THE STATE LINE TRIBUNE

TEXICO New Mexico

FORTY-FIRST YEAR

FARWELL, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JUNE 5, 1952

NUMBER 34

FROM THE HOPPER

By HOP

A relative called over long distance telephone to inform another party that Mrs. So and So had died of a heart attack.

"Was this her first attack?" the party being called wanted to know. "I don't know about that, but it certainly was her last one," was the reply from the other end of the line.

Reports from up at Bovina indicate that they have W. E. (Weather Eye) Williams pretty much on the run for the rain forecasts he has been making since early this spring. There are reports that the false prophet may even be banished from the city. Weather Eye says that such reports did not worry him so much until somebody suggested that he be sent to Farwell!

"Such punishment is more than I deserve," Weather Eye moans.

Nell Walling was having her trees sprayed for lice and some local yokel wanted to know what louse was hiding in her shrubbery.

"What can we do about these insurance rates?" a citizen wanted to know the other day.

My only answer is that the members of the insurance commission be taken out of the appointment category and made elective offices. Make them directly responsible to the people for their acts, and you will see fair insurance rates.

All this hokum that was handed out about lower insurance rates when the liability responsibility act was being lobbied through the legislature of Texas has demonstrated how irresponsible a commission can become as long as they don't have to answer to the people. The insurance boys contended that lower rates for automobiles would become effective once they were given the responsibility law. Instead, the very opposite is true, the rates were hiked almost immediately after the law became effective.

Yep, the big insurance boys, who control the members of the commission, have us by the ying yang and there is little we can do about it until we make those birds who set our rates directly responsible to the people.

We have added quite a number of new subscribers, which came in response to the sample copies mailed out last week. Frankly, we must admit that the response has not been as heavy as we had anticipated, but new subs are being received every day and we are hoping that they will continue to come in.

I want to take this occasion to warn our subscribers to get braced for a rather slim paper next week. The Tribune staff will be short two of its most dependable members when Sonny and Jeanne take off for the week on their honeymoon.

With two of our members off duty, three of them rather inexperienced and me not worth much any more, the paper is due to be below its usual standard for the next issue.

When the honeymooners get back on the job, we hope to be better. But one never knows about the after-effects of such jaunts—we may not be able to get out any paper at all after they get back.

Cpl. Hollis Hughes Wounded In Action

Cpl. Hollis Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hughes of this city, has been wounded in action in Korea, according to a letter received by his parents the latter part of the week.

In his letter to his family, Cpl. Hughes says that he is at present receiving treatment in the Jackson Air Base hospital in Japan, where he was flown for treatment. His injuries do not seem to be of a serious nature, being confined to one of his feet. He says that his ankle was not hit, but gives no other details except that he lost considerable blood before arriving at the hospital. "The Gooks dropped me," he relates evidently referring to when he was being born on a stretcher.

Cpl. Hughes has been in the Army since November of 1950, and has been in active service in Korea since last September. He was just about due to leave Korea on rotation when he was injured, family members said.

BUILDING NEW HOME

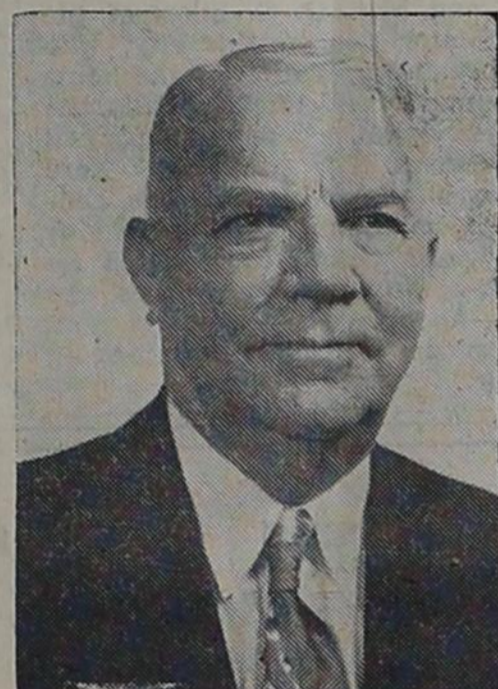

Elbert Landrum began construction work early this week on a new home on south Second Street in Farwell. He said the home would be frame and stucco construction, and would have two bedrooms, in addition to the other usual facilities. Landrum recently sold his home in northeast Farwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Cole from Salt Lake City, were visitors in the B. N. Graham home Thursday.

Rev. James E. Tidwell was transferred from the Friona church to Paduca.

Extend Sewer Line In South Farwell

The Farwell City Commission has let a contract to George McBride of Clovis, for an extension of one sewer main in south Farwell to furnish service to new residence property.

The extension will be 470 feet long and will serve blocks 41 and 48. It will begin in the alley at the rear of the O. B. Pipkin property and run south, offering service to property on the two blocks.

Border Theatre To Offer Free Show

Celebrating their fifth year in Texico-Farwell, Mr. and Mrs. Ira S. Levins of the Border Theatre are offering a free show to the public on Saturday, and invite all their friends to come and enjoy the show.

Featuring Abbott & Costello in "Hit the Ice," the free show will open at 10 a.m. and run until 2 p.m. In addition to the feature film, three cartoons will be included in the free show.

"The people of Texico-Farwell and surrounding communities have been very generous to us during the past five years and we want them to be our guests on this date," Levins said in announcing the free show.

Modernize and Enlarge Local Water Offices

The office quarters of the Texico-Farwell Waterworks, operated by B. N. Graham, are being enlarged this week with a ten-foot addition to the rear of the building.

In addition to enlarging the building, a complete rearrangement of fixtures and lighting facilities is being worked out, in addition to a washroom and toilet facilities at the rear.

The building will also continue to house the insurance business of Graham.

PROGRESS NOTED

Workmen at the new cotton gin in Bovina report that the foundation will be run for the main building right away. The gin is all new and will be run by electrical power. New residence on the same property is under construction also.

John S. Williams Is New City Mayor

John S. Williams has been appointed to succeed C. M. Henderson, retired, as mayor of the City of Farwell, and he was sworn into office last Saturday.

Henderson, who had served the city as mayor since the city was incorporated some 20 months ago, tendered his resignation several weeks ago, but it was not accepted until two weeks ago, upon Henderson's insistence.

Williams, formerly of the West Camp community, where he still maintains large farming interests, has been a resident of Farwell since the completion of his new home in the south part of town some months ago. Members of the Commission began "working on" Williams some time ago when it became apparent that a new head of the city government would have to be selected, but it was not until last week that he agreed to serve.

