Law and order has come to Farwell. Not that we were really all that disorderly, but from time to time, youthful rowdiness has disturbed some of the residents.

Last week this newspaper published the ordinance creating the office of City Marshal. We hope you took the time to read it and fully understand the duties and powers that are conferred upon that office.

Now that the City Dads have established a City Marshal and a Municipal Court, it is up to us as citizens to support the law enforcement mechanisms we now have. It is obvious that one individual cannot be at all places at all times, so it will be up to the citizenry to inform the city authorities of suspected and possible lawbreaking. Our individual help will make the chore of keeping the peace that much more effective.

We must, as a community, deal with our problems and help those who are officially charged with this duty. It does seem that in many areas it is the lawbreaker who reaps the benefit of misplaced sympathy and misguided help from our "bleeding heart" types as well as from various "ivory tower" jurists.

In this connection we came across a very thoughtful article that was published some years ago but is still very apropos today. It was authored by Miller Upton, President of Beloit College in Wisconsin. It is entitled "The Upper Dog" and reads as follows:

"I have just about reached the end of my tolerance for the way our society now seems to have sympathetic concern only for the misfit, the pervert, the drug addict, the drifter, the chronic criminal and the underachiever.

"It seems to me that we have lost touch with reality and become warped in our attachments. I feel it is time for someone like me to stand up and say, in short, 'I'm for the underdog!'"

"I am for the achiever - the one who sets out to do something and does it; the one who recognizes the problems and opportunities at hand, and endeavors to deal with them; the one who is successful at his immediate task because he is not worrying about someone else's failings; the one who doesn't consider it "square" to be constantly looking for more to do, who isn't always rationalizing why he shouldn't be doing what he is doing; the one, in short, who carries the work of his part of the world squarely on his shoulders.

"It is important to recognize that the quality of any society is directly related to the quality of the individuals who make it up. Therefore, let us stop referring naively to creating 'a great society.'"

"It is enough at this stage of our development, to aspire to create a decent society. And to do so, our first task is to help each individual be decent unto himself and in his relationship with other individuals. We will never create a good society, much less a great one, until individual excellence and achievement are not only respected but encouraged.

"That is why I am for the underdog - the achiever - the succeder."

Vernon Scott Resigns Post

Farwell Elementary School Principal Vernon Scott this week submitted his resignation, effective at the end of the 1974-75 school term.

Scott, who has served the local school since 1964, has accepted the position of high school principal at Vega High School. He will assume his duties there August 1.

Scott commented, "I have really enjoyed my association with the Farwell Schools and I am resigning on good terms with the school and its administration."

During his 12 years at Farwell, Scott has served not only as elementary principal but has also acted as a coach and assistant coach.

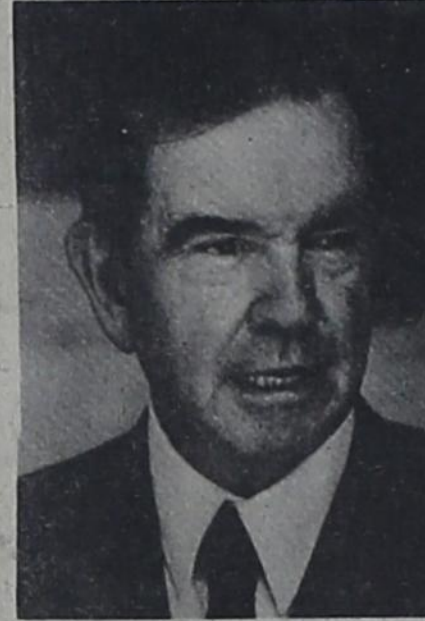

As head basketball coach for the Farwell Varsity Steers, he led the team to nine district wins in 12 years. Not only was he involved with basketball but he served as coordinator for the Little Dribblers basketball teams. He has also served as coach for the Varsity Steerette girls basketballers.

Scott has worked with the Texico-Farwell Little League baseball program and was involved in Farwell's tennis, golf and track programs. The elementary principal was also an active worker with the youth of the area and helped coordinate the Farwell Elementary School Olympics each year.

Scott and his family have lived in Farwell for the past 12 years, having moved here from Friona, where Scott served as a teacher-coach for three years. They are members of the First Baptist Church in Farwell and Scott currently teaches a Sunday School class there.

The elementary principal and his wife, Ometa, have two sons, Steven and John.

In commenting on his position at Vega, Scott said, "Although I have served as both principal and coach at Farwell, my duties at Vega will consist of serving as principal only. I do not plan to coach."

GEORGE MAHON

Tuesday, May 27 - -

Congressman Mahon To Visit In Farwell

United States Congressman George Mahon will visit in Farwell, Friona and Bovina on Tuesday, May 27. He will attend a coffee at Security State Bank between the hours of 10 and 11:15 a.m.

Parmer County residents are encouraged to visit with Congressman Mahon and to discuss their problems with him, particularly in the agricultural areas relating to the cattle industry and farm prices. This informal reception will be a come and go affair.

Members of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority will serve as hostesses and refreshments of coffee and donuts will be served.

Following the Farwell reception, Congressman Mahon will travel to Friona for a noon barbecue at the Friona Community Center. He will conclude his visit to the area by attending a public meeting sponsored by the Jaycees and the Women's Study Group in Bovina during the afternoon.

