HOME TOWN TALK

SHIPPERS in Howard, Martin and Glasscock counties will benefit from reduced freight rates on livestock shipped out and feedstuffs shipped in just as soon as copies of the rates are received by the local freight agent.

Thousands of head are being shipped from West Texas points to grass and to market. The lower rates will, it is declared by cattlemen, benefit them materially at this particular time.

The whole state, reports indicate, has been soaked within the past 48 hours. Howard county was not overlooked. Although grade of cotton may be damaged some from the moisture there's always a dark lining as well as a bright one—moisture, in the long run rarely damages anything out in this country.

The farmer who can see his way clear to make another crop is beginning to think about it, getting his mind off low yield or low market prices for this year's crop. It is declared many farmers will come out some way because, due to the policy of the banks, they have not borrowed as much as they had been allowed to in past years when outlook of the market and general business appeared better.

EMPLOYMENT NOTES: This morning we had applications from two women for employment, both declaring they are in the need of it immediately. One is a middle-aged woman who seeks work as a housekeeper or home nurse. The other is a younger woman. She reported she had two small children and would exchange work for rent of a furnished apartment. If wages justified, could arrange to have someone keep her babies while she worked. "We're in a hard place right now," she said.

We are receiving numerous requests for employment, from women and a few men. One woman, a veteran, partially disabled, who is a good painter and a general handy man, has asked for work.

We earnestly appeal to those who are in a position to give employment of any kind to communicants with The Herald at once.

BRADY, Tex., Oct. 6 (AP)—More than $100,000 property damage had been wrought by flood waters from the Brady river, which flows through town, and about 200 people were homeless here today. A score or more small homes along the banks of the river, were washed away and their occupants were being cared for by the local Red Cross. No loss of life had been reported.

A frame business house was floated around on the surface of the water through the streets, butting itself against more substantial structures.

Scores of automobiles had been washed down the river, it was reported. The stream normally with bare banks enough water to run, had been deep at its origin in Concho county near Elgin, by rain that measured ten inches.

Faulty Frame Blamed For R-101 Crash

Parts Discovered Five Miles Away; Stowaway Aboard

PARIS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Air Commander A. V. Holt, chief British investigator, is stated by the newspaper Le Temps tonight to have advised the British government that the cause of the disaster to the R-101 was a rupture of the metallic framework and not a derangement of an engine.

STOWAWAY ABOARD BEAUVAIS, France, Oct. 6 (AP)—The presence of one stowaway and possibility of two aboard the wrecked R-101 dirigible was admitted this afternoon by John Holt, air commander, and head of the British investigating committee.

Rescue squads found enough arms and legs in the debris to make as many as two or three more bodies than the 47 which lay in the chapel at Allonne, it was said. The British-French commission of inquiry into the disaster met at the town hall but in strict privacy. Gendarmes refused entrance to all other persons.

One of the sad activities today was drawing up of the death certificates of the victims in accordance with French law. A solemn funeral ceremony will be held at 10 a. m. Tuesday in the historic cathedral of Beauvais. Mr. Laurent Eynac, French air minister, will be present and Monsignor Lesning, Bishop of Beauvais, will read the service.

Earnshaw And Grimes Seen As Starting Pitchers In Fifth Game Of Championship Series

By BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics and Gabby Street's St. Louis Cardinals today were right back where they started the world's series at Shibe Park, Philadelphia, last Wednesday. With four games behind them, the champions of the American and National leagues stood all even, with two victories each, the home team winning every contest played.

The two St. Louis victories made a new National league high since 1928 when the same Cardinals won the series.

After the fifth game today, the battlefield will again be transferred, the players moving in a body back to Philadelphia for at least one contest, and possibly two.

The Cardinals leveled the series by giving 37-year-old Jesse Haines, their knuckle-ball expert, support in keeping with his mastery pitching. The score was 3 to 1 and Lefty Grove, Connie Mack's left-handed ace, was the victim, although the defeat was not entirely the fault of the tall southpaw.

Grove held the Cardinals to five hits, only one more than the total allowed by Big Jesse, but all the safeties were scored in two innings, two in the third and three in the fourth. With perfect support, however, Grove would have escaped with one run scored against him, a bad throw by the usually reliable Jimmy Dykes, permitting the winning run to score. The player put on by the error also scored but this was an unnecessary run Dykes, as a matter of fact, did not have to throw the ball at all as he could have tagged a base runner in front of him for the third out.

