

Contract Let For Roads

Contracts were let this week to Kerr and Middleton of Lubbock for constructing additional farm-to-market roads in Parmer County. Two projects are involved.

One is from F-M Road 690 at Oklahoma Lane south and southwest to the Bailey County line, where it will join another paved road already existing.

The other will link Rhea with the two F-M pavements running north of Bovina and west of Friona. The combined length of the two projects is about 14 miles.

A bid from the Lubbock firm of $209,403.87 won the work of grading, structure building, base and surfacing for these and two roads in Castro County.

Resident Engineer Rhea Bradley of Littlefield will be in charge of the project for the Highway Department, and he estimates the work to take 160 days.

Baseball Teams Complete First Half of Season

The first half of the summer season for the Texico-Farwell small fry baseball teams came to a close with games this week.

The Pony team dropped a 13-11 decision to Lazbuddie last Friday to finish runner-up for the first half, while the Little Leaguers drubbed Lazbuddie 13-3 here Tuesday to tie for the first half championship. Also on Tuesday, the Pee Wees dropped their fourth straight game, 12-8, to Lazbuddie.

Due to an early press time this week, details of the games were unavailable.

Play for all three teams resumes next week when the Little Leaguer and Pee Wees go to Lazbuddie and on Thursday the Lazbuddie Pony team comes here for a game.

Park, Licenses, Air Conditioning Top Texico City Meet

A city park, occupational licenses, and air conditioning of the city building were the main items of business for the Texico City Commission when it met in regular session Monday night at the City Hall.

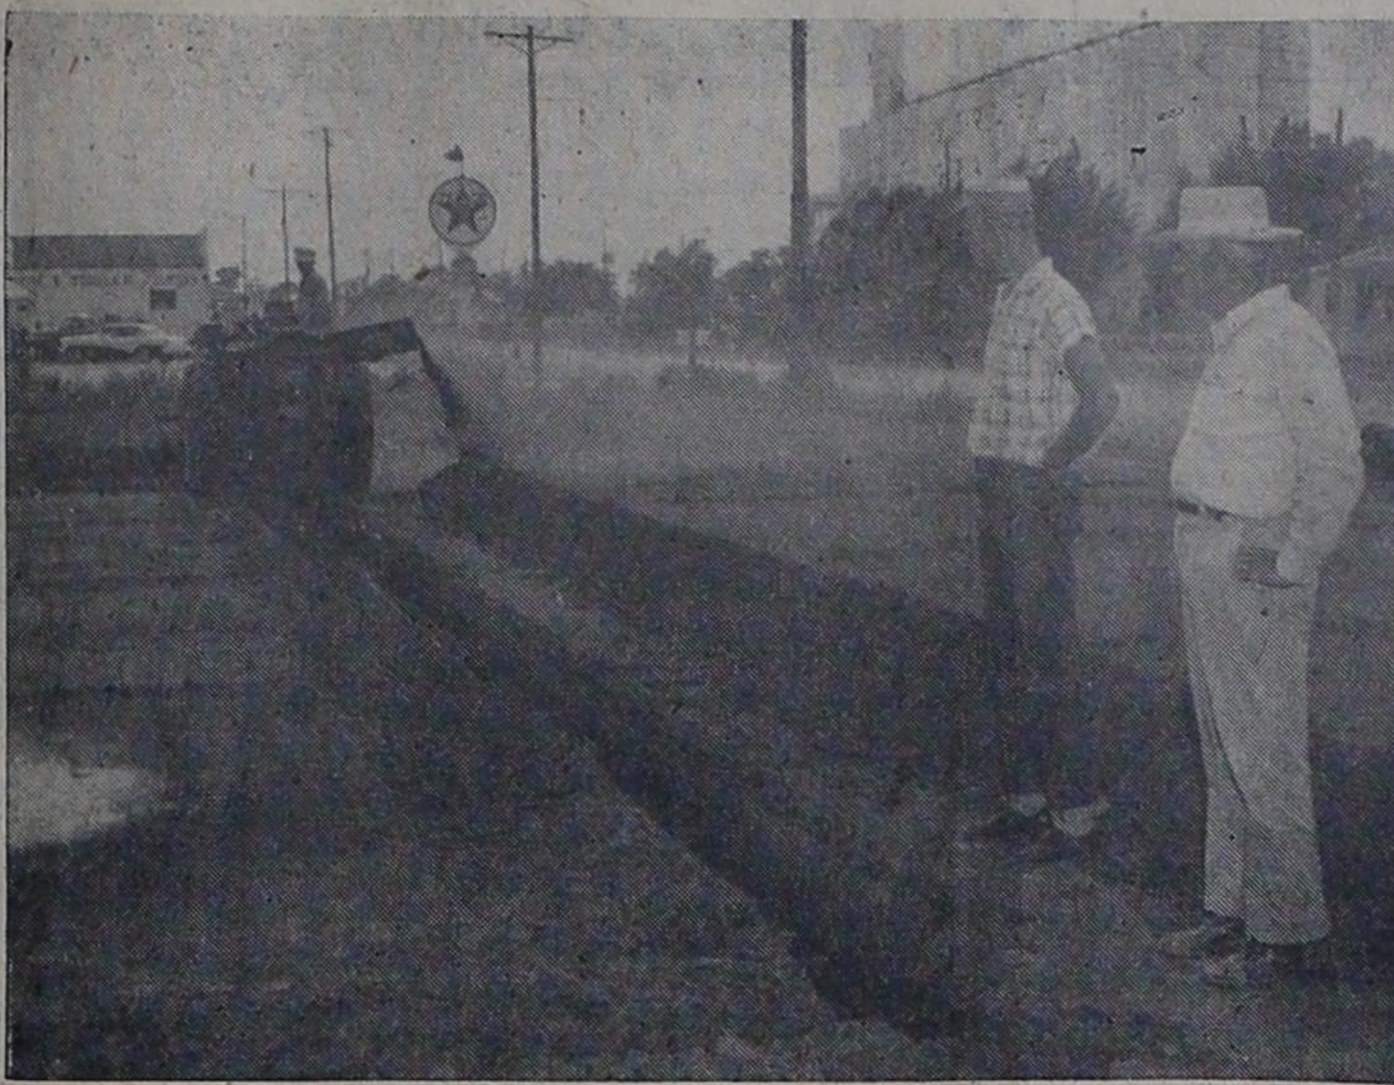

Mrs. Curtis Miller, president of the Texico Woman's Club, appeared before the commission with a request from the club and the city-appointed recreation committee that various items be purchased for the city park with the city recreation fund.

The request included two eight foot redwood tables and four benches, $70.72; a combination swing set, $159.90; materials for lighting project, $45; and a concrete play court, 32'x60', three inches deep, approximately $450.

The commission approved this request and authorized the woman's club to purchase all the park items. Since the cost of the concrete court is to be over $200, the commission will have to advertise for bids before work can start on this, it was pointed out. Bids will be opened at the city hall on July 11.

Mrs. Miller told the commission that the play court could be used for shuffleboard, basketball, volleyball, badminton, and tennis, as well as other sports. She also reported to the commission that enough materials had been donated to build fire places.

Grass is already growing at the park and poles have been

Firemen Answer Call to Burning Wheat Field

Texico-Farwell firemen answered a call at the Darwin Enger farm northwest of Pleasant Hill Tuesday morning when a wheat field caught on fire. The fire started when a truck backfired.

The uncut part of the field was mostly saved because of a south wind and the blaze covered only a large area of the stubble, says a local fireman.

Only a small patch of the uncut wheat was burned. Probably only 10 or 15 bushels of the grain was lost, according to the report.

