Supreme Court Upholds State Oil Proration

Opinion Given In Julian Oil Company Suit

Constitutionality of Conservation Laws Approved

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 14 (AP).—The Oklahoma supreme court today upheld the constitutionality of the state oil conservation laws and the jurisdiction of the corporation commission to administer them in the form of proration of the output of oil fields.

The decision was issued in writ of prohibition suit brought by the C. C. Julian Oil and Royalties corporation, seeking to restrain corporation commission from enforcing its proration orders in the Oklahoma City field as to that company. John Head, attorney for Julian, attempted to withdraw the case recently when a similar decision was announced here by a federal court of three judges, but Attorney General J. Berry King, who headed defense of the conservation laws, protested against dismissal and the court declined to drop the case.

The Julian company has joined hands with the Champlin Refining company to attack proration in the corporation commission which was designated by the federal court as the body in which relief first should be sought before appealing to higher tribunals.

Several opinions in the case were issued by the court. In denying the writ the main opinion, concurred in by five members, was written by Ruy Green of Waurika, special justice appointed by Governor Hollaway to fill the vacancy created by the voluntary resignation of Justice Robert A. Hefner, who is interested financially in oil. A dissenting opinion was written by Justice Fletcher Riley and special concurring opinions were written by Justices Albert C. Hunt and E. F. Lester.

The Green opinion pointed out that section 2 of the 1915 oil conservation law is not involved in this case, "and it is not to be assumed that if the corporation commission were attempting to fix the market value under that section, we would sustain the same; but we do hold that the act as a whole provides a valid method of preventing waste of oil in this state; that the same is a proper exercise of the police power of the state and that the Julian company has not been deprived of any of its constitutional rights."

The oral opinion of federal circuit Judge Cottrell of two weeks ago upholding the constitutionality of the state conservation laws in general, commented that the section referred to undoubtedly was invalid.

FATHER SLAIN, BOY, 13, HELD

CLAREMORE, Okla., Oct. 14 (AP).—A 13-year-old farmer boy who shot and killed his father, supposedly in defense of his mother, was held in custody by Rogers county authorities as to whether he would be prosecuted.

"Dad was choking mother so I killed him," the boy, Jay Bonner, told investigators.

The father was C. C. Bonner, 43, and the shooting occurred yesterday at the Bonner farm home near Chelsea. Mrs. Bonner told officers her husband knocked her down, placed one knee on her back and quizzed her. She cried for help, she said, and the son came with a shotgun.

The Bonner boy was allowed to remain last night with his mother at a neighbor's home.

FRITTS TRIAL SENT TO KENT

ABILENE, Texas, Oct. 14 (AP).—The murder case of Will Fritts was sent to Kent county on a change of venue today by Judge W. R. Chapman when called in district court. Attorneys on both sides agreed to the change.

QUESTION MAN AFTER ARREST

A man was being held by city police today, following his arrest at a local house Monday. The man is alleged to have stolen coats and other apparel here.

A woman's coat, a rifle, and a quantity of clothing was found in his possession, according to Chief of Police E. A. Long.

SHEPARD WILL DIE IN CHAIR EARLY FRIDAY

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, Oct. 14 (AP).—The bizarre life of Joyce Shepard, to which the convicted killer had clung so tightly, was nearing an end today.

Barring executive clemency, Shepard, accused slayer of Sheriff Bob Smith of Fisher county and Deputy Sheriff Jake Owens, will be electrocuted at the state prison early Friday, just a few moments before a negro, Monty Jackson, goes to the same punishment for the same sort of crime.

Shepard was convicted only for the murder of Owens, two years ago. Lloyd Conester, his youthful partner in the killings, is serving a 99-year sentence for accompliceship. The former first called himself "Bill Smith" and it was assumed he was attempting to keep the knowledge of his crime and its consequences from friends.

First brought to "death row" here Shepard began a most violent exhibition of supposed malingering. He refused to talk; he refused to eat and officials finally had to have him fed forcibly. Then, as his first execution date drew near, two alienists were sent here to examine him. They reported he was suffering temporary insanity, curable in some cases. Governor Moody issued several reprieves on the theory that he might recover and that the law might be permitted to resume its course.

But Shepard's actions grew even wilder. Still he refused to eat or wear clothes. All winter he lay unclothed on the concrete floor of his cell. He became almost a hollow caricature, bearded and long haired. Night and day he shouted: "Jones, Oh Jones!" and occasionally screamed until finally he scarce could speak above a whisper.

The governor ordered him to Abilene for a sanity trial and a jury there committed him to the state asylum at Rusk. Once there, according to reports, he began to act intelligently, to eat heartily and to improve physically. The superintendent lodged an affidavit that the patient then was believed sane. A second trial, last month at Anson, resulted in a verdict of sanity, though his fantastic antics were resumed in the courtroom.

Back again in death row, Shepard's wild conduct goes on again, but the issue of sanity, under the law, is held forever. The groans, the spectacular gestures continue, but only the governor could save him now.

The negro Jackson, Shepard's scheduled companion for death, was convicted of killing E. C. Cornelius, night watchman in Simonton, Fort Bend county, on the night of June 13, 1929. Cornelius, dying, said Jackson and two companions were raising a row and that he went to their automobile to ask them to go home and was shot.

Expect Large Crowd To See Plane Arrive

Short Ceremony To Mark Landing of Airmail Craft

The largest crowd ever to gather at the Big Spring airport is expected to see the first Fokker F-10 mail and passenger craft when it makes its initial landing at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday.

Although the plane will remain here only 20 minutes before taking off for El Paso, continuing its western trip, appropriate ceremonies will mark the arrival.

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce and the Big Spring Airport will act as a reception committee. Miss Winona Taylor and Miss Mable Eddy, prominent Big Spring girls, will take part in the short ceremony.

The old pony express system of transporting mail will be revived when mail is transferred from the San Antonio-Big Spring planes to the west bound ship.

At 4:40 p. m. Wednesday the eastbound ship will arrive from El Paso, making connection with the southbound planes on the return trip. Again the pilots will be greeted by the committee.

According to Chamber of Commerce announcements, between 8,000 and 10,000 letters will be picked up here by the mail planes.

LIQUOR STOLEN FROM CITY HALL

Chief of Police E. A. Long and his patrolmen make quite a few liquor raids and confiscate quite a quantity of liquor, at times.

This outlawed beverage is usually stored in a closet located in Chief Long's office.

When Chief Long has time he muses and wonders just who found out about it and stole a quantity of whisky, alleged to have been bonded.

Several pints were removed from the closet. The lock on the door was opened with a skeleton key.

