

FROM THE HOPPER

BY HOP JR.

One of our favorite jokes has always been about this being such a wonderful place for fishing enthusiasts. "It's the center of fishing paradise," we've been told, "You can go 500 miles in any direction and catch all the fish you want."

This joke has gotten less funny as the years rolled by because more and more of our area anglers are equipping themselves for those 500-mile jaunts, and it isn't exactly unusual to see them go 1500 instead of 500 just to catch fish anymore.

Everybody knows about the fisherman's plight and worries about it. But what about the family picnickers -- does anybody know they have troubles too?

Both groups have that yen to get outdoors and "get away from it all." The fisherman covers up this yen to escape with the excuse that he is after the fish. The truth is, though, that most fishermen don't eat what they catch, they give it away.

Both the fisherman and the Sunday afternoon outdoorsman are seeking the same thing, an escape from everyday life. The difference is that the guy who goes out to catch fish is a professional and his neighbor who takes the kids out for an afternoon once in a while is an amateur.

If this hadn't occurred to you before, just stop and think. Today's angler goes forth to fish arrayed in splendor. He's in a late model pickup. There's a canopy or metal cover over the back to give him shelter. He has a radio, an icebox, powerful lights, and everything he needs in the back of that pickup to provide him comfort while he's away.

Behind the pickup rolls the trailer bearing a large boat. Is it a boat designed to catch fish? Of course not. It's designed for pleasure. It has a motor five times as large as would be necessary if the owner were merely going fishing. Nothing rustic about fishing anymore, no sir. But -- is this really fishing?

Now, all of this is fine and we're for it. But we're just trying to make a point or two, and that is (1) that folks don't go fishing to catch fish anymore; and (2) those who venture forth as we have described are "pros" in the fun-out-of-doors game.

The rank amateur far outnumber the pros, but he's hardly noticed. He's present by the tens of thousands right around here, but he gets no attention whatsoever. Maybe he ought to get organized and do something about this.

It now seems that he's expected to satisfy his outdoor drives with a barbecue grill in the back yard or a trip to the zoo. This is all right, but after a while it gets to be pretty tame stuff. When the fellow and his family get tired of barbecue and monkeys, and look around for something different, what are they confronted with?

It's simply go pro or stay a rank amateur. There doesn't seem to be any in-between. And just a whole lot of them can't stand the expense of going pro.

Our family is one which is at that critical stage. We've looked at the monkeys at the Clovis zoo until we feel like one. We've tried all the roadside parks, which are nice, but they're meant for folks who stop for a few minutes on a trip and rest and eat a little.

Mackenzie Park in Lubbock is today about like trying to get some relaxation at the Texas - Oklahoma football game. If you dare lie prone in the grass it won't be long before some heavy-footed teenager will step on the back of your neck while backing up to catch a high fly ball.

We went to Palo Duro Park Sunday afternoon on a day that wasn't especially pretty, thinking that surely the crowds wouldn't be too great. What we saw when topping the canyon rim reminded us of the Ten Commandments where the camera showed the Children of Israel wandering in the wilderness.

The Air Force had rented all the horses and the trails were filled with cavalry units. Every camping site was taken and in fact every rock big enough to support a sandwich was surrounded by six people.

There were lovers behind every cedar tree but they couldn't find much privacy. A church school picnic flourished

ALL THOSE EMPTY SHELVES have to be filled with books and these three teachers in the Farwell grades are working hard on a plan to do just that. Left to right, they are Mrs. Lucille Brittain, Mrs. A. E. Tatum, and Mrs. Lenton Pool. This is just a portion of the emptiness of the library in the new elementary school building.

Program To Encourage Book Purchases for School

By JEANNE GRAHAM
When school at Farwell opens in September, for the first time a space will be available for a grade school library. The large airy room has been built in the new elementary building.

And right now the grade school instructors aren't as worried about "why Johnny can't read" as they are about "what is Johnny going to read?" They feel that the first question will take care of itself if the second problem is solved.

So a "buy a book" program has been arranged. Children in the first six grades will be featured in a special program May 1 in the auditorium at 8

Moving Targets

Cary Joe Magness may not be the first guy in town to wise up to putting his wife to work, but he's the only one who's come forth in a long, long time with a new idea on how to trap a little of the tourist trade that rushes through our community.

He's putting up a novelty-souvenir shop in the Thomas building in Texico. As we stopped to think about this new venture, we decided that it has possibilities. Anyone who has ever traveled from east to west has surely noticed how many flourishing enterprises of just this sort there are along well-beaten paths.

Furthermore, we can't think of one between Canyon and Clovis on Highway 60 and between Lubbock and Clovis on Highway 70-84. The Magnesses are shooting for that rustic western accent which is so important to "touristas" and we believe it's a shot in the right direction.

Indian lore, the lure of the Southwest with its wide-brimmed hats, cactus and prickly pear, snakes, leather goods and all that stuff for some reason really knocks those Easterners dead. We wish Cary Joe and Patricia lots of luck.

We once heard of a man down in the cotton country on the South Plains who was talking it up at his chamber of commerce meeting about boosting tourist trade.

"Every tourist is worth a bale of cotton to us," he said, "and is a heck of lot easier to pick."

Few people, save those outside of the oil industry, have realized the potential of America's mobile customers. A family on wheels is a family out to have a good time and to spend some money. Anybody with a legitimate proposition (and some of those with illegitimate ones) are eligible for shooting at these moving targets.

The service stations have risen to meet the challenge. In most of our larger towns so have the motels. Look at the motel development at Clovis just within the past five years. But the smaller towns lag behind. And there's no reason they should. A tourist doesn't look at a town's skyline. He looks at what's offered him along the road.

The trouble with us here in Texico-Farwell is that we underestimate our potentialities in the tourist trade. We are at the confluence of three U. S. highways carrying west-bound traffic. Probably Highway 60 brings more people down from "Yankee-land" who would be the best prospects for merchandise that symbolizes the Southwest.

We have gotten the notion, perhaps, that Highway 66 is "the" route from east to west. Well, maybe it is for a lot of people, but think of these factors: First, Texico's Main Street now has more tourists rolling down it every hour than did Highway 66 just five short years ago.

