

BY HOP JR.

One of the worst hazards of being human is that sometimes you get sleepy when you don't want to, and you probably undertake many ingenious schemes to keep awake.

Sometimes this sleepiness is for good reason—like staying up two nights in a row—and sometimes it is brought upon you without provocation, just like an undesired plague or something.

Some forms of sleepiness are dangerous. That one that will first pop into your mind is driving at night after becoming drowsy. That's downright deadly. Or, operating machinery when your brain keeps telling your body to lie down and knock it off. That's risky business too.

Other less well-known but equally hazardous situations occur whenever the college student falls asleep on the front row of a class lectured to by some distinguished educator. We can testify to this danger from first-hand experience, and we understand it still occasionally befalls an otherwise safety-conscious, well-intentioned collegiate.

This urge to nap isn't necessarily laziness. And it isn't necessarily a human trait. All animals seem to have it. Watch the family cat or dog. They can curl up and grab 40 winks with no worry about things left undone, who's looking or talking, or what time of the day it happens to be. Upon interruption, they'll be off and running without batting an eye. Try this on the guy who dozed off while staring fixedly at the TV. He wakes about like a Kodiak bear.

Sleeping in church is a favorite pastime for hundreds of people. Here is a case where a penchant to snooze spears across denominational lines as if they didn't exist. We've heard "em snore out loud while the Baptist preacher droned on, and the Methodists, Church of Christ folks, and all the others have their head doddlers in every service.

This is where you would think you could separate the Christians from the pagans, but that isn't necessarily so. There is something insidious about pe-wapping that surpasses human endurance. It just can't be fought off.

Some of the tricks we've collected in research—both from our acquaintances and from our own repertoire—include tongue-biting, nail-gouging, knuckle-cracking, and hair-pulling. This, of course, is self torture and at that it doesn't work for long.

Then there's taking deep breaths, rolling the eyes from side to side (it looks like you're watching a tennis match in church), patting the feet and drumming the fingers, and deliberately thinking of things that ought not to be thought of in church, on the theory that a wide-eyed sinner is to be preferred over a snoring saint.

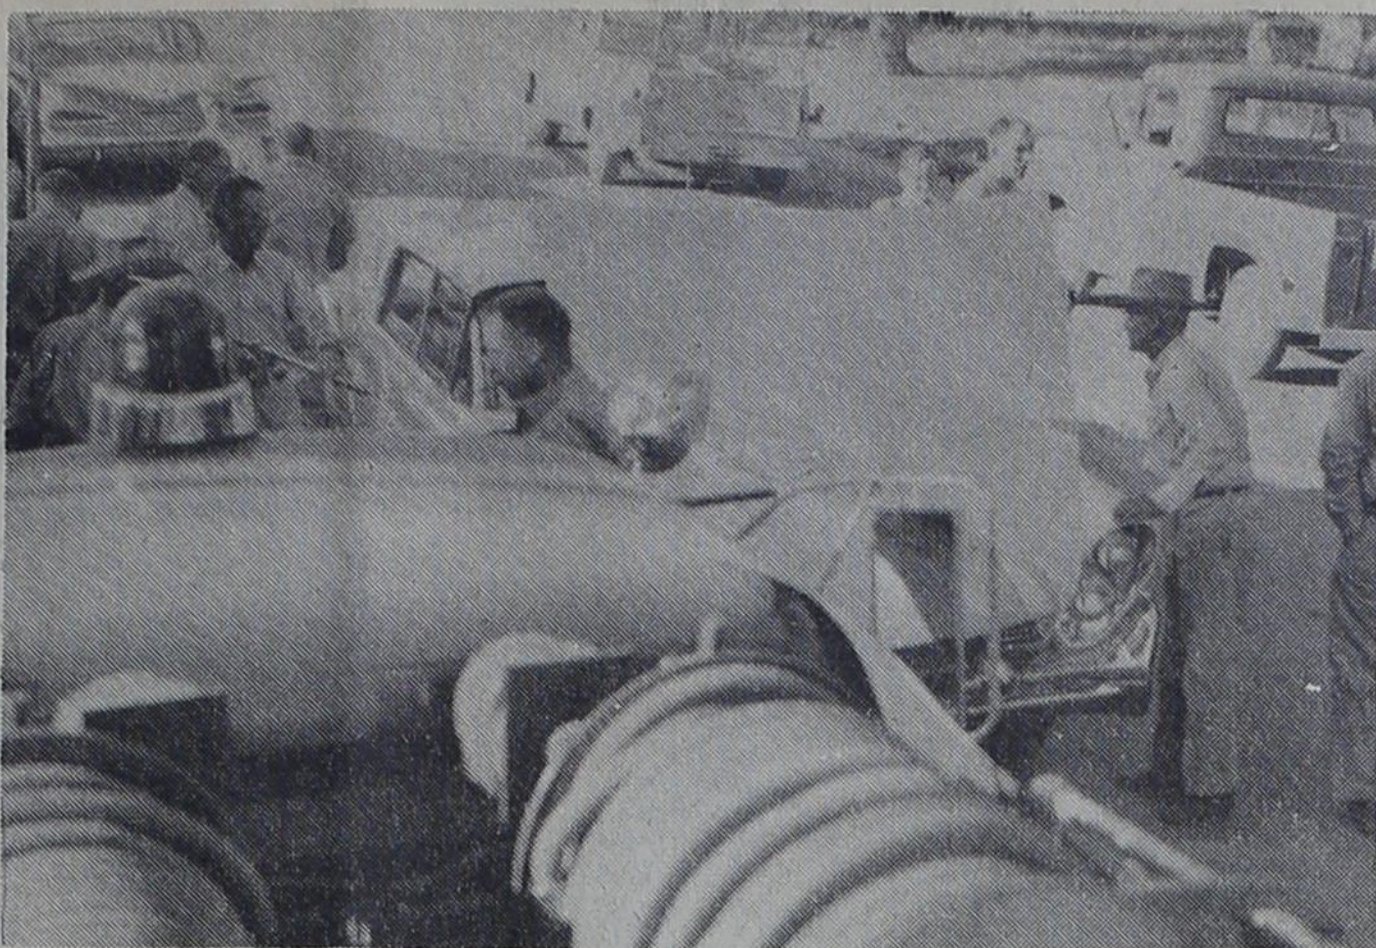

None of these work indefinitely, however, and you're sure to succumb sooner or later. At best you can't last more than 10 or 15 minutes, and so it's well to keep in mind some of these pointers.