Almost Forgotten Debt Owed By State To Schools Found

AUSTIN, Oct. 14 (AP).—An almost forgotten debt of $180,000 owed by the state to the permanent school fund was called to the attention of the state board of education today by S. M. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction and ex-officio secretary of the board.

The debt represents bonds of $200,000 and interest of $80,000 on the "state railroad," now under lease to the Southern Pacific system. The line runs from Palestine to Rusk.

The bonds were purchased in 1909, date of their issuance under the name "Penitentiary Railroad Bonds." Interest was paid until December 1, 1924, since when there has been no credit for either the principal or interest.

The last bond matured December 1, 1929, hence interest and principal amount to $180,000. Marrs said Marrs declared he did not believe any other debt of the penitentiary system dated back so far, adding he did not believe the permanent school fund should "waive its right in favor of other creditors." Marrs said in 1923 he had communicated with the chairman of the board of managers for the railroad and was informed at that time the board "was unable to spare any money to apply on these bonds."

Proposals for relief of school districts in the drought areas of West Texas were to be considered by the board today.

ABILENE GUESTS

Jake Fleagle, Leader of Lamar Bank Robbery, Shot at Kansas City After Extended Manhunt

Famous Bandit Probably Fatally Wounded As He Attempts to Board Train For Resort

BRANSON, Mo., Oct. 14 (AP).—A man identified as "Jake" Fleagle, long sought as the leader of the gang which robbed the First National Bank of Lamar, Colo., May 23, 1928, in a bloody holdup in which four were killed, was shot and probably fatally wounded by Kansas City detectives and federal government officers here today.

The injured man was discovered to have a gunshot wound in his right wrist which apparently had been inflicted within the last 10 days, the physician said.

The man was shot as he attempted to board a Missouri-Pacific train at the station here at 9 o'clock this morning. He had purchased a ticket for passage to Hollister, another southern Missouri Ozark resort town a short distance from here.

The Kansas City officers had been sent here on information stating Fleagle was hiding in the hills.

The four officers who accosted the man were identified as E. H. Klein, postal inspector from Los Angeles, police lieutenant Lloyd of Los Angeles and Lieut. C. L. Nelson and Ollie V. King of the Kansas City detective department. They arrived here from Kansas City at 8:30 o'clock this morning and saw the man identified as Fleagle entering the chair car of the train from which they were about to alight.

First Giant Fokker Craft Scheduled To Arrive Here At 10:35 For Celebration

Cities Along Route of Transcontinental Line Planning Ceremonies

"All of the South" is waiting for the "sunrise" on October 15. Soon after the first grey streaks of dawn begin to furf the night clouds over Atlanta and Los Angeles, a giant tri-motored Fokker cabin monoplane will be wheeled out of its hangars at the airport of each of these cities—mechanics will set the three-bladed, gleaming propellers spinning and warm up the 42 horsepower motors.

TWO VETERAN PILOTS WILL FLY AIRMAIL

Two veteran pilots, who have already put in hundreds of hours flying Uncle Sam's mails through good weather and bad, day and night, have been designated to speed the first mail planes out of San Antonio the morning of Oct. 15, inaugurating air mail service to San Angelo and Big Spring on the Southern Transcontinental spur.

Harold J. (Stormy) Mangham and Bryant Robbins will be at the controls of the two fleet Stearman planes leaving San Antonio at 7:30 a. m. C. E. Smith, vice-president of Southern Air Fast Express Inc., the new company formed to operate the Southern Transcontinental, announced today. Both these men have been flying the Dallas-Galveston-Brownsville mail routes since 1928 for Texas Air Transport, Inc.

Natives of Texas, it is fitting that they should launch the Texas branch of the Transcontinental route, Smith said. Significantly Stormy got his nick name, just after that fashion—flying through a huge black cloud for an experiment when he was young in experience. He avers that he flew his ship at every geometric angle before he got out. When he descended he had a name which has erased his Christian one with every pilot who knows him. He has approximately 3,500 hours to his credit. Robbins was taught to fly by his cousin, Reg Robbins of endurance flight fame. Quiet, he avers that he has never had any thrilling experiences flying—unless it was the time a dog he was carrying wandered toward the tail of the ship and tangled his leash in the controls, a quick mind and a pocket knife saved them both. He has flown approximately 3,400 hours.

Stormy also says he has never had any thrilling experiences flying. One passenger did give him a scare, however, when he crawled out on to the wing of the ship and ignored all entreaties to return.

"I should have known better than to take him up," Stormy said, "he came out to the field raving about a girl who had played him a dirty trick. He looked cuckoo." Mangham brought the ship to a safe landing "with the despondent passenger still on the wings."

Both pilots are married and Robbins has one son.

The Stearman mail planes to be used on this route have a capacity of four hundred and fifty pounds of mail, of forty-seven cubic feet displacement. They have a cruising speed of one hundred miles per hour.

Ceremonies greeting the party have been arranged at Jackson, Shreveport, Dallas and Fort Worth. Governor Bilbo of Mississippi will head greeters at Jackson, where fried chicken box lunches will be served. Governor Huey P. Long of Louisiana will head Shreveport greeters.

Half holidays have been proclaimed in both Jackson and Shreveport by the respective mayors.

Arriving in Dallas at 3:08 p. m., the party will be greeted by several thousand citizens. The official reception committee of 100 leading businessmen will cooperate with president of all luncheon clubs, chamber of commerce directors, city and county officials and representatives of Governor Dan Moody, in giving a proper welcome. "Play-by-play" report of the ceremonies will be broadcast by radio station WFAA. After a thirty minute stop at Dallas the party will go to Fort Worth, the designated night stop on the transcontinental route. City and association of commerce officials have planned a banquet for entertainment of the party which will remain there over night.

The mayor, heading a group of city officials, will greet the east-bound ship from Los Angeles when it lands in Phoenix. Upon its arrival in Tucson Frank Hitchcock, postmaster general under President Hoover, will greet the party.

Mr. Cunningham was a pioneer resident of Big Spring, having moved here in 1903. He later moved to Gaines county, where he resided for 10 years, returning to Big Spring in 1916 where he lived continuously until his death.

While living he was a practicing attorney and had many friends in the law fraternity over West Texas. He was a candidate for county judge in the July primary, but ill health forced him to withdraw from the race.

He died shortly after 12 o'clock today from injuries received in the fall.

Passengers and mail will be loaded into each of the sky cruisers. Then at about the same time (5 a. m. Atlanta, 5:35 a. m. Los Angeles, the two ships will start down their respective runways, tails up, nose biting into the morning breeze—faster, faster and faster yet—then up into space, one pointing its nose west, the other east, and service over the new Southern transcontinental air mail and passenger route: Atlanta to Los Angeles, will have been launched.