Secondly, since you've made a few long trips yourself, you probably know that it's human to want to go a different route on succeeding times, to see some new country. So, folks won't always go Route 66 just because it happens to be there. Sooner or later they'll come rolling into our town--and they'll whistle right on through if we don't do anything about it.

Doran, McDaniel Named Delegates

Announcement was made last week of 1959 delegates to New Mexico Boys and Girls state. Chosen to represent Texico High School were Mary McDaniel, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McDaniel, and Ursel Doran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buck Doran.

Ursel came to Texico from Field in 1957 and has been active in all school functions. He is now serving as vice-president of the Student Council and president of the Science Club, as well as being on the track team.

Mary, a student of Texico schools for 11 years, is also very active in school affairs.

She is in the Business Education Club and Pep Club and works after school at Rose Drug in Farwell. Students are chosen for Girls and Boys state on the basis of their leadership, dependability, honesty and citizenship.

Boys state will be on the campus of New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell June 2-9, and Girls state will be in Albuquerque on the University campus June 14-21.

Alternates for Girls state were first alternate, Peggie Teel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Teel, and second alternate, D'Rene Danforth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Danforth. Boys state alternates were Charles Stockton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stockton, first alternate, and Bobby Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Walker second alternate.

Students To Be Recognized Friday

Eighteen Farwell students will be recognized Friday at 9:50 in the morning, when the young people will be presented as members of the newly chartered National Honor Society, in a special assembly. Special invitations have been mailed to parents of the scholars, who have to maintain an A average for a year to be eligible.

Also as a portion of the program, the interscholastic league play which won first place in district competition, will be presented.

Farm Labor Unions Next, Meeting Told

By DAVE McREYNOLDS (ED NOTE: This reporter was one of a party of Farmer County representatives who attended a state-wide meeting Friday in San Angelo for the purpose of hearing more on the subject of Labor Department designs on the farm labor situation.)

"Our farm-labor situation today is no accident," Matt Trigg, assistant legislative director for the American Farm Bureau Federation told an aroused crowd of farmers in San Angelo last Friday.

"This situation stems from the victory which labor unions won in last year's election," Trigg told the 400 representatives from all the state of Texas.

Citing figures to bear out his statement Trigg told of how labor bosses have bragged that their unions elected 25 of 32 Senators which they supported; 17 of 25 governors they supported and 70 per cent of the representatives supported by labor organizations during the last elections.

"This makes the labor unions a dominant figure in our politics today," Trigg warned as an opening statement.

The present farm-labor situation stems from a meeting held in Washington this February. Trigg went on where presentations were given to a group of over 400 "liberal" organizations and was geared to drive home the fact that the farm laborer today is being exploited and that something should be done about it.

Trigg said the meeting above was called a hearing but it should have been called a national kickoff for a campaign to accomplish four major purposes ----

1. The enactment of minimum wage legislation for farm workers.
2. The unionization of farm workers.
3. The elimination or curtailment of the foreign labor importation program so as to create a national farm labor shortage and,
4. An interpretation of the

Wagner - Peysor Act which would accomplish federal regulation of the farmer-worker relationship.

Pointing out that farmers aren't like a factory when it comes to strikes and that he cannot afford to wait out a wage dispute over any period of time whatever when a crop awaits harvesting, Trigg says this point alone could ruin our farming operations as we know them today.

"A farmer could lose not only his entire year's income, but a substantial investment in producing the crop as well," he pointed out.

Trigg warned that this year the arrangements which Secretary of Labor James A. Mitchell wants to become law as of May 1 are probably seemingly "sweetness and light."

"For the time being farmers who accept such a proposal might well be supplied with an unusually competent crew, but it would only be a question of time until the union would be telling the farmers how much they had to pay, the conditions of employment, checkoff of union dues, arrangement of labor union stewards and so on."

Mustangs Smash Steers in Baseball

The Farwell Steers lost their second straight baseball game when they lost to Bovina by the score of 10-0 at Bovina last Thursday. James Lawlis pitched an efficient four-hit shutout at the Steers, striking out six men and walking only one. Tommy Williams pitched to all but three men as he gave up only four hits, but walked six men and his teammates committed five errors behind him.

Isham led Bovina in hitting, getting two hits. He also got on base on errors two times and scored three runs. Mike Billington, freshman outfielder, led the Farwell hitters with two hits in two bats.

Farwell's biggest rally was in the sixth inning when Jimmy Martin and Owen Huffaker hit consecutive singles putting men on first and second with no outs. Don Hendrickson then hit a ground ball to the shortstop who threw to third base to force Martin.

Maurice Smith then hit the ball to the second baseman who threw to the shortstop covering second base to force Hendrickson with Huffaker moving to third. Lawlis then struck out Bill Owen to end the inning. The Steers' main trouble has been errors of which they have committed 13. The Steers engage Bovina in a return game today, in Farwell. Jimmy Martin is the probable starting pitcher for Farwell.

JOTTIN'S By Jeanne

We had asked Ella Williams to help us find a picture of her husband, Jack, to use along with a story of his resignation as school superintendent at Farwell.

She found one all right, but was rather surprised that we didn't have one. It seems that First Grader Sharon had canvassed the neighborhood after the school pictures were distributed and sold pictures of her dad for a penny each. She made about a nickel, before the family learned what she was up to.

Although the Tribune if only a block from the Williams home, Sharon missed us!

We've always admired our Grandmother Dudley a great deal -- but since the arrival of our third son, our feeling for her is more aptly described as "awe." After 85 years, Grandmother exhibits an amazing amount of energy and bounce.

And she was the mother of NINE boys. When our parents visited her recently and related our observations on the rearing of sons, she exclaimed "Just tell Jeanne that for 15 years of my life, I didn't know if I was going or coming." Guess maybe we received some of grandmother's characteristics after all. That describes us right now!

Mrs. Oris Hubbell tells us that their household is quite busy these days -- with a son who will be graduated from the eighth grade, a daughter who will get her high school diploma, and a wedding planned in June. Daughter Beverly will be the high school graduate and also the new bride.

Incidentally, seven Hubbells have received eighth grade diplomas from Farwell schools -- all of them girls. For the first time, a Hubbell boy will participate in the exercises this year. The Hubbell young people are children of the Oris Hubbells and the Oscar Hubbells.

