

Thirteen Men Killed In Mine Explosion

HOMETOWN TALK

By Betty

Attendance at a meeting in Lamesa Friday evening convinced us that Howard county might take some lessons from its neighbor, Dawson, when it comes to getting in the harness and pulling together toward goals of public interest and mutual benefit.

Three-fifths of the right-of-way in Dawson county for the Texas & Pacific Northern Railway company's line has been DONATED.

Judge Lindsey, chairman of the right-of-way committee, told Mr. Webb of the T & P that he could not assure "Dawson county will be at the Lubbock hearing with the right-of-way all secured."

We believe Howard county will come through in the end. But with the hearing only a week and a day in the future, it is safe to say Howard county will not go to Lubbock with the right-of-way at its vest pocket.

Mr. Webb and other speakers all mentioned the fact that there will necessarily be cases where property will be damaged in some unusual manner because of the construction across it of the new rail line. This damage will in a very few instances be sufficient to merit a special award of cash, they pointed out.

With equal logic they pointed to the fact that construction of the road on or near any given piece of property will not lower its value.

On the other hand, it will make it more valuable.

What farmer or other property owners across whose holdings the road will pass will offset his land for sale cheaper after the road is built than he would now? How many would feel its worth per acre would be diminished?

There is, in such cases, no foundation for a claim for damages. We do not believe Howard county property owners will be anything but reasonable in this matter.

Certainly the imaginary line dividing Howard and Dawson county does not mark any difference in the effect construction of the road will have on the land.

We cannot help but be anxious for Howard county to get started on the drive for the right-of-way. Would feel easier were it all signed up.

Rail Workers Fight Buses

Fort Worth Forces Form Organization to Balance Taxes

FORT WORTH, Nov. 29 (AP)—Railway employes on all lines entering Fort Worth, formed a permanent organization tonight to oppose what was termed unfair competition of motor trucks and buses with the railroads, and adopted a resolution demanding equality of taxation for all forms of transportation.

The move was taken to safeguard the jobs of railway workers threatened by reduction of the tolls by motor truck and bus lines as common carriers of freight and traffic passengers.

The resolution proposed to attempt to remedy the situation by imposing a ton-mile tax on highway truck operation and a passenger-mile tax on bus operation. It called attention to the lack of regulation and freedom from taxation of trucks and buses and demanded that all "subsidies" be withdrawn from those forms of transportation by the government.

Tax free competition of such motor truck lines was blamed by W. R. Lence of Abilene, general manager of the Abilene and Southern Railway for the heavy decrease in net incomes shown by reports of railroads for the first six months of this year.

He declared the free use of highway by commercial freight and passenger lines is a form of competition with which the railroads bearing a heavy expense for maintenance of roadways and taxation on physical equipment, can not meet.

Loss of volume of business, destroying the sound condition of the railroads upon which the wages of employes depend, has been par-

Effect of Cut By Cosden Not Yet Developed

Umpire Says Producers Not To Accept New Low Price

Developments of Saturday affecting the Howard-Glasscock county pool, following Friday's announcement by the Cosden Oil company of a cut in the price of crude to 50 cents per barrel, flat, irrespective of grade included the following:

1. Statement by E. E. Andrews, umpire of proration in the field for the state railroad commission, that four principal producers had informed him they would not sell oil at the price posted by Cosden.

2. Announcement from the Cosden pipe line division that it had not been notified finally by any producer that runs of crude to its line would be stopped.

The Cosden company has nominated 6,600 barrels daily as its crude take for the month of December. This is a reduction of 1,500 barrels from the amount taken this month.

The Cosden refinery here will continue operating at approximately the rate it has maintained during the past month, it was said.

Four Producers Continental Oil company, Sun Oil company, Kirby Petroleum corporation and Simms Oil company had informed him they would not sell to Cosden at the new price, said Mr. Andrews, Plymouth Oil company, he said, was undecided as to its course.

The local managers of the Cosden pipe line division said he had not been informed by any producer that it would discontinue running oil to the Cosden lines.

The Cosden company has the most complete system of gathering lines of any buyer operating in the Howard-Glasscock county field. Besides the main line to the refinery here it has more than 30 miles of gathering lines.

Recovery of gasoline from the crudes taken from the local field is not sufficient to justify Cosden in paying more than 50 cents per barrel in view of existing prices for gasoline, it is declared. The gasoline market has been at 4 and 4 1/4 cents per gallon for several weeks, having dropped gradually, within

Charlie Tom, 73, Pioneer of Martin, Dies

Prominent Land Owner Buried Saturday at Stanton

Charlie Tom, 73, pioneer Martin county cattleman, died at his home at Stanton, at 9:30 p. m. Friday, following an illness of only a week. Pneumonia was given as the cause of death. He became ill Monday.

Funeral services were held at 4 p. m. Saturday at the Stanton Catholic Church, with burial in the Catholic cemetery.

Mr. Tom came to Martin County 28 years ago, moving from Alpine. He formerly lived at Brady and was a native Texan. He acquired large ranch holdings in Martin County during the time he lived at Stanton.

He was the father of Jim Tom, co-owner of the First National Bank of Stanton, and Alfred and Edmond Tom, cattlemen of Stanton, three daughters, Miss Ada Tom, Stanton; Mrs. J. C. Ellis, Fort Worth, and Mrs. A. R. Houston, Stanton, also survive.

Mr. Tom was a brother of P. C. Tom and G. W. Tom, of Lubbock and Midland, respectively, who are well known West Texas land owners and cattlemen. A sister, Mrs. Ellen Thompson, Brady, also survives.

His wife preceded him in death 13 years ago. Eberly Funeral Home, Big Spring, directed the services.

Santa Claus, In Royal Robes, Arrested On First Appearance In Big Spring

Santa Claus, in all his traditional raiment, set off with the tinsel of the Yuletide season, ran afoul of the law Friday afternoon and therefore lost his job.

Hardly had he departed from his chariot that sweeps the skies, and given his faithful reindeer a parting pat, until he was hearing things with a legal tinge.

The chery old gentleman had been engaged by Wackers five cent to five dollar store, Main street, to appear between the hours of three and five Friday afternoon. A store filled with children and their parents waited.

Missing Woman Flyer Haunted By Fear of Disaster

Mrs. Keith-Miller Had Greater Fear of Being Thought Coward

By HOMER E. KNOWLTON Associated Press Staff

Copyright, 1930, by the Associated Press. HAVANA, Nov. 29 (AP)—A premonition of death which she thought through fear of being thought a coward, haunted Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, an Australian aviator, whom air officials here believed today to have perished in an attempt to fly from Havana to Miami yesterday.

Virtually all hope has been abandoned for her safety, searching parties in six airplanes from here

MISSING 40 HOURS MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 29 (AP)—Hope waned and strengthened today for the safety of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, the woman who shared a stormy flight from Havana to Miami.

Mrs. Keith-Miller, Australian aviator, has been missing since she left Havana yesterday to fly across the wind-chopped gray waves of the gulf stream toward Miami and Pittsburgh. She faced a 30-mile wind from the east, without facilities for blind flying. She carried no radio set, or bank and Miami having flown for hours over the stretch of Gulf and Florida keys without a trace of her or the plane in which she set out at 11 a. m. yesterday. She was due in Miami before noon.

