"OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF FARMER COUNTY"

NUMBER 44

SEVENTY-SECOND YEAR

25 CENTS

Without looking at official records, it is always difficult to say with any degree of certainty about periods of the past. We do not know of any "official" records on the weather for the Twin Cities, but would venture an opinion that this past June has been one of the coolest we have ever experienced on the High Plains.

The month of June has recorded some of the all time high temperature marks for summer days, and often by this time, we have had a series of over 100 degree readings on the thermometer. This year, the magic century mark on the fahrenheit scale has not been seriously threatened for us in this locality.

Given the perversity of the weather on these old baldies, we could go ahead and set record temperature marks for July all over the calendar. On the other hand, we recall a few years back we watched the Texico Volunteer Fire Department set off the Fourth of July fireworks at the Little League ball park and we wore a jacket that evening.

At this writing the weather forecasters are calling for continued thunderstorms, with some severe, for the rest of this week. With most of the wheat out of the fields, this is probably a pretty good forecast.

Over this past weekend we junketed to Raton, N.M., to see that city's parade and summer celebration, and we returned via San Jon and Grady. About 11 o'clock on Saturday night as we topped the Caprock and headed down New Mexico Route 18, it looked like the evening rush hour on the Amarillo freeway.

Combines and grain trucks were out in droves getting the dryland wheat crop in the bin. All these trucks were headed south to elevators while a steady stream of vehicles pulling boats and campers were headed north to Logan and the lake for weekend camping and fishing.

For those of us who are long in the tooth, it made the old Saturday night crowd to Edd's place in Grady a mere trickle in comparison.

While in Raton and at the urging of our friends, we did go out to watch the ponies run at LaMesa park. We tried several methods of wagering a few bob on the races but nothing seemed to work. We noted with joy that the 10th horse in the 8th race was owned by one Louise D. Gonzales of Farwell, Texas.

Betting on the home town horse didn't work either. Oh well, we did enjoy the scenery and the play of lights on the wandering showers that graced northern New Mexico. The entire country was very green and lush with grass and vegetation. It almost looked as if they would never see another dry season. Oh!

The first of this week, the City of Farwell re-topped First, Second and Third streets. Second Street must have been selected because the weeds and grass were probably growing up through the pavement. With the silly traffic pattern we have in town, nobody goes up or down the even numbered streets.

There will be quite a bit of traffic on First and Third, and most of it in a hurry. Now is a good time to slow down and keep from pitting your neighbor's windshield. Fast moving vehicles will throw a rooster tail of small rocks and this can damage cars and trucks.

Common courtesy dictates a slower speed for awhile.

