Pheasant Season Opens In Area Tomorrow

The 1983 pheasant hunting season opens officially in both Parmer and Curry counties tomorrow, Saturday, Dec. 10, just one-half hour before sunrise. Parmer County's hunting season will continue through December 25, while hunters in Curry County have only through December 12, to do their local New Mexico pheasant hunting.

HUNTERS BREAKFAST

In conjunction with the annual hunt, several area events have become traditional. One of those events is the Hunters Breakfast sponsored by Alpha Rho Lambda Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority. The meal of eggs, sausage, biscuits, gravy, coffee, and milk will be served at Farwell School cafeteria from 5 a.m. to 9 a.m. CST. Proceeds received from the breakfast are to benefit the local community center development fund.

At the breakfast, the JCCA organization will be giving away a Winchester pump shotgun.

An added feature to this year's event will be the drawing for a mounted pheasant being donated by Carl "Duke" Kirkland, local taxidermist.

Each person who attends the hunters breakfast will be eligible to have his name put into the box for the drawing. There is no charge for the ticket; however, only persons attending the breakfast will be eligible for the drawing.

TAIL FEATHER CONTEST

Another annual event which has become tradition is the Tail Feather Contest, sponsored by the Parmer County Game Management Association. Persons entering the Farwell area contest should take their tail feathers to Farwell Hardware for measurement and registration. Contestants have until 5 p.m. two days after pheasant season is over to turn in the tail feathers for judging.

SHOTGUN GIVEAWAY

JCCA members will be giving away a Winchester pump shotgun to some lucky ticket holder to use on the first day of pheasant season. The giveaway will be made at the hunters breakfast, December 10. Donations for the giveaway may be purchased from any JCCA member. All you have to do is make a $2.00 donation to the JCCA's and it could be yours. Tickets are also available at the following businesses: Lunsford Auto Parts, Kirkland Pump Company, Circle D Feeds, and Hughes True Value.

HUNTING PRESERVE

For the second year Theta Rho Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority are sponsoring a hunting preserve. Some 20-30 landowners in Texas and New Mexico have given permission for use of their lands for a preserve. The preserve this year will include land in Parmer and Bailey Counties in Texas and Curry and Roosevelt Counties in New Mexico.

All the land in the preserve will be posted and will be open only to hunters buying permits from the sorority. Permits are available at Rose Drug and the JCCA building. After December 10 permits may be obtained from the office of Aldridge, Harding, Aycock, & Actkinson at 402 Third Street, Farwell, or by calling Terri Nichols, 481-9351, Altha Herington, 481-9351, or Leslie Lunsford, 481-9336.

Permits sold December 10-11 are $75; December 12-18, $50; December 19-25, $25; and permits sold for hunters age 12 and under, $25.

The sorority will have someone patrolling the preserve to assure that only those hunters with permits are hunting on the posted lands.

HUNTING REGULATIONS

All Texas residents who hunt outside the county of their residence must have a resident hunting license or a combination hunting and fishing license. Licenses may be purchased at Rose Drug or at the Parmer County Clerk's office.

Persons who are under 17 years of age, or are over 65 years of age, and certain disabled veterans are eligible for exempt hunting licenses which cost only $5.00. And licenses are not required for persons hunting within the county of their residence.

Hunters are reminded of the bag limit which is two cocks per day, and possession limit which is four cocks. And for Curry County hunters bag limit is three cocks per day. Hunters are also advised that the head and feet of the pheasant must remain attached to the carcass until it reaches its final destination. This is to insure that hens are not killed since it is unlawful to shoot hens.

For Curry County hunters a resident license is needed to hunt. A resident small game license is $9.50, which allows a person to hunt small game and birds. Or one may purchase a general hunting license at $22.50 and it allows hunting of both deer, birds, and small game. An all-around sportsman might want to get the general hunt and fish license for $31.50, that allows both hunting and fishing year around.

Licenses may be purchased for Curry County hunters in Clovis at Reb's Gun and Sport Shop, K-Mart, Alco Department Store, and Poyner White's Auto in Clovis.

Legal hunting hours are one-half hour before sunrise until one-half hour after sunset, and hunting is prohibited on any public road or right-of-way.

Christmas Card Deadline Today

Today (Friday, Dec. 9) is the deadline for getting your name in the 1983 Christmas Card Project being sponsored by Farwell Elementary School.

The Christmas Card project is an annual fund-raising event for the elementary school, allowing purchase of needed items that are not allowed for in the overall budget.

Persons wishing to participate in the project simply donate the money normally spent for purchasing Christmas cards to be sent locally to the elementary school. Persons should list their names as they wish them to appear in the Christmas Card greeting which will be published in the Christmas issue of the State Line Tribune.

James Craig, elementary principal, says, "This is a good way to wish season's greetings to your friends and neighbors and also to help out the elementary school."

If you have not been contacted and would like to have your name on the Christmas Card by making a donation to the project, please call the elementary school office at 481-9131 or contact one of the following persons:

Pam Monk, chairman; Ruth Anne Bennett, Sudie Foster, Eva Dean Stephens, Karen Austin, Tanya Chadwick, Sydney Chadwick, Robyn Palady, Rhonda Kirkland, Diane Hernandez, Vicki Haseloff, Diane Actkinson, Jane Kent, Debbie Riley or Rowene Stewart.