Friends of Mrs. Keith-Miller made here since her arrival last week from Pittsburgh, accused themselves today for not having prevented her, forcibly if necessary, from making the flight against which were all the odds of a poorly conditioned plane, extremely rough weather and the mental hazard arising from fright when she was flying over water.

"I don't know why it is but something tells me I'm going down," she said just before she took off. "I've had the feeling ever since I crossed out on the way over from Miami, and some time or other I can't shake it off."

"Crate" "She called her plane an "unlucky" crate, one which anybody but myself would refuse to fly. Explaining that it was a conditionally licensed ship which she had rescued from a junk pile and reconditioned."

"I am trying to put myself over as a commercial pilot," she said. "If I can make a flight like that in an old ship without any of the usual equipment, it ought to be an easy matter to get some company interested in using me as a regular pilot."

Many of those who came in contact with Mrs. Keith-Miller during her week's residence here remarked at her preoccupation and at her comments of not having been able

Work Reviewed, Goals Set At Splendidly Attended Meeting

More than 55 Howard county 4-H club boys and girls and their parents attended the annual banquet given the organization by the Chamber of Commerce, on the mezzanine floor of the Settles hotel Friday night. A chili banquet was served.

Hubert Hayworth, Cashola club member, acted as toastmaster and presided over the program.

J. V. Bush, county agent, and Miss Louella Allford, county home demonstration agent, attended the meeting, as did a number of Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee members, county officials, Big Spring business men, and Howard county farmers and stock raisers.

Fred E. Keating, member of the agricultural committee, opened the program with praise of the work done in this county by the club members, and the value of such organizations to the county as a whole.

F. D. Rogers, R-Bar club member, expressed appreciation on behalf of the club boys and girls, for the work done by the Chamber of Commerce in assisting with projects.

Reading Miss Dorothy Hoover, Midway club girl, gave a reading. Bush, in the absence of Henry King, club member, gave a review of the work.

In 1929, Bush said there were 67 members of the boys' club, with 76 demonstrations started. Thirty of these were completed, with records being received on 23. A dairy cattle judging team was sent to A. & M. that year, Bush said, and won eighteenth place.

In 1930 there were 119 boys in the club work, with 141 demonstrations started. Records for 28 of these have already been received. Three boys, composing a poultry judging team, went to A. & M. this year and won ninth place.

R. L. Powell, Cashola club member, who is feeding high grade cattle this year as his project, told of the work being done by members of the Federer Calf club.

Ozie Bailey, 12 years old, of High School, was club member.

$927,294 In Road Contracts Let By Commissioner, Specifying Use of Local Labor Wherever Possible

Highway Bond Campaign Plan Discussed Here

AUSTIN, Nov. 29 (AP)—Seventeen contracts for road and bridge work in 13 counties were awarded today by the state highway commissioner. The contracts aggregated $927,294 and specified the use of local labor wherever possible in an effort to relieve the unemployment situation. Most of the work requires a large amount of manual labor.

Formal award on six projects was withheld pending approval of plans by the United States Bureau of Public Roads. The formal award will be made next week.

The commission also withheld award of a contract in Dewitt county, pending receipt of the county's share of the cost of the project.

The contracts awarded today called for improvement of 105.2 miles of state highways by grading, and the construction of drainage structures and 23.3 miles of surface improvements.

No Appointment Notification was taken toward appointing John Wallace of the Texas secretary of the commission. The appointment recently was announced by Gov. Dan Moody, subject to the confirmation of the commission, but officials said today they had no appropriation with which to pay a secretary's salary. They indicated they would discuss the matter with Governor Moody.

The only way to employ Wallace now would be for the governor to issue deficiency warrants for his salary, the commission said.

W. R. Ely, chairman, said the commission probably would ask the legislature to enact a law giving the commission the right to prescribe the minimum wage to be paid by contractors on highway work. He said he had been informed some contractors were paying as low as 20 cents an hour for manual labor. A combination of the kind is prohibited, Ely said, unless they could be traced to contractors.

Contracts for work estimated to cost in excess of $100,000 will be awarded Monday.

Contracts awarded were: Under county bridge over Clear Fork of Brazos on Highway 23, Austin Bridge company, Dallas, $5,500.

Jefferson county 4.5 mile grading and drainage and concrete pavement, from Beaumont to Abilene on Highway 3, Beaumont Warfield company, Beaumont, $103,128 (tentative award).

Sooner State Sees Another Major Blast

Scene Near that of 1926 Disaster Fatal To 91 Miners

LUTIE, Okla., Nov. 29 (AP)—Lives of thirteen miners were sacrificed to cruel King Coal shortly after noon today in the second major Oklahoma mine disaster in less than five weeks.

The miners were killed in an explosion at the Number 5 mine of the Hally-Ola Coal Company a mile and a half east of here in the foothills of the San Bois mountains. Four other men trapped in the same entry, Number 10-1-2 east, escaped with burns.

Thirty-eight miners working in other parts of the mine emerged unscathed.

Thirty men were killed October 17 in an explosion at the Number 1 Whitney mine of the Samples Coal Company on the state penitentiary grounds at McAlester.

The fact the mine was heavily rock dusted, as a precaution against gas, was credited with saving the lives of the 42 who escaped. The deadly aftermath following the explosion spread slowly, and the miners not disabled by the explosion itself were able to make their way out the main shaft.

Earl Boyd, the most seriously hurt of the four survivors in the wrecked entry, was taken to a McAlester hospital. The other three, all injured, were taken to Hartshorne, west of here.

A father and son, Tommy Busalatto and Pete Busalatto, were among those killed. Roy Fats, who was killed, and Louis Fats, who was hurt, were brothers. Jim McMahon, dead, was a nephew of Louis McMahon, who was injured.

The blast blew a mine car in the entry to splinters and killed the mule drawing it.

Like most mines in southeastern Oklahoma, the Number 5 Lutte was a slope digging, its shaft slanting back into the ground.

Lutie is only a few miles from Wilburton, where 91 miners were killed in January, 1926, by an explosion in the Degnan-McConnell mine.

T.&P.N. Topic In Rally Held By Lamesans

Ollie B. Webb Principal Speaker; Right-of-Way Donated

Aimed at arousing sufficient interest among residents of the city of Lamesa to obtain 100 signatures to an agreement assuring the Texas & Pacific Northern railway company of right-of-way and station sites in the county, a mass meeting of Dawson county citizens was held Friday evening in the Lamesa court house.

Ollie B. Webb, assistant to the president of the Texas & Pacific, was the principal speaker. He was taken to Lamesa by B. Reagan of Big Spring, accompanied by Garland Woodward and Wendell Beddington.

W. W. Evans, general railroad commissary, chairman for Dawson county, opened the meeting, introducing Judge J. B. Garland, who was new to the community.

Besides Mr. Webb speakers included Judge M. C. Lindsey, B. Reagan, Garland Woodward, H. H. Burson and Judge Walker of Leveland.

The Levelland quartet, singing a selection especially adapted to the occasion, received a tremendous cheer.

Provisional It is almost provisional that the application to build the road was made at this particular time," said Judge Garland in his introductory remarks. "All that is asked of us is to provide right-of-way and station sites. If the people want the railroad it is up to them to do their part. The plan here is to have 100 solvent citizens sign an agreement to guarantee the right-of-way."

"The hearing on this application will open in Lubbock Dec. 8," said the judge. "By that time the contract to provide this right-of-way should be ready to file."