Ten minutes later (8:10 a. m.) a third tri-motored Fokker will lift its nose into the wind and soar from Love Field at Dallas to roar westward for Big Spring, El Paso, Douglas, Tucson, Phoenix and Los Angeles.

At 11:44 a. m. Love Field will dispatch another Fokker, this one headed east for Shreveport, Jackson and Atlanta.

Two from South

From San Antonio on the morning of the 15th two Stearman mail planes will rise over the mist of that city at 7:30 a. m., headed for Big Spring by way of San Angelo where it will connect with the east and west bound transcontinental route planes.

Since officials of American Airways, Inc., which will operate the subsidiary, Southern Air Fast Express, Inc., announced a time more than a week ago that inauguration of service over the new route would begin October 15, each of the eleven designated cities on the route has busied itself with preparation of elaborate ceremonies for that day, celebrating their participation in opening a new era in transportation history.

Reports from these cities Monday and Tuesday reflected completed ceremony plans. Rousing welcomes at each stop along the route will greet the official parties and the pilots blazing the new coast to coast trail.

The state government and American Airways officials, and two noted women flyers, Elinor Smith and Ruth Niffenegger, will arrive at Atlanta at 4:30 p. m., Tuesday, included in the party will be Postmaster General Walter F. Brown; second assistant Postmaster General W. Irving Glover, Clarence M. Young, secretary of aeronautics, department of commerce; F. G. Coburn, president of the Aviation Corporation, and Hainer Hineshaw, assistant to Coburn. After an enthusiastic reception they will be banqueted in Atlanta Tuesday night. The entire party will board the first ship west when it leaves at 8 a. m. from Candler field Wednesday.

Ceremonies greeting the party have been arranged at Jackson, Shreveport, Dallas and Fort Worth. Governor Bilbo of Mississippi will head greeters at Jackson, where fried chicken box lunches will be served. Governor Huey P. Long of Louisiana will head Shreveport greeters.

Half holidays have been proclaimed in both Jackson and Shreveport by the respective mayors.

PAROLED LEPER PROBLEM FACES HOSPITAL HEAD

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The rehabilitated leper who longed for his colony, instead of wanting to live in the work-a-day world, is one of the puzzling problems of the United States public health service.

Instance of a cured leper, who had twice paid his way from a distant city to Carville, La., was reported to public health headquarters here today by the medical officer in charge of the Carville colony.

This particular discharged patient was reported malcontent during his hospital life, but was anxious to make amends in the hope of re-admission for permanent residence, though no longer diseased.

The medical officer told of other cured lepers who insisted on returning to the colony physicians for treatment of their ailments, instead of consulting local physicians in their home towns. And he described one case in which a man, "completely cured and in the pink of condition," refused point blank to leave when discharged, put in an ambulance by a guard and taken home," the report related.

"Recently a paroled patient came from California quite emaciated, fearing to consult a local physician, and preferring to spend his own money to get to doctors who knew his condition," the physician continued. "He had merely temporarily ruined his digestion. Another drove from Florida in his own car to be treated for a gangrenous finger, alleging the same lack of confidence in the home doctors. A few days ago a paroled patient rode the bus route from New York to Baton Rouge, and then walked to Carville (20 miles) for readmission—and he surely needed it for he could hardly drag his feet and was about 60 pounds underweight. As soon as we get these chaps in good condition, we release them again on parole."

The medical officer said the problem of what to do with the paroled leper is under serious consideration by many institutions. Some permit readmission for observation, others insist that they shift for themselves.

Six million dollar paved road project proposed; highway would cross Hudspeth, Presidio and Jeff Davis counties—Sierra Blanca Mountain Eagle.

PLANE CRASH TAKES LIVES OF CATHOLICS

KOTZEBUE, Alaska, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Marquette, an airplane dedicated to missionary service in Alaska, took two Catholic priests and a noted northern aviator to their deaths when it fell during a test flight here.

The Rev. Phillip J. Deion, head of the Jesuit missions in Alaska, and the Rev. William F. Walsh of the Kotzebue mission, and Ralph Wien, Alaska pilot, died in the crash.

Witnesses said the plane, a six-passenger cabin ship, plunged to earth when the motor stalled. The accident occurred at the local airport Sunday.

The plane was blessed at ceremonies at Roosevelt Field, N. Y., several weeks ago by the Right Rev. R. Crimont, bishop of Alaska, and then piloted by easy stages to Seattle, where it was shipped to Alaska for the use of missionaries visiting widely scattered settlements of the far north. It was to have been stationed at Holy Cross, 300 miles up the Yukon river from here.

The Rev. Father Deion for a time was in charge of the De Smet, Idaho, mission and later was a teacher of mathematics at Gonzaga University, Spokane, Wash. He visited relatives in Des Moines, Iowa, recently before departing for Alaska. The Rev. Father Walsh came here from San Francisco.

NORFLEET ON WAY TO HUNT FOR SUSPECT

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Oct. 14 (AP)—J. Frank Norfleet of Hans Center, West Texas ranchman and crook catcher extraordinary, is on his way to Mexico in an attempt to track down an alleged murderer who he wanted in connection with the brutal slaying of a school teacher near Muleshoe, Texas, several years ago. Norfleet said he thought his man was now living across the Texas border.

Until about ten years ago, Frank Norfleet was just a hard-working ranchman near Hans Center. His career as a "tough" started when a gang of "confidence" men swindled him out of approximately $35,000 of his life savings. Norfleet set out to catch the band. His hunt took him to practically every state in the United States and several foreign countries but he rounded up the entire gang.

Since then Norfleet's "sleuthing" has netted him a haul of 53 widely-known crooks. Eighty of these crooks have been tried and convicted, according to Norfleet. The other three are in jail but have not been tried yet.

The wiry little ranchman, 60 years old, who still wears a big hat and boots with his breeches legs stuck down inside them, is engaged

Floods Cause Great Damage

Waters Receding From Areas Over Texas

(By The Associated Press) Considerable damage was reported today in the wake of the second series of floods in western and northwestern Texas within a week. A number of bridges were out, highways badly washed and some railroad track in need of repair. Brady, the chief sufferer in the flood of a week ago, came through its third attack from swollen waters of Brady river with flying colors. Whereas damage of around $300,000 was caused by the first flood, virtually none resulted from the second, because of the warning and experience.

For the second time during the day, the water rolled up toward the north side of the Brady plain last night, lapping against the sidewalks and the barricades of sand and cement bags in the entrances of mercantile establishments. After attaining a depth of about 18 inches it began to recede, and reports from up river indicated all danger for the time being was past.

A number of persons were driven from their homes, but these had ample time to remove their belongings and to take along food. Red Cross headquarters found it necessary to provide for only 80 whereas in the previous flood it cared for some 200.