The Lubbock lawmaker, who has been the Congressman for Parmer County since it was added to the 19th Congressional District in 1972, is visiting about the 17-county region during the Congressional Memorial Day recess.

Congressman Mahon's chief interests since he has been in Congress have been in the fields of agriculture and national defense. He is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, which has extensive responsibility in the funding of all federal programs.

Chairman Mahon is the author of a pending bill to provide additional funds for Farmers Home Administration operating loans. Although the measure is still pending in Congress and it is unclear just when the additional funds will be available, the Congressman states that he is completely confident that they will be provided.

Congressman Mahon has expressed grave concern over the livestock situation. He is supporting the legislation which passed the House recently amending the Emergency Livestock Credit Act of 1974. Final enactment of the bill is expected shortly, but Mahon points out that its provisions will not be of maximum benefit to handle the serious situation in West Texas. However, he believes that the amendments will create a somewhat more liberal loan program which will be of assistance to some local cattlemen.

Mahon was active in the successful effort to secure a change in the regulations of the Farmer Home Administration and the Small Business Administration to increase the availability of credit to feedlots. FmHA officials have agreed to include cattle-feeding operations in their Rural Development Program, and the SBA has revised its size standard which applies to cattle feedlots.

The Congressman states that he is fully aware of the serious concerns of agricultural producers due to the rising costs of production and the instability of farm prices. He joined in the effort to override the President's veto of the Emergency Agriculture Act feeling that the passage of the legislation would introduce some stability into agricultural markets while encouraging increased production to aid both consumers and our national balance of trade.

Mahon encourages people in his district to contact him on national issues which concern them or on any problems they may have with the federal government.

Sheriff's Report

The Parmer County Sheriff's Department is presently investigating the theft of a 16 h.p. tractor with mower and a two-wheel tilt trailer from the Parmer County Memorial Park in Friona, which is alleged to have occurred within the last week. The theft was reported on Saturday, May 17.

Also under investigation by the Sheriff's Department is an act of vandalism which occurred one and a half miles east of Friona.

Ronnie Stevick told sheriff's officers that someone shot a hole through the radiator of his ditching machine while it was parked in a field. The incident was reported on Thursday, May 15.

Other news from the Sheriff's Department is the fact that the department now has 24-hour radio service. Two new employees have been hired working eight-hour shifts each to keep the radio in operation.

Susan Symcox, a native of Farwell and 1974 graduate of Farwell High School, has been employed to operate the radio between the hours of 5 p.m. and 12 a.m.

Buster Gast, long time resident of the Farwell community, takes over from 12 a.m. until 8 a.m. when Irene Woods comes on duty. Gast had worked as a mechanic before assuming duty as a police radio dispatcher.

Both Miss Symcox and Gast began their new jobs on May 1, when the Parmer County Sheriff's Department went on 24-hour broadcasting.

"Three thousand of these approximately 22 million esteemed persons live in Texico-Farwell and Parmer County. In appreciation of these greats the country over, the month of May is being set aside nationally in their honor as 'Older Americans Month' in observance of their praise worthy contributions to society which guided this country into the 20th century.

"In the last decade, much planning has been done for the care of our older Americans, but rhetoric rather than action still prevails. Older Americans are tired of promises and are demanding action. It therefore behooves the leaders of our Nation to now translate these plans into action.

"This year, Bicentennial Forums for Older Citizens are being held throughout the Nation during the month of May. They are so structured, and designed, as to give all older citizens an opportunity to contribute their ideas by drafting a new Declaration of Rights and Obligations of Older Persons.

"Therefore, be it resolved that we, Gil Patschke, Mayor of the City of Farwell, and Manford Turnbough, Mayor of the City of Texico, do designate the Month of May as 'Older Americans Month' in Texico and Farwell and invite all leaders of voluntary and private organizations and all individuals everywhere to join in appropriate recognition of our Older Americans during the Month of May and throughout the entire year.

"In witness whereof, we have here unto set our hands and caused the Seals of the City of Farwell and of the City of Texico to be affixed this 29th day of April, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Seventy-Five."

Veteran Law Officer - -

Mitchell Assumes Duties As Farwell City Marshal

by Charlene Reid

Ronald Mitchell, Farwell's new city marshal, may be a comparatively newcomer to the City of Farwell, but he is no newcomer to law enforcement. Ronnie, as his friends call him, has been interested in law enforcement since he was about 10 years old and has wanted to become some kind of law officer since that time.

He has had nine and one-half years' experience as a law enforcement officer. Marshal Mitchell spent one year working for the Floydada Police Department and eight and one-half years working as city marshal for the City of Bovina.

The veteran law officer was born in Crosbyton, grew up there, attending Crosbyton schools, before leaving in 1952. From Crosbyton he moved to Floydada where he met his wife, Gaynell. Ronnie married Gaynell Holliday, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Holliday of Floydada, in 1957.

From Floydada he moved to Lubbock where he did construction work, operating heavy equipment. He then moved to Bovina and became city marshal on October 1, 1967, a position he held until recently. He was employed as city marshal for the City of Farwell Monday, May 12, and will be moving his family to Farwell as soon as he finds a house here.