First of all, make yourself unobtrusive. Put as many people between you and the preacher as is possible. This undoubtedly explains the great popularity of the back seats in the church. Pick a big fellow to hide behind so if worse comes to worse you can snuggle down in a relative comfort and with a minimum of embarrassment to all concerned.

If you wear dentures, take special pains to see that they're properly cemented in before service. Nothing is so startling (they tell us) as to have your teeth drop out onto the floor when everybody suddenly starts singing the last hymn.

Take along some stalwart friend who understands how it is and who can be depended upon to occasionally gouge you in the ribs to help you along. Caution: Practice this before going to church. Sometimes his poke brings such a loud grunt that some head-turning is sure to result.

But we've been holding out on you. There is a cure to sleeping in church. You never go to sleep watching the picture show, which you have paid good money to see, so raise the ante in the plate about three times and see if it doesn't do wonders for you.

A FEW SQUIRTS, and the fire was all over. Farwell fireboys gather around the Charlie Christian auto Tuesday morning to douse a fire under the hood that could have resulted in serious damage to the car. The loss was slight, however.

Damage Slight To Automobile Hit By Fire

Damage to the late-model Lincoln of the Charlie Christians was slight Tuesday morning when it was hit by a sudden fire.

Mrs. Christian was driving the car on Second Street when smoke poured from under the hood, indicating a fire somewhere around the engine. The Farwell Fire Department was summoned and easily put out the blaze.

A backfiring engine that "belched" gasoline up through the carburetor was blamed for the fire.

Sunday afternoon the Farwell fireboys made a run about a mile east of town to put out another car fire. A tourist auto caught fire from an overheated wheel bearing. Damage was slight there also.

Chief Otis Huggins says the department is expecting another call any minute. "Fires always run in threes," he explains. He has some experience to back this up.

Two DWI Cases Heard

Two DWI cases were heard in county court Friday, Judge Loyde Brewer presiding.

Joseph W. Feity, 41, Muleshoe, pled guilty as charged and was fined $50 and costs and given three days in jail. He was arrested Thursday between Friona and Black by Ed Duke, Friona patrolman.

Arthur Rayborn, 39, Clovis, was fined $100 and costs after pleading guilty to his DWI charge. He also was picked up Thursday. Sheriff Chas. Lovelace made the arrest after Rayborn struck a mowing machine west of Lariat. Damage to the machine was about $200.

Record Number Of 551 Enrolls At Farwell

A record number of 551 students enrolled at Farwell school this year. The two classes showing the largest enrollment were the first grades with 61 students and the second grades with 73.

An assembly program was first on the agenda Monday morning with both the grade school and high school in attendance.

A. E. Tatum, high school principal, introduced the high school faculty and Jack Williams, grade school principal, introduced the grade school personnel.

James Burleson, president of the Farwell student body, was in charge of the assembly.

Mrs. Alice Jaye Tucker presented the students who have been accepted into the National Honor Society to the student body. They were: sophomores, Jolene Donaldson and Iris Goldsmith; junior, Cathy Bell; and seniors, Janice Hillock, Ruby Hillock, Judy Jesko and Mickey Rundell. Later in the year, each of the society members will receive an engraved membership card and an emblem.

R. B. Tucker, girls coach, presented letter jackets to the senior girls, and Dempsey Alexander, boys' football coach, presented letter jackets to the senior lettermen.

New Gas Rates For Texico Tuesday

Southern Union Gas Company has filed with the New Mexico Public Service Commission a surety bond enabling it to put into effect, on Tuesday, new gas rates, according to an announcement made today by J. R. Cole, vice president.

The new rates, which will be reflected on bills received in Texico after October 1, were filed by the Company on July 8 with its petition which specified the September 1, 1959, effective date. Later, the commission, by its order of August 5, called a hearing in Santa Fe September 14. Slightly more than 125,000 customers in 32 New Mexico communities are affected by the higher rates. Farwell rates are unchanged.

In his announcement, Cole said, "We had to file the new rates because of financial necessity. The New Mexico

Need Talent

More talent is needed in the talent contest to be held in connection with Appreciation Day September 12, reports Jeanne Graham, chairman.

"We only have two entries so far and that's not even a start," she said, requesting cooperation from persons who can compete. Prizes will be awarded the top three in the event.

Elsewhere, A-Day plans are running pretty smoothly. The queen's contest promises to be one of the big crowd-drawers, and announcement has been made that votes on candidates will be accepted until 6 p. m., Friday, September 11.

Contestants in the talent contest are asked to contact Mrs. Graham at IV 6-3681.

Former Resident Buried Today

Funeral services were held today at 2 o'clock in the chapel of Rix Funeral Home in Lubbock for Otis Branscum, 60, long-time resident of the Farwell area. Branscum died at Methodist hospital Tuesday night.

Prior to his death, he resided at 2601 - 44th Street in Lubbock. He had moved to Lubbock in November from Fort Worth, where he has lived since 1955.

Rev. C. Melvin Rathaal, pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church, will officiate. He will be assisted by Rev. Elbert Keith of Whiteface. Burial will be in Resthaven Memorial Park under the direction of Rix funeral home.

Honorary pallbearers will be L. S. Norton, Jess Coburn, Barney Kelley, Homer Kelley, Bill Bradshaw, Joe McWilliams and G. T. Watkins. His nephews will serve as pallbearers.

Branscum is survived by his wife, three daughters, Mrs. L. D. Watkins of Grandbury, Mrs. Floyd Quarles, of Barsto, Calif., and Mrs. Clettus Bass of Ft. Worth. A son, B. D. Branscum of the home, also survives. Two brothers, Arvel of Portales and Thurlo of Muleshoe and three sisters, Mrs. J. H. Teel of Englewood, Calif., Mrs. Jay Black and Mrs. Bernice English, both of Muleshoe, and four grandchildren survive.