Mr. Webb said that he had been

Big Spring Was 'All Wet' In 1900; Annual Average Rainfall Changes Very Little In 35 Years; Experiment Farm Keeps Tab On Weather

35-Year Record Of Precipitation Accurately Kept

By BOBBY CAMPBELL

It was Mark Twain, who, after years of study of weather in the state of Missouri, turned philosophical and mused, "everyone talks about the weather, but no one does anything about it."

But there were no government experimental farms in MARK Twain's time. When it rained it rained so many inches, and the old timers caught it. When the wind blew, it blew hard enough to tumble over a barn three miles from town, or hard enough to unroof a couple of dozen river shanties. When the sun beat down, it was either "mighty hot" or "mighty comfortable," depending it is presumed, on whether a tree was handy. Evaporation was nothing to trouble the natives about.

They Talk It

Although it is equally true to-day that "everyone talks about the weather," at least one Big Spring organization does something about it. The Government experimental farm, one mile south of the city, at least keeps check on things in general. When it rains, it rains so many inches or so many hundredths of an inch. When the wind blows the velocity is recorded. When the mercury climbs a little needle marks the ascension. When the mercury plummets, the needle goes down with it.

The little post of ground devoted to taking care of the records of weather is one of the most interesting sections of the experimental farm. A circular tank, in the summer time, keeps track of the evaporation. The tank now has a history. The favorite dog of the farm plunged into the chilly water Sunday night and drowned. But the tank will go on next summer with the evaporation process.

Instruments for keeping correct check on the temperature every hour of the day are located in a separate house. There are four delicate recording devices in the penthouse. One records the minimum temperature, and it's filling is of alcohol. One records the maximum, and contains mercury. One of the instruments is used in the summer for recording the humidity, average. The other is the hourly temperature register, showing the ascending and descending line the temperature follows during the day and night.

Instruments

In addition to the instruments mentioned, a rain gauge which records precipitation all year, and a wind gauge are located in the yard.

It takes but a few minutes to see that in 1900 Big Spring was all wet. Although the farm was not here at that time, accurate rain records from 1900 until 1930 have been kept.

There are a number of pioneer residents of Big Spring who will recall the heavy precipitation of 1900. In fact, they say that if one could rock a boat and had a boat one could make progress that year. An accompanying photograph shows the saturated condition of the city at that time, including the neat looking school on the corner. Although probably the worst flood year that year several years surpassed the 1900 mark of 21.91 inches of rainfall.

The year 1929 leads the group with a total of 35.31 inches of high marks were 1922, 27.28, 1896, 25.99; 1927, 24.41; 1914, 23.99; 1919, 24.01; 1922, 23.31; 1923, 24.26; 1926, 23.25; and 1929, 23.14.

The difference in the rains of the other years and the flood of 1900, is that whereas in other years the rain was evenly distributed, the 1900 precipitation came all at once, bringing with it a cloudburst of fairly enormous proportions.

Heavy Months

Since 1900 there have been four months with heavy rainfall total. In July, 1902, 12.89 inches of rain fell, and that mark has stood for 28 years, on a monthly basis. In April, 1922, 12.77 inches was recorded. The two other "high" months were October, 1907, 11.87 inches; and June, 1919, 8.28 inches.

In 1919, when 34.01 inches fell in 12 months, there were five heavy rains. Eight and twenty-eight one-hundredths inches fell during June. In September, 7.43 inches dropped from the skies. October followed with 6.31 inches. In March 3.06 inches fell, and in August 3.60 inches were recorded. Two months April and May, 1.45 inches and 1.43 inches, fell. It was quite a saturated earth by the time the year was rounded out.

It is interesting to note the consistency with which the rain continues to fall. At the end of 25 years, the average rainfall was 18.50. At the end of 30 years, the average was 18.73. At the end of 40 years it probably will be some where in that vicinity.

Monthly averages for 30 years are: Jan., 0.41; Feb., 0.67; March 0.91; April, 2.10; May, 2.67; June 2.17; July, 1.98; August, 1.86; September, 2.19; October, 2.15; November, 1.02; December, 0.93.

Total rainfall from 1900 to 1929 inclusive, follows: 1900, 21.61; 1901, 16.83; 1902, 27.28; 1903, 10.98; 1904, 17.05; 1905, 18.60; 1906, 25.96; 1907, 21.41; 1908, 19.39; 1909, 12.26; 1910, 17.25; 1911, 14.73; 1912, 11.10; 1913, 19.24; 1914, 23.99; 1915, 23.84; 1916, 13.79; 1917, 4.84; 1918, 12.25; 1919, 34.01; 1920, 21.29; 1921, 11.11; 1922, 23.31; 1923, 24.26; 1924, 19.49; 1925, 18.16; 1926, 23.25; 1927, 13.36; 1928, 26.64; 1929, 35.31.

1930, August leads the month with a total of 2.18 inches.

Two Charged With Raising $1 Bill to $20

Three Hotby, N. M. youths were in the Howard County jail today, charged with raising a $1 bill to one of $20 denomination.

It is alleged the youths cut the ends off of two twenty dollar bills and pasted them over the corners of the $1 bill. The raised currency was given to Mrs. S. L. Everhart, Big Spring Tourist Camp, and they received $19 in change, it is alleged.

The raised bill was later discovered by Mr. Everhart and the three arrested by members of this city and county police departments.

The bill was turned over to Deputy Sheriff Andrew J. Merrick. The youths probably will be released to federal officers.

They gave their names as Joe Miller, Fred and Jack Spencer.

Knightlinger, division superintendent of the Texas and Pacific railroad said he charged that freight traffic on short hauls and less than carload lots and passenger traffic on short distance travel has been taken away from the railroads by the "unfair and unequal" competition of truck and bus lines.

26,000 Barrels

The Corden company, with Col-Tex with headquarters at Colorado, Humble and Shell have been running practically all of the 26,000 barrels allowed production of the field for the past month. Shell sets no prices, meeting postings of others, usually Humble.

Col-Tex is reported contemplating taking 3,000 barrels daily in December, quite an increase. Great West and Big Spring pipe line companies, with refineries here, run approximately 2,500 and 1,200 barrels daily respectively. Their course with reference to the Corden cut has not been made known.

Further developments in the situation are expected Monday, the first day of the new month.

Bob Gialdi, operator of a cafe in the university district, arrested yesterday for investigation in the woman's death, was free on bond today. A negro charged with Gialdi and held on similar charges, was held in jail in default of bond.

Mrs. Woodruff's companion said she became ill at the party about 11:30 Thursday night and laid down and went to sleep. Shortly after the student said, he also went to sleep and when he awoke Mrs. Woodruff was unable to arouse Mrs. Woodruff. She was rushed to a hospital but was dead when a doctor examined her.

Other copies reported to have been at the fraternity house Thursday night probably will be called before the disciplinary committee, officials said.

Although definite speaking dates were not arranged at the meeting Saturday, this campaign will be worked out within the next few days. It is planned to send speakers into every community of the county to acquaint the voters with the issue.

The election has been set for December 8 by the commissioner's court.

to eat or to sleep properly. She admitted to some that she was "worried about the water hop," but she refused to consider the idea of not making the return trip in her plane alone, and finally, after being held up by weather reports for three days, insisted upon starting even though the weather was still bad.

"Everyone gives me credit for being brave, and to make a go of it I never let them think otherwise," she confessed. "But really I am afraid, desperately afraid, when I'm over water, or mountains, or rough country. I got lost in the Alleghenies not long ago and the fog seemed to hang over me like a death shroud. I was terribly afraid."