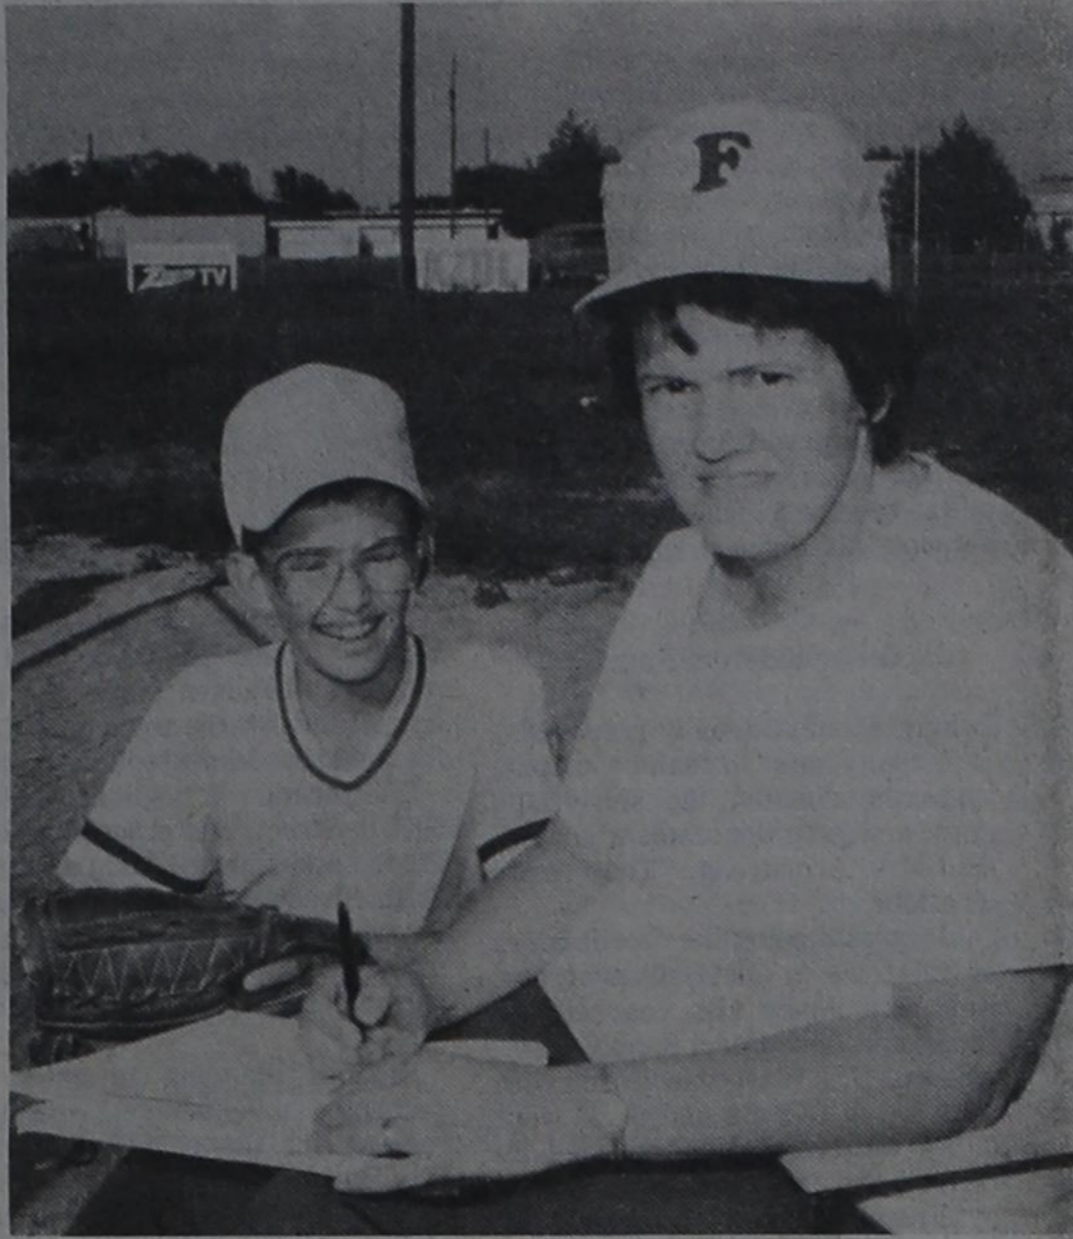

Elsewhere in this issue is a story about the change in format of the Tribune. It is not something we wanted to do, but we were forced to do by the actions of the big papers and advertising agencies.

We can understand the drive for conformity in newspapers, but inasmuch as most publishers are irascible old wart hogs, the individuality of the publication will be lost.

As with most of today's homogenized society, the individual is getting swallowed up by the masses, and must conform or get out. In this case we conformed.

Hope you enjoy the new six column paper. It's here to stay.

Wayne Pierson, first baseman for the Farwell Insurance team, makes sure that Vickie Jones, the team's scorer, gives him credit on the box score sheet. The summer baseball program in the Twin Cities ended last week after a successful season. One hundred fifty-four boys and girls from Texico and Farwell and the surrounding area participated in this year's games played during the months of May and June.

Cable contract still under consideration

The cable television contract franchise agreement which was adopted by the Farwell City Council at a called meeting on June 20, and which was forwarded to McCaw-Midwest at its regional office in Little Rock, Ark., has not been accepted by the company at this writing.

The franchise agreement adopted by the City Council contained some changes in the wording from the agreement which was delivered by the attorney for the cablevision company to the City Council for consideration.

Negotiations are now being handled by John McCaw, the company executive vice-president, and City Councilmen Jerry Monk and Fred Chandler.

Farwell Mayor Walter Kaltwasser has expressed satisfaction with the cablevision company's position, but Councilmen Monk and Chandler want a clearer understanding in regard to the five-year periodic review language.

McCaw is negotiating with the councilmen for mutually agreeable language at this time.

The contract is for a 25-year term with a 25-year option of renewal by the company. The agreement as submitted by the company does not call for an exclusive market to McCaw-Midwest, and it does leave the door open for a competitive company to ask for rights to operate a cable television service in Farwell, if in the future McCaw's service should not prove satisfactory.

The present franchise agreement expires July 31, 1984, and an agreement must be reached by this date to assure continued service by the cablevision company.

Tribune adopts the new six column look

This week marks a change in the traditional eight-column look of the State Line Tribune. As far back as our permanent files go, the paper has presented the public with eight columns of reading and advertising per page.

This issue begins the era of six columns to the newspaper page. This change is in conformity with the recommendations of the National Newspaper Association and major advertising agencies throughout the country.

In the past, as the width of the newsprint page has narrowed, the traditional column has become narrower and reading has become more difficult. The new wider column is designed to be easier viewed by the reader.

Also, advertising prepared for nationwide distribution has been standardized in width so that all newspapers can effectively use the same advertisement without local modifications in width. This will effect a significant saving to the advertising and paper industry.

In the past, papers were produced with hot lead type and an arcane method of measurements developed, based on points, lines and picas. This system of measurement was not necessary with the development of the offset printing method, and the common inch was put into use by the majority of printing plants.

With the new Standardization program, all the old methods of measurements will be discarded in favor of the universally understood and used inch. Again savings in all areas of paper production will be substantial and of benefit to the industry and the consuming public.

The State Line Tribune was one of the first newspapers in the State of Texas to adopt the offset or "cold type" method of production, and it always strives to present its readers with the best and newest in newspaper production and readability.

154 kids participate in summer baseball

The 1984 summer baseball season in Texico-Farwell is now history, with games ending Thursday, June 28. The season ran a week longer than scheduled because of make-up games necessary due to the recent rains.

Some 154 boys and girls from the Twin Cities area participated in the program during the months of May and June, making up three divisions: Pinto League (Tee Ball, 7-8 years old), Mustang League (9-10 years old), and Bronco League (11-12 years old).