Remember: the deadline is Friday, December 9.

Whose Turn To Cook?

Alpha Rho Lambda members Rhonda Kirkland, left, and Robyn Palady are getting ready to prepare the breakfast for the sorority's Pheasant Hunters Breakfast set for Saturday, Dec. 10, at the Farwell School cafeteria. A meal of eggs, sausage, biscuits, gravy, milk, and coffee will be served from 5 to 9 a.m. CST. Cost of the meal is $3.00 for adults and $2.00 for children. Proceeds from this year's breakfast will be donated to the local community center development fund. Looking on is Rhonda's daughter Andi.

Parmer Not Eligible - -

Curry County Qualifies For Emergency Feed

Parmer County is not on the list of counties whose farmers and ranchers are eligible for the Emergency Feed Assistance Program, says Martin L. Chandler, executive director of the Parmer County ASCS office.

But while Parmer County ranchers are ineligible for the program, their neighbors over in Curry County do qualify for the disaster aid. Chandler said, "Some of the federally-owned corn that will be used in the program is stored in Parmer County, and some participating counties may come here to our elevators to get the grain."

Stan Fury of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office in Clovis confirmed that Curry County ranchers and farmers are eligible for the corn sales. Authorization for the Commodity Credit Corporation corn sales came with President Reagan's signature last week to a measure passed by Congress dealing primarily with dairy and tobacco programs.

Nationwide, about 27 million bushels of U.S. No. 4, U.S. No. 5, and Sample Grade corn are available from the CCC.

The livestock feed program enables owners in eligible drought disaster counties to apply for the right to purchase lower quality government-owned corn stored mainly on the High Plains. The grain can be bought for $2.05 per bushel, but the producer must pay for any processing and transportation cost incurred.

In addition to being located in a USDA designated disaster county, a farmer or rancher eligible to purchase the corn must also have insufficient feed on hand to maintain foundation livestock and poultry through the end of a 90-day feeding period. The period begins when a producer applies for assistance.

The maximum amount of corn allowed to be purchased will be 10 pounds of feed per day, per animal, times the number of days in the feeding period.

Farmers who are located in the disaster designated counties and who are eligible to purchase lower grade Commodity Credit Corporation corn to feed their livestock or poultry are urged to sign up at their County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office. The sign-up period is December 6-14. For further information in Farwell call 481-3311, and in Curry County call 762-4729.

Conference topics included field crops, livestock, natural resources and education, taxes, and transportation and farm labor. Commodity conferences included: beef and sheep and goats, cotton and peanuts, dairy and poultry, wheat and feed grains, rice and soybeans, and citrus and pecans.

ESA members were busy Monday night as they met at the Methodist Church at Farwell to prepare posters for the Pheasant Hunting Preserve sponsored by the local sorority. Members, from left, Margaret Aycock, Rosa Roberts, and Dardanelia Helton were among those working on the signs showing that certain land in Parmer, Bailey, Curry and Roosevelt counties has been posted and only those hunters with ESA permits are allowed to hunt on that land. Pheasant season opens this Saturday just before sunrise, and ESA members will be at the JCCA building on Main Street in Farwell from 7 to 9 p.m. today [Friday] to give out reserved permits and maps of the posted land. During the day permits may be picked up at Rose Drug.

URLEY

by John

It has been several weeks since ABC Television aired their much ballyhooed turkey "The Day After." We didn't comment on that bit of propaganda for several reasons. It was aired so far in advance of our publication that we felt sure that it would be well criticized by much more well-informed commentators. Then, we had already struggled mightily to bring forth our weekly mouse and were just too darn lazy to re-write the weekly effort. So much for lame excuses.

One who has written on the subject from an entirely different angle is Les Kinsolving who publishes a column called "Watch Over Washington." We avidly await his column each week via the Lincoln County News of Carrizozo.

Kinsolving suggests that ABC put together another movie as a sequel, named "The Day After - The Troops Arrive." He then proceeds to provide ABC with a scenario for the extravaganza. We will give you a few excerpts as very good food for thought.

We will pause here and piously issue the standard warning: If you don't want to be upset and your kids to have nightmares, don't read the following.

The "Troops" are, of course, Russian mixed with other communist countries. Twenty-four large Russian transports land at Kansas City International Airport. One third of the troops go to Ft. Leavenworth and release all prisoners and encourage them to take vengeance on the jailers and the local populace. One third are dispatched to handle Lawrence, these are Khmer Rouge from Cambodia. They forthwith round up all the townspeople for a forced march to slave labor farms, incidentally killing 75 percent along the way.

The balance of the "Troops" go to the University. These troops are under the command of a KGB colonel who has a long list of the city officials, police force and opinion makers such as clergy, media types and teachers. These are immediately rounded up and when a few protest that they were against the US Government's attitude and "criminal policies," the good colonel roars with laughter and says "Hang these people and shoot the rest."

In the morning the student body begins to riot. The "Troops" open fire and immediately kill several thousand. The survivors are told to pack a few belongings for a long trip. The girls are then taken to the gym and summarily raped and shipped to troop brothels. The few remaining men that protest this action are just shot on the spot.

