150 Listen To Broadhurst

"There will be irrigation on the High Plains a hundred years from now, although not on such a large scale as now, and with better distribution methods and less waste."

The above remark was heard by 150 people attending the annual Farwell Chamber of Commerce banquet Friday night, as W. L. Broadhurst, hydrologist for the High Plains Water District, delivered the main address.

After good harmonizing and good barbecue, the guests and members of the 1958 chamber heard Broadhurst reflect and postulate as he reviewed the present and the past position of underground water on the High Plains.

Broadhurst was described by Sam Aldridge, who introduced him, as "the man who knows more about the High Plains water problem than anyone in the United States." He is the leader of three recognized hydrologists in the area, has spent 21 years in studying his field, and is the only man in America to successfully recharge a depleted water table.

He stated the position of water as a natural resource and presented his basic problem by noting that the supply of water must not only meet the necessary requirements of life and sanitation, but must also be in sufficient supply to support the growing economy which, in the High Plains, it has fostered.

"The times when an economy has been able to possess the required amounts of natural resources have been known as 'great places in history,'" he said. "But when only one of the necessary elements of resources have been exhausted, then the structure vanished."

Broadhurst said that in the first half of the 20th century, the total use of water has doubled, with the total increase called upon being four-fold. "Municipal and domestic uses have played a part," he said, "but by far the greatest increases have been for industry and land irrigation."

By means of illustration, he told the group the manufacture of automobiles calls for 15 billion gallons of water. Broadhurst called water "the most important, vital and valuable" of our natural resources. According to Broadhurst there is a mighty reservoir of water beneath the High Plains. So much so, that even now there remains more than 1000 times as much water beneath the ground than has ever been available on the surface. The overflow from this reserve of water caused all surface flow in this area. (Surface flow describes creeks, branches, and rivers.)

This part of the country receives about 20 inches of rain per year. Total possible moisture is about 30 inches. The Ogallala, or waterbearing formation, ranges from "feather-thin to over 600 feet" in this area, and the water taken from the ground is replaced in only one way: through assimilation of rainfall during years when rain is more than normal.

The High Plains water table has been under study for over 100 years, and scientists have proven that the area does not receive water from mountain range seepage, but only from excessive rainfall.

"We have a big problem," said Broadhurst, "in being understood. This underground water isn't doing anyone any good down there, and our job is not to control its removal by limiting it in anyway but to help see that it does the most good. Conservation, the most good. Conservation, to me, means use. Our main job is to get facts over to individuals about the present and future effect of water use on himself, his neighbors, and the area as a whole."

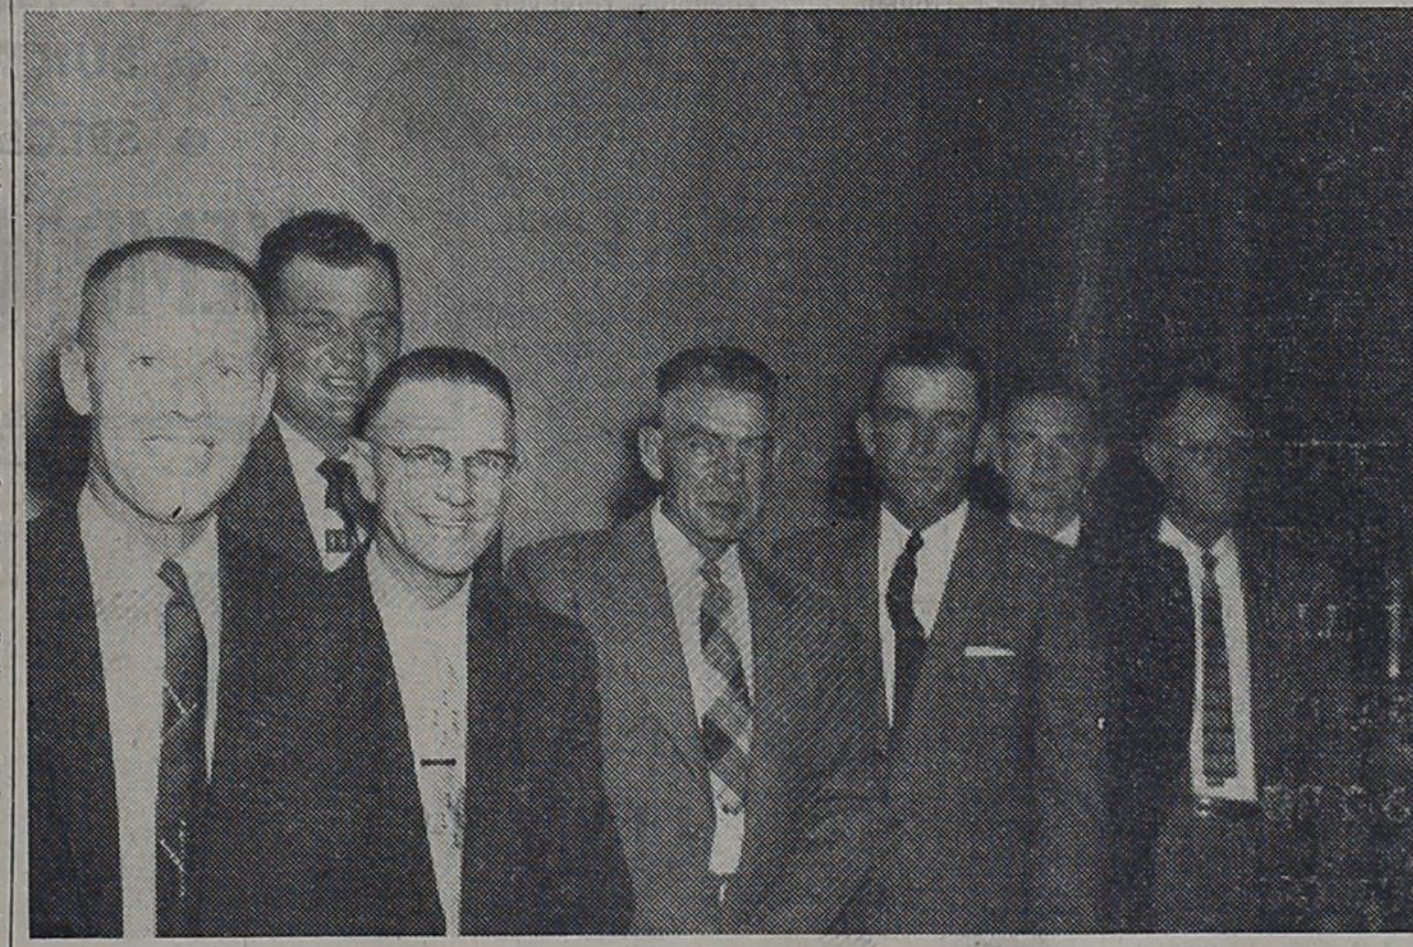

"Proper application methods can result in better crops with a third less water being used. A closed irrigation system can save another third in water loss through prevention of evaporation and seeing that all water goes to the place it can do the most possible good."

Quoting statistics, Broadhurst estimates that there are 46 1/2 million acre-feet of water beneath the High Plains. But because of molecular attraction and surface tension, only about half that amount can be drawn

W. L. "Bill" Broadhurst delivers the main address of the evening to members and guests of the Chamber of Commerce Friday night. Chief Hydrologist in charge of High Plains water conservation, Broadhurst was well received.

Reported Petty Thefts

Charley Lovelace, Farmer County sheriff, reported little action on the crime scene during the past week.

Petty auto thefts, (stripping of abandoned cars and the taking of auto hub caps), continue to be major pursuit of Farmer County law violators.

One person, to be tried later for forgery in the district court, resides in the county jail.

The next visit of district judge has not been set.

Future Resident Television Expert

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Reeves (see picture at right) have opened the Farwell Radio and TV Shop next door to the post office.

They commute from Clovis now and will continue to do so until arrangements can be completed for a home in Farwell.

Reeves has 13 years of television experience, having begun his study before there were retail sets in production. He was forced to study TV design, for lack of more practical courses, in the beginning.

Since he got in "on the ground floor," the resident-to-be is familiar with all models of television receivers as well as radios, movie cameras and projectors, and most anything that uses electricity.

The Reeves have two children.

Joe Blair Remains Prexy

Announcement of new officers, their introduction, and introduction of the new members of the board of directors for 1958 were made during the Farwell Chamber of Commerce Banquet, last Friday night.

Re-elected for a second term as president was Joe Blair; the first vice-president for 1958 is Cary Joe Magness. (See picture for complete list.)

Entertainment for the evening was provided by a high school singing group, the Silhouettes.

Members of the group are Wilma Norton, Juanita Range, Martha Blair, Gwenda Lee and Karolyn Parker, and L'Orchid Latham Johnson. Mrs. Shelby Jobs accompanied the girls at the piano.

The barbecue dinner with all the trimmings was prepared and served by the band mothers. Coffee and tea were served, with pie a la mode for dessert.

Phone Board Meets in Clovis

The State Corporation Commission, New Mexico utility rate-setting body, has called a special session February 27 to hear subscribers' opinions as to the proposed increase in telephone rates.

The hearing, called to allow subscribers to inform the committee of their views and to allow the rate-setting body to become better informed as to the reasonableness and lawfulness of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph's try for higher rates, will meet in formal session next Thursday morning at 9:30 in the Curry County district court room.

