The event, which drew more than 2,000 folks last year, is scheduled July 25, 26 and 27. Highlights will include the big parade, a square dance, a two-day rodeo and the Day in the Park.

BTD Committee members met Monday night to continue working on their plans; a final meeting is scheduled at 8 p.m. July 15 at the Spur Restaurant.

Here are the highlights of Monday's meeting:

--A new group will participate in BTD this year: the Ladies Auxiliary of the Knights of Columbus. This Texico-Farwell group will have concession stands at the park.

--The Beard Contest will feature prizes for best looking, ugliest and most unique. Steve Stephens and Virgil Fiske are coordinating BTD shave permits.

--Nine entries have signed up so far for the arts and crafts show, which will be on the front lawn of the courthouse. Spaces are available for $10 per booth. Spaces may be reserved by calling Janie Bowery at 481-3620 days or 481-9251 nights.

Roberts retires as school superintendent

For nearly 70 years, W.M. Roberts has been involved in Texas education as student or professional educator.

Roberts may well be the only Texas Superintendent who began his involvement in education in a one-teacher, one-room school, completing grades 1-10 in 7 years. He rode horseback 22 miles a day to achieve high school graduation at the age of 15. Once or twice the horse ran off and went home without him, he recalled.

At 17, he received a teachers certification and traveled to his teaching position in a Model T Ford.

The first significant event that influenced his career choice was "survival." He was the sixth of seven farm children, all of whom became Texas educators. After two years of college, he was certified as an intermediate teacher in 1927.

He accepted a teaching position in Anson, then moved to Wylie as high school principal and coach in 1929. In 1930 he accepted a high school principal and coach position at King High School, Quanah. It was there that he met and married Leatha Jo Jones, a senior student.

The Depression sent the Roberts to the farm carrying with them five months of school checks that were worthless. King High School was not able to pay the $100 a month teaching salary past December, but he felt he should complete the school year, whether or not he was paid. He has that kind of integrity.

From 1931 to 1935, he worked as a farm hand.

In 1935 he accepted a position as principal and teacher at Lamesa. It was there that the first of the Roberts "future educators," James, was born in 1937. James was coaching at Quitaque at the time of his death in 1962.

From 1937-45, Roberts was a math teacher and coach at Bellevue. He was employed to fill the position and subsequently moved to high school principal, then to superintendent. Following summer sessions in 1936-37, he had received his bachelor's degree from North Texas University in Denton.

At the end of the World War II, the Roberts moved to Oklahoma Lane, following the birth of their second son, Charles. Charles is currently serving as assistant high school principal at Fort Stockton where he has been employed as an educator for 17 years.

In 1947, Roberts returned to Bellevue as high school principal and coach, completing a total of 10 years with the Bellevue system. But in 1948, when the Oklahoma Lane School consolidated with the Farwell system, he was asked to fill the high school principal position. The Roberts returned to the Farwell area.

Meanwhile, he completed his Master's degree in school administration in 1949-51 at Eastern New Mexico University, Portales.

In 1955 he accepted the Estelline superintendency, moving to the Whitharral Superintendency in 1957 and back to Farwell in 1959.

He retired in 1975 but found he was addicted to Texas education. At the request of the Farwell School Board, he returned to the superintendency in 1977.

He has completed 30 years in Farwell, 51 years as a professional educator and nearly 70 years of involvement with Texas education.

Roberts was confronted in the mid 1960's with an enrollment of over 700 students, and was instrumental in securing a bond issue for a new high school building, a new auditorium, an addition to the existing high school to be used as a junior high school, a new field house, paving of streets, and parking facilities.

In 1974 another bond issue was passed for a music building, improvements to the older gymnasium, addition of a wood shop, moving of football bleachers to a new site, and improved lighting of the football field. He spent many hours speaking to civic groups and organizations.

Roberts has professional memberships in the Texas Association of School Administrators, Panhandle School Leaders Association, Parmer County Unit of TSTA, Joint Committee and Region XVI Educational Service Center.

His civic service includes the Texico-Farwell Lions Club (charter member). He has been a Lion for 35 years and currently is treasurer.

He is a charter member of the First Baptist Church, superintendent, adult department, teacher for the Young People's Department, and present secretary for the Senior Men's Class.

He is active in school and community service, Border Town Days parade committee and promotion committee. Also, he has handled the public address for football games, livestock shows and track meets for the past 26 years.

The Roberts are planning to go to Fun Valley in Colorado, relax and do a little fishing.