Haines pitched good enough ball to win most games, world's series or just common ordinary contests during the season. He was nicked for three hits and one run in the first inning, but after that he yielded only one isolated single. He was wild, issuing four passes. But he had control in the pinches when he counted.

Smart fielding by Charley Geibert, the Cardinals' young short stop, gave the Ohio pitcher, who is the senior of the St. Louis staff, much satisfaction. Geibert started a fast double play, after a sensational stop, and converted a near-hits into an assist when a technical knockout over Berg would have been painful to the feelings of the St. Louis fans. Berg, British batter, had gone far to floundering back into the water of the series as a coach but among the lightweights, Kid plays right field when a left-handed pitcher for the opposition, made a brilliant running catch at the expense of Mickey Cochrane, the hard hitting catcher of the Athletics, who was stopped in his tracks by Haines.

The fifth game of the series was expected to bring two former Philadelphia pitchers back into the lineup. Bartleigh Grimes, the veteran spitballer for the Cardinals, and George Earnshaw, the Athletics' giant right-hander. Grimes pitched the first game for the National League at Philadelphia's Coliseum Friday, and Babe Hunt, and was defeated, 5 to 2. Earnshaw pitched the second game of the series, 6 to 1.

The probable lineup today:

Philadelphia: Bishop, 2b; Dykes, 3b; Cochrane, c; Simmons, lf; Boley, ss; Earnshaw, p.

St. Louis: Douhit, cf; Adams, 3b; Frisch, 2b; Bottomley, lf; Hafey, lf; Watkins, rf; Wilson, c; Geibert, ss; Grimes, p.

Umpires—George Moriarty (American League) at plate; Charles Gabel (National) at first; Harry Gabel (American) at second; Jack Reardon (National) at third.

Little Fellows In Boxing Game To Occupy Spot

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—The little fellows of the boxing business are due to vie with heavyweights this week for what interest there is left for boxing in the season of football and world's series.

Kid Berg, England's whirlwind lightweight, is scheduled to meet Scott, who has been able to beat him for many years. She went to work in Kansas, she said, and "grew up a dry."

Miss Scott taught in a New York high school until four years ago she became editor of the World Signal, official organ of the W. C. T. U. For the past two years she has been superintendent of the department of peace and arbitration for the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union. She attended the London Naval Conference, and then went with Mrs. H. B. Wise Smith, national vice president of the W. C. T. U., to visit elders of temperance work in eastern countries.

FESLER AT FULLBACK THIS YEAR

Wesley Fesler, Ohio State's all-American end in 1929, has been shifted to fullback by Coach Sam Williamson after two seasons of brilliant wing work. He is playing in the backfield for the first time in his gridiron career.

Eight Killed In Crash Of Huge Plane

BERLIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—Eight persons were killed when a Luft Hansa passenger plane crashed today on the moorlands near Dresden. The plane carried a pilot, a mechanic and six passengers.

The plane was scheduled to land at Dresden at 5:30 p. m., but fell shortly before in the midst of the nearby moorlands.

The Luft Hansa said the disaster occurred just as the machine was preparing to make a gliding descent down to the Dresden landing place.

Two women perished in the accident; their names were given as Frau Ina Blumel and Frau Graefe. Names of the other four dead passengers are P. W. Blackwell, Friedrich Knittel and Kuehnelt. The pilot was Erick Pust, with long service with the Luft Hansa. Max Lange was the mechanic. Seven of the eight occupants died instantly, and the eighth as he was being taken to a hospital.

Cause of the disaster was not ascertained immediately. The weather was perfect for flying.

Blackwell was a British business man of Shanghai, traveling from Hamburg to Pargue. All others other aboard were Germans or Austrians. Frau Graefe was the wife of the Luft Hansa representative at Sofia.

New Legislative Envoy Appointed By W.C.T.U.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Prohibition activities which Mrs. Ellis A. Yost dropped to take the leadership of women for the Republican National Committee have been shouldered by Miss Lou A. Scott, who turned to temperance work four years ago, after long experience as a New York school teacher.

