Ping pong, anyone?

I loved it.

Here I was, talking on the phone with an old friend the night after Christmas. And I just mentioned (some might call it bragging) that I had played 18 holes of golf that very same day.

What's so great about that? Well, my friend lives in Michigan City, Ind. And there were 10 inches of snow on the ground, up that way. Even though we were just talking on the phone, I could virtually see his eyes widening and his mouth forming a grimace at the thought that we could play outdoor sports down here while up there the snow was blowing so hard you couldn't see 10 yards ahead of yourself.

Oh, I loved it.

Now that was the fun part. What I neglected to tell my friend was what is commonly referred to as "the rest of the story" -- my golf game.

Lordy, I don't know how these fellows on television can hit the ball so easily and have it go where they want. And it looks so easy. I mean, it's not like baseball where the ball is moving 90 miles an hour. And it's not like football where the ball is bent all out of shape and you still have to catch it.

It's just stationary in golf. It just sits there waiting to be slammed-banged. Then why is it so hard????

Anyway, to let you know what transpired, me and a friend hit the Farwell Country Club links right after I got the paper out last Thursday.

To make a long story short, I had my usual outstanding game:

1. My drives "ducktailed." That means, I was told, that I was doing something seriously wrong, perhaps a felony. Anyway, the ball, instead of going 250 yards down the fairway, skipped and hopped about 50. It left me, as they say in football parlance, in "poor field position."
2. When hitting the ball off the fairway with my ol' trusty 3 wood, it brought to mind the sport of baseball. Y'see, every drive turned into a ground ball. Good thing there wasn't a shortstop around.
3. Chipping onto the green becomes a really exciting aspect of the game when it's me doing it. Yes, I know you're not supposed to turn your wrists. You just tell that to my wrists; they have a mind of their own. You'd be surprised how far a chip shot can go when you turn your wrists. Actually, I'm not surprised any more; I'm getting good practice at it.
4. Putting means stroking the ball into the hole. I have that part down pat -- knowing what "putting" means. Unfortunately, I haven't been able to put that aspect of the game into practice yet. Two-putting a green is a piece of cake they say; well, I must be on a diet.

Actually, of the 18 holes I played on, I had scores of double-bogey or less on 14 of them. But the other four were catastrophes.

I won't tell you what those four scores were; I'm ashamed to. Just think to yourself of high numbers. Very high numbers.

Let's put it this way, I only needed an 8 on the final hole of my second round to set a new personal record. I didn't come close. I don't understand why. I went to church on Sunday...

I have the normal amount of excuses, but there isn't room in this newspaper to list them all. Funny thing about golfers -- the problem is never themselves; it's always the bad ball, narrow fairways, fast greens, high sky, low moon, brisk winds, etc. In my case, all those alibis were present, especially the low moon.

So that's how 1985 ended for my golf game -- ups and downs. I'm sure 1986 will be better.

They keep telling me it's all a matter of attitude. And I admit my attitude hasn't been the best, not after hitting a drive at a 180 degree angle. At times like that I even use bad words.

But this year my attitude will change. I will be positive about my game. I will not slice the ball into the tundra. I will not use bad words. I will take up ping pong.

Gen. Stephen Austin arrives in New Orleans

[Editor's note: As part of the Texas Sesquicentennial Celebration this year, eight local businesses -- Security State Bank, Franse Irrigation, Worley Mills, Farmers Cooperative Elevator, Sherley-Anderson Grain [Lariat], Five Area Telephone Cooperative, Eastern New Mexico Rural Telephone Cooperative and West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative -- will be bringing you a weekly column about events in Texas 150 years ago. We hope you enjoy this weekly feature.]

1836: FRIDAY, JANUARY 1. General Stephen F. Austin arrived in New Orleans this morning on the schooner "William Robbins," after a five-day voyage from Brazoria, a port on the Brazos River of Texas. He heads a delegation of three commissioners appointed by the Provisional Government of Texas to obtain loans for their government. The other two are Dr. Branch T. Archer and William H. Wharton.

