

FROM THE HOPPER

BY HOP JR.

We've heard lots of complaints in recent years from car dealers who moan about how many body styles, accessories, equipment, colors, interior appointments, and what-not are offered by manufacturers.

This is nice for the customers, especially the women, who love to leaf through the styling booklets and pick out one that isn't anywhere within 2,000 miles of the dealer's showroom, but it hamstring the retailer, who can't possibly stock the exact item the lady or her hubby desires.

In fact, we were reading something about this very thing a few weeks ago, and if our memory served us correctly, we believe that one executive of the sales division of one of the Big Three made the incredible statement that their production lines could grind all year long without ever turning out two cars that were EXACTLY the same if that's what they wanted to do.

This would be carrying things to too great an extreme, but dealers tell us they're pretty bad already.

Recently Mem Sprowls tells us the same thing is happening in heavy appliances. If we understood him correctly, we believe he said it would be possible for him to stock almost 100 ranges before he had the full line from one manufacturer. Colors, shapes, capacities, and "extras" total up to a dazzling array of choices. Dazzling for everybody, that is, except Mem. He'd need all the stores in town and all the money in Security State Bank just to display his wares.

Broadening the line, sprucing up, and adding little extras has long been the American way, and we're all for it. We wonder, though, if maybe we aren't meeting ourselves coming back. In such a complicated life as this, is it just barely possible that the public would like to have things simplified a little?

We see trends in this direction all over. Straight shifts, hand chokes, and even six-cylinder engines are becoming popular in cars all over again. Hot dogs, corned beef and hash, and mashed potatoes are on the up-swing, the food people are saying.

The beginning of another Great Depression? Not necessarily, we say. In fact, just no, period. It DOES make common sense to go Plain Jane once in a while, and strata-conscious Americans are discovering that their neighbors don't necessarily look down their noses anymore at the simpler things of life.

The "Have Gun, Will Travel," kick is still going. We have read about a lot of variations on this popular theme, and have seen a few ourselves.

On a little trip we took recently, we added this one to the "Have Rig, Will Dig," and "Have Guns, Will Grease," slogans that are already family bywords: "Have Gravel, Will Travel." It was on the back of a large cable dump truck we passed just outside of Grand Prairie.

Oliver Sikes, the Old Traveler, is back from another long trek. He's traveled more miles on wheels than Joe Jones has been by airplane, we'll venture, which is some feat in view of Joe's foreign service interests.