Fishing is beginning to pick up at Conchas Lake. Indications are that they will really start biting within a couple of weeks as the water is still a little on the cold side. Olan Schlueter of Texico and this other character brought back 26 over the weekend. Did you ever blister your eye balls fishing? It can be done. And these straw hats they build these days have too many holes in the top or some of us have too little hair on our tops.

If you plan to plant Hybrid 610 I would suggest that you buy this hybrid now as a shortage is developing. Most of the other numbers are in sufficient supply to take care of the demand. If you have not tried hybrid sorghums and are interested in a high yielder that stands well I would suggest 650. It does not combine early, but it combines much.

Farmer County has a weed program that will help in the control of bindweeds. If you are interested contact the ASC office in Farwell. You can get help up to 50% of the cost not to exceed $65.00 per acre. Golden West Seed Co. will work with you on this project and we have the materials to kill bindweed and Johnson Grass.

Don't forget the Lions Pancake Supper this Saturday at the Farwell School Cafeteria. All you can eat for 75¢ and the time is 5:30 to 8:30. The pancakes will be excellent, I'm one of the cooks.

Come see us.

Study Club Fetes Neighbors Monday

Two neighboring clubs were entertained with a salad supper, guests and members heard a book review, and new officers were elected when members of Farwell Study Club met Monday evening at the home economics building.

Guests were from Texico Woman's Club and Bovina Study Club and Farwell club members were hostesses.

Tables were decorated with spring flowers--with a centerpiece of hyacinths and iris, and individual bud vases of jonquils and white flowers placed at intervals along the center of the tables.

Fruit, vegetable and meat salads were served with pie, coffee and iced tea. Mrs. Sidney Cox gave the invocation.

Mrs. Sam Rundell presided during the program, and introduced the guests, Mrs. John Aldridge led the club collect. A unique floral design of pink snapdragons and white tulips cascading to a tall peak, was featured at the president's table. An Italian cutwork cloth covered the table, and white tapers in crystal holders flanked the centerpiece. Mrs. E. G. Williams introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Ovid Lawlis of Bovina, who reviewed the book "To Live Again" by Catherine Marshall. Mrs. W. N. Foster gave the closing prayer.

Mrs. Calvin Murray was elected president of the club and Mrs. John Aldridge is vice president. Other officers include Mrs. Jim Terrell, secretary; Mrs. Rundell, treasurer; Mrs. M. A. Snider, reporter; Mrs. Williams historian and Mrs. Claud Coffey, parliamentarian.

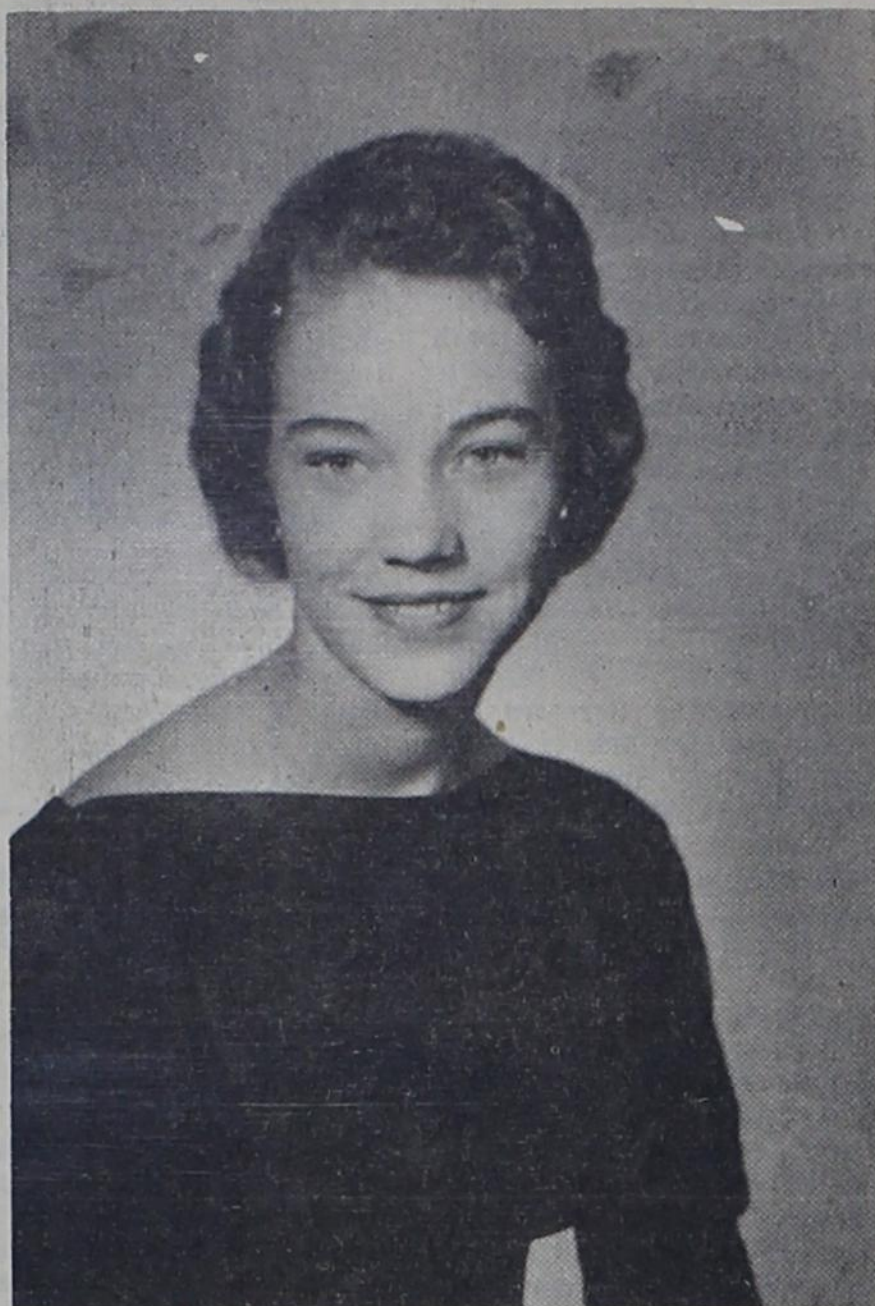

Officers will be installed at the next meeting, May 18.

In a business session following the program, members decided to give $25 to aid in sending delegates to Boys State and Girls State this summer.