A paratrooper officer rummaging through the campus newspaper comes across a large sign that reads, "Better Red Than Dead - No Nukes." Everyone cheers. Meanwhile in Washington the Commissioners of the Politburo of the United Soviet States of America celebrate their inaugural. Well, on and on.

We wonder if there will be mass seminars organized to discuss the pros and cons of Kinsolving's script? We wonder if warnings will be issued not to scare the young tads by acquainting them with the facts of life under Communism? We also wonder if the same sponsors would be as eager to buy advertising time in Kinsolving's idea of a television program as they were in the original? And, oh silly us, we wonder if ABC television will produce a sequel based on the Kinsolving ideas and tentative script?

In his scenario, Kinsolving also points out that his illustrations of Soviet brutality are based on historical fact and documented incidences in recent history. This should serve to give as much legitimacy to "The Day After - The Troops Arrive" as the original "The

Carol Snider Winner Of Super Bowl Tickets

To See Super Bowl

Carol Snider, right, is the happy winner of a trip to the 1984 Super Bowl, thanks to the area chapter of W.I.F.E. [Women Involved in Farm Economics] who sponsored the fund-raising effort in which Carol held the lucky ticket. Naomi Austin of the agriculture-oriented group presents Carol the ticket stub showing that she is the winner of the grand prize. The W.I.F.E. group realized over $1,000 from the money-making project which started in October. All area farm women are urged to join the W.I.F.E. organization which meets the third Tuesday of each month in Muleshoe.

Carol Snider of Farwell was the holder of the lucky number that won her two tickets to the Super Bowl, compliments of the Bailey and Parmer County W.I.F.E. (Women Involved in Farm Economics) group.

The local chapter of the national organization accepted donations for the Super Bowl trip as a fund-raising project and netted something over $1,000 for their efforts.

The Bailey-Parmer group meets once monthly on the third Tuesday afternoon at the GPI office in Muleshoe. All area farm women are welcome and are encouraged to attend the meetings to learn more about the organization's projects and goals as well as its past accomplishments.

Local W.I.F.E. member Naomi Austin and her husband, Guy, were in Charleston, S.C., the first week of November to attend the national W.I.F.E. convention.

As an active W.I.F.E. member, Mrs. Austin also attends quarterly steering committee meetings when representatives from chapters throughout the state get together to talk over plans and proposed projects.

Among the projects recently proposed have been work with the Farm Forum, encouragement of passage of a farm bill in time for farmers to implement their operations in cooperation with the bill, encouraging of trade with Mexico, and other projects favorable to agriculture.

Mrs. Austin encourages all farm wives to meet with this group and get involved in the efforts of the organization.

Railroad Board Rep. In Clovis Dec. 14

A representative from the Railroad Retirement Board of office will be in Clovis December 14 at 8 a.m. MST at the New Mexico State Employment Service at 1601 Sutter Place.

Anyone seeking information or assistance in connection with Railroad Retirement Unemployment or Sickness Insurance and Medicare, should contact the representative.

Roof Repairs Complete At Parmer Courthouse

The new roof on the Parmer Courthouse and some repair work has now been completed and the county commissioners, meeting in regular session November 28, approved payment for the project in the amount of $13,490.

Commissioners authorized County Judge Porter Roberts to contact interested parties and sell some used sprinkler pipe to the highest bidder.

Dr. Catherine Crawford of the Extension Service reported that Day After."

We think Les Kinsolving's literary effort merits as serious a consideration by all segments of the media, clergy, and laity as ABC's version was accorded. We know it won't. Too Bad.

Good grief!! The Cowboys and the Redskins play the three o'clock game this Sunday. CBS will air the 49'ers and Bills beginning at 12 noon. Suppose those also-rans go overtime some 15, 20, or 30 minutes. Think of how much of the early super bowl we will miss watching those bums. This looks like extremely poor scheduling on somebody's part. Fire the rascals. Meantime, on Sunday afternoon, don't call us and we won't call you.

some applications for the position of Parmer County Extension Agent had been mailed to her, but that she had not received them and therefore could make no comment concerning the applicants.

In other business the Court voted to pay the expenses of a visiting court reporter in the amount of $37.89; and voted to pay for pre-adoption physicals for three county foster children in the amount of $69. (When foster children are being considered for adoption, they must have a physical examination periodically until the adoption papers are completed.)

A damage hearing was held concerning the proposed opening of a road next to the Ben Mesman property. Bob Brack, attorney, presented a verbal claim for damages for Mesman; however, such claim must be written, and therefore, no decision was made at the Commissioners' meeting.

The Court also agreed to advertise for bids for purchase of a farm type tractor to be used in Precinct #1.

The following soil conservation work was approved and ratified and will be done when the machines are in the area and not demanded for use on the county roads:

Precinct #2, Thomas Rhodes, A.T. Morgan; Precinct #4, Bill Martin.

Farwell-Texico JCCA's Relinquish Building

The Farwell-Texico JCCA's organization met Tuesday night, Dec. 6, and voted to give the building where the group meets back to the group of local businessmen who own the facility.

All of the chairs, a refrigerator in the building, and some other furnishings belonging to the JCCA's will be donated to the Farwell Community Center, said a JCCA member.