The Provisional Government was set up last November by a Consultation consisting of delegates elected from the municipalities of Texas. Although it is a Mexican territory, Texas is unlike any other portion of that country. It has been settled mostly by Americans, attracted there by "empresarios," who were granted free land by the Mexican government to bring in settlers. General Austin is without doubt the foremost of these "empresarios."

Anglo-American settlers now outnumber native Mexicans in Texas almost eight to one. Few Mexicans have ventured to cross the arid wasteland between the Rio Grande and the Nueces Rivers. They call it "El Desierto Muerto," the dead desert. Beyond this desert, north of the Nueces River, is good land and good climate. By offering this land to Americans, the Mexican government has sought to create a buffer zone between the warlike Indian tribes to the north and the rest of Mexico.

The settlement program was begun some 15 years ago, and has been enormously successful--indeed, too successful for the Mexican government, which now is unable to control the immigrants. It is estimated that there are now more than 28,000 Anglo-Americans in the region, while there are only some 3,600 native Mexicans. It is thought that there are about 15,000 Indians there, and perhaps 5,000 Negroes, counting both slave and free. Texas is not a separate Mexican state, but is attached to Coahuila in a unit called the State of Coahuila and Texas, now with its capital in Monclova, Coahuila. Formerly the capital was in Saltillo, and both places are far too remote for the settlers north of the Nueces River. This has resulted in such dissatisfaction.

Texian relations with the Mexican government have become increasingly strained since 1830, when empresario grants were discontinued and immigration into Texas prohibited. This was later rescinded, but the situation has been further aggravated by the arbitrary actions of the Mexican dictator Santa Anna, who seized power in 1833. Last summer he suspended the Constitution of 1824, which provided some autonomy and legal protection to the Mexican states, including Texas. There is considerable military opposition to Santa Anna throughout Mexico. The Mexican government has been in turmoil since it gained independence from Spain in 1821, and Mexican presidents since then usually obtain their office by force.

Many Texians have wished to stay with Mexico, since their land titles are Mexican, and they have tax-exempt status. However, they demand a return to the Constitution of 1824, and also that Texas become a state of its own, separate from Coahuila. A growing number are coming to believe that complete separation from Mexico is the only course, with the expectation that Texas will then be immediately annexed by the United States. As late as last November, the Consultation which met in San Felipe de Austin voted two for one for adherence to Mexico, but now most favor independence.

General Austin has only recently come to favor independence. Three years ago he went to Mexico City to petition for a separate State of Texas, but was denied, although other concessions were made. On his way home he was arrested by order of President Santa Anna, charged with inciting insurrection. He was held in prison without trial for more than a year, the first three months in solitary confinement. Upon his release, his health impaired, he was eventually permitted to return to Texas. He arrived last September, after an absence of two years and four months. He has now joined the movement for independence, stating that "war is our only resource."

That war is already under way. Last October Austin was elected commander-in-chief of a Texian army of some 500 volunteers, and there have been a number of encounters, in all of which the Texians have been victorious. The most important was the capture of the Mexican stronghold at San Antonio de Bexar a month ago. General Austin, who does not consider himself to be a military man, resigned his command to become commissioner. He has since been succeeded by General Sam Houston, appointed Major General of the Army of Texas by the Consultation at San Felipe.

The Texas commissioners have been met here with great enthusiasm. A land buyer bound for Texas, who is currently presiding in the same hotel as General Austin, reports: "This house is much thronged, many persons are crowding to the bar room to see the commissioners and hear about Texas. Indeed, we can scarcely hear of anything else." There can be no doubt that the people of the United States give their wholehearted support to Texas independence. Volunteers are streaming into Texas, including our own New Orleans Greys. Whether the United States government will also support Texas independence remains to be

Ivins: God teaches us to share what we have

Dr. J.R. Ivins left Farwell in early December to join a group sponsored by Operation Mexico Mission from Phoenix, Ariz.

