Mayors Call For Three Billion For Huge Work-Relief Program

FDR Says His Estimate To Be Raised

Hopkins Asserts 18-Million Receiving Public Assistance

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—The United States conference of mayors asked President Roosevelt today to recommend that congress appropriate $3,000,000,000 to give work to 3,500,000 needy unemployed.

18,000,000 Get Help The mayors conferred with the president shortly after he had told a press conference that his billion dollar estimate for work relief in the next fiscal year would have to be increased.

The growing relief problem was brought to the attention of congress during the day by Harry L. Hopkins, the WPA administrator, who, in testimony before the senate unemployment committee, asserted 18,000,000 men, women and children were now receiving public assistance.

The mayors' committee said in a statement issued after the talk with Mr. Roosevelt that the present recession had resulted in "widespread unemployment" and had forced relief needs in many cities to rise to "staggering levels."

While there is some evidence of a slackening in the precipitous rate of decline in industrial and business activity which occurred in recent months, the mayors added, "there is no question that the full effects of the decline, in terms of the destitution which follows unemployment have not yet been felt."

Loans To Cities At his press conference, the president said one feature of the work program being discussed was long term loans without interest, to municipalities.

He said he had not decided whether to combine public works and work relief proposals in one message to congress to make them separate.

One billion dollars for relief was proposed in the president's January budget message.

Mr. Roosevelt discussed relief shortly after Harry Hopkins, the WPA administrator, urged congress

Total purchases in the international market including the United States, Canada, Australia and Argentina were estimated by traders as high as 10,000,000 bushels, a sharp contrast to recent hand-to-mouth takings from abroad.

The excavation scene here was duplicated many times in the city as motorists dug out. Slain Women's Luggage Is Sought

Officers 'Start Over' In Probe Of Murder Case

EL PASO, April 8 (AP)—Discarding a welter of worthless findings, authorities today started anew their investigation into the baffling, nine day old slaying of Mrs. Weston G. Frome and her daughter in the desert east of here last week.

Fox said he believed fingerprints could yet be obtained from the luggage. Plaster casts are also being made of automobile tracks leading into the desert near Van Horn.

ALICEVILLE, Ala., April 8 (AP)—Hurling 100 yards through the air as they sat huddled in their small automobile, Pooley Latham's family of five told today an amazing story of escape from death in the tornado that left much of this community in ruins.

Latham, a 24-year-old truck driver, hustled his family into the automobile when he heard the tornado roar into Aliceville.

"I thought we could make it to a pine thicket, where we would be safe," he said, "but the storm got here too quick."

Allotment On Cotton Not So Large

County's Acreage Likely To Be Near 65,500 Acres

Tabulations completed by the county agent's staff Friday indicated a cotton allotment for Howard county considerably under the preliminary allotment made by the state committee for the area.

After compiling figures on total crop land, County Agent Griffin said that the results indicated an allotment near 65,500 acres might be the ultimate result of adjustments.

The state committee had announced that the county allotment would be 73,858 acres to cotton land. Based on county land last year and retired land under the program (60 per cent of which is to be the allotment minimum) the allotment for the county would be 65,400 acres to cotton.

From the tabulations, the agent found that the total crop land of the county amounted to 177,009. Of this amount, 88,951 acres were planted to cotton, giving the first basis for accurate estimates on average yields over the county. With a production of around 45,000 bales, the yield then was around half a bale to the acre.

During the past year, 128,504 acres were under the program, 60,007 of this planted to cotton. There were 44,161 acres in non-participating farms planting 27,254 acres of the total to cotton. Non-cotton raising farms had 4,394 acres.

In arriving at the crop land figure, the county committee determined that there were 1,277 acres of normally idle farm land, that the normal wheat allotment (or exclusive wheat acreage) was 4,439 acres, and that there were around 2,000 acres in farms on which no cotton has been raised for the past three years. The sum of these is subtracted from the original crop land total in computing for cotton allotment for the county.

Because the Howard county original allotment from the state committee appeared to be considerably higher proportionately than in some neighboring counties, some believed that there might be some revisions to bring down the allotment figures so that the general base total might be hiked. Else, very few farms in the county can hope for sufficient general base acreage, or at least an insufficient amount on which to draw payments.

Blum Resigns After Defeat In Senate

Denied Financial Authority, Cabinet Steps Down

PARIS, April 8 (AP)—Premier Leon Blum formally announced the resignation of his government tonight after the senate had voted down his demand for dictatorial powers over French finance.