The Farwell School Board has placed Roberts in nomination for Texas Superintendent of the Year.

The necessary information will be submitted to the Texas School Board State Selection Committee for regional screening process. In August the TASB State Selection Committee will choose four finalists.

In September the State Committee will interview and choose the Superintendent of the Year. The winner will receive a $5,000 award from the Bertha Foundation.

Roberts retired June 30 as superintendent. He was replaced by John Grigsby.

Baptist Church okays addition

The Farwell First Baptist Church met June 30 to vote to build an addition to the church.

The vote was overwhelming in favor of the new building, said Rev. Pat Riley.

The new building will consist of eight classrooms, two bathrooms, a new kitchen, and a new fellowship hall.

There will be approximately 7,580 square feet in the building.

The addition will be joined to the church on the north side.

The floor in the fellowship hall will have a pro gym floor for recreation, such as basketball.

The builder will be Charles Hromas of Farwell.

The groundbreaking ceremony will be July 28 at 7 p.m. They will start work Aug. 1 and, weather permitting, should be finished in six months.

The members of the building committee are Don Williams, chairman, Randy Johnson, Ronald Byrd, Leslie Lunsford, Gladys Armstrong, Cindy Littlejohn and Charlie Hromas.

Local kids can start registering bicycles

All area youngsters are reminded that registration for the Border Town Days Decorated Bike Contest is now open at Texico City Hall.

"Everything is ready at the city hall in Texico for registration," says Ann Cooper, who is in charge of the bike contest. She says that youths planning to enter the decorated bike contest in the parade need to register, giving their name and age, if they are to be eligible for the cash prizes to be awarded.

No motorized bikes will be allowed in the parade, says Mrs. Cooper.

All riders must have their bikes at K.K. Runnels Park at 10 a.m. Texas time, and line up for judging on the southwest corner of the park. "You must be on time or you will not be judged," Mrs. Cooper stresses.

Other rules are as follows:

Riders must stay between the three-wheelers, they are there for your safety. No doubling back.

All participants must continue to Farwell City Park, and then park their bikes. No riding will be allowed in the park area.

You must be present at the park to receive your prize.

There will be two divisions in the judging this year:

Division A: Best decorated bike, ages 7-12.

Division B: Best decorated bike, ages six and under.

Judging will be based 50 percent on originality and theme; 30 percent on neatness; and 20 percent on use of color.

Tedson Trailers in Texico is providing the cash prizes to the winners.

His ox was gored

We have a feature in this paper called "The Latest." It deals with folks who visit us in the Twin Cities and also mentions trips our residents take. Well, this column might better be entitled "The Latest."

The missus and I had the opportunity late last week to attend the 106th annual Texas Press Association in Austin. It was the first time we had ever visited the state capital and we sure enjoyed it.

What a bustling community! A bus guide said that the 1980 census had placed Austin's population at 350,000. Current estimates -- just five years later -- put it at closer to 450,000. And you can throw in another 200,000 people living in the suburbs.

The highlight was taking the time to visit the capital building. We stopped by the offices of our representative, Pete Laney, and senator, Bill Sarpalius, to say "thank you" for their sending items for the Celebrity Auction, the fund raiser for the Community Center. The Legislature wasn't in session and they weren't there so we just left a short note.

They had some beautiful statues in the gardens surrounding the capital building. I especially liked the one devoted to the Civil War (oops, make that "War Between the States") that listed all the major battles of that conflict. As former Yankees, we got a kick, though, out of the notation on that statue which said that one of the reasons the South had to secede was due to "Northern coercion."

I know for a fact how those Northerners can coerce...

As we walked through the downtown area, we were surprised by the amount of construction going on at one time. We were told that Austin, due to its hosting of the University of Texas, is on its way to becoming a high-tech center.

Speaking of UT, I just haven't been mixing with the right crowd here in the Twin Cities. I asked

Fire strikes

The Farwell First Baptist Church had the Farwell Fire Department called out June 28 at 11 a.m.

The fire was in the closet downstairs where they kept their cleaning supplies.

According to fireman training officer Lee Hutchins, "It was caused by an aerosol can that blew up."

No one was hurt and there was mostly smoke damage.

Auction total goes higher

The final amount for the money raised by the Celebrity Auction climbed over the $7,000 mark.

Joe Jones, co-chairman of the group that was formed to come up with ideas for fund-raisers to help repay loans for the Farwell Community Center, reported that one local man who had been unable to attend the auction gave a $100 donation to it.

