SECTION I

More Hail Hits

Hail, 1958's menace to area farmers, struck again Sunday evening.

An area, from West Camp north through Lariat into Oklahoma Lane, received crop damage from the destructive balls of frozen water. There wasn't a definite strip of land which was damaged—the hail was scattered. Some crops in the area were wiped out, others partially destroyed and still others were not damaged.

In addition to the hail, torrents of rain and wind hit portions of the area. Scott Billingsley, who farms near Lariat, says his place got some two inches of rain in less than an hour in addition to crop-destroying hail and strong winds.

Parts of the damaged crops had been struck by hail earlier this year. Billingsley reported parts of his crop have been hailed on three times this season.

Democratic primary election, for better or for worse, has come and gone. In a way, the passing of the election day is like summer drifting into fall—there is no longer as much fun and excitement to look forward to.

People who take an interest in politics, yet refuse to become overly excited about them, are to be admired. They figure, win, lose, or draw, that everything is going to be pretty much all right no matter what the election's outcome. Most people are probably this way, even though some will work and work hard for their favorite candidates. That's good.

We were more disappointed than surprised in the lack of thought people of Texas exhibited in casting their ballots for governor and US senator.

Ralph Yarborough was the people's choice for senator while Price Daniel took the governor's race going away. The same was true in Parmer County—a lot of people voted for Yarborough and Daniel on the same ballot.

This makes but little sense. Yarborough has long carried the ball for the liberal-thinking portion of Texas voters while Daniel has been a leader of the conservative group. We're not trying to say whether we should vote for liberal or conservative candidates. But, it seems strange to want a liberal representing us in Washington and a conservative running the government show in Austin. If you want to vote liberal, vote liberal. If you are a conservative, vote conservative. What's the point or purpose in voting for one of each?

What we think is that most people didn't now whether, or if, they were voting for a liberal or a conservative. They were just voting.

That's not true in every case, you understand. We said most people—across the state.

Thrice Yarborough was defeated in races for the governor's chair by conservative candidates. Yet, in his race for senator against still another conservative candidate, who was backed by the same group and the same individuals who had bested him for governor, he won with comparative ease.

We daresay—with fear of contradiction—that his conservative opponent, William A. Blakley, was as deserving of the conservative vote as any of the previous conservatives, who had defeated Yarborough, were. Yet, they supported him not. At least, not as they had previous Yarborough opponents.

We're not, in this case, taking up for either side or trying to say who should have won the election. We're trying to show the fallacy in the thinking of the Texas, and American, voter.

It's our studied opinion that conservatives should have marked their ballots in favor of Daniel and Blakley while the liberal element would have been in favor of Gonzales and Yarborough. It wasn't that way, of course.

Across the state, it seemed to be well accepted that Gonzales, with such a good "Irish" name, had not a chance to be elected to the governor's seat. That, in itself, is a shame, but that's another story.

Prior to the election, we read a story in The Texas Observer, liberal newspaper, concerning Gonzales. The story related that when Gonzales announced his candidacy for governor, someone remarked, "You don't have a Chinaman's chance."

"That's beside the point," Gonzales replied, "What I want to know is do I have a Mexican's chance?"

Evidently he didn't. Also, the TO quoted the state senator from San Antonio as saying it was all right to call him a Mexican. "Just pronounce it right," he asked.

Most of our readers this week are probably pretty well satisfied with what they've read by now, so we'll close with this story which shows a lighter side of politics. It's an old story, but we ran across it again this week in Drifting Sands column in The Andrews County News. In concerns a sheriff in the hills of Arkansas who listed the following in his summary of activities during the campaign:

"Lost four months and 40 days canvassing; lost 1360 hours of sleep thinking about the election; lost 40 acres of corn and a crop of sweet potatoes; lost two front teeth and a lot of hair in personal combat with an opponent; donated one beef, four shots and five sheep to barbecues;

"Give away two pair of suspenders, five calico dresses, five dolls, and 13 baby rattlers, kissed 126 babies, kindled 14 kitchen fires, put up eight stoves, cut 14 cords of wood, carried 25 buckets of water; gathered seven wagon loads of corn, pulled 437 bushels of fodder, walked 4,000 miles, shook hands 9,080 times, told 10,001 jokes, and was baptized four times by immersion and twice by sprinkling, contributed $500 to foreign missions, got dog bit nine times;

"And then got defeated!"

Revivals Scheduled

Texico Baptists Slate Revival

Texico Baptist Church will have a series of revival meetings August 1-10. In making announcement of the meetings, Rev. C. C. Morgan, pastor of the church, said the revival would feature evangelistic preaching and inspirational singing.

Rev. L. A. Doyle will do the preaching. Robert Graves will lead the singings.

Prayer services will be twice daily—at 7 a.m. and 8 p.m. Preaching services will begin at 8:30 p.m. Times are Central Standard.

Rev. Morgan points out that the public is invited to attend each service.

An advertisement in this issue of The Tribune announces the revival.

Gospel Meeting Set At Lariat

August 4-10 are the dates scheduled for a gospel meeting at Lariat Church of Christ.

William F. Walker, Clovis, will be the speaker.

Loren Thompson, minister of the church, says services will be held twice daily—at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Evangelist Walker speaks each Sunday afternoon at 3 (CST) on KICA-TV.

The public is invited and urged to attend, Minister Thompson says.

Child Cuts Leg

Mike Fairman, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Fairman of Texico, received emergency treatment Tuesday about noon for a severe cut on his leg.

He received the injury from a broken pane in a storm door.

Rev. Jack Jeter Revival Speaker

Rev. Jack Jeter, pastor of First Baptist Church, Bovina, will be evangelist for a revival beginning Sunday at Oklahoma Lane Baptist Church.

Singing will be led by Keith Lamb of Plainview. Rev. Irving Looney, pastor, urges everyone to attend the daily services.

Morning services are scheduled for 10:30, Sunday School at 8 p.m. and evening service at 8:30.

August 10 will be closing date for the meeting.

Coaches Will Attend Schools Next Week

J. D. Atwell, Farwell High's head football coach, will be present at Texas High School Coaches School August 4-9. The meeting, expected to attract several hundred Texas coaches, will be in Houston.

Atwell will leave Farwell for the school Sunday.

On almost the same dates, August 3-9, Assistant Coach Shelby Jobs will attend New Mexico Coaches School at Albuquerque.

Patrons Asked To Help Build Texico Scout Hut

In an effort to raise funds to finance the construction of a Boy Scout hut in the Texico City Park, a group of men plan to canvass the town. Tentative date for the drive is Friday.

Scout leaders and patrons solicit the support of the citizens in helping conduct the drive and in contributing money, supplies, or services.

Anyone wishing to help may contact Rev. C. C. Morgan, John Adams, Russell Johnson, C. H. Webb, Jerry Stallings, Ken Hanks, or Fred Danforth.

Chamber Schedules Appreciation Day

Initial plans for a Customer Appreciation Day in Farwell were laid Tuesday night at a regular chamber of commerce meeting in city hall.

Merchants are scheduled to be contacted in regard to the plan this week. Another meeting, at which more concrete plans will be made, is scheduled for Monday morning at 8.

Coffee and donuts will be served and everyone interested in the promotion is urged to be present, Cary Joe Magness, chamber vice-president who presided Tuesday night, says.

Tentative plans call for the affair to be a "one-shot deal" and Saturday, August 30, was decided on as the day. Merchants, who so desire, may have sacrifice sales on individual items for short—possibly 30 minute—periods during the day. It is hoped that a chain of sacrifice sales may be scheduled to continue throughout the day.

Service businesses, which have no products to sell, will be asked to help bear the expense of refreshments and entertainment.

Two reasons were given for scheduling the promotion August 30—vacations will be about over, teachers will be back in town, and there will be no interference from harvest.

Magness, who proposed the plan, said the businesspeople he had talked to were enthusiastic about the idea. "I believe this idea will go over," Magness told those present.

In other business, the light turnout of chamber members discussed sponsoring a clean-up project. It was agreed to encourage residents to clean up their property, especially vacant lots and alleys.

Alleys, in particular, were discussed. They need to be cleaned for health and sanitation.

2 County Races Still Undecided

Parmer County's Democratic primary election Saturday produced a pair of surprises. Aside from those two, the county went along with the rest of the state and the way the pre-election dopesters had it figured.