This will be the second such hearing, the first having been called on December 27, 1957. The commission then found "that good cause existed for the suspension of the proposed rates and charges, with the alternative that MST&T could Balancing their attack on the shoulders of a fiery foursome, Farwell's Steers blasted to an early lead then coasted to a district tournament victory over Springlake Tuesday night at Friona.

With the score 15-1 at the start of the second quarter, Coach Calvin Murray began substituting to hold down the score and allow benchmen to gain experience.

Never able to make a contest out of the game, Springlake's Wolverines ended up on the low end of a 52-29 reading.

High point honors for the night rested with Wolverine Tom Messer, who racked up 16 points.

For the advancing Steers, Derrell Garner and Johnny Lovelace shared 11-point contributions for honors, while Dickie Williams and Gerald Christian were right behind, with eight points each.

Coach Murray did not believe this game was the best his boys can play by any means. He said that his boys had the potential to go all the way this year. Naturally hesitant to reveal his plans for the coming games, the coach let out that he has high hopes for future tournament play.

The first quarter told the story of Tuesday's game. Farwell tallied 15 points to the Wolverines' one. During the second section, scoring was about on a par, with the Steers coming out ahead 10-9. In the third quarter, Springlake fell farther behind. The scoring was 9-6. During the final frame, Springlake came back strong and both teams did well on their percentages, but the game was too far gone and Farwell led, 14-13.

The sharpshooting Steers, never behind in the game, outscored Springlake in every department except personal fouls.

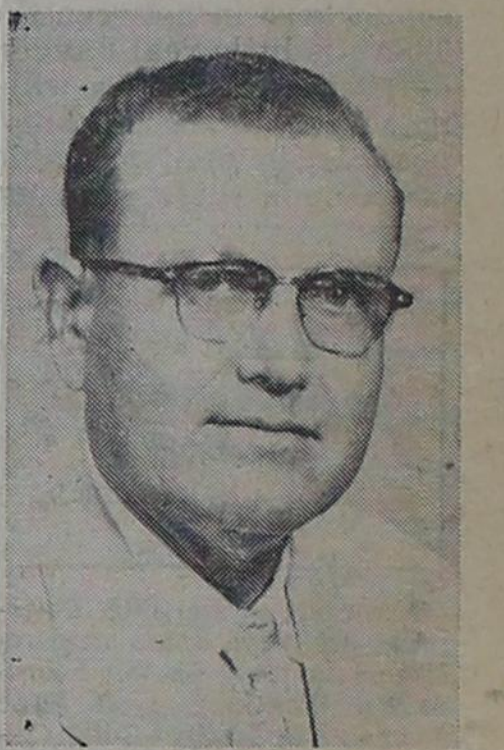

With a tournament game under their belts, the Steers should be double tough when they meet Sudan tonight (Thursday) at 8:30.

Chili Supper Planned For MOD Benefit

Serving at a March of Dimes benefit chili supper tonight (Thursday) in the woman's club building will begin at 7:30, according to Mrs. Mabel Tharp, Texico chairman.

The event was postponed during January because of sickness and inclement weather.

Following the supper will be a brief program of musical entertainment, a film and games of "42." Presenting selections in the first part of the program will be the band, the Barber-shop Quartet, and the Girls' Trio from Texico High School. Mrs. Tharp emphasized that the public is invited to attend.

Baptist Church To Have Revival

Farwell First Baptist Church will have its first revival of 1958, February 23 through March 2. A. C. Hamilton from Hereford will be the evangelist.

Rev. Hamilton received his B. S. Degree from Wayland Baptist College in 1949. For 11 years, he was pastor of Date Street Baptist Church in Plainview.

Morning services will be held at 9:50, prayer meeting at 7:30 p. m., and evening worship at 8.

Song leader for the week-long revival is Clarence Johnson, and the pianist is Mrs. Shelby Jobs.

On 91st Birthday, Paul Recalls Early Days in Territory

Celebrating his 91st birthday Sunday was a pioneer resident of Farmer County, Joe Paul.

Family members joined him for a dinner at noon and other friends and relatives called during the afternoon.

Present for the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Paul and Mr. and Mrs. J. Shaw of Hereford, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Paul of Hart, Mrs. D. Z. Bradbury and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Jones of Roswell, Mrs. Verdie Paul of Muleshoe, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Howard and sons of Flagstaff, Ariz., Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCutchan of Bovina, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Frank Paul and children, and Misses Greta and Grace Paul.

Calling in the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Mitchell, Mrs. F. W. Greene, Mrs. Laura Freider, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. Lance Hemmington and daughter, Norma, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Bewley, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jesko, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Jesko, Mr. and Mrs. Juel Freider, Mr. and Mrs. George Crain, M. F. Howard of Clovis, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Jesko of Hereford, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Eubanks.

Below is an account of some of Paul's reminiscences about life in the territory in the early days.

As the train pulled to a stop in the very small village of Friona on a December day back in 1906, Joe Paul, now 91 years old, was one of the early "excursionists" who stepped off as prospective buyers of land. And

Our hearts go out to the frustrated Navy engineers in Florida who have had such difficulty in getting their much-heralded rocket, Vanguard, off into its announced flight into space.

We had no appreciation for their difficulty until last week, when, struck by the inviting manner of a warm afternoon sun, we decided the time had come to make a kite for our boys.

Since it had been no fewer than 17 years since we had stood in the vacant lot tugging on a string with a kite on the other end, there were certain problems to be overcome. The biggest one was an un dependable memory.

Our inspiration came from having seen other kites flying over town, and, as we noticed that every single one was a "store bought" contraption, that old song, "what is this younger generation coming to?" came to mind.

Not only would we build a real home-made kite for our kids, we decided, but we would build one really worth noticing. None of that old two-stick stuff for us. Ours would be a big three-sticker—one that would really command attention.

Here's where our memory, and the immutable laws of aerodynamics met head-on. We painfully pieced the sticks together in a fashion that seemed to resemble the kites we had made of old. But somehow, the finished product didn't appear to be an air-worthy craft.

Nonetheless, we set out down the alley for the vacant lot with the kite, the rag tail, and the bridle string draped all over us. It is amazing how the neighborhood kids pass the word around so fast. Before we had gone halfway to the vacant lot, six more of the little rascals were in tow, with questions aplenty.

The more the merrier, we thought to ourselves. It would be good to expose those underprivileged ones to some real old-fashioned kitemanship. The launching was all arranged, and as we trailed out the starting string, one of the junior critics addressed us, with hands stuffed in pockets and stone-faced: "You've got too much tail."

Our first attempt at flight bore out his analysis—or at least proved that SOMETHING was wrong. The kite went about 20 feet into the air, nosed over, and zoomed into the ground with a resounding thump. A chorus of "oh" went up from the kids.

This same thing was repeated about half a dozen times before we finally launched the unwilling craft into the air, and that's what we mean when we say we know how the Navy rocket men feel. When a critical crowd is watching your every move and expecting you to perform it's mighty hard to get anything to work right. We know.

It wouldn't be quite fair to take any liberties in print with privately owned property, but as a columnist and would-be tennis player, we can't help but observe that the exposed floor and foundations of the government-owned granaries which were removed from First Street last week sure look like naturals for tennis courts.

Sight of the two 4x100 slabs of thick, smooth concrete stopped us in our tracks as we passed them the other day, and we couldn't resist the impulse to get out of the car and run up and down them a couple of times just to try them out in an imaginary sort of way.

Tennis players of the Twin Cities have been somewhat adrift for a place to exercise ever since the foundation works of the old tire plant in the northeast part of Farwell was covered and converted into a granary.