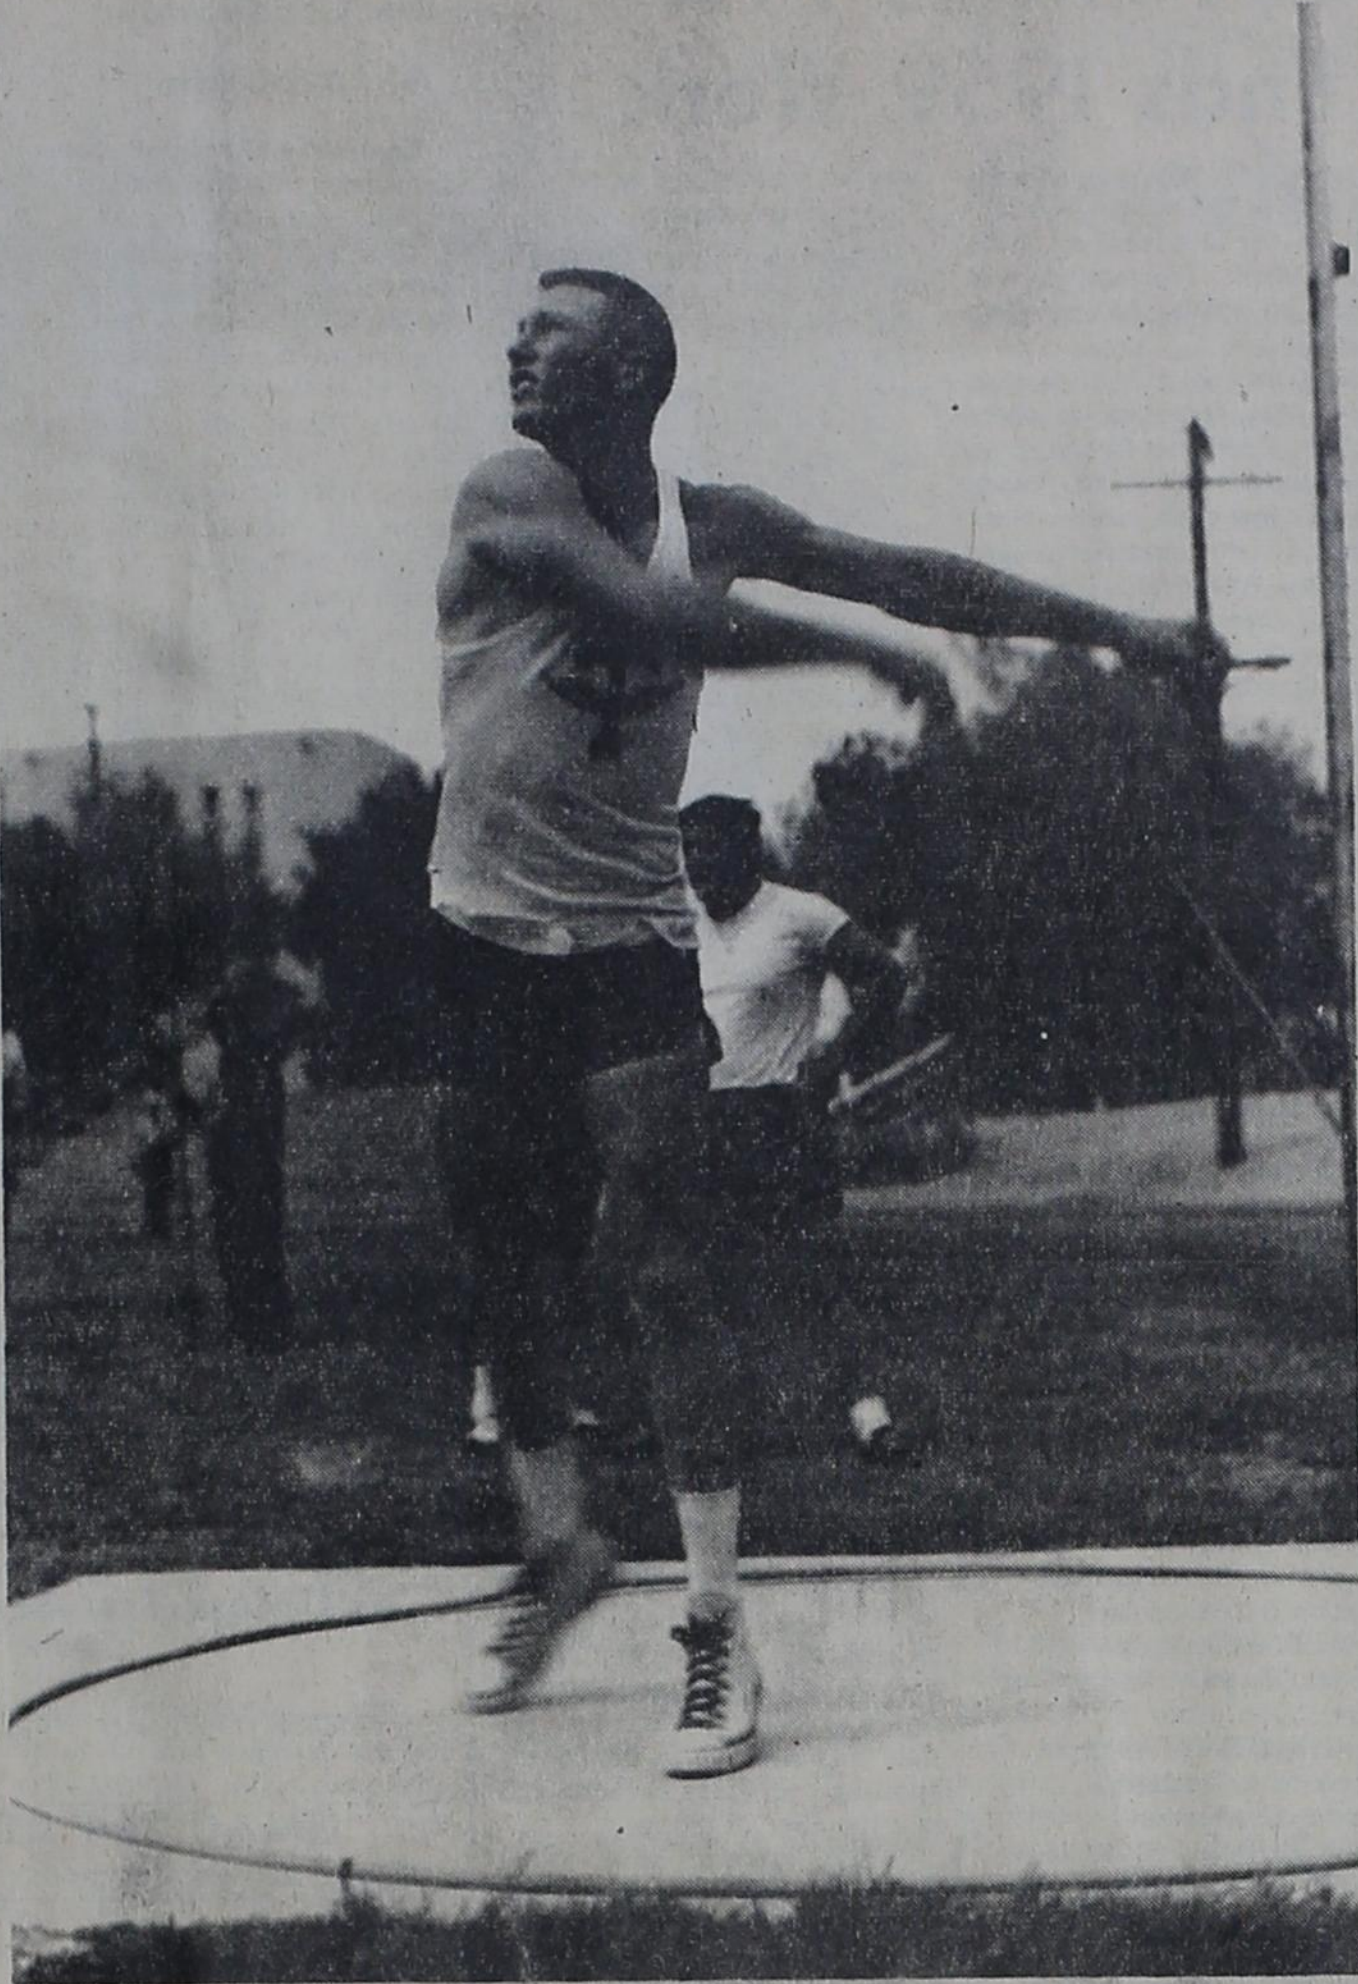

Oliver is quite a fisherman, and we have pinned him down to disclose what he considers to be the best fishing in the United States. He has been in every state except two—Wisconsin and Delaware—and has fished in nearly all of them, so he's pretty qualified, we want to assure you.

The former car dealer just won't settle on a single choice as THE best fishing in the country. He insists on listing two. The two are several thousand miles apart, so take your choice, depending on which direction you want to travel.

One is the Gold Beach and Weatherburn country on the Rogue River in Oregon. Oliver says Gold Beach and Weatherburn are just like Texico and Farwell (except we have a railroad instead of a river).

The place to wet your line is in the river below the towns just before it empties into the yawning Pacific. Oliver says the salmon fishing is sensational.

HE DIDN'T KNOW IT AT THE TIME, but husky Ray Hadley of Texico was watching a discus he had just launched sail to a new state Class B high school record when this picture was snapped at Albuquerque Saturday afternoon.

Hadley Sets Record In Discus At State

Raymond Hadley, large, muscular Texico High senior, proved the prophecy of his school coaches by winning first place in discus at the state track meet Saturday, and setting a new state record besides. Hadley, a promising track athlete since his early days in high school, finally brought home a first place medal from the Albuquerque meet by orbiting the plate-shaped missile and sending it 146 feet against a stiff afternoon breeze. That was in the finals.

The day previous he exceeded even that feat with a toss of 147' 7 5/8". Both throws surpassed the old record of 137'-7", but Hadley got his choice and naturally picked the distance established in the preliminaries.

Texico took sixth in the state meet with 13 1/2 points, all of them earned by the versatile senior. His discus throw was good for seven points, and he was second in the 100-yard dash for four more. He tied for third place in the shot for the other two and one-half points.

The Wolverines were hard pressed to get contestants into the state meet this year. The bulk of the Class B strength in track has come from the east side of the state, and most of that in Texico's own district.

The Wolverines found competition at state about as rough as they found it at Albuquerque, and Hadley was the only man to qualify for the big meet. Texico would almost certainly have captured more points Saturday if the district eliminations had not presented such a formidable barricade.

When the contest began their discus throws in the Saturday finals, they were faced with a 20-mile-an-hour wind blowing out of the southwest.

Some of the athletes felt this would work at a disadvantage to them, but Hadley was one who believed that a breeze was not necessarily a hindrance.

He figured that if the thrower managed to get the disc into the wind right that the wind made up in the time the disc stayed aloft for the resistance it had to the forward movement.

Lane Goes Free In Burglary Case

James D. Lane went free Thursday after a petit jury acquitted him of an indictment on a charge of burglary. The 31-year-old Amarillo man, who has a long list of minor offenses and has just concluded a five-year probation period for bank robbery, was accused of burglarizing Bovina Implement in January.

Lane was originally linked to the burglary by Claude Yates, former Bovina man, who was alleged to have participated in the burglary with Lane and a third party. Yates was arrested after evidence found at the scene identified him as one present when the crime was committed.

Under questioning he confessed, signed a statement, and identified Lane and the other man as members of the group. Insufficient evidence resulted in no charges being filed against the third man in the group, but both Yates and Lane were indicted by the grand jury.

Yates entered a plea of not guilty and asked for trial by jury. Lane cooperated with the state's case in testifying against the Amarilloan but his testimony could not be corroborated in the mind of the jury and they released Lane.

The trial was made more significant because it marked the first time that anyone arrested and charged with a felony by Sheriff Chas. Lovelace has not been convicted.

Yates, who had cooperated freely with law offices, was scheduled to be tried without a jury in district court, but officers speculate that his case probably will not be called since Lane was acquitted.

On the jury were Raymond Milner, Elda Hart, J. T. Mayfield, Helen Fallwell, O. D. Bingham, Fern Barnett and W. S. Ingram, Friona; James Boardman, Bovina; Joe McWilliams, Mrs. Dick Gerles, Farwell; and Mrs. Frank Hinkson and Mrs. Rheinhold Steinbock, Muleshoe.

Other activities in the courts during the past week included the trial of Manuel Lopez, 23, Dimmitt, who pled guilty and was fined $150 and costs on a charge of possession and transportation of liquor in a dry area.

The Dimmitt Latin American was picked up Saturday night in Friona by Ed Dukes, Friona policeman, who suspicioned Lopez as he came through town. Investigation of his auto resulted in the arrest.

He was tried in Judge Loyde Brewer's county court. He paid the fine and was released.

Magness Elected MOD President

Cary Joe Magness, Farwell, was elected president of Farmer County Chapter of March of Dimes at a meeting Tuesday night of last week in Bovina Restaurant.

He succeeds Raymond Euler, Friona, who has been a leader in March of Dimes effort in the county for several years.

Hugh Moseley, Farwell was re-elected chapter secretary and Herb Potts, Farwell, was named again as treasurer.

Magness served as campaign chairman this year. He will select his campaign chairman for next year.

New members appointed to the chapter's executive committee included Mrs. Lady Armstrong and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Whisler, Bovina; Loyde Brewer, Bill Nichols, and Mrs. Rose Lange, Friona.

Dolph Moten, was re-elected publicity chairman.

Euler presided at the meeting. He said that Juanita Range, Farwell, had applied for a MOD-sponsored college scholarship. This is the only Farmer County applicant.

Approximately 110 attended the banquet. Entertainment was furnished by the Silhouettes under the direction of Mrs. Shelby Jobs.

Residents Surprise, Please Farwell C of C Officials

One of the most unusual and probably one of the most appreciated letters ever received by the Farwell Chamber of Commerce was read at the Tuesday night meeting. It was from Mr. and Mrs. John J. Boling and was addressed to Clay Henson, Chamber of Commerce president.

The letter reads as follows: "Dear Mr. Henson,

We are enclosing a belated check for Chamber of Commerce memberships. We neither have any talents of leadership but we do want to back those of you in places of leadership, and we want to have a part in our community's progress. "We like living in Farwell, and I, Mrs. Boling, enjoy teaching in the school here.

Sincerely yours,
Mr. and Mrs. John J. Boling"

President Henson and other Chamber officials expressed their appreciation to the Bolings for such an unselfish gesture.