Loyde A. Brewer, Friona, former county clerk, all but ran away with the county judge's race. He had a total of 937 votes compared to a total of 549 for his two opponents, incumbent A. D. Smith, and Wesley Hardesty, also of Friona. Thus, Brewer missed getting a majority of votes in the primary by a scant total of 13.

Charlie Jefferson, present commissioner from the Bovina precinct, staged one of the most, if not the most, successful write-in campaigns in the history of the county. With his name absent from the ballot because of failure to file, Jefferson had his name written on the Bovina precinct ballots 177 times. This trailed the leader, C. L. Calaway, by one vote. Calaway, a former commissioner from the precinct, had 178. Vernon Estes, third man in the race, received 89.

These two races, along with others, will be settled in the second primary election August 23.

Grand Jury Bills 7

Seven indictments were returned by Parmer County grand jury Monday in district court.

Special District Judge Bill Street, Littlefield, was on the bench for the session.

Members of the grand jury were Paul Wurster, foreman; C. C. Christian, Walter Kaltwasser, Wesley Barnes, R. L. Kimbrough, Clyde B. Monk, Fern Barnett, Roy Euler, A. W. Anthony Jr., J. G. McFarland, Vernon Ward, and Clarence L. Jones.

Those indicted, their offense and amount of bail, were Charles Shouse, alias Lonnie Masters, forgery and passing, $2500; Alton Pruitt, defrauding by obtaining things of value with worthless checks, $1000; Walter Neal Fulk, driving while intoxicated, second offense, $100; Sebero Serda Castillo, forgery and passing, $2000; Ignacio Guardiola, burglary, $1500; Billy Ray Hampton, Clyde Hampton Jr. and Clovis, Stanberry, burglary, $1500 each; and Jack Duff, theft, $1500.

According to an announcement by District Clerk Hugh Moseley, district court is next scheduled for August 7. Jury and non-jury trials will be held at that time.

Possibly the heaviest voting box in the county was Bovina.

Having 400 holders of poll tax receipts and exemptions, citizens of the central Parmer County town filed to the polls in record-making numbers. When the voting ended at 7 p. m. 385 ballots had been marked besides an unrecorded number of absentees. Not counting the absentee ballots, 96.2 per cent of the voters cast their ballots.

About 400 voters in the county failed to turn out at the polls after qualifying themselves for the privilege and being eligible.

In the governor's race, Price Daniel, who won his second term without a run-off, was the big favorite in the county. He carried the eight boxes and absentee voting with ease.

Ordinarily conservative Parmer County gave liberal-supp-

Little Leaguers Champs

Texico-Farwell's junior baseball teams played their final games of the season Monday afternoon, but the results were the same—the Little Leaguers picked up their seventh straight victory and the Peepees suffered their seventh straight defeat.

The Little Leaguers thus became Parmer County League champions.

Lazbuddie teams were the opposition. Score of the Little League game was 12-2. The local Peepees lost, 8-6.

Vernon Thigpen was the winning pitcher for the LL as he went the distance. Also, he blasted the game's only home run.

Last Thursday afternoon at Bovina, the LL won 16-4, while Peepees accepted a 5-0 shutout.

There will be no league play-offs or post-season games, the coaches, J. D. Atwell and Ken Hanks, announce.

Attendance Light; Delegates Named At Precinct Meet

Attendance was light and interest was at a minimum at Farwell's precinct convention. The meeting was Saturday afternoon in the district courtroom.

Albert Smith, precinct chairman, presided, and was elected permanent precinct chairman. Hurshel R. Harding was unanimously elected secretary of the convention.

Highlight of the brief session was the naming of delegates to the county convention. They will attend the county meeting uninstruced.

County convention will also be in the district courtroom. Saturday—August 2 at 5 p.m. is the time set for it.

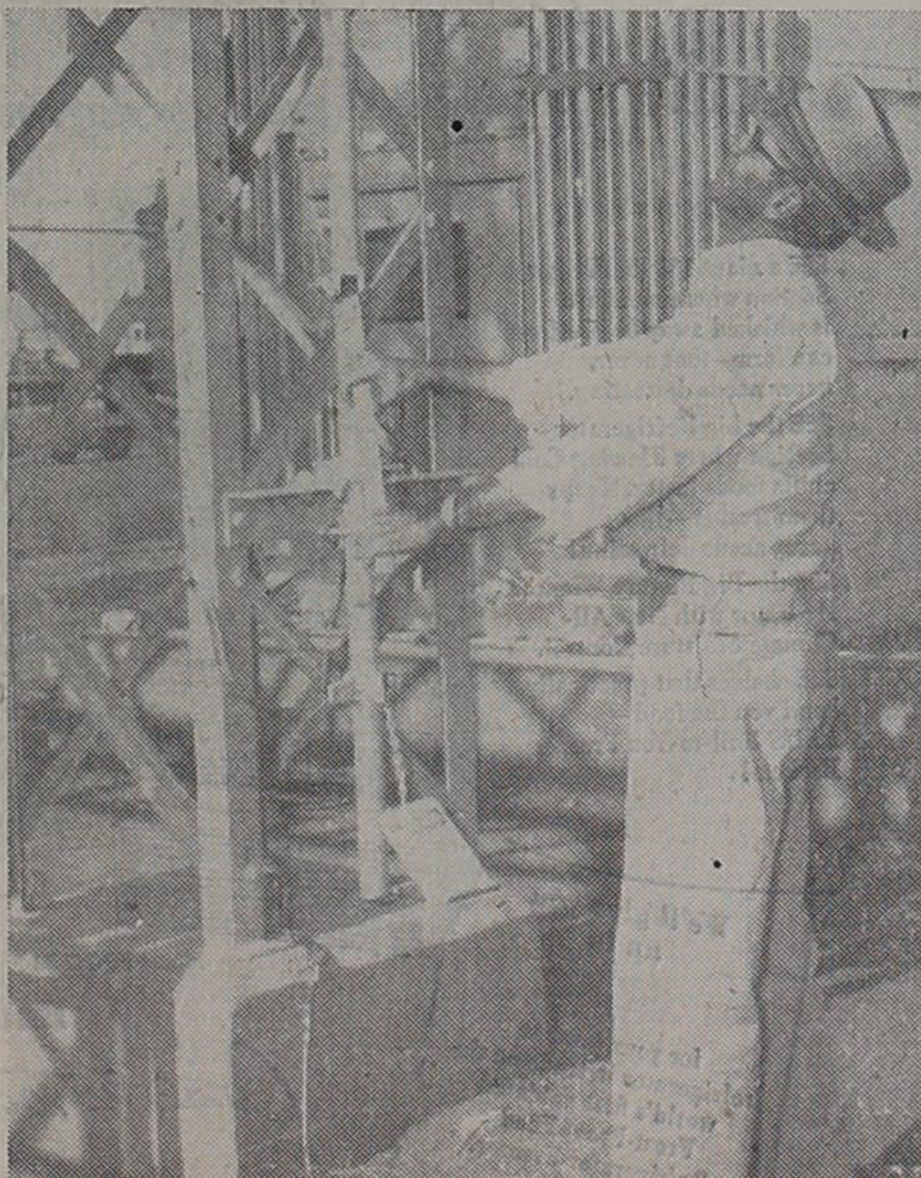

Named delegates from this precinct to the county convention were Ray Sudderth, Sam Aldridge, John Aldridge, R. W. Anderson, Mrs. R. W. Anderson, Lee Thompson, Wilfred Quickel, Harding, Smith, Mrs. Sam Aldridge, Cary Joe Magness, Bob Hart, W. H. Graham Jr., Kirt Crum, Jesse Landrum, and Glenn Phillips.

The precinct is allowed one delegate for each 25 votes cast in the 1956 governor's election.

Alternate delegates named were wives of the men who are delegates and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Berggren.

G. D. Anderson is Democratic executive committee chairman.

New Transformer In

Electrical service in Texico-Farwell has been improved. Installation of a new transformer at Southwestern Public Service Co. plant on Highway 70-84 in Farwell is now providing more "juice" for local users.

Otis Huggins, local SWPS manager, says the new unit will supply two and a half times as much electricity here as the previous one did.

Tying in of the new transformer was made Thursday. The changeover was made Thursday night about 9. Electricity was off for about 30 seconds while the change was made, Huggins says.

The larger transformer was installed last winter. A crew of men from Plainview made the tie-in.