Of the 100 youngsters who played in the two older divisions, 37 All-Stars were chosen to represent Texico-Farwell in post season tournaments.

Mustang League All-Stars are Cody Monk, Matt Foster, Chad Byrd, Amy Chadwick, Ray Haseloff, Kenny Shaw, Corey Kirkpatrick, Peppy Gonzales, Tuck Traynor, Andy Stormes, Chad Dunswoth, Brandon Kirkland, Marty Moss, Kirk Lingnau, Jody Mahaney, Barry Foreman, Ruben Lucio, and Joe Chavez. Of this group, 15 players will go to the tournament. Mustang All-Star coaches are Richard Deel and Carl Kirkland.

The Mustang tournament is tentatively scheduled July 12, probably at the Lions Park in Texico. Two teams from Muleshoe, one team from Friona, and the Texico-Farwell team will compete.

Bronco League All-Stars are Bruce White, Benji McDaniel, Larry Powell, Clint Kelley, Brian Rogers, Keith Harrison, B.J. Daniel, Greg Atkinson, Michael Arce, Monte Delgado, Ruben Ortega, Jeremy Jones, Preston Hubby, Darren Haseloff, Dale Rubio, Hector Orozco, Lance Castleberry, Ron Wilson, and Freddie Chavez. From this group, 15 players will go to the tourney. Bronco All-Star coaches are Chacho Arce, Randy Kelley, and Craig Kaltwasser.

The Bronco tournament is set for July 19, with the location to be announced later. Texico-Farwell team will compete with two Muleshoe teams and one Friona team.

In the Pinto League (Tee Ball), All-Stars are not chosen and players do not compete in tournament play.

Player agent Johnny Atkinson said, "This season went really well. We had a lot of good players, and even had two balls go over the fence."

"Bruce White, who played for Tide Products, knocked the ball over the fence during a game with Kelly Green Seed. In the same game, Monte Delgado, player for Kelly Green, did the same thing, getting a grand slam as the bases were loaded."

Atkinson expressed his appreciation to the many persons who worked and helped to make the season very successful, especially to Ronald Byrd, league president and official scorekeeper, to Pam Monk and Karen Austin, who operated the concession stand, and to the many umpires, the sponsors, and the coaches.

In the Mustang League, Citizens Bank team, coached by Richard Deel and Mike Deel, won first place. Sherley-Anderson-Pitman team, coached by Carl Kirkland, won second, followed by Capitol Foods team, coached by Gary Foster and Randy Johnson, and Hughes True Value team coached by Milton Walling.

Youngsters playing in the Mustang League were as follows:

In the Bronco League, Kelly Green Seeds, coached by Chaco Arce and Eddie Ortiz, won first place, followed by Tide Products team, coached by Randy Kelley and Richard Haseloff; Worley Mills, coached by Craig pulled out the win by an 8-7 score. Trent Shilling was catcher for the Farwell Insurance team.

Committee finalizing plans for celebration

With only three weeks left until the annual Border Town Days celebration, 19 members of the BTD Committee met Monday night at Spur restaurant to finalize plans for the Twin Cities event set for July 27 and 28.

The High Plains Junior Rodeo is scheduled for two nightly performances beginning at 8 p.m. CDT at the Farwell arena east of town.

The big day will be Saturday, July 28, which will kick off with the BTD parade at 11 a.m. CDT, followed by the barbecue meal in Farwell City Park, and all the park activities from contests, music, games and concessions, to the arts and crafts show on the courthouse lawn.

Theme of this year's celebration is "Holidays On Parade," and businesses, clubs, civic groups or individuals are urged to enter a float in the parade using this theme. All units in the parade must be registered in order to be eligible for prizes, and to receive a lineup number. Any entrants not entered will fall in at the end of the parade. Texico-Farwell Lions Club is in charge of the parade.

To register, call the State Line Tribune in Farwell at 481-3681, and your entry will be added to the list. Deadline for registering units or floats in the parade is Wednesday, July 25, at 5 p.m. CDT. So, sign up now.

Farwell Chamber of Commerce and the BTD Committee will furnish the monetary prizes; $75 for first place, $50 for second place, and $30 for third place.

Sponsoring the old car prizes will be the Texico Chamber of Commerce, and Tedson Trailers of Texico will furnish the monetary prizes for the kids' decorated bike contest.

The parade will begin in Texico at Griffin Street, and proceed through Texico and Farwell main streets to Fifth Street in Farwell, ending at Farwell City Park. Entrants should form at 10 a.m. CDT, one hour before parade time, north on Griffin Street.

Kiddoes planning to enter the decorated bike contest need to register for the parade at Texico City Hall beginning Monday, giving their name and age, if they are to be eligible for the cash prizes to be awarded. Details of judging will be announced later.

Texico-Farwell Rotary Club is again sponsoring the annual BTD barbecue. Tickets are now on sale from any member of the Rotary Club. Cost of the meal will remain the same as last year, $3.00 for adults and $1.50 for children, drink included. Serving will begin immediately after the parade and will continue until everyone is served.

The 1984 Border Town Days Queen will be announced during the afternoon festivities in the park. In this year's contest, a talent performance by the contestants will not be required. They will still be judged on their personality as well as poise by out-of-town judges at a noon luncheon and possibly one other planned event.