"I feel many times like giving it up because I know it's eventually going to get me. But I can't—people would think me a coward. I guess I've just got to keep on until it does get me. Life at its best is short anyhow, so I guess I have no complaint coming."

No Investments

She commented that what worried her most was that she had no flying instruments or turn and bank indicators. Asked why she had not equipped her plane with the latter instrument she said, "Frankly, I could not afford one."

Aviation officials returning aboard the two planes which flew over her route until darkness forced their return last night, declared that "not even a scout plane could stay aloft in those waves. That 'bullet'—so her plane was called—lived up to its name if it went straight down if it had to make a pancake drop to the sea."

Mrs. Keith Miller had with her a collapsible rubber boat which she hoped to use in case of an emergency, but she expressed doubt at her departure of her ability to inflate it.

Mrs. Keith Miller late in October established a two way woman's trans-continental record flight from New York to Los Angeles and return, making the return trip in 21 and 3/4 hours. Since coming from Australia three years ago she had acted as a demonstrator of small planes and amphibians and had been instrumental in popularizing aviation among women. She also gave exhibitions in gliding. Her husband is a newspaperman in Sydney.

She hoped to fly her tiny moth plane, the Bullet, in three hops to Pittsburgh yesterday, landing first at Miami. While she told a Cuban newspaperman, prior to her departure, that if she were going well at Miami she might keep on for a while, others more conversant with her plans scouted the possibility that she may have done so and come down at some isolated spot in the interior of the United States.

District Bar To Feast Here

Sweetwater, Colorado Men Scheduled As Speakers

Members of the bar in the 32nd judicial district will meet at the Settles Hotel Monday night for a banquet and to discuss court relief in this section. The banquet will be served at 7:30 p. m.

Judge C. H. Earnest, Colorado, president of the district bar, will act as toastmaster.

The welcoming address will be given by James T. Brooks, Big Spring. J. M. Harris, Snyder, will give the response.

C. S. Perkins, Sweetwater, will speak on "Moments of Legal Embarrassment," and Thomas R. Smith, Colorado, will discuss "How To Conduct Yourself in Justice Court."

A general discussion of a method of splitting the district will follow the program.

According to local attorneys, it is planned to divide the present district in order to give to Howard county more weeks of court during the year.

At the present 12 weeks is allowed this county, and each term sees a crowded docket, with many cases undisposed of at the end.

Attorneys from every town in the district are expected to attend the banquet.

An act of the legislature is required to divide the judicial district.

Increased tobacco production this year is reported by Kentucky and North Carolina.

Maintenance of county supervisors at state expense.

Equalization of educational opportunities.

Universal observance of International Good Will Day.

A motion by T. N. Jones of Tyler directing that representatives of farm and labor organizations be included on the Texas-education commission was passed.

Cochran Named

President Cochran, who succeeds H. D. Filters of Corsicana, will have Miss Allie Rather of San Antonio to assist in the work as first vice-president, B. W. Martin of Kirbyville as second vice-president, and F. M. Mathis of Tyler as third vice-president.

Executive committees chosen for posts vacated by conclusion of terms follow: Mrs. Roy C. Owens of Tyler, third district, succeeding G. D. Stone of Willis Point; Miss Edna Rowe of Dallas, fifth district, succeeding L. V. Stockard of Dallas; Jake W. Hendrick of Kerens, sixth district, reelected; Bonner Frizzell of Palestine, seventh district, reelected; Miss Evelyn Sterling of San Antonio, fourteenth district, reelected; N. S. Holland of Breckenridge, seventeenth district, reelected; W. C. Blankenship of Big Spring, sixteenth district, succeeding Miss Clyde Duncan of El Paso. Only Mr. Blankenship had opposition and the election of the others was a matter of routine.

Amarillo and Fort Worth made bids for the 1931 convention, and El Paso today asked for the convention in 1932. The 1931 place of meeting will be decided at the January meeting of the executive board.

Robbers Loot Car, Get Two Payrolls

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 29 (AP)—Entering the express car of Southern Railway train No. 19 as it backed away from the terminal station this morning, two masked bandits obtained two currency consignments totalling $8,187, dropped from the car and escaped.

The robbery was staged so methodically that G. C. Findley, messenger in charge, said the men were in the car scarcely four minutes.

The currency was in two consignments, one of $7,016 for the Montevallo Coal Company, at Montevallo, Ala., and the other of $1,171 to the Straven Coal Company, to meet their payroll.

Findley said as the train backed from the station on its run to Selma, one of the men swung aboard covering him with a pistol and ordering him to lie on the floor.

THE BLOW-OUT PROOF TIRE

Sweeps aside all standard air pressures

HERE AGAIN is proof that there is no other tire like the Blowout-Proof Tire... It challenges every comparison—for easy riding as well as safety.

Just look at the comparative air pressures in the chart... Note the astonishing low pressures which the new General Dual-Balloon permits.

Standardized tire construction today demands more or less high pressure—but so unique, so different is the patented construction of the Blowout-Proof Tire, it lets you enjoy tremendously reduced air pressures with absolute safety from blowout.

The result is the smoothest, most luxurious riding ease ever achieved in any tire.

But that is not all. Added to this superlative comfort you will have soft, skid-safe traction far beyond anything ever imagined in motoring.

Naturally, the remarkable success of the Blowout-Proof Tire has made it a target for wide imitation. But here is an easy way to distinguish the genuine Blowout-Proof Tire from any substitutes offered by the industry:

Compare the recommended pressure for all other tires with the remarkable low pressure made possible by the Blowout-Proof Tire.

After all, this low pressure is the real acid test of safe tire construction. Every motorist at some time forgets to watch air pressure. That's when the only tire that is safe from blowout is the one that is built to stand the abuse of neglected pressure.

The Dual-Balloon is "fool-proof." It can run as low as half pressure for days at a time without the disastrous flex-breaks from internal friction which cause blowouts in other tires.

In all the industry it is the only tire that offers these advantages of low-pressure comfort and high-speed safety.

Scanning New Books

By ONA REAGAN PARSONS The Little Dog Launched By LEONARD MERRICK (E. P. Dutton and Co.)

"Proud and Happy," say the publishers in describing their latest release as having a new book from the pen of Leonard Merrick.

"Hopeful" says the publisher looking forward to an author who has enjoyed a rest of four years.

"Not so bad" comment the readers. All of which means that if you like Leonard Merrick you are going to enjoy these stories anyway and if you don't know him you had better select something else for an introduction.

Story of Lulu The first one, "The Elevation of Lulu" is one of the best and a thoroughly typical of Merrick's ability to pick out some unique trait in certain types of people and play it up for everyone's entertainment.

Lulu was the sweetheart of an unconventional Frenchman whom he decides he must marry. His friends tried to persuade him not to; they were a gay informal set and they liked his careless relationship with Lulu too well to allow him to run risks.

Immediately the atmosphere about his apartment changed. Lulu became virtuous. She gave up cigarettes. She refused to associate with her old friends and she made things uncomfortable for them when they came to visit her along with her husband's friends.

Another story "Eyes of the Heavenly Cook" is just as clever. It is the account of a young poet who wrote some supposed verses which were in a second-rate cafe. He was later thought to be a drunkard.