Steers, Chiefs Meet In Season Opener

Cross-county football rivals, Farwell and Friona, face one another on the Chief field Friday night. It will be the season opener for both clubs.

The visiting Steers will be thinking about what happened in mid-season last year when the Chiefs, who were their guests, nipped them after Farwell had the game virtually salted away. So far as the conference went, this loss didn't hurt, but the Steers didn't like the looks of it on their season record anyway; so, they're out for vengeance.

This spirit of rivalry ought to help make up for what could be a fumble-filled "warmer-upper" for the teams as they not only start the season, but enter a first year of play under two new coaches. Dempsey Alexander is at the helm for the Steers; Earl Smith is the Chief coach.

The game will begin at 8:30. Admission will be $1.25 per person, and an additional fee of 50 cents will be charged for those who take their car inside the fence.

Barbecue Success; Need More Members

The Farwell Quarterback Club's barbecue came off successfully Friday. About 200 persons attended the money-raising event and had a big plateful of barbecue. Practically all stayed after the feed to see the Steers meet the Muleshoe Mules in a practice scrimmage.

Bob Hart, president of the QBC, said the organization broke even on its barbecue (after feeding the football boys after the crowd had gone home) and netted only $2.75 on this function.

However, club memberships sold at the door helped push the till up somewhat and the group now has about $340 on deposit.

"We have sold forty-one memberships so far, and we need about that many more to make it through the season," he says. The main expense of the club is filming Steer football games. These are furnished the team as a coaching aid.

During the barbecue, Coaches Dempsey Alexander and Don Dendy were introduced by Glenn Phillips, QBC vice-president, to boosters. Both expressed thanks to the fans for their support.

The barbecue was held in the Farwell school cafeteria.

expressed himself as well satisfied with workouts so far, and reports, "The boys are in high spirits." He pointed to Farwell's satisfactory showing against Muleshoe in practice scrimmage Friday night. "Defense is shaping up particularly well," he says. However, he thinks offense is shaping up some too and sees improvement over the first time the bumped heads with the Steers.

Here is the tentative starting lineup:
LE--Bill Owen, 140, junior.

LG--James Ussery, 145, senior.
C--Jimmy Cain, 170, senior; or Jerry McCuan, 150, junior; or Jim Clements, 140, sophomore.
RG--James Burleson, 150, senior.
RT--Robert Carthel, 200, junior.

Petit Jury Meets Monday

Light duty awaits the Parmer County petit jury when it will convene Monday morning at the courthouse in Farwell at 9:30. Sixty county men and women have been summoned.

From their ranks will come a jury which probably will hear only one case, that of John Bussell, Friona man charged with cattle theft. He allegedly stole the cattle from W. D. Cooper on the night of April 16, north of Friona.

One other case may be tried, but that event unlikely. District Judge E. A. Bills is expected to announce a meeting date for the Parmer County grand jury while he is in the county for this trial, and it very likely will be in the near future. The grand jury has a heavy docket of investigating ahead of it, many cases having stacked up since the spring sessions.

H. W. Carpenter, Paul Hall, Cecil Winegeart, Ralph Price, Dick Rockey, Mrs. E. L. Fair-

child, A. E. Steelman, R. W. Anderson, Mack Bainum, Jerry Bell, Sterlyn Billington, Ira Holt, D. G. Hand, Gene Sterling, A. G. Schlabs; G. H. Gogans, Frank Spitzer, L. P. Davis, E. A. ### Launch Football Contest

The Tribune this week launches the biggest reader contest of its history. Throughout the football season readers will be offered a chance to match wits to see who is the best crystal ball gazer.