The new set-up will provide electricity for a community of about 4,000 people, Huggins says. Growth of the community had caused the old transformer to be too small.

Local electricity users won't notice "a lot" of difference, Huggins believes. However, the improvement will make for better all-around electrical service for the Twin Cities.

MORE ELECTRICITY

— Otis Huggins, Southwestern Public Service Co. manager, pretends to be throwing the switch which will provide Texico-Farwell with more electricity. The switch is to the new transformer which was installed at the electrical plant in Farwell last week. It provides two and a half times more electricity for the community than did the old one.

Commissioners Discuss Right-of-Way Purchase

Scarce describes business at a regular meeting of Parmer County commissioners court Monday in Farwell. Highlight of the session was a discussion on how to obtain money for Highway 70-84 right-of-way purchase, County Clerk Hugh Moseley reports. Also, the group approved annual reports of the county tax assessor-collector, approved the minutes of the previous meeting, and paid the county's bills for the month.

Use of different colors to quickly distinguish different kinds of traffic signs is not a new idea, the engineers say. But it was not practical until recently, when new materials were developed that do not fade and that, after dark, reflect the same bright color they show in daylight.

Farmers are reminded by the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council that breaks during the morning and afternoon work periods are good accident prevention practices. Whether the break is for milk, coffee or just a few minutes of rest, the results have been good, points out the council.

Bootlegger Caught After Fast Chase

After a high-speed, 40-mile chase Monday, Parmer County Sheriff Chas. Lovelace captured a Latin American charged with bootlegging.

Lupe Martinez, Plainview, was taken into custody west of Friona following the chase, which featured a brief stop by the sheriff to change a flat tire.

Martinez, who has been convicted of possession of alcoholic beverages with purpose of sale in dry area before, was fined $300 and costs in county court of Judge A. D. Smith. He paid the fine and was released.

In his possession at the time of the arrest were 96 pints of liquor and 25 cases of beer, Lovelace reports.

Martinez was on his way from Taiban, N. M., to Plainview. The chase began in Farwell and continued north until Martinez was apprehended west of Friona.

WE HAVE BEEN extremely fortunate this year in having a minimum of tornado action in our area. But experience shows that tornadoes can strike at any time of the year. With this in mind we thought we would pass this information along to you.

WHEN YOU HEAR a tornado warning, which is a continuous series of blasts from our fire siren:

The first precaution is to keep calm. Keep tuned to your radio or television station to get all the information. Get ready to duck. The average basement is fairly secure, as is a strongly reinforced building. Stay away from windows. Remember to cut off electricity and heating appliances and open doors and windows on the north and east sides of the house to help reduce damage to the building. Stay away from large auditoriums and gymnasiums, as these buildings may be less strongly reinforced. In rural areas, or when caught in the open, try to find a ditch or ravine.

THE LIONS are planning their annual broom sale which will probably be held the first weekend in September. If your broom or mop is getting a little worn, be sure and wait for the Lion's sale to buy. The household merchandise is always good quality and the profits go for a good cause.

CONTRARY to popular opinion, home mortgage agencies do not select your insurance broker. They do approve the companies carrying the coverage, and, of course, we do represent approved companies. Without in any way affecting your monthly payments, you can have the benefit of our personal representation. We feel that personal representation today is more important than ever before. Therefore, if the fire insurance on your dwelling or business expires in the near future, you may at that time select your own personal representative. Contact our Agency for more information.

WIFE SAVERS: Keep the coffee pot clean and sweet by boiling a strong soda solution in it at regular intervals.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT: We have had ripe watermelons in our garden for two weeks now. In fact they are too ripe as we had forgotten that we planted a variety of small "ice-box" melons and they were beginning to rot before we discovered that they were ready to eat!

THERE ARE at least six people who want to see Farwell grow. That is the exact number that attended the Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday night. But plans were made for a promotion that will require your support. Read about it in this paper.

WHAT SIZE house could you build with present insurance? You're WISE if you keep your property insured up to its value with our agency.

MRS. HARRY RAY JESKO

Turner-Jesko Vows Solemnized Sunday

Miss Dixie Jo Turner exchanged wedding vows with Harry Ray Jesko in rites read by Rev. David P. Bergmann, pastor of the Immanuel Lutheran Church in Clovis, at the church Sunday morning.

Altar bouquets of white gladioli, chrysanthemums, and majestic daisies and palms on either side of the altar formed the setting for the double ring ceremony. Organist was Mrs. Fred Townson of Clovis.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Turner and Mrs. Susie Jesko.

Maid of honor was Miss Billie Fay Heckman. She wore a pink polished cotton sheath with white accessories. Her corsage was of rubrum lilies.

Jack Hesser attended the bridegroom.

The bride was attired in a white sheath of lace over taffeta. A scoop neckline and cap sleeves were accentuated by a band of white satin forming an empire effect on the bodice. She wore matching lace mitts and her shoulder length veil of illusion was attached to a headpiece of applied flowers trimmed with rhinestones and seed pearls.

She carried an orchid surrounded with stephanotis and tiny white carnations on a white Bible. The Bible was borrowed from Mrs. Clair Lackey, her wedding ensemble was new, she wore a blue garter, and for luck, she carried a penny in her shoe.

Mrs. Turner wore a dress of pink voile with white accessories and a white carnation corsage. The mother of the bridegroom chose a light blue linen dress with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

★ LOST CHILD FOUND IN UNLIKELY SPOT

In a covered garbage pit is the last place one would think of looking for a lost child, but that's just where 4-year-old Ronny Walker was located after a frantic search in the Clovis Park Monday night.

He was attending a Sunday School social with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Walker, and wasn't missed until someone heard him calling for his Daddy. As a last resort they opened the metal lid of the pit and there he sat, about four feet down on about two feet of garbage.

From two minor cuts on his head, rescuers judged that he must have been peering into the pit and been knocked into it by the lid. He suffered no apparent ill effects.

On July 27, 1953, the last U. S. carrier strike of the Korean action was flown. Planes from Task Force 77, operating with UN forces, pounded enemy supply routes, rolling stock, airfields and road systems before returning to their ships.

Saturday we drove to Grand Teton via Jackson Hole, Wyo., and later that day on into Yellowstone. Sunday we spent in Yellowstone and late that day started toward Montana.
Monday we drove through Montana via Helena, Great Falls, and Billings. Today we are on our way to Cheyenne, Wyo. Tomorrow we hope to drive to Denver where Pete Rolland will catch the bus back to Farwell and we will drive to Boulder and spend four weeks working as counselors at Gold Lake Ranch Camp.
Thus far this has been a wonderful tour. We only wish we could have had more time. When we return home we will have toured 4000 miles.
Sincerely,
Nathan and Mary J. Harding

Cotton Looks Good In Parmer Area

"Cotton over the entire county is looking good except for the area where hail has damaged it," says County Agent Joe Jones this week. "Cotton has made good progress the past two weeks and is loading up well. This year compares favorably with 1956 to this point. The weather, irrigation, and insect program from now until the crop is mature will determine just how good cotton will actually be."

To date there has been very little damage from the cotton fleahopper, or bollworm, our two worst enemies from a fruiting standpoint, says the agent. He adds that every farmer should be observing his cotton two to three times a week so he will know if a build up of harmful insects has begun.

The cotton bollworm is the one most likely to do damage from now until harvest. However, fleahoppers, lygus spider mites, leafworms and several other insects can do considerable damage and a close look out should be continued for these.

"The bollworm can build up to damaging numbers in a hurry following rains or irrigation that keeps the plant tender. Bollworms are hard to control and should be found in the very small stage for effective control. If good control is to be accomplished the worms should be found in the cotton terminals when they first hatch out and insecticides applied. If the worms are allowed to get large and enter bolls very little can be done to control them and much of their damage has already been done," is the agent's advice.

Treatment of bollworms should begin when four to five young worms and eggs are found per 100 terminals. The bollworm can be extremely harmful because he not only eats on small squares but can damage all size bolls causing them to either fall off or damage a portion of a boll which results in spotted grades if infestation is very great.

"We have a good crop to date and every effort should be made to mature out the most high quality cotton possible," emphasizes Jones. "To do this an intelligent irrigation and insect program must be followed."

During the growing season, cotton should be irrigated just before the root zone of the soil no longer contains sufficient moisture. Inspect the soil moisture conditions at regular intervals and at several depths.