Although the safe advanced figure as the eating place of this young poet so unflinchingly out of the waitress grew fat and married the proprietor of the cafe.

Paris, a fairly prominent business man who had forgotten his name indiscretions in the way of poetry. I leave it to you to learn what he did when he discovered a sauce named after him at his own cafe.

These stories are all in the light sophisticated vein—the typical vein of Leonard Merrick.

"Giants of the Old West" By FREDERICK R. BECHDOLT (The Century Co.) This is a book that members of clubs studying Texas history ought to buy. It costs only $2; it will be worth much more in their study of the development of the Southwest.

Mr. Bechdolt is an authority on the West and is the author of several other books dealing with pioneers. He responds to the romance and color and the spirit of hardihood that prompted men to venture forth into the unknown. He is not sentimental; he is entirely practical. He insists that men did the brave deeds he described for practical reasons, with a touch of idealism. He does not confuse himself or his readers, by saying that high ideals underlay the spirit of adventure.

Forsan P.T.A. Finishes 2nd Big Project

Opens Modern Rest Room For Children On Grounds

The Modern Rest Room, monument of the efforts of the Forsan Parent-Teachers' Association, was opened with ceremony on the school grounds last Tuesday.

The Rest Room, which was built at the cost of $1,000, is modern in every way, doing away finally with all of the old unsanitary conditions which have existed since the school was built.

A program especially prepared by the teachers and the program committee, headed by Mrs. J. B. Bolin, was presented at seven-thirty o'clock in the school auditorium.

The members and friends of the Methodist High League joined together on Friday evening in a social and a booker shower.

Enough books were brought by the guests to fill three shelves in the new book case.

The following program was given: Short talk by Mrs. Clyde Thomas on "The League and Its Work." Announcement of the program.

Song by Doris Smith and Gene Hardy Flockwell.

Members of the P. T. A. After the play the Rest Room was open for inspection and refreshments of turkey sandwiches, cake and coffee or chocolate, were served to all visitors in the P. T. A. Cafeteria.

These acting as hostesses were: Mesdames J. B. Bolin, William Conger, Earl Thompson, Dan Yarbo, Gundy, J. D. Dempsey, Fielder, Fulton, H. B. Hurley, Frank Johnson, J. L. Johnson, Carl Peterson, Ben Le Fevre and Frank L. Hamblin.

Plea Made For Support of Annual Tuberculosis Drive Now Before the Citizens

Sixty Per Cent of the Total Money Raised Will Be Used for Local Relief, Says Mrs. J. C. Douglass

THAT a large portion of the people of Big Spring do not realize that there are children in this city in such physical condition that the contraction of tuberculosis is not chance with them, but a certainty, is the main reason that such a drive as the annual Tuberculosis Seal Drive is not more whole heartedly supported.

"Only the doctors and such people as Mrs. J. B. Delbridge and Mrs. M. R. Showalter and the other men and women who work with the poorer people, can tell us tales that leave us horror-stricken.

"There are hundreds of babies in this city that are so undernourished that it is a wonder that they live. Their mothers are undernourished and over-worked. They are open prey for any disease that they might be exposed to.

"It is with this in mind that every citizen in Big Spring is asked to buy some little Christmas stickers during the drive which will last until Christmas.

"Sixty percent of the money taken in by the committee for the sale of the seals will be used for the stamping out of this disease in Big Spring.

"In some of the places in 'Little Mexico' where two children undoubtedly have the disease and will find a family of from eight to ten living in the same room.

"This is the place, the lair of the disease, which must be cleaned and purified.

"But nothing can be done without the Christmas Seal Committee, which works for no compensation, but that of seeing a little less suffering in this city, would like to sponsor and support a drive against tuberculosis in Big Spring.

"Last year over 150 children were given fresh milk daily to build up their tiny shrunken bodies into a healthy, normal condition. Some of the little tots gained as much as seven pounds during the time that the milk was given them.

"The teachers in the rooms weighed the youngsters daily and fed those most in need of the extra nourishment.

"This year," said Mrs. Douglass, "the committee would like to keep up the work it has begun and so strengthen these children that by the time they reach the fifth and sixth grades they will need no more extra-medical attention.

"They would then cease to be a burden to the taxpayers of the city and would grow up into healthy, helpful men and women.

"A chronic tuberculosis sufferer is bound to cost his relatives both time and money, and many of them are dependent upon the support they receive in charity wards and privately endowed hospitals.

"To stamp out the disease before it spreads is the thing to do.

"Give your money for the seals and stickers, they cost but one cent each.

"The drive is not reaching the magnitude that it reached in Big Spring last year, say the leaders.

People are confusing it with the Community Chest Drive, which is now under way.

A Chocolate Soda And A Pound of Spare Ribs

Mrs. F. F. Fischer, Mrs. M. E. Hopper and Mrs. Walter Loggen entertained friends with a Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Mrs. F. F. Fischer on Saturday evening.

After the dinner they played bridge at Mrs. Hopper's home. High score was won by M. Chittenden and Mr. Thompson.

Chicago, Nov. 29. (UP)—Some time in the future the housewife may be able to walk right into her corner drug store and say:

"Give me a chocolate soda and if you please, a couple pounds of spare ribs."

That, at any rate, was the prediction made yesterday by James R. Wiley of Purdue University, president of the American Society of Animal Production.

Wiley said the new method of freezing meat, by which it can be kept indefinitely with dry ice, made the thing possible. Not only spare ribs, but any kind of meat, including liver for the cat, would be obtainable right over the soda fountain counter.

Five dollars worth of stamps have been bought by the following concerns and individuals according to the report turned in late last week: J. D. Riley Drug Co., H. S. Faw Lumber Co., West Texas National Bank, Cox-Parks Lumber Co., Mrs. Dora Roberts.

Some of the largest and most influential concerns in the city have refused to give the usual five dollars for the seals. It is hoped by the committee that they will reconsider their decision and get in touch with either Mrs. J. C. Douglass or Mrs. C. K. Bivings, who will see that the seals are delivered to them at once.

Court Term To Open Here

The December term of district court will open Monday morning with Judge Frita R. Smith presiding. It will be the fourth and final term of the year.

The grand jury will go into session Monday morning. Names of members of the panel have not been released by A. C. Walker, deputy county clerk, in charge of district court work. District Attorney George Mahon and County Attorney James Little will present evidence to the grand jury.

The first week will be devoted to the civil docket. The second and part of the third will be used for trying criminal cases. It is customary to devote only one week to criminal cases, but Judge Smith makes an effort to try 7 men held in jail before the term ends. Usually the docket is so heavy that it is necessary to use part of the third week.

The civil docket contains more than 60 new cases on record since the September court term closed. Quite a large number of old cases also are scheduled to be brought up at the December term.

School Museum Promoted; Special Program Planned

By Mrs. Mary Bumpass
Big Spring High School Faculty

The work of our Current History Club last year consisted mainly in collecting literature and information concerning how to build a museum, and advertising the idea. The club was very busy studying its project and received such encouragement that its enthusiasm has never lagged one minute. At its first meeting this year the club added to its already elected staff of officers another important member, who is acting as curator of the museum. He is Frank Boyle of the faculty, un-announcedly chosen. He has given inspiration and zeal to the activities of the club. His good judgment has been demonstrated in the purchase of show cases for our collections and a number of other matters. We are grateful for his services and are looking forward to a successful year under his supervision.