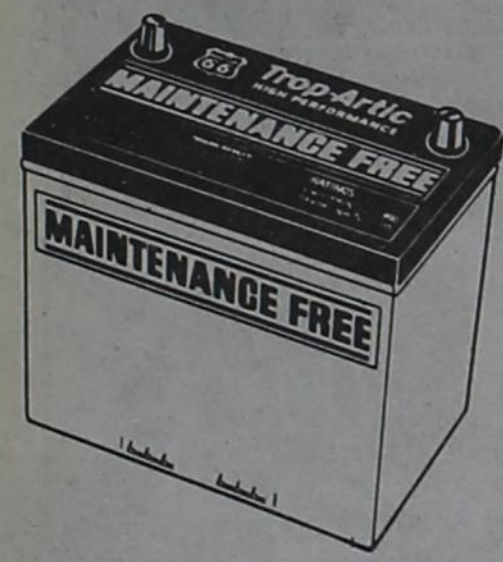

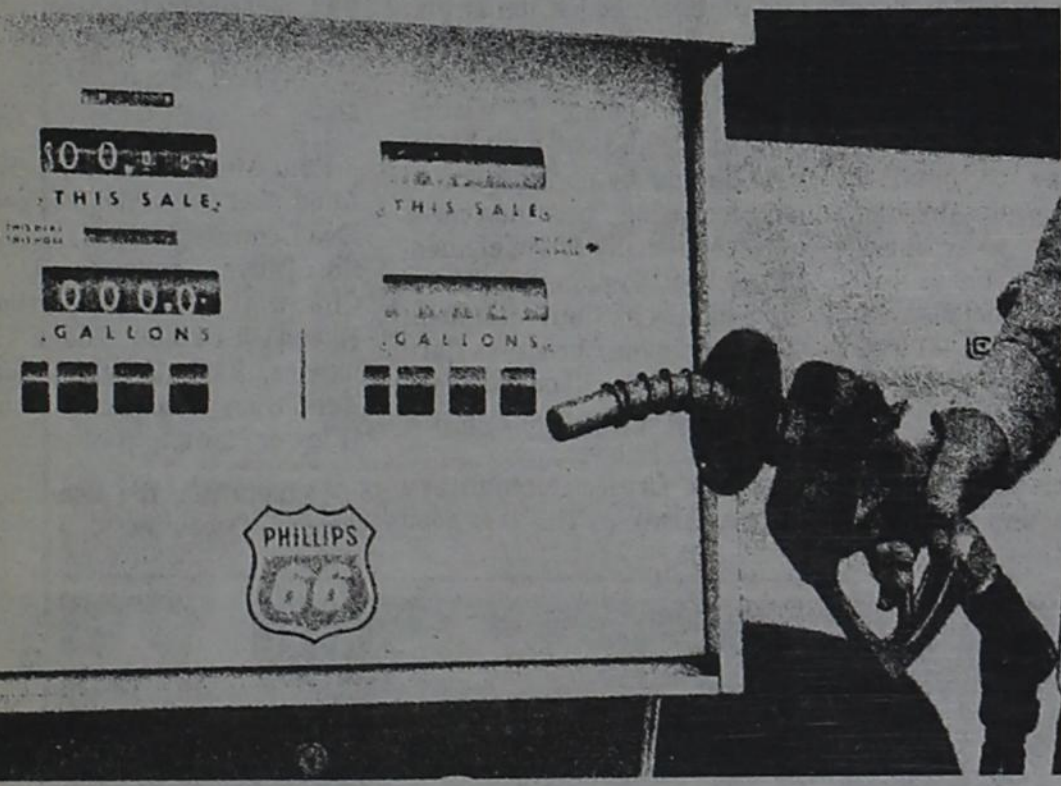

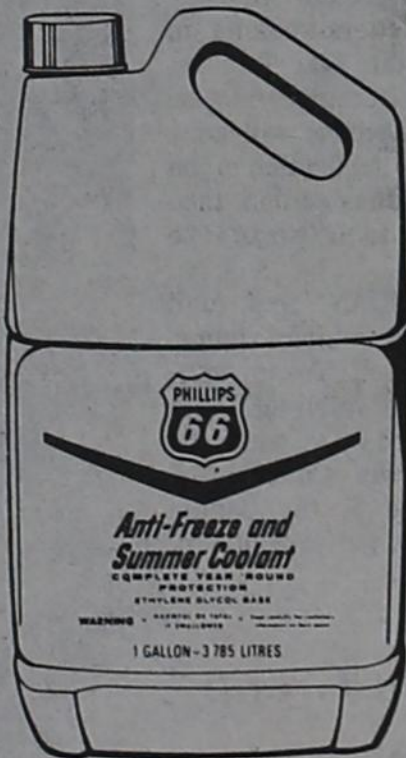

Also discussed at the meeting was the shotgun giveaway which will take place Saturday, Dec. 10, at the Pheasant Hunters Breakfast at Farwell school cafeteria. JCCA members are still taking donations for the giveaway for $2 each.

Also on the agenda was the upcoming Farwell Stock Show, which will be held sometime in January.

Meals On Wheels Survey Still Being Conducted

The Farwell Convalescent Center is conducting a survey for local persons interested in a hot food program.

"We've had a lot of response to the survey, and we will make our decision after the first of the year," said a Convalescent Center staff member early this week.