The period of peak water use begins with blooming and continues throughout the boll development period until bolls begin to open. Maintain adequate soil moisture during this period so that a maximum amount of early fruit can be set.

The highest quality fiber develops from the forms which appear early in the life of the plant.

The number of irrigations required during the season is governed primarily by the amount and distribution of rainfall, summer temperatures and soil type.

Irrigations applied late in the season delay maturity. Irrigation after the middle or last of August may prove of little value. An extremely high level of soil moisture may encourage excessive vegetable growth at the expense of boll set, say the Plains Cotton Growers.

In the very near future fresh corn will be available all over the county. Of course, there is hardly anything most of us enjoy as much as fresh roasting ears, but then there are some who soon tire of corn on the cob.

In one of our newest magazines we ran across a recipe which supposedly originated in New York and is served as a special luncheon or supper feature dish. For anyone who likes soup and most of us do, the recipe should prove an interesting addition to our collection.

FRESH CORN SOUP

Cook two cups fresh corn, cut off the cob, in one cup boiling water for five minutes. Set aside.
Melt ¼ cup butter or margarine, add 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion and saute until the onion is limp. Blend in ¼ cup flour until smooth, gradually stir in three cups milk, and add drained corn, along with two teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and 1/9 teaspoon garlic powder.

Cook slowly about ten minutes or until slightly thickened, stirring constantly.

If your family is tiring of green beans, you might like to try this recipe for green bean salad. It seems that too many times when fresh vegetables are in season we serve the same dish over and over again until everyone is tired of eating that particular food.

GREEN BEAN SALAD

2 cups cooked beans chilled
½ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup minced onion or 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 hard cooked egg, chopped
1 to 2 tablespoons pickle relish
Salt and pepper
Cut green beans into bite size pieces. Combine mayonnaise, onion, egg and pickle relish. Pour over green beans, mix thoroughly and season to taste. This salad keeps well when refrigerated. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Any time you plan an outdoor meal, whether it is to be in the back yard or some far away place, chiliburgers will always be welcomed by your family or guests. They can be prepared ahead of time, refrigerated until meal time, then heated in the aluminum foil in which they have been wrapped.

CHILIBURGERS

1/3 cup chopped onion
1/3 cup chopped green pepper
1 clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons olive oil or salad oil
1 ½ pounds ground beef
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons chili powder
2 cups shredded Cheddar cheese
6 hamburger buns

Saute onion, green pepper and garlic in olive or salad oil. Add beef and stir with a fork to crumble it as it cooks. When redness has disappeared, add tomato sauce, salt, chili powder and cheese. Simmer 10 minutes. Split, butter and toast buns. Serve chili mixture over buns. Makes six servings.

When preparing for out of door serving, wrap buns in aluminum foil after they have been filled with chili mixture.

Another tasty dish that can be served indoors as well as out of doors is western beans. If this dish is being prepared for serving out of doors, it can be cooked ahead of time and heated on a camp fire.

WESTERN BEANS

½ pound dried red beans
½ pound sausage meat
1 cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
1 cup tomato juice
¼ cup brown sugar
1 ½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon chili powder
dash cayenne pepper
1 apple, peeled and thinly sliced

Soak beans overnight in cold water. Drain, cover with boiling water and simmer 2 hours. Drain well. Fry sausage until it begins to brown, stirring and crumbling with a fork. Add to beans. Saute onion with the garlic in the sausage fat until golden. Add tomato juice, sugar, and seasonings and bring to a boil. Add to the beans.

Add apple and simmer, stirring occasionally, 2 hours. Makes 6 servings. For quantity cooking just increase the amount of each ingredient in the same proportion.

Lazbuddie FU To Sponsor Trip

Lazbuddie Farmers Union will sponsor a trip to Farmers Union Camp located at Turner Falls, Okla., for three teenagers next week.

Final plans for the trip were made Monday night when Gene Phillips, who will accompany the campers, met with them in the C. A. Watson home. Attending will be Eugene Houston, Don Watson, and David Smith. The group will leave Saturday and return Thursday.

A TREAT FOR THE EYES are the heading-out fields of grain sorghum in the Parmer County area. Parmer County raises more grain sorghum than any other county in the nation. Enhancing the scene even more is Joy Redden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Redden, who farm south of Bovina.

Potatoes in Second Week of Harvest

Parmer County area potato growers are in their second week of harvest, with shipments being made from Friona Growers and Shippers and Gregory Produce at Lariat.

The potato deal, after getting off to a pretty good start this year, has cooled down to just "fair" at the present. Prices, which opened at from $3 to $3.25 a bag, have declined to from $2 to $2.25.

Most High Plains spud producers consider the $2 mark as a generally accurate "break-even" figure, so there is no big rush to get the potatoes in.

At Friona, growers have had a tough time all year with the weather, and tonnage is off considerably. Rains have been detrimental in late season growth.

John O'Haugerty, in charge of sales there, notes that the market is a little low to encourage much grower enthusiasm.

The Friona deal is a fairly good-sized one when all the wheels are turning. Even now at limited capacity they have 150 hands in the field and shed.

"We're running a few, but aren't going too fast," was the report from Buck Gregory. He says he is shipping from five to seven loads a day and is behind on his orders, but again

asm. The Friona deal is about one-third over, but the best potatoes are yet to come, he believes.

Quality has been down in the opening stages of harvest, but there are some potatoes—particularly the Rushmores and Gem Russets—that really look good, he believes. The better grade potatoes are commanding a better price this year.

The yield in the Friona area has been from 100 to 150 sacks of No. 1's, which is way off the normal tonnage for farmers of the territory. They usually do double or better that amount.

Digging is now underway on the Hardy May field southeast of town where he has from 90 to 100 acres.

Most of the potatoes being sold at Friona are going to South and Midwest markets. Competition in potatoes is coming from Washington, Oregon, Idaho, North Carolina, and still a few from California.

The Friona deal is a fairly good-sized one when all the wheels are turning. Even now at limited capacity they have 150 hands in the field and shed.

"We're running a few, but aren't going too fast," was the report from Buck Gregory. He says he is shipping from five to seven loads a day and is behind on his orders, but again the price has not encouraged crash program efforts.

He is now digging his sandy-land potatoes south of Texico near the state line. There he has 35 acres of reds and 15 of whites. "The tonnage is really good," Gregory reports, "but we have been hit by something else."

Many of the potatoes are affected with "scab," a disease which cuts quality, and hence prices, fast. That accounts for his high percentage of No. 2's.

Field-run yield is from 275 to 300 sacks per acre, but the No. 1 turn-out is from 160 to 175 bags. These are estimates, says Gregory.

The price for No. 2's has been about $1.25.

Gregory has planted 80 acres of potatoes for fall harvest that are now "up and coming" and looking good, he says.

At Friona, the carrot harvest is expected to get underway within another two weeks. Even after last year's excellent carrot deal all over the Plains, carrot prices are holding strong for this year's crop and may open at more than $30 a ton, observers hope.

There are about 450 acres of carrots around Friona this summer.

Showers, Hail Fall In Area

Scattered showers—some amounting to genuine "frog stranglers"—visited the Parmer County farming area Sunday afternoon and night, bringing both good news and bad to areas affected.

Another locally severe storm brought hail to farmers south and east of Farwell. That was the second siege of damaging hail within the month.

Hail also fell north and west of Friona in widely scattered patterns. Crop damage was reported to range from light to locally severe. Good rains fell in and north and west of Friona, and most rain gauges measured out from 1 ½ to 2 inches.

Chief benefactor of the weather were the farmers in most of the Rhea community. Good rains and only very light amounts of hail came to them. The moisture came at an ideal time for both grain sorghum and cotton.

The county towns of Bovina and Farwell didn't receive a sprinkle, which shows the diversity of the weather in the area at this time of the year.

Wildwood, New Jersey, Leader: "If a potential customer comes and looks and does not buy, it simply means that in all probability he has found some fault with the merchandise or with the price at which it is offered for sale. That may not be the fault of the merchant. It may be the fault of the distributor or the manufacturer, factory management, or labor unions or labor leaders—all of which probably figure in the economic maladjustments which so plainly exist."

STILL MORE SESAME FOR B. L. MARSHALL

In 1957, B. L. (Billy) Marshall, who lives and farms six miles east of Bovina, set a record. He grew 400 acres of sesame and qualified as the nation's champion sesame seed grower, nosing out C. W. Sanders of Oklahoma Lane.