Immediately after the senate, by a vote of 223 to 49, had shown its disdain for his "last call," the premier dashed out of the Luxembourg palace, the senate building, through the ranks of steel-helmeted mobile guards to the chamber of deputies.

There he announced his resignation to the deputies of his own socialist party, who had assembled to hear his decision.

He told them he was going to the Elysee Palace to tell President Albert Lebrun he was through.

Blum had declared that dictatorial powers over the nation's finance and economy formed the only solution of France's difficulties, and that if the senate refused them to him they would have to give them to another government.

He said that the majority supporting him in the chamber of deputies—which gave his bill grudging approval Wednesday, 33 to 220—was "founded on the masses of the country in a movement of great scope."

He declared it "improper that the constitution should give the upper house the same rights as the chamber elected by universal suffrage."

"The working class has awakened to its rights," he said. "The vote came after a bitter debate in which the socialist premier, fighting for his financial proposals, challenged the right of the senate to cause the downfall of his government."

"Let me tell you again," Blum shouted, "you have no right to decide the fate of my government."

Outside the senate building steel-helmeted mobile guards carrying carbines packed back and forth.

Agency Bill Vote Delayed

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—The house shouted down an amendment to the reorganization bill today which Representative Case (R-SD) proposed as a means of preserving the independence of the general accounting office and comptroller general.

Consideration of that phase of the measure, followed house approval, without a word of debate, a provision of the reorganization bill that would authorize the president to appoint six administrative assistants. They would be paid $15,000 a year.

After defeat of Case's amendment, Representative May (D-KY) proposed to eliminate all the provisions dealing with the general accounting office and a proposed new office of auditor general.

The scrap over the accounting section of the bill and another on the civil service commission. Speaker Bankhead told reporters will make final action on the bill improbable before tomorrow.

SNOW DRIFTS PILE UP 20 FEET; PLAINS CROPS BADLY DAMAGED

School Buses, Automobiles, Trains Stalled; One Bus With 30 Children Not Yet Reached; Snow And High Winds Continue

Snowbound Panhandle and South Plains sectors grappled today with the worst spring blizzard in 25 years, drifts that piled 20 feet high in spots paralyzing traffic, killing cattle and crops and endangering trapped motorists.

School buses and motorists were stranded on impassable highways. Cattle drifted and tore down fences hidden by snow. Sheared sheep and spring lambs died by the hundreds. Ruined fruit lay on the ground. The wheat belt took a terrific beating and faced partial ruin.

Snow still swirled and gale-like winds—77 miles an hour in one area—lashed a battered countryside. Trains were stalled miles from station stops.

Five hundred children hovered in Cottle county school houses late yesterday when school buses stalled in snowdrifts. Two days of constant snowfall left drifts 20 feet high in that sector. Fifteen miles from Paducah the Quannah, Acme and Pacific passenger train stood still while snow piled high over its side.

No casualties were reported in the stricken area but fear was felt for scores of motorists exposed to bitter weather on blocked highways.

28 Dead In Storm

Severe Weather Takes A Heavy Toll Over U.S.

CHICAGO, April 8 (AP)—Thirteen deaths in a Georgia flood raised to 23 the death toll today of storms gripping a broad section of the nation for the third successive day.

At least ten other persons perished in an Alabama tornado. Elsewhere, communities were harassed by sleet and snow, cold rains and rising rivers and the forecast of continued weather disturbances.

More snow and sleet was predicted for parts of Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Iowa, lower Michigan, Missouri and Kansas; rain for parts of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, with possible gales on southern Lake Michigan.

Fair weather was forecast for Arizona, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and western Texas which were among the first to suffer the heavy April snow Wednesday.

Heavy rains poured upon the south and some eastern states today. Hardest hit were Virginia and Maryland. At Meridian, Miss., 5.76 inches of rain fell during the last 24 hours.

Occasional rain fell in New York City and in New Jersey light rain, with possible gales on southern Lake Michigan.

Fourteen inches of snow piled up in Dodge City, Kan. Coffeyville, Kan., schools were closed. At Kansas City snow and sleet measured six inches.

One train was stalled and motorists were stranded by four foot drifts in western and northern Oklahoma.

Another Day Winds blew over Chicago at velocities of 30 to 45 miles an hour and snow and sleet were forecast to continue until tomorrow morning.

Weather bureau observers said wintry weather probably would continue for at least another day over the region lashed by spring storms.

Damage wrought by the mid-week snowstorm was estimated at well over a million dollars. Losses to fruit orchards and utilities property in Ohio alone were estimated at a million.