With Williams now in mayor's post, the City Commission is now composed of M. A. Snider and R. W. Anderson, commissioners and Williams, mayor.

HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Watson had a narrow escape from being hit by a freight train at an early hour last Saturday morning. They were returning home from Clovis, where he had gone to replenish his meat supply at the local Piggly Wiggly store when they stopped at the railroad crossing on the state line by a train that was standing still.

As the first train pulled away, the Watsons feeling that the path was open, proceeded eastward only to see a second freight train bearing down on them from the north.

Describing how near the train came to hitting their car, Watson said, "If there had been a grasshopper on my rear bumper, he would have been crushed." Watson is meat cutter at the Piggly Wiggly store.

Black-Topping Of Farm Roads Is Begun

Construction work on the two farm-to-market roads that will enter Bovina moved into the final stages the latter part of last week when crews began applying the asphalt coating to the base materials, which had just been finished.

Contractors Bell, Braden, Barker and Gilvan of Amarillo, began work on the two projects the latter part of March and have made rapid progress. One of the roads—FM 1731—begins at the Oklahoma Lane community and runs north, tapping Highway 86 on the outskirts of Bovina. The other road—FM 1786—takes off from Highway 60 on the northeast corner of Bovina, and runs 3 1/2 miles north to "cross roads."

Present plans call for an all-weather road running west out of Friona to tap the present dead end at "Cross roads."

Bovina Planning Big Fireworks Display

Sponsored by the Bovina Chamber of Commerce, a huge fireworks display is being planned for the night of July 4th, it was revealed here the first of the week.

Already more than $250 has been collected for the purchase of the fireworks display, which will be held at the city park across the street from the school property. Frank Truitt, member of the CC and one of the originators of the idea, said the first of the week that the display was calculated to last at least two hours, featuring some of the most brilliant displays ever shown in this section.

"We are shooting the works," Truitt said "and we want all the people of this section to be our guests on this occasion."

Two Meetings Planned For District Water

Two meetings, scheduled by the Hi-Plains Underground Water Association are planned in Parmer to-night (Thursday) and tomorrow night, to acquaint the people with the water problem.

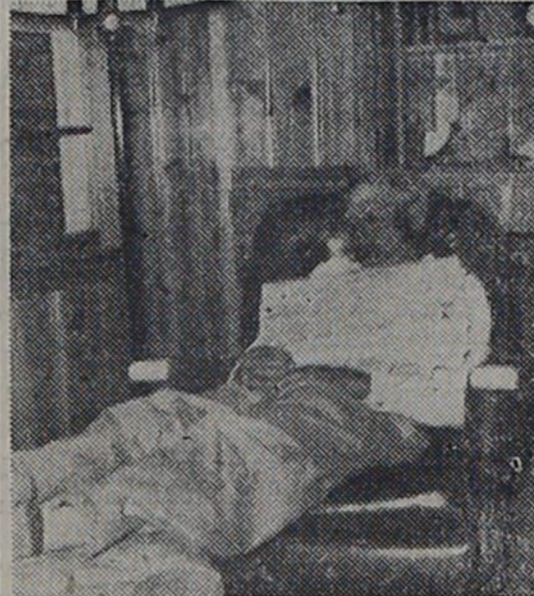

The meeting tonight is planned in Friona, and the one on Friday is in Farwell, both sessions to begin at 8 o'clock. A round table discussion is planned to bring out important points on the Texas Ground Water Law. A movie dealing with the problem will also be shown.

LIONS SEE FILM

The Farwell Lions Club met Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. A General Electric Company film on water conservation was shown. There was no particular business, and 15 were present for the meeting.

Showers Vary Over County

Heavy Official Duties Tell On New Mayor

Farwell's new mayor, John S. Williams, shows the strain of his heavy official duties shortly after taking office.

SUSTAINS BROKEN ARM

Bob Scott Martin, son of Mrs. R. W. Anderson, received a broken arm last week while visiting relatives at Caney, Okla.

Young Martin, in company with his mother, Mrs. Ira Levins and Miss Susan Levins were visiting relatives, when the young man fell from a tree, sustaining the injury.

An x-ray examination the first of the week revealed that the break was not properly set and the lad was taken to Clovis on Tuesday for a re-setting on the two bones on his left forearm.

Ordinances Planned By City Commission

R. W. Anderson, member of the Farwell City Commission, revealed today that at least four city ordinances that had been under consideration for the past several weeks, were soon to be enacted into law for the city.

The four ordinances now under consideration deal with sewer connections, a fire zone in the business district, keeping of livestock in the corporate limits, and the regulation of slaughter houses in the city.

Anderson said that the ordinances were now being drawn up and would be submitted to the Commission at an early date. They will become effective after publication, he added.

Under the ordinances (1) all persons living inside the corporate limits of the city will be required to connect to the sewer lines, where that service is available to their property; (2) certain restrictions will govern the erection of any buildings inside the fire zone; (3) keeping of livestock inside the city limits will be regulated; (4) operation of slaughter houses will be regulated.

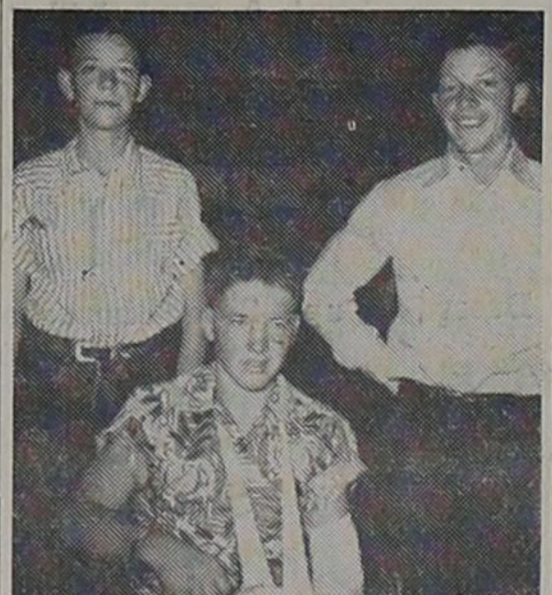

All ordinances are to be enacted with the view of creating better health and safety conditions in the city, it was pointed out.

Three 4-H Boys Return From Camp

Three 4-H Club boys and the County Agent, Joe Jones, came home from the encampment held at Canyon, Thursday morning. The theme of the camp was "Safety." This camp was held for the training of 4-H Club boys and girls in safety, mostly pertaining to the farm.

The program was full of recreation each night, folk games and talent shows were part of the entertainment.