More than 400 feet of track and dump on the Santa Fe railroad between Brady and Whiteland was washed out on the first rise of the Brady river and reconstruction work was interrupted by the second flood.

Railroad traffic north and west of Amarillo was demoralized after tracks and bridges in several places had been swept away. Water from the Concho river washed away 300 feet of Santa Fe track between Valera and Talpa in Tom Green county.

At Wichita Falls creek waters in lower portions of the city rose slowly, backed up by a flood on the Wichita river, and several families were removed from their homes to safety by police and volunteers. Lake Wichita, diversion lake and Lake Kemp were falling.

Heavy rains and flood conditions in some places were reported from eastern New Mexico, especially in the neighborhood of Clovis, and in southern Oklahoma. Traffic was blocked between Wellington, Texas and Mangum, Oklahoma, and several spans of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas bridges over the Canadian river at Camargo, Oklahoma, were carried away.

RAIN AT EASTLAND
EASTLAND, Tex., Oct. 14 (AP)—Water was flowing over the spillway of Lake Eastland today for the first time since May 1929. A rain of two inches brought the total for the month to 5 1/2 inches. There was a fine season in the ground for fall gardens and grain crops.

VERNON RAIN
VERNON, Texas, Oct. 14 (AP)—Rain for the past few days measured 8.75 inches here, 1.74 inches falling last night. Creeks were bank full, but no damage was likely.

WATERS RECEED
WICHITA FALLS, Texas, Oct. 14 (AP)—After driving about 100 families from their homes in the lowlands, backwaters of the Wichita river and flood waters from Lake Wichita began to recede today. Younger sections of the city forest to vacate their homes during the height of the worst flood since 1915, but several homes in the country club estates, an exclusive residential district, were flooded with several inches of water.

BARBERS KILLED
LEXINGTON, Mo., Oct. 14 (AP)—Two unidentified negroes who attempted to rob P. Fritzsche, filling station operator on U. S. Highway No. 40, a mile south of Aultville near here, were shot and killed early today by Fritzsche.

TO CROSS SEASON
AUSTIN, Oct. 14 (AP)—Application of the Santa Fe to close its station at Silver Valley, near Coleman, was granted today by the state railroad commission after a short hearing. The effective date of the order was October 20.

LOWERY ON TRIP
LAREDO, Oct. 14 (AP)—E. P. Lowery, secretary of the American Embassy in Mexico City passed through here today en route to his former home in Cairo, Ill., for a vacation. He was accompanied by his son.

UNCLE DIES
Ben Cole, of the Southern and Utilities Co., will leave tonight for Terrell to attend the funeral of his uncle, W. M. Cole. Mr. Cole was informed of his uncle's death Tuesday afternoon.

JUST HOW SAFE ARE YOU AT HOME?

IF YOU think of danger in terms of trains, steamships, airplanes, automobiles, machinery and the like, please remember that more than 7,000 lives were lost last year in American homes as a result of fire.

More than 60 per cent of all fires occur in homes. The "safety" of your hearthstone loses some of its assurance when you consider this record of tragedy.

To improve such conditions the Stock Fire Insurance companies—representing the great bulk of fire insurance written in this country—maintain many helpful services.

For Greater Home Safety

The Department of Building Construction operated by the National Board of Fire Underwriters spreads a vast amount of information regarding building materials and their proper assembling.

Stock Fire Insurance engineers constantly survey the fire defenses of cities and work with public officials to improve them.

Underwriters' Laboratories, established by Stock Fire Insurance, tests and labels thousands of devices used in the home—electrical apparatus, convenience equipment, heating plants, fire extinguishers and utilities of many descriptions.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

has a large personnel and many facilities that are always available in connection with construction, maintenance, protection, and fire prevention. Its record in reducing the average cost of fire insurance over a long period of years is partly the result of its efforts to make home life safer.

How Is Your HEALTH?
 Edited by Dr. Hugo Goldstein for the New York Academy of Medicine
 DRY CATARRHIS
 Dry catarrh is an erroneous and misleading name for the condition which is technically designated as Atrophic Rhinitis.
 Rhinitis means an inflammation of the mucous membranes of the nose; and the term Atrophic implies that mucous membranes are wasted or destroyed in this inflammatory process.
 The normal mucous membranes of the nose are constantly bathed in fluid. In health, this fluid (which is a normal secretion) is so watery that it continually flows back into the throat and is swallowed with the saliva.
 The fluid normally secreted by the nose serves a number of purposes. One among these is to moisten the air passing through the nose on the way to the lungs.
 In so-called dry catarrh there is a substantial decrease in the amount of fluid secreted by the mucous membranes. The nose is relatively dry and it is frequently clogged with a thick jelly-like (mucoid) substance.
 In Atrophic Rhinitis there is not enough moisture secreted, and the result is that as the air passes through the nose it tends to dry out the thick jelly-like mucus found in the nasal passages.
 In the more aggravated types of dry catarrh, crusts form in the nose.
 The absence of the normal secretions of the nose and the presence in their stead of jelly-like masses encourages the multiplication of the germs that enter the nostril with the air we breathe.
 The result is that the nose, and the air spaces (sinuses) which open into it, are more subject to infection.

THE ODD JOBS MAN

Hollywood Sights

HOLLYWOOD—Norman Kerry once made news when strolling down the boulevard with Lew Cody, he pounced upon a dog that was snapping viciously at his knee and returned the bite.
 He makes it again now with the assertion, extremely rare from a star, that the only thrill in movie-making comes on Saturday, his day-off.
NORMAN KERRY And he means it. He has a contract to do four pictures, after which he plans to sail around the world with a small party of friends, on a fair-sized square-rigger and he'll take the trip movies or no movies.
 Kerry, who was Norman Kesser, until after the war when Marshall Neilan, his director, re-christened him for movie purposes, is an actor or only by chance.
 He came to Hollywood from the wilds of Utah, where he'd been chasing cattle and such, and did a little extra work.
 One day he was loitering near the new, now defunct Paralta studio when Jim Young, Clara Kimbrell's husband, spotted him.