Members learned that the club press book won thirdplace in the state contest at Borger recently. The book was arranged by Mrs. Murray.

Also, members decided to send two delegates, Mesdames Aldridge and Terrell, to the district convention at Lubbock May 4-6.

Sixteen club members were present; also Mesdames Elmer Wide-Track Pontiac!

Underneath all its beauty is an important idea for which you'll be ever grateful as a Pontiac owner: Wide-Track Wheels. Only Pontiac has them. The wheels are five inches farther apart. This widens the stance but not the car. Lean and sway go away. As a driver you feel the road-hugging stability, the steady balance, the security of full control. As a passenger you ride more comfortably, with less fatigue on long trips. Your nearest dealer has the keys to several models all slicked up ready for you to drive.

PONTIAC! AMERICA'S NUMBER 1 ROAD CAR

THE ONLY CAR WITH WIDE-TRACK WHEELS
Dotted lines show conventional wheel positions. Pontiac's wheels are five inches farther apart. This widens only the stance, not the car itself. Pontiac takes a better grip on the road, hugs tighter on curves and corners. Sway and lean are considerably reduced, ride is smoother, balanced, steadier.

THE CAR (Chevy, of course) THAT'S WANTED (like no other car around)
FOR ALL ITS WORTH (you couldn't want a car worth more)

Now--thanks to what Chevy wraps into one sweet low-priced package--there's no reason to compromise between the car you've always wanted and the one you can afford.

Even as it sits in your dealer's showroom this new Chevrolet shows its worth in wonderful new ways--the fresh cut of its silhouette, the clean sweep of its new areas of visibility, the luster of its longer lasting finish. And a look inside reveals the roominess of its new Body by Fisher, the tasteful way its upholstery extends snug to the windows, even the convenience of crank-operated ventpanes. But the real clincher will come out on the road when you feel Chevy's cream-smooth ride, its sure-gripping Safety-Master brakes, its cocked-pistol reflexes.

The plain truth is, a visit with your Chevrolet dealer has never been so worth your while.

THE HENSONS'

on one side of the canyon while on the other side, a scant 50 yards away, a boisterous college beer party was in progress, complete with loud and profane shouting.

People of all ages lined the creek bank for miles just to have a chance to get some mud between their toes. It was sort of pitiful, in a way.

When we opened our lunch and made ready to eat, we discovered what happens under a pasteboard box when a three-year-old-boy rides on top for 100 miles. Heard of the old American favorite, mashed tomatoes?

On our particular visit, they even managed to have a brush fire, and the air was filled with boiling smoke as campers fled from the woods like rabbits before a forest fire. Fire trucks screamed down the highway from Canyon to put out the fire.

This is getting away from it all? Brother, this is getting into it!

It looks like the only alternatives to this kind of a madhouse are: television, barbecue, monkeys, or at least $3,000 if you want to go pro. None of these choices are too appealing.

Meanwhile, the amateur outdoorsman continues to have the itch to get away from it all, just the same as the professionals. But he's a man without a country.

ON HWY 70-84 FARWELL

p.m. The program is free of charge, but parents and patrons are asked to help build the grade school library by buying one or more books for the library.

After many hours of study and work, teachers have developed a list of 950 recommended books to be included in the basic collection, and to be used by approximately 300 students. Average cost of each book when purchased through the school is about $2.

Patrons are asked to give money for as many books as they wish to purchase, so that an order may be placed for library bound copies.

These are bound for heavy use and are more suitable for small children's use.

Need for library facilities for lower grades has been noted for some time, but lack of space and finances have prevented any concrete plans. In 1957-1958, when the accreditation committee from the Texas Education Agency inspected the Farwell school, one criticism was that there was no central library for grade school. Each room had a small selection of books which was inadequate.

When plans were made for the new building, Supt. Jack Williams and the school board made plans to correct the situation. A large room has been included in the new building where all books will be available to all children.

The library will be equipped with attractive and comfortable furniture—enough for an entire class to be taken to the library at one time.

In this way, a class may be given instruction on how to use the library -- and will have an opportunity to browse through the books and select those desired.

There is sufficient shelf space for an adequate library, with a special section for the odd-sized books for primary children.

But first--the problem is to get books into these shelves. Quite some time ago, all grade school teachers compiled lists of books needed and listed those already in hand.

Then Mrs. Lenton Pool, second grade teacher, Mrs. Amos Tatum, third grade, and Mrs. Lucille Brittain, sixth grade, visited the school library in Canyon and spent all one Saturday morning there with Mrs. Charles Harter, the librarian.

She gave them pointers on books to select, authors, illustrators, approved lists of children's books and other suggestions.

The committee brought back suggestions to the other grade faculty members, and materials to use in making book selections. After teachers had used the materials to make a list of basic books needed, the lists were compiled into one complete list of 950 books. This group of books will be only a start in setting up a library.

The lists from which the books were selected are made up by authorities in the fields of children's literature, reading and science, and meet with the accreditation standards of the Texas Education Agency.

At this time, the school will be able to buy only about half of the basic list of 950 books. If all are purchased from the dent of the senior class, and plans to attend college at Texas Tech.

Miss Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith. She has maintained a four year average of an A--as well as being very active in extra-curricular activities. She is a member of the FHA and Pep Club; editor of the annual and the school paper and has been in Who's Who for three years. She plans to attend Texas Christian University.

Smythie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvil Lawrence, has a four year average of an A-. He, too, has been active in extra-curricular activities being on the basketball, football, volleyball, track and baseball teams for four years. He is a member of the paper staff, and FFA, and has been in Who's Who for three years. He plans to attend Texas Tech and major in engineering.

Other seniors are: Rosemary Agee, Susie Carpenter, Freda White, Wanda Steinbock, Carolyn Hinkson, Carolyn Scott, Edward Pruitt, Dennis Nelson, Micky Smith, Je Don Gallman, Ronnie Briggs, Dwayne Teague, Bobby Hall, Laurence H. King, James Carpenter, Ted Smith, Bobby Blackburn, Marie Huston, Clifford Hugg, and sponsor, Mrs. Arvil Lawrence.

Baccalaureate services are set for May 10, and commencement for May 14. Both will be at 8:00 p.m.

Civility costs nothing.