They elected a delegate to attend state 4-H Club meeting. A boy from Dalhart will be the representative from District I. During his encampment, the boys and girls were divided into group. Each group was responsible for some part of the program during the camp. Each day they had a flag raising and lowering ceremony. The boys that attended this camp from Parmer County were: Billy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Johnson of Bovina; Jerry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Gleason of Lazbuddy; and Leon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Langford of Farwell. Jerry was master of ceremonies in directing a program.

Revived Interest In Chamber Commerce

A revival of interest in the Farwell Chamber of Commerce was manifested Monday night when sixteen local businessmen met and discussed the future of the organization.

The body has been rather inactive since early in the year, due to more than one cause. The primary reason for the inactivity has been due to the continued illness of O. C. Sikes, who was elected president early this year. Plans for the annual banquet were discussed and other civic matters were gone into at the meeting Monday night.

Varying from only a light shower to heavy downpours in some sections, rain clouds moved across Parmer County late Sunday afternoon to bring the first appreciable moisture in more than a month.

Light showers also fell over a good portion of Curry County, with the heaviest precipitation being recorded southwest of Texico, where E. G. Blair reported .30 of an inch. Reports from farmers living in the Pleasant Hill community said that the rainfall there registered a quarter of an inch.

Sunday's rain amounted to only .15 of an inch in Farwell, supplementing the quarter of an inch that fell Saturday.

Sunday's heavy downpour fell in the center of the county, particularly in the Parmerton, Hub and Black communities, where readings of better than an inch were recorded.

A. L. Glasscock who farms at Hub, said that better than an inch fell there. Wilbur Charles reports an inch at Parmerton. Heavy rains were recorded from the Seamonds ranch east of Friona to Black.

The rain tapered off in the southwest part of the county, with a quarter of an inch set as about the general average. Bovina caught better than a half inch, but it was also lighter to the north and west of that city.

Young crops that were barely above the surface were damaged where the heavy deluges hit, and considerable replanting will be necessary. In other localities, where the rainfall was light, no damage was done to the tender plants.

At the height of the rainstorm Sunday afternoon, traffic moved cautiously between Bovina and Black, with a number of motorists pulling off the pavement and waiting out the storm as a precautionary move. One motorcyclist was seen taking refuge in an abandoned house, leaving his machine near the highway. No accidents were reported.

Three More Stations For Car Inspections

Three additional auto inspection stations have been added to those who are authorized to inspect cars and trucks under the new Texas mobile inspection law, says L. W. Wilhite of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Division, who was a business visitor here Tuesday.

Wilhite said that the Friona Motor Co., of Friona, had been authorized for inspections, and that the Sikes Motor Co., Farwell; and Ward's Garage & Welding Shop, Bovina, have made applications and he felt certain these would be duly authorized "within the next ten days."

With these three additional inspection stations in operation in Parmer County, the total number will be boosted to six over the county. Previously authorized are: Hardage Hudson Co., Farwell; Parmer County Implement Co., Friona; and the Reeve Chevrolet Co., Friona.

After a check-up over the county, Wilhite said the inspections had been "picking up considerably" with a satisfactory number of cars now bearing the authorized inspection certificates. He said that under the new law, operators of cars and trucks would be subject to a fine of $10 to $200 if their machines did not carry inspection certificates after Sept. 6.

Jane Claire Overstreet To Make European Tour

Participation in the gay Texas Week On The French Riviera festivities during the eight days of July 12-20 will highlight a nine-week tour of Europe by Miss Jane Overstreet and eight other Hockaday School students this summer.

Miss Overstreet is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hamlin Y. Overstreet of Farwell, Texas, week on the Riviera has been formally proclaimed by both the French Government and Gov. Allan Shivers.

In his proclamation Governor Shivers urged all Texans touring Europe this summer to visit the Riviera during Texas Week as a gesture of international friendship, and Miss Overstreet and her Dallas school chums are doing just that. Balls, folklore festivals, garden parties and other special events calculated to honor Texas and entertain Texans have been planned for every day and night of Texas week.

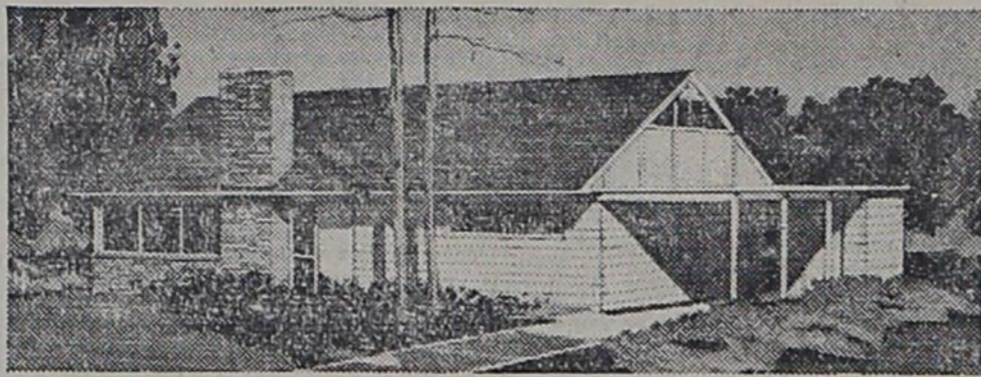

Miss Overstreet and her friends leave New York City on the Queen Elizabeth on June 18 and return August 26.

During their nine weeks, the group will visit nine countries: France, Spain, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Luxembourg, Holland, Scotland and England. Mrs. Robbye Oram of Dallas will escort the party.

The group lands at Cherbourg, France, on June 23 and moves directly to Paris. After a week in France, the girls visit Spain from June 30

Unusual Plan Makes Small House Different

Several design innovations, of a kind usually found only in expensive houses, make this plan appeal to the prospective homeowner who wants something different from the ordinary box-like small dwelling. It is Plan No. 204 of Architect Walter T. Anicka, 617 Forest, Ann Arbor, Mich.