The seminar group was made of doctors and dentists. The group spent a week in a town called San Jeronimito, Mexico, with a population of about 10,000. They have no doctor or dentist.

The nearest town is called Petatlan, about 10 miles away. That has the closest medical facility. Also, they had two dentists from the town to assist at San Jeronimito.

Ivins' main job was extraction of teeth. "We had to take everything with us to use. There was no plumbing, electricity and no windows in the homes," he recalled. "There is a river that runs through town. In this river the people bathe, wash clothes and cook. Most of these people are malnourished. They eat a lot of fruit and not much meat. There are chickens but they are usually eaten at special occasions.

"Agriculture consists mainly of coconut farms, mangos and papayas.

We stayed in Ixtapa, Mexico, just 20 miles away. It was very nice and the living condition was really different."

Ivins became aware of the organization through Rev. Dudley Bristow, former pastor of Farwell, now residing in Mesa, Ariz. He met with the organization and learned of the people's needs.

When asked why he went, Ivins said, "I really enjoy it. The people need the work. As Christians, God teaches us to share what we have. The people are so nice, friendly and sincere. They are really appreciative."

This was not his first trip to Mexico. He had been there eight times. This was his first trip to San Jeronimito and he is planning to return in April.

In September Mexico had an earthquake that did a lot of damage. At the Zihuatenejo airport some of the cracks were a footwide.

"While there, we had a small earthquake. It did not do a lot of damage. The people started running outside in the street. They have traumas all the time, but since the bad one hit it has them scared," said Ivins.

"We ate with the people of the town. They fixed us chicken and fruits. The homes do not have windows. It was nothing special to see animals going through the room while you ate.

"On the way back, the plane had a blow-out. They fixed that. Then when we stopped again, the tires blew again. From then on, it was a good trip.

"What impressed me the most was the commitment and sincerity of the people. The culture of the people is warm and friendly. I observed the people to be strong in their families and beliefs. They have a purpose," said Ivins.

1839: SATURDAY, JANUARY 5. The Fourth Congress of the Republic of Texas today passed and sent to President Mirabeau B. Lamar for signature an act establishing a public education system for the Republic. It is thought to be the first program of its kind to be set up by any nation in the world. It provides that three leagues (about 13,285 acres) of public land be set aside in

Hughes to speak

The latest wrinkles in an old concern of area farmers and ranchers will be examined in Amarillo Jan. 9 during the annual High Plains Irrigation Conference.

Farmers, ranchers, scientists and educators will share their experience and research on an issue which has been of vital importance to area producers for several decades: effective and efficient use of water.

The conference, sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will be held at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, 6500 Amarillo Blvd., West. Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Don Hardy, owner of Don Hardy Race Cars, Floydada, will discuss the benefits of high engine efficiency in irrigation systems. Walter Hughes, Farwell branch manager of Tide Products, will discuss the potentials for chemigation, the application of chemicals through the irrigation system.

each county for support of primary schools or academies. Where there is not sufficient good land in a county, the law provides that land elsewhere be assigned to that county for this purpose. The Chief Justice and two Associate Justices of each county are designated as a school board to administer the lands and the schools. Minimum standards for teachers are established, requiring that all teachers must obtain certificates and have the ability to teach reading, writing, English grammar, arithmetic and geography.

It must be noted, however, that in view of the current depression in Texas and the great reduction in land values, there is considerable doubt that this act can be implemented in the near future.

1843: WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 4. A treaty of trade between Holland and the Republic of Texas was put into force today. Holland has recognized the Republic since September 18, 1840, in a treaty negotiated by President Lamar's emissary to Europe, General James Hamilton, a former governor of South Carolina.