Drifting snow kept many roads closed in Iowa, Wisconsin, Nebraska and Illinois. The Northwestern Bell Telephone company estimated its property damage in Iowa and Nebraska at $200,000. Repair crews labored to restore service disrupted when 5,500 poles snapped. Officials said there were about 31,000 wire breaks.

Eighty-six Nebraska towns and 125 Iowa communities were without telephone or telegraph service immediately after the storm. Some Illinois and Indiana communities also were cut off.

Oil Seizure Protested Britain Calls On Mexico To Restore Company Holdings

LONDON, April 8 (AP)—Britain has informed Mexico she considers expropriation of foreign oil companies "inherently unjustified" and has requested restoration of the holdings of the British-owned Agulita company.

(Agulita, owned by Royal Dutch Shell, was largest of the 17 American, British and Dutch companies in the $400,000,000 industry taken over by President Lázaro Cardenas March 18.)

The British position was made known to the Mexican government through Owen St. Clair O'Malley, minister to Mexico City. It was announced today.

O'Malley was instructed to tell Mexico the British government had hoped the Mexican government would have "recognized the injustice of their action and have taken steps on their own initiative to adopt the only method which can really remedy the situation—by restoring the properties."

MEXICO CITY, April 8 (AP)—A cash and carry system on Mexican oil production was established today as current reports pointed to Japan as seeking a place in the Mexican field.

Gustavo Espinosa Mireles, head of the government-controlled export oil company administering the 17 expropriated American, British and Netherlands oil companies, announced that several offers by foreign countries were under consideration and that all transactions would be on the cash basis, or guaranteed by credit letters.

READING AND WRITING

'JOURNEYS BETWEEN WARS,' by John Dos Passos; (Harcourt, Brace; $3).
John Dos Passos has assembled 395 pages of the pieces he has written when on the wing into a book he calls "Journeys Between Wars." These are not altogether old pieces; some of the material is new. The effect of the whole is extraordinary.

This is very well illustrated by the first half hundred pages or more. These describe a walking trip from Madrid to the sea by way of Toledo, undertaken shortly after the war. The scenes in Madrid are a little tentative, although there is a bit about a dancer which probably is not exact reporting, but which certainly is effective prose.

At Toledo the Alcazar is incredibly beautiful (it was an effective building, but one might not think it beautiful). A walk through the narrow streets finds the faces of women behind every lattice; when oranges and slops are poured on the traveler and his friend, it is an adventure, not the just result of an indiscretion.

There is such richness in some of this prose, and it produces such a succession of images, that one cares very little whether the images came out of the writer's mind, or are truth.

Those who attempt to crash the coming 30th annual conclave will be prosecuted, said the emperor, adding: "We have a staff of 45 attorneys to proceed against these chiselers."

'What Shall I Wear?' Not Alone A Feminine Problem; Boys' Class At High School Ponders The Question

'What Shall I Wear?' a universal question, has been the theme for the last several weeks among the boys of the Social Problems class.

Realizing that Shakespeare was right when he said "All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players"—the boys have delved into the study of grooming and clothing with keen interest.

Among the things the students spent class time on were: how to get their money's worth in buying, finding that cost, dealer, workmanship, and comfort are all general things to be kept in mind in getting the best values.

Fabrics A second phase which they feel was needed was a study of fabrics. Real problems arose in class, such as: Why do some boys never look well dressed? What about a double breasted suit for a short boy?

What materials suit me? Why do trousers wrinkle? Why do ties twist and wrinkle? And many others. To solve these problems a study was done on textile fibers from which fabrics are made, the elasticity of these fibers, finding the most elastic fiber apt to wrinkle. Weavers were studied and practice in identifying common ones helped students to feel aware of their ability to recognize weaves in their own clothes in those found in shops.

Cleaning establishments kindly permitted the class to use and study samples of popular fabrics for suits, coats, trousers and overcoats. Some were brought to class by the teacher, some by the students.

That ever interesting subject of color, of course could not be excluded. In order to better understand its use in clothing some preliminary work was necessary. Where do we get color? The question brought out many interesting facts and familiarized the boys with terms used in color work.

Coloring design, color and fabrics for spring, given by Elmo Wasson. Green being a very popular color, Wasson showed samples of different fabrics in various shades of green. The next day the class spent the class hour in visiting local clothing stores, where they found a hospitable reception.

After a brief study on personal grooming the boys are working out a rating scale for rating personal appearance of high school boys. The next unit to be taken up will be meal selection.

SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

Contests And Play Brighten Math Study

Specific Objectives Laid Down For Class Work

By MRS. M. W. PAULSEN One section of our junior mathematics is working on a unit called Area of Plane Figures. Some of our objectives are: to develop an appreciation of the use of geometric areas and their application to every day life; to learn ways of finding the areas of rectangles, squares, parallelograms, trapezoids, triangles and circles; to develop accuracy and speed; to learn how to draw figures to a certain scale; to learn how to use a protractor and to learn some of the elementary principles of the meaning and use of formulas.

We selected a type of problem that the pupils had already found a need for knowing, the area. They brought some of their problems to class and we worked them together. This is much better than solving only textbook problems because pupils often fail to apply them to everyday needs.

Contest One of our culminating activities is a contest. The class is divided into two equal parts. About one hundred questions are placed in a hat and pupils from each side take turns drawing their question, which will be about plane figures. If one is lucky enough to draw a question which he can answer correctly, he remains in the contest. If one cannot answer, the question is passed to the other side and the unlucky student takes his seat. The winning side is entertained by the ones who lost.

Another culminating activity is a play which is placed last to serve the added purposes of reviewing the unit and fixing a right attitude toward one of the great divisions of mathematics—geometry. In the play the leading characters are: Pieter, Gene Green; Pierrette, Robbie Piner; King Straight Edge, Hays Striping; Queen Compass, Mary Merrit; Major Arc, Preston Denton; Minor Arc, C. A. Smith; Trim Minister A Square, James Tidwell; Court Jester Right Triangle, Dean Miller; Equilateral Triangle, Betty Bob; Isosceles Triangle, Hope Sisson; Scalene Triangle, Kathryn Fuller; Class manager, Verna Jo Stevens and Ralph Bount; Hostess, Andrea Bulot; Treasurer, Mary Marguerite Hale.

The remaining class members serve on one of the following committees: invitations, costumes and help.

CALLS FOR SLASH IN CRUDE OUTPUT IN LOUISIANA AUSTIN, April 8 (AP)—Oil companies with production in both Louisiana and Texas were urged to slash their takings in Louisiana sharply in a statement issued here by Ernest O. Thompson, state railroad commissioner and chairman of the interstate oil compact commission.

"The worst spot on the picture of oil production," Thompson said, "is in Louisiana where the oil tax is eleven cents a barrel. There some big companies are producing as much as five, six and seven hundred barrels per day from individual wells.

"These same companies are operating in Texas and pretend to be great conservationists. "It strikes me the laws of nature and common sense rules of good production practice would govern in both states.

"I intend to 'smoke 'em out' and confront these operators with the figures at the next prorator hearing here April 18."

TO OPEN NEW WARD AT HOSPITAL WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Representative South (D-Tex) was informed by the veterans administration that ward 10 of the veterans hospital at Legion, Tex., would be opened as soon as necessary arrangements could be made.

Charles M. Griffith, medical director of the administration, told South opening of the ward would provide the hospital with 21 additional beds and that the staff would be increased by two physicians and five nurses.

Wild Flowers Are Studied By 6th Year Group

Mr. Rathiff's group, one of the sixth grades at Central ward, has been making a study of wild flowers and their peculiarities.

The first step taken was to learn how and why flowers grow. Pupils were surprised to find the structure of all plants so nearly alike. Nearly all of the plants have similar parts and of course all plants take their food from the ground.

The food is absorbed by the root-hairs of the plants. Of course the food is in liquid form and is mineral salts. After the food is absorbed by the roots it is carried throughout the rest of the plant by fibrovascular bundles. Some of these fibrovascular bundles carry the food up into the plant and after the sun, which manufactures the raw material, has finished its task, the food is consumed by the plants.

The reproduction of the plant is most interesting. The plant must have pollen before the seed becomes fertile. This pollen is carried by the wind and insects. By traveling from one flower to another, the insects deposit pollen on the stigma which passes it on to the ovary where the seeds are to mature. After the flower dies these seeds pop out and are scattered over the earth by wind, insects and rain.

After studying wild flowers, youngsters have learned to appreciate them more. Some people think nothing of gathering up large bunches of wild flowers, but the pupils urge you to never do this for every time a flower is pulled several hundred seeds are ruined.

Creative Art Aims Are Told Developing Skill And Imaginative Goals Of Work By CLARA SECREST In the Creative Art class we are trying to offer a course which will meet both the aesthetic and practical needs of the pupils. Our aim is to give to the pupil the much needed opportunity to develop a certain amount of skill and to exercise the imagination through creative work.

Creative activity is evident among the pupils in the art class in drawing, painting, modeling, wood work, linoleum block printing, and various other crafts.

