Almost Too Much For Only One Day

One day last week was definitely a hard luck day for the Earl Stevensons.

The family went down to the pasture near their home, where lightning had killed three calves; and while they were gone, their house was ransacked. Mrs. Stevenson returned to the home to find everything "topsy-turvy." According to reports, thieves took Stevenson's clothes; some of son, Oakley's clothes; Stevenson's watch and his mother-in-law's watch.

No clues had been uncovered at last report.

Half Century Club Reveals Plans For Community Club House

In an interview with the incoming president, Mrs. Jimmie Charles, and the retiring presidents, Mrs. D. C. Looney, of the Half Century Club this week it was learned that this group of ladies are "all fired up" over being put in charge of the Legion Hall and they have their plans all drawn and ready to begin work. Their work will begin with new paint and wall paper in the Auxilliary Room and the kitchen. Couches, chairs and tables are planned for the Clubroom, with Fostoria, china and silver service for the kitchen as well as new cooking utensils.

"The ladies want it understood that they will do all the work and financing themselves and no one will be asked to donate money at any time for this," a spokesman said. Asked how they plan to raise such money, they said that they are working on a play to be given in August and if it proves a success, they will take it to other communities. Then they will have their style show in late fall and have a holiday showing. If necessary, they will hold bake sales, rummage sales and white elephant sales.

Although they are not asking for any monetary contributions, they will be happy to have couches, chairs and tables anyone might have stored or that they no longer have use for. They will need at least 4 couches and six chairs, and would like very much to have a dropleaf dining table. They would be willing to pay some for such a table if necessary. Should any of The Tribune readers have any of these items, club women ask that they notify Mrs. Charles, Mrs. Vernon Estes, Mrs. W. L. Liles of Mrs. Troy Armstrong. Some of the ladies will call for these. End tables are needed too. Plans are to refinish these things and slipcover furniture and drape the windows, and install service for 48 people in the kitchen. It is their belief that this number will be sufficient for any party, club meeting, or shower.

A new system for renting the hall is being drawn up at this time by the Club House Committee. Mrs. Howard Looney is chairman of this committee and the system will be made known next week.

Mrs. Troy Armstrong is acting as advisor to the group, and is taking an active part in the plans. She met on Monday of this week with the club at the Legion Hall and wall paper and color schemes were worked out.

There will be a regular janitor for the hall and it will be clean at all times for the renters.

When the rental plan is complete, the new rules for use will be printed too. This has all been completed.

The club house is Half Century Club's civic project for the year and behind all these plans, members say it is the desire to make Bovina a better place to live.

BOVINA, TEXAS

LET'S VOTE

Allan Shivers

FOR GOVERNOR IN THIS PRIMARY

Here's why We Should Elect Him Again:

Governor Shivers has done more for Parmer County and the Panhandle than any other governor in Texas' history. He is the only man in the present campaign who has visited Parmer County.

Under his administration, more farm-to-market roads for Parmer County have been completed than in any previous administration. Texas leads the nation in farm-to-market roads, and during the past two years while Shivers has been governor, over 7,000 miles of these roads have been constructed. His paved road goal: pavement within sight of every farm and ranch house in Texas.

Virtually all gambling has been closed down in Texas while Shivers has been governor. He has signed into law bills outlawing slot machines and punchboards. Texas cleaned up its own house without need of Washington investigation.

He is aware of the problems of water conservation facing the Panhandle. He believes that most of these problems can be solved on a local level without outside administrative interference.

Shivers has backed the public school reorganization program. More, not less, must be done for public education, he says.

When elected two years ago, the state mental hospital was the worst in the nation. Today, it is vastly improved.

Allan Shivers is a gentleman. He has ignored the vituperative personal campaign carried against him in this election by one of his two opponents. He will not resort to name-calling. This is characteristic of his conservative way of reasoning.

Food Sense—Not Nonsense

Do the claims of food supplement sellers frighten you? Are you annoyed by the scare techniques used to badger you into buying dietary supplements? Do you find it difficult to maintain an optimistic outlook about your health when nostrum peddlers would have you believe that most of the population is undernourished?

Why not try some reasoning on your own initiative? Since surveys now indicate that 80 to 90 per cent of the urban population is well fed, can you still believe it is necessary to add artificial supplements to your diet? Doesn't it seem preposterous to do so when you realize that you spend a fourth of your net income on food?

Health is important and so are food budgets. Proper selection of foods relates directly to both health and the cost of eating. There is no substitute for a well-balanced diet, but it is possible to substitute less expensive foods for more costly ones. The easiest way to check the adequacy of your diet is to compare the foods you eat with the seven basic food groups.

If you eat foods from each of the following groups daily, a good diet is assured: green and yellow vegetables; oranges, tomatoes or grapefruit; potatoes and other vegetables and fruits; milk and milk products; meat, poultry, fish and eggs; bread, flour and cereals; and butter and fortified margarine.

It doesn't take a wizard to know that a wide variety of foods in a wide range of prices is found within these food groups. "Good buys" are foods that contribute a high percentage of food nutrients in relation to their cost.