This year Marshall is breaking his own record, acreage-wise, and from the looks of his excellent crop, may also set a production record if harvest weather is favorable this fall.

Marshall is now tending 550 acres of the exotic crop, which dates back as one of the oldest cultivated plants known to man, but one which has been introduced to the United States for only a few short years.

He has 50 acres of margo and 500 acres of "dulce," which, in Spanish, means sweet. It is of the white variety and is being grown for its high quality. Marshall hopes to hit 11 cents a pound with his white seed.

This will be B. L.'s fourth year as a producer of sesame, and in the previous three seasons he has learned a lot about growing the oilseed crop.

That is evident from his thick, uniform stand of sesame—something not duplicated on a large scale in many of the sesame growing areas this year. Sesame is a difficult crop to get a stand on—a difficult one to get up and get started. But Marshall has done an excellent job of that this year, in spite of poor conditions caused by the weather. This is ample testimony to his practiced hand.

The Bovina farmer has some definite ideas about farming. For one thing, he doesn't like to farm small plots of this or that crop. His notion is to go pretty heavy with whatever he undertakes.

LOTS OF SESAME will come from this field on the B. L. Marshall farm east of Bovina. Marshall notes that his sesame is blooming and setting pods nicely. The Bovina farmer has 550 acres of the oilseed crop this year. He is the nation's biggest producer of sesame.

Even back in 1955 he started out on a comparatively large scale with the then completely untested (for the High Plains) sesame. He raised 90 acres that year.

Since then he has increased the acreage substantially each year. He boosted it to 140 acres in 1956, and then topped that off with 400 acres of Renner No. 1 variety last season.

This penchant for big-scale operations carries over into all phases of his farming. He owns 400 acres but rents another 600. That gives him 1,000 acres of irrigated land to tend to. It goes without saying that he is kept pretty busy.

Last year was a dismal one for many High Plains cotton producers. Marshall was no exception. He had a late crop that was watered and fertilized into late-season productivity. With a 150-acre allotment, he produced a lot of cotton, but it didn't make him any money. He came up with a lot of barksy and wasty bales.

Even under adverse conditions of 1957, however, his sesame continued to make a nice contribution to the farmer's income. He grossed $43,000 from the 400 acres of sesame, selling his seed, which averaged at close to 1,000 pounds per acre, for $10.38. "I sure do believe that I had another 200 pounds of seed an acre that was left in the field," Bill says. Difficult harvest conditions reduced the yield that should have been realized under normal circumstances, he feels. The loss was not due entirely to shattering, either. The strong winds that laid over the grain sorghum crop caused quite a bit of lodging in his sesame, too.

Marshall is convinced that sesame outweighs grain sorghum as a crop suited for his farm. "I think sesame makes you more profit and leaves your land in better shape than grain sorghum," he says.

He says that his 220 acres of grain sorghum last year grossed him $16,500. And the grain was on better land than his sesame, he adds. Even with the extra expenses of harvesting that sesame incurs, the benefits outweigh the disadvantages, he feels. Sesame farming is clean farming, and the land remains more weed-free than it does with sorghums.

Marshall has planted his sesame in 30-inch rows. His seeding rate was two pounds per acre. Before planting, he broke his land and pre-watered, and has fertilized with 60 pounds of anhydrous ammonia. His soil is of the mixed type, possibly closer to the "tight" land of central Parmer County.

Marshall has his own harvesting equipment, which helps him keep down this expense. He figures that gathering his sesame crop cost him $13 an acre last year. Sesame, instead of being combined, is cut and tied with a row-binder, then shocked. Later it is threshed.

Growing sesame enables Marshall to gross near or slightly over $100 an acre. He believes that with farming costs the way they are today a farmer cannot grow a crop that will not bring him that much income. He says grain sorghum won't do it until the price gets back up to around $2 a hundred.

At 30 years of age, Marshall is already thinking about tapering off, in spite of his ambitious undertakings. If everything goes well this year he will be able to pay off the remaining obligation on his home 400 acres, and believes that he then will "pull in his horns" and farm that only.

Sesame has made a major contribution toward stabilizing this Parmer County man's farming operations.

Dalapon Best On J-Grass

Four years of cooperative USDA state research shows that sodium salt of dalapon can effectively control Johnson grass and at relatively low cost. When used at proper rates and at the right times, it has been found more effective than any other herbicide tested.

In field tests on cropland, indications are that sodium dalapon can largely replace costly cultural practices which frequently require that the infested land be taken out of crop production. However, the most striking results of field studies have resulted from the use of sodium dalapon to control Johnson grass on fallowed land.

Applied to this weed as a foliage spray at the rate of five pounds per acre, followed by another application at the same rate seven to ten days later, the chemical gave 95 to 99 percent control.

THE PARMER FARMER

By W. H. Graham Jr.

From now until harvest time is over in October or November is our favorite time of year for the High Plains. August will still have some pretty hot and uncomfortable days, but the sun is retreating southward and the promise of cooler weather is always just a day or two away.

The bountiful crops of our irrigated farms are in full flower, and it is truly a marvelous experience just to drive through a country lane and see, mile after mile, the bounteous produce of this mighty agricultural area.

It's when we see row upon row of handsome crops, some with life-giving water trickling down their rows in the rays of a late afternoon sun that we wish we were poetic. This is an unforgettable tableau and one we wish we had the talent to make more permanent in verse.

It seems to us that it would be impossible for a thinking man to view such a sight and not feel close-knit with the Plains.

Billy Marshall, who has achieved some notoriety through growing more sesame seed than anybody else in the nation, has some less publicized abilities. He is one of those rare fellows occasionally turning up in farming or business who applies cold economic logic to everything he undertakes.

Billy has fared pretty well for himself since coming to the irrigated High Plains, although he modestly passes off much of his success as pre good luck. The Bovina farmer has some pretty definite ideas about farming.

About tenant farmers who are substantially producing nothing more than grain sorghum, he says that at present prices it just won't figure out.

Bill points out that such a farmer has too many strikes on him to start with. First, he pledged one-third of his crop to his landlord. Next, he obtains production credit which is usually around eight percent.

Then, because he owes so much money, Ely says, he ought to insure his crops against disaster, y this time his fixed expense are already over one-half of his hoped-for crop income.

And the expense have really only started. He must either own or lease hipricped equipment, must foot a bill for the cost of irrigator (which often includes the pump), buy seed and stand for abig fertilizer bill, pay labor to help raise the crop, and then either hire a custom harvester or invest more in equipment and labor to get the crop.

In the meantime he is supposed to feed 1 family and pay his bills at home.

"The best anyone can hope to do under the conditions is just break even," says B. L. He's had some experience in those lines and speaks with some authority. We've heard other renters substantially the same thing, but not pinpoint the costs: does the Bovina farmer.

This is what many farmers just getting into the game mean when they say after a tough year or two, "something's got to give."

There are accurate estimates available on the acreage, but Parmer County is going to have a fairly respectable soybean crop this year, considering that most farmers will be growing the legume under more or less experimental conditions.

Soybeans are justified on area farms mainly as a soil-building and rotation-type crop which fits in well with the otherwise limited flexibility of traditionally planted commodities.

Few farmers of the Southwest realize the importance that soybeans have attained nation-wide. They now are grown on nearly 25 million acres. That means that there is more soybean acreage than cotton (by a long shot), and that the beans occupy about half as much acreage as wheat.

Compared with grain sorghums, which seem to us here on the High Plains like the "mostest" crop of all, soybeans this year will exceed the sorghum cropland by almost five million acres.

Of interest to farmers and ranchers in this area is the announcement the past week that a livestock market news service will be initiated at Clovis this week by the USDA.

The new service will cover range and feedlot sales as well as auction trading on cattle, calves, sheep and lambs in New Mexico and West Texas. Wade Lacy, a livestock division reporter for the Agricultural Marketing Service, will take charge of the new operation.

County-Wide 4-H Returns Wednesday From Camp

Scheduled to return Wednesday afternoon from a three-day trip to Tres Ritos were several members and adult leaders of the County-Wide Girls 4-H Club. Accompanied by Miss Jimmie Waincott and her mother, Mrs. M. C. Waincott, of Olney, the group left Monday morning.

They had made arrangements for a large cabin and spent the time sight-seeing and mountain climbing.

IT'S STRAW HANDLING TIME and one of the more popular methods of utilizing heavy wheat stubble is to first shred it with equipment like that shown above. This is a scene on the Herman Geries farm. After shredding, the straw is easier to turn under.