Art is the language through which the child expresses his own life experiences. By putting him in the proper environment and by explaining to him the general principles of expression we help him to find his way through his own experiences. There is no greater joy than that of creation and it is not wise to curb his imagination with fixed rules. With each simple picture or pattern which the child makes, he becomes more fully conscious through act. Through this growth and development as an individual the child begins to find his relationship to others. He realizes he cannot achieve growth alone, that he is a part of the interrelated whole. It is helpful for him to learn to work harmoniously with others on some project.

Group Activity In correlating the art work with other subjects the pupils frequently work together as a group on some wall panel or decorative frieze. The pupils organize into groups and each group selects the work which appeals to them most. One frieze which a group recently completed was on "People of Other Lands." The pupils who took part in making the frieze were: Charles Farrell and Fabien Gomez, committee on perspective, arrangement and balance; Dean Curlee, lettering; Charles Farrell, figure drawing; Glen Dale Brown, coloring; Robert Mann, coloring.

Through the development of imagination and observations faculties are developed which enrich the life of the child to such a degree that he is no longer afraid to express his ideas. It is a source of pleasure and satisfaction to both pupil and parent to see the skill and artistic merit with which the work has been executed. There is much satisfaction which comes with the ability to do something worth while.

Typists In Dist. Meet Team To Compete In League Events Saturday

The Big Spring high school typing team is in its last practice before entering the district interscholastic league meet which will be held in Sweetwater, Saturday, April 9. The team is composed of three members: Christine Shannon, De Alva McAllister, and Joy Rogers. Alternates for the team are Ruth Johnson and Ruth Thomas.

At a practice contest with Midland on March 17, the local group took the first three places. A similar contest was held April 5, with Lamesa participating. Again the local group came out with the first three places, Christine Shannon, placing first; De Alva McAllister, second; and Joy Rogers, third. Ruth Thomas placed fifth; and Ruth Johnson, sixth.

Only three contestants will be permitted to enter the district contest. The five highest individuals in the district contest will enter the regional meet which will be held in Abilene at a later date. The three highest individuals in the regional meet will enter the state meet in Austin during the first week in May.

Life At Home Examined By Pupil Group

They Learn Source Of Food, Simple Family Rules

The fourth year students in Central ward, who are working on a "Home" unit, are taking a peep out the kitchen window to see whence comes all the good food on the dinner table.

The farmer, who works from early spring until autumn, the grocer with his clean attractive store, the miller and the baker, who make bread and cake possible and the butcher, clad in white, bring food to a make-believe sink and work table.

The Toms and Marys are mindful of the fact that other preparation is necessary. Furthermore, they are learning how to preserve these foods by cooking, drying, cold storage, packing and burying. Recipes to be smeared over the mother's kitchen, are filling the notebooks of the future fathers and as well as those of the future mothers.

The ancient rules on how to be well and happy, because of good food, Dr. Garvin's experiment on rats who drank coffee and rats who did not, and the much-used food make good material for cartoons, scrap books, plays, monologues, poems and stories.

A thump on the skull with a tumbler is not necessary now to drill Emily Post into the head. "Do not eat in public places", "Do not feed cats, dogs or other pets while you eat" and "Do not talk while your mouth is full" are subjects for clever cartoons featuring fat ladies, skinny men and jumpy children. Secret: These children declare they have seen actors that prompt their drawings.

FOOD, TABLE SERVICE STUDIED BY GROUP Members of the Homemakers club composed of sixth year girls at Central ward are studying the different classes of food and table services. They are making booklets illustrating each class of food. The booklet will be placed on display and ribbons given for the best ones as soon as they are completed.

BOOKS ORDERED FOR SENIOR CLASS PLAY Books for the senior class play "Girl Shy" have been ordered. The cast will be chosen and practice will begin probably the first part of next week.

New Curriculum Has Stimulated Use Of Library Books For Outside And Recreational Reading

One of the important features in the development of the new curriculum in the Big Spring school system has been the increased use of library books for outside and recreational reading in all grades.

Acting as a main spring to this development has been the high school library which serves as a nerve center to the high school and all room libraries throughout the school library which serves as a for the handling of these books has been made available within the last three years through a well planned WPA project in connection with this library.

The high school library has perhaps profited the most from this WPA project since the project has provided the necessary additional helpers we have been able to enlarge and develop this library into one which meets the needs of an enlarged student body and of which we may well be proud. Before this project was begun the students did not have direct access to the books but when more help was provided a large reading room with open shelves was made available and as a result the books are more accessible to student usage and have thereby increased not only the student's general knowledge and their knowledge of using the library to the best advantage but also greatly increased the circulation of books.