THE Dancing Silhouette

SYNOPSIS: Dr. Paul Kane is murdered by carbon monoxide gas poisoning, and Jack Winslow, adopted son of Arnold Winslow, is suspected of the crime. He has disappeared. Elsa Chase, beautiful crippled girl, whom Jack loves, was to have been married by Kane, in line with Winslow's belief she is a fraud. G. Thorne, detective, engaged to probe her past, now is investigating Kane's murder. A clipping with the words, "The Dancing Silhouette," is found among the effects of Mrs. Lawrence, a woman with a secret hidden over Elsa, when the former dies suddenly. The shadow of a woman, being, maddly dancing, has been seen three times at night at the Winslow home, but its source remains undiscovered. It develops that Mrs. Lawrence was the divorced wife of Kane. Thorne leaves Jack his hiding on a canal boat outside of the city. Hurrying there, he finds Jack missing, and the boat keeper's wife, sole occupant of the craft, gagged and bound by some one who has ransacked the boat. In Jack's cabin, Thorne finds an empty fire extinguisher among some chemical apparatus, and it is down on him that this could have been used to pump the gas into the closed bathroom where Kane died.
 Chapter 22
THE MURDERER CORNERED
 In the lower hall Mrs. Winslow was startled to come upon two men talking in subdued whispers; they separated at sight of her and the taller one advanced toward her and she recognized Thorne.
 "You are wanted upstairs," she announced, none too graciously, but he did not budge from her path.
 "I prefer a word with you."
 "Later; I am on my way to see Miss Chase. Let me pass please."
 Miss Kane entered Elsa's bedroom from hers just as Mrs. Winslow came through the door leading to the hall.
 "Where is Miss Chase?"
 "I think she went out on the terrace. If you will wait, Mrs. Winslow, I will get her," and she sped away through her room as Thorne joined Mrs. Winslow.
 The latter gazed in anger at the detective. "Why are you here?" she questioned.
 "I, too, wish to see Miss Chase."
 The room was large and airy, tastefully arranged with its dainty furnishings and pretty hangings.
 Close at hand lay a pair of shoes and shoe trees. One of the latter caught Thorne's eye and he looked at it more closely; then his curiosity growing, he lifted it up—in shape it resembled the ones he had seen in the box in Jack Winslow's workshop, even to the smudge on the wooden tree. On closer inspection, however, he saw that what he had taken to be a smudge on the tree was a Chinese character.
 "I am sorry to have kept you waiting," exclaimed Elsa, as the trained nurse pushed the chair into the center of the room.
 The older woman bustled forward. "It is important that I see you first, Elsa," she broke in. "I must request Mr. Thorne to leave us."
 "I am sorry," Thorne smiled at the irate woman. "But it is imperative that I talk to Miss Chase before she makes her get-away"—pointing significantly toward the steamer trunk half-packed in a corner of the room.
 "Get-away!" Elsa caught up the word, her face flaming. "What do you mean, sir, by using such an expression to me?"
 His answer was delayed by the arrival of Arnold Winslow, followed by Ferguson and Inspector Mitchell.
 "So here you are, Thorne." In bent on his own affairs. Winslow failed to note the attitude of the four people already in the bedroom, for Miss Kane had not left her patient's side. "Ferguson here," indicating the gardener by a jerk of his thumb, "has told me that Jack is living on a canal boat with old Sol Smith above the Lock Tavern Club, and claims my offered reward of ten thousand dollars. Shall I give it to him?"
 Thorne swung on Ferguson. "How did you get that information?"
 "I got it off a note Mr. Jack wrote to me," pointing to Elsa. Lambert left it on his pillow and I just opened the envelope and—'Stole the letter inside it' Thorne was studying the gardener intently. "If you want that reward, tell the truth."
 "I," Ferguson's lips parted in a sickly grin. "That's exactly how I got the news. I'm telling you straight."
 "Go on," urged Thorne softly. "Don't be afraid. Speak up, Ferguson, and tell them why you are not entitled to that reward."
 "What?" The gardener gazed at him in bewilderment, one hand plucking at his soiled shirt. "I don't get yer meaning."
 "No?" Thorne spoke with biting sarcasm. "Then I'll tell them why you are not entitled to that reward. It is because Jack Winslow isn't on the canal boat. And you know it, Ferguson, because you were there just ahead of me."
 "Who, me?"
 "Yes, you," Thorne's voice rang out. "You've given yourself away, Ferguson, by forgetting to remove your false teeth."
 With a swift and involuntary movement, Ferguson's hand went to his mouth. In place of the tobacco-stained, decayed teeth of the gardener, was his full set of even and perfectly white teeth.
 "Hold him, Inspector." Thorne's tone was not to be disobeyed. "Now, Miss Chase, what's your connection with Ferguson?"
 "There is no connection between us," she declared.
 Thorne took a step nearer the wheel chair. "To rob Mr. Winslow, Stop!" as she would have interrupted, and his voice went relentless on, hammering into her ears like a miniature Niagara. "A cripple's disguise was a clever masquerade for the Dancing Silhouette." Opening his hand he displayed the magazine page taken from Sara Kane's dying grasp. The so-called Mrs. Lawrence had the

The 'Why' of Brutality

A COMMITTEE of the American Bar Association, appointed to study lawless methods of law enforcement, recently made this report concerning police brutality: "We can only say that the 'third degree' in the sense of rigid and severe examination of men under arrest by police officers or prosecuting attorneys or both is in use almost everywhere, if not everywhere, in the United States."
 There is nothing in that remark that has not been suspected by most people who have thought through to such things, but the statement is disturbing enough, in all conscience, and it probably will be the jumping-off place for a new campaign against third degree methods everywhere.

Dallas Man Dies Of Pistol Wound

WACO, Tex., Oct. 14 (AP)—J. M. Pruitt of Dallas was dead today after a shooting in a hotel lobby here. H. S. Cunningham, also of Dallas, was at liberty on $5,000 bond. Pruitt was shot down just slightly from the hotel elevator with a woman, Cunningham told officers his wife left their Dallas home Sunday ostensibly to visit relatives at Temple, but he learned she did not go there directly. After inquiries he came to Waco. On the hotel register for Sunday night Pruitt had written "Mrs. Pruitt" after his own name.