The $100 pushes the total amount of funds raised just past the $7,000 mark.

some fellas earlier this week who were the biggest UT backers here and they couldn't come up with any names. It seems schools like Tech, A&M and SMU had strong support here, but UT?

Oh, yes, we did attend the convention, too. Met some folks from around the state and heard some interesting speakers. The hotel food, though, was so-so.

You might be interested to know that Kent Hance, who used to represent Farwell in Congress, was a key speaker. Actually, the association had invited Gov. Mark White but he couldn't make it, so Hance filled in.

Hance enjoyed that role since he heavily intimated he will be running for the gubernatorial post on the GOP ticket come next election. As he put it, "This won't be the only time I fill in for Mark White."

Hance kept his speech light and I could see how he has been popular with the voters. When he campaigns, it seems he will stress his congressional rule in cutting taxes while hitting heavily on the fact that state taxes were raised under White's tenure. Hance will have fun with that.

The other major speaker was a Texan familiar to all of us -- T. Boone Pickens, the head of Mesa Petroleum in Amarillo, and a fellow whose planned takeover attempts of other major oil companies had produced some major financial bounty for him and his supporters.

Pickens stressed the theme that stockholders own companies, not the executives who run them. He noted that in many cases the executives cared more about their own perks and careers than in giving the stockholders the best return they could get on their shares.

Pickens told a funny story about the aftermath of a speech he gave to a bunch of executives where he scored the fact that they would get perks such as hunting lodges and fishing trips while the stockholders got the short end.

When he returned to his hotel

room, the phone rang. It was from a good friend of his who had been at the meeting. Here's what the friend said:

"Boone, it's okay to hit hard on the hunting lodges. But please forget about the fishing trips; that's what I get!"

Isn't there some old slogan about whose "ox is gored"?

All bills are created equal.

At least they are if you sign up for Southern Union Gas' Equal Payment Plan. Then your gas bill will be the same each month—whether it's hot or cold outside.

The Equal Payment Plan works like this: If you have lived in the same place for at least one year, your total charges are calculated for the next year based on your past gas usage. The total charge is divided into 12 equal payments that you make each month. If your gas consumption changes drastically, your equal payment may be recalculated, but you will be notified first.

After 11 months we check your total gas usage. If it is more or less than anticipated, your monthly bill will be adjusted and the difference will be spread out over the next year. To remain eligible for the Plan, payments must be made monthly or your account will be payable in full.

If you want all of your bills created equal, send in the coupon below within two weeks after receiving your July gas bill. The Equal Payment Plan will start in August.

Yes, I would like to get the same residential gas bill every month of the year. Sign me up for the Equal Payment Plan to begin with my August bill.

I understand that if payments are not made monthly as billed, I will be removed from the Plan and the full balance will be due and payable.

Curtis attends seminar

DeAnn Curtis of Farwell attended the Texas Farm Bureau Citizenship Seminar at San Angelo June 17-21. There were 400 students in attendance.

DeAnn said, "I learned about free enterprise, citizenship and what the Farm Bureau is doing for the agriculture industry."

The speakers were very informative. The first speaker was a Russian immigrant, Joseph Ioffe. He spoke on free enterprise and told the group that Americans take things for granted.

Cynthia Taylor Krier, the only woman in the Texas Senate, spoke on citizenship duties.

To qualify for a scholarship that the Farm Bureau offers, you must attend the seminar and give five speeches to groups between now and September. Each speech should be five minutes long and on "Free Enterprise."

DeAnn said, "I met a lot of people and made a lot of friends. I understand how much agriculture affects aspects of our lives. It gave me a better appreciation of our country."

Meeks becomes 'police officer'

Mark Meeks of Texico recently returned from New Mexico Boys' State with his eyes opened to the ways of government.

Mark attended the session at the New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology in Socorro.

Boys State is sponsored by the American Legion.

As each boy registers he is assigned to a city, county and party, either Nationalist or Federalist. Mark was a citizen of Trujillo City, DeLeon County and a member of the Nationalist party.

Mark ran for magistrate judge and lost. He gave a small speech. He became a city deputy police officer.

Each boy was given $50 upon registration to use as he needed it. This was not real money, but play money. This was to be used for paying fees, taxes and fines.

The Boys State members were treated to visits and talks by several New Mexico state officials, such as the director of the FBI at Albuquerque, the Secretary of State, Supreme Court Justice William Federici.

The boys were given two Boys State T-shirts to wear all week. This was a little difficult on trying to keep them clean.