The Mitchells have four children; three sons and one daughter. Duane, his oldest son, is 17 and will be a senior next year. Duane is vice-president of the Student Council in Bovina and is quite active in sports there. He participates in football, basketball, baseball and tennis. According to his dad, Duane plans to finish his senior year at Bovina.

The couple's 15-year-old son Kelly will be a freshman next year and is also quite interested in sports, playing football and basketball.

Their only daughter, Teresa, is five years old and will be entering kindergarten next year. They also have a young son, Britt, who is nine months old and keeps his mother quite busy at home caring for him.

Mrs. Mitchell is a homemaker and enjoys sewing in her spare time. Marshal Mitchell says he doesn't have any real hobbies unless you would call collecting arrowheads a hobby. He does have a nice collection of Indian arrowheads of which he is proud.

Farwell's new city marshal is a member of the Church of Christ in Bovina and an associate member of the Bovina Jaycees.

"I feel I will be real happy and will enjoy working in Farwell," remarked Marshal Mitchell. He says he is looking forward to working here and hopes the citizens will call on him when they need help with whatever problems they have concerning law enforcement.

He may be contacted by calling 481-3620 at Farwell City Hall or the Parmer County Sheriff's office at 481-3303. As soon as he gets a car, the Sheriff's Department will have radio contact with him. Bids are being accepted at Farwell City Hall for a vehicle for the marshal. Bids were to be opened during a special City Commission meeting Wednesday, May 21, and he should have a car very quickly after the low bid meeting specifications is accepted. The marshal's office will be located at Farwell City Hall.

Pictures must not be too picturesque. Nothing astonishes men so much as common sense and plain dealing. All great actions have been simple, and all great pictures are.

Good Psychology
by
Dr. Oswald Hoffmann

GROW OLD HAPPILY

There is nothing young people do that is more important than to prepare for the days when they will be older. Most of us don't think about that very much when we are young, but it is still true. Music lessons can be sheer drudgery when we are young, but music becomes a delight to those who can enjoy it in their mature years, because they prepared for that enjoyment when they were young. Faith in God works the same way. It happens once in a while that faith comes to people when they are older, but only rarely. More often than not, the older man without faith and with nothing to live for is the same man who in his youth had no faith in God and nothing to live for then. The young man who had nothing left for God turns into an old man.

Older people often feel very sorry for themselves. They feel themselves to be side-tracked, left out, neglected and forgotten. Their skills may be sharper than those of the people who have replaced them, but the years have added up and now they are on the shelf.

But resist the temptation to self-pity. Self-pity gets people nowhere. It defeats its own purpose, and it only makes people feel worse than they did before. To brood over your ailments, habitually telling others how miserable you are, you only discourage them when they would like to be with you, to keep you company, to cheer you up.

Head Start-Kindergarten Class Celebrated Project's Birthday

Farwell Elementary School's head start kindergarten class, under the direction of teacher, Mrs. Kathy Weems, joined with elementary schools across the nation Wednesday, May 14, to celebrate National Head Start Day and the program's 10th birthday.

Farwell Elementary has been involved with Project Head Start for many years, first with a summer program under the direction of Mrs. Lauretta Pool. For the past five years and currently the program consists of the combination head start-kindergarten program with Mrs. Weems in charge of classwork, assisted by class parents.

Since its inception in 1965, the Head Start Program has provided health, educational and social services to some 5.3 million children and their families in every state. As an innovative program it has had a significant impact upon the thinking of educators, psychologists and other specialists in the child development field. To celebrate the project's birthday locally, the Farwell kindergarten students hosted an appreciation tea for their parents. They honored the parents who volunteer as teacher aides on a regular basis within the classroom. These parents were specially recognized because parent involvement is a key point in the success of the early childhood program.

The children of the class served their guests Coke, cookies and ice cream they had made themselves.

Those attending the reception included Mmes. Lewis Foster, Gary Brown, Grover Meeks, Robert White, Roy Donaldson, Donald Jones, Johnny Curtis, Olen Cole, Lee Hutchins, Carlin Woods, Ehon Bass, Joe Schilling, Emmitt Autrey, Pudge Rose, Bob Roberts, Frank Ancira, Janice Cain, Joy Stanton and Don Weems.

Special guests were Farwell Elementary Principal, Vernon Scott and W.M. Roberts, Farwell Schools Superintendent.

Elementary Awards Presentation Set

The Farwell Elementary School awards assembly will be held at 9:30 a.m. CDT Thursday, May 29, in the auditorium, according to Vernon Scott, principal.

Teachers will present such awards as attendance, band, track, etc. Principal Scott is in charge of the program. Superintendent W. M. Roberts will present service awards to teachers.

erts will present service awards to teachers.

No place affords a more striking conviction of the vanity of human hopes than a public library.

Honey Peach Muffins

Feeling the urge to return to basics? Satisfy that longing with Honey Peach Muffins.

Bread is basic - as old as civilization. These muffins team with honey and fruit for a wholesome treat. Sweetened with honey and laced with golden nuggets of fruit, they will live up to any breakfast, especially for those problem eaters who often skip that important first meal.