Million Involved In Divorce Litigation

FORT WORTH, Oct. 13 (AP)—Motion attacking the recent divorce and property settlement, involving about $1,000,000 in favor of Mrs. Beryl Turman, has been filed in district court by L. C. Turman, wealthy oil man, through his attorney, Rufus Garrett.
 Hearing on the motion, together with a motion filed by Mrs. Turman to modify the recent judgment in her favor, was set down today by Judge Culver for Nov. 3.
 Turman, Garrett said, is in "another state" and the two children awarded the mother in the divorce decree are probably with him. Mrs. Turman alleged in her motion that Turman left the state recently with $1,000,000 in stocks and bonds which she believes are a part of the community estate.
 The motion filed for Turman asks judgment to be set aside and the divorce case dismissed, on the ground that a new trial be granted him. This motion alleges that Turman was not served with notice when the divorce case against him, which had been dismissed previously, was reinstated. Also, it is alleged the court had no authority to reinstate the case after its dismissal.
 Turman further charged the evidence was insufficient to support the judgment, giving his wife a divorce, awarding her $250,000 and property estimated worth $750,000 and giving her custody of the two children.
 Mrs. Turman's motion states she now has $500,000 and asks that a lien be created on Turman's half of the community property to satisfy her judgment. She asks also for the husband and its furnishings.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Says Fascism Has Failed
 THE New Republic
 "The truth is that Fascism has failed precisely where it had hoped to succeed, that is, on the material side.
 No one who knows Italy can doubt that Fascism has achieved notable apparent successes in improving and modernizing the productive instrumentalities and processes of the nation. Much of this work had been projected or planned before Fascism, but it remained for Fascism to accomplish it.
 To avoid lengthy catalogue let us say that Fascism has raised the level of efficiency more than any previous government.
 This is not the place for an exhaustive analysis of Fascism's financial and economic woes. The essential point is that Fascism's apparent benefits are more than cancelled by the results of other inefficiencies, by its disregard for sound principles and its tendency to try by force to bolster up unsound ideas.
 But what has Fascism resulted in? From the political point of view Fascism is digging its own grave. The average Italian is work-

Radios Grow Style-Conscious

Style-conscious, indeed, is this fall radio model.

By MARGERY TAYLOR Interior Decorator Editor, McCall's Magazine. Written for The Big Spring Herald

Radios are the latest machines to become domesticated—in fact the new fall models are as style-conscious as the costliest piece of furniture.

They are furniture and not only do they not "jar" any room, but they actually help make a room, no matter what its style may be.

Gone are the days when about the only place into which the radio fitted appropriately was the amateur's attic or the garage. Gone also are the days when the loud-speaker tried to look like a cathedral, a flying saucer, a ship model or anything which it couldn't possibly be.

In building some of the newer homes, owners are behaving as if radios were prohibited, and are concealing the sets behind wall panels and screens. But there is certainly no need to go to those extremes with the latest models and to deprive the living room of the beauty and good taste of the new radio furniture.

Modernist designs are, of course, very logical for so new a miracle as the radio. Some of the more exclusive cabinets require a very modernist setting. But some of the more popular new cabinets are modern in their lines but not extreme, and their coloring is so discreet that they are really at home in almost any room.

Try 'Boiling In Oil' For These Luscious Cool Weather Foods

"Boiling in oil" used to be considered the very height of torture, reserved for those who had committed the worst misdeeds. But that was in the outside world, and referred to the treatment of humans.

In the cookery world, "boiling and baking in oil"—which we know as deep-fat frying—is one of the kindest and most successful of treatments for vegetables and doughs. They issue from the hot fat tender and succulent, all puffed-up in the pride of their brown excellence!

Once upon a time, too, some of us objected to deep-fat frying because we had an idea it was too difficult, too costly, too "smelly" or the results indigestible. We know better now. If we use one of the modern cooking oils, made from the pure heart of the corn, not only will the grease be removed, but a large part of the work as well. The expense ceases to be a major item for the oil does not absorb the odor or taste of the foods previously cooked, and may be used over and over again, by simply cooling, after use, and straining through a sieve.

With such an oil, there is no smoke—so there won't be any smells, to speak, that dainty atmosphere of your front hall, or cling in your own curly locks. The finished product, unlike the heavy foods of old, will be quite digestible, for the fat used is a natural product, and one readily assimilated.

It's no hidden secret, knowing how to fry in deep-fat. There are few rules: The frying kettle should be heavy and of sufficient size, half-filled with the oil. A frying basket is a great help, and a frying thermometer comes in handy, though the bread test is quite as successful. When the fat is hot, toss in a small piece of bread, timing the browning process. If the hot fat browns the bread in the required number of seconds for the particular food you are to cook, you can proceed. Here is a table for use in the bread test:

Table with 3 columns: FOOD, D. F., and Bread Test. Rows include Codfish balls, Smelts and other fish, Oysters, Croquettes, French Fried Potatoes, and other vegetables, Fritters, Doughnuts, Crullers.

Lemon. Schilling Lemon Extract contains 3 times the amount of lemon oil required by the United States Government Pure Food Laws—3 times as much!

Mustard. Place a teaspoonful of Schilling Mustard in a teacup, and a teaspoonful of any other in a second cup. Add sufficient water to form a very thin paste.

Celery Salt. Celery Salt is a blend of fine table salt and ground celery seed. Compare a bottle of Schilling's with any other. Note its darker color. That is because it contains more celery seed—more flavor—three times as much as many others.

Vanilla. Schilling is one extract maker for whom importers select a special kind of first grade vanilla beans. The pods are fairly bursting with Vanilla essence—so much so that it forms in crystals on the outer surface.

Cinnamon. Mix 1 part of Schilling Cinnamon to 10 parts of hot water. Do likewise with any other cinnamon. Dip a cube of sugar in each of these solutions, and place on the tongue. Then YOU decide which has the finer flavor!

LONGHORNS START GRIND FOR LOBO STIFF TILT

Heavy Line To Greet Steer Crew

The mystery is no more. In fact, there isn't any mystery at all. We have learned, in a round-about way, the manner in which the Ranger Bulldogs pushed the pin that popped the Sun Angelo bubble. The blonde blower of the wool monarchy has told his customers just how it was that Angelo lost and Ranger won. Read it and sleep: "Ranger had a couple of football teams on the field, which in itself is wonderful grounds for a protest. One of the clubs was composed of Chuck Dick and Robert Reese, a pair of polykermes, a b-uber named Murray, who may be an all state tackle, and seven other fellows. The second club was composed of Dan McCarty, the one and apparent y the only Bird, Reese, Murray and gang were somewhat troublesome, but they were just small vegetables compared to that other team."

Two football teams, or one football team, Chuskaluck Bird and Dangeona Dan combined, the Bulldogs won't whom the Steers as badly as the Doggies nibbled on the Felina. Of course they have no reason to expect to, because at the present quotations, the Longhorns are much stronger than the Nobcats. The pair or more of shining, eva scintillating backfield men of the Ranger kennel, will find quite a bit of trouble tricking their way thru the forward wall, and should try to do so they will find some little, but least backfield men ready to rush in and jerk the controls back into position. It is a bit early to start talking about the time when the black and gold mingle it with the maroon and white, the Steers having to attend to Cisco before they get a chance at the Bulldogs, but for some reason or another the Herd is anxious to start mixing things with the Curtis and Ward, Bob Norman, Fire Chief, Murphy, Iuz Johnson and Dr. Logsdon aggregation down at the City of Keweenaw Gold. Having succeeded in hurting Breckenridge's feelings by scoring on them once and not allowing them to totally but three times, the Steers are fit as a fiddle to keep fighting their way clear of the cellar flights.