To the post of capital legislative representative of the Women's Christian Temperance Union Miss Scott came, very quietly, last week. National officers selected her shortly after Mrs. Yost resigned.

Miss Scott said today education had been her chief personal interest for many years. She went to school in Kansas, she said, and "grew up a dry."

Intersectional Games Off, Southwest Eleven Ready To Declare Domestic Warfare

BY GAYLE TALBOT JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Somewhat recovered from an hilarious weekend, in which it watched its favorites wage a brilliant but unsuccessful campaign through the middle west, the Southwest conference settled back today to contemplate the approaching battle in its own back yard.

The opening gun of the championship race was to be fired Saturday at Fort Worth, when the reigning Texas Christian University Horned Frogs will engage the University of Arkansas. Two intersectional titles were carded the same day, Texas A. & M. College meeting the Tulane Green wave in the new Fair Park bowl at Dallas, and Rice Institute entertaining the University of Arizona at Houston.

Three remaining conference members, two quarantined from defeats in Indiana and a third recovering from a scoreless struggle, were aligned against minor opposition. Southern Methodist, heroic in its 20-14 loss to Notre Dame, hoped to recuperate against the Austin College eleven here Friday. Baylor, only slightly less heroic as it fell before Purdue, 20 to 7, was scheduled against Trinity University Saturday at Waco. The Tyeas Longhorns, who emerged from their combat with Centenary with a scoreless tie and a bad scare, were to play host to Howard Payne College at Austin.

THE Dancing Silhouette

Synopsis: Jack Winslow, adopted son of Arnold Winslow, disappears when evidence points to him as the murderer of Dr. Paul Kane.

BY ROBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD--A real test of the comparative effectiveness of stage and talking screen may be had in the projected film version of the horror "Dracula."

Whether the "prop" effect is a problem to be anticipated with interest.

It will have, among its assets, the star who long has played the vampire role on the stage, Zola Lugiotti.

Notes on Notables Newspaper stories, despite their frequent use as talkies, still go, it seems, George Bancroft is to appear in "Unfit to Print" next, with Kay Francis as the charmer.

There's a girl who has risen rapidly since she came from Broadway, another newspaper story, "Gentlemen of the Press," having been her first talkie.

John Barrymore, with his old collection of pets, including birds and animals, has an especial favorite—a culture dubbed Maloney.

The writing-composing team of DeSylva, Brown and Henderson labored under a handicap. All are well-to-do, all successful, and yet when a picture of theirs is in production they strew around the set as anxiously as though their lives depended on its quality.

They haven't had a failure yet, stage or screen, and don't want to mar the record.

Henderson, by the way, is the only member of the team who owns a piano.

CHRISTENING Here's how Hollywood got its floral name.

Mrs. Harold G. Wilcox, whose husband owned a ranch many years ago in what is now the center of Hollywood, met an English woman in England called Hollywood. It was so named because of the holly that grew in the vicinity.

The name appealed to Mr. Wilcox, who sent for some of the English holly bushes, and in 1887 the ranch became known as Hollywood.

The hamlet that grew up took the name and retained it when it became a town.

THEATRES PLANNED DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 6 (AP)—The Dallas News says that Dallas and four other Texas cities are to have $1,500,000 theatres by next September 1 and connects the Fox Film Corporation with the transaction.

The story further says the theatres will be elaborate and of modern design to house sound films and the Fanchon and Marco stage shows, a part of the Fox organization. The former Interstate Amusement Company has bought Fox films as a three-year supply for its Majestic theatres in Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio. This contract expires next September 1.

WILKAT FLOWS HENDERSON, Tex., Oct. 6 (AP)—After tacking four heads of oil, the last flowing approximately 75 or 100 barrels in 20 minutes today, the J. W. No. 3 wildcat well near here was closed down so drillers could set the tubing, expected to be completed in a day and a night.

THE Dancing Silhouette

BY NATALIE SHUMNER LINCOLN

ill, a black shadow merging into the utter darkness.

Above where he crouched, but more to the right, was one of the dormer windows of the third floor, and he judged from its position and his knowledge of the attic, that it belonged to Jack's workshop.

He climbed toward the trunk of the tree, then, hand over hand, swarmed up it and out along a branch above the ledge of the dormer window.