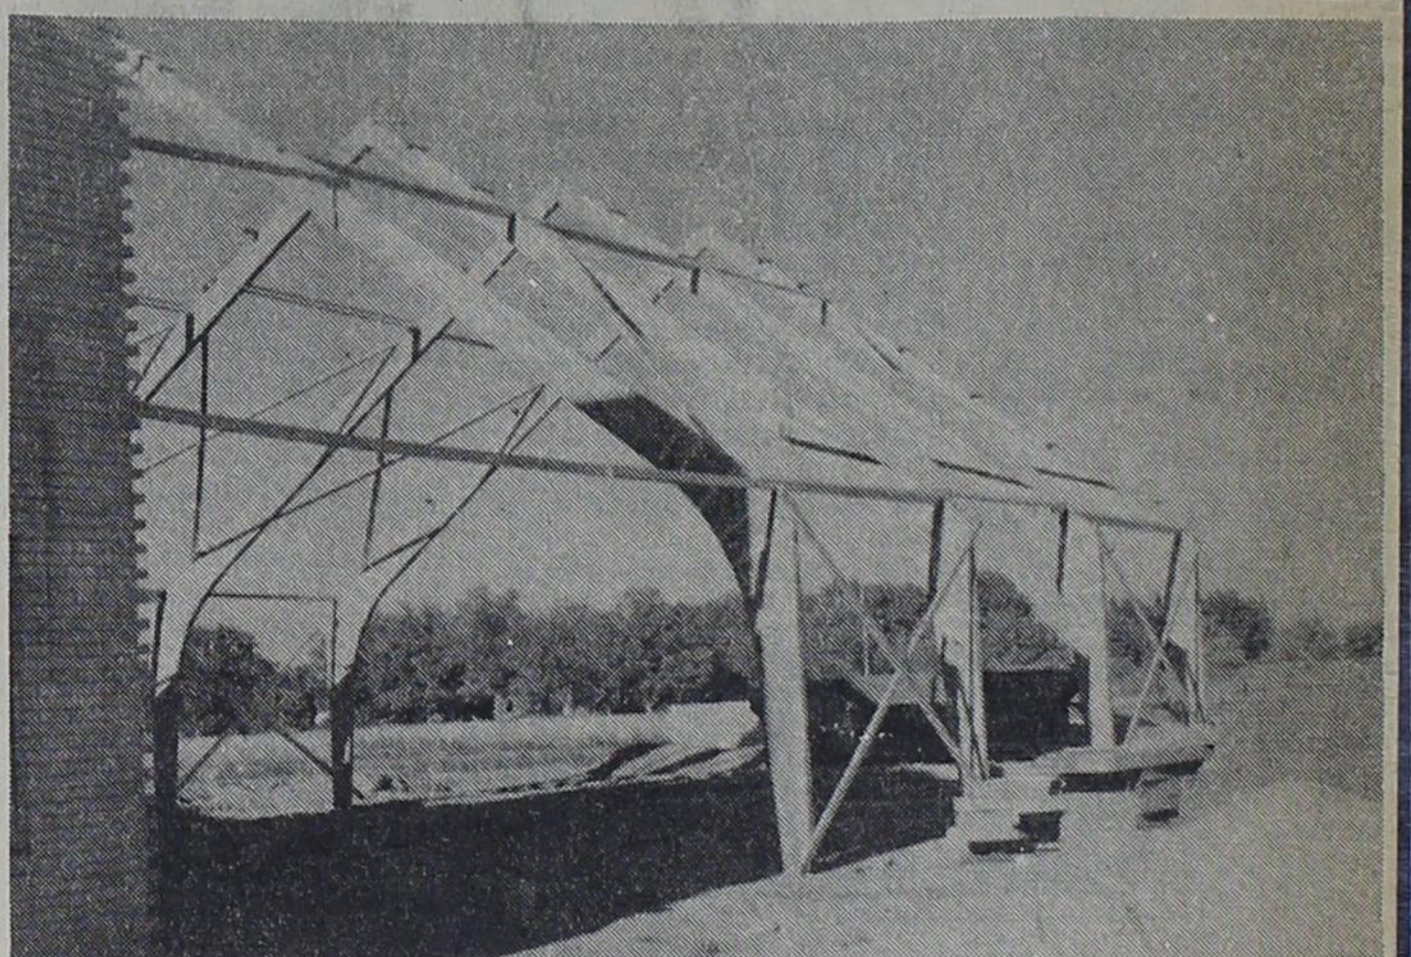

To the winner will go the spoils, and spoils are worth looking into. Top prize is a set of Cotton Bowl tickets and an expense-paid trip to Dallas thrown in for good measure, assuring two people of a memorable weekend.

In addition, weekly prizes will be offered to sweeten up the pot and make the game interesting.

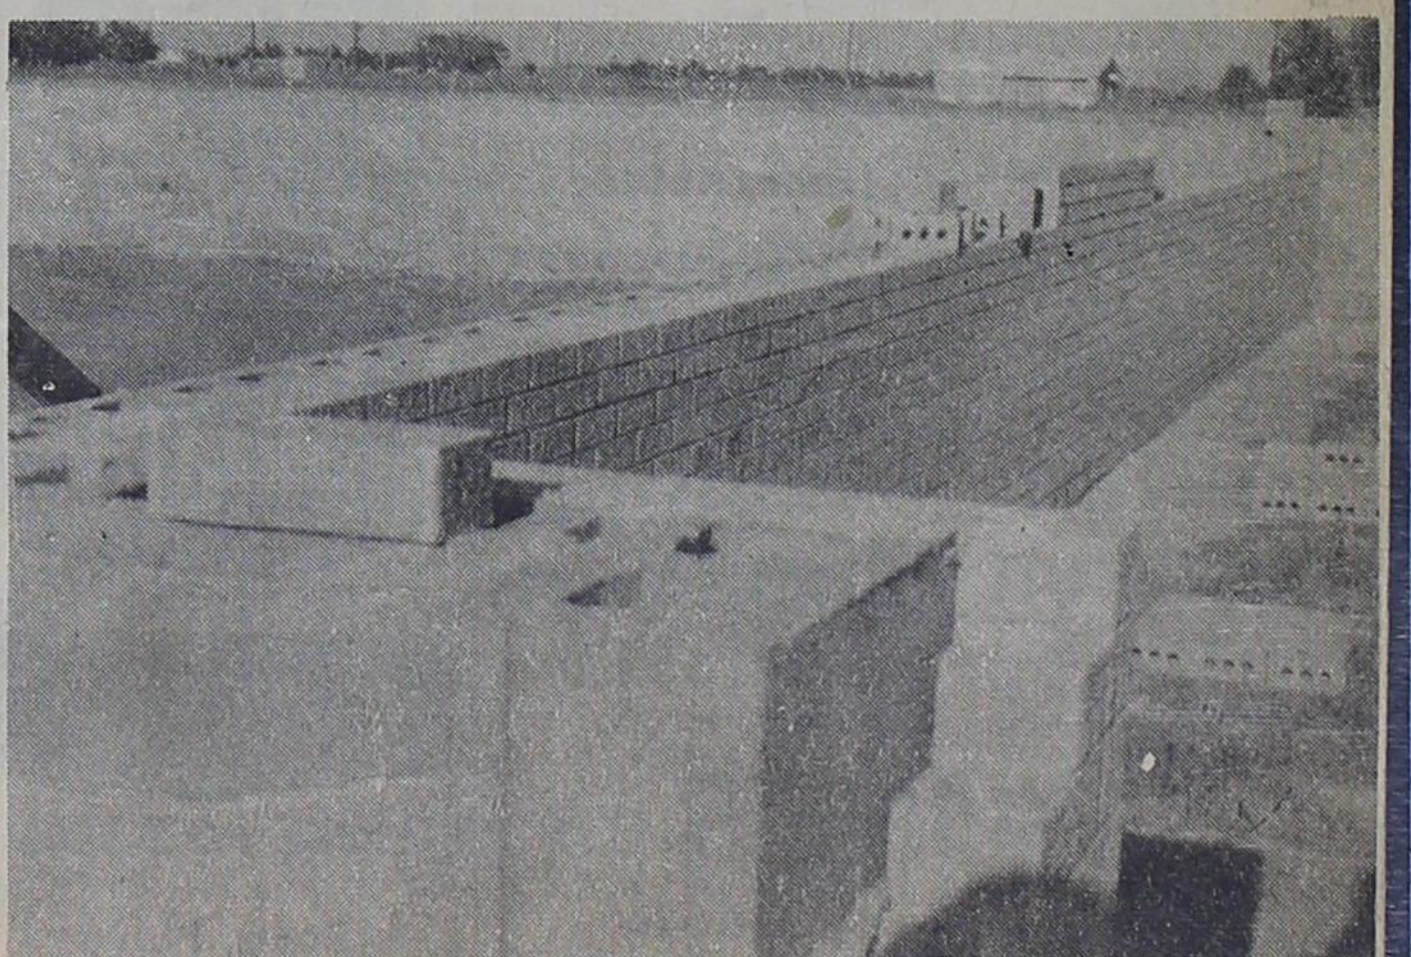

There are no gimmicks or reader concessions in this contest. It's strictly all in fun, with Tribune advertisers footing the bill for the awards. See the big ad on an inside page and get started this week racking up points for yourself. You could be the winner of the grand prize.