Texas has been recognized by a number of foreign nations, the first being the United States, on March 3, 1837. In Paris, General Hamilton negotiated a treaty of trade and recognition with France on September 25, 1839. It set duties on the importation of Texas cotton into France, and of French silks, wines and brandies into Texas. Although a trade agreement with England was negotiated as early as July, 1838, England did not formally recognize Texas until November, 1840, when three treaties were negotiated. One related to commerce and navigation and provided for increased trade relations between the two nations. Another provided for British mediation with Mexico to obtain a peace treaty between Mexico and Texas. The treaty stipulates that if successful within six months, Texas would assume a portion of the Mexican foreign debt to England in the amount of one million pounds sterling ($5,000,000). The third treaty dealt with the suppression of the African slave trade, giving each nation the mutual right of search of a limited number of ships of each nation. England apparently desired this treaty for internal political value, and to put pressure on the United States for a similar treaty. It is illegal under the Texas Constitution to import slaves from any country other than the United States.

Belgium became the fifth nation to recognize Texas, in 1841. The Republic has maintained consuls, who work on a commission basis, in numerous cities in the United States and England, as well as in Paris, Bordeaux, Certe (often spelled Sete), Rouen, Bayonne, Glasgow, Dublin, Antwerp, Bremen, Amsterdam, and Rotterdam.

White wins tail feather contest

Gary White, of Oklahoma Lane, won the annual Pheasant Tail Feather Contest for Parmer County.

He turned in a tail feather which was 25 3/8 inches long. The feather came off the first pheasant White shot at on the season's opening day at his farm.

32 attend get-together

Thirty-two people attended the Christmas get-together Dec. 28 at the Ophel McDonald home.

Mrs. McDonald said, "It was fun, loud and messy."

The day was full of visiting and a lot of food.

Those attending were J.J. and Kim McDonald; Leroy and Pauline Hereford; Don and Marline of Lazbuddie; Billie, Margie, Brian and Tanya McDonald of San Antonio; David, Carolyn, Jerry and Laurie of Hereford; Donny, JoAnn, Julia and Joshua of Lazbuddie; Pam and J. Kirk Sealy of Clovis; Sharla and Tammara McDonald of Clovis; Connie Thoman and sons Russell and Ross of Levelland; Hugh McDonald of Lubbock; Claud and Dale Jones of Lubbock; Annie Harvey of Portales and Jimmie, Mandy, Jennifer and Michelle McDonald of Lubbock.

White received a check for $30 from contest sponsors Farwell Hardware, Security State Bank and Sherley-Anderson-Pitman grain elevator.

Receiving the second place prize of $15 was Gaylen Carson of Bovina. The feather turned in was 25 5/16 inches long.

M.H. Carson of Bovina got the third place prize of $10 for a feather which was 24 13/16 inches long.

Also, Ricky Stewart reported that Jeff Brown of Texico shot a pheasant with a tail feather of 27 5/16 inches in length. This feather was ineligible for the Parmer County contest since it was taken in New Mexico, south of Texico. It was the second largest ever taken, said Stewart. The record is held by Pete Jesko of Clays Corner in 1973 - 27 3/4 inches long.

Here's a look at the contest's past winners and the length of the tail feathers turned in:

- 1968 - Ronnie Wines, 25 7/8.
- 1969 - Henry Haseloff, 25.
- 1970 - Mark Haseloff, 24 1/2.
- 1971 - Bill Johnson, 25 1/4.

Farm Bill is 'income neutral'

Barring unforeseen developments the effect of the newly-passed farm bill in 1986 should be "income neutral" for most cotton producers, says Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock.

The bill, to be signed into law Dec. 23, reduced the cotton loan rate from 57.3 cents to 55 cents, Johnson points out, "but it continues the current 81-cent per-pound target price. So what most producers lose in loan or market value of their crops will be offset by a higher deficiency payment rate."

However, he says, the bill retains the current $50,000 limit on deficiency payment without a higher per-pound rate is going to come up with a loss of total combined income from the loan and deficiency payment."