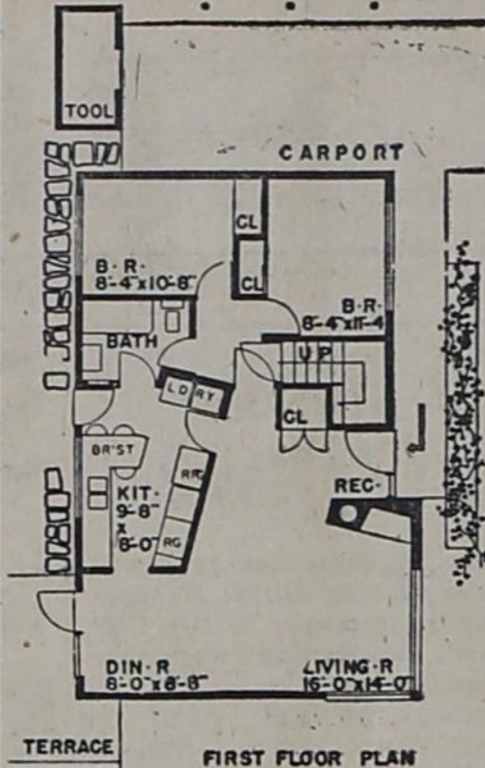

An oddly angled hallway wall opens up the combined living room-dining area, creating a spaciousness rare in a house of this size.

Because it is bound to attract attention, this unconventional wall would be an ideal place to use hardwood veneer wall paneling that displays attractive natural wood grain figuring. As an accent note to room decoration, this would supply a warm, luxurious look to the living area. Hardwood veneer sliding doors for the bedroom closets would create the same effect in those rooms.

The exterior is "modern" but not bizarrely "modernistic." For an economical roof, the architect specifies fire-resistant asphalt shingles and recommends that the owner make his personal choice of a solid or blended roof color as the key to exterior color styling. Any of a variety of siding materials then could be selected to harmonize with the roof.

Wide cornice overhangs give a pleasant low appearance. Width of the house is 38 feet. First floor area is 850 square feet, a figure useful in estimating construction cost.

(Detailed building plans are available from Walter T. Anicka, 617 Forest, Ann Arbor, Mich. Refer to Plan No. 204.)

through July 8.

In Spain they will visit five cities and make a motor tour of Southern Spain. Cities to be visited by the Hockaday party are Madrid, Seville, Granada, Cordoba and Barcelona. After Barcelona, they double back into the South of France for the Texas week carnivals. After participating in Texas Week celebration, the Hockaday party moves on to Italy for two weeks. Their next stop is Switzerland, where they will tour for four days. From the scenic grandeur of Switzerland, they will go on to Germany, Luxembourg and Holland for a week's tour.

They wind up their European travels with a twelve-day visit of England and Scotland. And on August 19 they embark at Southampton for their trip home aboard the Caronia.

Timely Talks

FROM THE TRIBUNE

This Week:

How To Best Use Your Advertising

Unfortunately, some people turn to advertising without the faintest notion of its function, or without any idea of the rules and limitations that must be placed upon its use. Some of the users of The Tribune's advertising space have been agreeably surprised by the response from ads which they ran in a rather haphazard fashion. On the other hand, some careless users have been disappointed with results and decide without much thought that advertising in The Tribune is not a paying proposition. Our congratulations go to the first group and our sympathy is extended to the second.

Misused advertising is very unfortunate, but it is very often exceedingly difficult to determine just how much return an ad may be getting. Many types of advertising do not produce immediate results. Many types that are designed for quick-fire response bring forth a following that is more delayed than had been anticipated.

Example: It is not an unusual situation for a reader to notice a particular item in a store advertisement at an attractive price. He makes a mental note: "I'll have to remember to buy one of those next time I'm in town." Two weeks, perhaps more, may lapse before he makes his purchase. Human nature must be reckoned with in all advertising. On the other hand, a small advertisement containing an interesting item at an attractive price precipitates a "run." All these things combine to make advertising a rather interesting game at times.

But nobody wants to invest much money in games. What the average businessman is after is a steady, productive advertising schedule at the least cost to him, coupled with a high rate of return. Fortunately, advertising in The Tribune is capable of delivering this, provided the schedule is run on a careful, common-sense basis.

There are many, many rules and exceptions concerning the use of advertising, and it will be discovered by the advertiser that all of them must be interpreted to fit into his own particular situation. One of the most important ends of advertising is to sell. And every businessman knows that before a customer is in a notion to buy he must first convince himself or be convinced by some outside means, that he needs the particular goods or service offered, and that he should buy it immediately since it is available at a satisfactory price. The last fact is as solid as concrete in everyday business, and cannot, must not, be overlooked.

"How To Best Use Your Advertising" will be continued next week.

Camp Beats Rainfall Guessing Competition

Joe Camp, secretary of the Farmer County PMA office here, proved to have a sharper eye for the weather than anyone else entering the Tribune rainfall-guessing contest for May. Total rainfall for May was a scant .32 inches. Camp's guess was somewhat higher at .59 inch, but his estimation was far below all other competition. By winning the contest, the secretary will receive The State Line Tribune one year free of charge.

Most amateur prophets placed their forecasts somewhere around the two to three-inch category, but a few were exceedingly optimistic. They had the misfortune of having to guess on one of the driest months of May in recent years.

T. P. Kittrell of Muleshoe sent in a 5.75 guess which seemed like a lot of water up here in Farwell, but Mrs. H. H. Potter, also of Muleshoe, exceeded his faith in West Texas when she guessed 7.6 inches. Mrs. L. W. Graham of Oklahoma City, Okla., holds the record for the contestant living farthest away.

A quarter-inch shower on Saturday, the last day of May, was all that kept the past month from being powder dry. Up until that time only approximately .09 inch had fallen in six scattered sprinkles. Sunday's shower of .15 came too late for the race.

Friona Boy Serves Aboard Destroyer

Serving in Korean waters aboard the destroyer USS Stickell is Richard N. Moore, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orby R. Moore of Route 1, Friona, Texas.

Moore was graduated from Dora High School, and enlisted in the Navy May, 1951. He received his recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, and has been on duty aboard the Stickell since.

The Stickell left San Diego, Calif., early this year and stopped at Hawaii and Japan before joining Task Force 77 off the East coast of Korea.

She acted as a screening vessel for the fast carrier force for several weeks, then took part in the blockade and bombardment of North Korea.

During this time the destroyer hit the main Red rail line day and night with her 5-inch guns, thus preventing southern movements of vital Communist supplies. She also engaged shore batteries at Wonson and Hungman harbors and silenced several enemy guns.

The Stickell was at sea for 45 consecutive days before returning to Japan for repairs. She has now rejoined UN Naval forces in the Korean conflict.

Sam Lewis Tries 32 Cases In May

In the May report of Justice of the Peace Sam Lewis of Texico, 32 misdemeanor cases and two felonies were filled in the justice of the peace court; and one drunken driving case was filled in police magistrate court.

Lewis reported seven cases of evasion of the Port of Entry, by entering the state on other than highways designated for interstate commerce. Four cases were tried for failing to stop at the Port of Entry; with 15 cases of overloading on New Mexico highways.