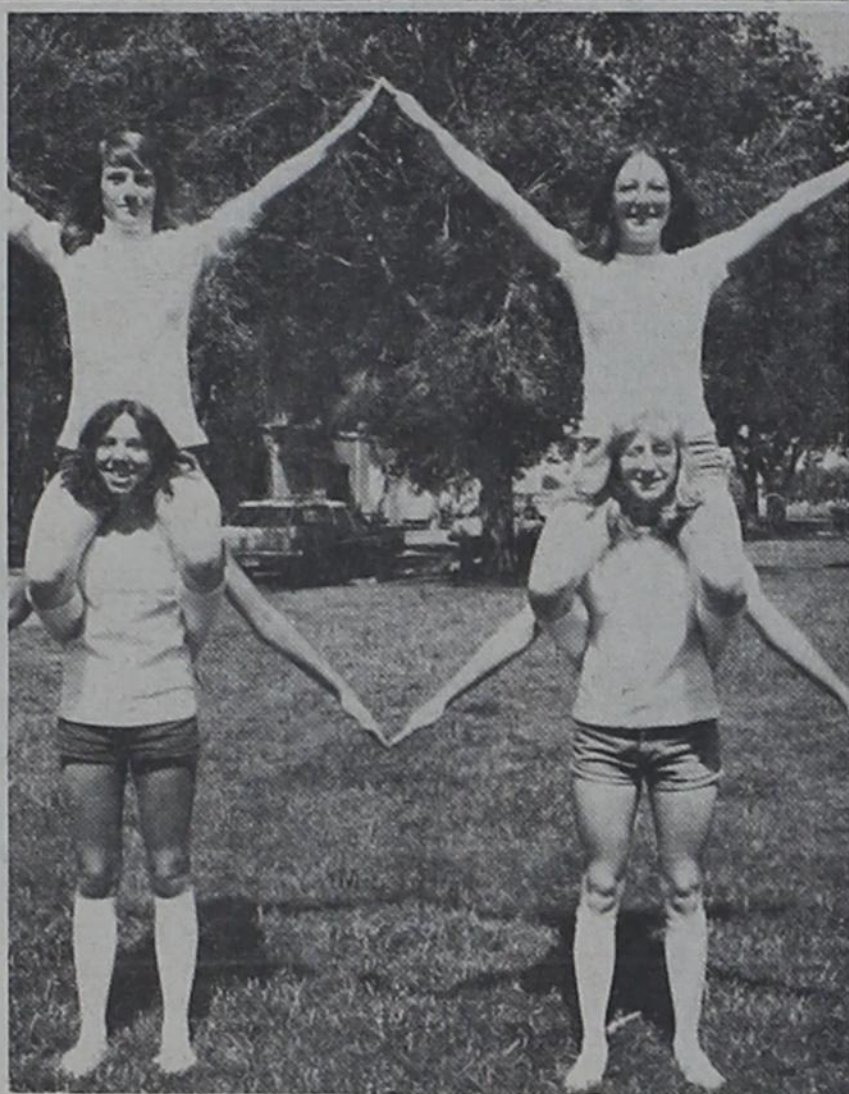

Honey Peach Muffins are a nice way to end the day, too. Split them and fill with billows of whipped topping, and you have a dessert. You can stir practically anything into a muffin - chopped nuts, fruits, spices, herbs, crumbled bacon, what-have-you. At the same time, you'll serve the basic nutrition needs of your family, too. Enriched flour contributes the B-vitamins - thiamine, niacin and riboflavin - and the mineral, iron - all nutrients needed for good health everyday.

Texico Woman's Club Project Almost Complete

One of the community service projects of the Texico Woman's Club is well on the way to becoming a reality in the very near future.

Mrs. Marie Christian, president of the club, has been working on a safety project for the last several months to have crossing arms installed at the railroad crossing between Texico and Farwell.

Installation and related work is currently in progress, with joint cooperation from both the New Mexico and Texas Highway Departments and the Santa Fe Railroad. Santa Fe is furnishing labor and both highway departments are sharing in the costs.

Mrs. Christian, as chairman of the project, worked through the State Federation of Women's Clubs safety chairman, Pat Hewett of Farmington, to get the project going. Mrs. Christian stated that this project will be the club's Community Improvement Program (CIP) project.

Southwestern Public Service Co. began installing their poles Monday and Mountain Bell is in the process of fixing its lines. The crossing arms extend 39½ feet into the air, making it necessary for the utility companies to move their lines. The arm hinges are in place at this time.

The project should be completed and the crossing arms operational by sometime next week.

This particular endeavor became a project of the Texico Woman's Club because so many cars cross the tracks between the twin cities and because so many accidents have occurred at this crossing.

Retiring Superintendent Is Honored

W. M. Roberts, retiring superintendent of Farwell schools, has been the recent recipient of a dinner, a reception and a special courtesy extended by the students at Farwell Elementary School.

Roberts' retirement, effective with the end of the 1974-75 school year, will culminate 43 years in the teaching and administrative fields. He has been affiliated with the Farwell schools for 22 years, serving six years as high school principal and the remainder as superintendent.

Saturday night, May 17, Roberts and his wife were guests of honor at an informal buffet at 7:30 p.m. at LaVilla Steakhouse in Clovis. The dinner was given by the Farwell School Board, administration, faculty and all school employees.

Approximately 100 persons attended the event and saw Roberts presented with an engraved watch which read: "W.M. Roberts, Farwell Schools, 22 years." Mrs. Roberts was presented with a gift certificate and the head table centerpiece of spring flowers.