A MOMENT OF ACTION was this scene from the Texico Junior Class' play, "Finders Creepers" Tuesday night. Daphne, the maid (Christine Bowers) is picking up Dr. Brown (Bobby Gooch), Wilbur Maxwell (Ursel Doran) and Frankie (D' Rene Danforth) are in the background. The juniors played to a good turn-out.

Texico Youngsters To Present Operetta

"The Sleeping Beauty" will be presented by students of Texico third and fourth grade music class Friday night at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium. The operetta is presented in three acts.

Cast for the show includes: Larry Burns, king; Zaden Burris, queen; Susan White, princess; Keith Crooks, Prince Charming; Roddy Pearce and Jackie Billingsley, heralds; Tommy Beavers, cook; J. B. Taylor, kitchen boy; Linda Dunn, old woman and evil fairy; Betty Davis, Clara Ortiz, Tula Ortiz, Marsha Palmateer, Linda Barnes, Judy Walton, Jane Lansdale, Karen Autrey, Ruthie Beavers, Pam Roberts, school budget, it will be some time before even these basic books can be made available to the children.

Patricia Thompson and Janet Wilson, good fairies;

For this reason, an effort is being made to enlist the help of the parents of the grade school children and any other parents who wish to help. With the school and parents working together, the complete list of books could be purchased and placed in the library for the opening of school in September.

In addition to the May 1 program by the grade school children, those attending will get a "sneak" preview of the new library and the rest of the new building. Contractors say the building will be ready for inspection.

Perhaps some may wonder why parents are being asked to donate money to buy books -- rather than to give books. Since the library must meet certain standards, the school wishes to place in the library only those books which are recognized as the best.

Too, the school can order books cheaper than each individual can buy them, thus giving the school more books for the money spent.

With such a library, instructors feel that students will have a better chance to develop in reading; and all kinds of teaching aids can be built.

Annual Texico Show Planned

April 28 is the date set for the annual Wolverine Varieties show. It will be in the high school auditorium at 8 C.S.T. and will feature a western theme. The show has such highlights as the coronation of the Wolverine Beauty and Most Handsome and presentation of the 1959 annual.

Candidates for the most beautiful and most handsome and sponsors are Ursel Doran and Gayle Potts, Press Club; Jerry Bowers and Carlene Miller, Science Club; Jerry Reid and Jerry Thigpen, FHA; Judy Adams and Kenneth Doshier, Pep Club; Darlene Day and Raymond Hadley, FFA;

Also Mary McDaniel and Bobby Gooch, Business Education Club, Monte Singleterry and Connie Tharp, Band; Gary Singleterry and Glenda Billingsley, Chorus; and Anita Moss and Wesley Engram, Student Council.

Entertainment on the program includes three one-act plays, a musical reading and several selections by the high school chorus.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Watts and Joyce Kay spent the weekend at Conchas Lake for a fishing trip.

THE HIGH PLAINS FARM AND HOME

Cotton Planting Expected Soon

Planting of the Farmer County area's 1959 cotton crop is expected to begin soon. The cold weather that moved in the first of this week, in fact, has probably interrupted the plans of a good many farmers in the southern part of the county to get some seed into the ground this week.

On the High Plains it's always a race between farmers and the calendar and the weather to get the cotton crop started and to harvest it too. Cotton is a crop which just barely "sandwiches in" to the climate of the area.

Still, it's by far the area's best paying major cash crop and so there's always a rush to grow just as much as allotments allow and to strive for the maximum yields obtainable.

Early planting is looked upon with favor for this reason. From the first week in May until about May 20 is generally regarded as the busy season on the High Plains for planting cotton, but farmers don't pay so much attention to the calendar as they do to more obvious factors. Soil temperature is regarded as the most important one of these. To date, temperatures have not been warm enough for long enough periods of time to justify planting seed. Seed planted in soil that is too cold won't germinate.

Joe Jones, county agent, says he feels farmers should "Plant when you feel like you've got a reasonable chance of getting a stand."

It is especially important to get cotton planted as soon as possible in tighter soils and in the northern part of the cotton growing area, of which Farmer County is a part. The reason is that if a farmer has his field moisture to an adequate level and is ready for planting, and then gets an unexpected shower, he may be delayed from planting for quite a while. Also, the tighter soils do not warm up as quickly as sandier ones and cotton usually starts slower there.

"The thing to do is for a farmer to get his land in the best condition he can and then be ready to plant plenty of good strong seed when he feels like it's late enough so that the cotton will come up." That's the way the agent sums up his attitude about cotton planting. Farmer County cotton farmers have boosted their allotment this year by 3770 acres because of the so-called "B Plan" choice.

Name Essay Winners

Winners of this year's essay contests, sponsored by the Farmer County Soil Conservation District, have been announced.

First place this year goes to Margaret Ann Eggers of Lazbuddie. She will win a $50 cash prize for her work.

Taking second place is Don Crume of Farwell, who will receive $35. John Pat Cranfill of Friona won third and will get a $25 prize, and Patsy Hart, Bovina, came out in fifth place and will receive $15.

These awards will be formally acknowledged at the annual Soil Conservation District banquet in September.

All of the essays were on the subject, "Conservation and Citizenship." Roy Crawford, Bovina vocational agriculture instructor, was in charge of the contest this year. He says that there was an unusually large number of entries.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Now that spring is here it's clean up time around the farm. Clean up, check up, and fix up for fire and accident prevention as you prepare for efficient spring farm work and make the home safe from fire and accidents. Remove the hazards and maintain the buildings and surroundings to make them safe from accidents.

Highly combustible buildings, hay, feed, and flammable liquids are found on farms. Farm families can prevent fire only by keeping fire, heat and power under control and keeping all combustible material away from heat, sparks and flames.

Common causes of fire on farms are: defective heating and cooking equipment; defective chimneys; sparks falling on combustible roofs, dry leaves or grass; misuse of electricity or defective wiring, equipment, or appliances; careless use of matches and tobacco; tractors, autos or other gas engines, and dryers operated near combustible materials; flammable liquids or gasses improperly stored or used; uncontrolled burning of trash, grass or woods; fats, grease, potholders or clothing exposed to the heat of the kitchen range; cleaning fluids used indoors; or fires quickened with kerosene. Prevent fires by avoiding these causes of fire. Dispose of trash and accumulated junk in house, barn or yard.

Soil conservation is an obligation of every American interested in the preservation of freedom and security for the generations tomorrow.