With a well regulated body of committees, each sponsored by a teacher, our work has become a pleasure. The only regret is that the time given to the promotion of a museum is limited, due to the full school program. However, experience has been that the splendidly regulated school schedule has made it possible to project our activities into the school program as a whole, thanks to the cooperation of Messrs. Blankenship, Gentry and Reed.

In recognition of the growing interest manifested by the student body and school friends for the development of the museum the sponsor and the program committee of the Current Event History Club has decided to show its appreciation by making the next meeting unique and entertaining.

More than a month ago Miss Frances Melton was interviewed concerning a place on the program of December 2. She spent last summer in Europe and studied closely the civilization of the old world. She will bring of us a rare treat information gleaned from her experiences abroad, illustrated by pictures. In connection with Miss Melton's talk the house committee is arranging for a Christmas background as a setting for the December program.

"The stockings will be hung by the chimney with care
In the hope that Saint Nicholas soon will be there."

To fill our show cases with gifts and loans from friends of the school museum.

The decorations and this Christmas idea will remain in east study hall next to the library on third floor for the holidays. During this time student hosts and hostesses will be stationed in the halls to receive all visitors and friends who wish to present gifts or loans to the museum.

Every one will be welcomed at any hour of the day. A hearty welcome is extended to club meetings the first Tuesday in each month at 3.30 p. m.

Cold Weather Stimulates Retail Trade As Jobbing Business Lags

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Under the stimulus of cold weather demand, retail trade made a reasonably good showing in October, says Frank Greene in his monthly review of business conditions in Nation's Business, published by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

On the other hand, he reports, wholesale and jobbing lines tended to lag. Industry on the whole actually receded.

"There is fairly abundant evidence," Mr. Greene believes, "that distributive trade definitely has thrown off the lethargy of the late summer and is to that extent better situated than it was. So, too, there seems to be fairly good evidence that, although trade in necessities—food and to a considerable extent, clothing—monopolized a good part of what improvement was shown, some lines of manufacture, such as silks, cottons, woollens and radios, actually progressed. Silk manufacturing set up new records of consumption of raw material.

"As to these examples of progress, it may be said that there was apparent recognition of the fact that prices of the raw materials of these industries had reached levels low enough to tempt manufacturers to buy.

Not So Well

"There were, it is true, some lines—shoes, leather and furniture—which did not fare as well as did the textiles. There were still other lines, such as coal, which derived a sort of fitful activity from spells of cold weather and ebbed or flowed accordingly.

"It might be said that lighter lines seemed to move rather better than the heavier industries which may have reflected in advance of the season in a slower movement. For many years there has been repeated the legend or tradition that the difference between good and poor trade is only 15 per cent. Just what basis for this saying exists or has existed is hard to determine, perhaps as hard as to ascertain the truth of the celebrated one that 95 per cent of all men in business ultimately fail.

"This is all aside from the point we are trying to make here as to how much business is off from a year ago. If one looks at a few lines he will find that automobile output in October shows a decrease of 60 per cent from a year ago. Steel ingot production shows a 40 per cent decrease and pig iron output 39.6 per cent. He may back these up with decreases in September from September 1929 of 21.9 per cent in building permits, 32 per cent in iron-ore output, 21 per cent in car loadings, 26 per cent in rubber consumption, 32 per cent in cotton cloth yardage, 27.7 per cent in tire output, 88.8 per cent in raw wool consumption and so on.

"It would be hard to find a common denominator for all of these things, but if we take some of the index figures of trade as compiled for a few years past, we learn that the industrial falling off from a year ago is 37 per cent, the decline the ten months of the year, a gain of about one per cent over 1929 is indicated, this comparing with an increase of 25.3 per cent in the ten months period of 1929 over 1928. The latter year gained 16.9 per cent over 1927 which in turn saw an increase of 10.6 per cent over 1926.

"This very slight change from a year ago after three years of continual increase seems evidence alike of the growth of the chain store idea and of the permanency of this method of selling goods.

"Department store sales for October decreased 8 per cent from a year ago and the decrease for the ten months to date is 7 per cent below 1929. In the ten month period a year ago a gain of 3 per cent was shown over 1928 which in turn increased one per cent over 1927, the latter likewise gaining a small fraction of one per cent over 1926. Here will be seen continuous increases, small though they were, in the three years preceding 1930 which latter year, however, promises to cancel a good portion of the previous increases.

"Employment reached a new low level in October and there has been an apparent awakening of the public to the fact that a hard winter was on the way. A number of private movements have been started to alleviate suffering.

"The September figures of employment compiled at the Bureau of Statistics in Washington showed a 20 per cent decrease in pay rolls. Building and allied trades showed the greatest quiet, with permit values for September and nine months the lowest since 1921.

The United States patent office granted nearly 60,000 patents during the last fiscal year while receipts totaled $4,000,000, a new record.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Parish Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Pittston, Pa.
My wife and I get along as well as most married couples. But she wants to mix in with a lot of social reforms and I prefer to stay at home. Our little disputes are about that. She says I have no imagination and I say she should give more time to me when I am free. Please tell us what you think.

I am interested in her remark about your imagination. It is the creative faculty of either happiness or misery, and has as many varieties as there are temperamental, intellectual and religious differences. It constructs the world in which you and your wife actually live. It can make that world burdensome or blessed, hideous or beautiful. Milton could imagine the scenes of Hell and Heaven. But he had not enough imagination to understand his wife. So do not be discouraged by your occasional failures to understand yours. The draw-out tale of human.

"Exultations, agonies; And love, and man's unconquerable mind" is the story of a man's image-making power.

But why not enlist this power as the friend and not the foe of your home life? Conceive for yourself the satisfaction your wife gets out of her relaxation from domestic toil themselves. Favor her efforts to keep up with the times and improve them. Do not direct, do not decelerate. Confer with her in a husbandly way. Mingle your stay-at-home tendency with her desire for recreation and her interest in the many letters which he receives.

pouring spirits down. No man should avoid alcohol more resolutely than one having a family history such as yours.

Finally, courage is the best medicine in the world for disease, even if it involves in some ways an utter indifference to reality. You need that indifference. Be like St. Paul, ignore the hindrances of the past. Create your program for the future and work to attain it.

Brookline, Mass.
Do you consider woman the intellectual equal of man? Are not her actions dictated more by her emotions than by her reasoning power, and in this respect is not man her superior?

I prefer the view that men and women are not comparable because they are natively different. But if you force the issue woman is forever superior to man in creative power, for she is the fountain of human life itself. She was built for this function and apart from it, theories about her mental status or that of man are idle chatter. There could be no Shakespeares without a woman in the case.

The matter is further complicated by the fact that in the long past woman has never had an adequate opportunity to reveal her possibilities. College records show that gives an equal chance, the modern woman challenges nearly every attainment of the male in scholarship. Her subtle, intuitive power often helps her to bridge intellectual gaps which man cannot cover except by protracted reasoning processes. Mme. Curie in science, Rosa Bonheur in art, George Eliot and Harriet Martineau in literature give proof of woman's intellectual merits once she is freed from conventional barriers.

Besides, there is a great deal of the masculine in many women, and an equal amount of the feminine in many men. Both sexes are included in the wider realm of our common nature. So prepare for surprises. The so-called "weaker sex" has left its prison of Victorian conventionalism. May I add that no psychologist

VALUE OF BOY SCOUTING

Every Boy Scout is taught resourcefulness, loyalty, and self-respect, all of which tend to make him later a success in whatever he undertakes. His business in life when he becomes a man will reflect the same sturdy characteristics which he has learned in scouting.