Contestants are urged to enter now. Contact Joann Getz, contest chairman, at the State Line Tribune.

All girls in Texico and Farwell who will be in high school next year and have never been married are eligible to enter. If they do not have a sponsor, to provide their $10 entry, Mrs. Getz says that many organizations and businesses are seeking a contestant, so sponsors are available.

A change has also been made in the Beard (or facial fuzz) Contest.

Contestants did not have to be clean shaven on a certain date, so everyone may enter even with a full-grown beard or mustache, or one on the way. Contestants must sign up with Red Lonsdale at Red's Barber Shop, and are urged to do so now. No entry fee will be charged.

The two local sororities, Beta Sigma Phi and Epsilon Sigma Alpha are in charge of the park spaces. Groups interested in having a space for the sale of wares or concessions should contact Altha Herington at 481-9351, Pam Smith at 481-3231, or Cynthia Thigpen at Parmer County Extension office, 481-3619. Cost of the park space this year is $7.50.

No commercial booths or individuals will be allowed in the park area with resale items. The spaces are available only to area civic or non-profit groups.

The Arts and Crafts show will be set up on the front lawn of the courthouse as in the past, and spaces are available at $10 a booth. Spaces may be reserved by calling Janie Bowers at 481-3620 days, or 481-9251 nights.

Another highlight during the festivities will be the Merchants Promotion where many prizes will be given away throughout the afternoon. A listing of the merchants participating will be made next week.

To climax the activities will be the Texico Volunteer Fire Department's promotion. To be given away will be a 1984 GMC Sierra half-ton pickup valued at $14,000, a 19-inch color TV, one-half beef cut and wrapped, and other prizes. Donations are $30 each, and proceeds will go to help the department purchase a new truck.

Many special attractions are still being finalized, and will be announced soon, but the committee promises a giant celebration with fun and entertainment for all ages.

Members present at Monday night's meeting were Martin Chandler, John R. Hadley, Sam Drager, Ruth Anne Bennett, Leslie Lunsford, Maurine Caywood, Gladys Hardage, Julia Symcox, Cynthia Thigpen, Dean and Lynda McMillan, Martin and Frances Kube, David Kube, Sharon Menning, Janie Bowers, Anne Cooper, and John and Joann Getz.

A final wrap-up meeting for the BTD Committee will be Monday, July 16, at 8 p.m. CDT at the Spur Restaurant.

Mrs. Armstrong said that the youngsters really learned a lot of the rules this year, and those that would be moving up into the Mustang League should be really prepared.

"I really want to thank the sponsors who donated the shirts and caps, and gave the teams a name," said Mrs. Armstrong. "They really do a lot."

Opening ceremonies set for AAU tourney

4-H'ers attend electricity camp

Five Parmer County residents were among 125 4-H'ers who spent five days, June 18-22, in the Sacramento Mountains south of Cloudcroft, N.M., learning about electricity. Southwestern Public Service Company [SPS] hosted the camp and

Clovis has been chosen as the site of the 1984 Amateur Athletic Union National Girls Championship Basketball Tournament, to be held the week of July 13-20, with 57 teams from all over the United States competing for the national title in two divisions, age 16 and under, and age 18 and under. In all, some 750 girls are expected to participate in the tournament.

According to Jim Martin, chairman of the AAU Steering Committee, the tournament is not only the first held west of the Mississippi River, it has now become the largest tournament in the history of the Amateur Athletic Union, with the 57 teams to date signed up to play.

The tournament, which is part of the National Junior Olympics, will be handled in Olympic style, with opening day ceremonies similar to those of the International Olympic Games.

The opening ceremony will be held in Rock Staubus Gymnasium in Clovis, beginning at 7 p.m. MDT. There will be no admission charge for the opening ceremony.

Opening music will be provided by the Clovis Community Band. As the band begins to play the Olympic fanfare, each state team will march into the gymnasium as a group. The girls on each team will be dressed alike, and some may carry state flags.

Following the parade of the teams, the presentation of colors will be by the Clovis High School United States Air Force Junior ROTC, and the Clovis Community Band will play the national anthem.

The invocation will be led by Wayne Anderson just before the Olympic Torch is brought into the gymnasium by Miss Clovis, Rhonda Pullman, and Miss New Mexico U.S.A., Mona Bryant. Following will be the introduction of the Junior Olympic dignitaries including Cleo Carpenter, Clovis mayor pro-tem; Don Schafer, mayor of Portales; Dr. Robert Matheny, president of Eastern New Mexico University; Kurt Thomas, Olympic Gold Medal winner; and Bill Tipps, National AAU Commissioner.

Entertainment will be provided by the Clovis High School Wildcadette drill team, singers from Cannon Air Force Base, a Mariachi Band, the Triad square dancers, as well as the Clovis Community Band.

The opening ceremonies will end with a rendition of the original tournament song, "Sounds of New Mexico." John Urban will serve as master of ceremonies for the opening day festivities.

Season passes good for all games may be purchased for $20, at the three offices of the Sunwest Bank in Clovis. Individual game tickets may be purchased at the gate for $2 for adults, $1 for students, and $.50 for children ages six to 12. Children under six are admitted free.

Six games will be played each day, a minimum of 114 games in all. The games will be played in the Clovis boys gym, Clovis girls gym, Portales High School gym, and the ENMU gym.