Students Vie For Offices

Campaigning really got underway this week in Texico School, since the annual Student Council election and play day will be held Friday. Students vying for Student Council presidency are Ursel Doran, Christy Bowers and Wesley Engram.

Play day is the official election day and fun day held at Texico High each year. The day consists of an afternoon filled with campaign speeches, a volleyball tournament in which the faculty is entered, track events and voting. Classes will compete in the play day events and the winning class has its name engraved on a trophy that is kept in the school trophy case. Official for play day will be Paul Frederick, high school principal and coach. His job consists of making the afternoon run smoothly and of keeping the games going at a fast pace.

THESE TWO-FACED GALS were on the special library fund-raising program at Farwell Schools Friday night. Their skit, "Romeo and Juliet" has been presented in the area a number of times, and at the state FHA meeting in Dallas recently. The Lazbuddie and Farwell FHA chapters pooled their talents for the show. They are showing their "Romeo" side. The other side of their costume depicts "Juliet." In the picture are Geraldine Broadhurst, Beverly Smith, Penny Grusendorf, Lazbuddie, Linda Birchfield, Jolene Donaldson, D'Ann Garrett, Farwell, and Glenda Robinson, Lazbuddie.

The Paving Dilemma

It has often been a point of civic pride by the citizens of Farwell to have paving that was bought and paid for at the time it was installed. It is very unusual for a city to add such expensive improvements without being required to go into debt.

In this city, though, that very thing was accomplished, and property owners either dug the money out of their pockets or borrowed as individuals to meet the expense. Thus, the issuing of municipal bonds was avoided and tax rates have remained low.

Being "paid up" certainly has its merits, and it a throw-back to the early American traditions of thrift -- which are certainly out of vogue today, much to the concern of serious economists. However, there are certain points in favor of public indebtedness for city improvements which are now becoming very clear.

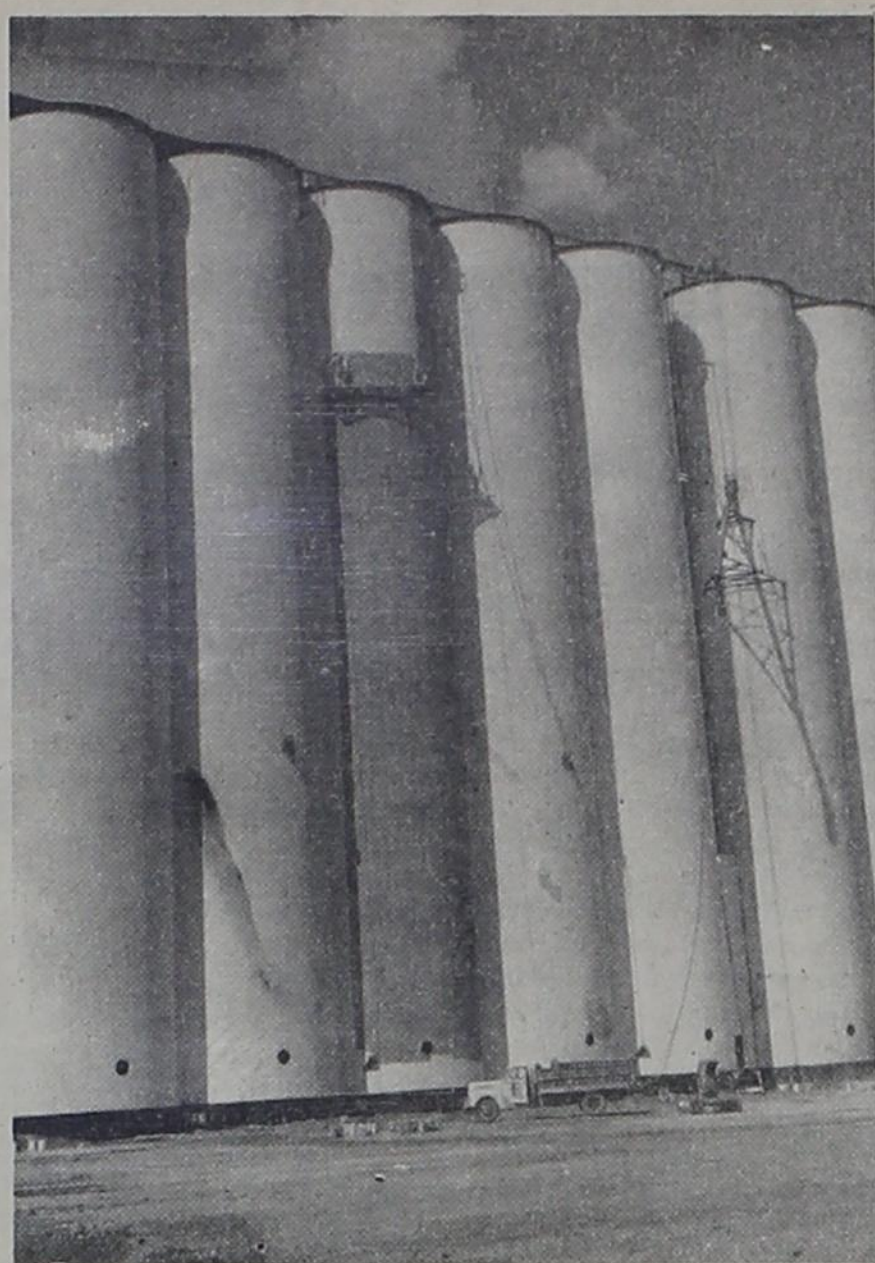

Farwell at this moment is in serious need of additional residential paving. The city is in the midst of its greatest home expansion since 1953. Many very attractive dwellings are being located in the part of town which is without paving. Their occupants have all the nice things about in-town living with one important exception: paving.

What are their chances of getting paving? Here we get down to the meat of the problem. They can either pay for their own paving, or the city can call a bond election to install the paving with public funds. If they go the former route, it will be quite difficult for them to get enough property owners to agree to the expense of paving in order to have complete streets installed, because in the newer part of town the houses are not yet built "solid" and there are still so many vacant lots that it would be difficult for owners to justify the expense of paving in front of these lots.

On the other hand, voting taxes for new paving is an unlikely possibility for the reason that residents in the west side of town would quite understandably take the position: "We paid for our paving ourselves. Why should we help pay for theirs? Let them buy their own paving if they want it."

This is a general outline of the situation that has been faced for the past two or three years. With no more paving being installed, it seems that the city is growing in spite of local efforts rather than because of them. Surely our rate of growth would be stimulated if we could manage a way out of this dilemma.

Must we wait until the time comes when the houses in the east part of town are built eve-to-eve? Will that time ever come if we fail to provide what today is considered the minimum requirements of city conveniences?

IF YOU'VE EVER WONDERED how they paint the sides of those big concrete elevators, perhaps you found out a couple of weeks ago when Sherley--Anderson--Pitman painted theirs. It's done by lowering men on a special platform. Surprisingly, it doesn't take them long to paint a large area.

Notaries Must Re-Qualify Selves for Reappointment

Secretary of state Zollie Steakley has announced that he will reappoint persons now holding notary public commissions but that such persons must re-qualify by the filing of a new oath and bond with Hugh Moseley, county clerk, between June 1 and June 10. Steakley emphasized that notaries should not send requests for reappointment or for commissions directly to the secretary. The law requires county clerks to approve notary bonds.

During the past year one notary died and six moved out of the county, says Moseley.

Gast Replaces Christian On Zoning Group

Smokey Gast, outgoing city commission member, has been named to the zoning commission by the city administration. He, in reality, is trading places with Clarence Christian.

Christian was elected a city commissioner in the past election and could not hold the spot on the board any longer, so Gast was named to fill the vacancy.

In a meeting Friday, the commissioners and mayor transacted routine business for the city. Mayor Sam Aldridge and Commissioners Bill Dollar and Christian were present.

Bills paid were as follows: Wilfred Quicquel, salary, $225; Felix Winegeart, salary, $150; V. C. Venable, salary, $100; Aldridge Insurance Agency, bonds, $43.50; Karl's Auto Clinic, repairs, $3.20; K. Barnett & Sons, asphalt, $45.50; Ray Mears, gas, $5.08; John A. Sharum, street labor, $45; D. O. Rolland, street labor and machine hire, $127; Dale Berggren, street labor, $85; Ralph Humble, machine hire, $35; F. E. Winegeart, machine hire, $5; Southwestern Public Service, street lights and bills, $60.80;

Farwell Waterworks, water bill, $4.63; Mountain States Telephone, fire station and city hall bills, $52.31; Armstrong Pest Control, rodent control in hall, $3; Nell Walling, election judge, $13.75; Elizabeth Phillips, election clerk, $11; Jean Prince, election clerk, $11.