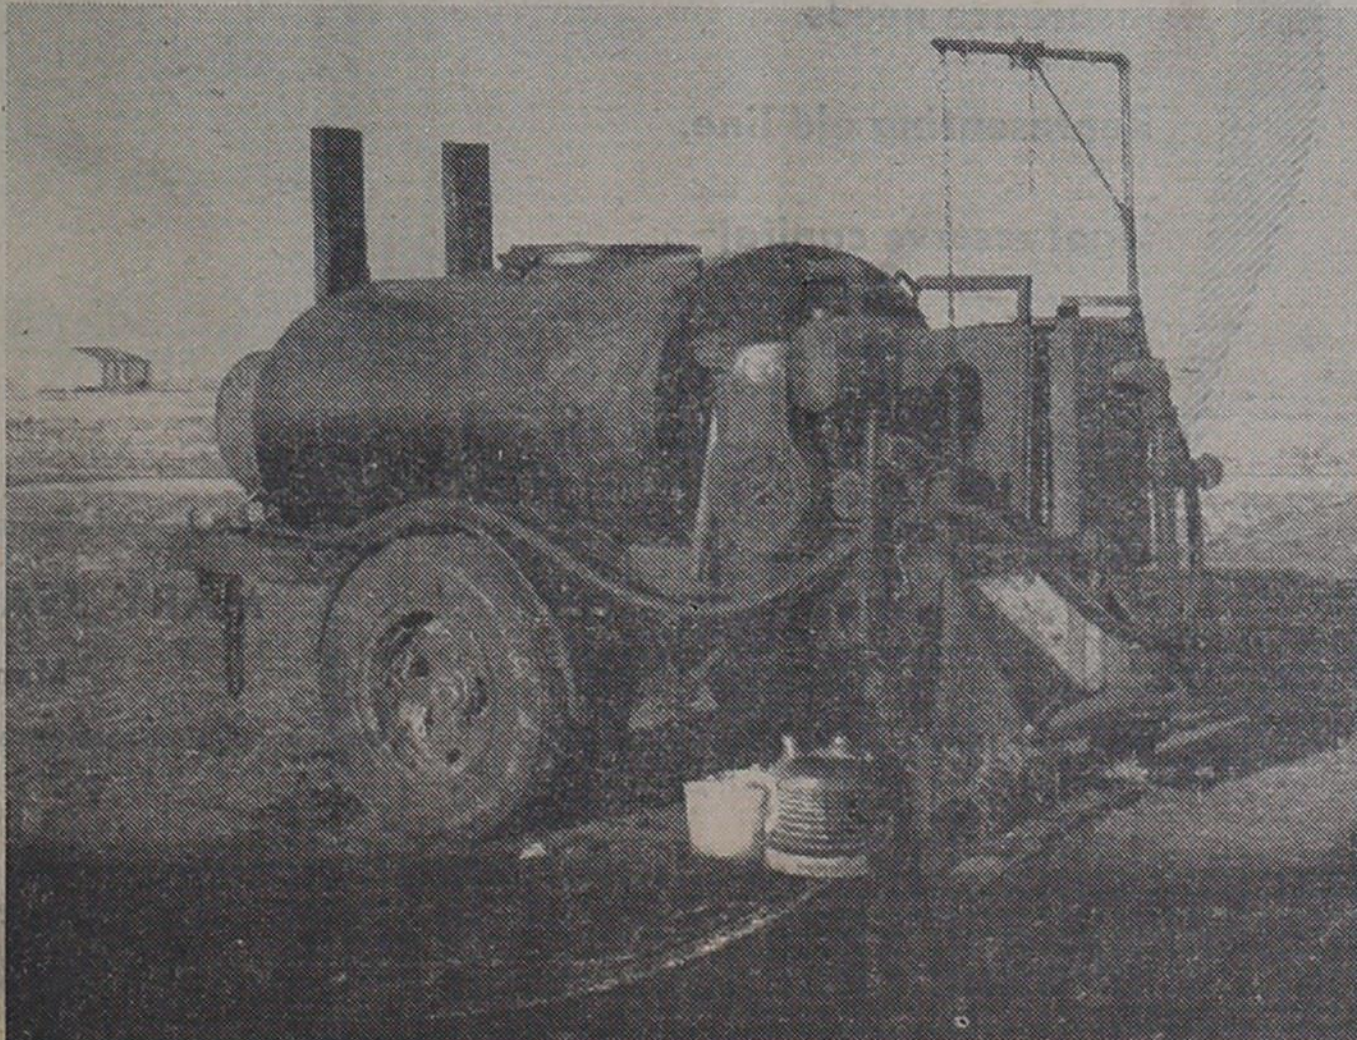

The asphalt courts at the Farwell School have been made good use of, but there is just nothing that can beat a good concrete court for this part of the country.

The amusements editor of the Waco newspaper says he's off TV and back to movies when it comes to screen entertainment. His arguments have some logic. Every time he gets settled down and begins to get involved in something on his home TV set, he has an interruption. Sometimes it comes from the family, sometimes from outside, sometimes from the TV set itself. But it always happens, he says.

"For topical broadcasts, ball games, or a president addressing congress, it's tops" he says of TV. But when he wants serious screen entertainment, he leaves for the picture show house.

TV owners are finally beginning to see the medium in its proper light, and the hysteria that accompanied the first set purchase has worn away. We notice that everywhere the circulation of newspapers is moving up, indicating that the public is returning to newspapers for real depth in news accounting.

We are not surprised to see the same effect being manifested in the entertainment world, where those who really appreciate selective entertainment find that television is quite expendable.

You are looking at better streets for the City of Farwell. This asphalt spreader, purchased from the Texas Highway Department for $450, will be put to work as quickly as weather allows.

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Tomorrow in West Texas

There are optimists and pessimists who talk of the future of West Texas, and both can give pretty fair arguments to back up their opinions.

Everyone concerned with the future (which is about everyone of us) sooner or later brings up water, irrigation, and farming methods.

Since irrigation and farming methods depend upon the supply of water, then this natural resource is placed upon an argumentative pedestal and either built up or torn down, depending upon who's mixing the mortar.

Should we believe that within a certain number of years the underground water reserves will all be "used up," and that we will be forced to give up the years of work and planning that we've put into this country?

Should we believe that we can go on and on, using more water every year and trusting to providence to replace, in some magical way, this liquid strength of our economy?

Neither of these extremes is a truthful or accurate statement of the problem. If we depend solely upon one or the other, then we'll be in for much disappointment and heartache when our plans do not materialize.

The only realistic answer lies somewhere in between these extremes. There is little real danger that our underground reservoirs will go dry within several lifetimes, but it is entirely possible, in fact, probable, that if the drain upon these reserves continues to grow yearly, then soon the amount of water, for ANY purpose, will lessen per well. That is, we may go on getting more and more water for our purposes, but we'll have to have more and more wells, with the expense and upkeep that accompany them, in order to do it.

The logical thing to do is precisely what the Underground Water Conservation District is trying to accomplish... make the water we use do the most it can; provide the type of equipment to prevent spoilage, evaporation, over-use, and waste; and become fully aware of the future effects of our present practices.

Area Law Officers Cooperate in Work

by Bob Clendennen

According to the Olton Enterprise, we have some new residents in town. In the February 6 issue, we read "The John Carson family—Ruth, Cindy and John, moved this week to Farwell."

We really need some way to welcome newcomers to our area—we've heard so many new residents say that "Texico-Farwell is a hard place in which to get acquainted."

When we arrived here eight years ago we thought this was the friendliest place we had ever visited. But we have heard otherwise from others.

Tammy, the dog, just doesn't choose to understand her roll as playmate for the boys. Her sad, doleful eyes held a million rebukes as we rescued her from the latest "brainstorm" this week. We spent quite a while explaining to the boys that little ears on little bulldogs just aren't made to hold mama's heaviest earrings. We don't like for the dog to wear our earrings, and she isn't vain enough to want to wear them.

We're told that if your wife is away on vacation and you want her home in a hurry, just send her a copy of The Tribune with one item clipped out.

A network which crossed county lines and state boundaries and is prepared to swing into action almost instantly combating those who violate the law, has been built up within the past nine years in this area.

Though a wide-spread short-wave system is an important part of the network, its communication and cooperation on a personal level between officers of the various surrounding counties and the state and city police of New Mexico which spelled the end of wide-spread, lasting criminal actions.

Within the past decade, law enforcement officers have almost cleaned the books of unsolved cases in this area.

After a burglary of a local auto parts store, for example, officers of the city teamed with Clovis enforcement personnel to arrest several members of a gang. After questioning, the robbers confessed to a number of previously unsolved crimes in surrounding Texas counties.

Another example of interstate cooperation comes to light when methods used to arrest a group who broke into a local department store last year are studied. Again local officers

State To Spend $168,000 in Co.

As a part of its big modernization program, the state will spend $168,000 on Highway 60 in Parmer County this year, the Texas Highway Department has announced. The highway improvement work will occur between Friona and the Castro County line.

D. C. Greer, state highway engineer, says this is in addition to the regular construction and maintenance program.

The 12 miles of highway will be widened, surface and shoulders worked over, and a new seal coat applied. It is presumed that the 12 miles will "match" a stretch to Hereford from the Castro County line which was built last year.

At the January meeting of the State Highway Commission, an unprecedented $25 million was appropriated exclusively for safety improvements designed to give Texas safer traveling on high-traffic volume roads.

The new program is formed from an engineering study of accident rates against the state's average fatal-plus injury rate of 70.1. Those spots in the State Highway system that average higher than this rate are the ones being earmarked for work under this program.

Greer stated that the Traffic Safety Program would be directed toward 918 miles of highways in 104 counties. The 158 projects scheduled will be on highways which carry traffic volumes of from 600 to 3,000 vehicles per day.

Narrow pavements will be widened, and shoulders improved. Culverts and structures at hazardous locations will be widened, and dangerous curves flattened. In addition, other safety features were programed—channelization of traffic, control of access with barriers placed along hazardous sections, control of access with frontage roads at points of congestion, and similar work.

"We expect to get all work under way on this special traffic safety program during the calendar year of 1958," Greer states.

MOD Winds Up In Parmer County

Final results of the county-wide March of Dimes Campaign for 1958 have been released by Raymond Euler, campaign chairman from Friona. The county's total contribution to the fight against infantile paralysis is $1754.31. From this amount must be deducted the total expenses incurred during the campaign, which is $169.59. This leaves $1584.42 to be divided between the county and the national offices of the March of Dimes.

Before this division can be made, $396.10 is set aside for the MOD Medical Fund, leaving $594.16 for the county and a like amount for the national offices.

Final tabulations determining where the contributions came from have been completed:

Farwell	$701.00

Poll Tax Total Is 2185

County Tax Assessor and Collector Lee Thompson said that 2185 persons paid their poll taxes for 1958. "This number," he said, "does not include the exemptions for first year voters nor for those exempt for over-age privileges."

Those who get the free vote for the first time number 45; those over the age limit are not required to register, so their number cannot be accurately predicted.

"We can't tell exactly how many free voters there are, but there are quite a few if they all come out and vote," said Thompson.

ANDERSON OUT OF CAST

Bob Scott Anderson is up on crutches a small portion of the time since having his cast removed almost two weeks ago. His mother, Mrs. Bob Anderson, reports that he expects to begin some exercises to regain his strength soon in preparation for returning to school. Meanwhile, he will continue to take part in class discussion via a direct line telephone hookup with his classroom.

Farwell Study Club Elects New Officers

Officers for the coming year were elected following the program at the regular meeting of Farwell Study Club Monday night in the school lunchroom.