Participants in the program would be those who are 60 years of age or older, handicapped, chronically ill or temporarily ill, those who live alone and/or cannot prepare their own meal. The program would be set up for delivery of a hot noon time meal Monday through Friday. The meal would be prepared by the Convalescent Center's dietary staff and would be delivered by volunteers. The price would be reasonable and the service free.

If you are interested in the meal program or know of someone who is, please call the Convalescent Center during the next two weeks and let them know of your interest. Churches, clubs, groups and organizations may also wish to help seek individuals who may be interested in the program.

"We also welcome inquiries of volunteers who would help deliver the meals. Let us know," say residents and staff of the Center.

Call 481-9027 if you are interested in such a meal program or in helping with delivery of the meals.

It's Our Ball Now

After the Farwell-Lazbuddie basketball game Friday, Dec. 2, the Booster Club auctioned off the Farwell Steers bi-district football. Many fans stayed after the game to bid on the ball, but the Pete Fulcher family of Oklahoma Lane was highest bidder. The Fulchers paid $700 for the bi-district game ball and

Farwell Boosters Hold Open House, Auction

After the Farwell-Lazbuddie basketball games December 2, Farwell fans were given the chance to see the newly-renovated dressing rooms of the Farwell Steers and Steerettes.

Included in the Booster Club project was the addition of a whirlpool, carpeting of the dressing rooms, (in Steer blue), additions of more mirrors and electrical outlets in the girls dressing areas, and other updating of all the dressing room facilities.

Renovating the dressing rooms was one of the main projects of the Booster Club this year. The renovations project cost the Booster Club $2,000.

Auctioning of the Bi-District championship football was also on the evening's agenda and most of the fans stayed after the game to get a chance to make a bid on the ball.

Pete Fulcher of Oklahoma Lane out-bid everybody to take the football home with him, putting up a generous $700 for the prized pigskin.

Farwell Sixth Graders Plan Special Christmas Program

Christmas. What is Christmas all about? And how do you know?

The Farwell sixth grade will provide an answer for you on Friday, Dec. 16, at 10 a.m. in the Farwell High School auditorium when they present their play, "And a Little Child Shall Lead Them."

The students were given a bare plot, and from their original improvisation the play itself emerged, including characters of angels, hillbillies and "city folks." Every student in the sixth grade has a speaking part and all students will join in the choral sequences under the direction of Bettie Martin, accompanied by Margaret Aycock.

The opening scene is in Heaven prior to Heavenly Choir Rehearsal, and even the angels are unable to agree on the real meaning of Christmas since there are both hillbilly and city angels in the Heavenly Choir. At the arrival of the Heavenly Choir Director, along with the Assistant Director, the issue is resolved (in order that choir practice may continue) when the Choir Director suggests that he will arrange for a city family to spend Christmas with a hillbilly family and the issue will be determined from the outcome of their encounter. Consequently, he causes an airplane conveying the city family to crash near the hillbilly's cabin (with no injuries, of course!).

The city mother is prompt to assume her natural role as "organizer" and immediately assigns committees, much to the dismay of the hillbillies who have already agreed that they will produce a country Christmas for the city folks. Each family has its own way to have Christmas and each family, in the true Christmas spirit, wants to make a wonderful Christmas for the other family. Thus the problems erupt in a farce of true hillbilly/city confrontations. (Even in Heaven itself!)

Kay Ray's reading class portrays the angels in Heaven and Marcia Cole's reading class portrays the city/hillbilly people in the cabin scenes. Joyce Baker's reading class is in both sections and her non-band students produced the stage decorations and props.

The problem of Christmas—what is it all about?—is resolved in a unique way, and you are cordially invited to attend the sixth grade production of "And a Little Child Shall Lead Them" on December 16, at 10 in the Farwell High School Auditorium to discover for yourself the real meaning of Christmas.

The play is mostly comedy and is appropriate for both young and old. There will be no admission charge.

The cast includes the following sixth graders: Keith King, Chris Aycock, Freddy Bermea, Lance Castleberry, Ruben Galvan, Armando Hernandez, Sammy Herrera, Clint Kelley, Stephen Ketcherside, Carl Ledbetter, Roger Martinez; Also, Jason Newsom, Wayne Pierson, Ismael Rodriguez, Steven Routon, Trent Schilling, Jimmy Jack Singer, Shawn Smith, Kyle Stancell, John Ware, Bruce White, Ron Wilson, Lupe Arce, Edith Ausburn, Kara Camp, Sonya Curtis, Lucretia Foster, Chasity Audrey;

And, Nancy Garcia, Nicky Garza, Lisa Geries, April Hasehoff, Shelly Herrington, Leslie Monk, Heather Moss, Danna Ralston, Venus Samaniego, Angie White, and Joanna Yruegas.

President Woodrow Wilson's first name was originally Thomas.

The Creative Woman

BY SHERYL BORDEN

"The Creative Woman" show will present a special Christmas show on Saturday, Dec. 10 from 2-3 p.m. (MST) during Channel 3's December Friends Pledge Drive.

Sheryl Borden, Producer/Host of the show, plans to share hostess duties with each of her guests who have some unusual ideas for holiday gifts and decorations.