Note carefully the instructions for entering. They must be followed or else disqualification is risked. Note that deadline for getting winner blanks into The Tribune is 7 p. m. each Friday. That will enable you to wait right up until the moment before the game starts to decide, if you wish.

JOTTIN'S By Jeanne

Why go back to school when you can earn money instead? Vern Sanford of Texas Press Association came up with some good answers from the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles. Its annual report shows that of 1186 prison inmates released during the past year, only 119 had completed high school. Only six were college graduates.

Percentage is about the same for those persons still in prison. The Board feels that people who complete their educations and are able to get useful, better-paying jobs are much less likely to run afoul of the law.

We think that makes sense.

Profitable Yield on Wheat Using Phillips 66 Ammonia

Dan W. Berger, prominent Oldham County farmer, says: "On 235 acres of wheat, I averaged 43 bushels per acre. This was the first year I'd used ammonia on wheat. After seeing what could be done with that application, I've decided to inject 100 pounds of Phillips Ammonia pre-plant on my wheat this year. I'm thoroughly sold on the use of Ammonia." Other successful Southwestern farmers have discovered that they make more profit per acre, using Phillips 66 Ammonia. They get

Annual SCD Tour, Feed Tuesday 8th

Tuesday, September 8 is the day for the annual Parmer County Soil Conservation District tour. It begins at 1:30 and will last through the afternoon, and that night the annual banquet will be held. It will be at the Farwell school cafeteria at 8.

Bob Crozier, unit conservationist with the SCS, reports that plans are complete for a good tour this year, and that the theme of the afternoon will be water conservation and feeding practices, shown side by side in some instances.

The tour will start from the Hub Community, and the first farm visited will be that of Truitt Johnson. Variety demonstrations will be the main object of this stop. Johnson has 16 different varieties of grain sorghums on his farm.

Weldon Fulham's farm will be the next stop, where touring farmers will see his system for picking up and using "tail water" from the lower end of his irrigated fields. He reclaims this water, which would otherwise go to waste, and returns it to his irrigation system where it does some good.

Another project emphasizing water conservation will be seen on the Archie McCutchan farm. Here, McCutchan reclaims waste water from several tight-land farms on Parmerton hill. The water collects in a playa lake, and is ditched to a centrifugal pump. It is picked up by the pump, placed in the underground distribution system, and carried to crops which grow on the bench levelled land around the lake basin.

Wayne Garth will host the tourists at his farm and will show them hybrid seed in production. This is a specialized phase of Plains farming that is commanding more attention each year.

On Walter Mabry's farm, the group will have a look at his hog feeding operations. Mabry has a specially constructed farrowing house and "pig parlor" that will draw a lot of comment.

He also makes use of a sprinkler system to irrigate pasture for the hogs. Visitors will have a look at this too.

The last stop on the tour will be at A. L. Black's farm, where calf feeding operations will be in the spotlight. Black creep feeds. He is another farmer who saves surplus irrigation water, reclaiming it for use on his pasture.

The SCD supervisors have saved the best for the last on this tour. A watermelon feed will wind up the afternoon's sightseeing and visiting. Crozier says he is sure the tour will be educational and useful to all who attend.

Dinner will be served at the banquet starting at 8. A short program will be on the agenda, and the main features of it will be presentation of the SCD essay awards to outstanding young people, and the naming of the "conservation farmer of the year," which is another annual custom for the District.

Joe Jones, county agent, will cap off the program with a presentation of colored slides which he shot while in Italy recently representing the nation's grain sorghum producers.

BIG, FULL HEADS and plenty of 'em mean another bumper crop of grain sorghum is just around the corner for the Parmer County area. Most farmers are completing their final irrigation and the biggest part of the crop is already turning the traditional reddish-brown color. Early-planted, early-maturing varieties should start trickling into elevators within another week.

First Safflower Crop Harvested

Parmer County's first safflower crop has been harvested. Acreage was reduced considerably by unfavorable weather, and a report of exactly how much was harvested will not be known for several weeks.

Yield of the new oilseed crop has ranged from 400 to 1600 pounds, growers report, which is typical of the extremes in production that often occur when a new crop is introduced. Sesame, for example, performed about like this the first year it was grown here.

Gammon Serves On Precinct Board

JOHN GAMMON

John Gammon of Lazbuddie represents Precinct 3 on the board of directors of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District. Precinct 3 consists of Bailey, Castro and Parmer counties.

Gammon was born August 8, 1909, in Seminole County, Oklahoma. The Gammon family lived in Oklahoma during his early years. In 1927, he graduated from high school at Maud, Okla., and then attended the University of Oklahoma at Norman for one year majoring in engineering. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gammon who live in the Lazbuddie community and who recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. His father has been a farmer and cattleman through the years.

In 1929, the family moved to the South Plains area of Texas and Gammon transferred to Texas Tech. He attended two years majoring in animal husbandry. Because of the depression in 1932, he left Tech and went home to Lazbuddie to work with his father on the farm.

On October 29, 1933, he was married to Grace Jennings. At that time she was teaching school at Lazbuddie.

The young Gammons moved into the house where they presently reside. He ran cattle on his home place. About a hundred acres were in cultivation to raise feed for his cows. He broke out an additional 100 acres shortly thereafter and also rented land nearby for raising wheat. The east line of Mr. Gammon's combination farm and ranch was originally the east line of the old XIT Ranch. Parts of the original fence which the XIT put there in about 1870 remains.