Helping Themselves The librarian has been able to devote more time to helping students not only to meet their needs but to learn how to help themselves. Since the students had not previously had access to the shelves and their knowledge of using the library to the best advantage but also greatly increased the circulation of books.

The value of the increased efficiency of students and teachers which has been made possible by having books available to their use, books kept in good condition and help in finding what they want to meet their immediate needs can not be estimated in dollars and cents but without the help of the WPA project we would be greatly handicapped in our enlarged program of education in the Big Spring school system.

JIM WENT TO THE CELLAR Last night Jim, our next-door neighbor, went to the cellar and looked over his last year's porch furniture. His appraising eye saw all the scratches and wear given the chairs last year by his three growing boys. Jim decided that he needed some paint and a new brush; and planned to take that furniture out in the back yard next Saturday afternoon for the annual cleaning-up process. Curious, but men all over the country are now thinking of paint, and seeds, and outdoor games. And—a new hat, a new suit and some new shirts. And maybe the women don't feel the urge to buy new things! And why shouldn't they? Why be content with old things when there is money for new? THE REORGANIZATION BILL The intensity of the opposition to the Byrnes reorganization bill is clearly out of all proportion to the substance of the bill itself.

There is room, of course, for honest differences of opinion on all these points but under ordinary circumstances the bill itself would never provoke such passionate resistance.

Using Mr. Philip Guedalla's maxim that any stigma is good enough to beat down with the president's cry that he is beset by reactionaries with the charge that this bill gives him dictatorial powers.

There is much discussion, for example, about the provision which authorizes him to reorganize executive agencies without abolishing any of their functions, subject to the right of congress to disapprove within 60 days.

This part of the bill is, it seems to me, of only minor importance. It does not add anything substantial to the president's power to let him move the bureaus around from one department to another.

The important feature of the bill is the proposal to have congress appoint an auditor general who will report to a joint committee of congress. The opponents of the bill argue that the effect of this reform will be to abolish the power of the independent comptroller to prevent illegal expenditures.

So the question for me is whether an essentially good bill ought to be defeated, not on its merits but on the general ground that it is a good moment to clip the personal authority of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

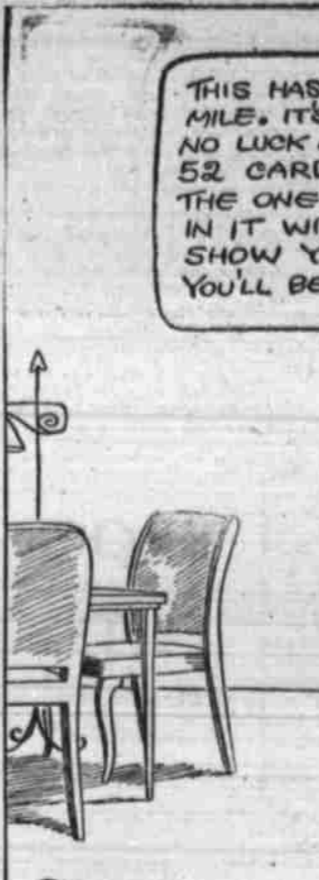

It is the question of whether the end justifies the means. For the executive has obeyed the will of congress.

To have congress learn promptly and from its own agent how money has been spent is, it seems to me, the most effective check that congress can set up against the executive.

So the question for me is whether an essentially good bill ought to be defeated, not on its merits but on the general ground that it is a good moment to clip the personal authority of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

THE LIFE OF THE PARTY

Sights And Sounds by ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD — Those hardy butlers, Flagg and Quirt, have had a long and more or less honorable career on the screen and the end is not yet.

In "The Battle of Broadway" they are no longer Flagg and Quirt, except in spirit. Edmund Lowe, who used to play Quirt to Victor McLaglen's Flagg, is absent from the cast.

Raymond Walburn as the steel boss takes the character comedy inlets and Sammy Coleman and Esther Muir are especially effective among the support.

Man About Manhattan by GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—Probably the only French pension (boarding house) in New York is that apartment house on West End avenue where gold brocade and massive oaken sideboards, hung together with wooden pegs, is obviously the apple of Madame Germaine Mariani's eye.

It is a charming place in the Louise XVI style which this woman who was widowed by the war has fashioned in New York. But though she delights in her gold upholstered furniture and delicately carved chairs, it is the kitchen, with its wealth of sauces and meats and pastries that warms her heart and makes you mouth water.

Now that a tug boat banged into the side of John Pierpont Morgan's magnificent yacht, Corsair, and damaged her slightly, you may be certain that spring is here to stay.

But when millionaires begin taking the canvas off their yachts; when workmen go to work greasing engines and deckhands start shining copper plating; there can no longer be any doubt.