The Lobos, by the way, catch the Steers at a most inopportune time—for the Pups. Already that business broadcasting station, Slim Hill, adds to Chapman down at the Big Dam, has splurged all over town the wonders of such a man as Bill Flowers. Hill was among those present at the Breck-Big Spring affair and watched with interest the work of one of the 1300 ni-distr-ct halfbacks. He looked at him so intently we had fears we would wake up Monday morning and find that Flowers had been attracted away from his native haunts. Anyway, when the Steers prance upon the field Friday night and look up at the enlarged light globes, sniff at the kilowatts, and wa in around in the rays, they will have no more feeling in reverse about the Chapman aggregation than if they were playing Whiffletree, Ark. on the local gridiron. After proving conclusively that Breck is just another football club, the Steers will carry a song the same complex in the same bag. Cisco is also just a team with some pretty jerseys with some nice beef cuts inside. Just another football game. Just another night out.

Give the Longhorns the same opportunities that rapped at Spur's portals last Saturday night when they clashed with the Big Damners. Spur threatened three or four times, but couldn't get away. The Steers will get away. If there is anyone present believing the Steers won't score on the Lobo machine, let them speak. They will. We have only one regret for the season and that goes out of the season with it. We regret the Abjerna game came when it did, and ended like it did.

The Steers have played four district games and have broken even with two wins and a brace of losses. They have five more games in the log. They should win three of these with ease, giving them an average of something over 500 per cent for the season. This does not include the Colorado game, which they should cop in a one-step. It just isn't being done much this year for a Class B aggregation to beat a Class A contingent. The three affairs they are doped to win are with San Angelo, Brownwood and Sweetwater. They will go into Cisco and Ranger with the underdogs, but even underdogs have been known to have feax. They might slip through and boost over the bucket in either of these two battles.

Ranger will run a special train to Sweetwater for their fray Saturday afternoon. That happens to be the spirit of Ranger. Ranger entertains no fears that the Mustangs will defeat them—although they still remember the 11-13 affair of last year when the Thundering Hoofs almost mauled them off the Eastland county son. They know they will down Sweetwater, yet several hundred fans will make the long trek to Sweetwater. Is it any wonder they win ball games? Let's assume that a crying, fighting bunch of Bulldogs will battle their hearts out for those fans? It is not. Ranger will bring a band to Sweetwater—and a pep squad. Big Spring should send a special train to Cisco Friday night. And another to Ranger when the time for that conflict comes along. It is merely a way of paying tribute to the Gooners of the molefink.

We talked to Silent Shotwell before the Breck-Big Spring game. We say we talked because in that one-man conversation one of us had to. After probing deeply into his fu-

Battles of Light Globes Penultimate Big Four Fray

As the gentle rays of artificial sunlight come sifting down on Chesley Field, Cisco, Friday night, the Big Spring Steers will make their third bid for fame, this time with a team that is rated to go in to the state finals this year. The road the Longhorns have traveled so far this year has been anything else but a straight stretch with no annoyances such as grade crossings, speed cops, and 90 degree curves. It has been a rocky stretch, with plenty of detours. Behind them rest four hard fought, tough games—and they have split even, whipping two, getting whipped by two.

Friday night they will meet the penultimate one of the Big Four. It is true that with the other two nothing but casualties has been derived. They lost them, but one team knew they had been playing a football game. We refer to Breckenridge. We do not refer to Abilene.

Headliner

The Big Spring-Cisco game is the headliner of the week. It is the only game in which such a big element of chance is wrapped up in—and there are some who doubt it exists even there. It is true the Lobos are rated to win, but it is equally true the Steers have improved greatly since the tragedy that occurred over in Taylor county not so many weeks ago.

There are several elements that may enter into the outcome of this big game on the Herd schedule. The Steers will be playing away from the native hamlet. They will be playing under light globes instead of sunbeams. They will be going up against a team that will outweigh them, and those that have seen the Steers realize they aren't short when it comes to avoidupois and such things.

The Steers do not have a great variety of trick plays. Should they have, it is almost certain they would be forced to fall back on every one of them against the Lobos. The light backfield that will go against the Big Dam aggregation will have to resort to strategy. There is just too much line wrapped up in black and yellow jerseys to get by much in that direction.

Jackrabbits

Such fellows as Rogers, Kidwell, Neal, Flowers, and Mima, will have to take to the air, sweep the ends. They can do just that. Flowers is an ever and eternal threat to the enemy goal when he has Delbert Rogers by his side, clearing away the impending debris, cutting the path for the tricky Flowers to filter through. Then there is Flowers' passing. He is the best ball heaver on the club, surpassing the work of Rogers, who alternates with him. Rogers, Phillips, Kidwell and Neal are pass smatchers par excellence, considering their size. Pre-game predictions have it that the white ball will sail from behind the Steer forward wall many times before they throw the switch on the night conflict.

Outside of the Lobo wall, the Steers will run up against Jeter, a halfback; Turknett, the quarter who does the bulk of the Lobo booting; Connell, a fullback and Bryan the other half.

Some Record

The Lobos' record is impressive. Quite. They barely nosed out a 75 to 0 victory over the Brownwood Lions. They whipped Spur 20 to 0. They downed the Eastland Mavericks 28 to 0. They submerged a flock of Class B aggregations before they opened the Class A race. Chapman and Hill and Company will start their first string against the invading Longhorns. How long they remain in the fray depends on how long the Steers keep threatening. The Lobos have Breckenridge to contend with the following week—the same, Breckenridge, by the way, that the Steers held 19 to 6—and the mentors wish to take no chances on getting any of their shining lights bungled up in the fray with the residents of the corral. The tilt will start at 8 o'clock.

FEATURE DUEL GOLF TOURNEY GETS STARTED

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 14 (UP)—A duel of championship calibre was in prospect here today as two of the Midwest's most promising entries in the National Women's Golf championship, Mrs. Opal S. Hill and Miss Bernice Wall, both semi-finalists a year ago, opposed each other in the feature clash of first round match play.

Mrs. Hill, of Kansas City, who first took up golf on a doctor's advice six years ago, yesterday started the 96 feminine stylists by finishing two under par to lead the qualifying round with a 79 over the trying Los Angeles Country Club's north course.

Miss Wall, from Oshkosh, Wis., finished with an 87 but was fortified for today's match with a goodly record in competition.

Mrs. Hill lost to the defending champion, Miss Glenna Collett, seeking her fifth crown, also showed to advantage yesterday, posting an 81 to tie for third in the medal round. In the first round she faced Mrs. Harry Grossman of Los Angeles, an opponent scarcely expected to cause her trouble.