The branch he bestrode, while five feet or more higher, was not directly over the dormer window and to jump from it to the narrow ledge was a feat at which many would shy even in broad daylight.

Even as he hesitated a light flashed on in the room with the dormer window, who in the household could enter the workshop when Inspector Mitchell, according to Lambert, had the key which lifted the lock.

According to Lambert, he had listed of the original key to the door was the one used by the intruder. What more likely even than that the intruder was Jack Winslow?

Knowing that the door of the workshop could not be opened without using force or spending valuable time picking the lock while running the risk of discovery, Thorne had chosen the more venturesome way of gaining admittance via the dormer window.

Intuitively he had realized that something of more importance than four bare walls lay within the locked door.

And now another had gotten there first! Suddenly the light in the room was obscured as a huge shadow on the lowered shade blotted it out. Gradually the shadow grew less, look form, and before Thorne's starting eyes, a whirling, dancing figure was outlined against the cream-colored window shade. Swaying this way and that, in perfect rhythm, the figure danced with a grace and abandon that took no note of time or place.

It seemed to the breathless Thorne that he had never seen more joyous dancing—the whirling figure appeared the personification of a great and overwhelming happiness. As in its own, he was in doubt whether man or maid danced and swayed back and forth and around the room. The shadowy face, shielded by the waving hair, was blurred, indistinct—the features impossible to recognition.

Pursuing the dancing shadow, Thorne encounters a flash and in tomorrow's chapter.

Realization

For a long time the Shellys had done without a piano although Mrs. Shelly, and Tom and Mary all knew how to play. When the family had moved to West Texas from Kansas the piano had been sold and one thing and another had prevented the buying of another. Then one day Mrs. Shelly happened to glance through the classified columns of the Herald and there she found an opportunity to secure a good used piano at a sacrifice. Another family was moving from the city and could not take the piano. Now Mrs. Shelly realizes (since the piano was bought at such a moderate price) that the classified advertising columns daily offer just such opportunities as provided the piano for her family. She never misses reading the "want ads" every day.

Almost every imaginable object can be purchased through the Classified Ad Columns of The Big Spring Daily Herald, Big Spring's greatest market place.

Whether it's an object for the home, or a home itself, or a place to rent, or a used car, or an opportunity to enter business, or a chance to loan money, it will pay to keep a close watch on these busy, interesting columns that present new offerings every twenty-four hours.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Newark, N. J.

Do you not think that the worst enemy of religion is modern thought?

No, the worst enemy of religion is the careless, indifferent, disloyal attitude of many who profess it. Why should you begin to cry the moment modern thought is mentioned? If it makes fresh light on the universe and the nature of the development of his spiritual nature, or on the workings of the mind in the name of God, and if all truth we should welcome it with light.

If the phrase "modern thought" is used to mean the scientific method, the mind gains from its application. It is perfectly useless to the Church to be behind when the world is at the front. The fact that it is not going to preserve anything worth while is not a reason for the allowance of anything else. It is the price of progress.

When Jesus started his Church, He told the Pharisees and Sadducees that His mission was to bring the reality of all things which are in heaven or on earth. To those He bore His witness, and His disciples must follow His lead.

Truth is not a matter of numbers. It is eternal and will ultimately prevail in things as in life.

It took over three months for the London Conference of the World Council of Churches to achieve its somewhat doubtful and partial results, even though the issue involved was simple.

I am sorry to hear of the difficulties of the League of Nations. The League of Nations, Canada, and the United States are of security in a world affected by mutual confidence and good will. The Polish, Czech, Slovak, Japanese, and Italian Balkan States are a constant dread that they may find themselves in a world of peace.

How are you going to handle the "dread"? No amount of propaganda can overcome it. Some of the common trust represented by permanent relations of cooperation will accomplish an admirable result.

Futile conflicts are those which cannot be won. They may seem to us of little importance, but they are the basis of the world's progress. As long as that is the case, it is worth while to persist. Public opinion will be the instrument which will bring about a more friendly world.

Again, I believe that the total resources of the world are sufficient to develop a world of peace and strength. An active peace policy is necessary. Active peace policy is necessary. Active peace policy is necessary. Active peace policy is necessary.