Long Island is replete with estates of which a part are magnificent yachts. It's commonplace to see millionaires arriving each morning in their yachts. They either in East River, near Poe's island, are rowed ashore, and then drive to the office in limousines.

My vote for the Pulitzer prize play this season is "Our Town," which hasn't any scenery, or anything much at all except the thing most plays seldom have: (A) Entertainment value 100 per cent, (B) Timing and pacing, (C) An indefinable quality of forget-me-not which makes you think about it long after you've forgotten most of the others.

The Boxwood Barrier

By BLANCHE SMITH FERGUSON Chapter 22 REPRESSED HATRED

Like a flash upon a screen Judith saw her life as she had planned it with Gary—from this distance so achingly beautiful! She forgot Gary's waverings, his irresponsibility and remembered only his perfection as one remembers only the good qualities of the dead.

Morning did not brighten the outlook of life in Fordney's Gulch. Not a maid to be hired in town. The women of the place unless bedridden, did their own work and were proud of it.

Judith trying to laugh. Trying not to swear. Trying to be a good sport. A good mixer. She slaved all day and every day in a futile effort to make the little house clean and attractive.

When the meal was eaten he helped her wash the dishes. Then they sat about trying to bring out semblance of beauty and order to the impossible little house.

It was a hopeless task. Clissy's rug covered the floor completely and left a foot to turn under around the sides. Dick Blount's table—it had belonged to an ancestor—patina of polish overlaying the wood like mellow gold, making the wall behind it look more muddy by contrast.

"I know it, Mrs. Kraus. I didn't realize it was so mammoth." Not for worlds would she have hinted that the room was small. Casper Street bridge above the stage and living rooms as compared to those of Newman Street.

Not having to cook dinner gave her time to manœuvre her nails, wash her hair—and while it dried, to sit by the front window and look out into the steady, gray, misty street.

Horrible interlude. Sudden tears welled to Judith's eyes making the lights of the gas station blink and sputter. If she could only have—stay there, forget this horrible interlude that was her marriage!

It is unfortunate that we all do not take that word "commencement" literally. All that any school can do is to give us the groundwork. When we leave school, then we "commence" an education that continues as long as we keep our minds receptive.

to provide a "permanent security program" based on work, instead of direct relief.

Hopkins estimated in his testimony before the senate unemployment committee that about 18,000,000 men, women and children in 5,000,000 households were receiving public assistance at the present time compared to a peak of 27,000,000 persons in the winter of 1933-35.

RFC Plan Opposed

Meanwhile, unexpected opposition to the $1,500,000,000 program of RFC business loans came from Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.). Wheeler declared pending legislation to let the Reconstruction Finance Corporation make long-term industrial and public works loans would "take the lid off" questionable loans to big business.

He objected especially to what he called the lack of a safeguard on railroad loans in the house-approved measure. The power granted the RFC, he said, might be used to "bail out railroads and other big businesses at the expense of the public."

persons drowned in flood waters which swept away a general store at Whitestons, Ga., last night.

Four bodies were recovered.

Dilbeck said the victims all were sleeping at the store when it was swept from its foundations by a rain-swollen creek.

He listed them as Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Conner, eight children of the Conners, Carl Lindley, 22, and two visitors, Thelma and Bonnie Ponder, children of Will Ponder.

Rescue workers said there was "not one chance in a thousand" that any of the part-survived the churning waters of the normally placid Talona creek.

No vestige of the combination store and living quarters could be seen in the waters, Dilbeck said.

experiment sub-station at Lubbock. "Dust-bowl" had set in yesterday, but today there is evidence twigs have been damaged and some trees may die. Even the evergreens may be cut back and the growth fail to be even this summer."

Livestock Killed

Advanced growth of vegetation, lack of a protective snow blanket or other moisture and the wind were described as the triple agency that work effectively for damage in the South Plains areas.

Grain suffered heavy damage and livestock died as Nolan county absorbed the worst April blizzard in history. Sheep and lambs died in considerable numbers. Grain and fruit suffered as Brownwood had its heaviest April snow on record. Deep snowdrifts finally pruned highway traffic was resumed between Haskell and Munday, but Childress reported scores of motorists stranded on nearby highways in mountainous drifts.

The Rio Grande valley feared no killing freeze for its citrus and garden crops, but a minimum of 36 degrees was forecast.

Fruit crops were probably wiped out and grain damaged heavily in the Wichita Falls area.

Winds and snow still plagued Olney, Tyler, Sherman, Gainesville, Longview, Dallas, and Ellis county, whose damage was terrific from a 10-inch rain. Around Waco and in other Central Texas spots snow fell.