Members of the committee in charge of the dinner were Jack Williams, Jerry Dee Owen, Jerry Mathis, Lucille Franse, Liz Phillips, Joyce Hargrove, Ruby Craft and Edith Blair.

During the evening, Lauretta Pool read a poem which she had composed marking 22 years of memories. Text of the poem is as follows:

"Mr. Roberts:

"As you take this new step forward
It must give you quite a thrill.
In the past you've had to 'squeeze in'
Fun things you'll do now at will.

"No more budgets to be balanced;
No more teachers to be hired;
There'll be no disgruntled parents,
And no teachers to be fired.

"You can spend your time in traveling,
You and Mutt, out in the snow
Checking roads to let school patrons
Know if buses ought to go.

"You took trips to buy school buses,
You and Mutt. It seems that he Thought you weren't the classy dresser
That you really ought to be.

"Now your years in education
Are exactly forty-three.
You've had years to store up memories
Of the days that used to be.

"In your early days of teaching
Something changed your entire life:
Letha Jo, your pretty student
Stole your heart, became your wife.

"Two fine sons then came to bless you,
Brought you both a lot of joys.
In your many years of teaching
You have guided other boys.

"James and Charles, Don and Owens, you
Took to ball games, you recall.
You must have a lot of influence;
You made teachers of them all!

"Was it under your direction
With a car they learned to cope?
James and Don became proficient at Back-seat driving with a rope!

"Senior trip! And David cheers a Player in a poker game.
'Come on, Willie, Babe!' The winner
Was the player with that name!

"In the days when you were principal
And you'd had enough of noise,
You would use a certain statement
That would quiet the girls and boys.

"They remembered! Class reunion.
Loudly they began to chat.
They responded when you called out,
'That'll be enough of that!'

"When you made a trip to Austin
On a very recent date
Excitement almost left you speechless
When the girls golf team won State.

"This is just a bit of history
And look fondly at the past.
May the joy of your retirement
Last - - and last, and last - - and last!"

Sunday afternoon, May 18, Roberts and his wife were guests at a come-and-go reception from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Farwell Homemaking Cottage. The reception was sponsored by members of the Farwell Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America.

Approximately 110 persons called during the afternoon. Refreshments for the occasion were prepared by the FHA and home economics girls. Officers of the FHA include Gaye Coffman, president; Charla Norton, vice-president; Rhonda Walls, secretary-treasurer; and Delia Dollar, historian-reporter.

Friday morning, May 16, Roberts received a request from Vernon Scott, elementary school principal, to visit the school. Upon his arrival, Roberts was presented with a gift of money to commemorate his retirement.

The gift was collected by the elementary students, including the kindergarten students.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

That is what is meant by the Scriptures which say that no mere man has ever seen, heard or even imagined what wonderful things God has ready for those who love the Lord. But we know about these things because God has sent his Spirit to tell us, and his Spirit searches out and shows us all of God's deepest secrets. No one can really know what anyone else is thinking, or what he is really like, except that person himself. And no one can know God's thoughts except God's own spirit.

SWCD Reviews Productive Year

by Herb Evans

The Parmer County Soil and Water Conservation District, in a review of 1974 accomplishments, has come up with the following summary.

The Parmer County SWCD No. 140 had an excellent entry in the Texas Conservation Awards Program last year. In addition to this, the district has entered both the 1973 and 1974 Goodyear Awards Program.

A first for us this year was a district awards banquet. At this banquet we recognized the winners of the district essay contest, the District Conservation Teacher, and the District's Wildlife Conservationist. We were very pleased with the results of our first awards banquet.

The district activity supports the Panhandle Association of SWCD directors, as well as the State and National Associations.

The Membership in Panhandle Regional Planning Commission (the local council of government) is kept current and the district takes an active part.

There are a number of significant activities the district is involved in of which we will mention only a few.

1974 was the first full year of use for the district's new headquarters building. This is very significant in establishing the district as a definite entity.

We have continued to provide Soil Stewardship material for local churches and pastors. The pastors are encouraged to use all materials and facilities available to them through the District's program.

We have had an active part in RECP program development.

The city of Friona was furnished a soils map from which it was able to choose a sanitary land-use fill site. After the site was selected, a topographic map of a proposed site was furnished by the District. The city was also assisted with soils and technical material used in the development of a city park plan.

We sponsored the planting of ten wildlife tree plantings.

We offered a conservation scholarship to teachers in Parmer County to attend West Texas State University's Conservation Workshop.

We participate regularly in the state's matching fund program.

We actively participated in our watershed program. We have assisted a group with their irrigation permit from a floodwater retarding structure.

All in all we feel we have had an active, productive year.

"We believe it shows up as a good year for the district," commented Leon Grissom Chairman of the SWCD Board.

FFA's Will Use Vo-Ag Skills During Summer

Although the 1974-75 school term at Farwell Schools is nearing its end, precisely on May 29, the Farwell Chapter of Future Farmers of America and vocational agriculture students will remain active in the agriculture program throughout the summer.