With the enrichment of flour and bread over ten years ago, our staff of life became a protective food. Three of the much talked about B vitamins and the mineral iron have helped build a healthier nation. You may wonder why the B vitamins, thiamine, riboflavin and niacin, and iron have been added to your staff of life. Enrichment was recommended by nationally recognized nutrition authorities because early surveys showed a need for these nutrients among population groups. Bread and flour were selected to carry these added nutrients so that the majority of the people could benefit from the program without increasing their food costs. Many of the commonly used cereals are high in vitamin content too. The message on the label indicates the best buys among the grain foods.

Bread with a spread is a natural combination to include in any meal. If the spread is a fatty food, the satisfaction value of the combination is increased. Butter and fortified margarine are commonly used on bread. Either makes a fine contribution of the nutrient vitamin A as well as fat, and both compare well in nutritive value.

Select your diet wisely, according to the seven basic food groups, and relax, you can easily be well nourished too!

Farmers Should Sow Irrigated Pastures Last 15 Days August

County Agent Joe Jones, in a combined statement with Jim Terrill, Soil Conservation engineer, reminds farmers that it is time to begin making preparations for fall seeding of irrigated pastures.

The two men recommended the last 15 days of August as probably the best time for planting. "The crop should have a good growth before high fall winds hit the area," says Terrill. He explains that this enables the plants to go through the winter in good condition. Late seedings will, lots of times, freeze, or blow out.

In land preparation, a lot depends on the type land, says Agent Jones. Both men, however, recommend that pre-irrigation be given land before seeding, to see if the land waters suitably, and to maintain a good moisture in the ground. Then if there are high or low spots this can be corrected before the actual grass is planted.

"Cover crops are also a good practice when seeding pastures," Jones and Terrill add. Suitable for use are barley, wheat, millet, and sudan. The latter two will winter kill and won't be in competition with grasses in the spring.

According to the two men, it is a good practice to seed the cover crop and if it is coming up, seed the grass. They also recommend that farmers seed crossway to the slope to help spread the water in case the farmer has to "water it up."

The pasture should be watered through the winter, "don't quit because you feel you aren't getting any grazing," states Terrill, "because it will go through the winter better and be ready earlier in the spring. The two men also feel that it is a good practice to give the grass 10 lbs. of nitrogen to the acre at seeding time to help get the grass off to a good start; and fertilizer in early spring, "pays off".

Grasses which are recommended and have been proven good include broome grass, Kentucky fescue, orchard grass and rye; and legues such as Madrid sweet clover, alfalfa, or hairy vetch. Some farmers prefer grass mixtures alone, and others like a legume and grass mixture. "Still others feel that one grass and a legume is all that is needed. The latter is getting more popular all the time, Jones adds. "Kentucky fescue and broome look good in this sections of the country" says the county agent.

Farmers are cautioned that pastures seeded this fall shouldn't be grazed this winter, and not until the plant is given time to be well-established in the spring. Too many pastures are overgrazed, over-tromped, under-watered and under-fertilized, Jones and Terrill admit. Management is just as important as the plants used.

The pasture should be divided up into separate plots, possibly three, and farmers can water one plot, permit one to grow and graze the other. For maximum use, for winter pasture, rye and vetch have proven good. However, the farmer is cautioned about seeding rye on land that might later be planted to wheat.

"Don't wait too late to seed your pastures, get them in early so there is a chance for growth, water during the winter; and rich soils mean better pastures," Terrill and Jones add.

For further information, farmers are asked to see County Agent Jones.

Dry Weather Effects Future Farm Production

COLLEGE STATION, July—Serious drouth conditions have both a short and long time effect upon agriculture. The immediate result is limited crop and livestock production and agricultural production.

During years of poor production, says C. H. Bates, farm management specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, farm operators cannot keep their normal quota of labor and too, tenant families may decide to leave the farm to seek employment in industrial centers. Farm owners may be forced to seek employment off the farm in order to meet current expenses. The long time effect of crop failure is likely to be speeding up of the shift to urban centers says the specialist.

This is happening while the total population of the nation climbs about 7,000 persons per day. Thus the demand for food and fiber climbs with the increase in population and at the same time, fewer families are left on the farms and ranches of the nation to produce these needed demands. Bates says more machinery and labor saving practices must be used by operators to offset the declining farm labor force. This condition requires that farm operators more carefully plan their operations in order to get the maximum returns from their own and hired labor.

To make each hour count and become more productive, Bates suggests that machinery and equipment be provided that is suited to the operations of the farm; that personnel be fully trained in handling and maintaining machinery before they are permitted to use it; that safety devices be installed on machinery; that regular checks be made to see that machinery and equipment is being properly maintained and handled and don't delay making repairs.

And finally, says the specialist, good labor relations can be a big help in maintaining or even increasing farm production. Try to keep families happy and interested in their work. This can be done by working with community leaders and planning for the social and recreational needs of the families. Encourage the families to grow a garden and help them with milk and meat production so they may reduce their grocery bills and improve their diets. They shouldn't be expected to live in run-down houses nor to raise their families under conditions that do not permit them to have a decent standard of living.