After 1986 the loan is to be set each year under the same market-oriented formula contained in the 1981 Act, with a 50-cent floor and a five percent limit on year-to-year reductions.

The target price will drop to 79.4 cents in 1987, 76.9 cents in 1988, 74.5 cents in 1989 and 72.9 cents in 1990.

Deficiency payments will be made on actual plantings within permitted acres as now. A new feature, however, will permit producers to earn payments on 92 percent of base acres minus acreage reduction requirements and diversion if they plant a least 50 percent of those acres. The Secretary will be permitted, but not required, to pay up to 50 percent of expected deficiency payments in advance. Up to five percent of the full payment may be made in PIK cotton, in advance, but the producer won't be able to claim the CCC cotton until the normal harvest date for his region.

Payment yields, always a prime concern of High Plains producers, in 1986 and 1987 will be set at an average of each farm's program payment yields for the years 1981 through 1985, excluding the high and low years. For 1988 through 1990, the Secretary may at his discretion begin phasing in actual yields.

The new law leaves to the Secretary's discretion the setting of 1986 acreage bases, but it is reported the Secretary has agreed to set them at the average of planted and considered planted acres for the past two years. Thereafter the average of the previous five years' bases is to be used, with the total of crop bases limited to available cropland. Also the Secretary can permit 10 percent of total bases on a farm to be shifted between crops.

The Secretary is given authority for an unpaid acreage reduction program up to 25 percent. Any reduction above 25 percent must be paid. If the Secretary permits, producers foregoing loan and deficiency payments may lay out half the acreage required for program participation and receive a cotton PIK payment equal to the difference between the loan and the loan repayment level set under the program's "market enhancement" provisions.

The market enhancement part of the bill provides that the Secretary is required to make U.S. cotton competitive in domestic and export markets by allowing producers to repay loans at a level approximating the world price. He can (1) set a fixed loan repayment level not more than 20 percent below the loan and announced by November 1 of the previous year or (2) determine the world price from time to time and announce the loan repayment rate at that level periodically during the season.

No segment of the economy has ever been challenged to change so fast and so completely as has the new agriculture.

Never in American history have so many innovations been adopted in such a short time.

When these changes have required capital, your Federal Land Bank Association has been a primary source of funds. We recognize the inevitability of change — except in the importance of the man and the land. We also believe that a free agriculture — based on the family farm — will continue to flourish in any new environment.

Basketball Action!!!

Basketball tryouts scheduled

Play Inc. of Clovis will have its boys' basketball league registration and tryouts Monday at 7 p.m. Texas time.

Farwell 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th grade boys will meet at the Farwell old gym.

Texico 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th grade boys will meet at the Texico old gym.

The registration fee is $15. Boys must bring with them their birth certificates.

If any questions, call Leigh Ann Woods at 481-9135 or Joyce Armstrong at 482-9991.

Muleshoe turns back Farwell

The Farwell varsity basketball boys lost to Muleshoe, 71-65, Dec. 30.

Scoring for Farwell were David Woods, 17; Danny Rubio, 10; Kevin Owen, 8; Jesse Anzaldua, 8; Jody Ketcherside, 8; Eric Williams, 7; Roy Perales, 6 and Damon George with 1.

"We turned the ball over too many times. They beat us at our game. Muleshoe just got out of a tournament and probably was more ready to play than we were. Due to our size it takes total effort all four quarters to win," said Coach Larry Gregory.

The team plays Elida Jan. 2 at 8:30 p.m. in the Bovina tournament. Farwell's record is 6-8.

Farwell varsity girls lose

The Farwell varsity basketball girls lost to Muleshoe, 71-39, Dec. 30.

Scoring for Farwell were Alma Nicolas, 11; Cheryl Stanton, 9; Ursula Dollar, 6; Sherilyn Thigpen, 5; Shonda Foster, 4; Trena George, 2 and Dana White, 2.