In 1952, Mr. Gammon drilled his first irrigation well. He now irrigates 350 acres from two wells.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Various phases of soil and water conservation, feeding operations, variety demonstrations, etc., will be shown. The tour will end at the community center and watermelon will be served.

At 8 p. m. the banquet will begin at Farwell School cafeteria. County Agent Joe Jones will show slides of a trip he made to Italy this summer as a representative of Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

This is a special invitation to everyone interested in soil and water conservation to attend.

Tickets for the banquet may be obtained from various businessmen in Farwell, Bovina, and Friona, as well as from the district supervisors, A. L. Black, Carl Schlenker, Bruce Parr, T. O. Lesley, and Robert Calaway.

TEC Allows 1400 Pullers

Three Parmer County citizens, Loyde Brewer, Ray White, and Bruce Parr, will serve as a county farm labor committee and have met with Joe Bradley, manager of the Texas Employment Commission office, Muleshoe, to review the total seasonal employment needs developed by the TEC. Thermon Jewell, manager of the Littlefield office and Wayne Grant, district director of Amarillo, also attended.

The Committee was presented with the figures of the TEC that Parmer County will be short 1400 cotton pullers during the peak period of the cotton harvest. This shortage will be met by the importation of Mexican national bracero workers.

The Committee will function under Public Law 78, obtaining facts relevant to the supply of domestic farm workers existing in Parmer County and the shortage of workers, if any, which must be met by importing Mexican Nationals to harvest the cotton crop. Under Public Law 78 the TEC must supply this information to the secretary of labor who must limit the number of Mexican Nationals to be used in this county by granting a "ceiling."

The Committee consults with the local office manager to assist him in estimating the number of workers who will be needed, based on current local conditions affecting the cotton crop.

"Ceilings" granted by the secretary of labor limiting the importation of Mexican nationals into this area will be posted in Post offices in Farwell, Friona, Bovina, in the county agent's office, and in the county courthouse.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

BY RAYMOND EULER

BY RAYMOND EULER

Eleven out of 12 organized Texas farmers belong to Farm Bureau. That is a little more than 49 per cent of all Texas farmers who gross twelve hundred dollars or more per year. Some delinquent renewals are coming into the office now. If you have not renewed yet, do it now and make your officers and directors happy. Also, if you have not filed for tax refund on your state road use tax recently, do that now. It is too late to file for Federal refund this year, if you have not already done so.

Both of our Texas Senators, Johnson and Yarborough in Washington, voted against amendments offered to strengthen the Senate Labor Bill. The amendments they voted against, and helped defeat were:

1. Applying anti-trust laws to labor unions just as it applies to other business.
2. Outlawing secondary boycotts.
3. The amendment to outlaw "blackmail" or recognition picketing.

If you are interested in the passage of a law to restrict some of these labor practices write to your senators right now. Both of our area representatives have worked and voted favorably with Texans on labor legislation. They are Walter Rogers and Representative Mahon. You might want to express your appreciation to them.

The Landrum-Griffith Bill is the one believed, by everyone except labor moguls, to be the best available. It has been passed by the House and is up for Senate action next.

Sheep producers will vote in September to determine whether the check off system of deducting funds for wool and mutton promotion is to continue for the next three years. Farm Bureau believes producers will vote to stop it. There is not enough of these products being produced to supply the domestic demand, and an end to the check-off would give producers 1¢ per pound more for their wool and 1¢ per hundred pounds for their mutton. Besides, it would give producers opportunity to decide individually whether they want to support a promotion program. There are 13 sheep producers in Parmer County in 1954.

SESAME INSPECTION--Young Billy Marshall, son of B. L. Marshall who has a 600-acre sesame crop this year, closely examines a bloom on the ancient oilseed crop on his father's farm between Bovina and Hub.

We hope to have some entries in the contest mentioned last week in this column. Someone will get a new wrist watch, and it might be you. Besides, you'll know more if you enter than if you don't.

CONSIDER THIS: Prepare thy work without, and make it fit for thyself in the field; and afterward build thine house. Proverbs 24:27

When five-year-old Toddy entered kindergarten he seemed to like it but showed no signs of being an outstanding student. However, one day he came home with a big gold star.

His very much surprised and pleased mother asked him how he happened to be so rewarded.

"Well, Mother," he said, "it's like this -- every day we have to rest and I rested the best."

Cattlemen Hear Industry Report

Commercial supplies of beef were up one per cent during the first four months of 1959, despite a 6.5 per cent drop in the number of beef cattle marketed, Herrell DeGraff, head of the cattle industry's fact-finding committee, reported to the mid-year meeting of the American National Cattlemen's Association.

Norman Moser, president, and Chas. A. Stewart, secretary-general manager of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, represented the 10,000-member cattlemen's group at the meeting held in Denver.

Cattle averaged 44 pounds heavier this year than last and yielded a higher average dressed out percentage, DeGraff reported, because more fed cattle and fewer cows were marketed. Cattlemen have been holding cows and calves on the range, building up their herds. "A price break is not inevitable if cattlemen market their herds wisely during the last half of 1959," DeGraff commented on the current rapid build-up of cattle numbers, which is in its second year since the end of the drought and still increasing.

"Prices for beef and cattle continue remarkably strong," DeGraff said. He attributed the price strength to "the present strong and growing demand for beef and the unusually large fraction of fed beef."

Consumer demand for, and preference for, beef continues to be a major influence on the market, he said. Assuming no increase in marketings caused by drought-forced liquidation, the prospect is for all cattle prices to hold up well through the rest of this year.

Warning the cattle leaders of the possibility that the price break of 1953 could be repeated, DeGraff cited a U. S. Department of Agriculture analysis of the cattle industry outlook which indicated that, at the present rate of build-up, the U. S. cattle population could result in a "demoralized market for cattle" by 1964.

He expressed his conviction that 1959 prices for beef are the peak of this price cycle, and that producers may be unwise to hold cattle for speculative gain. Unusually abundant feed supplies have encouraged some producers to overstock relative to the normal and safe carrying capacity of their range, he said.

THE PARMER FARMER

by W. H. Graham Jr.