Over two and one-half million dollars have now been obligated to landowners in the Plains area of Texas through the Great Plains Conservation Program, reports Lynn Pittard, extension assistant soil and water conservation specialist. For a thorough explanation of the program, he advises obtaining L-410 from county agents or the Agricultural Information Office in College Station, Texas.

When we empty pockets on washday, it's almost like being on a scavenger hunt. Last week's loot included a broken rubber band, two marbles, a big key and a tiny lock, three kinds of string, two rocks, a shoe horn, a steel tape (a good one that we lost a couple of weeks ago), two life savers, three candy cigarettes, one button, forty cents in change, one tiny jar lid and a knife with a broken blade.

More farmers prefer Goodyear tractor tires than any other kind; more tons are hauled on Goodyear tires than any other kind; more people ride on Goodyear tires than on any other kind; that's why Goodyear tires are for sale at the Parmer County Implement Company.

Vegetables Taper Off Slightly in Friona Area

Parmer County's oldest vegetable deal, which was influenced in the early 1950's by the much older vegetable business around Hereford, is centered at Friona Growers and Shippers.

Vegetables grown around Friona this year are expected to be reduced a slight amount from an acreage standpoint to those planted last year.

The Friona shed originally began as a potato processing operation, and that is still the basic crop of the Friona deal. Potato acreage in 1958 was about 600, but is expected to be about 450 this year by Kenneth Neill of Growers and Shippers.

All of the potatoes in the Friona area are planted.

Neill says he can't afford to be very optimistic about the potato outlook, as the last two years have been poor ones for growers. He does feel, though, that some market depressing pressures may be easing up somewhat and that there is a possibility that 1959 may return as a "normal" potato year.

"I certainly don't look for anything fantastic," Neill says, "but the surplus of potatoes is easing up." He says that most growers respond to government forecasts and recommendations on acreage plantings, and that they have been reducing acreage.

It is Neill's hope that potatoes will have a "normal" year on the High Plains. In his opinion that is to be desired, in fact, more than a boom year such as comes along once in a great while and is always the object of much talk among businessmen and farmers.

Neill believes that if potatoes should do exceptionally well this year that production might be stimulated beyond reason next year and growers would be back in the same old rut.

Actually, 1958 wasn't considered a really disastrous year for potato growers, but besides having a weak market, several factors keep most growers in the red or at the break-even point.

The weather was the main one of these factors. It reduced yields and interfered with growing and harvesting the crop. When both tonnage and quality go down it takes a very strong market to save the deal, and that strong market wasn't present last year.

On carrots, Neill expects about the same acreage that was produced in 1958: around 500. Some carrots—about 75 acres of them—have already been planted. Planting of the "rabbit food" will continue until around mid-June if this is a normal year.

Carrots were on the slide in the High Plains vegetable picture last year, also. That wasn't any great surprise to most observers, though, since 1957 was the "granddaddy of 'em all" for carrot growers and two exceptional years in a row are almost unheard of in the vegetable business.

Neill says he feels that the price of carrots may range from $15 to $40 a ton and on this basis farmers can expect to "make a little money" on the top price and "lose a little money" on the other end.

"We're not kidding ourselves about expecting a return of the $65 to $75 prices which prevailed two years ago," Neill says flatly.

Friona area farmers had planned to put in about 150 acres of early onions this year, but their plans have been thwarted. They had their own plants in Winter Garden area of South Central Texas, but heavy rains there this spring have resulted in the loss of their sets, and so this plan fell through.

Some farmers are going ahead and planting onions from seed, which will mean a late deal—probably sometime in September instead of in July which is what they originally were shooting for.

From 50 to 75 acres these late onions are expected.

Several other vegetables in small acreages make up the remainder of the Friona truck farming enterprises. Peppers and cabbage are the principal ones of these.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUNE FLOYD

As the days begin to get longer and warmer, most of us begin to think of something cooler than the usual, meat, potatoes and gravy meals that we have been serving all winter. There is really nothing we can serve that will better fill the bill than cool crisp salads.

Many salads can be the mainstay for a meal or a substantial helper for the main dish. Since there are so many interesting ways that salads can be varied, a salad dish need never seem monotonous.

For a hearty meal in a bowl, try the following combination of ham, veal, eggs and vegetables.

HAM AND VEAL SALAD
 1 1/4 cups cooked ham, cut in matchlike strips
 1 1/4 cups cooked veal, cut in matchlike strips
 1/4 cup pickles, chopped
 3 tomatoes, cut in eights
 3/4 medium head of lettuce, chopped
 3 hard cooked eggs
 Combine ham, veal, pickle, cleaning tools upstairs. In organizing the closet, arrange tools so that you can remove one without shifting the others around or taking them out of the closet. Hooks for mops, brooms, and brushes and shelves for bottles and jars will help keep the closet orderly.

An easy-to-carry basket with a handle will provide storage for small cleaning supplies and can be carried from room to room. Oily dust cloths and rags used in waxing should be kept in covered metal containers to eliminate fire hazards and odors.

It saves time to clean dust cloths, mops, and brushes each time they are used. The closet is easier to keep clean, too, if equipment is in good condition when it is put away.

Awning paint is recommended for summer fiber rugs by extension home management specialists. This water-proof paint wears well, sinks into the fibers without giving them a "painted look" and dries with a dull surface. Housewives also report that paint helps fiber rugs wear longer.

Some stores stock a special paint for fiber rugs. Applying the paint is easy. Place several layers of newspapers underneath the rug to protect the floor. Select a stiff brush, fill with paint, then wipe off excess on the inside lip of the can. Brush the paint over the rug—covering about a foot at a time. Brush well into all the crevices and holes of the fiber and allow rug to dry thoroughly before using.

Jimmie Lou Wainscott

We had a good turnout for our 4-H contest Saturday. The girls have seven demonstrations that will represent the county May 2 at district contests at Canyon.

Do you know what would happen to your property if you died tomorrow? Would the settlement of your financial affairs cause family quarrels or disharmony?

Besides avoiding quarrels and reducing the cost and time for settling financial affairs, a will has other advantages, according to extension economists and home management specialists. It means that an executor can be named, a guardian designated, if necessary, and a testamentary trust created if needed. It means, too, that your property can be distributed in line with your wishes.