But he is taught another thing which many older men would have benefited by if they had learned it as boys. That is "Service to Others." No matter how busy a man is he can find time for personal service to his neighbors, and the public interest. That is the moral and spiritual climax of scout teaching.

The scout is taught to do a good turn every day, just as he is taught other things, by actual practice. Every Scout pledges himself to do at least one good turn to somebody every day.

That does not sound so big when you read it quickly. But stop a moment and think of what it means. Not a day to pass without having done a "Good Turn" to somebody. How much richer life would be if everybody had learned to do that!

Not With Ostentation
The scout is taught to do this good turn quietly and without ostentation. It is not to be a matter to be boasted of. You don't hear a Scout bragging about the good turns he does.

By that principle he will differ from some men when later he comes into the larger activities of manhood.

You will of course remember the story of how Lincoln described one individual. He said the "man reminded him of a statement of a steamboat on the Mississippi river that had a six foot boiler and a ten foot whistle, and every time they blew the whistle they had to stop the boat. Perhaps no one ever knew who the man was that Lincoln described that way, but everybody knows the type. He is

When Aunt Lou Was a Pig-tailed Girl, Monday was a Day of Toil

Great days they were...but we surely wouldn't want them back...with their pigtailed for cute little girls and their kerosene lamps.

Today, Monday, is no longer the dread of every good housewife. Now she does not toil all day with dirty things...she bundles them up and calls our driver, and her worries are over...they're solved economically.

Marilyn Miller Returns To Ritz In "Sunny"

Star Climbs To Her Second Film Success

Alexander Gray Again Is Leading Man; Comedy Is Rich

Marilyn Miller scores another triumph in "Sunny," the first National and Vitaphone production which opens today at the Ritz Theatre for a three-day run.

The picture is a delightful romance, and abounds in some of the cleverest comedy that has come to the screen for a long time. It is easy to understand why "Sunny" ran for three years in New York with Marilyn Miller as the star.

"Sunny" has the quaint and glamorous background in its early sequences of a small circus, playing at Southampton, England. Miss Miller, in the title role, is a bareback rider and a dancer. She is secretly in love with Lawrence Gray, a young society man whom she previously met. He is intrigued by her, but does not realize that he loves her. He is engaged to a society girl and the party is calling from Southampton for New York when he runs into Sunny's circus and renews his acquaintance.

Escape

One of the highly entertaining sequences of "Sunny" is the scene where she escapes from a carnival wagon when her father, (O. P. Heggie) has jockeyed her, in order to get into America. He is mistaken for a deck waiter, and is literally jockeyed onto shipboard, where she becomes a stow-away.

O. P. Heggie, the versatile character comedian, lends sparkle and gaiety to "Sunny." His performance is always of the highest caliber. As the plot unfolds, Sunny marries Jim, played by Joe Donahue, in order to get into America. The scene then moves on to a fashionable summer resort where Jim has established a gymnasium.

Joe Donahue is a new name to moviegoers, but his winning Irish personality instantly establishes him as a coming figure in movie stardom. He is a brother of the late Jack Donahue of stage fame. He sings and dances well and is an admirable partner for Miss Miller. Lawrence Gray is highly effective in the romantic leading role opposite her.

Radiant With Marilyn

But above all the picture is radiant with Miss Miller. There is a wistful glamour about this star that has tremendous appeal. She dances three numbers in the picture, an eccentric dance, a tap, and an act, and to anyone who saw her on the stage, or in her first talking picture, "Sally," no new praise need be added. There is nobody in the show business who dances with such grace and charm. She also sings several numbers. The "Divorce Song," a duet with Joe Donahue, is highly entertaining.

"Sunny" is very nearly the perfect picture for Marilyn Miller, even more so than "Sally." Through it all runs a delightful strain of tenderness. There is a clever supporting cast, including Judith Vosselli, Barbara Bedford, Gladys Cook, Mackenzie Ward, and Inez Courtney.

William A. Selzer, who has been responsible for so many first National successes, directed. The music by Jerome Kern, who is unquestionably a great master at this type of composition. The original play was by Otto Harbach and George Hammerstein II, and the

Walter Huston featured in DW Griffiths' Abraham Lincoln

GILBERT EMERY and NORMA SHEARER in "LET US BE GAY"

'Caught Short' Great Comedy

The customary quiet of a big resort hotel was broken by the raucous cries of newbies crying extras.

A man leaped out of a barber shop half shaved.

A chauffeur deserted his car in the middle of a traffic intersection.

A woman tore from a hairdresser's shop, her coiffure done up in the funny pins that bring "permanent waves."

And that was the manner in which Chuck Reiner expressed in "Caught Short," his version of what happened on that fateful "October 23rd," when the bottom fell out of the stock market.

"Caught Short" is a Marie Dressler-Polly Moran talking comedy, based on the famous security debate. Other players include Anita Page, Charles Morton, T. Roy Barnes, Herbert Prior and Nanci Price. It will be shown Friday and Saturday at the Ritz theatre.

Twenty Louisiana public and private colleges are instructing 16,000 resident students.

Shearer Here In New Play

"Let Us Be Gay," with Norma Shearer in the starring role, will be the attraction at the Ritz Theatre starting Wednesday. The picture was adapted from the New York stage success by Rachel Crothers which ran for 10 months at the Little Theatre with Francine Larrimore in the role portrayed on the screen by Miss Shearer.

Robert Z. Leonard, who produced the star's last success, "The ## Divorcee," directed the current production and gathered together an unusually important supporting cast which includes Rod La Rocque in the leading masculine role, Marie Dressler, Gilbert Emery, Hedda Hopper, Raymond Hackett, Sally Eilers and Tyrrell Davis.

The story is an amusing tale of a woman who loses her husband's affection because she neglects her appearance in an over-efficient abhorrence in household duties. A few years in Paris, however, teaches her a number of things she had never thought of before and she returns in time to prevent her ex-husband from marrying a charming but entirely unscrupulous debutante.

TODAY MONDAY AND TUESDAY

WHEN SUNNY MAKES LOVE—THE WHOLE WORLD SIGHS. SHE'S A FLIRTING TEMPTING WIDOW, MAKING THE BEST OF "IT"

Arthr Lake, Walter Huston is Ideal Actor Sue Carol At For Title Role in D. W. Griffith Queen Monday Drama of Abraham Lincoln

Some of the most widely known characters actors in motion pictures appear in "She's My Weakness," Radio Pictures' all-talking romantic comedy drama which opens Monday at the Queen Theatre.

Headed by Sue Carol and Arthur Lake, youthful featured players, the cast includes such players as Lucien Littlefield, noted for his portrayals of comic middle-aged men; William Collier Sr., stage star and featured screen actor; Helen Ware, dramatic actress, in a comedy characterization; and Alan Buncie, stage star, in his screen debut.

The picture is an adaptation of the play "Tommy" by Howard Lindsay and Bertrand Robinson.

Screen adaptation is by Humphrey Pearson and Henry McCarty. If you liked "Sally" (and who didn't?) you'll love "Sunny."

To be fitted is an experience in made the statement on immortality which occurs to but few able occasions that she was destined to marry a man who would be and by no less a person than Abraham Lincoln.