1959 Wheat Crop Is Around Corner

Even though irrigation wells are still running 'round the clock to raise the 1958 row crop, the beginnings of the 1959 wheat crop are only a few short weeks away.

In fact, the start on next year's wheat crop has already been made by many farmers, who have tended to their stubble and made preparations to "get with it" early this fall.

For these early starters, wheat planting is only four weeks away. For the majority of wheat farmers, it will be six weeks before things are really in the swing.

40 bushels, and many have been higher. It should be said that the weather has been more cooperative in 1957 and 1958 than from 1949 through 1956, but still, irrigation has meant the difference between "fair" dry-land yields and really top turn-outs.

One of the things that has characterized most successful irrigated wheat producers is that they "start early and stay late." Their work on the next year's crop begins just as soon as the combines have left the fields.

In spite of the occasional stubble burning that attracts widespread attention, by far the biggest part of wheat farmers are sold on saving their straw after harvest. They return it to their land where it helps build the organic content of the soil—a vital element in High Plains farming.

County Agent Joe Jones points out that soils high in organic matter will take and keep both plant food and water. This is an essential in insuring high crops yields year after year.

In getting ready for a good wheat crop, the county agent suggests that farmers have a soil analysis and that they fertilize accordingly to bring soil nutrients up to the desired high level.

Often area farmers find it beneficial to fertilize their turned-under stubble at an early date. Such a practice has been found to be effective in "setting" soil nutrients so that they are ready to work for the plants when the wheat starts to grow. Nitrogen induced into stubble land helps speed stubble decay, and the fertilizer unites with the organic matter and stays there, ready for a call from the hungry root that finds it.

There are several accepted ways of planting and getting wheat started. Some farmers pre-water and then seed. Others seed dry and then water up.

In the case of farmers who have sufficient moisture for germination, many seed comparatively dry and then water after the wheat is up to a good start. Any will work if conditions fit the practice.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Four years of cooperative USDA research shows that sodium salt of dalapon can effectively control Johnson grass and at relatively low cost.

When used at proper rates and at the right times, it has been found more effective than any other herbicide tested. In field tests on cropland, indications are that sodium dalapon can largely replace costly cultural practices which frequently require that the infested land be taken out of crop production.

Results of field studies have resulted from the use of sodium dalapon to control Johnson grass on fallowed land. Applied to this weed as a foliage spray at the rate of 5 pounds per acre, followed by another application at the same rate 7 to 10 days later, the chemical gave 95 to 99 percent control.

Weedy sorghum grown under irrigation should be treated with 1/2 pound of 2,4-D per acre when it is from 8 to 12 inches tall for maximum control of weeds and minimum injury to the crop.

At this stage the sorghum is somewhat tolerant of 2,4-D, and the weeds will be eliminated before they compete with the crop and become large and difficult to control.

Three years of research on irrigated sorghum in the Panhandle of Texas has shown that the crop is most susceptible to 2,4-D injury at the flowering stage of growth. At this period as little as 1/4 pound of 2,4-D per acre can reduce seed yields by inhibiting seed set.

During the remainder of the growth season, 1/2 pound per acre of either the ester or amine formulation of 2,4-D did not reduce seed yields. Higher rates of 2,4-D reduced yield particularly when applied immediately after irrigation.

These results indicate that the crop is more easily injured when moisture is readily available. — USDA Field Station, Bushland, Texas

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

It appears that a petition will be prepared and circulated in some areas of Parmer County requesting an election to create a Weed Control District. If such a district is created, it will mean that Johnson grass on road rights-of-way within the district will be kept under control. A maximum of three cents per acre on land lying within the district can be levied to finance the weed control program. Control of weeds declared noxious by the Board of Directors would be mandatory, both on private and public land within the district.

There are certain regulations governing the creation of a weed control district and its operation. The act authorizing creation of such districts was promoted by Farm Bureau and passed by the Texas Legislature three years ago. Several farmers have expressed a desire to ask for creation of a district recently. The Farm Bureau Weed Committee, a voluntary organization in its fourth year of operation, met Monday night, and was asked to assist in preparing petitions for circulation.

Senate Bill 4071 passed the Senate the other day. Several Farm Bureau leaders here, and all over Texas and the nation, wired urging passage of the bill. It is what many farmers believe to be a step forward in returning freedom of operation to agricultural people, with an opportunity to improve their lot through efficiency of operation and less government intervention in marketing their products. House action is still pending at this time.

Fourteen state Farm Bureaus have topped their '57 membership already this year. Texas is not on the list yet, but will be before October, we are sure.

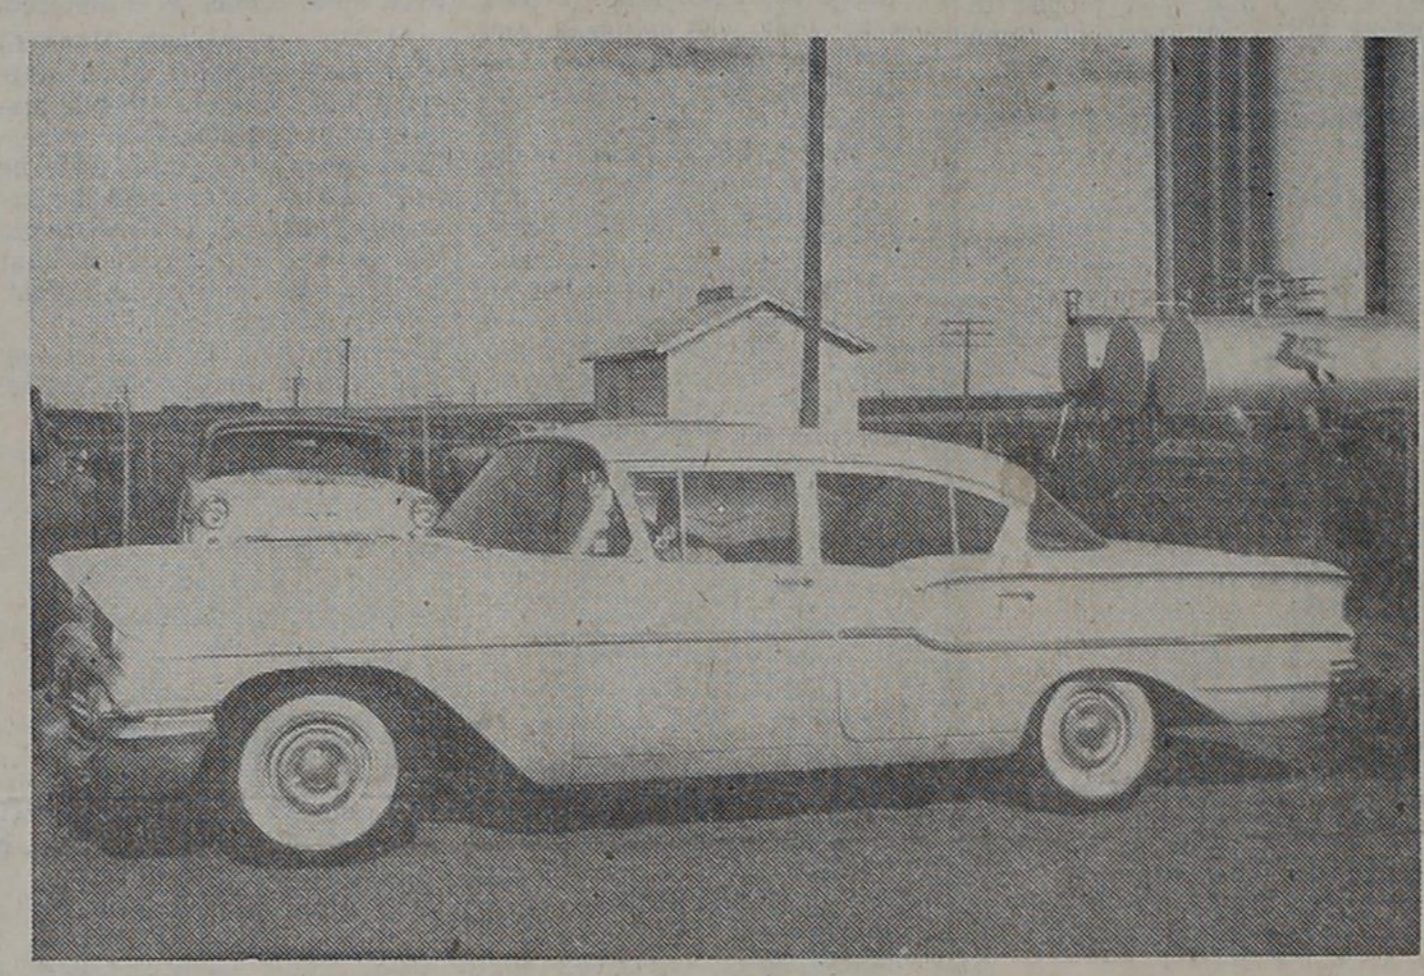

We are encouraged to see strong support for H. R. 10, a Federal Bill being proposed to allow self-employed persons to invest as much as $2,500 per year in restricted type retirement funds, or policies, with deductions for income tax purposes being allowed.