Making a valid will is not difficult, but it must be drawn to comply with the requirements of the law. For example, two witnesses are necessary. They must be more than 14 years of age and should not be beneficiaries.

Important questions and answers concerning wills are discussed in the extension publication, "WHY MAKE A WILL." Ask for a copy from your county extension agent's office.

A well-organized cleaning closet can simplify your house cleaning jobs, remind extension home management specialists.

tomatoes and lettuce. Chill. Add salad dressing and toss lightly. Serve garnished with hard cooked egg.

Another substantial salad dish that goes well at any noon or evening meals is:

CHICKEN SALAD
 1 cup almonds, toasted and chopped
 2 envelopes plain gelatin
 1/4 cup cold water
 1 1/2 chicken bouillon cubes
 1 1/2 cups boiling water
 1 cup mayonnaise
 1 cup pineapple juice
 2 5-ounce cans boned chicken, diced
 1 1/2 cups diced pineapple lettuce
 1 can jellied cranberry sauce
 1/2 cup whipping cream
 Chop and toast almonds. Soften gelatin in cold water for 5 minutes. Dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water and add gelatin. After gelatin has dissolved, add seasonings and pineapple juice. Chill. When slightly thickened, fold in diced chicken and pineapple.

Turn into 1 1/2 quart ring mold rinsed in cold water and sprinkled with almonds. Chill until firm. Unmold on large platter. Garnish with lettuce. Fold diced cranberry into mayonnaise and whipped cream mixture and pour this into center of mold. Serves 8 to 10.

In recent months we have heard of a large number of things for which plastic bags can be used. Lunell Horton suggested that one of the best uses she had found for those which come around clothes from the tailor shop is for children's aprons.

She has two pre-school age and both of them enjoy painting. When it is time for a painting session at the Horton home, each child is slipped into a plastic bag apron. Then when the session is over the bags are disposed of and there are no paint splattered play clothes to launder.

The following article appeared in the Hereford Brand last week and should be read by all mothers of small children. The caption "What Not To Do With Plastic Bags" might well be used.

PLASTIC BAGS DANGEROUS (In baby's crib)
 Five Texas babies—all less than one year old—smothered in their sleep last year in freakish accidents involving disposable sheets of plastic material. The thin, adhesive plastic is in common use today for purposes ranging from packaging laundry and cleaning to making backyard hothouses.

The deaths grimly accentuate the growing danger of using the lightweight material to protect bedding on a baby's crib.

An eight month old boy died in Irving on June 7 during his morning nap. He was discovered with his head covered by a makeshift plastic crib sheet. The immediate cause of death was said to be suffocation.

In Victoria on September 28 a five month old boy smothered under similar circumstances when he pulled a plastic sheet over his face.

A four month old Freeport girl suffocated on July 12 when she rolled over in her crib into a plastic bag.

On August 15 a seven month old Hamlin girl smothered when she became entangled in a plastic sheet thrown over her bed to protect the bedding.

A plastic crib cover inadvertently pulled over his head caused the suffocation on November 26 of a four month old Tyler boy.

Disposable sheets of plastic have been boons to busy mothers of infants because of time saved in laundering bedding. But the only safe plastic bedding protector is the type made specifically for that purpose—one which can be stitched to the mattress or tucked under it.

Piecing flimsy laundry or cleaning bags together to make a sheet can be fatal for a baby.

To prove the point, examine one of the bags the laundry uses to package shirts. Although perfect for that use, note how it clings to human skin.

LAWN SEED, FERTILIZER NOW COME IN STRIPS

A new way to seed lawns is with a 24-inch-wide strip of fabric that has grass seed, lime, and fertilizer "built in."

Ideal for slopes and narrow areas, the strip is simply laid atop soil. Heavy rains can't wash the seed or fertilizer away, and the fabric backing disintegrates after the seed sprouts.

Parmer County area farmers are becoming increasingly concerned over the spread of Johnsongrass in and around their fields.

While very few fields of this area are at the "give up" stage of infestation which often requires abandonment of cropping until the grass can be eliminated, the clumps of the pesky perennial that are popping up with increasing frequency right out in the cultivated fields are of great concern. Farmers don't want conditions to worsen.

Because this is an intensely farmed irrigated area, the so-called "spot spraying" control of Johnsongrass has proved to be most popular.

County Agent Joe Jones points out that many farmers are as yet unfamiliar with many of the sprays and their combinations which can be used effectively in these spot spraying control programs.

Naphtha and diesel oil sprays are familiar to most area farmers, but their understanding of other commercially available chemicals is sketchy.

For that reason Farm and Home is printing these two charts on sprays that have established their effectiveness. The first group is made up of contact sprays and the second is of systemic and residual sprays.

Safflower Gets Start On Parmer County Farms

Safflower, referred to as "the oldest crop known to man," gets its start in Parmer County this year. Its start is being made at a time when any new crop would be put to the test, and boosters are both hopeful and fearful of the outcome.

Interest in the oilseed crop has been greatly stimulated in recent weeks after the announcement by the Farmers Union and International Safflower Corp. of Colorado that they will team up to promote the production of safflower and have plans for a seed crushing mill somewhere on the High Plains. Meets have been held all across the irrigated section of the Plains, including Lazbuddie, Hub, and Farwell in this area. The Farwell meeting was only last week, and brought to a close the series of informative-type sessions for Parmer County area farmers.

Wilton Botkin, Farmers Union representative from Olton, is emphatic in trying to make farmers realize that they do not hold safflower up as a one-year "wonder" crop that will take the place of, say, grain sorghum.

But he does call safflower "the best new crop we know of." Over all, both the farm organization and the company are encouraging farmers to plant safflower only on a trial basis this year. They are, in fact, limiting acreage to 20 per farmer. It is hoped that enough farmers will want in on learning about safflower to plant around 20,000 acres on the Plains this year. Then, if things go well, the sponsors will gun for from 50,000 acres on up to 200,000 for 1960. Farmers who plant this year are being assured a price of $62 a ton for their seed. Yields of from 1,000 to 3,000 pounds per acre are expected. Charles Corn of International Safflower says, "We have every reason to believe that this will be the lowest price we'll ever get for our safflower."

Corn is crops and irrigation specialist for the Colorado company. He is now living in Amarillo and is originally from Loveland.