Miss Helen Hicks, the 19-year-old Inwood, N. Y., girl, self-educated in the ancient and royal game, and medalist in 1929, took second in the qualifying play with an 80. She was matched with Lucille De Long, 15-year-old Coronado, Cal., player in today's bracket.

She found herself engaged to one man—and in love with another. It was not merely a choice between Broom and Grannock, for that would have been simple enough. Powerful conflicting emotions had caught the three in a gigantic mesh and threatened to crush them all. Roy Vickers has woven about this gripping situation an unusual story of romance and intrigue. Its finely drawn characters and absorbing plot make for a striking and vivid serial.

Morrow, Borah Discuss 1932 GOP Campaign

"Strong Men" Give Public Peep Behind Scenes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. (AP)—Two of the "strong men" of the Republican party, Dwight Morrow of New Jersey and William E. Borah of Idaho, have given the country an illuminating peep behind the scenes of the big political show in 1932.

It was the wet Morrow who declared last night he hoped to vote again for Herbert Hoover in 1932. It was the dry Borah who challenged those who are trying to remove from the picture a figure already hailed by his friends as a possible candidate against Hoover.

Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania—Morrow himself has been mentioned often as a presidential possibility two years hence. His overwhelming nomination for the senate on a platform calling for repeal of prohibition put him into a position of conceded leadership among Republican wets. His declaration for Hoover, however, in no wise surprised the president's circle of political advisers. They had expected such a pronouncement at the proper time, and Mr. Morrow picked a time when, within a few days, several dry leaders had forecast his nomination over Hoover in the next Republican national convention.

Morrow repeatedly has labeled himself a regular. Although he disagrees with the Hoover platform on prohibition, he appraised the president's economic policies. By so much, he has weakened any threat that serious opposition to a renomination of Hoover will come from the wet eastern wing of the party.

Borah's statement mentioned neither President Hoover nor 1932, but it emphasized again the rift between the dry western insurgents and outstanding party leaders of the east.

Pinchot became the Republican nominee for governor of Pennsylvania over the opposition of several of these leaders, and a considerable number have bolted the ticket. Among them is W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, and until recently Republican national committeeman. A defeat for the governorship might conceivably remove Pinchot as a presidential possibility, and a victory in the present circumstances would hearten his friends to offer him as a leader of the insurgents everywhere.

In this situation Borah fired a warning shot in the form of a suggestion that a senate committee might investigate whether the public utilities of Pennsylvania were spending money to defeat Pinchot. Thus he raised an issue often raised before by such western leaders as Senator Norris and the La Follette. He said he had been "in communication" with some of the Pennsylvania Republicans. What communication may have amounted to he did not disclose, but he at least put his party on notice that the west was not letting his Pennsylvania situation pass unnoticed.

Further developments on the Pennsylvania front are expected by politicians, whose attention is turned momentarily from the possibility of a wet eastern Republican revolt to the activities of that ever-engaging group of which Senator Borah is a charter member.

Jake Fleagle

the office of Dr. Guy D. Mitchell here and his death was expected momentarily. He was shot through the abdomen.

Eight officers were in the posse who surprised the supposed Fleagle at the railroad station, including officers from Kansas City, Colorado Springs and Los Angeles.

FOURTH MEMBER

LAMAR, Colo., Oct. 14. (AP)—William Harrison (Jake) Fleagle, who was shot today at Branson, Mo., was the fourth member of a gang which pillaged the First National Bank of Lamar, Colorado. Three of his companions in the robbery are dead. The trio—Ray, E. Fleagle, brother of Jake; How and L. Royston and George J. Abshier—were convicted of slaying A. N. Parrish, president of the bank and one of the two men shot down as they attempted to break through the bank's door.

All three were hanged in July at the state penitentiary in Canon City.

Jake Fleagle was implicated in the robbery and the subsequent murders, two of which took place in Kansas while posse scouring hundreds of miles of western Kansas and eastern Colorado "bad lands" for a trace of the bandits.

Three of his companions in the robbery are dead. The trio—Ray, E. Fleagle, brother of Jake; How and L. Royston and George J. Abshier—were convicted of slaying A. N. Parrish, president of the bank and one of the two men shot down as they attempted to break through the bank's door.

Provers county juries found the three guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced them to hang a year ago this month, and the state supreme court upheld the convictions.

The murders with which the bandit quartet was charged were those of the bank president, his son, J. F. Parrish, Jr., Dr. W. W. Wineinger of Dighton, Kan., and E. A. Kealinger, bank teller who was kidnaped to discourage pursuit.

"PALS" TALKED

DENVER, October 14. (AP)—Information gleaned from two of Fleagle's pals as they faced the noose at Canon City, and "blind" want ads inserted in the classified columns of Kansas City and Wichita newspapers were mediums through which post office inspectors and police officers lured Jake Fleagle, alleged leader of the Lamar bank holdup gang to his capture, it was revealed here today.

R. A. Griffith, postoffice inspector in charge of the Denver office, said he and other operatives talked with his two condemned pals, Howard L. Royston and George J. Abshier for several hours and were able to obtain only the faintest hints from the two as to where Fleagle might be found.

From the pair they learned, however, that Fleagle still had plans for other bank holdups and was attempting to get in touch with

SLAYER GIVEN 2 LIFE TERMS

HOUSTON, Oct. 14. (AP)—E. F. Grimes, confessed companion of J. Maple, the condemned slayer of Motorcycle Officer E. D. Fitzgerald, in a number of robberies, was assessed life imprisonment plus 20 years, today in perhaps the speediest trial of that gravity ever held in the county.

Only 15 minutes elapsed from the time a jury filed into the box until the last verdict had been signed. In that 15 minutes two cases were tried and two charges dismissed.

An agreement had been reached between counsel and approved by the court, whereby the state asked for the life penalty in two cases and dismissed other charges.

The first case called was a charge of robbery by assault in connection with the holdup of the William Penn Cafe on the night of July 31.

A verdict already prepared by the clerk was handed to the judge, who after a whispered conference with other members of the jury, signed it and returned it to the court. The jurors did not leave the box. He verdict was life in the penitentiary.

Then the robbery of the Touchy Furniture Company on the night of September 29, an hour before the gun battle in which Maple killed officers Fitzgerald and W. B. Phares, was taken up.

The charge in the Touchy robbery case was robbery by firearms. As the jurors were about to take the case under consideration, one of the attorneys pointed out to Judge King that in a robbery by firearms case the penalty is given by the statute at "death or at any term of years in the penitentiary."

As there was no provision for a life sentence under that charge, attorneys agreed to ask for a 20 year sentence. The jurors agreed and the verdict was written accordingly.

Grimes pleaded guilty to both charges, rising from his chair to address the court, but clinging to the hand of his wife, who sat beside him, sobbing throughout the proceedings.