Fern Tipton Enrolls In Business College

Fern Tipton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Tipton, left over the weekend for Lubbock, where she has enrolled in Draughan's Business College. Her parents took her to Lubbock Sunday.

Miss Tipton plans to take a course in secretarial business, including special instruction in business English, bookkeeping, spelling, shorthand and typewriting, according to her mother.

Miss Tipton plans to room with Miss Dorothy Woods, also of Farwell, who has a job in Lubbock. Miss Woods is a 1957 graduate of Farwell Schools.

Tribune Again Wins TPA Sweepstakes

Bovina Blade Takes Second Place Honors

Parmer County newspapers, and The State Line Tribune and the Bovina Blade in particular, fared well this year in the annual state-wide contests sponsored by the Texas Press Association.

At the annual TPA convention in San Antonio last week, W. H. Graham Jr., publisher of The Tribune, accepted the "sweepstakes" award in the contests, which in effect is the Association's recognition that this newspaper is the best in the state in the population class of 2,000 or less.

Right behind The Tribune was a neighboring paper at Bovina, The Blade, published by Dolph Moten. The Blade was recognized as the second best newspaper in Texas in the same population classification.

The Tribune won four out of five firsts in contest departments, taking blue ribbons for appearance, column writing, editorials, and general excellence. The local paper also had a third place in news writing.

Farm Bureau Hears Delegate Reports

Parmer County Farm Bureau directors met Monday night in Friona to hear a report from four 4-H Club members who were delegates to the annual 4-H Roundup, held in College Station June 10 through 12.

Reports were given by Billie Hardage of Lazbuddie, Cooper Young of Lazbuddie, Judy Billingsley of Farwell, and Lexie Stevenson of Bovina. The Farm Bureau sponsored the four on the three-day trip.

Also on the agenda for the night was a discussion about current legislation before the house and senate.

Two New Business Buildings Going Up

Foundation work on a new business building in Farwell got underway on Monday of this week. The new structure is going up on Main Street in east Farwell and the masonry-type building is being built by B. V. "Shorty" Hughes and L. T. Utsman.

Building permits to the two local men were issued this week by the City of Farwell for construction of the building on lots

1-6 on Block 7. It will be located across the street from Magness Real Estate.

Hughes reports that his half of the 60' x 60' building, located on the east, will be a new location for his auto parts store presently located near the Santa Fe Railroad crossing in Texico.

Utsman did not know at the present time just what his half of the building would be used for, but he said it would probably be rented out. The building will be divided by a concrete block partition, each portion of the building being 30' x 60'.

Contractor for the building is R. L. Edwards of Bovina. It should be completed in about two months, say the two Farwell men.

CONTEST DEADLINE JULY 10

Wednesday, July 10 is the deadline for entering the annual Parmer County Farm Bureau queen contest, which this year will be the night of July 20 in Bovina.

Mrs. J. T. Jones of Bovina, county chairman of the contest, has arranged a meeting of entrants next Thursday to prepare them for the judging the following week.

To emcee the contest this year will be Odie "Pop" Echols of KCLV, Clovis radio station. The Thursday meeting will be set aside as a time to practice.

Mercury Climbs During Past Week

The heat wave, a blessing to area wheat farmers, continued during the past week as temperatures soared to new highs. The highest recorded in Texico-Farwell during the past week was Saturday when local thermometers showed 110 degrees, possibly a record of some kind.

Other Mercury readings for last week were 98 Thursday, 102 Friday, 108 Sunday, and 104 on Monday of this week.

The scorching heat was broken for a short time Monday afternoon when it became cloudy and sprinkled slightly, but, by Tuesday of this week it had once again climbed above the 100 mark.

After a cool early June, due to several rains, the temperatures the latter part of the month were about as high as any on record. However, Lloyd Cain of the Santa Fe depot, where the above official readings were reported, said that the 110 degrees Saturday was not an all-time high for recent years.

He recalled one day two or three years ago when the thermometer reached 115 degrees at the depot. In checking back over the records, though, the exact date and month of the high temperature could not be found.

At any rate, though, Cain and other Texico-Farwell residents admit that during the past there were some scorching days—too hot for comfort except under an air conditioner.

Copperheads are the most widely distributed and in many places the most abundant of poisonous snakes in the eastern U.S.

Dauphin was a title given to the eldest son of a King of France.

MORE HARDWARE—The first place awards The Tribune won in the Texas Press Association contests are shown above. Dick Hapke, news editor, holds in his hands the Sweepstakes award, presented by the Dallas Morning News. The other first place prizes are plaques in general excellence, appearance, column writing, and editorial writing.

Action Planned on Taxes

Legal action to collect all delinquent taxes in the City of Farwell is planned soon, it was reported this week by Mayor Sam Aldridge. Bill Sheehan, county attorney, has been asked to file suits against all persons owing the city taxes for the years 1956 back through 1950.

It was decided at a recent meeting of the Farwell commission to file for the back taxes, but action has been delayed until after July 1 so 1956 taxes may also be included. The city has not received word from Sheehan yet, but the filing of the suits is expected soon.

When the suits are filed by Sheehan they will be filed in the name of the county and the city and school district will be inter-pleaders.

Since the city first announced plans to file suits, several of the back taxes have been paid, says Wilfred Quickel, city manager. Delinquent taxes collected since April have totaled $1,077.39, but there is still $1,518.35 on the books, he says.

The amount collected and the ones still owed include both the taxes and penalty. It is pointed out that the taxes may be paid at any time at the city office in the county courthouse.

In explaining the city's action in planning the suits, Mayor Aldridge said, "I think that if any of us have to pay taxes, we all should." He added that "we will be reasonable with anyone who cannot pay, but it is not right to let people continually get by without paying their taxes."

Jerry Henson Back From Council Meet

Jerry Henson of Texico returned home Thursday evening from Roswell where he attended the annual national convention of the National Association of Student Councils.

Jerry, who will be president of the Texico student council next year, accompanied the council delegate from Melrose along with the Melrose School principal, to the meet.

Registration was Sunday, June 23, and the convention got underway on Monday. The 700 attendees stayed in the homes of Roswell residents and the meetings were held in the new Roswell High School. Class sessions were devoted to the discussion of problems of individual student councils and round table discussions by the students showed ways to solve these problems.

Jerry says that each student present surely went home with new ideas of improving his own school's council.

Guest speakers from many states were on hand for the general sessions, and two of the ones Jerry enjoyed hearing most were Dr. Cleo Dawson of Lexington, Ky., and Henry D. Johnson III, president of the (Continued on Last Page)

Vestal Injured In Accident

Jerry Vestal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Vestal of Farwell, was injured in an automobile accident on Fourth Street Sunday night. He received cuts and bruises on his face while riding in a car which collided with a pickup.

The car, a 1953 Ford, driven by Doyle Goldsmith, ran into a parked pickup in front of the Joe Jones residence in south Farwell. As the impact occurred, Vestal was thrown against the windshield.

He was treated at Farwell Clinic and was released soon after.

Damage to the Jones pickup was estimated at around $250. Damage to Goldsmith's car was extensive but the amount was not determined.

FIRST OUTING—The Texico Boy Scout troop takes off on its first outing. Marching alongside the front patrol is Jerry Stallings, Scoutmaster, and with the second patrol is W. C. Webb, assistant Scoutmaster. The Scouts were just recently organized in Texico and this was their first camping trip.

Boy Scouts Have First Outing

The recently organized Boy Scout Troop of Texico was taken on its first outing Saturday afternoon. Nine members of the troop, under the leadership of Scoutmasters Jerry Stallings and C. A. Webb, left town about 4 p. m. and hiked to the Cailouet farm several miles west of Texico.