In describing safflower, Corn says, "The crop itself is not on trial. We know what it can do in other areas."

With the great acreage available to safflower (or any other crop that yields well and sells well) on the irrigated High Plains, Corn believes in his commodity well enough to predict: "This should be and will be the largest safflower producing area in the world."

Actually, it could be that without much strain. Last year there were only 168,000 acres of safflower grown in the nation, most of it being in California.

Safflower is now essentially an oilseed crop and as such competes with other oil sources, although the safflower oil is of a high quality and usually commands a price premium.

However, the factor that safflower boosters are betting on is that safflower will soon break into the human diet requirements because of its special properties. It yields a non-saponified oil which is high in linoleic acid.

Safflower oil has the unusual ability to retard or prevent fatty deposits in the circulatory system which are regarded as an important problem in coronary health cases. It reduces cholesterol content of the blood.

Concentrated safflower compounds already are being used medicinally, and are prescribed for patients with heart diseases.

From that standpoint, it may be that safflower could soon come into great demand on the American dinner table as a cooking and dressing oil that would remove this serious health threat. That's in the future, but that's what safflower boosters are pinning a lot of their hopes on.

Meanwhile, they figure they can sell a lot of safflower oil anyway through normal oil channels.

SAFFLOWER'S PRINCIPAL PRODUCT is now oil, the clear liquid in the bottle at the left. Charles Corn of International Safflower strains a handful of seed into a plastic container and predicts a good future for the new crop on the irrigated High Plains.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

BY RAYMOND EULER

Parmer County Farm Bureau has for the past nine years, by county resolution, opposed any proposals (and there have been many) to discontinue allowing a refund of the road use tax on fuels not used on public roads. Saturday, seven farmers sent telegrams to Representative Osborn, urging his opposition to an effort being made to deny you the right to keep all of this tax money to spend as you see fit. Merchants in every town and city should give their support to you in this problem. About twenty five thousand dollars of this money is spent with them, and kept in local banks each year. In the state, the proposed bill would cost farmers of Texas $2,000,209,000 per year.

Farm Bureau has always urged adoption of natural resources tax increases when the need for more public money arises. The bill Farm Bureau is supporting would raise an additional 41 million dollars, principally on natural gas leaving the state.

Your County Farm Bureau delegates went to the state convention last November with the following resolution regarding farm labor: PCFB opposes any efforts to extend minimum wage requirements to agriculture; also, "opposes any increase in the minimum wage requirements now existing." They also took this one: PCFB urges passage of legislation to eliminate exemption of labor or any other organization from provisions of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law. All of these resolutions are, in essence, included in the American Farm Bureau Policies, too.

Seven Parmer County men were in San Angelo last Friday attending a Farm Bureau sponsored meeting in the interest of farmers. Mose Glasscock, Gilbert Kaltwasser, H. P. Hamilton, Herman Gerles and Les Bruns represented Farm Bureau. Dave McReynolds and Eric Rushing represented Friona Chamber of Commerce.

"Please fix me up so I won't lose any more money." This request was left on our desk by Harold Carpenter last Saturday. The request was tempered by reference to gas exemption invoices, and we were able to oblige.

CONSIDER THIS: Let not thine heart envy sinners; but be thou in the fear of the Lord all the day long. Proverbs 23:17

BRIEFS FOR FOOD SHOPPERS

New combinations of fruit juices are appearing on many store shelves. Cranberry and apple juice is one new combination. You may also find combinations of apple and the juice of apricots, raspberries, prunes, pineapples or grapes. Some times these are available only in the baby food section. These combined juices are often considered more pleasing than one juice alone... They add variety too!

THE FARMER FARMER

By W. H. Graham Jr.

There's so much hoopla each year about this or that new crop that it's no wonder that farmers don't get too excited about such reports any more.

We have been watching the reports on safflower for about three months now, and notice that enthusiasm for that as a new crop seems to be more widespread than for any new crop within recent years.

Farmers generally are cautious, if not openly skeptical, about new crops, and so we have noted with interest that the safflower meetings have been pretty consistent in drawing good crowds.

Those who occasionally try to introduce new crops to the High Plains have learned a few things, too. They have found out that farmers just don't pay any attention anymore to "get rich quick" schemes and it isn't nearly so easy to get them to go off on the deep as it used to be.

Crop promotion methods seem to be growing up, and the judgement of farmers seems to be maturing. We think sesame is the best example we know of successful crop promotion.

Sesame was first introduced to the High Plains when grain sorghum prices made the oilseed crop seem like a poor deal in comparison. Sesame backers had a selling job to do, but they set about it the right way. They told of the advantages of their crop, but they didn't overdo things.

As a result, sesame has become established as one of the most promising "new" High Plains crops with what has been, up until now at least, a very stable marketing situation. Farmers have confidence in Sesame Seed Growers, the parent organization, for the slow but steady way they have brought the crop along.

Now for the first time the sesame people are finding it necessary to discourage overproduction. And they're talking sense and we bet that they'll be able to keep sesame on an even keel because people believe in them.

Safflower may be getting started the same way. Wilton Botkin, the Farmers Union rep who's been making most of the meetings talking the crop up, says "I'll be satisfied if you break even," in the first year of production. Charlie Corn of International Safflower doesn't go that far—he thinks farmers will make some money, but he doesn't paint an easy street picture either.

The main thing is that the safflower pushers are encouraging farmers to grow the crop this year on a limited basis and for "look-sea" purposes. Nobody should count on making a lot of money from 20 acres of safflower, they say, and they'll probably turn out to be right.

Then there's this talk of a mill to crush the safflower. Rumors have been rife on where it's to be located, when it's to be built, and so forth, but so far as we can tell this isn't the fault of either the Farmers Union or the company. Farmers have done a little too much speculating on their own accord. The earliest mill could be built under present plans is two years away, and it may be longer if the acreage doesn't take hold like it's expected to.

This particular part of the safflower deal has gotten a little ahead of itself, but in other respects the plan seems plausible.

The irrigated High Plains badly needs new cash crops, and we are certainly in favor of their promotion, so long as it is on a reasonable, educational-type plane.

Is conservation being left out of your farm plans because of the cost involved? If so, you are advised to see your local county agent who can explain some programs that may help make this increasingly important practice a part of your operations, suggests Lynn Pittard, extension assistant.