This peculiar phase of Lincoln's character, when he was so frightened as to run away from the prospect of marriage into the seclusion of a family in the West, is revealed in D. W. Griffith's United Artists production, "Abraham Lincoln," which is scheduled to play at the Ritz theatre next Saturday evening at 11:30 o'clock.

Immortal psychologists and friendly biographers have tried to excuse Lincoln's behavior, with conflicting theories. Some believe that the future President, who was shy and highly sensitive, was a victim of nerves on the night of the wedding and as a further development of that condition became temporarily deranged. It is known that he was generally well and abstemiously frugal.

Others contend that the man of his keyboard love for Ann Rutledge proved so strong that it overpowered his reasoning mind and thus caused him to jilt Mary Todd. Whatever the cause, Lincoln was a character that would delight modern psychologists. His wedding day misadventure was but an effect of a somewhat similar conduct when Miss Rutledge died. Lincoln, grieving over her untimely death from fever, lived like an ascetic for five days in the woods until his normal mind functioned.

Several days after his return, Lincoln and Rutledge were buried together with his body so that the two would not be laid down upon separate graves. Lincoln eventually married the girl Mary Todd, but not until a year and a half after he had jilted her. Historians are puzzled as to why this aristocratic young woman should have wanted to marry a country lawyer with no social future when she could have married Stephen A. Douglas, a presidential candidate and one of the greatest politicians of the time. Miss Todd, however, had a faculty for divination. She had

Billie Dove And Young Fairbanks In Queen Picture

Young Fairbanks has become one of the most popular leading men in pictures after having played juvenile roles and second leads for some time. In the opinion of critics, his recent pictures have demonstrated that he has the dramatic powers of a fine actor and has distinguished himself for playing emotional roles with his fine restraint and reserve power.

Billie Dove has the leading female role in "One Night at Susie's," which plays the part of a head-bobbed woman, fence-sitter, and a wealthy motherly young Fairbanks, and he tried to give him a fair start in life.

Men and Boys

Friday night and received free lodging, sent a wire to relatives in California for funds and a money order was waiting for him Saturday morning.

Friday night, in addition to the above states, men and boys from South Dakota, Arizona, Indiana, California and Ohio spent the night as the guests of the city.

When the men register at the city hostelry they are asked no questions. They sign their names and their addresses, and find a place near one of the stoves, and an unoccupied bench. Some of them have signatures that indicate they have done other things besides ask for a free place to escape from the elements. Some of them have been faces that do not blend so well with their grimy clothes.

Remain Inside
Once they register in for the night, they are asked to remain in the building. That is the only restriction they are placed under. They are allowed to get a cup of coffee from a nearby restaurant. Most of them are ready to stay for the night after signing their names with cold fingers.

Saturday night a youth from Tennessee registered. Another Tennessee boy stood nearby.

"You from Tennessee?" he said.
"Well, I'm from Memphis."

"Well, I sure know where Memphis is, all right. Got a cigarette?" the other boy replied.

The men sleep on benches, some of them using what they call "Cafeteria blankets," meaning discarded newspapers. It is possible that coats may be placed in the building within a few weeks.

An old man, with a set of whiskers weeks old, died by the fire. His 60 years or more were commemorated for the night at least.

"I'll bet he has heard many an empty one of the younger generation of the city," the man was told by the city.

The idea of the city "house" was originated by City Manager Vernon H. Robinson, Chief of Police E. A. Long has ordered his men to bring all men sleeping on the streets to the building.

It is not necessary in the morning to get up. The men are instructed to leave town the following morning. None of those registering Friday night returned Saturday night.

side. Several stores announced they would endeavor to get the old fellow to return here under this plan.

Explain
City officials explained further that the action was taken because of so many transients in the city that it would be practically impossible to tell the difference between a real Santa Claus and a rogue. For this reason, Santa Claus, real or otherwise, on the streets are strictly taboo. The officials also announced that several residents of Big Spring informed Policeman Pike that the Santa Claus was running loose on Main and that he might be another robber in disguise and suggested he be apprehended. He was.

No charges were preferred against the man, and he was allowed to go to his home. The children at the variety store were soothed the best way possible.

It was learned at the last, any way, that it wasn't a real Santa Claus. He lived in Jones Valley.

through this section of Texas before and was not greatly troubled as to what was going to be done by the people.

"We know what it means to have roads. Good will is the best asset of the T. & P. N. We hope this appointment is opening a new day for Dawson county and all those in new line will traverse," he continued.

Convincing
One of the most convincing things before the commission will be manifestation of the anxiety of the people that the line be built.

"Some farmers in other localities have felt building the road across their land would be a detriment," he continued. "Nature it doesn't look good to many men to see the road cut across his land. But I ask them to go back to the older states and learn the difference in value of land located next to or near a railroad and that further away.

Even along the branch railroad lines found in this section you'll find farm land worth more than that miles from them. There are always, of course, exceptional cases where damages ought to be paid in reasonable sums.

"Town people generally are awake to the fact that towns must prosper before they may.

Food Production
"This district is destined to become one of the foremost food producing areas of the country. This road will bring you much nearer the packing plants in Fort Worth and El Paso. You will be able to market your feed more easily and more profitably through your livestock when this road is built."

Judge Lindsay, who was first county judge of Dawson county and is chairman of the special right-of-way committee, said that three-fifths of the land owners whose property would be traversed by the road had donated right-of-way.

Of the two-fifths remaining one-fifth is owned by non-residents who

Santa Claus

A man dressed just like Santa Claus once robbed a Cico bank and got lynched for it.

Santa Claus was halted before City Attorney Thomas J. Coffey, who declared he had no authority to arrest, his duty being to prosecute or defend the city cases, and work on the legal entanglements.

So Santa Claus was between the proverbial rock and the hard place. He was due to appear before a group of children and present a few gifts. He had become ensnared in the treacherous net work of the anti-mask law, which forbids anyone appearing in public with a mask on, even a Santa Claus mask at Christmas time.

Had he been in his red suit with his face included in a mass of white whiskers, he could not go to the store because he was violating a law, and he had already violated the law and got in trouble. He was not allowed to fill his assignment at the variety and toy store.

City officials Saturday, however, declared that after this Santa Claus would be allowed to appear in the store, but not on the sidewalk, nor on the streets. He could wear his mask inside, but not out.

HELP YOU SHOP THIS Christmas

Wife in the ways of Christmas... Mrs. Santa Claus is now at your service. Let her husband keep his attention centered on the children. That has always been his task. But by all means, lend an ear to Mrs. Santa... let her tell you the gifts that will mean the most.

"Beauty," she says, "is a basic factor for the gift giver to seek." Add good workmanship and usefulness... and you have all that the most discriminating could hope for. "And what," she asks, "could bring more pleasure than a Westinghouse Electrical Appliance?"

A gleaming urn or percolator to match the handsomest silver... a waffle iron or sandwich grill to combine attractiveness and convenience for her table... a Cozy Glow, curling iron or warming pad. There are dozens more... just the right gift for the right person... and the price you wish to pay. We suggest you stop in and see them.

PROTECT your skin in cold weather by applying a delicate film of Amoretta Cream before powdering, or—if your skin is oily—use Lille Lotion. Both of these Preparations have been created by Elizabeth Arden to safeguard the skin as well as to enhance its loveliness. And for evening—you will find nothing so delightful as Protecta Cream, a rich, velvety and "lasting" finish for neck and arms as well as face.