Complete with packs, canteens, and food the Scouts remained until 10 p. m. Saturday night. While on the hike the Scouts cooked their (Continued on Last Page)

Once again this newspaper has been honored with recognition from the publishing industry for journalistic excellence. There couldn't be a more appropriate time to acknowledge our thanks to two groups of persons who have made our awards possible.

The first group is made up of those who are members of our staff. From the floor sweeper and pig pourer on up through the mechanical, editorial and advertising departments, we are blessed with really worthwhile employees.

From a strictly business standpoint, they have always given us our "money's worth" and that's saying something these days. In fact, they have served above and beyond their regular requirements many times. We appreciate them so much.

Then, there are the businessmen who make our very existence possible with their splendid advertising support. We feel that every advertiser gets his money's worth—just as our employees try to make us feel as though we've done the same thing on our rather large labor bills.

Ben Smart is a great one to pass out advertising gadgets, as most of his friends and customers know. A couple of weeks ago he handed us two or three plastic fly swatters when we were in his store.

At the time, we didn't have too much use for them, but since then, the fly population has risen considerably. We would like to point out that Ben Smart is handing out the most humane fly swatter ever perfected.

We can't quite figure out why, but it's almost impossible to hit a fly with one of these gadgets. Maybe the red-colored plastic grid on the end of the handle warns the pests and they take off before they're squashed. Maybe the plastic is so light it's hard to get any momentum behind a swing. We don't really know what the trouble is, but we have found out that the best use that can be made of these little dandies is to consider them as more or less an extension of the arm, and to use them for shooting away the flies. Like we say, it's the humane thing to do.

We frogged off to San Antonio for the state TPA convention last weekend, going with the Motens of Bovina. When we say "frogged" we almost mean it. It surprised us, and probably you too, to learn that all the little creeks along the foothills of the Plains have washed out the bridges that cross them.

We counted four washouts between Turkey and Dickens in the low rolling hills that lie at the foot of the Llano Estacado. Some of the bridges were pretty good sized ones, too. The country off the Cap looks better than we have ever seen it.

We've been in San-Tone a number of times in recent years, but there's still lots to see we haven't gotten around to yet. Actually, if you're interested in historical spots, you could spend a couple of days just looking those over.

The weather of San Antonio had never before been oppressive, but it was hideous last weekend. What the thermometer reading was we don't know, but it was bound to have been plenty. And, on top of that, the humidity was sky-high. You could almost swim in the atmosphere.

We believe that we have been cured of one of our favorite coffee table gripes about how extravagant and expensive everything is in our government, and how wasteful many of our armed forces installations are.

Our position began to get shaky the moment we boarded an Air Force bus parked near the air-conditioned Gunter Hotel, and roared off in the sweaty heat to Kelley Field for a look-see.

Crammed in with us were about 50 other publisher friends (and there were another 450 on other buses), and by time we crept through the narrow streets and heavy traffic to the field, we were about boiled in our own oil.

We piled out of the stifling bus with the hope that surely we'd be ushered out of the heat, but the next blow came when we were marched into a tremendous chow hall for the noon meal and a speech by Sen. Lyndon Johnson.

The dining room was anything but air conditioned. In fact, we wondered if the heat had been left on from the previous winter.

If the AAF wants to spend our tax money to air condition Kelley Field buildings, it's okay by us.

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Fireworks Are Okay, But-

Each year around the Fourth of July, the exploding of fireworks is something Farwell teenagers get much enjoyment from. It is something which they have had the privilege of doing for years while many other places have banned the sale and use of them.

Whether or not any official discussion on the banning of fireworks in the City of Farwell has been heard in recent years we do not know, but it has become apparent that many residents are beginning to favor outlawing fireworks here.

This has been noted of late when the subject has been brought up in several groups, with someone invariably speaking up with, "I think fireworks should be banned."

The reason usually given is that it is impossible to get to sleep before midnight any more due to the constant setting off of the miniature bombs in yards and near bedroom windows in the residential area. According to reports, this happens each evening until late hours.

Gradually through the years, more and more towns are outlawing fireworks, something which has always been a part of the Fourth of July. A reason for doing so is that teenagers abuse the privilege of using fireworks.

It is too late to do anything about it this year, but with as much discussion as has been heard on it lately, something could be done about it before another year.

This is just a reminder to the teenagers that rather than to abuse this privilege, it might be best to regard the citizens whom they so like to torment. Otherwise some steps might have to be taken toward banning fireworks. We wouldn't want to see this happen unless there was no other solution.

Learn The "Why?" of 4th of July

You live in the United States of America. You are an American.

Real Americans like their country. They are proud of it. They think it is a good place to live. And they want to keep it good—to keep it getting better all the time.

Why is America the way it is? What makes it a good place to live? The answer is simply this:

Throughout our history most Americans have believed that every person has certain rights and duties and responsibilities.

Americans have believed that there are certain things people should do, and things they should not do. They have also believed in certain things that people are, and are not.

These things that people believe are called principles. This book is an attempt to state the Principles of America in simple, primer fashion so that you can understand them, learn them, and remember them.

This is important. It was because earlier Americans believed in these principles and guided their lives by them, that America has grown to be the good place it is.

If all of us learn and remember these principles—if we also guide our lives by them—then we can help to keep America growing better, and better, and better.

And if we follow these Principles of America, we can help make the world a better place to live in, too.

The Principles of America are these . . .

1. Each Person is of Importance and Value as an Individual.
This is the cornerstone . . . the foundation of all our other beliefs in a person's right to live his own life, to speak for himself, to choose and change his leaders.
From it comes our hatred of those "isms" under which the individual has no value or importance as a person, but is only one of many unimportant people who have to live the way their leaders tell them to.
Coming directly from that first principle are two others that are also part of the foundation of Americanism.
2. We Believe that All Men should Enjoy Personal Freedom.
3. We Believe that All Men are Created Equal.
It is worth noting that the Declaration of Independence expressed the belief that "all men are created equal." It did not state or imply a belief that men develop equally or have equal ability, or that they should ever be forced to an exact equality of thought, speech or material possessions.
That would be equality without freedom. Americans have always believed the two should go together.
In our Constitution, and in other laws of our land, there are set down principles to protect the rights and freedoms and equality of individuals.
4. The Right to Freedom of Speech.
This includes freedom of the press, of radio, of motion pictures, of every means by which man may express his thoughts.
5. The Right to Freedom of Assembly.
As we believe in the right of individual action, so we believe that individuals should be free to act together.
6. The Right to Freedom of Worship.
Not only is the individual free to worship as he will, but religions themselves are free and equal.
7. The Right to Security of Person and Property.
Not just one, but three Amendments to the Constitution (4th, 5th and 14th) protect against illegal search and seizure, or loss of life, liberty, or property, without "due process of law."
8. The Right to Equal Protection before the Law.
As individuals are equally important, so laws must apply equally to all, without special privileges for any group.
9. The Right to Freedom from Slavery.
This includes "the right to quit," for no individual may be forced to work for another.
10. The Right to Petition the Government.
The right of the individual to "petition the government for redress of grievances" is evidence of the American belief that government is the servant, not the master, of the people.
11. The Right to Vote for people of your choice.
This is the individual's most potent weapon in the protection of his rights and freedoms . . . a weapon that to be effective must be constantly and wisely used.

Other Principles hold that every man has . . .

12. The Right to a Good Education.
13. The Right to Live where he pleases.
14. The Right to Work where he wants to.
15. The Right to Belong to an Organization.
16. The Right to Own Property.
17. The Right to Start his Own Business.