Dr. Ples Harper of the modern language department of West Texas State College spoke on prejudices and Spanish musical selections and a dance were presented by a group of Clovis Junior High students under the direction of Miss Lora Mae McFarland.

Mrs. Sam Rundell will be installed president of the group in April. Elected to serve with her were Mrs. D. W. Bagley, vice-president; Mrs. Bill Garrett, secretary; Mrs. W. N. Foster, treasurer; Mrs. L. R. Vincent, reporter; Mrs. Claude Coffey, parliamentarian; Mrs. Johnie Williams, historian; and Mrs. M. A. Snider Sr., critic.

Also discussed at the business meeting were plans for the visit of Mrs. A. J. House of Yoakum, president of the Texas Federation of Woman's Clubs, on April 21.

Dr. Harper quoted and discussed the following definition of prejudice.

"Prejudice is a vagrant opinion with no visible means of support." He cited a conceited citizenry which glorifies wealth as the greatest hatchery of prejudices and illustrated his point with down-to-earth examples which could easily take on international proportions.

"Prejudices make a little people," he maintained.

He pointed out that prejudices are acquired and that education is one of the best places to combat them. Learning to recognize the importance of other people and to understand them, perhaps through the study of their language, is the first step.

The challenging reminder that "it's never too late to give up a prejudice—(Thoreau)" was the speaker's concluding remark.

Mike Booth was master of ceremonies for the portion of the program presented by Miss McFarland's Spanish students. Colorfully dressed in a Mexican costume, he introduced Shirley Otten who sang "Estrellita," accompanied by Karen Gaydon. Wearing typical "china poblana and charro" outfits, Miss Otten and John Rossos demonstrated the Mexican hat dance. Music was by Fred Phelps at the piano. He also accompanied Carolyn Green who sang "Poinsettiana."

Members had invited guests for the program. They included Mrs. Loyd Otten of Clovis, Mesdames Mem Sprowls, Curtis Jones, Clarence Christian, Claude Dyer, Harry Whitley, Paul Wurster, Jim Terrell, C. C. Shaller, Harriett Marlenee, and Misses Laurie Cooper and Norma Hurta.

Hostesses for meeting were Mesdames W. H. Graham Sr., Bagley, and Snider. The serving table was centered with an arrangement of spring flowers around a cutout of cupid and a heart. Coffee and individual cakes were served.

Other members present were Mesdames B. N. Graham, W. Vinyard, Shelby Jobs, Jack Williams, Mose Glascock, Joe Crume, J. D. Atwell, Calvin Murray, E. G. Williams, John Aldridge, and Miss Jimmie Lou Wainscott.

Nuptial music was played by Glen Nelson and Mrs. Donna Kiekhafer sang "Bless This House" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was attired in a gown of white organdy with French embroidery circling the hoop skirt. Her veil was of French illusion and she carried a crescent-shaped arm bouquet of pink roses and white hyacinth.

Mrs. Esther Fleisher, sister of the bride of Albuquerque, was matron of honor. She wore a pink taffeta gown and carried a bouquet of pink camellias with white hyacinth.

Harriman-Wagner Rites Read At Home

Miss Mary Dean Harriman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Harriman of Portales, and A2/c Curtis W. Wagner Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis W. Wagner Sr. of Bechtelsville, Pa., were married at the home of the bride's parents February 1. The Harrimans are former local residents.

Albert McInroe performed the double ring ceremony. Included in the wedding music were the songs "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "Faithful and True."

Miss Geneva Harriman attended her sister and Don Leszczynski of Denora, Pa., attended the bridegroom.

The bride wore a street length dress of white satin covered with gold net. Her shoulder-length veil was bordered with gold and her accessories were white. She carried a white Bible on which rested a white carnation bouquet with streamers of white satin tied in loveknots. For something old, she wore earrings which were given to Mrs. Harriman wore a lavender dress with white accessories and a white carnation corsage. The mother of the bridegroom was unable to attend.

Serving in the house party were Misses Geneva and Frances Harriman, sisters of the bride, and Miss Wanda Mayo.

Mrs. Wagner was graduated from Portales High School and is employed in Portales. Her husband is stationed at Cannon Air Force Base.

Sports Scoreboard

bob clendennen

Thus far in the district tournament, games have come off pretty much as planned, with the favored teams winning right along and the teams given outside chances at best falling by the wayside.

As of this morning, only three teams are left in contention for the crown. Morton, the favorite, whipped Sudan in order to enter tourney in the first place rank. The third team is Farwell.

Friena boys fell to the awesome power of Morton, and Springlake dropped an uninteresting contest to Farwell. Tonight, Farwell fights it out against Sudan to determine the final place rank.

The girls bracket is following standard procedure as well. Favored Friena defeated Springlake to enter the finals. Their opponent will be determined tonight in the 7 p. m. opener, when Morton and Sudan battle.

Morton girls drubbed Farwell to gain the semifinal entry.

In both boys' and girls' divisions, it is possible for the winner of the seasonal double round robin to lose a chance to enter state playoff competition. Because of the ruling that winning the district tournament counts half in determining state playoff entries, if the district winner in regular season play should not win the tourney, that team would have to play another game against the tourney winner. The winner of the final playoff would then represent this district in trying for the state championship.

Tonight's Farwell-Sudan fracas looks to be the biggest game of the week so far. Losing to Sudan by one point during regular season play, Farwell served public notice of their determination as competitors by soundly trouncing last-ranked Springlake.

Tonight's winner will meet Morton Friday night at 8:30, and if perchance Morton does not emerge victorious, a third game will take place Saturday to select the district's representative to the state finals.

In tonight's game, watch out for Derrell Garner. He just hit his stride in the past weeks, and will be out for blood in these last few games of the season.

Johnny Lovelace has carried the scoring load for the Steers all during the season. He could use some help, and it may come from Garner or from two other top-notch ballhawks on the Farwell squad.

Gerald Christian and Dickie Williams hit for eight points apiece when the Steers routed Springlake, but both have proven themselves capable of double-figure scoring on occasions.

See you in Friena at the District 3-A Tournament!

Station Almost Finished

Farwell's fire station is almost ready for occupancy by permanent residents. When a few final details are finished by volunteer labor, the building will have a two-room-and-bath apartment to be used by a couple who will always be there.

The concrete block structure is not huge in size, but when it is considered that the total labor cost was only $112, it grows in importance.

The roster reads like a "who's who" among local property owners. The building was put together by men who wanted a fire station badly enough to build one.

The men practice each Thursday evening and attend class like everyone out to learn a new trade. Oral examinations are given each week, and with 10 manuals to work from, the subjects are "A to Z in fire-fighting," as Otis Huggins, chief, puts it.

Twenty-one men worked about two months to put up the building and equip it, with help from many local businesses. For instance, $700 was donated toward the purchase of materials, and one business gave the station a desk. The men work for no pay other than the knowledge that they stand ready to protect this area from fire.

The complete roster of Farwell's volunteer fire department: Otis Huggins, James Patrick, Wilfred Quickel, Billy Dollar, Ernest Hillock, Mem Sprowls, Tom Atkins, A. T. Watts, Woodrow Lovelace, Cary Joe Magness;

Also Doyle Ford, George D. Magness, John Sharum, Jack Williams, Smokey Gast, Fred Curtis, Ray Mears, Mitz Walling, Stanton Thigpen, John Adams, Perry Winkles, John Getz, Clay Henson, R. T. Langston, Joe Helton, Elmer Teel, and Robert Morton.

Hale Center, Tex., Man Reports— "A $5.60 Investment Netted Me $54.85 In Cotton."

Jack Shelley, Hale Center, Tex., says: "I put down Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia on my irrigated cotton and got an average of 847 pounds of lint per acre. This compared to a yield of 633 pounds on a check plot. My increase netted me $54.85 an acre. I got more well matured, five-lock cotton bolls, too."

Other Southwestern farmers have discovered that the 82% nitrogen in top quality Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia helps them to get more profit per acre, through higher yields and lower production costs.

They have found that, by using Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia, they get more cotton that grades out higher at the gin; yields of sorghum grain and ensilage are increased; more marketable vegetables are harvested, and profits on wheat are increased through better forage, and higher yields of grain.

Broadhurst Outlines High Plains Future

out by wells. This is enough to put 23 million acres under a foot of water.

The total amount pumped out since irrigation began in 1911 is 35 million acre-feet. Twenty-nine million, or 83 percent, has been used during the past seven years.

Since 42,000 wells are now in use, the water table is declining, faster in some places than in others.

Therefore, it is obvious that the result of continued use at this rate will cause further decline in the table, and a decrease in well water discharge.

In 1911, Broadhurst reminded, there were 1500 wells, and it would have taken this number of wells 145 years to use up the amount of water already taken from the table to this date.

At that time, a bill was introduced in the state senate to limit the digging of any more wells.

Had it passed, there would be very little future for this region, as it would have correspondingly limited the growth of the country.

"This would have been a good law, speaking geologically; but morally, legally, and economically, it would have been a crime," said Broadhurst.

The speaker said that through water conservation (meaning proper use of available resources), this area should be able to prevent economic disaster because of lack of water.

"My principal job," said the chief hydrologist, "is not the enforcement of regulations at all, but simply to get the most water at the least cost. What we need is cooperation."

Broadhurst stated that, "No body knows just how long the underground water will last." He is pessimistic about the present tidal wave of irrigation water being pumped, because, he said, we are using it up faster than it is being replaced.