"Many mechanical and livestock projects have been completed for course requirements," stated James Mast, vocational agricultural instructor, "but some students are involved in extra projects that involve refinement of agricultural mechanical skills. These include such skills as building stock trailers, overhauling tractors and combines, and repairing irrigation pipes and machinery that cannot be finished by a set time, but must be worked on as the need arises."

Mast added, "These students will be using the vo-ag shop facilities at the high school with the assistance of their instructors, Jerry Mathis and myself, during the summer months."

Many livestock projects are also continuous, on-going enterprises that cannot be stopped and started to fit a nine-month school term. Stock that is used for breeding and competitive showing purposes need continuous care and supervision. According to Mast, FFA livestock used for showing must be owned by the individual before Sept. 1, in order for that animal to be eligible to be shown in fall and spring FFA contests.

The summer agenda is not

Hendrix Receives Two Scholarships

Texico High School graduating senior Ricky Hendrix has been named the recipient of two different scholarships to college.

completed as of this date but two of the special activities in which Farwell Chapter representatives will participate are a three-day electrical workshop at West Texas State University in Canyon in early June and the State FFA Convention at Houston in the first week of July.

However, the major activity on the agenda of most of the students will be working on family farms to produce this season's crops. New skills that were acquired by vocational agriculture students this last semester that will assist many of the youth in their farm work this summer were aluminum welding, surveying and basic electricity usage.

Some students have learned to weld aluminum, which is much more difficult than basic steel welding, using an oxy-propane torch, Mast related. Aluminum repairs are a part of using aluminum pipe for irrigation. "Repairing a pipe is more economical than replacing it," stated Mast. Students have practiced on a variety of thicknesses in an effort to learn to repair: all types and thicknesses of pipes.

Vo-ag IV students who have learned to survey can best use their skills in checking the contour of a field or in checking the accuracy of a leveling job on a field. Their surveying skills will also enable them to lay out the foundation of a building accurately. In acquiring these skills the students used a farm level and target as their primary tools.

Vo-ag III students who have been learning about electricity are becoming prepared to maintain farm and home electrical systems. Instruction was given in basic wiring systems, electrical motors and safety.

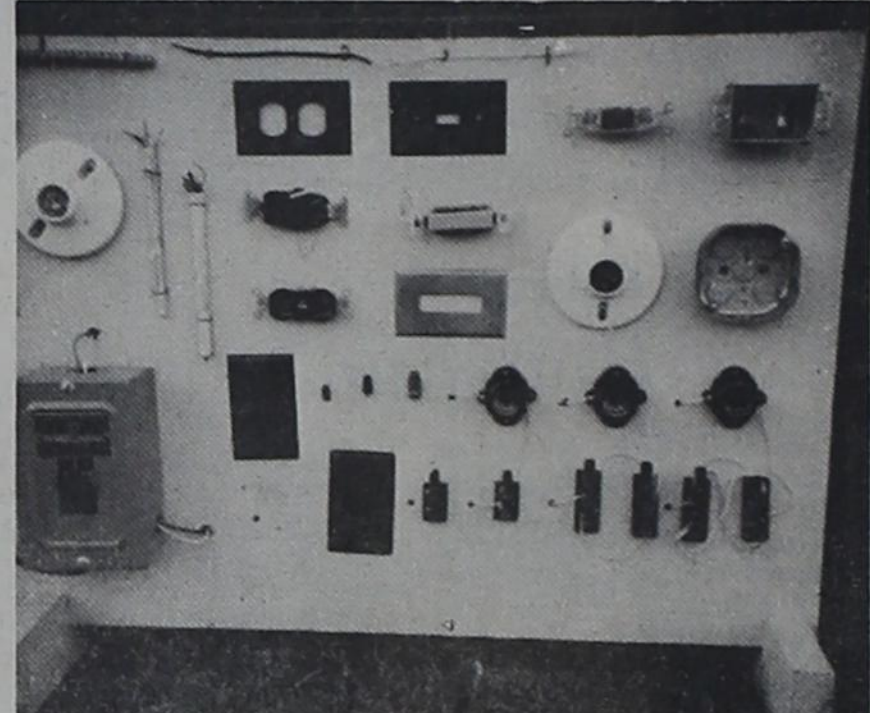

"Our students will be encouraged to use all three of the above agricultural skills and other agricultural knowledge learned this past school year during the summer," related Mast. "Summer is a busy time on the farm," he continued, "and many of our students are important team members in their family business of farming. With today's demand for accurate farm-business management, technical agri-knowledge and low cost repair of machinery, it is essential that the "future farmer" learn to perform as many of these agricultural skills as possible."

ACETYLENE CUTTING - Repair and adjusting of agricultural equipment are necessary skills required of a "future farmer" to keep production costs low. The vo-ag shop at Farwell High School will be open throughout the summer as a work facility for vocational agriculture students with mechanical projects and problems. Wade Meeks, a 1972 graduate of Farwell and former FFA member, accompanied his two brothers, Tim and Steve, who are current vocational agriculture students to the vo-ag shop after school to assist them in adjustment of equipment on their tractor. He is shown here rebuilding a weight bar on the front of the tractor.

ELECTRICAL DISPLAY - Farwell vo-ag III students have been learning about electricity this semester and are becoming prepared to maintain farm and home electrical systems. Some of the electrical skills learned may be put to use on the farms this summer. The electrical display board shown here is similar to ones constructed by the students. The board was built by James Mast, vocational agriculture instructor, as a teaching aid and a display of a variety of common electrical fittings used in the home and on the farm.