18. The Right to Manage his Own Affairs.
19. The Right to Make a Profit or to Fail, depending on his Own Ability.
There are other, similar rights of individual action which are Principles of America, but all of these individual rights may be combined in these two broad principles . . .
20. Every Man is entitled to Freedom and Equality of Opportunity.
21. Every Man may Earn his Living When, Where, and How he wants to.

There are also Limiting Principles . . .

- Principles of individual freedom sometimes clash with those of individual equality. Therefore our rights as individuals must be limited, and those limitations are themselves principles.
22. The Rights of any Individual shall not Interfere with those of Other Individuals.
Your right to swing your arms stops where the other fellow's nose starts.
23. The Rights of any Individual shall not Interfere with the Welfare of the People.
Freedom of speech does not give the individual the right to shout "fire" in a crowded theatre.
24. Every Individual owes Obedience to the Laws under which he Lives.
The individual has the right to talk against a law, to work and vote to change that law, but NOT to disobey that law.

Principles that are Patterns of Behavior . . .

- Many of our principles of individual freedom and equality are guaranteed to us by law. But we have other beliefs, other general rules of action and conduct that have grown to the status of principles. And these too, are foundations of Americanism.
25. A Man shall be Judged by his Own Record.
A man's family background, his race or his religion, is not as important as what that man himself can do, for Americans believe a man must stand on his own feet.
26. A Man is Free to Achieve as much as he can.
We believe that where any boy may become President, where any man may achieve greatness, there is the greatest incentive for every man to do his best.
27. To Achieve anything, a Man should be Willing to Work.
Americans have always known that "you don't get something for nothing," that to get anything takes a willingness to work.
28. Achievement also Depends upon the Ability to do a Good Job.
Add to "willingness to work" the ability to produce results and the combination is the basis for most individual achievement in our country.
29. Every Man has the Right to a Fair Share of the Results of his Work and his Ability.
Because of this belief, America has not only produced more goods, but they have been more fairly and more widely shared by more people than in any other country.
30. Security is the Ability of a Man to Provide for himself.
The only true security for any individual is the opportunity, the ability, and the determination to work and plan and save for his own present and future. Self-reliance is vital to individual independence and personal freedom. No man can be "proud and free" who depends on others for his security.

31. When an Individual cannot Provide his own Security, the Responsibility should be Assumed by Others.
We believe that no one should starve, or be without adequate clothing and shelter, so those who have more than their basic needs share the responsibility of providing the essentials of security for those who need help.

32. Each Individual must Deal Fairly with others.
Honesty, fairness, and personal integrity are virtues that help free and independent individuals get along with each other without losing their independence.

33. Fair and Free Competition is a Good Thing.
Americans have always believed that competition among individuals or groups encourages greater effort which in turn brings greater benefits to all.

34. Cooperation among Individuals is Vital.
PRESIDENT EISENHOWER has said: "The freedom to compete vigorously accompanied by a readiness to cooperate wholeheartedly for the performance of community and national functions, together make our system the most productive on earth."

Principles of Individual Responsibility . . .

- Freedom for individuals carries with it an equal responsibility to use that freedom wisely. If we wish to remain free, we must faithfully fulfill this responsibility.
35. The Individual is Responsible for himself and his Family.
He must protect them and provide for their present and future well-being.
36. The Individual has Responsibilities to the Groups of which he is a Part.
He must give of his best to his community, his church, his employer, his union, and to every group in which individuals cooperate for their mutual benefit.
37. The Individual has Responsibilities to his Country.
He must be an active citizen, interesting himself in local, state, and national government, voting wisely, thinking and speaking and acting to preserve and strengthen freedom, equality and opportunity for every individual.
38. The Individual has Responsibilities to the World.
Man's horizons have expanded. What happens in the world affects him, and his actions can affect the world. Today, therefore, each man has a responsibility to act—and to encourage his country to act—so that freedom and cooperation will be encouraged among the people and the nations of the world.

For America's Future

Most of us have faith in our country's ability to move forward, to improve, to grow, to provide more and more individuals with more and more of everything they want and need in life . . .
If we, the people of the United States, want to have more material benefits, we must believe in and follow these two principles:
39. The only way we can Have More is to Produce More; and
40. As we Produce More, we must make it possible for More and More People to Enjoy that which we Produce.
If we, the people of the United States, want to have a better life, spiritually as well as materially . . .
41. We must stand firmly for our Beliefs, our Rights, our Principles.

There are those who would chip away our confidence so that their special brand of tyranny might creep into America. They must not succeed. So, let us ask of every plan, or act, or idea . . .
Is it With or Against the Principles of America?

Dear W. H.:

Please add my sincerest congratulations to the countless ones I know you already have received for the signal honors accorded you and your newspaper in the Texas Press Association competition this past weekend. Your achievements in garnering the laurels for the best general appearance and excellence, best column writing and editorials was certainly well-earned.

Just wanted you to know that I think the opinion of the judges was sound and that the work you and your publication do to benefit the entire Panhandle territory cannot be measured.

Noting a youngster riding down the street on a bicycle recently, we asked Ronny, our four-year-old, if he could tell us what a bicycle was.

His answer was quick, and pretty descriptive, we thought! "I know what a bicycle is, Mama. It's just like my tricycle that has three wheels, but it doesn't have one."

We had a grand time in San Antonio over the weekend, despite the heat. Two nights of all-night driving in three days had us taking cat-naps all day long Monday, though.

We realized an ambition, too. For the first time when visiting in San Antonio, we toured some of the old missions, the Alamo, and other historical places that we missed on previous visits. It was well worth the time spent.

An appropriate name we noted on a building while driving through San Antonio was "Hol'n One" doughnut company.

Coupe originally referred to a carriage with seats for two persons inside and a seat for the driver outside.

While most home owners have fire insurance of some kind, we doubt if you, for instance, would want to "sell" your house for the insurance adjustment you would get from a fire. Don't play around with chance. MAKE SURE your wiring is ADEQUATE.

Balanced Design Means Less Wear - Longer Life - Easier Handling
Use a BIG-CAPACITY JOHN DEERE No. 55 Combine

The engine and grain tank are centered on top of the John Deere No. 55 Self-Propelled Combine. This means the No. 55 is balanced at all times, even when the grain tank is full.
Weight being properly distributed—the No. 55 has good flotation and flexibility for soft and rough fields.
Balanced design also means that your crop is evenly distributed over all of the units. There's no overloading to cause grain losses or undue wear.

«The High Plains Farm and Home» Work Starts Now For 1958 Wheat

The peak of wheat harvest is just passing, but already the progressive farmers of the irrigated High Plains are looking forward to next year's wheat crop.

This may sound strange, but there are several good reasons for it being true. For one thing, there is no substitute for time when it comes to getting the wheat stubble removed and made good use of.

There was a time when burning stubble was popular. It was believed that such a practice was an improvement over the "plow it under" method, since there was no comparison to be had in the work required for each system.

However, in recent years farmers have discovered that wheat stubble is one of the most valuable by-products their crop can have, and they are taking steps to make full use of the profits locked in every acre of straw. The interest in using stubble might be compared to the interest recently shown in conserving cotton burs.

"There is no better time than now to begin work on next year's wheat crop," points out County Agent Joe Jones. "Whatever you do, don't burn your straw. It is valuable organic matter, and preserves and increases the water-holding ability of your soil." Traditionally, the soils of the High Plains have been low in organic matter. With little or no natural cover such as trees, and with a low amount of rainfall, there had been little bacteriological activity down through the centuries that the pastures were virgin.

Then the farmer came to the Plains and opened up the rich soils with a plow. With the development of irrigation and heavy cropping practices, the problem was even more aggravated because the amount of organic matter removed from the soil each year was multiplied many times over.