Featured on the Christmas "Creative Woman" show will be Mary Johnson of Portales, making corn husk Christmas wreaths; Joy Best, Roosevelt County Extension home economist, offering last minute gift ideas on a segment called "Holly and Hospitality"; Janice Gardner, co-owner of The Blue Room in Clovis, with a line-up of holiday fashions; Connie Moyers, Clovis, home economist with Southwestern Public Service Company, demonstrating making parsley wreaths to eat and to use as decorations; and Vickie Willis, Roswell, home economist with SPS, showing how to say 'thank you' with jams and jellies.

As a special premium, those viewers who call in pledges during the live hour-long Christmas special, will receive the 40-page "Creative Woman" booklet containing numerous recipes, sewing and craft instructions, and other useful information.

Taking pledges and answering the telephones during the special will be members of the Elida Homemakers Club. Channel 3 is the public television station serving the high plains of Eastern New Mexico and West Texas.

On December 11, "The Creative Woman" show will feature "Festive Foods '83", with SPS home economist Connie Moyers from Clovis. This is the twentieth year for the Festive Foods demonstrations and booklets, and viewers will especially be interested in this anniversary presentation.

Three topics will be presented on the show on December 13 and

17. One guest will be Vickie Willis, home economist with Southwestern Public Service Co. in Roswell. She will share some special suggestions for ways to express our appreciation with jams and jellies. She suggests giving these homemade gifts to that special hostess, to respond to a party invitation, or to anyone you want to say "thank you" to and do it in a special way.

What's more exciting around the holiday season than fashions. Janice Gardner, co-owner of the Blue Room in Clovis, will narrate a holiday fashion show featuring some of the prettiest fashions for daytime, for party-time, and also for nighttime.

Concluding the show will be a demonstration on making a Christmas wreath from corn husks. This is the tamale bundle technique, and it will be shown by Mary Johnson from Portales.

On December 15 and 18, the topics will include an edible parsley wreath, last minute gifts to make, and strip-pieced ornaments. Connie Moyers, home economist with SPS in Clovis, will show an unusual wreath made entirely of edible items. She'll suggest creative uses for the wreath on the holiday table.

The second segment on the show is called "Holly and Hospitality" and it will be presented by Joy Best, Extension Home Economist for Roosevelt County. Joy will share lots of last minute gift and decorating ideas.

The last part of the show will be on strip-pieced Christmas ornaments. Kathy Albright is a quilting instructor with The Quilt Works in Albuquerque, and she will show how to make these attractive ornaments.