Lazbuddie PTA Ends 1959 Work

Lazbuddie PTA met Monday evening, in the school auditorium for the last meeting of the school year. The meeting was opened by prayer led by Fred Wilbanks.

The girls high school chorus, under the direction of their teacher, Frederic Byers, presented several numbers. Some special numbers were also given. Chorus members were Marilyn Aduddell, Maudine Barnes, Wanda Bean, Patsy Morrow, Coretta Watkins, Penny Grusendorf, Janice Darling, Tommie Horton, Glenda Robinson, Kay Burson, Eva Dean Ivy, Beverly Smith, Judy Brown and Geraldine Broadhurst.

Officers were installed for the coming year. They will be headed by Mrs. Melvin Treider as president, Mrs. D. B. Ivy as vice president, Mrs. Lee Mason, secretary and Mrs. J. B. Young as treasurer.

Corsages were presented to all new officers, outgoing officers and committee chairmen. The teachers were given corsages at this time also.

Mrs. Opal Bewley received the corsage as the oldest mother present. Mrs. Morris Cooper was the recipient of corsages as the youngest mother present. Mesdames Johnson and James Robinson were given corsages as the mothers of the most children.

It was voted to give the remaining money in the treasury to the boys going to the state track meet at Austin this weekend. Boys eligible are Dean Watkins and Dennis Nelson, seniors and, Freddie Savage and Billy Hardage, sophomores, in the relay team. Cooper Young is alternate. Ronnie Briggs qualified in the broad jump.

Honor Students Announced

Sharing the spotlight as honor students for Texico 8th grade are Jean Morris, valedictorian, and Vic Herrington, salutarian.

Miss Morris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Morris of Texico. Vic is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Herrington of the Rosedale Community. He was a contestant in the county spelling bee, class favorite and is a member of the band.

Both students have maintained a high A- average for their junior high years. Graduation exercises for class will be Wednesday, May 13.

Concert Concludes Band Year

Texico High School Band which has been very active this year, ended its schedule with a twilight concert Tuesday night. The program was composed of marches and light concert type music.

Work Progresses On Building

Work is progressing on the building to house a new coin-operated laundry owned by B. V. "Shorty" Hughes.

"We hope to be open by June 1," says Dudley Hughes, son of the owner. The 18x60 tile building is built to hold as many as 24 washers, but 12 are scheduled now, along with four dryers.

The new business is located adjacent to Hughes Auto Parts in east Farwell.

Featured on the program was a flag drill and maypole dance by the seventh grade class under the direction of Mrs. Fred Danforth.

After the concert, members of the band enjoyed a hay ride and picnic.

Saturday the group spent the day in Portales where they marched in the annual Eastern New Mexico University Rodeo Parade.

The band is under the direction of Fred Danforth.

One of the biggest steps in the ever-changing Graham family will occur in an all-too-short time. We realize that most of you readers have already been through the metamorphosis in family life that is noted when a child begins his formal education. To you, it is probably nothing spectacular.

But since this will be our first experience in this phase of child rearing, we're pretty excited about it. Ronny is thrilled too, and the change in our way of doing things is already evident.

When we attended the meeting of parents and teachers at the school, we learned that Ronny should begin getting up at a regular time and eating early enough to give him plenty of time before going to school. That routine should be established now. But we already have a problem. He is an avid "Captain Kangaroo" fan and to be dressed and fed before the TV show will mean earlier wake-up hours.

Whatever the result may be, we do know that drastic changes are in store for all of us. Incidentally, the article "Preparing Parents for the First Grade" which appeared in the "Texas Outlook," official pub-

The boys had picked the Huggins' front yard as the spot for their bedrolls.

Barcie Remembers Tree Planting, Not The Bottle

Another chapter has unfolded in the intriguing story of the 49-year-old bottle found on Texico school grounds in early March. Jimmy Goolsby, a fifth grader, found the old medicine bottle, which contained a handwritten message.

It read: "If this tree should die or some accident happen to it, please replace it for me in my name. Barcie Hoskins, Texico, N. M. 14 years old, February 22, 1910."

At the time the story appeared in The Tribune, no one knew where to locate the author of the note, although it was learned that she was married and living elsewhere.

Mrs. Mason Neely of Texico sent the clipping to Mrs. Jess Lewis who is remembered by old-timers as Eunice Ingram. She lives in Wichita, Kansas, where Barcie Hoskins Robison also lives.

Mrs. Lewis replied with a letter to Mrs. Neely giving some background on the pioneer family of which Barcie Hoskins was a member. Portions of the letter appear below.

"Your clipping you sent proved quite interesting. Jess was off when we got your letter and we were going downtown, so while down there, we looked in a city directory and found where she lived, so went out to give her the clipping. She is a very interesting person. "For a couple of hours, we talked about old times."

Mrs. Lewis reveals that Barcie couldn't remember the bottle, but she did remember setting out the trees on that day. Speculation was that she had planted the bottle during a tree planting day by school children.

Barcie, who is now Mrs. Cecil Robison has two grown sons, Mrs. Lewis adds, Mrs. Robison told Mrs. Lewis that she, an uncle named Plummer Musick and Wesley Jones, who is now Mrs. Wesley Herrington of West Camp, were the first ones to graduate from Texico. She remembered many of the old-timers from Old Union, Fairfield and Pleasant Hill.

She could recall Mrs. Neely, who was the former Elsie Cross, J. D. Cross, father of Mrs. Neely, came to Texico in 1906 and owned a grocery store here.

Parents, Teachers Discuss Children

Thirty-three parents met with first grade teachers and the school nurse and counselor at Farwell Thursday afternoon to discuss preparations that should be made for beginning first graders of next year.

After a brief talk by Claud Coffey, elementary principal, Mrs. A. D. Daniel and Mrs. Lloyd Cain, first grade instructors, were introduced. Mrs. R. B. Tucker presided at the meeting. She is counselor.

Mrs. J. T. Lockhart presented a brief resume of "Health Highlights of Six-Year-Old Children" and reminded parents that pre-schoolers should have smallpox vaccinations before school begins in September. She also emphasized that it is recommended that children have polio shots and boosters on the DPT series.

She noted that first graders need regular habits and should have 10 hours sleep each night; should eat a good breakfast each morning; and observe other health habits.

In group session, teachers and parents exchanged ideas and instructors suggested that children "be independent and respect other people's property."

Parents filled out a history on each child with records to be placed in the permanent records later. Also, booklets on "Looking Forward to School" were distributed. Mrs. Cain reports that almost 50 youngsters have already been pre-registered for the first grade.

By PAT

Business has been good during the past week and the demand for Patrick's Hybrids has really begun to boom. But remember this don't plant yet, the best yields are made from early to middle June plantings. Golden West Seed Co. has on hand one ton of the New Watson Hybrid Sorghum known as Holden -59. This hybrid ranked 7th in the test at Halfway the past year and is shorter than most of the Texas Hybrids, has a more open type head similar to Dekalb, and should stand better than some of the Texas numbers. The price on this seed is $16 per cwt. and we believe it might be worth trying. If you have been wanting a hybrid with a Martin milo cross in it we have that also. It is known as 608 and it is an all red one and will sell for $15 per cwt.

Wheat conditions over much of the area have deteriorated further during the past week. At the present time prospects are far from being as good as last year. In talking to some of our customers in Oklahoma they have stated that much of the wheat is being plowed up or grazed out. At Akron, Colorado conditions are much better and a good rain soon should make one of the best crops in years. Golden West Seed Company will be in the market for 200,000 bu. of wheat this year. Before you sell, contact us for the top wheat market.

Fishing was terrible the past week. Most of this being due to the fact that we didn't get a chance to go.

We have sodium chlorate, Dowpon, and Karmex for bindweed and Johnson Grass.

If you have land that you think might be eligible for the planting of hybrid or certified seeds we would be interested in talking to you. Golden West will furnish the seed and pay $5.00 per cwt. on a small acreage of Sweet Sudan. Would also contract Piper and Greenleaf.

Come see us. a first place rating in student conducting.

Maudie Brown was returned to her home in Farwell Thursday, after having spent several weeks in Amarillo at a rest home. She plans to remain here and is having visitors, family members say. Her condition is some improved.

The test is the first step in competition for Merit Scholarships provided by some 90 corporations, foundations, professional societies and individuals, as well as by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation itself. Clothing Drive Termed Success

The clothing collection drive sponsored by the Texico Student Council in cooperation with the National Save the Children Federation was termed a success by Mrs. J. Buck Doran, council sponsor.