Today, then, it's especially important to preserve potential organic matter in the form of crop residues, and return it to the earth where it originated. The water-holding capacity of the soil is closely related to organic matter in it, and few things are as important as this on the Plains.

The county agent recommends fertilizer at the present time, using an ammonium form of nitrogen—such as anhydrous ammonia and ammonium sulphate. He adds that it's a good idea to put the fertilizer on even before the straw is worked, providing that moisture is sufficient.

From 80 to 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre will do a good job of speeding up the decomposition of crop residues, and in addition, the fertilizer will unite with organic matter and "fix" itself for the hungry young roots that will need nourishment next year.

That much fertilizer will, in fact, not only take care of the immediate job of breaking down the straw, but will very likely be enough fertilizer to plant the next wheat crop on—thus avoiding a fall application prior to planting, which is becoming customary.

"Then," says the agent, "the farmer can follow up with a top dressing in the spring and be assured of adequate plant food. Too much of our wheat this year ran out of food."

On that point, Jones makes the observation that many farmers who grazed their wheat during the comparatively warm winter months of last year (when the wheat was making good growth) hurt yields. The reason: The wheat was stimulated to grow, but exhausted the plant food in the soil. Live-stock, in reality, walked off the range carrying the fertilizer intended for the wheat.

"If you're going to graze wheat—be sure to fertilize in February," he says.

Everything in this story pertains to irrigated wheat. In the case of dryland wheat, the object is not so much how to get rid of straw as it is how to keep the straw on or near the top of the ground so as to furnish protection from the wind.

CARROT MACHINERY — Carrot processing and packing machinery is being installed by Friona Growers and Shippers to handle this year's crop. Jamie Clearman is tightening one of the last nuts on the washing facilities.

Carrots Coming To Friona Area

Carrot growing business will get a good try in the Friona area this year. It will be the first time for this enterprise to be tried on a large scale by many farmers.

Friona Growers and Shippers, Inc., is installing carrot handling machinery and it is almost ready to start operation even though usual carrot harvest is not expected to start until August.

About 300 acres of the crop is expected to be grown around Friona, with the most of it already started, according to Kenneth Neill of Friona Growers and Shippers.

Neill says that about 400 acres is the goal of the firm for the first year and would like to contact farmers who have land that is not planted yet, so the other 100 acres could be planted.

"We are starting on a small scale since farmers will be getting their first experience in carrot growing," Neill says. If farmers want to plant carrots this year, they may contact Neill at the potato shed, now a carrot shed too, since the additional machinery has been added.

Neill says the carrots should be planted before July 15. He points out that he does not want to leave the impression with anyone that carrot growing is a way to get rich from the first year's crop. It is like other vegetable crops, and sometimes the price is good and sometimes the price is not quite so attractive.

Carrot growing does require a little special equipment. Neill can furnish the planter and supply seed. About 250 pounds of 16-20-0 fertilizer should be applied to the land. Tillage of carrots requires a special cultivator, but can be rigged up on a tool bar.

Hardy May pioneered carrot growing in this area last year with about 45 acres. And he liked carrot growing well enough to go ahead with plans for about 125 acres this year. Part of this 125 acres was planted in March, and the rest is to be planted later.

About last year's crop, planting dates were July 4 and 25. The ones planted first were better quality than the later planted carrots, while the part that was planted July 25 produced more tons per acre.

"I was well pleased with carrot growing," May says. May marketed last year's crop in Hereford. Only in the past few years has the Hereford area figured into the carrot producing areas to a great extent.

John O'Haughey, sales manager for Growers and Shippers, says the new machinery will employ about 35 people when carrots are being harvested. It will have a capacity of four carloads of one-pound carrot bags a day.

Prospects for the Friona area becoming prominent in carrot production are good, according to O'Haughey. Eventually, about 2,000 acres of carrots should be planted in the Friona area if this crop is favorably received by farmers.

"The quality of carrots grown in this area is good, and the carrot season comes at a different time than most growing areas," O'Haughey says.

"Carrot growing should work into a farmer's program more satisfactorily than potato growing. Carrots will store better and do not require immediate selling when harvested," he says.

"What needs developing is an outlet. We feel sure we will be able to move the crop this year on the Dallas-Fort Worth and Houston and New Orleans market, but markets in the North will be utilized eventually," O'Haughey says.

A coot is an aquatic bird found principally in South America.

Corn acreage in the U.S. exceeds that of wheat, oats, barley, rye and rice combined.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Last week in this column we discussed the two principal types of range or grass land in this district. We would like to follow this up with a discussion of the use we make of our grass.

Most of us, if we have any grass, usually just have small fields. When the grass greens up in the spring we pull the cattle off of wheat and put them all on the pasture. What happens is over-grazing. This decreases the forage producing ability of the pasture.

The picture we see on over-grazed pastures is very little grass and a lot of annual weeds which have poor grazing value. The land is left unprotected, creating conservation problems.

If you have a grass management problem, come by the Soil Conservation Service office in Friona and let's discuss it. If you have a grass seeding problem, let's look into it also.

Wheat harvest is here. There has been comment around the district that some of the wheat is cutting 40 to 50 bushels. Sounds good.

Let's save that stubble and use it for soil-building organic matter rather than burn or bury it six inches deep. Next week we plan to cover some procedures of handling this stubble for next year's crops.

Seems like more farmers in the district are planting soybeans this year than usual. Soybeans often make a good cash crop and when inoculated before planting will be of benefit as a soil improving crop and improve fertility even though the beans are harvested.

We have observed some soybeans being interplanted with cotton. This has been done by planting four rows of soybeans and then four rows of cotton.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

Entries for the queen contest to be held in the Bovina School auditorium Saturday night, July 20, should be presented to Mrs. J. T. Jones of Bovina, or taken or mailed to the office of Farm Bureau in Friona. The phone is Friona 3521.

Community chairmen who will take the entries are Mrs. M. T. Glasscock, Farwell; Mrs. L. F. Bruns, Lazbuddie; Mrs. Jack Patterson, Rhea; Mrs. Grace Parr, Black; and Mrs. Roy V. Miller, Friona.

Farm Bureau representatives are present in Washington, presenting American Farm Bureau recommendations to appropriate committees throughout the legislative session. Here are some of the bills Farm Bureau is supporting:

USA inspection of poultry and poultry products. Requiring specific congressional approval for withdrawals of public lands for military use in excess of 5,000 acres.

Extension for two years of Public Law 480 (the reciprocal export trade law). The law to exempt wheat feed or wheat used for stock on the farm from marketing quota restrictions. To provide for transfer of title of federal irrigation distribution systems to irrigation districts after such districts have completed payment of the cost allocated to the irrigation systems.

Farm Bureau is opposing the wage-hour legislation that would extend coverage of some agricultural workers and all agricultural processing workers. It is also strongly opposing bills being pushed to provide federal aid to education.

Subsidies? Nearly everyone gets some of them directly or indirectly, but this, Farm Bureau believes, does not necessarily make them right. Railroad grants in the amount of $123 million were made by the government when they were building.

In reduced rates for government traffic, including mail, until the early forties, the railroads, in effect, repaid the government $1.1 billion. There are, of course, other considerations to be looked at. But we usually look at the side we like to see and ignore the other. That's because we're human.

Consider this: "A man shall be commended according to his wisdom; but he that is of a perverse heart shall be despised."—Proverbs 12:8.

Potatoes Show Good Quality

The 1957 potato crop is showing signs of good quality and good production, according to an observer from a Chicago vegetable buying firm.