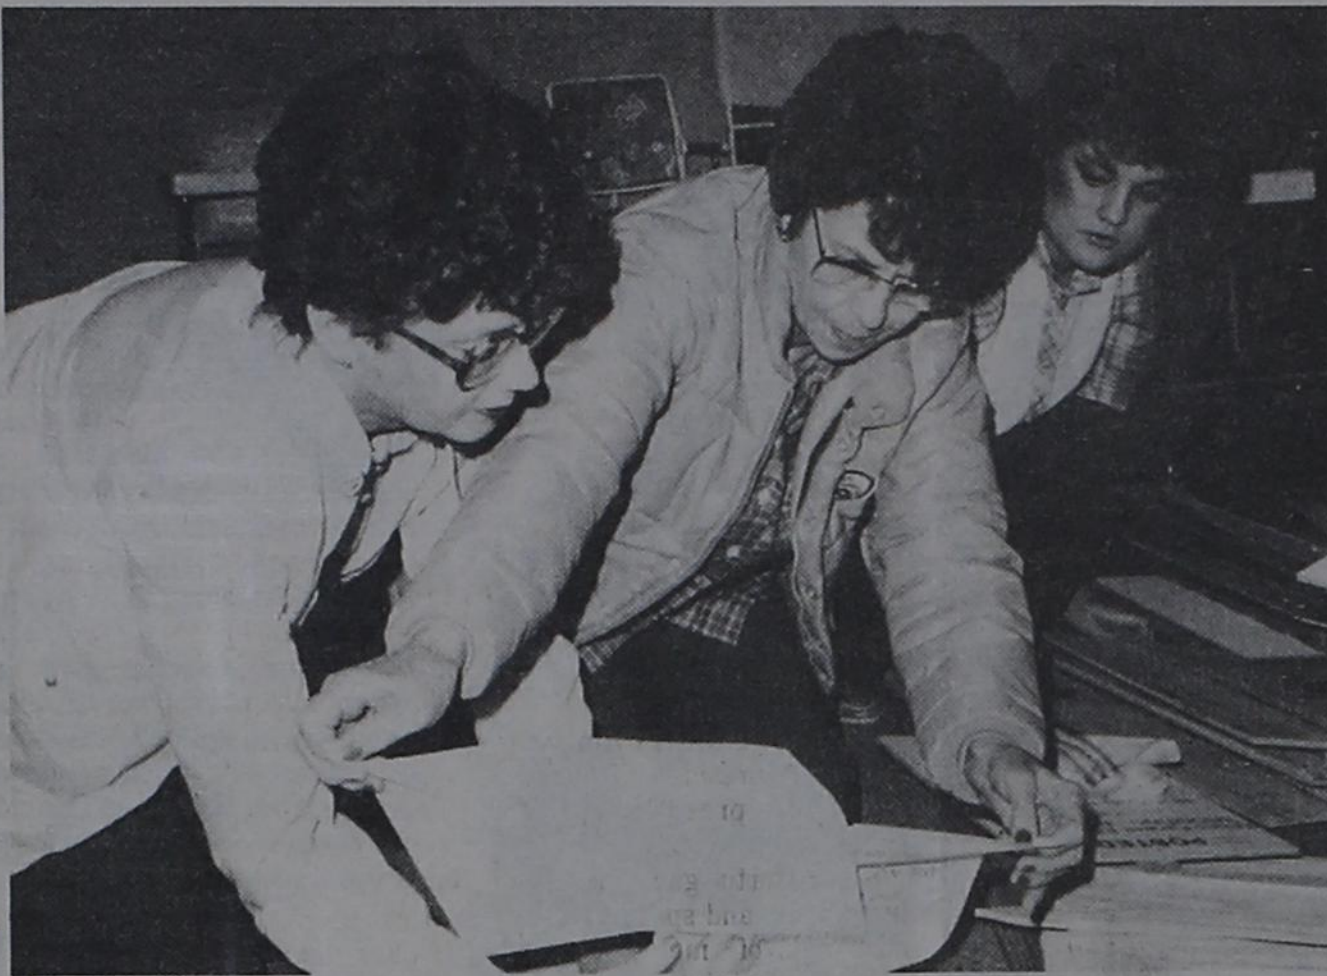

"The Creative Woman" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden for KENW-TV. The show is aired on Tuesday and Thursday at 12 noon (MST) and at 2 p.m. on Saturday, and at 7 p.m. on Sunday on Channel 3.

To Appear On Show

Sheryl Borden, [right], producer and host of "The Creative Woman" show, is joined by Joy Best, Roosevelt County Extension home economist, as she discusses Holly and Hospitality on the live hour-long Christmas Special. "The Creative Woman" Christmas Special will be seen on Saturday, December 10 at 2 p.m. (MST) on KENW-TV.

Sign Makers

Concentrating on getting a sign lined up just right are ESA members, from left, LaMoin Williams, Nell Walling and Denise Christian. The sorority chapter met Monday night to make posters and signs concerning the upcoming Pheasant

Hunt Preserve sponsored by the sorority. Members will be putting the signs out on land posted for hunters having ESA permits and warning other hunters that unless they have a valid ESA permit they are not allowed to hunt on the posted land. The organization has acquired land in Parmer and Bailey counties in Texas and Curry and Roosevelt counties in New Mexico for this year's hunting season which opens Saturday, Dec. 10.

AMERICA'S MOST POPULAR CHRISTMAS TREES

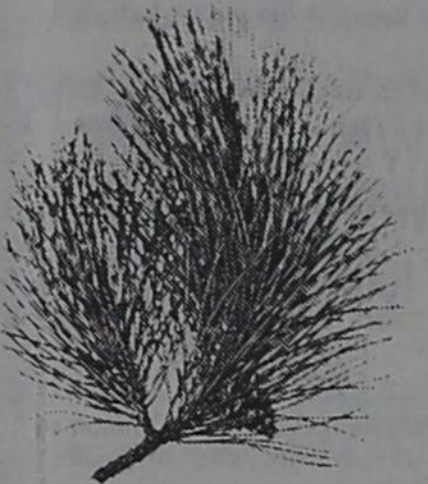

Scotch pine.

This tree is not a native of the United States, but of Europe and northern Asia. It grows abundantly in forested areas across northern Europe, including Russia. Scotch pine has been extensively planted here because it grows well in dry, infertile soil. Under plantation conditions it grows fast and becomes bushy when pruned and sheared. Most Scotch pine Christmas trees are plantation grown.

Red pine.

Although native only to the eastern half of North America, this straight, fast-growing tree is also known as Norway pine. It is easy to recognize by reddish brown bark, and by paired needles growing in tufts near the ends of branches. A northern tree, red pine is cultivated widely in tree plantations from the Great Lakes to New England.

Douglas fir.

In spite of its name and appearance, this tree is not a fir but belongs in a genus of its own. It is found throughout the west on both sides of the Rockies. It can grow over 300 feet tall and may live to be over 1,000 years old. Most Douglas fir Christmas trees are young trees removed from reforested areas. Their removal helps thin the forest, allowing the remaining trees to grow faster.

Balsam fir.

Its symmetrical shape, its fragrance, its rich green color, and the ability of its needles to remain vital and firmly attached long after the tree has dried out, have made balsam fir the prototype of Christmas trees. Found over a wide area of eastern United States and Canada, it averages 25 to 60 feet in height. At elevations of about 5,000 feet, a dwarf form of the tree is very common.

Black spruce.

If you prefer a small, table-top tree, chances are it will be a black spruce. These drawings are by St. Regis Paper Company, which grows and plants about 25,000,000 tree seedlings a year. They are from a series used to illustrate the just-published American Heritage book, "The Secret Life of the Forest".

Eastern red cedar.

This tree grows from the Atlantic coast to central Kansas and Nebraska. It will grow in almost any kind of soil, but in poor soil in some northern areas it may live for years never becoming much more than a bush. Under better conditions it can reach 100 feet in height. Eastern red cedar is not a true cedar (there are no true cedars on this continent), but a juniper.