Bovina is having a pretty good year with their 450 acres of cantaloupes, according to all reports. This is encouraging, especially after the sad experiences suffered by most growers a year ago--when cantaloupe growing got started.

Prices have ranged from $4 to $5 a crate and have been much more stable than a year ago, farmers tell us. It was beginning to look as if the Bovina crop would never get started to market. Maturity was later than expected, which has been attributed to a cool, wet start in the spring, and continued showers through the growing season which has retarded finishing out.

Lester Rhinehart, who has shown quite a bit of enterprise in this vegetable growing, set himself up a fruit stand on the highway and started doing a little retail business on the side about a month or six weeks ago. He's been handling area cantaloupes for only about three weeks.

Lester says his fruit stand isn't exactly a sensational success, but it does earn him "A little coffee money and pocket change." The typical day's gross is from $50 to $75. Naturally, expenses come off of that.

The yield from Bovina cantaloupe fields is down this year, comparatively speaking, but with much firmer prices than a year ago, growers don't seem to be complaining. They'd rather have a fair crop and a stable market than a bumper crop and, in the words of Charlie Flynn, a "demoralized" market such as existed in 1958.

Actually, the Bovina cantaloupes are about the only bright spot in the vegetable business again this year. Parmer County's approximately 900 acres of potatoes, distributed mostly around Friona and Lariat, gave indications of being a good crop this year. The market opened at a satisfactory level, around $3 to $4, but before much volume could be mastered by local diggers, it had slumped in one week to $2 or less, which is bumping the cost-of-production line. Generally speaking, Plains spuds have had another "off" year--their third one in a row.

Onions weren't grown on too many acres in the area this year. We'd guess the summer crop was about 200 or 300 acres in size. Actually, there would have been quite a few more except that plants from the Winter Garden area were poor in quality and very hard to come by for transplanting here, and the weather during the starting season was really rough on the onion crop.

It appears to be just as well that we didn't invest too much in onions in 1959, though. The growers of the Plains who got their money back out of onions this year were few in number.

Carrots are starting to come into Friona, although volume harvesting won't begin for several weeks, and opening prices have been around $20 a ton. This is quite a bit below the $30 a ton that was common for most of last year's crop, but it could be a lot worse. In truth, however, the market hasn't really been tested on account of the small movement.

On the subject of vegetables, something that's pretty dear to most Plains pushers who are looking ahead a few years, we might point out that while 450 acres, say, of cantaloupes around Bovina doesn't sound like much to us who have been accustomed to thinking in terms of thousands of acres, it actually is a pretty good sprinkling of melons.

For example, for years we have eaten and heard about Pecos cantaloupes. The Pecos cantaloupe has become well-known all over the nation. They had about convinced us that Pecos was "the" cantaloupe growing spot in the world.

A year or so ago we chanced to go through Pecos when we weren't in too big a hurry, so we slowed down and looked around for cantaloupes. We didn't find any. We had expected the country to be covered with them, but it wasn't.

We saw lots of cotton, quite a bit of maize, and a few other crops, but nary cantaloupe did we spy.

Then a couple of months ago we fell into conversation with Joe Pouns, publisher of the Pecos paper. The site of this conversation was the annual convention of West Texas newspapermen at Big Spring. As was his usual custom, Joe had supplied the association with a load of cantaloupes so they could all eat the Pecos product for breakfast and he could tell them how wonderful they were and how much they mean to Pecos.

After the breakfast (which was good), we put the questions to Joe, wanting to find out about cantaloupe growing around Pecos. "How many acres of cantaloupe do you raise?" we asked.

"Oh, about a thousand, more or less, I suppose," he casually replied. We could hardly believe it. "You mean, that the famous Pecos cantaloupe known all over the country is produced on just a thousand acres?"

Joe then sensed our surprise and replied again that this was correct. Then he began to explain about things. There are only about a dozen or 15 growers of cantaloupes around Pecos, he tells us. So, acreage to each grower is relatively large.

At Pecos, they have given a lot of attention to "up-grading" an agricultural product, something we need a lot more of in this day of declining farm prices.

They make sure that the melons meet rigid quality requirements, feeling that they should ship only the best produce, and that it is better to let second grade merchandise rot in the field than sour the marketplace.

They undertake extensive promotional schemes, such as shipping a free load to Big Spring for a convention of newspapermen (who will go home and write about Pecos cantaloupes). They come down hard on quality when they sell their melons, and then deliver the goods as advertised. This builds repeat business, something every retail businessman knows is the cornerstone of success.

We haven't noticed any this year, but in prior years we have spotted little plastic stickers on the ends of cantaloupes saying "Pecos." If the melon was a good one, the housewife would remember this special marking and keep it in mind the next time she went shopping.

Now, all of these things take time, money, and are a lot of trouble.

The Pecos growers have developed a big business making up special cartons of their fresh-grown 'lopes, selling them to large businesses which in turn have them sent with the compliments of the business to their favorite customers, or maybe top-echelon employees.

Now, all of these things take time, money, and are a lot of trouble. But they have a lesson for us. Actually, at Pecos they aren't so much interested in how many cantaloupes they grow as how many they sell--and for a good price.

As electric ranges are becoming more numerous in both town and country homes, oven meals are becoming more and more popular with a lot of homemakers and members of their families.

Our oven meal this week features oven fried chicken, casserole potatoes, and Swedish carrots. Since both potatoes and carrots are grown locally, all of us should use more of them.

Time needed to prepare this meal is 1 1/2 hours. Other dishes on the menu are apple strudel and Bermuda salad bowl. Procedure: 1. Place chicken, uncovered, on the lower rack. 2. Arrange a layer of thinly sliced potatoes in an oiled baking dish. Season with salt and pepper and dot with butter. Repeat until dish is filled, cover, place on the lower rack.

Never wring or twist your blanket. Partially dry in dryer with three bath towels for about 15 minutes. Spread it on flat surface to finish drying. Brush with wire brush and press satin bindings with steam iron if necessary.

Here is a good tip for freezer packaging materials. Use thoroughly washed cookie, cracker, candy or shortening tins or coffee cans. Any can with a tight fitting lid will serve for a freezer package.