W. J. Dunkel, in Friona Saturday looking over some potatoes dug by hand, expressed himself as recognizing a potential good quality crop this year. He was examining potatoes grown by Hardy May, about three miles southeast of Friona. May's potatoes, 100 acres of them, are expected to be ready for harvest about July 10.

Dunkel, buyer for M. W. Frisell and Co. of Chicago, said the crop still needs to fill out more, and should do this in another week or two.

Kenneth Neill of Friona Growers and Shippers said the crop will probably be ready for harvest in a week or 10 days. It is hard to say what the yield or quality will be, he says.

"I do know that the hot weather we have been getting is not beneficial to potatoes," Neill said.

COTTON CHOPPERS HARD AT WORK

It's that time again, and these hoe hands are hard at work in the Oklahoma Lane area this week removing weeds from around tender young cotton plants. Spring rains prompted a heavier weed crop than is usual this year.

dom and frustrations, as well as such physical factors as overwork and strain, will cause that tired feeling.

Short rest periods from 10 to 20 seconds will work wonders if you are tired from heavy work. A change of environment or activities will often relieve fatigue caused by boredom or monotony.

Efficient, happy homemakers have found that these simple rules will help to fight fatigue and make work more interesting.

First—check your kitchen and household storage—Is everything within easy reach? Keep cleaning tools in good repair and located close to the job.

Wear comfortable work clothes and sit as much as possible while you work.

Study your jobs and organize the work in assembly line fashion. Use both hands whenever possible.

Don't try to stay with a heavy or difficult job too long. Intersperse big jobs with easier ones and rest at intervals.

Dark Cottons Deserve Special Care

The wonderful dark cottons now provide comfortable and fashion-right costumes the year-around. With proper care they can be kept attractive and new looking for a much longer time, says Nena Roberson, extension clothing specialist.

Good dark cottons should be drycleaned to preserve their finish and appearance, at least as long as they are used for best wear, says the specialist. Garments with decorative details, padding, interfacings and designs which cannot be removed must either be drycleaned or laundered with special care. Dry cleaning avoids any risk of spoiling the appearance of the garments.

To launder the garments, wash each one individually in softened water. Rinse completely to remove all traces of soap or detergent. Soft water helps to prevent hard water curds or lint from sticking to the cotton. Use warm, not hot, water with mild soap flakes or detergents. Soapless detergents are good for dark cottons, especially in hard water. Be sure to read the directions on the package. Some detergents are used for cotton and some are recommended for rayon. Do not use a bleach. Many of the bleaches affect the finish of the material. When ironing a dark cotton garment, press it on the wrong side to retain the finish of the material.

17 New Wells Drilled In May

Statistics at the Lubbock office of the High Plains Underground Water District indicate that Parmer County landowners drilled 17 new irrigation wells during the month of May. Three wells were listed as replacements.

Hot Sun Starts Wells

Old Sol turned on the heat across the farming area of the irrigated Plains this week, and farmers responded by turning on their irrigation wells.

The temperature soared over 100 and hung there and young, tender crops suddenly felt a terrific need for water. The 2,300 irrigation wells in Parmer County are hard at work this week to supply this need.

Generally speaking, most crops are making satisfactory progress after a rather late start this spring. The hot weather has been ideal for cotton, and to date, hasn't hurt anything else. In fact, the Plains have been due a little hot weather, since they haven't had any this year so far.

Most early cultivation has been completed, and water furrows are in readiness for a season's irrigating.

New Farm Supply Business In Bovina

Parmer County's newest agricultural business bears the county's name—Parmer County Farm Supply. Last week it started operation in Bovina under the management of A. E. "Bud" Crump, formerly of Friona.

Fertilizers are being sold by the business at the present, but plans call for enlarging activity into general farm supplies.

Also associated with the business in the capacity of employees are R. L. Barber, Norman Killough, and Earl Riley. Crump was formerly with Parmer County Implement Company in Friona for nine years.

USDA Team Quizzes Farmers

"How much is your land worth? How long have you owned it? Do you have any trouble getting credit?"

These are some of the questions asked of about 22 Parmer County farmers last week by a USDA research team. Reason for the questioning was to get an over-all picture of farming conditions in Parmer County, that was selected at random from counties on the Great Plains.

Members of the team were recent graduates of Texas A & M College, hired by USDA to take the survey. They were Tom Livingston, DeMarcus Gordon, Larry Claborn and Gene Voelkel.

Voelkel said they selected 22 farmers at random and asked those selected questions from a 23-page form. The questions involved land management, land tenure, and farm finance, he said.

The survey is the Great Plains Study, initiated this summer by USDA farm policy makers, in an attempt to get specific information on what farmers in the Great Plains need.

"When policy makers have this information, they will be able to make policy better fit the needs of these farmers," Voelkel said.

Texas is one of 10 states in which the study is being made.

Farm Housing Loans Available

"Eligible farm owners in Parmer County may borrow from the Farmers Home Administration to build or repair farm houses and other essential farm buildings," Billy R. Boling, the agency's county supervisor serving local farm families, said today.

He said that farm housing loans were made available under recent legislation. A total of $50,000,000 has been provided for these loans.

Interest on the loans will be four per cent per year on the unpaid principal and repayments will be scheduled over periods up to 33 years. A housing loan will be secured by a mortgage on the borrower's farm.

The agency expects applicants to obtain the building plans and specifications for the improvements to be financed with the loans, Boling says. To help the borrower obtain construction that meets generally accepted standards of soundness, the Farmers Home Administration will review plans and inspect the construction as it progresses.

The local Farmers Home Administration County Committee will determine whether or not an applicant is eligible for a housing loan. To be eligible an applicant must be the owner of a farm, be unable to obtain suitable credit for dwellings and other buildings from other lenders, and have enough income from the farm or from other sources to meet family living and farm operating expenses and repay his debts.

Farm Housing loans are made under the authority of Title V of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended.

Further information on the loans may be obtained at the county office of the FHA located on the second floor, room 17, of the county courthouse in Farwell.