Also on the agenda were three cases for violation of statutes concerning trucks with overhangings in length; and three cases for operating without a permit.

Lewis added that there were two worthless check complaints pending return on warrants; but one check was paid and case dismissed. One case of drunken driving was filed in Texico, and a plea of guilty entered. The defendant was fined and driver's license was suspended for one year. Misdemeanor cases drew fines from $10 to $75, plus costs of court.

Baptist Revival Concludes Sunday

The revival, which is now in session at the local Baptist church, is scheduled to conclude Sunday, Rev. C. M. Fields, pastor of the church, says. The pastor states, "we have had a mighty fine revival," adding that 11 additions have been made to the church, with six baptisms and five acceptances by letter.

Rev. Alton Green, pastor of the Belen, N. M. Baptist church, is conducting the preaching and Bob Douglas of the local church, is in charge of the music. Two services are held daily.

In conjunction with the revival, vacation Bible school has been in session in the mornings. An average attendance of 145 for last week and 132 for this week have been gauged.

The attendance is higher than last year's average of 120. The pastor reports 11 conversions in Bible school.

In Sunday school the past Sunday, report was 271 with overflow crowd for preaching services; and 104 were in Training union.

Les Means and Ad Holmark were here Monday from Ruidoso, N. M.

New Teachers Have Not Been Employed

New teachers have not yet been obtained to fill the vacancies left in the Farwell school faculty for next year, Jack Williams, superintendent says.

Teachers who have resigned include: Mrs. Herschel Arnold, English; Ed Rierson, eighth grade; Mrs. Bill Cannon, home economics; and Kenneth Livingston, assistant coach. These instructors will need to be replaced, says the superintendent.

Also, from all indications, Farwell will be allowed one more teacher next year, possibly in the elementary grades. Average daily attendance the past year was high enough to allow the extra teacher.

Plant Grain Sorghum

HERE ARE THREE GOOD REASONS WHY RAISING GRAIN SORGHUMS THIS YEAR IS BOUND TO BE A PROFITABLE MOVE:

1. The 1952 loan rate on Grain Sorghums is approximately 23 cents cwt. over the 1951 rate.

NEW MEXICO RATES	TEXAS RATE
Curry County $2.30 per cwt.	Parmer County
Roosevelt County .. 2.28 per cwt.	Bailey County
Quay County 2.27 per cwt.	Deaf Smith County ... $2.33

	Cochran County

RATES AT TERMINAL MARKETS

GALVESTON and HOUSTON	$2.98 per cwt.
KANSAS CITY	2.84 per cwt.
MEMPHIS, TENN.	3.07 per cwt.

2. Grain Sorghums are needed for export.

Quotation from a market report from Blewitt-Little in Ft. Worth: "Urge farmers to plant milo. Export demand is assured at good prices for all produced."
3. Grain Sorghums are "naturals" for West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

They require far less moisture than other crops, and during extremely dry periods, the plants remain alive even though growth stops, and new growth appears when moisture is available. If a wheat crop is lost, grain sorghums can still be planted because they mature in from 90 to 125 days.

Ten homemaking students and twenty-two adults are enrolled in summer project work continuing until June 30.

The students are doing two or three individual projects each and one group project together. Each student coming up to a fixed standard of work will earn one-half credit.

A second adult class consisting of young brides and other interested adults are doing fifteen hours in Textile Painting with Miss Sybil Gilliland of Clovis teaching the class.

Any person interested in enrolling in either of the adult classes should contact Mrs. C. A. Young, the homemaking teacher, at once.

FHA Girls Visit Palo Duro Canyon Recently

Since the Bovina Chapter of FHA did not have an opportunity to attend a three-day camp with several other FHA Chapters organizations, as is customary, the Bovina girls substituted a one-day trip to the Palo Duro Canyon.

Some of the activities they enjoyed were sight seeing and hiking, wading, swimming, sliding, kodaking and eating their picnic lunches together.

One FHA committee that has worked planned for the summer to get it completed and ready for the opening of school is the year book committee, which will get the club books all ready for coming school year, with the exceptions of a few programs. A growing interest has been manifested in the club work as the year developed. Next year, perhaps some club degrees will be earned by the club members.

Easy to Make It

A few camellias, leaves, green limes, and a bunch of white grapes are all you need to duplicate this formal flower arrangement. A classic example of how to obtain maximum effect from a few flowers, it is one of nearly fifty different designs in Good Housekeeping's 34-page book of flower arrangements in the May issue. The foliage here includes glossy camellia leaves and the swordlike spears of pandanus. The limes and grapes are wired to sticks and secured in a holder. The color effect is striking white against several shades of green.

Why are women's purses
bigger than men's?

Remember all those cartoons you've seen of a wife going through her sleeping husband's trouser pockets? They may give you a clue why some women's purses are bigger.

But we're inclined to think that there are other and better reasons why more women than men own stock in so many of America's largest companies.

For one thing, women are practical, thrifty, and inclined to do something sensible about their future finances and those of the family. Forgive us, mister, but the facts speak for themselves:

Women have outnumbered men share owners of telephone stock since 1900. The big food companies have a predominance of women share owners. Ditto the country's largest auto maker. And, at last count, 116,800 women owned shares in General Electric as against 83,000 men. Big business, as it turns out, is a woman.

About 2,100 of these women—and men—turned out this spring to attend the G-E annual meeting and eat a box lunch in one of our largest factory buildings. If you'd like a report of what was said and done, just let us know. A card asking for "Report of the Sixtieth Annual Meeting," Dept. 6B, General Electric, Schenectady, N. Y., will do the trick.

Cut Cotton Production Costs With Rotary Hoe

COLLEGE STATION — Cotton chopping and hoeing can be done next to harvesting as top labor consuming operations in the production of cotton, County Agent Joe Jones says. In some sections of Texas, almost one-fourth of all the man hours required to produce a cotton crop are spent on chopping and hoeing. Fred C. Elliott, cotton specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says the use of rotary hoes will reduce the item and increase the income from cotton.

He says farmers last year reported savings up to 60 per cent on these two items by using the rotary hoe. The number of rotary hoe equipped farm tractors has increased from 7,000 in 1949 to almost 19,500 in 1951. Last year such equipment was used in 111 counties.

Elliott is a strong believer in using the rotary hoe for early weed control. He is quick to point out however that the ground speed of the tractor must be right and the hoe must be properly adjusted. A common mistake often made by the tractor operator is driving the tractor too slow. For best results, he says the tractor should be operated in third gear at speeds up to five or six miles per hour and even faster under favorable conditions and with an experienced operator.