As to the future, he is optimistic. With improvements in irrigation methods, types of crops, and size of fields, he believes that the future of the High Plains is most promising.

Lavoyda Billington Makes Field Trip

Lavoyda Billington was one of 24 education students from Eastern New Mexico University who visited the New Mexico School for the Deaf Sunday and Monday. Mrs. A. E. Malory, assistant professor in education, arranged the field trip.

The group went to Santa Fe in a School of the Deaf bus. Superintendent Marshall S. Hester was official host. The students observed the education of the exceptional child under professional conditions and gained an appreciation of the problems of the deaf and hard of hearing.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McKinney visited Friday in Amarillo with their son, Seth, who is ill. They made the trip with another son, Benny, of Clovis.

Best Athletes Named At Texico

Four Texico High School athletes have been selected by their teammates as "Best Athletes of the Year." They are Anita Moss, Christy Bowers, Jerry Henson, and Jerry Trower.

Elected by secret ballot, the students were judged on athletic ability, sportsmanship, and loyalty to the school.

Miss Moss, a junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Moss. She is a member of the student council and participates in many school activities.

Miss Bowers, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anson Bowers, plays forward on the girls' team. She is also a member of the student council and was recently named sweetheart of the band.

Trower's parents are Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Trower. He is a transfer student from Rosedale and has been an outstanding member of the basketball team. He is a senior.

Henson, also a senior, is student body president. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Henson, he has been another sparkplug for the Wolverines.

Pioneer Recalls Early Days In Territory On 91st Birthday

buy he did—480 acres of the best land in the best part of Texas, for the huge price of $15.00 an acre.

"While staying in Friona," Paul, who now lives at Laz-buddie, muses "I had to sleep in a tent and the land office was a de-railed box car." He laughs as he recalls how his friends and relatives regarded his leaving Iowa.

"They were sure we'd be scalped by Indians or shot by some swift-handed cowboy." "But," he says, "both the cowboys and the Indians proved valuable friends."

After his house was completed, he returned to Iowa to move his family and possessions. He recalls he shipped everything—household goods, horses, cattle, chickens, machinery, and 500 bushels of shelled corn.

Immediately he began breaking his soil with a one-horse, one-row walking plow.

"After I had about half finished," he relates, "A man came along with an old steam engine with several plows attached. I hired him immediately to finish my plowing, but upon starting out across the prairies to the field the engine backfired and set the prairies afire."

Now a prairie fire was a fear of the plains, so Paul decided to complete the sod breaking the following spring. Joe says he has never seen a better crop than that year. "And," he adds, "I've seen some mighty good ones, too."

When he came here there was a family living at Star Ranch headquarters, perhaps another family or two, and four camps for cowboys—Keifer, Red Tower, Carter Corner, and Four Mile.

Then, as now, there was needed a school and church—on Sunday school at least. By the time the second year rolled around a school opened with seven pupils. The pupils rode for miles on horseback or in carts, taking their lunch and buying their own books. "That's quite different now," he muses. Soon Sunday school classes met in the one-room school house every Sunday, with a different preacher each week.

"But," Paul recalls, "each Sunday after church the whole congregation would gather at a neighbor's house to have dinner (everyone contributing). The afternoon was usually spent in singing and playing games and before the group went home, a meeting place was decided upon for the next Sunday. We had good times and without these united efforts, I'm afraid we'd all have become pessimists instead of occasional discouraged optimists." Other forms of pastime were fall round-ups, baseball, horse shoe pitching, calf riding, coyote hunting, quilting, and trips to the sand hills to gather wild plums, and for those who wished there were dances.

Things that worried the early settlers most were rattlesnakes, panthers, prairie fires and the fear of "losing the way."

"Prairie fires could be seen for miles," says the old-timer, "sometimes lighting up the sky all night and burning for days."

"Everyone had broad fire guards plowed around his home. Rattlesnakes were numerous; and one could hear a pack of coyotes about anytime of the night and an occasional scream of a panther."

Getting lost worried early settlers on the plains.

Paul says, "It soon became an established rule at our house to put lamps (kerosene) in windows facing the four directions when a severe storm came up. A lantern was also put in the windmill tower.

"This," he relates, "guided freighters, cowboys, neighbors, and even old 'Doc' Bean, the Indian, safely to our house during several severe storms. You never knew when you came home, who might have been there, perhaps cooked and eaten; and on several occasions, gone to bed. But we welcomed these passersby; we needed them perhaps more than they needed us."

mail, and doctors, the pioneer says, "Well, transportation was a problem in many ways—no roads, just cow trails. We went to Bovina, then about the greatest cattle shipping center of the world. With no roads to guide us, we just followed the draw to Bovina."

On the way to Farwell, he states, three windmills guided the travelers. Travel was by horseback or wagon and mules.

"Groceries," he continues, "were bought every three months. We received mail a little oftener. Perhaps freighters or neighbors would bring it."

"As for doctors, there were none. In 1918, when the flu was raging, the only doctor that could be secured was a Dr. Peebler from Lubbock. He arrived in a raging snow storm, stayed a day and night with us. We owe much to him. My wife aided the stork in some 40 cases, without the aid of a doctor."

"To sum it all up," Paul says, "there were plenty of hardships, troubles, disappointments, happiness, success, and memories. I guess that's what all lives are made up of."

The nonagenarian spends his time reading, playing dominoes, gardening, and "just plain hoeing." Last summer when his children begged him to quit working too hard, especially hoeing, he calmly replied, "Not half as many people die from hard work as they do running from it. For myself, I'd rather wear out than rust out."

When asked how he planned his life to come so many miles down life's highway, he thoughtfully replied, "Plan? I didn't make the plan. I just try each day to cooperate with Him who did."

Welding Course Completed At School

The Vocational Agriculture Department at Lazbuddie High School has just completed a successful three-day short course in electric acetylene welding.

Robert Cates of the Forney Acetylene Welding Co. instructed all the boys in high school and many adult farmers in the community. This type of instruction has been in line with meeting the changing demands upon our public school systems.

According to the Texas A&M vocational agriculture teacher training department, vocational agriculture is confronted with a series of problems entirely new to our modern times and can be summed up with a few words:

Vocational agriculture can provide agricultural understanding for a large part of the 87 percent of the people who live in cities, can provide useful and gainful self employment, training for citizenship, leadership, business and management training. It is also a strong supporting field for both math and science and gives preliminary training for young men and women employed in agriculture production and industry.

Cates has been holding welding schools in many of the high schools of our area. He thinks Lazbuddie is to be commended for having one of the most efficient vo-ag buildings in the area and the indications are that it will soon be among the best equipped departments.

Champ Cotton Growers Due Honor at Meeting

The champion 4-H and FFA young cotton farmers in Farmer County will be recognized for their efforts at an awards night banquet Monday night at the Hub Community Building.

This is the wind-up of the yearly cotton production contests, sponsored jointly by the Farmer County Cotton Improvement Association and the Plains Cotton Growers.

To be speaker for the program, which begins at 8 o'clock, will be George Pfeifferberger, executive vice-president of PCG, Lubbock. Listening will be 4-H and FFA boys and their supervisors from over the county.

Topping the contest this year were Duane Rea of Bovina, who won the FFA division, and Tommy Tatum of Black, winner in the 4-H competition.

Tatum had the highest yield of any contestant—1056 pounds of lint cotton per acre. He produced this cotton on land that was in milo in 1955 and cotton in 1956. He shredded and disced stubble, "flat broke," floated, listed, watered and planted on May 6. His planting rate was 32 pounds.

Then Tommy rotary hoed two times, and cultivated. He watered July 19 and August 15, and fertilized with 50 pounds of anhydrous ammonia. He used 38-inch rows, and had 11 1/2 inches of rain during the season.

Rea, planting Paymaster 101, got his yield of 945.53 pounds from land that was in wheat last year. He disced, "deep broke," floated, listed, and watered. Duane used a nitrogen-type fertilizer, also. His planting date was May 9.

- The other FFA winners:
- 2—Duane Rea, 892.12 pounds.
  - 3—Jimmy Mabry, Hub, 878.8 pounds.
  - 4—Duane Rea, 871.02 pounds.
  - 5—Duane Rea, 853.82 pounds.
  - 6—Bomar Stacy, Friona, 843 pounds.
  - 7—Duane Rea, 835.74 pounds.
  - 8—Duane Rea.
  - 9—Arnold Kriegel, Bovina, 664.48 pounds.
  - 10—Arnold Kriegel, Bovina, 601.4 pounds.

Other 4-H winners:

- 2—Johnny Mabry, Hub, 1040 pounds.
- 3—Cooper Young, Lazbuddie, 971.5 pounds.
- 4—Joe Bob Johnson, Friona, 957 pounds.
- 5—James Brown, Lazbuddie, 858 pounds.
- 6—Gary Mac Brown, Lazbuddie, 792 pounds.
- 7—Johnny McCuan, Farwell, 748.1 pounds.
- 8—Jerry McCuan, Farwell, 708.7 pounds.
- 9—Johnny Miller, Friona, 693 pounds.
- 10—Randy Price, Friona, 660 pounds.

Business to be transacted at the meeting will include the selection of officers for the county organization for the coming year, and election of two directors—one businessman and one farmer—for the PCG. Coffee and doughnuts will be served.

Land conditioning problems are a lot different this year from those of the previous four or five. High soil moisture and the freezing and thawing process of Mother Nature mellowed the soil considerably. However, many farmers went ahead with plowing as is the usual custom. This field is "flat broke," and shows the characteristic large clumps of soil turned up in such plowing.