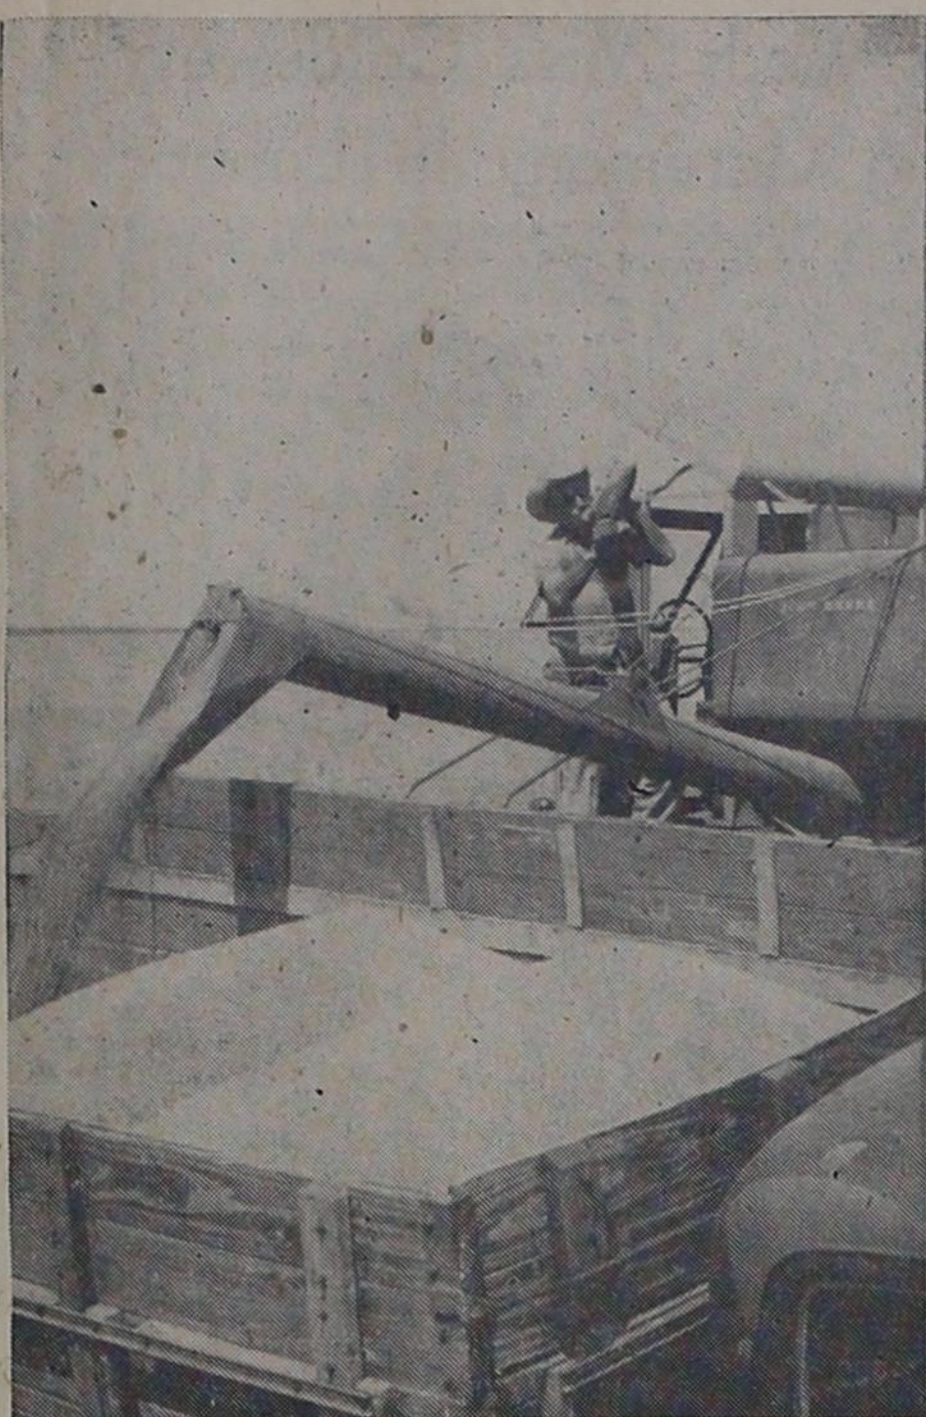

Harvest Reaches Peak

The area's biggest wheat harvest since 1949 is buzzing along at a fast pace under a Southwestern heat wave this week, and before the week is over, the peak will likely have passed.

Combines clanked into hundreds of fields almost simultaneously this week as farmers "got with it" and hoped to gather in the golden harvest before rough weather reduced or eliminated profits from the crop.

Earlier fears of damage from a number of causes seem to have been largely allayed, and yields are holding good in most instances. At first it was feared that greenbugs, the March snowstorm, and even some reports of blasting would bite into yields.

But now, most irrigated fields

No time was being lost this week to gather the area wheat crop into trucks and to elevators. This field near Bovina is on the Ed Johnson farm, and was averaging about 35 bushels per acre. It is typical of most of the irrigated wheat of the Western High Plains.

are averaging out from 35 to 45 bushels per acre, with cuttings of over 60 being heard occasionally. Dryland wheat is not too good, making from five to 15 bushels per acre, but generally is better than what farmers expected along in February—nothing.

Quality and weight of the wheat is excellent this year, with most loads checking out 60 pounds or better. The hot, dry weather has removed a high moisture content threat.

The western part of the High Plains does not have the trouble that some of the rain-soaked wheat areas to the east have had. Wet weather has delayed maturity of their crop, and the hot weather has hurt it.

Wheat of this area matured under very favorable conditions when cloudy skies and cool weather prevailed.

THE PARMER FARMER

By LELAND BOYD

It is encouraging to note the installation of carrot handling machinery at Friona Growers and Shippers. Another business venture is being made possible for farmers, for this is the first year to have these facilities in the county.

It appears that this area is well suited to carrot growing, having water for irrigation and rich, loamy soil. Then, there's a relatively long growing season for carrots in the Parmer County area.

If farmers are the gamblers that one is always hearing they are, there should be a few more around Friona that would like to get in a few acres this year. Enough are signed up now to have about 300 acres this year, and Kenneth Neill of Friona Growers and Shippers, says he'd like to see enough farmers plant carrots to have about 400 acres.

mer County, tells about getting one field finished in a hurry. He said the field was finished in two rounds and a through for the six machines. The field was about 38 acres.

One of the machines was out of commission the other day because the motor "burned up." The water in the radiator got low and the temperature mounted, finally ruining the motor, he said.

I don't believe I've ever seen any farmers as busy as those around the county area during wheat harvest. And this means that employees at the elevators in the area get to work long hours. A few clouds were around Sunday, and if a hard rain or hail comes, farmers will be well paid for their rush.

Elvie Jennings, who has been "bombing away" at cotton insects since the start of the early season control program with his airplane, ran out of fuel while flying low Sunday and had to make a forced landing, he said.

He had to land in a field of milo across the beds. The roughness tore off the landing gear and bent the propeller when the plane nosed down, but Jennings was not injured.

"The moral to this story is always be sure that there is plenty of fuel in the plane before take-off," Jennings said.

Farwell Group Tours Colorado for Week

A scenic trip through Colorado was enjoyed by a group of area people last week, when Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hromas and Darlene and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edwards spent a few days in the vacation state.

The group left Farwell Sunday of last week and went to Pagosa

Springs where they remained two days. One of the highlights of their trip was the ride over the million dollar highway into Ouray, Colo. The city was surrounded by mountains and had an arts museum where color slides were shown of all the points of interest in the area, which proved to be interesting to the visitors.

Leaving there on Wednesday, the travelers stopped next at Gunnison, where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Murray and family. The Murrays, instructors in Farwell Schools, are spending the summer there.

The entire group went fishing that afternoon as guests of the Murrays. They didn't report much luck, explaining that the snow is melting rapidly and the rivers were too swift and muddy. Murray reported that up to that time the fishing had been good.

After their visit with home people, Salida was next destination and then home. They arrived home on Saturday, after having visited the Royal Gorge and other points of interest.

Lloyd Kriegel Weds Miss Coldewey In Double-Ring Ceremony In Lubbock

In a double-ring service at the Shepherd King Lutheran Church of Lubbock on Saturday evening, June 29, Miss Melba Coldewey became the bride of Lloyd Kriegel, Rev. W. A. Slaughter of Lubbock officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Coldewey of Lubbock and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Kriegel of Farwell.

Bouquets of light pink carnations flanked the altar on either side and the altar background was decorated with emerald palms and candelabra holding pink tapers.

Miss Helen Jean Anderson, organist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Lt. Jerry Hanson as he sang "Oh Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Joan Bethany of Lubbock and Miss Marcella Watson of Snyder were maid of honor and bridesmaid, respectively. They wore identically styled dresses of pale blue organdy over taffeta featuring sweetheart necklines complimented by soft gathered folds of organdy extending over the shoulders. The organdy overskirts were held by blue satin ribbon forming soft bows in the back. Tiny blue velvet bandeaux were covered with pearls, and they wore pearl necklaces.

Their colonial bouquets were of light pink carnations and red sweetheart roses with satin streamers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown of rose design French lace and tulle fashioned with a portrait neckline and long pointed sleeves outlined with pearls and sequins. From the fitted bodice, an overlay of lace, appliqued with lover's knots dotted with sequins and pearls fell on the full tulle skirt which swept into a train.