As for the picker wheel adjustments, he says the wheels should be set so they will break the surface crust to a depth of one-half to three-fourths of an inch. This not only breaks up the surface crust but also tears up the soil so that seedling weeds and grass are exposed to the action of the sun and wind before they have a chance to come through the ground or before their root systems become established.

He reports that many farmers reduce the ground speed of the tractor because they are afraid of covering up the small cotton plants or damaging them as a result of the thoroughly torn up soil surface. Tests made by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the results of demonstrations conducted by farmers, he says, have proved that such damage will not occur if the rotary hoe is properly adjusted. The cotton seed was planted well below the regulated depth at which the picker wheels should be run and thus very little or no damage will occur.

Cross-cultivating or using a mechanical cotton chopper are two other mechanical practices which have been successfully used in some sections of the state for cutting the hoeing and chopping bill. About the latest thing for early grass and weed control in cotton is the use of special oils. These oils are more commonly known as post-emergence non-fertilized oil and di-nitro. Elliott reports that research is continuing on this project but insufficient information is available to indicate that the use of post-emergence oil and pre-emergence di-nitro sprays are practical weed and grass control measures in some sections of the state.

Elliott suggests that cotton producers contact the local county agent for the latest information on labor saving practices that may be used in producing cotton.

Cotton Purchase Agreements Are Available in 1952

Cotton farmers will have an additional means of price support on their 1952 crop, Joe Camp, chairman of the County Production and Marketing Administration Committee, reminded county growers today. This should make it easy for farmers to get at least the support price for their 1952 cotton crop, according to the chairman.

Camp explained that the new method of supporting prices is the so-called "purchase agreement," which has been used for several years to support prices of various other basic farm commodities.

Under a purchase agreement, the farmer files an application to cover a specified portion of his crop. A small fee is charged for this service. The producer himself has control of his crop throughout the season, and may sell it at any time in the open market. Or, if the market price is not as favorable as the support rate, the owner may hold his cotton and sell it to the Government.

Camp said that cotton loans will also be available this year as a means of price support for cotton growers. Cotton under loan may be stored on the farm but must be in a warehouse approved by CCC at the time of delivery.

The average support for the 1952 cotton crop will be either 30.91 cents a pound, basis Middling 7/8-inch cotton, or 90 per cent of parity, whichever is higher. The rate for Middling 15-16-inch cotton will be 1.35 cents per pound above the rate for Middling 7/8-inch.

Too Much Is Enough; Sighs Tribune Reporter

"Well, looks like we drag out Rex's picture again this week," said a staff member last week. The staff isn't complaining, but they merely notice the consistency that the picture has had, making the paper every week, and all because the person involved happens to gain more recognition.

It all began five weeks ago when Rex Pool, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lenton Pool, was entered in the State Inter-scholastic League meet in Austin, the only Farwell student to gain the honor. The next week, he was pictured with a Texas Tech dean at the Muleshoe "Education for Citizenship" day. As a matter of course, Rex duly achieved the honor of valedictorian of his senior class and was featured once again.

And folks, if you noticed once again, Rex was pictured, the local boy was named as one of the two outstanding students to receive the annual loving cup at the school.

But this week something happened, no picture of Rex.

In Daddy's Tracks

There they are! We were so busy at the task of the moment that we forgot we were leaving our footprints. Every step we take leaves its mark. Eager young minds see them so clearly even when we have not noticed them ourselves. Why not let your steps lead them to church!

Ask the average boy what he expects to do to make a living. His first impulse is to do just what his father has been doing. That is somewhat modified today, when so many new opportunities are offered, to which parents are directing the attention of the growing boy. But it is surprising how many farmers' boys return to the farm, how many preachers' sons go into the ministry, and how many bankers' sons carry on in the place of their dads. Your son will follow you to church too.

Listen to the speech of your neighbor; the words he uses, his characteristic expressions, the very inflection of his voice. Then ask his son to talk about some matters in which he is interested. He is following in Daddy's track's, even to the tone of his speech.

How important then that we walk ahead of these growing children with our feet turned in the right direction, along the best paths! Do we want our girls and boys to be interested in community welfare? Then let them follow us to the meetings where community-minded women and men are giving their best thought to helping build a good society. Do we want them to be faithful worshippers of the Living God? Then let them sit with us in the place of worship. Whether we wish it or not our children are walking "in Daddy's Tracks," just as you and I walk where our fathers walked.

Senior Discusses Trip To Colorado

BY DELORES GOLDSMITH

Saturday morning, May 24, at 4:30 o'clock, the Farwell senior class drove out of Farwell, Texas enroute to Colorado Springs, Colorado.

We drove into Canon City about 5 Saturday night after a long, tiresome, but enjoyable ride. We didn't do anything but rest and eat that night. Sunday morning, bright and early, we ate breakfast and went through the Colorado State Prison. We purchased some of the things there in the Prison Curio Shop, that the prisoners themselves had made. We were amazed at the ability that some of the prisoners had for making such clever things.

We ate lunch about 11:30 and went to the Royal Gorge which is the highest bridge in the world. You could look up or down and see sheer cliffs of solid granite, rising up from the Arkansas River, 1500 feet or down from the bridge. They were so steep that they would have made a mountain goat dizzy. The Gorge is a suspension bidge—with plenty of suspense. We rode the steepest cable car railroad in the world and were we standing on our heads or should I say standing and sitting down at the same time! It was very much like an open air elevator.

We drove into Colorado Springs Sunday evening around 5 and some of us went swimming in the spacious Broadmoor hotel swimming pool, which is indoors. We stayed at the McLaughlin Lodge in Manitou Springs, which is connected to Colorado Springs like Farwell and Texico are connected, only not by a railroad, just a City Limit Sign.

Monday morning, we got up early and were still sleepy, but we went on to see the Garden of the Gods and the Cliff Dwellers. The Cliff Dwellers are a family of Indians who live up, and in the sides of a mountain close to Manitou. They danced for us, that is, the father and son did. The little boy, whose name is Mountain Flower, simply amazed us all. He was only six years old and could do the hoop dance simply marvelously. I could just see myself all tangled up in one of those hoops and having to have someone help me get out in one piece.

Monday afternoon we went to the famous Seven Falls and a few climbed up to Helen Hunt Jackson's Grave there. That night, we just stayed around the Lodge and rested our weary bones.

Our sponsors were Nell Walling and Velma Magness; Kenneth Fields and Willie Roberts.