According to Coach George Langan, "Muleshoe played a full court press. We handled them pretty well in the first half. It was a good effort by Nicolas, Thigpen and Dollar. They kept us in the game 28-28 at halftime.

"The second half we went cold at the foul line, and shooting from the field. A tough man-to-man defense took momentum from us."

Farwell JV girls defeated

The Farwell junior varsity basketball girls lost to Muleshoe, 48-31, Dec. 30.

Scoring for Farwell were Amanda Perales, 12; Kelly Brown, 5; Robbie Fly, 3; Michele Stover, 3; Hollie Salamone, 3; Tonya Price, 2; Terri Hillock, 2 and Kelly Anderson with 1.

According to Coach George Langan, "We got off to a slow start. We didn't run our offense very well. We missed numerous free throws. We let them get a first half lead and we couldn't overcome. We outscored them in the second half, but we couldn't catch up."

Farwell comes back to win

The Farwell junior varsity basketball boys defeated Muleshoe in overtime, 62-59, Dec. 30.

Scoring for Farwell were Jeff Atkinson, 21; Boney Nicolas, 19; Ruben Ortega, 8; Donald Rubio, 5; Shawn Didyoung, 4; Robbie White, 3 and Brian Haseloff, 3.

According to Coach Larry Gregory, "This was a real good win for us. We came from 10 down in the fourth quarter to win the game. Muleshoe is considerable larger next to us. Atkinson and Nicolas played real well."

Farwell's record is 6-2.

Irrigation conference slated

The Sixth Annual Irrigation and Agricultural Conference has been set for Jan. 13, at the Bailey County Civic Center in Muleshoe. The Conference has been co-sponsored every year by Blackwater Valley Soil and Water Conservation District, Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Bailey County Electric Cooperative Association. The meeting is open to all of the area farmers, Ag businessmen, financial representatives, power suppliers, and other interested persons. The primary objective of this Conference is to reveal any known changes that will affect the farming industry in the near future, and to bring any information to the farmer that will help him in making his management decisions for the coming year. The new farm bill that Congress just recently passed and the President signed will be discussed by Danny Noble, ASCS County Executive Director. Henry Taylor, FMHA County Supervisor, will discuss the FmHA Farm Loan Program which seems to be of great importance to many of the people in our area. Wayne Wyatt, Manager, High Plains Underground Water District, will have details on the Texas Water Legislation. These are just some of the items on the program that are of most concern and interest in this region of the country. There are other topics that will be discussed which will be of benefit and informational to those attending, and there will be plenty of time for questions and answers on each topic. Registration for the Conference will begin at 8:30 a.m. The program will begin at 9 and will end around 2:15 p.m. There will be a free lunch served.

Warnke named Chamber speaker

The Texico-Farwell Lions Club has been discussing sponsoring a McGruff program in the Twin Cities. The banquet will be Saturday, Feb. 15, at the Farwell Community Center. Decorations will be handled by ESA Sorority. As part of the banquet, a Farwell Man of the Year and Farwell Woman of the Year are chosen. Last year's recipients were Benny Haney and Frances Kube. Nominations are now being accepted for the Man of the Year and Woman of the Year awards. Nominations should be sent to Chamber Secretary Dutch Quickel, Box 117, Farwell, Texas 79325.

Farwell residents see 'The Glory of Christmas'

Carrie Christian, Wendol and Dot Christian, all of Farwell recently flew to Garden Grove, Calif. to see "The Glory of Christmas," a living Nativity Pageant presented by the Crystal Cathedral. The Cathedral is about the size of 1 1/2 football fields. There are seats for 5,000 people. "Atop 13 stories is a prayer tower. It is very inspirational, said Carrie Christian. "The pastor of the church is Dr. Robert Schuller. Dr. Schuller has the same theological views as Dr. Vincent Peale." The narrator was Dean Jones and Mary was played by Debby Boone. They rented a car and traveled to Long Beach where they visited with Cricket Taylor, a former resident of Farwell.