Tailored wool frocks have found a place in the wardrobes of the majority of girls and travel silk semi-dress frocks will fill the need of the informal party or dinner-dress.

Jaunty knitted berets and those of gay felt are being worn and off-the-face hats frame waves of hair instead of giving the wearer the appearance of a bald-faced cow as was so often the case last year.

Tweeds promise much for the winter months among both men and women. Suits for the girls are lovely with their blouses of beige and know flake tweeds are favored by many males.

Men are becoming braver about their dress each year it develops. Certainly it takes a brave man to initiate the style of hats with a narrow brim that sits upon the head, nevertheless the walks were dotted with collegians wearing just such hats which may be found in every shade of gray and in varying browns.

Russians, If Recognized, Might Blow Up All With Clean Shave And $2.50 Rogers Fears

BY WILL ROGERS

Well all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what I get through the mail. Arthur Brisbane and I have been having a good natured kidding through the papers about Russia. Arthur kinder believes that Russia should be recognized, and me I don't know whether they should or not. Lords, that's a Diplomatic business not mine. I am not getting Diplomatic wages. I am only getting acting wages. They are in a position to do quite a little trade with us. So if you want to base everything on a purely dollar and cents basis why we better not only recognize em but get out and look for them.

But then we know that they spend a great deal of money on propaganda to foment revolution, and that nothing would be so welcome to them as to read some day where everybody that had a clean shave and more than $2.50 cents had been blown up with a bomb, why then you kinder wonder if its good to deal with folks that don't wish you any better than that. But that's got nothing to do with it, what I am getting at is the interesting letters this fellow Brisbane writes, I am going to show you one he wrote me that I just got yesterday. I don't think he will mind me publishing this, its personal, but not too personal for me to collect my weekly fee on, especially when it better by far than anything I could write.

My Dear Rogers, Now that I have established my credit as a multi-millionaire, and that you have destroyed mine by making me out in the public prints as destitute, which by the way I regret to say is an extremely accurate description, let us talk seriously about Russia. This Country including its brightest intellects, even your own, fail to appreciate the importance of what is going on in Russia.

You know that when Louis the sixteenth came back from shooting at Fontainebleau on a certain 14th of July he wrote "Rein, Rein, Rein," meaning in the French language, "Nothing." He hadn't shot down that nothing had happened, BUT that was the 14th day of July on which the Bastille was destroyed and later as a consequence of that "Rein" day, they just casually chopped off his head.

The King of Persia asked, "What is Greece?" and said to his royal remembrancer, "Remind me sometime to go down and destroy that little country." His descendants learned about Greece when Alexander came from Macedonia with 30,000 men and sent him flying to his death, went through his line of "elephants" and "ook his Country."

All of which leads us to the fact that Will Rogers should study and analyze, and understand Russia, not anyone of it with a wave of a hand, like some of "Cash Wall Street Broker who buys Kaimenky Bonds and billyaches because they are not paid. We didn't pay the odds issued by the South."

I have no doubt that the Russian experiment will fail eventually, being based on presence of selfishness and treachery, which have no existence among human beings.

But its experiments in industry, in world competition, and efficiency may cost some of the old Capital at civilization's dear, if they ignore it. Alexander Empires fell, dwindling down to the Czarist and Mark Antony foolishness, but not until they had put an end forever to the old Persia. So you ought to warn your readers to not underestimate Russia. Many years ago when you was a little boy, (Thanks for that kind compliment Arthur) I told Klaw, Erlanger, Frohman and Brady that someday Movies would sweep the country and be in every town. They thought I was crazy. Well look and see.

Now you take old Cato with his "Carthage must be destroyed" and keep saying every day at the end of your "piece" in diamond type, "Watch and beware of Russia!" This is talked into my phonograph in my automobile on my way in from Long Island to New York, hence the length. Yours sincerely, W. A. Brisbane.