Tuesday morning was spent in shopping and looking around in Colorado Springs. Tuesday evening, we all went swimming at the Broadmoor Hotel and that night we ice skated at Ice Palace at the Broadmoor. Did we ever skate, we could even show some of the professionals some very slick tricks.

Wednesday we went to the Alexander Film Company, and saw how advertisements and trailers were made for theatres, all over the country. Then we went to the World Famous Van Briggles Art Pottery and purchased a few pieces of this beautiful pottery. This pottery was sold only where it was made, and no other place in the world can sell this certain kind of pottery. It was certainly interesting. We even watched a man make an original piece of pottery out of a small, round, ball of clay.

We spent Wednesday afternoon at the Cave of the winds just outside of Manitou and we had to climb 1 1/2 miles up to the Cave. (Also had to climb down). The Cave of the Winds is similar to Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico, only it isn't nearly so large. Wednesday night, half of us went bowling and the other half went to the show in Colorado Springs.

Thursday some of the boys and Mr. Fields went to Denver on a sight seeing tour and the remainder of us went up the Manitou Incline, up it and down it. This is where the biggest part of the afternoon was spent. We went into Manitou and ate and walked. We ate so much salt water taffy that we could stretch a mile and walked so much that we had bunions. That evening late, a few of us rode horses and had a few more bunions before we went back to the Lodge.

When everyone finally got back together, we loaded up our bags and went down to supper and came back to the Lodge. Here we talked and mixed with kids from other schools from Kansas, Texas, and New Mexico and Colorado. We left Colorado Springs at 12:30 Thursday night and pulled into Farwell Friday afternoon at 2:30.

There were 14 different schools from Texas in Colorado Springs that we counted and out of these fourteen, about 9 stayed at McLaughlin. While we were at McLaughlin, we met kids from Nazareth, Sannorwood, Harte, Dimmitt, Ralls, Cooper in Lubbock, and Idalou. There were one or two others that I just simply cannot remember.

We had a wonderful trip and hope that the kids in years to come will have as much clean fun as we did on our senior trip.

We even hope that Willie and Kenneth can go along with them and that Kenneth can take old Bula, his faithful old school bus along.

Here's Steak Dinner In A Skillet

Looking for something different to serve? Then try this Steak Skillet Dinner, suggests Reba Staggs, home economist. It's a novel use for beef round steak.

To prepare this dish, buy round steak cut about 1/2 inch thick. Cut the steak into 3 x 5 inch strips, then dredge it with seasoned flour. Cut carrots into sticks about 3 inches long and place 3 or 4 of them on each steak strip. Roll up the strips and fasten them with wooden picks.

For that appealing brown coating, brown the rolls slowly on all sides in lard or drippings. Then to the steak rolls add potatoes and onions. For liquid, pour a can of mushroom soup over the meat rolls and vegetables, then cover the utensil closely. Cook slowly either on top of the range or in a 300 degrees F. oven for 1 1/2 to 2 hours.

This Is No Bull!

That's right, Mr. Irrigationist,—what we say about concrete pipe is no bull. What's more, you don't have to take our word for it. Ask someone who's tried it. He'll tell you!

Look at this

To prove what we are saying, we want to call your attention to a story that appeared last week in the Muleshoe Journal. This is undeniable proof of the usefulness and practicability of concrete pipe for irrigation purposes.

Of course, this story is completely unsolicited. We reprint it here simply to show you what successful and progressive farmers think of CONTROLLED irrigation.

Naturally, there are many other advantages, including the cost. Why don't you stop in and talk it over with us?

Concrete Pipe Lines Praised

Plainview, May 24—Farmers in the Hale County Soil Conservation District are extremely pleased with concrete irrigation pipeline according to reports received by the SCS office there.

In March, 1951, B. F. Sammann Jr. of the Prairieview Community installed 1,400 feet of underground concrete irrigation pipeline in connection with his irrigation system. He was so pleased with this method of watering that he installed an additional 2,500 feet of line in November.

Then in April of this year, Sammann installed 900 feet more of the concrete irrigation pipeline and plans to install 4,000 feet more in the near future.

Conserves Time, Labor
He says that the use of concrete irrigation pipelines conserve irrigation water, save labor and time, and prevents unnecessary soil erosion due to open ditch watering.

All of his pipeline is on hard land and is used for the irrigation of row crops, alfalfa and permanent pasture.

Three other co-operators in the Hale County Soil Conservation District have recently finished installation of concrete irrigation pipeline. They are J. D. Cobb, who lives west of Plainview; Glen Witten, whose farm is northeast of Edmonson, and Emmett Thornton, whose farm is southeast of Plainview.

Cobb has installed 1,250 feet of pipe, while Witten has installed 2,357 feet and Thornton has installed 2,383 feet of concrete irrigation pipeline.

All three seem pleased with the results of the concrete pipe.

Keep The Bugs Out Of Stored Wheat

Recent regulations announced by the Food and Drug Administration regarding the grading of wheat which has been in storage and damaged by insects is of great economic importance to wheat producers in Texas, Joe Hines, county agent, says. Losses, says Fred Dines, wheat marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, can be held to a minimum if producers will take the necessary precautions in storing their wheat especially that stored on the farm.

The first job, and it should be done now, is to thoroughly clean and then treat the storage bin for insects. Dines emphasizes that all accumulations of residue grain-whole, cracked, ground or grain dust—must be removed from the interior or exterior of the bin. Check the cross braces, rafters, cracks in the floor and walls and if available, the specialist recommends using an air blasting machine to get the accumulations cleaned up.

If the storage bin is inside or attached to other farm buildings, Dines says special care must be taken to see that all materials such as mixed feed, other grain, hay and straw in which insects may breed are removed from the storage area.

After the clean-up job is completed a residual spray should be applied to the surfaces of the bin at least two weeks before grain is placed in storage. Dines and Extension Entomologist A. C. Guner recommend the use of lindane, pyronne base, methoxychlor or DDT residual sprays. A pyrethium piperonyl butoxide spray may also be used. They point out that directions for the use of each of these materials is carried on the label of the container and urge that these instructions be followed to the letter. Methoxychlor and DDT sprays, they warn, should not be used in concentrations of more than two and one-half per cent. Every crack, crevice, corner, ledge, beam and cross brace that could harbor insects should be thoroughly covered with the spray. Do a complete job, says the specialists, inside and out.

Regardless of how well the clean up and spraying jobs are done, Dines adds, the key to a good insect control program is putting into storage only dry grain. Stored grain insects require water for life and grain containing less than 2 per cent moisture does not provide a favorable habitat. On the other hand, grain containing more than 13 per cent moisture does provide the needed moisture for insect development and heating. Heat due to weevil activity and or wheat respiration may become concentrate and sufficiently high to cause damage to the grain and a loss in grade when the grain is marketed.