The last night of Boys State, the boys were treated to a watermelon party.

"It was really interesting to see how the government works. It was good practice in working in the government. It gave us a better insight of the laws," said Mark.

Mrs. Jerry Meeks of Farwell now has the Gold Card of Life Membership for having attained the highest player rank recognized by the ACBL, reports Ralph Cohen, Executive Director of the ACBL which governs bridge play in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Bermuda.

Cohen said, "Life Master rank is awarded only to players who prove

Each Life Master is presented with a golden membership card to symbolize the highest rank. The ACBL is the 200,000 member organization which oversees bridge play at nearly 900 tournaments each year, and at nearly 4,000 clubs each week.

Producers invited to second insect scouting workshop

Cotton, corn and sorghum producers in Parmer County are invited to the second part of the annual High Plains Scout Training Workshop to increase the effectiveness of their pest management programs.

The last of two workshop sessions will focus on mid- and late-season pests and will be held July 9, at the Hale County Agricultural Center in Plainview. Gary Patterson, county Extension agent, said. The center is on U.S. 87 Business Route south of the city.

The first workshop, in June, covered early to mid-season crop pests.

The workshop will begin at 8:30 a.m. with Dr. James Leser, Extension Entomologist, outlining the scope of the training and explaining in general concepts. Leser will then open the cotton pest section with information on bollworms and budworms. Beet armyworms, loopers and aphids will be discussed by Greg Conholm, Extension Agent-Entomology headquartered at Plainview.

Corn pests will be covered by Allen Knutson, Extension Agent-Entomology based in Dimmitt. Dr. Pat Morrison, Extension entomolo-

High-voltage 'Back-up' line strengthens SPS reliability

Southwestern Public Service Company, to buttress the reliability of its electric utility system, put a new, 345-kilovolt transmission line into service June 22.

The 162-mile line, the highest-voltage transmission line ever in the SPS system, connects the utility with other utilities in the Southwest Power Pool.

The Southwest Power Pool is a group of 38 utilities that have interconnected to "pool" their electric resources, to help ensure a reliable and continued supply of electric service to customers.

The new SPS line could be used by the Southwest Power Pool utilities to back up energy supplies in case of an emergency. Supply emergencies can occur because of storms or mechanical or electrical problems. Utilities also share power supplies on a back-up basis during routine maintenance of power plants, and to lower costs of service to customers.

"This new line will improve the reliability of our service, and will help us hold down the cost of service to our customers," said Roy Thomas, SPS vice president of corporate services.

The line runs easterly from near Abernathy, Texas, to near Vernon, Texas. It connects SPS with high-voltage supply lines near Vernon at a coal-fueled power plant under construction by Public Service Company of Oklahoma.

The 345-kilovolt line is Southwestern's fourth interconnection with the Southwest Power Pool group. It can carry enough power to temporarily substitute during an emergency for the largest of the Company's power generation units.

The line is supported by 100-foot-tall, tubular steel structures. It was designed by Southwestern's in-house Transmission and Distribution Design staff. Southwestern's Construction Services Department oversaw construction of the line and related equipment.

The project was completed at a cost of approximately $25 million. Southwestern Public Service Company primarily provides electric service to a population one million in eastern and southeastern New Mexico, the south plains and Panhandle of Texas, the Panhandle of Oklahoma, and southwestern Kansas.

Down on the FARM WATCH UP FOR POWER LINES

Power lines can be dangerous.

Touching irrigation pipe to a power line can divert the electricity through the pipe . . . and to anyone in contact with it. In this part of the country, this is the leading cause of farm injuries and deaths in electricity-related accidents. Any equipment of unusual height represents a potential danger. Lift arms on field equipment, combine auger spouts and even radio antennas can cause serious injury or death if they, and you, make contact with a power line.

Keep an eye up for power lines. Watch up for safety's sake.

NEW
2157
2165

Superior grain yields with a good grazing bonus. Excellent straw strength, too!

Our researchers were impressed by the tremendous pasture production and grain yields from these new varieties during testing. And now that the varieties have stood the test of actual production on many farms under many conditions, the proof is in!

They grow off well and show strong resistance to SBMV, leaf rusts, fungal leaf blights, and the Hessian fly.

- New 2157 gives you good, early grazing, then stays with you through the winter. And the grain yields are right up there with anything you care to compare it against. Choose 2157 for dryland or limited water production.
- New 2165 works with your irrigation program to make the most of all you put into the crop. Pasture comes on strong in the fall and grain yields are among the best you'll find, bar none.