Now wasn't that a fine letter. You know he is a great fellow. I wish you all could know him personally, along with his uncanny grasp of things he has got a lot of humor, there is many a sly laugh imbedded in his sermons on many subjects. I w he is sincere about this Russia thing too. He does know enough about it to know that they are going somewhere, and we better watch out while they are on the way. I think on the other hand that he has kinder been Propagandered on em, and he has perhaps got the brighter side, for they were a pretty steady looking outfit when I visited them in 1926. Course they might have changed a lot. We have thought we would have ever thought we would be walking on our uppers to have looked at us in 26. Why we had a gold mine and thought it couldn't run out. Now he is a smart man, and I am going to take his advice, and really give a little more serious thought and time to see what they really are doing, for Lord knows we all want to see 'em make it go for if they can make it better for everybody, instead of just for a few why they will have practically revolutionized the World. But all that Cato, and Carthage, and Persia, and Greece, and Macedonia, and Louis the sixteenth, and "Rein" and all that was lost on me. He was getting a long way from Russia telling about all those old birds. But the Rasca! can quote anything. And I guess he's right, anyhow I haven't got time to look it up, any man as high salaried and busy as he is, that will sit down and take his valuable time to write my Sunday Article for me, I am not going to find any fault with it as to facts. I will disagree with him every day if he will write my article for me. Anyhow if I ever anger him, I can't talk about those old fellows. I will have to refer him to Senator Grundy, Al Capone, Tom Hefflin, Almie, and just the ones that I know. But anyhow Arthur, I am much obliged to you, and will take care of Russia from now on. Employers have spread their employment systematically. For the first time in more than a century of these recurring depressions we have been practically free of bitter industrial conflict.

"We have thus had nationwide cooperation and team play which have greatly ameliorated the hardship of the depression. These measures have served as a practical system of unemployment insurance."

There are, of course, exceptions," he continued, "but in the large sense our great manufacturing companies, the railways, utilities, and business houses have been able to maintain the established wages."

Hoover Heard By American Labor Session

Absence of Capital-Labor Conflict Aids Stability He Says

BOSTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Optimism pervaded two addresses today by President Hoover, an optimism he drew from nationwide "team play" to alleviate unemployment on the one hand, and from the assurance of peace for the country on the other.

The annual conventions of the American Federation of Labor and the American Legion heard him.

At the Stater Hotel this afternoon, he told the federation delegates industrial stability had been increased by national cooperation and the absence of conflict between capital and labor during the business depression.

"At the Boston arena in the forenoon, he urged the Legionnaires to expand their mission of citizenship by teaching the essentials of good will toward other nations, proper law enforcement, and discharge of duty at the ballot box.

The peace of our country has never stood more assured than at this moment," he said. "The realization of your ideal to promote peace and good will through citizenship is the greatest guaranty of its continuance."

While a "burden of unemployment" still exists, Mr. Hoover said before the labor group, the undertakings agreed upon at the White House conferences last November with business, industrial and labor leaders had been carried out in an amazing degree.

There are, of course, exceptions," he continued, "but in the large sense our great manufacturing companies, the railways, utilities, and business houses have been able to maintain the established wages."

WILL, I WANT YOU TO GET ACQUAINTED WITH MY FRIEND, MR. RUSSIA.

Getting Acquainted

"Real peace in the world requires something more than documents which we sign to terminate wars. Peace requires unremitting, courageous campaigns, laid with strategy and carried on successfully on a hundred fronts and sustained in spirit and from the hearts of every individual in every town and village of our country. The maintenance of respect requires that we maintain a preparedness for defense that is impregnable yet that contains no threat of aggression."

He said the United States had safeguarded its defense by "parity with the greatest naval power in the world" under the London naval treaty, but by limiting its strength "we have given demonstration to the world that we seek no domination but only adequate defense."

The American people, he added, have always been opposed to a large standing army.

"We have always relied on our citizen army, and never relied in vain," he asserted, "but its maintenance is again the voluntary service of good citizenship."

Referring to the Legion's "mutual helpfulness" ideal, the President said a "grateful nation" was now spending $800,000,000 a year for veterans' rehabilitation, adjusted compensation, and insurance, two-thirds of this going to veterans of the world war.

"The nation assumes an obligation when it sends its sons to war," he asserted. "The nation is proud to require this obligation within its full resources."

Declaring he was glad to extend the government veterans' relief program by signing the disability pension bill of the last session, the President said the Legion could perform a great public service by seeing to it that pension applications do not "exceed the measure that justice requires and self help can provide."

