

Steers Romp Into Playoffs

Combining an air-tight defense with a steady offense, the Farwell Steers Friday night battled their way into the state Class A playoffs for the third straight year by romping with unexpected ease over a favored Sudan Hornet team, 38-6.

From the opening whistle the Steers had their opponents' number, grinding out a methodical win over the once-beaten Sudan team and winning the right to meet Idalou Wildcats in the bi-district game next week.

The Steers will have one conference game remaining against Springlake this week and they will have to win that one to achieve the clear-cut title of District 3-A. Should they lose, the Steers would tie with the winner of the Hale Center-Sudan game for the championship. The Farwell team would however, enter the playoffs due to the fact that it has defeated both of these teams.

A loss to Springlake isn't likely since the Wolverines have won only one game this year and have been beaten by the three other district teams. The Steers meet them Friday at 8 p.m. at Springlake.

Details on the bi-district game were worked out Wednesday afternoon by coaches of the two schools. Farwell coach, Dempsey Alexander, announced Thursday morning that the game, which will be the third straight bi-district meeting between the two teams, will be played at 2:30 p.m. Friday, November 18, at Plainview.

In the first meeting between the Steers and Wildcats in 1958, Farwell won the game 40-12, and last year Idalou came back to win it, 27-18.

The day after election was 3-D day in the Twin Cities -- dark, dreary and drab, weather-wise, with the overcast skies reflecting somewhat the mood of many diehard Nixon backers.

As the day came to a close, one member of this anti-socialist group was heard to remark that it was doubtful if the sun would ever shine again.

For a moment I was inclined to agree with the man, since I also voted for Mr. Nixon, but I then decided that thinking of this nature would be giving the politicians of the winning party too much credit. Mother Nature is one thing the government will never be able to control.

So cheer up, my conservative friend, there might still be a ray of sunshine left in those clouds yet.

Besides, as one Stevenson supporter pointed out after the 1956 election, the electors don't cast the ballots for the president for several weeks yet.

And as you know, they are the ones who elect the president -- not we millions of citizens who go to the polls on election day.

This modern mechanical age does have its advantages and the voting machine is probably one of the many worthwhile achievements which have come about in recent years.

Being a resident of Texico and the State of New Mexico, where they have kept pace with some of these later 20th century advancements, I voted for the second time on the mechanical ballot during the general election Tuesday.

The big, brawny, metal apparatus makes election day easier for all concerned. As the voter goes to the polling place he has nothing to do but step up to the machine, pull the big red-handled lever that closes the curtain behind him, and then to pull the little levers above the names of the candidates of his choice.

If a person is voting a straight ticket, he pulls only one master lever next to the party label of his choice. There's nothing to it, and in only a few seconds time he has performed one of his duties as an American citizen.

In spite of the ease with which one can cast his ballot, however, this simplified voting method does have a drawback. It robs the voter of that satisfaction he gets from looking over a long list of candidates on a ballot and scratching the names of those he isn't for.

The voting process is almost too simple, and I'll have to admit that after walking away from that mechanical monster Tuesday, there was some doubt in my mind whether or not I had voted.

This new machine may be all right, but I'm convinced that when it comes to voting, there's nothing like marking with a big, black pencil, one of those old-fashioned paper ballots, folding it by hand, and personally dropping it in the ballot box.

At least, with the old method a person does have the satisfaction of knowing that he has properly exercised his voting privilege.

Lions To Sell Bulbs Monday

"Operation Light Bulb" is scheduled for Monday night by members of the Texico-Farwell Lions Club.

The club members will be divided into two teams and they will start canvassing both Texico and Farwell at 5 p.m. sell assorted sacks of light bulbs. Each sack will have eight bulbs, four 60 watt, two 75 and two 100 watt bulbs. They will sell for $2.00 per sack.

Lions are asked to meet in front of the Midget Cafe at 5 o'clock to begin the canvass. All club members on the first half of the club roster will be on a team, captained by James Craig and members on the second half of the roster will be on a team captained by Johnny Green.

The losing team will treat the winners to a dinner during the club's regular meeting immediately following the light bulb sale.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to finance Lions-club sponsored civic projects.