A white Bible topped with a cascade arrangement of white sweetheart roses with satin streamers composed her bridal bouquet.

Her tiered veil of French illusion was attached to a matching half hat. It was borrowed from Mrs. Jan Fouts, friend of the bride, of Austin, and was "something borrowed."

Something old was a Cameo which her sister-in-law, Mrs. Leroy Coldewey, wore at her wedding. The Cameo formerly belonged to the bride's great-grandmother. The bride also wore a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom.

Nolan Kriegel, brother of the

Mrs. Lloyd Kriegel

groom, and Kenneth Coldewey, nephew of the bride, were candlelighters.

Lt. Arlyn Kriegel of Albuquerque served his brother as best man and Kenneth Kriegel, also a brother of the groom, was groomsmen. Ushers were Wilbert Kalbas and Calvin Meisner, cousin of the groom, both from Farwell.

The bride's mother wore a dress of blue with white and black accessories and a corsage of white miniature rosebuds. Mrs. Kriegel, mother of the groom, was attired in a rose colored dress with rose and white accessories. She also had a corsage of white miniature rosebuds.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the church. A floor length net cloth over organdy covered the reception table and each corner of the cloth was caught with a white satin bow with lilies of the valley centering the bows.

Mrs. Norman Coldewey, sister-in-law of the bride, registered the guests and Mrs. A. W. Coldewey and Mrs. Leroy Coldewey, sisters-in-law of the bride, served the cake and punch. Other members of the houseparty were Mrs. Bennie Hagens, aunt of the bride; Mrs. Loyd Hagens, cousin of the bride; Mrs. Allen Hagens, cousin of the bride; and Mrs. W. R. Roberson.

For a wedding trip to points in New Mexico, the bride wore a blue suit with navy accessories and a corsage of white

HAMLIN MEMORIAL METHODIST CHURCH

William Hardwick, Minister
"Unergird Your Life With Faith"

Our vacation Bible school will be held from July 15 to July 22 from 9 to 11:30 a. m. There will be a graduation service on Sunday evening, July 21, for the attendants at 7:30. All parents of the youngsters will be contacted concerning the program. More details will be announced next week.

Our attendance this week was very good considering the harvest time. Church school attendance was 98, 121 were present for the morning worship hour, and there were 48 present in the evening service.

MYF will meet at the regular time this week and MYF sponsors will begin working with this group this Sunday night. The lesson will be on "Sacred Songs" and will be led by the sponsors of the Christian faith area, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams.

We will be planning another evening of fun and fellowship with a party in the near future.

New Sunday School Time

We will begin our Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. starting Sunday, July 7, and will be in our classes by 10 o'clock. All divisional superintendents are asked to help in this matter. Our teachers will have a longer period to teach a better lesson. We are trying to reach 150 in Sunday school within the next two weeks. All loyal Methodists are asked to help us.

The young adult class has been having a wonderful fellowship. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Fairman have been furnishing the good hot coffee. We want all the young adults to make an effort to be present Sunday as we must elect a permanent teacher.

There were many of the church members and their families who called Sunday afternoon at the open house at the parsonage. The women were most gracious in helping Mrs. Hardwick in preparing for the event and aiding as hostesses. We want you to know about your church parsonage and to feel welcome in it at any time.

Mrs. E. G. Blair has been very busy cleaning up around the church and planting some beautiful flowers on the south of the church steps. Our thanks and appreciation of such loyalty.

For the next few weeks the pastor will be delivering a series of doctrinal sermons on Methodist beliefs. We have had very fine attendance at the services when the messages were on "The Church" and "The Sacraments."

We have received bounties of goodness from the hand of God and let us give thanks in our lives for the full harvest we are now experiencing. Let us remember to pray for the safety and well being of those involved in this work.

Summer time is church camp time. We have a wonderful camp in the Sacramento mountains and a camp for every age group who would like to attend. The dates of the more important ones are:

July 8-12—Clovis District Intermediate Camp, Ages 12-15.

July 20-21—Wesleyan Service Guild Retreat.

July 22-25—W.S.C.S. Mission School.

July 29-Aug. 2 — Pastor's School.

August 24—Laymen's Retreat.

Aug. 5-9—Church School Week.

Aug. 12-16 — Clovis District Youth Week.

Aug. 30-Sept. 2—Older Youth Assembly.

For further details as to cost and equipment needed, please contact the pastor. The summer program is a very important part of our church life. Please make an attempt to go and/or send your children to at least one camp this summer.

Until next week then—"God bless and keep you and your loved ones."

PORTRAIT IN DETAIL—Betty Agee, with chin high, takes stance for an x-ray picture Friday as Texas Health Department technician John Sadler gives instructions. "Take a deep breath, hold it... put arms forward..."

Team X-Rays 627 In Friona

A count of persons who took advantage of the free chest x-ray offered in Friona Friday showed that 627 received the service, according to Mrs. Claude Edelson, chairman of the operation.

The x-rays were made possible through the cooperation of the Texas Health Department, and the work of women's groups over the county. Several months' work and planning were behind the program, says Mrs. Edelson.

Included in the 627 who registered were residents of Deaf Smith County, New Mexico and Oklahoma, besides those from Parmer County.

Findings of the x-ray pictures will be reported to those who received the service in about four to five weeks. A recommendation to see a physician will be included on the report if the x-ray picture shows signs that warrant further investigation.

County Health Officer Dr. Paul Spring points out that it is imperative that everyone who is advised to see a physician do so immediately after receiving the report.

Mrs. Edelson says, "We of the Black Community wish to express our thanks to all who cooperated with us in this effort. Without the cooperation of the surrounding communities, the survey could not have been made."

"We especially appreciate the efforts of the women from Farwell, Bovina, and Friona, who helped with the details necessary for the success of the survey. We are also grateful to the technicians, Jim Brady and John Sadler for doing their job courteously and efficiently."

"To Ethridge-Spring Agency we offer thanks for the use of their office. And, to the men who helped with the loading and unloading of the mobile equipment, we are indeed grateful," Mrs. Edelson says.

DON'T BUY ANY CAR BEFORE YOU DRIVE A CHEVY... ITS BEST SHOWROOM IS THE ROAD.

Beauty in motion—Chevrolet Bel Air Sport Sedan with Body by Fisher.

Here's why Chevy's best showroom is the road!

Because Chevrolet's sleek good looks, its advanced features, are only part of the story. The big bonus is its remarkable roadability, the crisp precision handling that has posted an entirely new standard for cars in every price class. There are reasons for this, of course: Chevrolet's balanced weight distribution that takes excessive loads off the front wheels, the wide stance of outrigger rear springs, Ball-Race steering, spherical-joint front suspension. Sure, you can admire the sculptured lines in the showroom. But Chevy's a car specifically designed for beautiful motion—you have to travel in this one to know just how terrific it is. Try it, this week!

Indiana Boar Purchased By Farwell Ag Boys

Robert "Prof" Morton, Farwell ag instructor, made a trip to Carmel, Indiana, last week where he purchased a Berkshire boar for the Farwell ag department.

The pig was purchased from Lynnwood farms, owned by Purdue University. The farm is one of the oldest breeders of Berkshires in the country.

With the purchase of this pig, it gives the local FFA chapter two of the most outstanding Berkshire boars in the country.

The chapter will be going into its second year of its present hog-raising program which was started by a monetary donation from Sears-Roebuck and Company.

Out of the litters of the five sows this year, each boy is to return one gilt to the chapter, which in turn will be given to another five boys.

Starting this year, the local boys plan to enter their swine in area shows for the first time in several years.