ARC WELDING - A basic farm mechanical skill is arc welding. "Future Farmers" who acquire this skill will be able to build farming equipment and make low cost repairs on their existing equipment. Farwell vocational agriculture students will be able to practice or use this art during the summer as the need arises through the use of the high school vo-ag shop. John Johnson, sophomore, is practicing a basic welding bead as Bryan Kube, also a sophomore, is looking on during shop time for vo-ag III students.

HOW'S The Electric Company DOING?

Let's ask Bert Ballengee - Reddy's financial man.

"It takes money to build for the future so that you'll have a dependable supply of electric power. We'll need $345 million over the next five years. Of this amount, we'll have to borrow $200 million. And, at today's interest rates, it's easy to see why electricity may cost more. But, it's all part of creating the good electric service you've come to expect from The Electric Company."

VICE PRESIDENT - FINANCE

Bert regularly visits the financial centers of the nation keeping in touch with the financial market and arranging for the millions of dollars it takes to assure your electric future.

TWO MINUTES WITH THE BIBLE

BY CORNELIUS R. STAM, PRES.
SEREAN BIBLE SOCIETY
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS 60633

TRUE LIBERTY

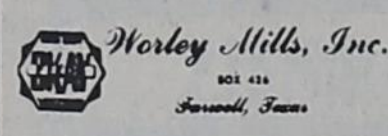

As true Americans celebrate their liberty, true Christians should contemplate the even greater liberty which they have in Christ.

Our Lord said: "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free" and "If the Son, therefore, shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed" (John 8:32,36). Likewise St. Paul declares that believers in Christ have been made "free from sin" and have become "servants to God" - who deals with us in grace (Rom. 6:22).

It is strange that so many sincere religious people actually wish to be in bondage to the perfect law of God - which can only judge and condemn them for their sin. Peter called the law: "a yoke which neither our fathers nor we were able to bear" (Acts 15:10). Paul called it "the handwriting of decrees, that was against us, which was contrary to us" (Col. 2:14). He called it "the ministration of death" and "the ministration of condemnation" (II Cor. 3:7,9).

He challenged those who "desired" to be under the law: "Tell me, ye that desire to be under the law, do ye hear the law?" (Gal. 4:21). And again: "For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse;" for it is written, "Cursed is everyone that CONTINUETH not in ALL the things that are written in the book of the law, to do them" (Gal. 3:10).

Thank God, "Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us" (Gal. 3:13). Man always responds better to grace than to law. The law was "added because of transgression" (Gal. 3:19). "By the law is the knowledge of sin" (Rom. 3:20). But Christ died for our sins and now true believers serve God from gratitude and love. Hence Rom. 6:14 says: "Sin shall not have dominion over you, for ye are not under law but under grace." Since Christ has redeemed us from the law (Gal. 4:5) God says to every true believer: "Stand fast, therefore, in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage" (Gal. 5:1).

On The Farm In Palmer County

By R. MACK HEALD
County Agent

Although more vegetable varieties are becoming available that have resistance to common diseases, disease control is still a major part of home garden vegetable production.

Proper cultural practices play a major role in the prevention of disease problems. These practices will reduce the need for fungicides later in the season.

Here are a few steps to help prevent a disease-free garden:

1. Choose a well-drained area.
2. Prepare the soil properly.
3. Plant disease-resistant varieties if they are available.
4. Use disease-free transplants where available.
5. Use fertilizer wisely to encourage maximum growth.
6. Plant crops when the soil temperature is correct to reduce losses from seedling disease.
7. Water properly to reduce foliage diseases.
8. Use mulches around plants to prevent fruit rots.
9. Control weeds as they often serve as hosts for vegetable diseases.
10. Use the proper row spacing to improve air circulation and reduce foliage disease.
11. Alternate plantings of the same crop to prevent buildup of a disease.
12. Rotate crops to prevent a buildup of soil diseases.
13. Control insects as they spread virus diseases.
14. Harvest vegetables at the proper stage of maturing to avoid storage decay.
15. Keep the garden clean of trash and debris where diseases can build up.
16. Use fungicides to control diseases that have become established.

Following these practices will go a long way in keeping disease problems to a minimum in the home vegetable garden.

If brucellosis is to be eradicated from Texas and the United States, full cooperation from cattle producers and all agencies involved in the program is essential.

The state-federal eradication program began on a voluntary basis in 1934. In 1954 a system was begun that involved testing cattle to find infected herds then slaughtering infected animals.

The current program is under the direction of the Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHC), with Dr. H.Q. Sibley as executive director. It calls for the identification of market animals for tracing, investigation of infected herds, and vaccination of replacement calves in high-risk areas.

Although the TAHC has the authority to quarantine entire herds as well as adjacent areas when the situation warrants it, the general policy is to quarantine only the group of cattle where the infected animal was located.

The eradication program is hampered severely when industry segments fail to cooperate in locating herds where reactors have been found.

Hanging baskets continue to gain in popularity, adding a touch of nature to many surroundings.

Hanging baskets can be hung in carports, terraces, porches, under trees or inside the home.