Healthy and contented laborers are much better workers than those hampered by poor diets and disgruntled attitudes, says Bates.

We've often thought of looking up the family tree, but every time someone says we're a sap if we do.

$1 1/2 Million a Month for New Mexico's Telephone Expansion

- New Mexico has had the highest percentage of telephone growth of any state in the last decade. We're spending over $1 1/2 million a month to meet service demands. This is the money we obtain from people who invest their savings with us—the money that makes growth possible.
- Like any other business we must receive enough for the service we sell to pay the cost of furnishing it, including a fair return to those whose savings are invested in the business.
- Inflation has put a squeeze on the telephone business as it has on every business and every household. We have to pay higher prices for everything we buy. We want to continue to pay wages that are comparable to others in the community for similar skills. Taxes now amount to $2.70 a month on each New Mexico telephone, including excise taxes.
- But despite higher costs of providing your service, the cost of your calls can be counted in pennies. Telephone service has gone up less in price than many commodities you buy. Its value is often beyond measure.

McKay Opposes Brannon Plan

MIDLAND.—Walter McKay, of Fredericksburg, candidate for Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, expressed his firm opposition to the Brannon plan "as advocated by Washington bureaucrats."

"I believe that Texans can operate their own State Department of Agriculture without dictation from Washington bureaucrats and without favoring socialistic theories such as the Brannon Plan, which would ruin the economy of Texas and the whole nation," said McKay. "If the bureaucrats will just leave Texas farmers alone, our farmers will produce adequate foodstuffs to supply the demand.

"I resigned my position with the Texas Department of Agriculture in 1950, after the election of the present commissioner, because I could not carry out his Truman-Brannon Fair Deal policies," McKay concluded.

McKay served 22 years in all levels of the department of agriculture. He is 47 years of age and the father of four children. He was born in Guadalupe County and was educated in the public schools of Luling and San Antonio and at Baylor University.

The candidate pointed out that he is a native-born Texan, who was raised on a farm in Caldwell County. He is at present a stock farmer and businessman in Fredericksburg.

Shivers Says Opponent Makes Fantastic Charge

Governor Allan Shivers this week said his opposition is making "fantastic" charges in a last-minute effort to minimize the greatest farm-to-market road building program in Texas' history.

"The record shows that during my administration, there have been more miles of paved rural roads completed in Texas than anytime in history," Governor Shivers said. "And this is just the beginning—the program is just getting started."

"Yet in a desperate effort to confuse the people, this Washington-picked candidate for governor has plucked a lot of figures out of thin air, pieced them with some utterly ridiculous conclusions and passed them out as true facts."

Governor Shivers said that a tabulation of the distribution of state highway tax money to counties revealed that $555,389 had been channeled to Parmer county for road building purposes in the county during the Shivers administration.

The figures show that since Shivers became the state's chief executive, a total of $312,300 had been spent or is being spent in Parmer county for the construction of 38 miles of farm-to-market roads. In addition, the expenditure of $6,000 for one-third more miles of paved rural roads has been authorized for this county and construction will begin in the immediate future.

These figures prove conclusively that the Shivers administration has consistently supported local governments in their efforts to give rural areas paved roads, it was stated.

A breakdown of benefits received during Governor Shivers administration by this county from highway use tax money further shows that the county has received $162,100 in license and fees, 74,988 has been paid this county in road bond funds.

The figures above do not include money spent by the state to build primary or main highways in this county.

The figures released and quoted here confirm the fact that Governor Shivers has fought for and will continue to fight for more paved rural

Friona Boys Attend FFA Convention

Darrell Robbins, Max Wells, Frank Reed, Ross Miller and Ralph Reed, with their agriculture instructor, J. T. Gee, attended the Future Farmer's convention in Dallas last week.

The five boys received the Lone Star Farmer degrees. Gee holds an honorary Lone Star Farmer degree. Frank Reed is president of the Friona FFA chapter.

In a business session, the Future Farmers voted to send 200 pigs to Korea in order to help improve the breed of swine raised in that country. The project is being carried out in cooperation with CROP, Christian Rural Overseas Program, and the details are being worked out by the Vocational Agriculture state staff of Texas.

The young farmers also voted to add the following projects to their 1952-53 program of work: encourage each chapter to offer a special award for Chapter Star Farmer; encourage more cooperative projects on a chapter level; and to provide bulletins and plans for improving homes and farms. Jack Earl Harrison of Huntington, winner of the state public speaking contest, will compete in a Tri-State contest August 1 at Oklahoma A & M College in Stillwater. Topic of his talk is "Protect Our Soils and Save America."

The Future Farmers chose Sarah Reynolds of Pittsburg as their 1952-53 State Sweetheart. Runners-up were Margaret Epperhart, Luling; Sue Class, McLean; and Barbara Seale, Honey Grove.

The Texas Future Farmers selected Jerry Johnson of Nacogdoches to be nominee for a national Future Farmer office. He will be considered by a national committee which makes nominations.

Lone Star Farmer degrees were conferred on 579 boys.