Finally, Dines says, don't fill the bins completely because the effectiveness of fumigating which will be done later will be reduced. Then too, bins that are completely filled cannot be checked as easily for weevils and damage.

Right now is the time to do the cleaning and spraying jobs, says Dines because there'll be little time for doing them if producers wait until the actual harvest has started.

Pool Named To Fullback Slot

Coach Al Garten wound up spring grid practice for his Eastern New Mexico University footballers this week with a lengthy scrimmage session.

Garten and Carl Richardson, assistant coach, have been putting their charges through their paces for two weeks and are highly pleased with the results. "This is the finest group we ever had and we're going to be hard to stop next fall," Garten said. He is all smiles when talking about his prospects for the next year.

The backfield will be the most inexperienced group, but they will be fast and shifty. Garten has been running four bantam-weight speedsters in spring drills and the offense really has been clicking. His backfield and their weights, and "anybody is welcome to check them" includes Jerry Pool, a 155-pound speedster from Farwell, Texas, in at fullback. The quartet averages 157 pounds per man.

Students Are Honored

Three students of Eastern New Mexico University with outstanding records in dramatics were honored by Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity this week.

Initiated into the organization was Rosamond Booth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Booth of Farwell. Officers elected for 1952-53 included Miss Booth, secretary-treasurer.

most intelligent; Donald Jesko and Katherine Magness, most likely to succeed; Rex Pool and Joan Spurlin, most versatile; and Shirley Smith, football sweetheart.

Charles Felts Plays In Music Ensemble

Piano solos, piano duos, a brass ensemble, and a woodwind quintet were heard presented. Students of the four members of the music faculty will be heard.

Members of the brass ensemble included Charles Felts, Lariat, Texas.

Two Students Make Scholastic Records

Six students with straight "A" records were recognized at Honors Convocation Thursday, May 22 in the Eastern New Mexico University theatre. James G. Allen, dean of student life at Texas Tech, was speaker.

ACP Helps Farmer Farmer Build Farms

Soil and water conservation practice will be carried out on approximately 600 county farms this year with the help of the Agricultural Conservation Program, A. F. Phillips Jr., chairman of the county PMA committee, reports.

The practices to be carried out are a continuation of the work that has been underway in the county since 1936, the chairman explains. On many Farmer county farms erosion has been checked and gullies are now healing up. But more important than this, progress is being made in checking the breakdown of soil structure which leads to erosion. Practices which are getting major emphasis include subsoiling, waterways, and pasture grass seeding.

As a specific instance of how the soil and water conservation practices carried out by Farmer county farmers are building better farms and stepping up production, Mr. Phillips cites the experience of Jesse Osborne who has carried out bench leveling, denersion terraces and standard terrace on his farm.

The chairman points out that the conservation practices carried out on the farms of Farmer county are those which help the soils of the county carry their share of the increasing production load. More food is needed because there are more people. Improved machinery and higher yielding varieties draw more heavily upon the soil. Progress in keeping up the soil must keep pace or sooner or later yields and production will go down. This, he points out, is the basic reason for the Agricultural Conservation Program.

Jones Gives Facts On Dairy Industry

Dairying is big business in Texas. The value of all milk produced in the state last year amounted to $200,000,000, Joe Jones, county agent, says.

Total milk production during the years says R. E. Burleson, dairy husbandman for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reached the 3 billion 800 million pound mark. That, adds the specialist, is a lot of milk but was only enough to supply 65 per cent of that needed by the state's ever-increasing population.

W. A. Tinney, signal maintainer of Santa Fe was called to Hereford on signal failure Saturday afternoon due to the storm. Also called to Texico and Black on Sunday.

Mr. Veazey, who has been relieving signal maintainer Jess Richardson of Texico, has returned to the gang at Friona. Mr. Richardson has been on his vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Russell went to Winfield, Kansas Friday to bring home Mrs. Lem Miller who had been there for a week for a checkup.

Mrs. George Clingan and Nancy returned to their home in Arkansas. Mrs. Clingan was a teacher in grade school the past school term.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Richardson and children of Texico visited with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tinney Sunday afternoon.

Gabe Anderson of Farwell visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Shackelford on Thursday. Bob Anderson of Farwell visited with them on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Dickson are the proud parents of a baby boy born Monday night at the Former County

The greatest demand is for fluid milk but great quantities are also used by manufacturers of ice cream, butter, cheese, evaporated and condensed and powdered milk. Burleson says the state ranks fourth in the nation from the standpoints of the total number of dairy cows but 45th in the production per cow. In total pounds of milk produced the state ranks eleventh. Generally speaking the greatest production is east of a line drawn from Wichita Falls to San Antonio to Corpus Christi. The two largest milk sheds from the standpoint of counties involved and production are the Houston and Dallas-Ft. Worth sheds.

Among the highest producing counties are Harris with 500 grade A producers; Parker, 400; Hopkins, 385; Bexar, 350; Johnson, 350; Tarrant, 350; Wise, 320 and Nacogdoches with 300 grade A producers. The total number of grade A producers in the state in 1951 was 9,000 and the ungraded producers numbers 10,000, says Burleson.

The number of cows on Dairy Herd Improvement Association test last year totaled 13,000 head while 3,000 cows were on Official Test. Membership in the artificial breeding associations continues to increase and last year 21,000 cows were artificially bred.

According to Burleson, the major problems faced by Texas dairymen include an adequate feeding program; improving dairy herd management and marketing.

Under the marketing problems, he lists such items as good dairy pastures, high quality hay, good silage and feeding balanced concentrates according to production after adequate forage and pasture program has been provided.

The breeding program should include, according to Burleson, the use of a good sire and when possible artificial breeding and growing at home the herd replacements. These replacements should be carefully selected from the standpoint of production and breed characteristics.

The improved herd management should include plans for herd testing and the keeping of accurate records on every animal in the herd. He encourages all dairymen to join a DHIA organization.

Under the marketing problems, he lists as number one, the maintenance of a year-round level of production. Then follow such problems as the production of quality milk; using the surplus milk and manufacturing milk to advance the over-all dairy industry and promoting greater use of milk and milk products in the human diet.

Burleson says that June has been designated as Dairy Month and he encourages all dairymen to take time out for an examination of their operations in order that they may do even a better job of producing a high quality food product. He also encourages Texas dairymen to support their state ADA program.