Farm Bureau Membership Drive Begins Next Week

The annual membership drive of the Farmer County Farm Bureau will be launched Monday of next week. It will begin with a kick-off banquet Monday night in the Farwell school cafeteria.

To appear on the program for the banquet will be J. H. West, Texas Farm Bureau president. This will be West's second appearance in Farmer County. He was here in 1954 to make an appearance with J. Walter Hammond, who was then TFB president.

West is a long-time Farm Bureau worker, having served on the board of directors of the state organization longer than anyone else. He was elected vice-president in 1956 and president in 1957. He is a member of the governing board of the National Cotton Council. He farms and is in the elevator business in the Coastal Bend area of Texas.

The Monday night meeting will bring together workers for the drive. Gilbert Kaltwasser, county Farm Bureau president, says 53 families will be working on the drive this year.

Their goal is 650 members. Kaltwasser says membership now is about 600, but that 200 memberships are due to expire in March. These 200 will be sought to renew, and another 50 new memberships will be the aim of the workers.

H. L. "Hub" King of Brownfield, district Farm Bureau director, county agricultural officials, and Wilma Norton, county FB queen, will be special guests of the banquet. An attendance of about 100 is anticipated.

The drive will last all of next week, and a "report-back" meeting will be held in Friona on March 3.

Jack Patterson, county vice-president, is membership chairman and will direct the drive.

Areas and worker captains: RHEA AND BOVINA—Jack Patterson, Dennis Williams, and Donald Christian.

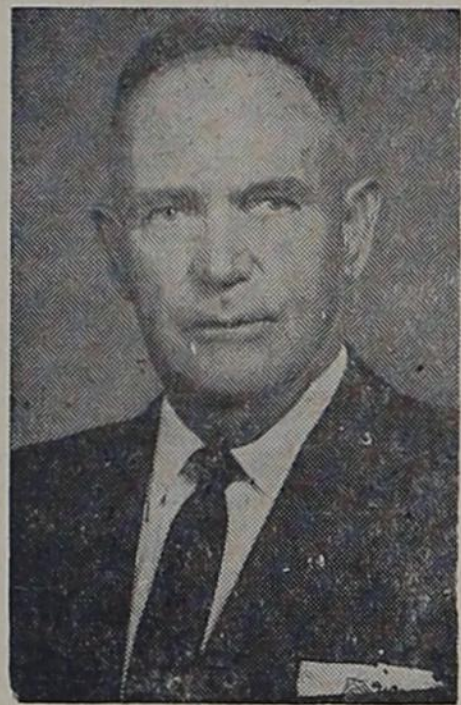

FARWELL, OKLAHOMA LANE, AND LAZBUDDIE—M. T. Glascock, John Range, J. D. White, and L. F. Bruns.

NORTH FRIONA AND BLACK—Ernest Anthony, Roy Miller, and John Henderson.

FOREST CROPS WASTED

The reduction of losses and waste in forest crops is a growing problem, since it is estimated that less than 20 percent of the timber felled reaches the consumer.

Fire fighting courses have been offered by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, attended by foresters from eighteen countries, to study United States methods of forest fire control.

The FAO wood chemistry committee has recommended methods for the conversion of logging and manufacturing waste into packages and building materials. Not long ago, prefabricated houses were manufactured from the waste of tropical forests and shipped to Burma in an attempt to alleviate the housing crisis in that country.

Plains Ginnings Beat 1 1/2 Million

The U. S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, recently announced ginnings of the 1957 crop prior to January 16, 1958. Ginnings on that date of Plains Cotton Growers 23-member counties totaled 1,534,094 bales.

This compares to approximately 1,650,000 bales harvested on that date a year earlier.

Significant are the noticeable decreases from a year ago in Castro, Cochran, Crosby, Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Lubbock, Swisher, Terry and Yoakum counties. Biggest increases are in Dawson, Garza and Lynn counties, all southern counties with only one-third of the cotton acreage irrigated, as compared with 75 to 90 percent irrigated in the central and northern sectors.

All noticeable is the fact that even in a poor year such as 1957, the 23-member counties of the PCG produced more cotton than the entire states of California with 1,527,144 bales; Mississippi with 1,032,485; Arkansas with 920,179; Arizona with 718,854; Alabama with 526,182; Louisiana with 342,982; and Oklahoma with 256,100 bales. Texas had ginned 3,540,304 bales as of January 16. The PCG member counties harvested 42 percent of the Texas crop in 1957.

Below are ginnings on the 1957 crop and the 1956 crop.

WHAT'S IN A WELL

"The use of man-made tritium to determine the content of well water is likely to prove valuable in predicting drought conditions," says Dr. William Libby, a member of the United States Atomic Energy Commission. Dr. Libby's statement was made at a recent United Nations conference in Paris, attended by over 1,000 scientists from twenty-one countries and devoted exclusively to the field of scientific research.

This kind of scientific knowledge in its practical application would provide effective help toward conservation efforts throughout the world.

Corporation profits before taxes have been declining. Where they amount to 13.1 percent of the national income in 1955, they dropped to 12.4 percent in 1957.

Insect Guide Ready

No cotton farmer has to be told about the reduction in profits that insects can cause. But luckily, cotton insects can be controlled economically by the use of the proper poisons at the right time.

Controlling damaging infestations of boll weevils, bollworms and other insects on cotton growing on fertile soils returns substantial profits even when a large number of applications is necessary for maximum yields. On upland soils where insect infestations do not last long, fewer applications may be needed.

Giving information and recommendations for the control of the various cotton insects is the theme of two leaflets recently released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service—L-218, "Texas Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects," and L-219, "Ways to Fight the Pink Bollworm in Texas."

L-218 deals with the more harmful cotton insects. It contains a chart giving the recommended controls and also general information including points on the safe handling of insecticides.

L-219 deals with the pink bollworm specifically. It tells about the habits and damage of the insect and gives special attention on the ways to fight it.

Copies of the leaflets may be obtained from the county agent or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Most homemakers make good use of the various kinds of mixes which can be bought at the grocery store. These easy to use mixes are wonderful time savers. To add a variety to any of them, you simply have to use a different kind of icing. This week we are giving you several recipes for baked-on toppings or icings.

Chocolate Malt Icing

1 cup chocolate malt powder
 2 tablespoons milk
 3/4 cup soft butter
 3 cups sifted powdered sugar
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 Shaved chocolate

Combine malt powder and milk in small mixer bowl. Add butter, powdered sugar, and vanilla. Beat at medium speed until light and smooth. Add little more milk, if necessary, for spreading consistency. Spread on two 8-inch round layers. Stack and sprinkle with shaved chocolate.

Butter Crunch Topping

In heavy saucepan combine 1/2 cup butter and 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar. Stir over medium heat until sugar is dissolved. Remove from heat and add immediately 1/2 cup chopped English walnuts, 1/2 cup flaked coconut, and 2 cups ready-to-eat puffed rice cereal. Pour onto baking sheet to cool, breaking into crumbs with fork as mixture sets.

Spread your favorite cake with instant pudding. Sprinkle Butter Crunch generously over pudding. Keep Butter Crunch on hand for easy cake topping.

Rocky Road Crunch

1 cup vanilla wafer crumbs
 1/3 cup firmly packed brown sugar
 1/3 cup butter
 1 package chocolate chips (6 ozs.)
 1/3 cup chopped blanched almonds

Combine crumbs and sugar. Cut in butter until mixture is crumbly. Add chocolate chips and nuts. Sprinkle evenly over white or chocolate cake batter in two layer pans. Bake and cool layers. Then stack with whipped cream, ice cream, or cream cheese if desired.

Peanut Butter Cream

1/3 cup chunk style peanut butter
 1/3 cup soft butter
 1/3 cup firmly packed brown sugar
 1/3 cup whipping cream
 1 cup chopped peanuts