"If we shall overload the burden of taxation," he added, "we shall stagnate our economic progress and we shall be the slackening of his progress place penalties upon every citizen."

The very beginning of "obligation to the community, the state and the nation" another Legion ideal is at the ballot box, the President asserted.

"The whole plan of self-government," he said, "presupposes that the will of the people shall participate in the selection of its officials, the determination of its policies, and the maintenance of its ideals. Anything less than this involves government by the minority."

KINGS MOUNTAIN BATTLE FIELD, S. C., Oct. 7 (AP)—A warning that the constitution and American institutions must be protected from foreign influences was issued recently from a company of 189 men to enter the electrical school at San Diego.

Florida will have four capable ends this fall, including Joe Hall, Bradenton youngster, who finished third in the national A. A. U. decathlon championships at Pittsburgh.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified croscote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery which has two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

OF all known drugs croscote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to croscote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the croscote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

country by selfish interests also would mean a destruction of equality of opportunity.

"It is the first duty of those who believe in the American system," he said, "to maintain a knowledge of and a pride in it, not particularly because we need fear those foreign systems, but because we have need to maintain ours in purity and strength."

Free Education "In the American system, through free and universal education, we train the runners, we strive to give them an equal start, our government is the umpire of its fairness. The winner is he who shows the most conscientious training, the most greatest ability, the strongest character."

"Socialism or its violent brother, Bolshevism, would compel all the runners to end the race equally; it would hold the swiftest to the speed of the most backward. Anarchy would provide neither training nor umpire. Despotism or class government picks those who run and also those who win."

"Whatever the merits or demerits of these other systems may be, they all mean the destruction of the driving force of equal opportunity, and they mean the destruction of our Constitution, for our political framework would serve none of them and many of its fundamental provisions are the negation of them. They mean the abandonment of the nation's spiritual heritage."

"It is significant that some of these systems deny religion and seek to expel it. I cannot conceive of a wholesome social order or a sound economic system that does not have its roots in religious faith."

"While we cannot permit any foreign person or agency to undermine our institutions, yet we must look to our own conduct that we do not by our own failure to uphold and safeguard the true spirit of Americanism weaken the very forces which uphold our national greatness."

Dangers At Home "It is in our own house that our real dangers lie, and it is there that we need to summon our highest wisdom and our highest sense of public service."

Asserting that "this country is supremely dedicated, not to the pursuit of material riches, but to the pursuit of a richer life for the individual, Mr. Hoover said that in a large sense the open channels of opportunity have been maintained, constantly refreshing the leadership of the nation by men of lowly beginnings."

"We have no class or caste or aristocracy whose privilege limits the hopes and opportunities of our people," he said. "Science and education have been spread until they are the universal tools of the common man. They have brought to him the touch of a thousand finest things of life. They have enlarged the horizon of our vision into the inspiring works of God."

Mr. Hoover held that government in business, except in emergency, also jeopardizes opportunity and is the "incarnation of tyranny through bureaucracy." He said that the system of government and of our social principles and ideals as compared to others may in part be interpreted by the practical results of the 150 years of growth that have brought to us the richness of life which spreads through this great nation.

"The world about us is tormented," he said, "with the spiritual and economic struggles that attend changing ideals and systems. Old faiths are being shaken. But we must follow our own destiny. Our institutions are a growth. They come out of our history as a people. Our ideals are a blinding spiritual heritage. We can not abandon them without chaos. We can follow them with confidence."

"The whole plan of self-government," he said, "presupposes that the will of the people shall participate in the selection of its officials, the determination of its policies, and the maintenance of its ideals. Anything less than this involves government by the minority."

"If we shall overload the burden of taxation," he added, "we shall stagnate our economic progress and we shall be the slackening of his progress place penalties upon every citizen."

The very beginning of "obligation to the community, the state and the nation" another Legion ideal is at the ballot box, the President asserted.

"The whole plan of self-government," he said, "presupposes that the will of the people shall participate in the selection of its officials, the determination of its policies, and the maintenance of its ideals. Anything less than this involves government by the minority."

KINGS MOUNTAIN BATTLE FIELD, S. C., Oct. 7 (AP)—A warning that the constitution and American institutions must be protected from foreign influences was issued recently from a company of 189 men to enter the electrical school at San Diego.