Wind velocity increased at San Angelo to 50 miles per hour but clear weather was forecast. Strong north winds beat the mercury down to 29 degrees at Borger.

Reinfall slowed planting in the Paris area while the wind blew and 29-degree weather prevailed in the Llano sector. The coldest April since 1915 was recorded at Kerrville when the reading dipped to 29 and snowflakes fell. Fruit gardens and tender shrubs were killed but sheep and goat raisers reported no losses.

Rio Grande valley fruit growers planned no protective measures for citrus crops after weathermen forecast a minimum of 38 for the section. Some spring tomatoes were damaged but fruit did not suffer. Onion and cantaloupe growers reported slight damage in the Laredo area while Corpus Christi bunched up in the lowest April temperature of 25 years—42 degrees.

Port Arthur also had its lowest reading—37 degrees, while San Antonio had its second coldest day in April history at 36 degrees. Dallas heavy early morning general stoppage after three hours and the mercury stood at freezing.

Railroad Traffic Is Nearly At Standstill

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 8 (UP)—Spring blizzards east of the high plains of New Mexico tied transcontinental rail traffic into knots today.

Southern Pacific officials reported their crack flier, the Golden State Limited, marooned in West Texas between Plains and Dalhart this morning, and their Californian stalled in the same area.

The Santa Fe's trains were running as much as 12 hours late, with the Santa Fe Chief far behind schedule in the mountains to the north of here due to storms in western Kansas.

Aside from "must" trains, the Santa Fe cancelled its train movements through the storm areas.

Southern Pacific officials at El Paso described the snarl as "the worst tie-up in 20 years" and said damaged communication facilities in the West Texas plains area left them helpless to contact their trains.

Snow plows were sent out to buck high drifts on the right of ways, but progress was reported to be very slow.

DAMAGE TO SMALL GRAIN IN COUNTY FEARED FROM COLD

With hopes of fruit yields and early garden truck struck down by two days of sub-freezing April weather, farmers in Howard county and surrounding area Friday kept a watchful eye on their small grain patches.

While some damage had been done, apparently the wheat acreage had weathered the blow successfully. However, the danger of serious damage was not minimized for none could say accurately until the weather warmed and the grain offered its response.

County Agent O. P. Griffin believed that wheat would not be seriously harmed and that the small amount of oats in the section would also come through. He was apprehensive about barley yields, inasmuch as it begins fruiting earlier than the other and may now only make a thrifty stalk with little grain.

The thermometer dipped to 28 degrees on the wings of a 40-mile north wind. That temperature was one degree above the previous day's low, but it apparently accomplished more destruction because plants went into the night thoroughly chilled.

Stockmen and sheepmen were watching for a break in the weather. The latter were fearful that if lambing gets underway during the spell that the loss will be terrific.

Chickens Used In Study Of Diet

The high school home economics department is not going into the baby chick business, but it is attempting to raise six of the chicks.

Purpose of the project, said Preckis Atkins, head of the department, is to demonstrate the needs of a proper diet.

To do this, two of the chicks will be fed a full and well balanced ration. Two others will be withheld sufficient protein, while the third pair will be denied foods containing high vitamin content.

The corresponding growth of the chicks should show conclusively the need of a proper diet, said Miss Adkins.

Attorneys for the city began arguments before Federal Judge Charles Boynton on a motion to dismiss the restraining order against the new 85-cent gas rate, fixed by the city council.

Funds From Campaign To Aid Crippled Children

Appeal to the public to buy Easter seals to aid in a "better life for crippled children" in Texas was renewed Friday by Mrs. E. Anderson, treasurer for the campaign in Big Spring.

Seals have been placed in the mail to hundreds of Big Spring folks, she said. However, persons who do not receive the seals are asked to make contributions regardless.

Proceeds from the seals, it was pointed out, go not only toward the restoration of children to physical wholeness, but also after care, education, vocational training, rehabilitation, and placement so that they may become self-supporting.

These seals are sold only at Easter in Texas and other states. Nearly all of the money which is received here, said Mrs. Anderson, stays in Big Spring.

Among those who subscribed to the fund Friday were M. S. Goldman, O. V. Whetstone, Dr. S. Kellogg, N. Brenner, M. E. Dorsey, Dave Duncan, C. L. Rowe, J. P. Ferguson, Mrs. A. Taylor, Floyd "Pepper" Martin, Marvin Hull, Mrs. C. E. Talbot, W. P. Edwards, J. Y. Robb and R. L. Price.