The national federation sent several sacks to the council to be filled with good used clothing which was to be distributed in undeveloped parts of the United States. Since the council had more than enough clothing to fill the bags, it was decided to send the remaining clothing to Donovan Marley.

Marley, a recent speaker at the school, spoke on the needs of the South Korean people. While serving in the army during the Korean War, Marley asked friends from this area to send clothing to give to orphan children there. He stated in his talk that nothing could be more rewarding than the smile on the face of one of these children, and that if the students ever wanted to send clothing to Korea he would see that they got the address of several orphanages, or if the clothing was sent to him, he would ship it to Korea himself.

The student council, along with their sponsor, Mrs. Doran, express appreciation.

Congratulations Class of '59

Your High School Diploma Is The Key
... To A Full Life.
The Texico-Farwell businesses on this page offer their heartiest congratulations!

THIRD PLACE IN SHOT also went to Hadley of Texico, who is shown here as he heaved the weight in the Saturday finals. Actually, he tied for 3rd with another contestant and won his medal on the flip of a coin.

Eight New Businesses In County

"There are eight more businesses in Parmer County today than there were last year," says Wayne A. Clark, manager of the Amarillo office of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. Basing his facts upon a physical count of the January, 1959, Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book, Clark points out that in 1958, 177 businesses were listed in Parmer County and today 185 businesses are listed.

The Reference Book lists only manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, and some service companies, such as laundries and gasoline service stations. It does not include some of the service and "professional" businesses, such as barber and beauty shops, real estate and the like. Thus the figure for businesses in Parmer County would actually be higher than the 185 quoted above.

Richardson Receives Band Scholarship

Larry Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Richardson, is recipient of the annual scholarship award given by Texico Woman's Club to a person outstanding in band. The award will pay Larry's expenses in attending the annual ENMU Band Camp on the university campus in Portales May 31 - June 13.

Half of Class To Go To College

Eleven seniors of the 1959 graduating class of Lazbuddie High School are planning to further their education in four year colleges. Since there are only 22 members in the class, this is quite a record.

Roads Studied, Check Voided

The jury of view report on the H. A. Hyde et al road petition was accepted, the jury discharged and the road ordered open when members of commissioners court met recently.

Of the remaining 11 members of the class, two are planning to attend trade schools. They are Marie Huston and Clifford Hugg.

S-Sgt. and Mrs. Bob Gertes are here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Gertes, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Rayl of Clovis.

Randol Leaves Too Early, Misses Song

Singing telegrams have been noted as an unusual way to send a birthday greeting, but an even more surprise greeting would have greeted Ebb Randol on his special day last week had he not been such an earlybird.

When his wife answered the phone that day and revealed that Ebb was not at home, she heard her daughter's voice tell the operator to cancel the call. After thinking about it, she became disturbed and called the operator. Sure enough, the three daughters had all been on the line and had planned to sing "happy birthday" via telephone for their father.

Daughters are Mrs. Hugh Edwards of Clovis and Mrs. Carl Davis and Mrs. James Spurlin of Farwell.

Even though the plans didn't work as scheduled, surprises weren't over for Randol. Mrs. Spurlin invited her father to be a supper guest at her home, and maneuvered in getting him to the Texico Woman's Club where the congregation of the Church of Christ met to honor him. Randol is pastor of the church.

Homemade ice cream and cake were served and gifts were presented to the honor guest. Hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. John Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Meeks, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Tharp, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Meeks, Mr. and Mrs. Kirt Crume and Mrs. Lucille Brittain.

recent outbreak of measles and other diseases.

The seige has been over a period of about a month in Farwell school but seemed to hit a peak last week; more students have been reported back in school this week than in about a month.

Bovina schools have had a few cases, but there have been almost none reported in Lazbuddie.

Symptoms of measles are almost the same as a common cold. At the first signs of a runny nose, watery eyes or fever the child should be put to bed since usually they do not break out until after the fever has started. "Sometimes it is as much as two or three days before spots begin to show," reports Mrs. Lockhart.

families living in trailers in a state the size of New Mexico. This is amazing to us, although we'll have to admit that after a look at places like Grants we can see how this could be. If we recall, there were between 3,000 and 4,000 trailer houses in just that city alone. Mobile Home News goes to trailer parks all over the state, but there are a lot of individuals not living in parks who we are sure don't get the paper. All of which means that there are even more people living in trailers in the state than the newspaper circulation would indicate. To us, at least, these are amazing statistics. Elmer Teel has received a citation from his company, Southern Union, for safety at work. In four years he had no accidents, or something to that effect. When learning of this, we told him that our daddy always told us that the fellow who never made a mistake never did anything. Elmer's only answer was one of his famous big grins.

Newspapering--of any type--runs so rich in our blood that whenever we go somewhere, we spend about half of our time seeing how people elsewhere are running their newspapers. We know this is like the busman's holiday, but that's the way it is with us. Saturday we chaperoned the good wife to Albuquerque for the state ESA convention. While she was busy settling the big issues of the woman's world, we poked around a little to see what was doing in the way of newspapers in Albuquerque. We were very interested to find one paper called 'New Mexico Mobile Home News.' It was published by a nice fellow named Mansell. It had never occurred to us that a newspaper could be put out under the circumstances, but Mrs. Mansell told us things worked out very smoothly. His paper is circulated throughout the state, and we were quite surprised to learn that he has 15,000 subscribers. Imagine, if you will, 15,000

Steers Meet Spearman in Bi-District

The Farwell Steers will meet the Spearman Lynx in a bi-district baseball game Tuesday, May 12, at 2 p.m. on the Palo Duro baseball field in Amarillo. This will be the second straight year Farwell has advanced to bi-district play while this is Spearman's first year in Class A. Spearman is the winner of District 1-A while Farwell was the only school in District 2-A to field a baseball team. The starting pitcher for Farwell will probably be either Owen Huffaker, last year's bi-district winner, or Tommy Williams, a sophomore. Jimmy Martin and Huffaker are the only seniors on the Farwell squad.

Doug Roberts, a junior, will also be lost because he will not be eligible for sports next year due to having gone too many semesters in high school. Farwell defeated Petersburg 2-0 in last year's bi-district game but was beaten 6-1 by Merkel in the regional game. Books Bought By Patrons

Farwell elementary library shelves which were empty in a picture in the Tribune two weeks ago, will be filled with a series of approved books when school opens in September, according to school officials. Purchase of the books was aided Friday night, when children of the first six grades were featured in a special program to promote donations for the library fund. About $450 was realized from the venture. Jack Williams, school superintendent who has been bedfast during the final weeks of preparation for the program, expresses appreciation to all those who completed plans and aided in the presentation. He especially thanked Mesdames Lenton Pool, A. E. Tatum and Lucille Brittain who worked as members of a special committee. The women made a trip to Canyon and spent many hours after school typing up lists of the basic approved books. All the other teachers worked diligently to make the program a successful one, says Williams, and A. E. Tatum and Claud Coffey, school principals, worked on the project. Appreciation was also expressed to The Tribune for the publicity given the function. "There will still be a lot of vacancies on the shelves," says Williams, "but the books we have are the types the Texas Education has requested." He felt that the school would be graded high when this phase is checked by the agency the next time. Plans now are to place names in books. For each $2 donation, the donor's name will appear in one book. "We also want to thank those who attended the program and who brought their children to perform in the special program," Williams concludes. Donations are still being accepted if anyone who couldn't attend the show, would like to contribute.

THE HIGH PLAINS FARM AND HOME

"Early Cotton" On Most Farms

"Early cotton," an important phrase to all High Plains cotton producers, is an actuality for most farms this spring. Hundreds of rigs all over the Farmer County area fired up and put seed into the warming soil toward the weekend. Unlike 1958, which was over-all an excellent year but one which had a poor planting season, weather has been almost perfect for farmers this spring. Most of the High Plains cotton is planted between May 5 and 20, but anything before those dates is considered a "bonus" on the growing season. Much cotton was planted in late April, and by the 10th nearly all of it will be in, barring interruption from the weather. Since the growing season, especially in the northern part of the growing area, is critical in length, farmers always want to get their seed started at the earliest possible moment, with the hope that to add even three or four days to the season sometimes pays off handsomely when September and October roll around. Virtually all cotton land was pre-watered this year, and most farmers took the precaution of irrigating several weeks in advance of the expected planting date in order to allow their field time to warm up. Very few farmers are interested in getting their grain sorghums planted this early, but those who are planting corn consider an early planting date as essential to ideal production conditions. Therefore, it hasn't been unusual to see rigs in the field planting not cotton, but corn. No figures are available on the probable acreage of corn this year, but an increase is expected over 1958 when about 10,000 acres were sown to the feed grain crop.