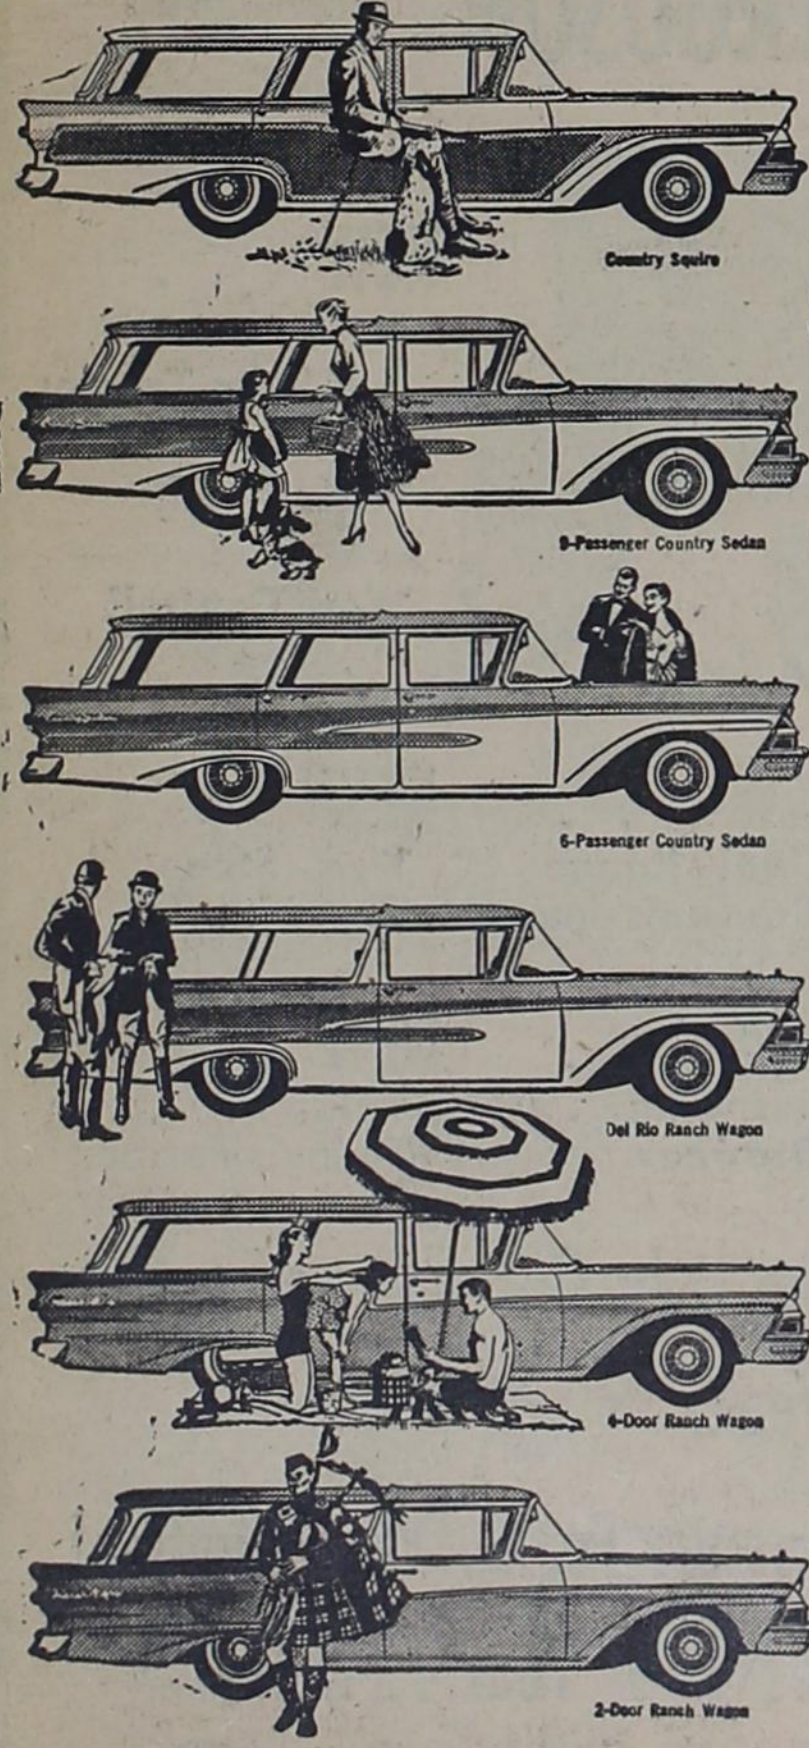

Beat peanut butter with butter, brown sugar, and whipping cream. Spread on 9 inch square cake. Sprinkle peanuts on top. Broil 3 minutes—watch carefully.

There are also a number of spread-on toppings that are very easy to make. If you want chocolate frosting, try this one.

1957 Grain Loans Exceed $11 Million

Late-season estimates on the county grain sorghum production—figured to be something on the order of 14 million bushels—appear not to have been inflated.

Grain sorghum loans processed through the ASC office in Farwell have now topped $11 million for the 1958 crop, and a few more loans are yet to be figured in before the February 28 deadline.

Prentice Mills, ASC office manager, says that "ninety-nine percent of the loans are in." He says he is anxious to compare the Parmer County statistics with those from other High Plains counties.

Mills appears confident that this county's loan total will exceed all others for 1958. This is in spite of the fact that some of the early crop moved out through normal channels of trade, too.

Mills believes that from 10 to 15 percent of the county milo crop was sold this year. This is down substantially from the heavy selling of last year, but is a bigger percentage than went to market in many other High Plains counties, which were more troubled with bad weather.

Parmer County has always ridden near the front in the grain loan statistics. Previously, Hale County has been beating out Parmer for the top rank in this department.

The closest the two counties ever came was in 1955 when only a half million dollars separated them. Hale was tops that year, but placed a considerably higher percentage of the total crop into the loan than the Plains, believes the water authority.

Occasionally, we receive a compliment on the coverage that Farm and Home gives the agricultural news in Parmer County. We appreciate very much the generous comments that many of our friends have made.

It always gives a person a big boost of satisfaction concerning his work if he is occasionally complimented on the results of his efforts.

Every time we travel any distance from home, we return again convinced that the High Plains is the best place in the world to live and work.

Among the great natural resources that we always are bragging about, we should never overlook the greatest one of all: our people. They just aren't like the people of anywhere else we have ever been.

We should guard our reputation as a friendly and progressive people as jealously as we hold our soil and water resources. The human element is the irreplaceable ingredient in any region's makeup.

We must point out that government ownership and operation are grossly inefficient; the socialism does not create wealth but impoverishment; that dialectic materialism is nonsense; that the whole class-struggle argument is false; that workers and managers, employees and employers, are essentially cooperators in production; that the whole system of private capitalism is a marvelous system of social cooperation."

Soybeans Tested By Plains Station

Tests were conducted at the High Plains Station of Texas Research Foundation in cooperation with Baker Castor Oil Company to determine the highest yielding varieties and nitrogen needs of castor beans in this area.

Twelve varieties of castor beans were planted June 8 in four-row plots on hundred feet long at the rate of ten pounds of seed per acre. There were four replications of each variety placed at random in the field so as to eliminate differences due to soil and watering variations. No fertilizer was applied prior to planting and 50 pounds of nitrogen per acre as anhydrous ammonia was sidedressed June 28.

Due to the rainfall during the spring of 1957, no preplant irrigation was applied. However, four post-plant irrigations were made making a total of 12 inches of applied water. There were 17.4 inches of rain during the period of April 1 to October 1 making a total of 29.4 inches of water which could be considered available to plant growth.

It appears that earlier planting and at least one additional irrigation would have appreciably increased the yield of all varieties.

Castor beans are considered to be heavy feeders on nitrogen. Therefore, a nitrogen test with four rates of nitrogen on each of the two varieties was conducted to determine the nitrogen needs of castor beans.

Other than differences in fertilization, these plots received the same treatment as did the variety test. The two varieties used were Baker 296 and Dawn with each receiving four rates of nitrogen as anhydrous ammonia. These rates were (1), no fertilizer; (2), fifty pounds N at planting; (3), one hundred pounds N at planting; and (4), 50 pounds N at planting with 50 pounds N sidedressed July 10.

Table 2 shows no significant increase in yield due to fertilizer applications. However, this test was on Pullman clay loam which had previously been dryland farmed and the available nitrogen may have been sufficient. Soils which have been heavily cropped under irrigation should show increased yield with the use of nitrogen.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

Governor Price Daniel proclaimed February 16 to 22 Farm Bureau Week in Texas. Our local membership drive is the week following this, but we consider it an honor for our governor to give special recognition to this effort to strengthen what he referred to as the most powerful organization in Texas. It occurs to us that this is a distinct honor to the farm people of this great state.

The general rule is that farmers are considered the least unified group of people anywhere. Here is a case where the state's highest elected official refers to them as the best organized and unified group in the state. With the future of REA and farm to market roads at stake, we hope this strength will be increased by new membership that will assure victory over those who seek to destroy these hard-earned rural benefits.

Texas Farm Bureau President, J. Harrell West, of Bishop, Texas, was recently elected to the board of directors of the National Council. He is the first Texas Farm Bureau official to serve in this capacity. He was also named to the board of the Cotton Council International. We consider these nominations marks of confidence in the membership's selection of leadership in the state.

Well, if you have bought eggs in the past that had to be broken in a separate dish before you had the nerve to put them into the skillet or your favorite recipe, we believe the new Texas Egg Law, which went into effect Tuesday will please you. Texas Farm Bureau was the chief supporter of this law, which had a lot of opposition in the last regular legislative session by those who liked to ship rejected eggs from other states, who all had egg laws, to our state. All eggs passing through retail stores will be graded, and you will know what you are getting.

We noted in the paper, Texas Agriculture, that the Farm Bureau at Lamesa had been successful in getting direct phone service from one exchange to the other. We wonder if this might be possible in Parmer County. It seems a little strange that country folks have to pay a toll to talk to a neighbor who happens to live in a different area than the caller, while our city folks can call them all toll free.

Consider this: He that covereth his sins shall not prosper:

but whose confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy. Proverbs 28:13

Bartow, Fla., Polk County Democrat: "... 25,000 surgical operations are being performed in the United States every day in the year... and most of the surgery done today would have been declared impossible by even the best physicians 50 years ago... Few professions have made greater changes or achieved more beneficial progress than has the art of medicine."

A Message to Farmers From Your County Farm Bureau

This is a time of great concern to the farmers of America, and also to the farmers of Parmer County. Although in the past ten years we have managed to attain one of the highest standards of living of any agricultural region in the nation, we are beset with problems of what the future will hold.

The problems which the farmers of today are facing are problems of the type that cannot be dealt with by individuals, no matter how hard they may try. Our problems are wrapped up in economics, in politics, and in world affairs. No one person or small group of persons can hope to cope with them. The time has come when farmers must unite and speak out together for what the majority believe is in the best interest of agriculture as a whole. This is a completely democratic process, and has proved very successful in practice in the many years that Farm Bureau has been the leading farm organization.