Weekend rains hit area again

The weather was once more the topic of conversation this week, as rain fell again upon the Twin Cities and surrounding areas. The amount of rain received during a nasty little electrical storm on Sunday night inside the cities was moderate in comparison to the amount received in the Lazbuddie and Oklahoma Lane areas.

Lazbuddie, which was hit hardest by the storm, received between three and four inches of rain in all areas. The gauge at the Sherley-Anderson elevator in Lazbuddie recorded three inches, while the gauge at the Scott Brown farm, also in Lazbuddie, showed between 3 1/2-4 inches.

Although the heavy rainfall muddied a lot of roads in that area, grain men seem to feel that it would not affect the harvest much. "It will slow us down a little," said Jerry Barber of Sherley-Anderson Lazbuddie elevator, "but we were almost through with harvest anyway. We didn't receive the large amount of rain that everyone else did previously, so weren't too far behind schedule."

At the Randy Johnson farm in Oklahoma Lane, two and a half inches were recorded at their place in eastern Oklahoma Lane, while folks closer to town didn't receive quite that much. Lonnie McFarland at Sherley-Anderson in Lariat reported only about half an inch of moisture, the same amount noted by the official weatherman in Texico, Walter Curd.

South of town on the Ted Magness farm, about .75 inch fell and north of Texico received about the same. West of town, the official weather station in Clovis reported about .69 inch.

Because the harvest had been delayed somewhat by the previous rains, Martin Chandler, executive director of Parmer County ASCS, was contacted about the effect that this moisture might have on the on-going harvest.

"We're having a lot of trouble with weeds in the northern part of the county," said Chandler. "Some of the farmers are having to respray their crops to kill the weeds brought up by the rain."

"If we have any more problems that will be it. Hopefully things will remain on schedule," he said.

TAES field day set Aug. 15

The annual field day at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Research Field at Etter will be held on August 15 starting at 12 noon. A barbecue lunch served by Carrolls Smokehouse of Dumas will be available at the Research Field.

Theme of the event will be "Looking Ahead in Crop Production," according to Dr. G.B. Thompson, Research Director at the Texas A&M Center in Amarillo. Arrangements for the field tour are being made by Cecil Regier, manager of the research facility.

Soybean, corn, and sorghum variety trials along with the effect of furrow and sprinkler irrigation on yield of several corn hybrids will be featured in the tour starting at 1:15. Two new wheat varieties will be announced and peanut production research will be discussed.

Experiments on the effect of tillage on water intake during furrow irrigation and no-tillage will be shown. In addition, chemigation and a newly developed automatic irrigation system will be demonstrated.

The field day is being sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, USDA - Agricultural Research Service, and the Advisory Committee for the North Plains Research Field.

Safety Corner

Summer Recreation

Don't let unnecessary injury spoil your summer fun.

- Learn to do leisure activities well, especially water sports, climbing and other activities where incompetence could result in serious mishap.
- Alcohol figures in many summer recreation accidents. If you drink, do so in moderation and never to the point of impairment when taking part in activities requiring normal alertness.
- Drive defensively wherever you travel. Obey traffic laws and make sure your vehicle is A-OK before leaving home.
- While traveling, stop for breaks now and then and switch drivers from time to time.

In musical production

Polly Turner of Farwell smiles broadly while posing with a "fan" following one of her recent appearances as Cora Mae Flynn in the musical production "Texas" in Palo Duro Canyon. This is Polly's first season as Cora Mae, having tried out for the production for the first time this summer. The "fan" on Polly's arm is her grandfather, Carl Martin, who traveled with other members of her family to be on hand for Polly's debut in the production.

Polly Turner in 'Texas'

Polly Turner, daughter of Charles and Sandra Turner of Farwell, is currently appearing as Cora Mae Flynn in the outdoor musical production of "Texas" in Palo Duro Canyon.

Polly, a sophomore theatrical and dance major at West Texas State University, landed the roll as Cora Mae this season, having never tried out for the production before. She has, however, appeared in several other musical productions such as "Guys and Dolls" at Eastern New Mexico University, and "Swan Lake" and "Gaité Parisienne" with the Loan Star Ballet Company in Amarillo. She has been dancing since the age of six.

Polly will perform as Cora Mae throughout the season which will end August 25. Her performances have already been attended by several members of her family including her parents, her sister and brother-in-law, Robert and Lucretia Hayes, her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Martin, and her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. A.W. Geisler.

Don't soak

Don't soak wood items in water. Salad bowls and wood-handled utensils may warp or crack and prolonged soaking may mar the finish.

Invite Your Family To A Mexican Fiesta Tonight!

Tonight give your family a treat with a taste of sunny Mexico. This colorful chicken tostada is a nutritious "meal-on-a-tortilla".

Spread refried beans on a tortilla, top with chicken and crunchy ripe olives from California. Then heap grated cheese, lettuce, tomatoes and avocado slices on top with a generous dollop of sour cream. Garnish with green onion and sliced ripe olives. Serve with green or red chili salsa and — olé.