In spite of the fact that many new detergents, washing aids and other products have been developed in the past few years, baking soda is still a very good additive to warm water when interiors of refrigerators are being cleaned.

Unlike some products, soda never leaves an odor that will be picked up by foods.

Diets of farm families in general are improving, recent studies show. However, diets of some families still fall short of the goal recommended as nutritionally desirable, according to Frances Reasonover, extension foods and nutrition specialist of Texas A&M College.

Nutrients most often in shortest supply are calcium and ascorbic acid. To make up these shortages, special emphasis will be placed on milk and cheese as good sources of calcium and riboflavin, on citrus fruits and tomatoes for ascorbic acid, and dark green and yellow vegetables for vitamin A. To increase the thiamine, there will be emphasis on meat, whole grain and enriched cereals, dry beans and peas.

Overweight is still a nutritional problem. Specialists continue to give information on safe ways to limit calorie intake, and still meet individual needs in protective foods. Poor diets can result from a lack of nutritional knowledge, poor eating habits, or lack of sufficient income to buy necessary food, according to the specialist. Careful meal planning, food buying and preparation will help all of us to eat well for less.

Even though the August "heat is on"--it's not too early to make plans for outfitting the youngsters for school or college. Planning a fall and winter wardrobe for the family represents quite an investment. Dr. Graham Hard, extension clothing specialist for Texas A&M College, says that careful planning before you buy will pay off in savings and satisfaction.

Careful planning is the secret to a wardrobe of costumes or outfits that go well together instead of a collection of miscellaneous items that never seem quite right. Begin by taking careful stock of clothes on hand. Make necessary alterations of clothes you keep, bring them up to date or put them in first-class condition.

Now plan what clothes you need to supplement what you have keeping in mind your activities. Each family member should have a part in planning. This makes for better understanding of what happens to clothing dollars and the family budget.

Other pointers for planning are given in the extension bulletin, "Clothing Dollars and Sense." Get a copy from your county home demonstration agent's office.

At the fruit counter, seedless grapes are wearing lower price tags. Peaches are low priced and of good quality in many parts of the state. For variety and added eating pleasure, early apples, plums and cherries are available at varying prices.

Use plenty of fresh vegetables to make summer menus interesting and tasty. Summer squash, yellow onions, eggplant, cabbage and carrots are attractively priced. Okra quality is some better now.

RH—Carol Huggins, 172, junior. The backfield averages 158 pounds. The Steers have 11 letter-men returning, and have built a squad of 32 boys.

The coach reports he has practically no information on Farwell's first opponent—a non-conference game (Friona is AA). Summing up his hopes for the game:

"We will have a better defense than we had last year. I just hope our offense will come around. I think game experience is the main thing we're needing. Cain, Owens, Ussery, and Hardage are boys who played very little offensive ball last year, and McDorman is in a new position. That's five boys who are greenhands."

Fortunately, the Steers haven't been hit by any serious pre-season injuries.

Born October 8, 1894, in Johnson County, Texas, Mrs. Brown and her husband and family came to Parmer County in 1927. The family farmed and continued to live in this area. They moved to the present family home in Farwell in 1945. Mr. Brown passed away in 1951 after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Brown grew up in Johnson County and was married there. After leaving there, the Brown resided in Floyd County before moving to Parmer. Before resigning because of poor health, Mrs. Brown had been a member of the personnel of Farwell Schools, serving in the capacity of cafeteria supervisor for 11 years. She was a member of the Baptist Church and the Farwell Study Club.

Six children survive: Mrs. A. P. Lofton of Sacramento, Calif.; Mrs. Ray Ford of Farwell; Mrs. Jess Pipkin of Amarillo; Mrs. T. J. Kittrell of Texico; Harold Brown of Clovis and Joe Brown of Midland. Also surviving are seven brothers and one sister, all of Johnson County and 18 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

TINY GIRL-- they would like to do the same, and made application through an agency in Portland, Ore. Their application was accepted right away, but an epidemic of measles prevented travel by the baby. She was quarantined.

Eventually they learned that their daughter would arrive in Portland, Ore., and Clara went to meet her. She waited three weeks in the city, and was so anxious to see little Tammy. When the plane arrived, Clara was among a large group of potential parents who waited until their name was called. One-hundred children were on the plane, and little Tammy was the next to last one to be handed into the arms of her joyfully tearful mother.

The happy little dark-haired miss "took up" with the new surroundings right away. She had been over 30 hours on the plane and was tired and fraill, but "good." Now she is learning to sit up and in her baby fashion, enjoys being "just a little spoiled" as her grandparents remark good-naturedly.

Little Tammy has traveled a long way—half way around the world, from a bleak basket on a doorstep in Seoul, Korea, at five days old, to the open arms of her new parents in America at six months. Her new mama and daddy have other plans—they hope to adopt a little brother some time later. In fact, S. N. is scheduled for some overseas duty, and hopes that the entire family might go to Korea.

Tammy would be an old hand at travels like that.

Lazbuddie Football Team Hopes For A Good Season

The Lazbuddie Longhorns should have a successful season if everything goes as planned by Coach Bond and Crooks.

After several pre-season workouts, reports about the team have been favorable. Leading the Longhorns will be Derrell Jennings, all-district quarterback, and two second-all-district players; tackle, Jerald McGehee and fullback, Jerry Koelzer. Two senior guards, Jerry Weaver and Earl Ryder, were starters last year and will add experience to the line.

Juniors Bill Hardage, R. L. Porter and Jerry Glover will see action at the end positions. Halfbacks battling for starting positions are Odis Bradshaw, Freddie Savage, Roy Miller and Ronald Elliot. Miller is also a quarterback behind Jennings.

fullback, is reported to be a fine ball carrier and will be battling Koelzer for his position. Ray Vanlandingham, who did not play last year, and Ronnie Gustin will be trying for the other tackle position opposite McGehee. Clyde Redwine, another boy who did not play last year, will play guard. The big problem for the coaches now is the center position. Jerry Smith, a junior, who previously played the position will not play ball this season; however, Jimmy Broadhurst and Norman Brantley, two boys from last year's freshman team, are improving rapidly and will probably see action at that position according to the coaches.