Parmer County Delegates Win At District Contests

Parmer County 4-H clubs brought home recognition in a number of divisions when they attended the district contests at Canyon Saturday, and two girls achieved the honor of representing District I and Parmer County as first place winners and will be at the state contests at College Station in June. Senior winners were Barbara Rea, Bovina, and Janice Hillock, Farwell, who topped the contestants in the dairy foods demonstrations, to be eligible for state competition.

Junior winners were: Dairy foods team -- Phyllis Christian and Linda Phillips, Farwell, second. Their score was 96 and first place team tallied 96 1/2. Electric -- Bruce Billingsley and Janice Billingsley, Farwell, first. Poultry marketing and utilization -- Judy Koelzer and Peggy Carrol were named as one of the top two teams. Definite places were not given. Safety -- Mike Watkins and Jimmy Mace, Farwell, were listed among the top three teams in their division. Places were not given. Others who attended were Johnnie Ivy, Charlotte Seaton, and Patsy Chitwood of Lazbuddie. They entered the junior vegetable marketing and utilization and junior dairy foods individual contests. "We are proud of each and every one of the boys and girls

Plans Made For County Cookbook

Further plans for a cookbook containing favorite recipes of members of the Home Demonstration clubs in Parmer, were formulated last Monday when the county council met, says Jimmie Lou Wainwright, agent. The cookbooks, which are to have no advertising, will contain the five favorite recipes of each Home Demonstration club member in the county. Two committee meetings have been set for May, to work on yearbooks and to type recipes and get them in order for the publication. One is set for May 11 and the other on May 18. Each club is to have a representative. A training meeting on flower arranging is set May 27, and desserts will be studied May 29.

THDA district reports were given by Mrs. Vernon Symcox, Oklahoma Lane; Mrs. John Renner, Hub; and Mrs. Ralph Price, Black. It was reported that 71 attendants heard the program at Hub recently.

Another date for a program is a film and a talk on cancer slated May 4 at the Black community building. Women of the communities are invited to attend. Time is 8 p.m. Twenty council members were present, with 10 of the 11 county clubs represented. The next meeting will be May 25 at the Bovina home economics cottage.

DELEGATES TO ATTEND CAMP

Delegates have been selected to attend the district leadership 4-H camp, June 3-4-5 at Camp Don Harrington.

Girls who will be delegates include Virginia Rea, Bovina; Patsy Chitwood, Lazbuddie; and Janice Hillock Farwell. Boys to attend are Roy Donaldson, Farwell; Tommy Tatum, Black; and Eugene Houston, Friona.

Wheat Makes Headway

Irrigated wheat on Parmer County farms continues to make excellent progress this week, and unless hail in severe amounts comes, another fine wheat crop is in prospect for this summer.

Greenbugs were troublesome for a while, and many farmers hired planes to spray their fields. During the past week, however, the greenbug threat has subsided and now the only worry is hail.

Control of greenbugs has been attributed both to spraying measures and to the warmer weather, which has allowed the natural insect enemies of greenbugs to increase in number and bring about a better balance of nature.

Irrigated wheat in Parmer County is somewhere around 60,000 acres this year. About 30,000 acres is dryland.

In the past three years more emphasis has been placed on getting big yields under irrigated conditions. Fertilizing has played an important part in this.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

People are dependent upon land passed on by their forefathers. Each generation can greatly influence the quality of land for the future. With development of agricultural technology, man can do more to change soil than ever before. He can bring about more rapid deterioration or more rapid improvement. For this reason he has an increased responsibility.

In any area of living it is a bad situation if the older generation does not teach its children something better and something richer. However, some things can be corrected in a very short time. This is not so with soil and water. The mistakes and wrongs committed today against these precious natural resources in many instances will take hundreds of years to correct, and in others, restoration will never be possible.

The richness of America's soil and the abundance of water will be reflected in the prosperity, the wealth, and the spirit of tomorrow's people far more than is generally believed. It has been truly said that "the soil is God's greatest material gift to mankind." This generation's greatest material gifts to tomorrows world will be a productive soil and adequate water resources. Stewardship demands that we prepare, conserve, replenish and protect these resources.

Each year the nation observes Soil Stewardship Week. It begins on the fifth Sunday after Easter and extends through the next Sunday. It is hoped the effort put forth during this Soil Stewardship Week, May 3-10, will remind some one of his responsibility as a steward of the soil.

According to the National Safety Council, there are more than 50,000 tractor accidents annually.

The meeting was called to order by the president. The secretary gave an oral report of the last meeting. There was no old business. Roy appointed a committee of three boys. There was no other business. Roy turned the meeting back over to Joe. Joe wanted to know who all might like to have a registered gilt. We talked about the crops contest, the ones who are going to Canyon Saturday to the district contest. Roy gave a demonstration on how to raise a dairy calf into a dairy cow and how you should care for it, and how to care for a young heifer. We talked about who could give a demonstration in the summer meetings. Billy Gene and Jim Curtis will give a demonstration. The meeting was adjourned.

Called up for jury duty, a woman refused to serve because she didn't believe in capital punishment.

Trying to persuade her, the judge explained, "This is merely a case where a wife is suing her husband because she gave him $1000 to pay down on a fur coat and he lost the money in a poker game."

"I'll serve," said the woman. "I could be wrong about capital punishment."

Always we've wondered why the signs "Watch for low flying planes" are put up around the airports. We always watch for low flying planes but wonder what we'd do if one was flying too low.

A complete line of fast-hitch and rear-mounted listers and planters are available for Farmall 200, 300 and 400 and International 300 tractors. These machines have the same rugged design as tool bar middle busters with planting attachments. All models are raised and lowered effortlessly by hydraulic power.

Rules Released For 4-H Cotton, Maize Contests

It's time for Parmer County 4-H Club members to think again of the annual cotton and grain sorghum production contests. Rules have been released by the county agent's office.

Boys must have at least two and not more than ten acres in each contest entered. He must rent, sharecrop, or own the crop entered. Contestant must designate by July 15 each plot to be entered. Forms will be furnished for all desiring to enter, from the county agent's office.

Awards will be made on the basis of pounds per acre and records. Production will count 60 per cent and records 40 per cent. Records must be turned in by January 5, 1960.

The contests are sponsored by the county cotton and grain sorghum associations, to encourage and reward 4-H Club boys in their work and to encourage the use of applicable and efficient practices that will result in higher yields of good quality cotton and grain sorghum.

It will be up to the contestant to contact his adult leader or the county agent and make arrangements for proper supervision when harvesting. Leaders must be present and certify accuracy.

Cotton will be computed to pounds of lint by pulling and weighing burr cotton from 35 yards of measured row on dry afternoon. No bolls will be pulled unless open.

Prizes for both contests are as follows:

1st--$40 and plaque, 2nd--$35, 3rd--$25, 4th--$20, 5th--$15, 6th--$10, 7th--$5.

Any row spacing qualifies, and those harvested must have rows with good stands on each side. All varieties of cotton and grain sorghum qualify.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUNE FLOYD

Any homemaker who has children spends a great deal of time worrying about things that never happen to them. In spite of this fact, none of us should ever neglect teaching our children that there are dangers to be faced.

In doing this we should make every effort to teach them the proper way to avoid situations that may arise from time to time. In a recent issue of Southwest General News the following article was printed.

In many communities the problem of the child molester arises periodically.

Most parents dislike planting fear and suspicion in the minds of their children, but their safety demands that they be told how to protect themselves from these degenerates. Children adequately warned of the danger of the molester, and disciplined to the following rules, should be safe going to and from school and at play.

First, have your children tell you or the police when any of the following things happen:

1. If a stranger asks them to go with him.
2. If a stranger tries to join in their play.
3. If a stranger talks to them or touches them in the movies.
4. If a stranger tries to make them disobey any of those rules.

ALSO STRESS THESE THINGS:

1. Never take rides from persons you do not know.
2. Never take money, candy or toys from a stranger or let him touch you.
3. Never go with strangers when they ask for directions.
4. Never go with strangers when they offer you a job.
5. Never play around alleys, empty buildings, public toilets or secluded places.
6. Take a pal along when you go to movies, playgrounds, stores, etc.
7. Unless told otherwise by your parents, go straight to and from school, and preferably with other children.
8. And finally and most important to the apprehension of would-be molesters: GET THE LICENSE NUMBER OF THE CAR and a description of the person, if possible. If no pencil is available, scratch the license number on the sidewalk or in the dirt.

These rules should be impressed on your children. In at least one community the instructions paid off in saving a girl from a degenerate. She repelled his advances and wrote his license number down as he drove away. He was arrested and convicted.