Ripe Olive'n Chicken Tostadas

| 1 (1-1/4 ounce) package taco seasoning mix | 1 cup grated cheddar or Jack cheese |
| 1 cup water | 3 cups shredded lettuce |
| 2 cups diced cooked chicken | 2 tomatoes, chopped |
| 1-1/4 cups sliced California ripe olives | 1/2 cup dairy sour cream |
| 6 flour tortillas | 2 tablespoons sliced green onions |
| 1 (20-1/2 ounce) can refried beans | 1 avocado, peeled and sliced |
| | Oil |

In saucepan, combine taco mix with water; stir until dissolved. Simmer 5 minutes. Add cooked chicken and 1 cup ripe olives; simmer another 2 or 3 minutes, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, in medium skillet, fry tortillas in oil until crisp and golden brown on both sides; drain on paper towels. Heat refried beans in small saucepan. Place each crisp tortilla on individual plate. Spread beans over tortilla. Then spoon chicken-olive mixture over beans. Top with cheese, lettuce and tomatoes. For a final touch, add sour cream, onions and 1/4 cup ripe olives. Arrange avocado slices around base. Serve with taco sauce or green chili salsa, if desired. Serves 6.

Musical comedy set at ENMU

PORTALES—It was a time of bobbed hair and bathtub gin, rumble seats, rouged knees, and the Charleston. Fortunes were being made and lost overnight. The French Riviera was the place "where the elite meet." Glittering, if perhaps shallow, gaiety was in the air.

It was 1920 and this is the world of "The Boy Friend," the ENMU Corral Playhouse production July 6, 7, 13, 14, 20, 21 at 8 p.m. MDT in the University Theatre.

Poor little rich girl, Polly Browne, is forbidden by an over-protective and widowed father from having that all important element in a young girl's life — a boy friend. Consequently, Polly invents one from whom she receives "love letters" and about whom she talks to her chums in Madame Dubonnet's finishing school.

No sooner has Polly clearly established her imaginary beau and her safety with Daddy, than in walks a real beau who sweeps her off her feet. Daddy's arrival at the school is announced and the plot thickens.

Does Tony love Polly because she is Polly or does he know she is a millionaire's daughter? Is he really a messenger boy? Why do Lord and Lady Brockhurst chase him through the park? Will Tony come to the Carnival Ball?

"The Boy Friend" is a bright evening of summer entertainment for the whole family. The entire audience is seated on stage in a rather informal setting so seating is limited to 125 per performance.

Tickets are $4.00 - General Admission, $3.00 - Senior Citizen, $2.00 - Pre-College, $1.00 ENMU Student with ID. Summer hours for the Box Office are 12 p.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 1 to 3 p.m. on performance Saturdays, (505) 562-2710.

Sauerkraut canning problems

Fermented cabbage, better known as sauerkraut, is a good way to use that extra cabbage from your garden. Its tangy flavor and crisp texture make a pleasing contrast to sausage or beef brisket main dishes. Sauerkraut is a must for Reuben sandwiches, it's often served hot or cold as a vegetable or appetizer, and it's sometimes found in chocolate cake!

Fermenting sauerkraut involves the same bacteria found in cucumbers, which are fermented pickles, plus a few additional species. But the salt concentration in the brine is relatively low compared to salt stock pickle brines. This means a variety of yeasts and molds can grow on the surface of sauerkraut if it is exposed to air. These organisms can produce unwanted changes in color, odor, taste and texture.

Here are some common kraut problems and their causes:

*Soft kraut: Softness in sauerkraut may result from insufficient or unevenly distributed salt, too high a temperature during fermentation, or air pockets caused by improper packing.

*Pink kraut: Pink color in kraut is caused by growth of certain types of yeast on its surface. These may grow if there is too much salt, an uneven distribution of salt, or if the kraut is improperly covered or weighted during fermentation.

*Dark kraut: Darkness in kraut may be caused by unwashed and improperly trimmed cabbage; insufficient juice to cover fermenting cabbage; uneven distribution of salt; exposure to air; high temperatures during fermentation, processing storage; or a long storage period.

*Rotted kraut: This condition is usually found at the surface where the cabbage has not been covered sufficiently to keep out air during fermentation.

Most of these problems do not make the sauerkraut inedible. Soft and dark kraut is safe to eat, although it may not meet your taste standards. Even pink kraut can be eaten since the yeasts are not dangerous. Rotted kraut, of course, should not be eaten.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

Then God said, "Let us make a man—someone like ourselves, to be the master of all life upon the earth and in the seas." So God made man like his Maker. Like God did God make man; Man and maid did he make them. And God blessed them and told them, "Multiply and fill the earth and subdue it; you are masters of the fish and birds and all animals. And look! I have given you the seed-bearing plants throughout the earth, and all the fruit trees for your food. Genesis 1:26-29 Religious Heritage of America"

'Holistic ranch management' Ranchers Roundup theme

"Holistic Ranch Management -- Putting It all Together" will be the theme of the 1984 International Ranchers Roundup (IRR) scheduled in San Angelo's Convention Center, July 30-Aug. 3.

Livestock owners from some two dozen states and several countries other than the U.S. are expected in San Angelo for the five-day educational event designed to assist ranchers with practical solutions to improve their operations, said Dr.

Zerle L. Carpenter, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. The Extension Service is the conference organizer.

Ranchers who attend will expect to become quite familiar with the word "holistic," which implies that all aspects of the ranching operation are to be considered in the planning process, since each is an integral part of the whole, the director said.