Parmer County Farm Bureau is only a small voice—but it is a voice that can and will be heard if we will make use of our opportunity to express ourselves. Our county-wide membership drive is at hand. We need and seek the support and opinions of every thinking farmer in our area. Join with your neighbors this year to present a united front for the things you believe. Join your Parmer County Farm Bureau and participate in the activities of the farm organization that can and does get things done for the farmer.

You, as an individual, can have a very real part in shaping the destiny of agriculture as we know it if you add your voice to the millions of others who proudly display the Farm Bureau emblem.

Help yourself—help your neighbor—by getting in and staying in Farm Bureau. You will find that one of life's most rewarding experiences is participating in group effort... in employing the principles of democracy. You will help build a better, brighter future for yourself and your children when you take an interest in and help chart the course of our area's most important industry.

Farm Bureau Accomplishments and Aims

On the County Level

- Parmer County Farm Bureau inaugurated the program making natural gas available for multiple well use.
- Helped set up REA and RTA in the county, and sponsored enabling legislation.
- Parmer County Farm Bureau Weed Committee, for the past four years, has led in working with commissioners' courts, railroads, the state highway department, and others to control and eradicate noxious weeds on private and public lands. Negotiated with dealers to provide soil sterilants at reduced rates for use in the control program.
- Multiple Service Program for members at actual cost of administration: Gas Tax Refund service, Plains Cotton Cooperative Pool and Loan Service.
- $5 of your dues stays in the county to support your local organization.

On the State Level

- Texas Farm Bureau sponsored and helped pass legislation enabling farmers to receive 5 cents per gallon refund on road tax for non-highway used fuels.
- Texas Farm Bureau sponsored and helped pass legislation making possible Farm-to-Market Roads. Farmers are in danger of losing some funds set aside for these F-M roads. TFB is helping retain these funds for their intended purpose.
- Texas Farm Bureau is protecting our present REA system.
- Many other bills were sponsored and passed by your organization on the state level. Two full time men are employed by Texas Farm Bureau to defend your interests according to your resolutions in Austin during every legislative session. No other farm organization has ever done this.

- $4 of your dues go to Texas Farm Bureau.

On the National Level

- American Farm Bureau has sponsored or favored every major piece of farm legislation put on the books in Washington since 1936.
- American Farm Bureau presently supports and urges increased acreage for cotton... believes support prices for grain sorghums should be comparable to those for corn, with deletion of corn acreage allotments... Commodity Credit Corporation should sell government stocks at no less than 110 percent of cost to avoid loss and dumping of surplus stocks which lower markets for farmers.
- American Farm Bureau believes farmers should have a REAL CHOICE in a marketing referendum.
- AFBF helped defeat many harmful programs (such as the Brannon Plan), which would have been disastrous to agriculture.
- AFBF secured price supports designed to eliminate disastrous seasonal price slumps.
- AFBF championed Public Law 480—for exchanging surpluses for foreign currencies.
- Your national Farm Bureau helped authorize funds for agricultural research and education.
- $1 of your dues goes to American Farm Bureau Federation.

What Still Needs To Be Done

- Improve national farm program
- Support economy in government
- Obtain adequate farm credit
- Get a fair share of the national income
- Expand domestic, foreign markets
- Get income in sound dollars
- Protect agricultural water rights
- Have less government control

Corn growers are still struggling to get their 1957 crop dry enough to qualify for the loan. Lloyd Thompson of Friona, whose plant is shown above, unexpectedly became a "custom dryer" this year. He is handling about 40,000 bushels of corn, reducing it from about 18 percent moisture content to about 13, at a cost of 10 cents a bushel. He dried 20,000 bushels for one man—Gene Boggess. The dryer, which is butane-fired, handles 400 bushels an hour.

Corn Loan Program Extended to Feb. 28

Parmer County corn growers, who have registered great concern over the wet condition of much of their 1957 crop, will be some relieved to learn that the loan program for that commodity has been extended to February 28.

Prentice Mills, ASC office manager, announced this week that loans will be made on corn eligible for such a program, or purchase agreements will be signed with farmers who still can't get in under the February 28 deadline on account of high moisture or some other contingency.

"Producers are advised to contact the ASC office for further information, particularly if they are interested in a farm-stored loan," comments the manager.

He estimates this week that about 70 percent of the county-produced corn had been placed in the loan program (or purchase agreements made), to date, and of that amount, about 60 percent had been in the form of advance purchases.

Several businesses and individuals who purchased grain dryers this year have been surprised at the demand for such equipment, and they have been busy working not only on grain sorghum, but the biggest part of the corn crop as well.

Those who have done drying on a custom or commercial basis in the area include Friona Wheat Growers and Lloyd Thompson of Friona, Carl Schlenker of Rhea, and El Rancho in Clovis. The biggest part of the area corn that has been made acceptable for the loan program has been artificially dried.

The Parmer County ASC committee has requested that the deadline be extended to March 31 to accommodate those who are still having trouble getting their corn to qualify for the loan, but it is unknown whether their request will have the desired effect.

February 28 is also the deadline for grain sorghum, but that time is considered sufficiently late for all growers even after a late harvest year.

Sinton, Tex.—When a friend gave Mrs. Laura Hollon a fryer in a paper bag, she put it in the refrigerator, then went downtown shopping.

Returning a couple of hours later, she took the sacked chicken out, assuming it was ready to prepare for the frying pan.

At the kitchen sink, as she removed the fryer from the sack, its head moved and Mrs. Hollon saw its eyes wink. The unexpected had happened. The friend had given her a live chicken and it had survived two hours on ice!

Cotton Prices To Rise

The U. S. Department of Agriculture last week announced it will support grower prices of 1958 crop cotton at an average of about 81 percent of parity. This means the price of middling 7/8 inch grade will be 30.75 cents a pound. This compares with 28.81 cents for the 1957 crop which was supported at 78 cents of parity.

Better grades will be supported at premiums and poorer ones at discounts from the base grade. The schedule of premiums and discounts will be announced later.

W. O. Fortenberry, president of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., explained that the USDA after announcing this support of the 1958 crop at 81 percent, has the privilege of raising the percent of support later this year, probably this summer, if the cotton situation at that time indicates a need for a higher support price. However, the USDA cannot lower the support percentage from the announced 81 percent.

A possible alternative for cotton producers this year may be offered if a proposed cotton bill, introduced by Senator James Eastland, (D., Miss.) is adopted and passed by Congress. Senator Eastland's bill calls for a referendum to the cotton farmer whereby he would be offered a choice between the announced 81 percent of parity on his crop, or a possible increase in acreage of approximately 25 percent to be supported at 75 percent of parity.

Few cotton observers feel this bill can be passed in time to be effective on the 1958 crop, since planting is already underway in the Rio Grande Valley.

50 in Farwell Local

Membership of the Farwell local of the Farmer's Union is now 50, officers announce. A meeting was held at the City Cafe Monday night to acquaint new members with Union policy.

Fifteen new members were signed at the meeting, which was presided over by Frank Seale, president of the local. Speaker at the meeting was Clayton Graef of Lazbuddie, who is the county FU president.

Elmer Hargrove of the Farwell local and T. O. Lesly of the Lazbuddie local have been appointed delegates for the annual Farmer's Union bus trip to Washington. They left this week and will return March 2. Guy Austin, also of Farwell, was listed as a possible delegate.

A discussion of grain sorghum price legislation now pending in Washington was the main discussion of the evening. Resolutions adopted at the state convention were also reviewed.

Recreation and publicity directors for the Farwell local were appointed also.

Incentive Deadline April 30

All farmers who have sold or will sell wool or unshorn lambs during the 1957 marketing year for wool are reminded that the final date for making applications for incentive payment is April 30.

"This is very important to wool producers, and should not be overlooked," points out Prentice Mills, ASC office manager. The agricultural official believes that interest in wool production in the county is increasing. He estimates that about 50 percent more farmers will be keeping sheep this year than were tending herds just a year ago.

Mills also feels that those who already have been in the sheep business will be expanding operations. "We already have more applications than in all of last year," he notes, "and, usually, we get most of our applications right at the last minute."

Good company in a journey makes the way to seem the shorter.

I don't think much of a man who is not wiser today than he was yesterday.—Lincoln

Willie Wirehand Presents:

The J. W. Gammon Family Of The Lazbuddie Community

Parmer County Farm Family of the Month

Although only being married since 1952 J. W. and Letha Gammon have managed to build an elaborate home, complete to every detail, and are well on the way to raising a family which now consists of two young daughters, Sarah Lyce, age 3 and Cynthia Kay, 8 months.

Residing in the Lazbuddie community J. W. moved to this section of the state from Oklahoma with his family at the age of 5. His attractive wife was raised in Canyon. After their marriage they built the home they now live in 8 miles east of Hub in the Lazbuddie community.

A heavy user of electricity, Mr. Gammon and his wife have designed their home in such a way to make ready use of the cheap and easy source of power.

"I learned early about the uses of electricity," Mr. Gammon says. His fully equipped farm shop, complete with bench lathes, a welding set and other equipment is all powered by electricity. "I've always gotten good performance out of my electric powered machines and even have an electric lawn mower," Gammon says.

Mrs. Gammon is a strong believer in electricity as her modern, up-to-date kitchen is equipped with an electric range, deepfreeze, washer, dryer and the water system for the home depends upon "Willie Wirehand" for power.

Other farm equipment powered by electricity on the Gammon place includes a heat lamp for the pigs and an electric grain loader.

When the time comes for entertainment the young family gathers in the living room to watch television, again made possible through the medium of electricity.