Occasionally there are times in the early evening this time of year when cooking supper outdoors is a must. Too many times we are unaware when the perfect weather for an outdoor meal is going to come at the right time.

For just such occasions as these, why not try the following recipe? It's fun and very handy to take canned meat to any outdoor cooking spot.

- 1 twelve-ounce can luncheon meat
- 6 small tomatoes
- 3 medium onions
- 2 green peppers

Cut luncheon meat lengthwise in thirds, then in half to make six finger-length pieces. Slice each piece crosswise in thirds.

Cut tomatoes in half crosswise, onions in fourth-inch slices and peppers in fourth-inch rings.

On each of six skewers, put a cube of meat, then a tomato half, onion slice and green pepper ring. Repeat. End with meat cube.

Lay kabobs across your grill and broil about 20 minutes turning once. Serve with French bread and garlic butter.

A lot of recipes are printed for preserving various foods, but one we ran across recently gave instructions on How To Preserve A Husband. It read like this:

Be careful in your selection. Do not choose too young. When once selected, give your entire thought to preparation for domestic use. Some insist in keeping them in a pickle; others are constantly getting them in hot water. This may make them sour, hard and sometimes bitter.

Even poor varieties may be made sweet, tender and good by garnishing them with patience, well sweetened with love and seasoned with kisses. Keep warm with a steady fire of domestic devotion and serve with peaches and cream. Thus prepared they will keep for years.

If you want to make a party pretty cake that takes very little time and effort, try this white cake with peppermint stick frosting. Most of the ingredients are staple items in your pantry, but be sure to lay in a supply of peppermint stick candy.

WHITE CAKE

- 2 3/4 cups sifted cake flour
- 3 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2/3 cup salad oil
- 1/2 cup milk
- 3/4 cup water
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 4 egg whites
- 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1 1/2 cups sugar

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add the oil, milk, water and vanilla; beat until it forms a very smooth batter. In a separate bowl beat the egg whites until frothy, add the cream of tartar and continue beating until the egg whites are stiff. Gradually add the sugar and continue beating until very well blended. Fold this egg and sugar mixture thoroughly into the batter.

Pour into two waxed paper lined 9-inch layer pans. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 35 to 40 minutes. Frost with:

- PEPPERMINT STICK ICING
- 1 1/2 cups sugar

I am real proud of all the 4-H members who attended 4-H contests at Canyon. They just did a wonderful job. Wish I could give a demonstration with as much ease as some of them can.

Barbara Rea and Janice Hillock and myself are already making plans for 4-H Round-Up in June.

I have two good sets of slides on Buying Furniture that are really interesting. This is my demonstration for May at the Home Demonstration Clubs.

Some 40,000 Texas Home Demonstration Club women will be among the 7 million homemakers throughout the nation who are observing their 14th National Home Demonstration Club Week now. 'Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World' is serving as the national theme again this year.

During the week, most of the 1800 home demonstration clubs in the state plan special activities to highlight their programs. Special exhibits, community programs, feature stories, radio and television programs, and tours are planned to inform other homemakers and families of the purposes of home demonstration work.

- 2 egg whites
- 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/3 cup water
- dash of salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 drops red food coloring
- 1/4 cup crushed peppermint stick candy

Place the sugar, egg whites, cream of tartar, water and salt in the top of double boiler. Place over boiling water and beat constantly with rotary or electric beater about 5 to 7 minutes or until mixture forms peaks.

Remove from boiling water; add vanilla and red food coloring; beat until stiff enough to spread. Spread between layers and over the cake. Sprinkle with the candy.

and show its contribution to family and community life.

The home demonstration program is planned by homemakers and carried on cooperatively by the Extension Service, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the land-grant colleges and county governments. New research information in all phases of home-making is brought to women and families through specialists, home demonstration agents and local leaders. Club members also conduct special programs in civil defense and encourage and assist with local 4-H Club programs.

Get acquainted with the home demonstration club program in your own county. . . . Parmer county special activities are being planned in each club. Watch for each club's announcements. Some plans are for exhibits and programs. Black plans to have a cancer film on May 11 at 8 p.m.

Every food contains some calories. But some foods contain so many nutrients--vitamins, minerals and protein--that every calorie is virtually "loaded." The calories in meat, eggs, vegetables, fruits, milk and whole grain or enriched cereals are loaded with important nutrients. That's why they are so important--even in reducing diets, according to extension foods and nutrition specialists.

Foods that contain a lot of fat and/or sugar have less of the nutrients, but are high in calories. Excess calories can pile on pounds while your body is starving for some of the needed vitamins, minerals and proteins.

Learn to choose "loaded" calories. It can mean better health, an improved morale and appearance.

Family members may enjoy rating their eating habits. A new Extension Leaflet, "Are You a Good Eater," provides an easy check list. It lists the foods needed daily and describes some of the most common symptoms for food deficiencies.

Get a copy from your county extension agent's office.

The use of agricultural limestone is a good practice and a profitable investment. Extension Soils Chemist W. F. Bennett says in the areas where soil tests show that it should be used, its use is a sound soil management practice.

3 GOOD REASONS FOR COOKING ELECTRICALLY!

- 1 FAST
Electric cooking is fast! Just a simple water boiling test proves the speed of electric cooking. And, it's because all the heat goes into the pan to cook the food--none escapes up and around the sides of the pan to heat up the kitchen. This means cool cooking--best of all, fast cooking.
- 2 CLEAN
There's just no cleaner way to cook. Electric elements clean themselves as this dramatic molasses test proves. The electric element in the photo, just like the surface unit on top of the range, when turned on and immersed in a pitcher of sticky molasses comes out clean. With electric cooking, walls stay clean, elements stay clean and drip pans wash clean as easy as saucers.
- 3 ACCURATE
You've noticed that where automatic controls are used in your home they are electric. That's because electricity controls accurately and is, in turn, easy to control accurately. That's why, on an electric range, you can melt chocolate without burning and without a double boiler--so gentle, so safe, so accurately controlled is electricity.

THE PARMER FARMER

by W. H. Graham Jr.

the other day with a real blast, and we thought the statistics he got together on the state's agricultural production deserve passing mention.

This is mainly because Texas is coming to be regarded as a big-city and industrial state by many persons who do not know better. Whenever the word Texas is mentioned, they immediately think of Dallas, Houston or San Antonio, of the oil wells scattered across the state, and fix in their minds an inaccurate picture.

Texas has grown industrially, to be sure, but the farm plan is still tremendous in size. Here are some of White's figures:

John C. White, Texas commissioner of agriculture, apparently has had his feathers ruffled by reports that Alaska is exceeding Texas in some respects, notably size. Commissioner White came out

Despite droughts, boll weevils, pink bollworms, a host of other insects -- and not even to mention governmental order plagues -- the Lone Star State is unchallenged as the leading producer of cotton, raising nearly 38% of the nation's supply; in grain sorghums, with a whopping 44% of all grown in the country; in mohair production clipping 95% of the nation's goats, to mention a few.

Neither do Texas farmers hang back in vegetables for the fresh market. In 1958, Texas led the nation in production of beets, winter cabbage, winter carrots, early fall carrots, winter cauliflower, spring honey dew melons, early spring onions, summer onions, spinach and watermelons.

If that isn't enough, we also rank first in producing in cattle, rice sorghum forage, hay and wool.

So the next time some damyankee tries to needle us Texans about "being cut down to size," here are a few figures to confound him with:

Just tell him Texas with 4,350,000 bales of cotton produced last year is ahead of its nearest competitor (California) by 2,750,000 bales. Point out that our 1958 crop of 273,066,000 bushels of sorghum grain more than doubles Kansas' 128,964,000 bushels, and Kansas was by far the second largest producer. Tell him Texas is also ahead with 11,938,000 cwt. of rice, 1,499,000 tons of sorghum forage and 15 million tons of other hays.

You might also mention that Alaskan reindeer and other strange forms of livestock just can't compete when one out of every eight head of cattle makes its home on a Texas range. Just for good measure, we've also got more sheep, lambs, horses and mules than any of the other 49 states.

The irrigated wheat in the Parmer County area looks excellent. We aren't the only ones who have prospects for a good wheat crop this year, though.

A week ago we made a dashing one-day trip to Fort Worth, and on the way down couldn't help but notice the excellent condition of the Rolling Plains area. Stretching from east of Benjamin through Olney and on to Seymour, the wheat is in excellent condition.

In fact, we have remarked that this particular part of the country looks better than it has looked in a long, long time. Apparently there's been quite a bit of rain to the east of us.