Carpenter noted that IRR coordinators are placing emphasis on meeting the specific needs of ranchers of North America's semi-arid rangeland, but added that many of the ranching principles addressed during the conference are applicable to ranches throughout the world.

He said program and registration details are available by writing to: IRR, P.O. Box 1849, Uvalde, TX 78801.

Goals of the IRR program are to encourage ranchers and others to evaluate, plan and manage each aspect of the ranch enterprise in view of total benefits and goals, and to provide exchange of information and skills for improved holistic ranch management. Additionally, IRR proceedings will be published for use by ranchers.

Some 80 speakers from almost a dozen states of the U.S., as well as South Africa and New Zealand, are to address Roundup sessions.

Highlighting the August 3 program will be a ranch tour which will cover all aspects of ranching on the Edwards Plateau, where traditional combinations of cattle, sheep, and Angora goats are utilized. In addition, the tour will include some aspects of livestock handling and marketing, hunting, and evaluation of range sites and wildlife habitat.

A general session the opening afternoon will feature four speakers who will address various aspects of the "Holistic Ranching" theme. Concurrent sessions during the next three days will key on range, wildlife, livestock production, and the ranch family.

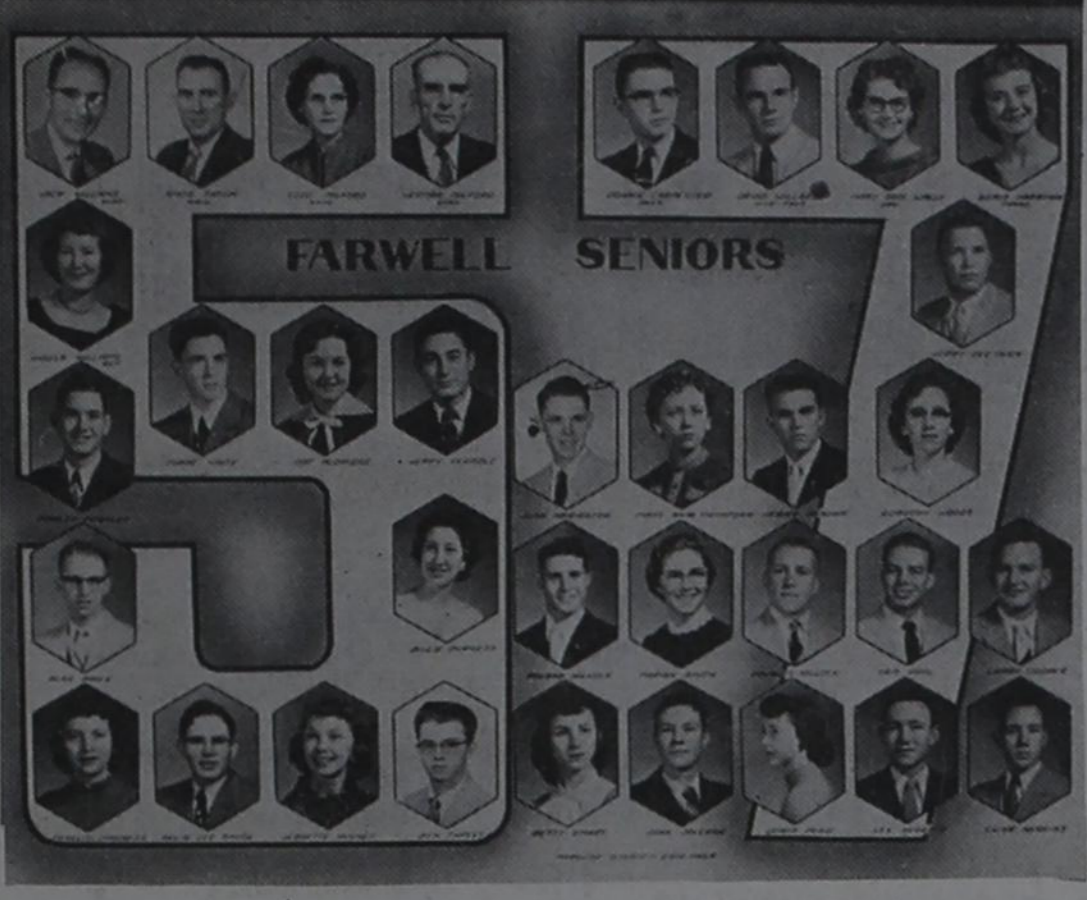

Special workshops also are scheduled to deal with microcomputers for ranch management, featuring ranchers presently using high tech to improve their enterprises, and shared decision-making, which will address the many pressures of business on family issues.

Coordinators for the IRR program are Dr. LeRoy Hoermann, district Extension director, Uvalde; Robert H. Kensing, Extension economist - management, San Angelo; and Dr. Larry White, Extension range specialist, Uvalde.

Other Extension specialists and county agents of the Southwest and West Central Extension districts will assist with planning and conducting the conference.