The Queen Contest to be in the Friona Auditorium August 22 will be a highlight of the year again. If you know a good prospective queen, introduce her to the chairman in your community, or bring her name and other information in to the office.

CONGRESS EYES THE FARM

Not since World War II has there been such an agitation for corrective legislation from various groups to change the features of the nation's so-called "farm program."

It happens that nearly all commodities produced in any volume by the farmers of the High Plains are drawing the interest of the country's legislators. Some of the commodities will almost undoubtedly be produced under greatly altered programs within just one or two years.

For High Plains farmers, the two most notable of these prospective changes are now revolving around bills that would shape radically different programs for feed grains and cotton.

Here are the latest developments of each.

One thing about the speed of light—it gets here too early in the morning.

Nelson Not Sure Of New Feed Bill

The 62-11 passage of the agriculture bill in the senate on Friday is being met with mixed reaction by farmers and farm leaders. Most are generally encouraged that even this late in the sessions the lawmakers recognize that some corrective farm legislation is a must if producers are to make long time farm planning decisions or even look to next year's operations.

Bill Nelson, executive vice-president of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association in Amarillo said, "We are disappointed that the legislation for corn and feed grains, including grain sorghums, does not offer any corrective cures but instead merely reduces what meager income protection the grain sorghum producers already have."

Nelson was apprehensive at the proposal of the bill to abolish corn acreage control and open the way for even greater production at a time when total feed grain supplies are at record levels. He pointed out that in comparing 1952 with 1957, prices of feed grains declined 29 percent and production increased 19 percent. To lower further the prices and permit unlimited production, as the bill proposes, threatens to accentuate the trend toward cheap feed—and therefore cheap livestock, he maintains.

The part of the Senate Agriculture Bill dealing with grain sorghums calls for:

- (1) Discontinuance of corn acreage allotments
- (2) Price support for corn at 90 percent of the 3-year average farm price
- (3) Price support for grain sorghums, oats, barley and rye in relationship to corn as the Secretary of Agriculture determines is "fair and reasonable" but not less than 60 percent of parity.

Council, Institute Back Cotton Bill

Cotton industry representatives throughout the nation have been in Washington recently and the struggle for corrective farm legislation may have taken a new turn with the support thrown behind a bill of the senate agricultural committee.

Plains Cotton Growers of Lubbock has had several representatives in Washington during the past month. Latest development in this fight is the support of the National Cotton Council and the American Cotton Manufacturers Institute. Council President Harry S. Baker has said that the Senate Bill (S. 4071) represents cotton's best hope for legislation that will take effect in 1959.

One of the urgent reasons for such action is the virtual certainty that Agriculture Secretary Benson has said that under present law, he will be forced to slash cotton acreage allotments approximately 25 percent for 1959.

Senate consideration is now in progress. While cotton authorities across the nation have agreed that the bill is not perfect, some emphasized that it will move the industry toward expanded production and consumption of U. S. cotton. Its backers say the bill provides for reasonable farm income, enough acreage to produce adequate supplies of all qualities of cotton, and for moving as rapidly as possible toward a competitive price and a one-price system.

The bill provides that during 1959 and 1960, which are transition years toward a long-range program, the individual farmer would be able to choose between two combinations of price support and acreage allotment. Under choice "A" he could take the price support level and acreage allotment as it is computed under existing formulas. Choice "B" would give him 40 percent more acreage than choice "A", coupled with a price support lowered by 15 percentage points of parity.

Should it become law, the senate bill would establish 16 million acres as the minimum national acreage allotment, compared with the prospect of only 14.5 million acres if the present law remains unchanged. Although 16 million acres would be the minimum, the total cotton acreage planted could be increased substantially if a large number of farmers took advantage of their option under choice "B."

Beginning with the 1961 crop, price support for all farmers would be 90 percent of the average market price for the preceding three years, but not less than 30 cents per pound for middling 1 inch cotton. Minimum government sales price in 1961 and after would be 115 percent of the current support level.

On July 30, 1942, President Roosevelt signed into law a bill authorizing enlistment and commissioning of women into the Navy and Navy Reserve.

Recap Tire Sales Double This Year

The sale of recapped tires have doubled during 1958, according to Henry Hathorne and Blackie Richardson, tire servicemen of H&R Tire Service, Clovis, N. M.

They cite as reasons for the increase a change in buyer's habits because of economy, and a recognition that recapped tires are safe to have on a car for any kind of driving.

A recapped tire costs about half as much as a new tire, and drivers that really want to save should consider this advantage.

"50% OF A SPORTSMAN'S WORRIES ARE OVER IF HE HAS A FREEZER TO PRESERVE HIS CATCHES!"

SAYS Mr. Lee Pool, 924 WEST FIRST STREET, MULESHOE, TEXAS

What better "insurance" for a good catch than a home freezer, as Mr. Pool, a partner in an insurance firm, testifies. Says sportsman Pool, "When I get home with fish or game, regardless of the hour, I can immediately put the catch in my freezer and preserve its fine quality. One of my great joys in hunting and fishing is sharing of the fish I catch and the game I shoot, all year, with friends, relatives and neighbors." Whether or not you're a sportsman, you'll like the fine way an electric food freezer preserves the flavor and freshness of foods. Ask anyone who owns an electric home freezer.

City Park Gets Facelifting From HD Club

Farwell city park got a new outlook on life this week. Members of the Oklahoma Lane Home Demonstration Club, who chose park improvement as their goal for the year, met in the park Tuesday for a work day.

After the county maintainer had scraped off a part of the ground, the women used smaller tractors to finish the job. Two loads of gravel were spread in the area about the picnic tables and the swing stand. Other improvements included installing a grate in the fire place, trimming trees so that lights will shine on tables, replacing old bulbs, and providing trash barrels.

"We want people to know that the park is now usable and hope they will take advantage of it," says Mrs. W. T. Magness, project chairman. Club members were assisted by several local businessmen and their husbands. Kemp Lumber furnished the sand and cement to install the fireplace grate, and paint for the barrels and swings. Ed Blain made the swings from chains furnished by the Lone Star Elevator, and Ralph Humble and Harold Travis loaned tractors. Local distributors for Phillips, Texaco, and Conoco products contributed barrels. Neal Bradshaw hauled the gravel purchased with club funds. Others who helped were Vernon Symcox, Bill Dollar, W. T. Magness, and Wind-bourn Hardage.

Long range plans for the improvement project include landscaping the remainder of the park.

Price Quesenberry Buried Sunday

Price Quesenberry, a resident of Texico for the past 12 years, was buried Sunday afternoon in the Muleshoe Cemetery following services in the Muleshoe Primitive Baptist Church. Singleton Funeral home handled arrangements.

The 75-year-old man died Friday night in Glen Rose.

Survivors include one sister, Miss Erma Quesenberry of Clovis, and two brothers, Lawrence and Lloyd Quesenberry, both of Bailey County, Texas.

Brewer Leads

ported Ralph Yarborough a 1090 to 714 edge over William Blakley in the race for U. S. Senator.

Yarborough was, of course, the state winner. County voters joined the rest of the state in favoring Ben Ramsey for lieutenant governor, John White for commissioner of agriculture, and Joe Greenhill for Place 4 on the state supreme court.

Andy Rogers of Childress, whose campaign carried "still a country boy" another term over two opponents without a run-off. The "country boy" received 948 Farmer votes, Leroy Saul 468, and Karl L. Lovelady 308.

Lazbuddie commissioner race saw G. W. Crain romp to a 216-38 win over T. W. Bewley. They were seeking the post left vacant by Henry Ivy, who did not seek reelection.

