, black and white, or brown and white often done in stripes to present a bold fashion message," she said.

Clothing styles for the court include jumpsuits, apron wraps, bib front dresses, short overalls, athletic shorts, tank tops or T shirts, and action skirts in pleats, wrapped or dirndl, the specialist reported.

"Tennis wear should be functional, comfortable, easy care and should not restrict movement. Garments with a high per cent of cotton will tend to be cooler, whether in knits or wovens. Look for easy care information on labels, or hang-tags," she advised.

The word record originally meant something learned by heart.