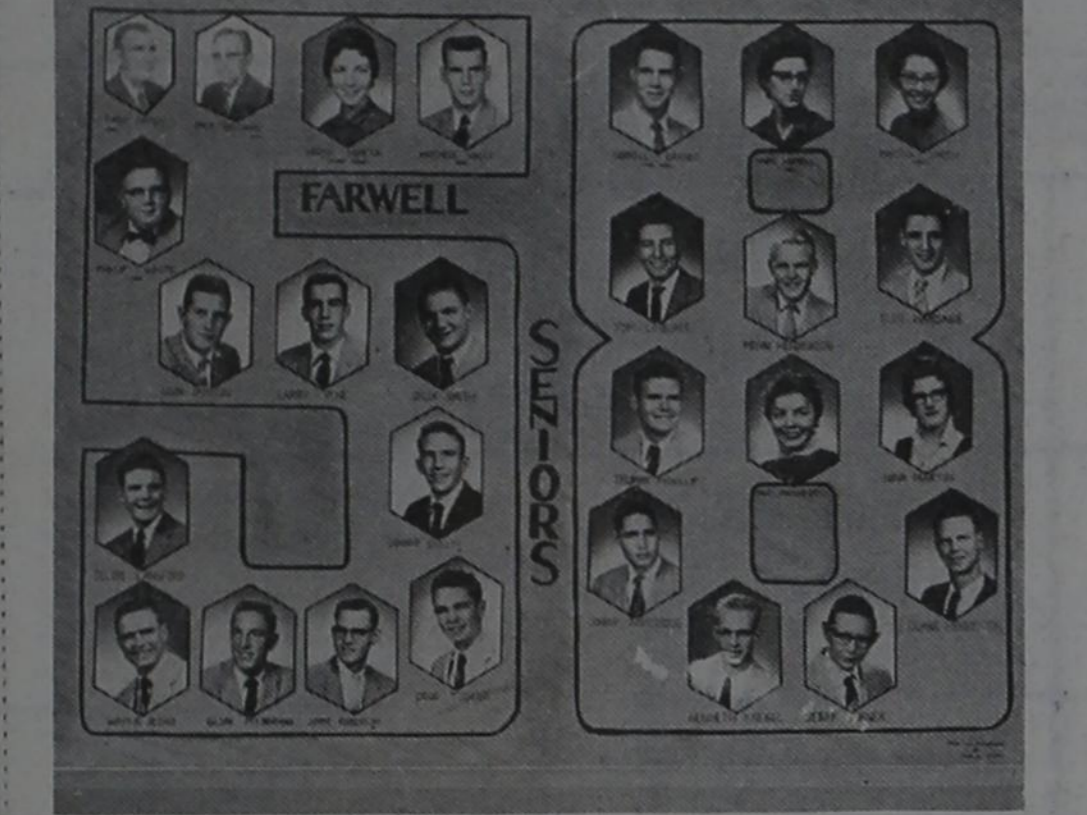

More than 2,000 ranchers representing some 25 states and seven countries have taken part in the IRR program during the past three years, noted the coordinators.

Transferring hot tar

The hot tar spray truck on the right is taking on a fresh load from the tanker rig as it prepares to apply a coat of tar on First Street in Farwell. The City has a five-year repaving program so that all the streets in town are resurfaced every five years. This year, First, Second, and Third streets and selected blocks will receive a new surface. Lipham Construction Company of Aspermont is the contractor for the job.

MHR benefit will feature trick golfer

Texico and Farwell golfers are in for a big treat Saturday, Aug. 4, when the King of Trick Shots, Paul Hahn, Jr., presents a benefit performance for Mental Health Resources, Inc.

The one-hour program will be held at 5:30 p.m. MDT at Colonial Park Country Club in Clovis. Paul Hahn is a professional golfer who has toured the world with his amazing and entertaining exhibition of trick golf shots and an educational golf clinic.

Non-golfers are also entertained by Hahn's comical antics as he pulls out an assortment of goofy golf clubs and intersperses his shots with funny, one-line jokes. Hahn's distance off the tee will hold audiences gasping, because he is one of the long hitters in golf.

General admission tickets are $5 in advance. Children under 12, when accompanied by a parent, will be admitted free. Tickets are available at Colonial Park Country Club, from any MHR staff member, and the MHR office in the Memorial Services Center, 12th and Thornton in Clovis.

Proceeds will support mental health, drug and alcohol abuse programs sponsored by MHR. Tickets will be $7 at the gate the day of the event.

Hahn uses tees up to three feet in height and stands on a sports stick to hit the tallest. He goes through a line of four tees, graduated in height from six to 12 inches, while continuing his verbal patter with the same rapid fire as he swings the club.

His comical clubs include a driver with a rubber garden hose attached as the shaft. With this club, he hits the ball over 200 yards down the fairway. With a driver 74 inches long (regular length is 43 inches), he pounds out 300 yard drives with machine-like consistency.

Fans are invited to bring their cameras. Hahn allows photography at all times during the exhibition. Another feature that everyone likes is No Walking! The performance will be held at the driving range near the CPCC clubhouse, and bleacher seating will be provided.

For those who want to extend their entertainment into the evening, there will be social hour, dinner, and dance at the country club immediately following the exhibition. Paul Hahn will speak at the dinner, and fans will have an opportunity to visit with him. Reservations for the dinner will be available at a later date.

Paul Hahn combines good golf and good humor for an hour of exceptionally fine family entertainment, say the sponsors. Your participation in this benefit will help MHR continue to provide a broad range of quality services to your community, they add.

MHR's services reach many segments of a community, from individuals to families and groups.