W. J. Parker whipped J. D. Stevens in the race for the to-be-created Justice of Peace office in Bovina. Parker had 227 votes to Stevens' 188.

In Friona's JP race, Thelma Jones swept to a no-run-off victory over E. B. Brannon and incumbent Walter Lovess.

All the boxes except Farwell gave Yarborough a lead in the senator's race. Bovina was strongest for Yarborough. There, he picked up 282 votes as compared with 74 for Blakley.

Farwell, Bovina and Lazbuddie favored Judge Smith in the judge's race while the other five boxes went for Brewer.

Unofficial primary returns by precincts are listed below.

HJR #31—Number Four on the Ballot.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 4, 1958.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 31 proposing an Amendment to the Constitution of Texas to provide that all county officials for whom four-year terms of office were authorized in 1954 must resign such office prior to announcing for a different office when more than one (1) year remains unexpired of the term for which they were elected, and providing for the filling of such vacancies in the manner now provided by law.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. Section 65 of Article 16 of the Constitution of the State of Texas is hereby amended so as hereafter to read as follows:

"Section 65. STAGGERING TERMS OF OFFICE.—The following officers elected at the General Election in November, 1954, and thereafter, shall serve for the full terms provided in this Constitution: (a) District Clerks; (b) County Clerks; (c) County Judges; (d) Judges of County Courts at Law, County Criminal Courts, County Probate Courts and County Domestic Relations Courts; (e) County Treasurers; (f) Criminal District Attorneys; (g) County Surveyors; (h) Inspectors of Hides and Animals; (i) County Commissioners for Precincts Two and Four; (j) Justices of the Peace.

"Notwithstanding other provisions of this Constitution, the following officers elected at the General Election in November, 1954, shall serve only for terms of two (2) years: (a) Sheriffs; (b) Assessors and Collectors of Taxes; (c) District Attorneys; (d) County Attorneys; (e) Public Weighers; (f) County Commissioners or Precincts One and Three; (g) Constables. At subsequent elections, such officers shall be elected for the full terms provided in this Constitution.

"In any district, county or precinct where any of the aforementioned offices is of such nature that two (2) or more persons hold such office, with the result that candidates file for 'Place No. 1,' 'Place No. 2,' etc., the officers elected at the General Election in November, 1954, shall serve for a term of two (2) years if the designation of their office is an uneven number, and for a term of four (4) years if the designation of their office is an even number. Thereafter, all such officers shall be elected for the terms provided in this Constitution.

"Provided, however, if any of the officers named herein shall announce their candidacy, or shall in fact become a candidate, in any General, Special or fit or trust under the laws of this State or the United States other than the office then held, at any time when the unexpired term of the office then held shall exceed one (1) year, such announcement or such candidacy shall constitute an automatic resignation of the office then held, and the vacancy thereby created shall be filled pursuant to law in the same manner as other vacancies for such offices are filled."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1958, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon:

"FOR the Constitutional Amendment providing that any District, County, or Precinct official serving a four-year term must resign before announcing for a different office if there remains unexpired more than one (1) year of the term for which he was elected."

"AGAINST the Constitutional Amendment providing that any District, County, or Precinct official serving a four-year term must resign before announcing for a different office if there remains unexpired more than one (1) year of the term for which he was elected."

If it appears from the returns of said election that a majority of the votes have been cast in favor of said Amendment, same shall become a part of the Constitution of the State of Texas.

Sec. 3. The Governor of Texas shall issue the necessary proclamation for the election herein provided for and shall cause this proposed Amendment to be published in the manner required by law and shall cause said election to be held as required by the Constitution and laws of this State.

★ Early Morning False Alarm Arouses Firemen

False alarm! That's what Texico-Farwell volunteer firemen answered Wednesday morning about 5.

Reportedly, an unidentified caller telephoned Texico fire station and announced a fire at "Bagley's Station on Avenue A." Texico's siren pulled some 18 firemen from their beds at that early hour.

A trip to the Farwell service station by a Texico truck proved useless as everything was in order there. The truck then made a hurried U-turn and sped to Bagley's station on Highway 60. Same result. No fire.

Muttering to themselves about "false alarms" and "anybody who would do such a thing," some sleepy firemen went to local cafes for coffee while others returned to their homes for a few more minutes of sack time.

★ Youth Program Complete

This week brings to a close Texico-Farwell's summer youth program. Baseball season was wound up Monday afternoon and the last trips to Muleshoe for swimming and to Clovis for matinee movies have been made this week. J. D. Atwell and Ken Hanks, co-directors of the program, announce.

Attendance at the program hasn't been as good as it has in years past. However, the directors definitely feel it has been a success. In spite of the fact attendance was off this year, it was still "good," Atwell says.

An average of from 30 to 40 regularly attended the movie. Average number attending each swimming session was about 60, Atwell says.

Funds for the two-month-long program were made available by Texico-Farwell Lions Club.

★ S-A-P Building More Storage

More community growth is visible here this week. Shirley Anderson-Pitman, Inc. is making a 700,000 bushel grain storage addition to its elevator on Highway 70-84 in Farwell. Construction on 10 concrete tanks began Saturday.

Being built by Chalmers and Barton of Hutchinson, Kan., the addition will be located west of the present elevator structure, which has a storage capacity of 1,250,000 bushels. When present work is complete, the elevator will have storage facilities for almost 2,000,000 bushels.

This is the second addition to the elevator which began business in 1954. The first addition was made a year later, in '55.

★ Money Appropriated For Right-Of-Way

Money for the purchase of right-of-way on Highway 70-84 in Parmer County has recently been appropriated. State Highway Commission has approved an appropriation of $63,000 for this purpose according to an announcement by O. L. Crain, District Five engineer.

Ten miles of right-of-way will be purchased — from Bailey County line to Farwell — under 1959 and 1960 Consolidated Highway Program, the announcement reads.

Several weeks ago, highway officials advised Parmer County Commissioners Court to consider securing right-of-way for the proposed four-laning of Highway 70-84.

★ A. L. King To Note 80th Birthday Soon

A. L. King, a former Farwell resident who now lives in Lubbock, will observe his 80th birthday August 11. Since he is an invalid, cards will be sincerely appreciated. His daughter has written friends here, asking that all his old friends be requested to remember him with a card. His address is 2119 W. Seventh St., Lubbock.

Approximately 330 persons attended a community-wide chicken fry hosted Tuesday night by the Oklahoma Lane Farm Supply. Scene of the affair was the large new barn on the Delbert Garner farm. Chicken, potato salad, ranch style beans, and cantaloupe were served before a musical program.

Host couples included Messrs. and Mmes. Clarence Christian, Wendol Christian, Troy Christian, Harold Carpenter and Jimmy McGuire.

★ Making of Wills HD Program Topic

Pat Bobo, an attorney from Muleshoe, presented a program on the making of wills and discussed the various types at a meeting of the Oklahoma Lane Home Demonstration Club last Thursday night in the home of Mrs. Walter Kaltwasser.

Husbands of members were guests and refreshments of ice cream, cookies, and lemonade were served to Bobo, and Messrs. and Mmes. Windbourn Hardage, Gilbert Kaltwasser, John Range, W. T. Magness, Vernon Symcox, Joe White, Bill Dollar, Alvin Kriegel, Neal Bradshaw, and two visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kube.

Tuesday the women met for an all-day work session in the Farwell city park. Park improvement is their goal for the year.

★ Farmerettes Have Ice Cream Supper

Farmerettes entertained their husbands at an ice cream supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Garner last Friday night. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Neil Stewart and family and Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Foster of Abilene.

Glen Lesly and his son escaped injury when the pickup in which they were riding overturned near Oklahoma Lane Wednesday morning. It was demolished, reports say. The accident was blamed on the breaking of a tie rod.

FOR THOSE EXTRA BUSHELS OF Higher Quality Grain

Plant with a JOHN DEERE "DR" Double-Run Grain Drill

To realize the extra profit which comes from delivering more bushels of higher quality grain to the elevator, depend on a John Deere "DR" Grain Drill, the leader of the double-run drills.

All seed—small seed and large seed—is handled gently and accurately and planted properly, without waste, with a Model "DR." New on-the-row wheel tread keeps the wheel running on the end furrow of the previous trip—preserves protective ridges, and reduces the danger from erosion and water run-off.