Creative, inexpensive Christmas gift tags can be made with holiday cookie cutters and used greeting cards. Place cookie cutter over card, trace shape and cut out. Punch a hole at one end, insert piece of colored string and there you have it!

Texas Genealogical Book To Be Unveiled Dec. 18
 Unveiling of the collectors' volume, Texas Panhandle Forefathers, 1875-1930, published by the Amarillo Genealogical Society, will take place at KGNC Studios, 3505 Olsen, Sunday, Dec. 18, from 1 to 5 p.m. and will be on display afternoons all week. At this time all prepaid book orders will be distributed. Farwell and surrounding community residents who requested books by mail will receive them promptly.
 Buffalo hunters, farmers, businessmen, Indians, cattlemen, soldiers, and land promoters all shared in the early development of the Texas Panhandle. Now, their diverse stories and common heritage have been assembled in this book. Family histories and previously unpublished old photos have been gathered from all 26 counties of the Panhandle, according to Society President, Sharon Jelinek.
 The work represents a permanent resource for future use as well as an attractive reference for current researchers and readers curious about the development of this region.
 Barbara Spray, who compiled the volume, expressed special thanks to the families in Farwell who contributed accounts for the book. Included in the stories are elements of community life, development of commerce, and social organizations. Genealogists stress the value of the collection for those researching their roots, as there are over 300 Family Group Sheets included.
 Additional volumes may be purchased by mail from the Treasurer, 1505 Austin, Amarillo, Texas 79102 for $45.50 including tax and mailing.

There's hardly a food preparation task on earth that cannot be done with one of the many small electric appliances on the market. You can deep fry single servings of food, cook a single hamburger, grill sandwiches, fill cream puffs, make hors d'oeuvres, peel potatoes, and fry perfect bacon electrically.

Many of these appliances are quite useful. Most are relatively inexpensive and take little energy to operate. Does this make them ideal Christmas gifts for those special people on your list? Maybe yes, maybe no.

First, ask yourself if the intended receiver has a place to put another appliance. If the answer is "no" you might want to consider a magazine subscription, a box of Texas citrus, or a gift package of homemade preserves instead.

If the answer is "yes", then consider whether the person will actually use the appliance.

A gift will be much more appreciated if it is actually used than if it is this season's "hot item" that sits on a shelf the rest of the year. We know from research that people are less likely to use electrical appliances received as gifts than those they select for themselves. So it's probably a good idea to get some idea of the person's opinion and preferences about a small appliance before buying one.

Some other questions to guide the would-be gift giver include:

*Does the appliance do a task now performed by another appliance? If so, will it do the job faster or less expensively?

*Will it serve more than one function? If so, are these functions truly useful?

*Does it have an Underwriter's Laboratory (UL) seal certifying the electrical safety of both the appliance and the cord?

*Is adequate wiring available? Too many small, especially heat producing appliances can overload a circuit.

*Is there a warranty? Does it cover parts and service?

*Is service available locally? Or will the appliance need to be sent to a central service center at the owner's expense?

Is there any test data available you can use to make brand comparisons before buying the item.

We often say that it's the thought that counts rather than the gift itself. But a truly thoughtful gift is one that considers the real needs of the receiver.

If you're that receiver with a shelf full of unneeded appliances, try clipping this article to your Christmas list to give Santa a hint.

WHY CHRIST CAME
Have you ever asked yourself why the Lord Jesus Christ came into the world? Have you ever "searched the Scriptures" to find out why?
The majority of religious leaders and their followers seem to think that Christ lived on earth to teach us by His words and His example how we should live. But let's think this through.
Our Lord indeed showed how men should live with each other and before God. But what were the results? Did the people say: "How wonderful! Now we know how to live together and enjoy life! Let's follow His teachings and the world will be a happier place to live in!" Is this what they said? Far from it. As the record states, they hated Him, they ridiculed Him, they heckled Him, and finally, they nailed Him to a cross.
As to His example: Have you ever seen how a jeweler will put a diamond on a piece of black felt to show it to a prospective customer? The diamond is seen much more clearly in all its brilliance against the dark background—and vice versa. In the same way, man has never really followed Christ's example—he couldn't. Rather, the pure white light of His holiness only shows up the dark, black character of the human heart, and man by contrast, stands rebuked and condemned.
But why then did Christ come into the world? The whole volume of Scripture bears witness to St. Paul's answer in 1-Timothy 1:15: "Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners."
Consider the Old Testament types and prophecies. Consider its Psalms and poems. Consider the words of Christ Himself and you will see that He came, not to live primarily, but to die—for our sins" (1 Cor. 15:3), to pay our penalty that we might be justified—cleared of all the charges which the Law held against us.
These same Scriptures also declare that He, the Prince of Peace, will come again as King of kings and Lord of lords. But meantime we may trust in the rejected Saviour and enjoy "peace with God, through our Lord Jesus Christ" (Rom. 5:1).

Steers Defeat Lazbuddie, Suffer Loss To Nazareth

In Steer country last Friday night the Farwell Steers put it all together and beat the Lazbuddie Longhorns 63-47, but on Tuesday night they suffered an agonizing loss at the hands of the state-ranked Nazareth Swifts under the Nazareth nets, falling by a lopsided 53-19 count.