Lil' Abner, his twin, and County Agent Joe Jones will all be in Italy by time you read this. Here's hoping that Joe doesn't get into any of the scrapes that Lil' Abner has managed to get into.

He probably won't, but we do know that his getting out of this country has been somewhat hectic. Among other things, he had an awful time getting immunized and a health certificate to prove he was. We thought that since he was a county agent maybe the customs people would let him out if he just had a TB and bang's test certificate. No soap.

The one thing that worried Joe the most was the prospect of losing his passport. An American without his passport instantly becomes a man without a country anytime he's outside of the U. S. The prospect of this happening is frightening. Joe had been told by someone in the Extension Service (who had been to Europe previously), "Don't let that passport out of your sight, no matter what."

Joe's wife, Irene, got an airmail letter from Joe Saturday. He dropped it off in Chicago while waiting for a plane change. The agent had been given a special holder for important papers by his friend, John Aldridge. He had this holder clutched tightly in his hand when he stepped into a phone booth, but in opening the door it jostled loose and fell to the ground.

Guess what popped out of his holder and began blowing down the sidewalk? The passport, what else! Joe gave hot pursuit nabbed it after about half a block, and according to the last report, has things back under control now.

Doubt That Power Lines Are Cause of Electrolysis

Engineers from both Pioneer Natural Gas Company and El Paso Natural Gas Company have expressed doubt to Parmer County officials that electrolysis of underground pipelines is caused by power lines overhead.

The question came up several months ago when farmers of the area expressed concern over the deterioration of their gas lines in some instances. They wondered if there was any relation to damage of their lines and the power transmission lines that often are overhead.

The problem was a rather technical one, but there seems to be little doubt in the minds of engineering authorities that there is no substantiation for such fears.

In a letter addressed to County Judge Loyde Brewer, C. W. Pankratz, senior engineer for Pioneer, said:

"In answer to your letter inquiring as to electrolysis by being under power lines, we know of no resistor or gadget to take care of this. Actually, I doubt if there would be any corrosion occurring from this line or lines being directly under a power line, unless there was some sort of ground or being near a sub-station having grounds causing stray currents in the earth.

"We do provide cathodic protection on our pipelines by coating them and installing magnesium anodes attached to the pipelines to control corrosion by electrolysis."

Carolton C. Homan Jr., chief engineer of El Paso, wrote: "We wish to advise you that there are no detrimental effects to a gas pipeline buried under or near a public utility electric power line. We have many such installations throughout the Southwest, including power lines with voltages as high as 230,000 volts and have experienced no difficulty whatsoever."

Growers Advised To Cut Costs

"Cotton producers have made their final decision on their 1959 allotment, either plan A or B," C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist said, "and unless disaster occurs, growers know the exact acreage they are permitted to harvest."

He said proper fertilization, good stands, control of weeds, and effective insect control are some important considerations in getting the highest production at lowest cost from the cotton grown.

Plans should be made to use every practice that will help to reduce unit production costs, as lower costs per bale of cotton marketed will mean greater profit for Choice A and B producers alike.

In some areas the importance of certain practices rank higher than others. Cotton growers should check with their county agricultural agent for local practice recommendations, Bates suggested.

that can be given, he said. Extra attention to cost-reduction practices are especially important this year, advised Bates, since price support levels are below those for 1958.

A statewide study made last year through the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council on farm and ranch accidents showed that the number of accidents starts to increase with the step-up in production activities. Farmers and their families are urged by the Council not to take chances which can lead to crippling accidents or even fatalities. An accident now could cause a delay in farming activities and result in a crop failure and other serious economic losses. It is just good farm management, points out the Council, for every agricultural producer to practice farm safety.

Margaret Ann Eggers Wins County Essay Award

Margaret Ann Eggers, a Lazbuddie High School eleventh grade student won first place in the 1959 Farmer County Essay Contest. The contest is sponsored by the Farmer County Soil Conservation District.

Miss Eggers was awarded a $50 cash prize for her winning essay on Conservation and Citizenship, which appears below. (Note: It was reported in last week's issue of Farmland Home that Celia Berry of Bovina won first place in the county. She was the winner of second place in region.)

 Conservation and citizenship go hand-in-hand towards building a great America. No good citizen intentionally does anything to harm the soil of this great land or its qualities, but, rather, he does everything in his power to preserve and strengthen it. The citizen does this not only for the benefit of the present citizens of this country and the rest of the world, but for the future citizens also.
 The economic stability of America grows from good soil used intelligently. Wise use of productive land means protecting the land from the influences which make it poor while under cultivation or grazing so as to keep it permanently productive.

 Citizens who are not farmers and who do not own large amounts of land may think that there is not much they can do to preserve the soil, but many farmers need the support and encouragement of the public as well as the technical assistance of soil conservationists.
 The economic stability of both city and rural areas depends on how farmers use their lands. When the understanding of soil conservation penetrates through the schools, the churches, the civic organizations, the business and industries, conservation farming can be spread across the land to hold the soil and maintain it for present and future generations and for the security of the nation.
 What is needed now is the desire and decision to go ahead and do this job of conservation. It is being done in a degree, but it could be done faster if everybody would help. There are no short cuts to conservation of soil or water, but if everyone determined to do his part, no matter how small, the effects of their labor would soon show dividends by making a stronger and better nation and world.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

BY RAYMOND EULER

By Raymond Euler
 A report from Maj. General C. W. Christenberry (USA) Retired, gives the following interesting facts about the Texas Friend Ship, which went to Korea in 1955. It carried hogs, goats, cattle, sheep and rabbits which were contributed by Texans for the purpose of providing food for Korean people. General Christenberry is President of The American-Korean Foundation, which has been and is promoting the Korean 4-H clubs. Many of you will remember that a short horn bull contributed from Bill Flippen's herd by him and some other contributors, also a male hog contributed by Orma Flippen and several breeding hogs from J. T. Gee's pens, paid for by Farmer County contributors, were included in this shipment. There were also several garden tools, small plows, etc., and some sewing kits contributed by school children in the county in the shipment.
 Now here is the report we received regarding the livestock which has been under the managership of Korean 4-Hers: the 120 cattle have increased to over 400; the 950 hogs have increased to 1,228,780; the 480 sheep and goats have increased to 70,000; the rabbits are, of course, uncountable. We thought you would be interested in this report. Farm Bureau helped sponsor this drive that year, and response was good and the fruits are helping many needy people over there.

No one knows what kind of wheat program will be adopted in congress this season. Farm Bureau has a proposal that is being demonstrated all over the wheat area. Roy V. Miller is chairman, and Raymond Schlabs, E. L. Fairchild, Hoyt Smith and C. W. Dixon are members of this county's wheat committee. They will be announcing a county meeting at which this proposal will be presented with the aid of slides, in such a way that you can see what you think of it. Watch for the announcement of this meeting soon.

Remember to file for State Gas Tax refund if you haven't in the last few months. It looks like Farm Bureau may get the legislature to get this procedure changed to a simplified annual affair this session.

CONSIDER THIS: Say not, I will do so to him as he hath done to me: I will render to the man according to his work. Prov. 24:29

Roy V. Miller New FB Prexy

Roy V. Miller was elected president of Farmer County Farm Bureau at the regular meeting of directors Monday night in Friona. Miller is to serve out the term of Gilbert Kaltwasser who tendered his resignation last month.

Kaltwasser had served four years since replacing Aubra Ellison who resigned in June, 1955, to enter the insurance business.

The nominating committee, appointed by Vice-President Jack Patterson at last month's meeting, consisted of Gilbert Kaltwasser, Bruce Parr, Raymond Schueler, Roy V. Miller and Vernon Symcox. They nominated Miller, Donald Christian and Herman Gerles.
 Miller farms five miles northeast of Friona.

'58 Tops 60,000

Official tabulations are finally in. Farmer County's 1958 cotton crop has exceeded 60,000 bales, as had been expected since last October.

The Department of Commerce says that 60,567 bales of cotton were ginned in the county during the past season, which is a substantial increase over the 52,732 ginned in 1957. Actually, as all farmers know, the quality of the crop is far superior this year over the past year, which dollarwise is the most important factor. That doesn't show on the government report.

Farmer County farmers grew more cotton than those in Castro County, even though our neighbors to the east had a larger cotton allotment. Castro had 54,328 bales this year. Deaf Smith had 9001.

Bailey County produced 90,927 bales in 1958. Other big producers on the Plains included Lamb with 178,358, Hale with 200,581, and Lubbock, the "granddaddy of 'em all," 245,895.

Hale County showed the biggest improvement since 1957. That year, a poor one for all Plains cotton growers, they raised only 138,362 bales.