Any plants with drooping foliage such as ferns are excellent for hanging baskets. Asparagus sprengeri ferns are popular because they can tolerate a lot of direct sun and some cold, but Boston type ferns need high humidity and partial shade to do well.

Succulent plants such as hen chickens or burro tail sedum make good plants for hanging baskets and can tolerate considerable heat and drought.

Periwinkles and portulaca will bloom through the hottest weather on into fall, and petunias do well during spring and early summer.

Galvanized wire baskets pressed or sphagnum moss liners and wooden and terra cotta hanging planters all make good containers.

Fill the basket with a good potting soil high in organic matter such as peat moss, and place plants at the same depth they were originally growing.

Because hanging baskets are exposed to hot dry air on all sides, plants should be watered two or three times a week. You may water the plants by immersing the bottom of the container in a tub of water.

A water soluble fertilizer should be used once or twice a month.

By snipping off dead flowers, seed pods or leaves and pruning back vining plants to encourage branching, hanging baskets can be attractive throughout the growing season.

Around The House with Jana Pronger

Parmer County Extension Agent for Home Economics

With gardens in or going in now it's time to start thinking about food preservation and putting some of those good fresh vegetables and fruits up in the pantry or freezer, as they get really plentiful this summer.

Some of the containers and equipment you might like to start collecting now are: for canning - tempered glass jars (this is the kind with the glass company name stamped on the side), caps and lids to fit the jars. For processing, one needs a pressure canner, pressure sauce pan or boiling water bath canner (this depends on the size jars and type fruit or vegetable to be processed).

Other miscellaneous equipment you might like to use would be: jar lifter, funnel, vegetable brush, collander or wire basket and sauce pan. Also be sure to have pure, "pickling and canning salt" available.

For freezing one needs vapor-moisture proof containers. These could be tempered glass jars, plastic freezer boxes with tight lids or plastic bags. In preparation one would use general kitchen equipment such as a large kettle or sauce pan for blanching and knives and other utensils for general preparation.

Here's something else to remember when you start putting things in the freezer.

Guidelines for loading a freezer are simple and logical - designed to keep food rotating and the freezer temperature at 0 degree, Mrs. Lillian Chenoweth, family resource management specialist, said this week.

Be careful about adding too much "new" or unfrozen food at one time. The specialist advised that three pounds of food for every cubic foot of storage space is a reasonable addition.

Another way to determine the amount of food to freeze at one time is to add no more than 1/15 the capacity of the freezer. After this amount is put in, wait 24 hours before adding more, she recommended.

The specialist pointed out that for fast freezing, new food should be placed near the walls or bottom of either chest or upright types of freezers.

Keep similar foods together in baskets or on shelves. Foods also may be organized in heavy plastic or mesh bags.

Label all home frozen food with name and date stored. Masking tape makes a good label for this. Also, it's a good practice to date-label commercially frozen foods.

If the freezer is large, keep an inventory. Add each new food to the inventory sheet when it is put into the freezer.

Mrs. Chenoweth suggested keeping one page for each food category - meats, fruits, vegetables, baked goods, and any others.

As items are used, deduct them from the inventory sheet. This systematic storage helps keep track of foods that should be cooked and lets the homemaker know when she's running low, she said.

Ann Ledbetter Is Chairman Of Breath Of Life Drive

Mrs. Ann Ledbetter has been named Texico chairman of the Breath of Life Campaign to fight children's lung-damaging diseases, according to Lawrence D. Buxton, president of the New Mexico Chapter, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Mrs. Ledbetter will lead local volunteers in raising funds to support research and care programs for children affected by lung-damaging diseases like cystic fibrosis, severe asthma, chronic bronchitis and bronchiectasis.

The campaign begins in Texico on June 7 with a door-to-door drive scheduled at that time.

Approximately one of every 1,500 babies is born with cystic fibrosis which is still incurable. C/F is inherited when both parents carry the recessive gene for C/F. It is believed that one in 20 persons, or a total of 10 million Americans, is a symptomless carrier of this gene. Current research funded by the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is seeking a practical test to identify these carriers, as well as a cure for C/F and better methods of treatment for all lung-damaging diseases.

Because of improved treatment developed through research, many C/F patients are now living into their teens and young adulthood. This same treatment is also benefiting and often curing children suffering from other lung-damaging diseases.

"Most people don't realize that there are millions of children in the U.S. affected by lung-damaging disease," said Mrs. Ledbetter. "For some of these children breathing is a struggle, rather than the natural function we, who are lucky, take for granted."

The Breath of Life Campaign supports not only research, but diagnosis and treatment of children with lung-damaging diseases in C/F Centers across the country. There are more than 110 of these Centers, which also provide for educational programs and research.

agri-facts

By John Ricci

This is the first week of AGRI-FACTS and it seems appropriate to take this opportunity to explain a little about the column since now you'll be able to read it here every week.

Through this column, we'll take a look at agriculture. Hopefully, there will be some things you didn't know at all, others you thought you knew but weren't quite sure about and without a doubt there will be observations and definitions some readers know a whole lot more about than the writer.

One thing is guaranteed... many readers will find something new every week... and to keep things even more interesting you will find an occasional hint about the easy way to solve a problem you may be having around the house or on the farm or ranch. Comments on the column will be appreciated. Anybody's... anytime.