Football Contest Into Final Week

As the Farwell business football contest goes into its final week, Maxine Williams holds a three game edge over her nearest competitors for the two tickets and expense-paid trip to the cotton bowl game.

Mrs. Williams won the contest last week, being the only contestant to pick seven winners in what was by far the roughest contest yet for the majority of the football fans who have participated in the 10-week guessing game.

Lloyd Smith, who was leading the contest going into last week, went along with the favored teams in the week end games, as did the majority of the other contestants, and he wound up with only two right out of a possible 10.

Winning second place in the contest last week with a score of six was Glenn Phillips, who nosed out William H. Dannheim for the $3 prize money. Phillips and Dannheim both named six winners but Phillips was closer on the tie-breaker score. He guessed the score to be 28-14 while Dannheim thought Farwell would win 28-21. The actual score was 38-6.

The games continued to plague the contestants, as there were two in last week's contest. Besides the Dalhart-Canyon and SMU-A&M ties, Mrs. Williams missed only the Baylor-Texas game. Phillips failed to pick the winner of the Baylor-Texas game and also the Artesia-Clovis clash, Dannheim missed on Iowa-Minnesota and Baylor-Texas.

Two other persons who picked six winners were Jack Williams and Eugenia Murray. The remainder of the entries had 50 per cent less, with many of them having only two or three games correct. One contestant failed to pick any winners.

With only one week remaining in the contest, the top seven contestants are:

Parmer County Favors Nixon

A record 2,867 voters turned out in Parmer County Tuesday to give Vice-President Richard M. Nixon a substantial margin over his Democratic opponent, Senator John F. Kennedy.

Unlike the state of Texas and the nation as a whole, the county voters for the second straight time gave their support to the losing candidate. The count was Nixon 1,674 and Kennedy 1,088, or 58.3 per cent for the Republican ticket and 37.9 per cent for the Democratic candidates.

The weather was perfect for the election and that possibly aided in the record turnout of voters in every precinct, topping the previous record by more than 400.

In 1956, 2,415 voters went to the polls to cast the majority of their ballots for the losing Democratic candidate, Adlai Stevenson.

Tuesday's election was the first time in history that the majority of the precincts in the county voted for a Republican

Texico P-TA Hears Panel Discussion

At the Texico P-TA Monday night, a short business meeting was held during which announcement was made of the District Four conference to be held Nov. 21, 7-9:30 p.m. (mst), at the Clovis Jr. High building. All P-TA members are invited to attend.

In other business, a plan for raising money to help with the purchase of band uniforms was presented. Under this plan, a nationally advertised product candidate. Only the Lazbuddie precinct favored Kennedy and that was by a two vote margin, 170-168.

Considering the way the county has voted in the past, the heavy Nixon vote probably was due to the religious issue.

In the two major state-wide races, county voters favored the incumbent governor Price Daniel over his Republican opponent, William Steger, 2,028 to 722.

The senatorial race, involving Lyndon Johnson and John G. Tower was much closer, with Johnson winning by a narrow 1,522 to 1,227.

In the other state races, as well as the local ones, the Democratic candidates had little opposition and won by wide margins. A graph on how each precinct voted can be found elsewhere in the paper.

County voters approved three of the constitutional amendments by a good margin, voting against only Amendment No. 1, which would have permitted residents in Lamar and Hidalgo Counties to hold local elections for creating hospital districts.

An interesting sidelight to the presidential outcome is that the percentage by which Nixon carried the county varies slightly from what a poll taken by Parmer County's newspapers revealed last week. In the poll Nixon received 53.3 per cent of the total and Kennedy received 37.3 of the vote.

Texico Voters Go Nixon, Burroughs

In the presidential election Tuesday, Texico voters went along with other New Mexico voters in giving Vice-President Richard M. Nixon a majority over Senator John Kennedy, but in the governor's race they went against the state-wide majority by giving their support to incumbent John Burroughs over his Republican opponent Ed Mechem.

A record 330 voters went to the polls to give Nixon a 119-113 edge over Kennedy and Burroughs a 164-143 margin over Mechem, thus Texico supported the eventual loser in both of the major races.

In the lieutenant governor's race, Texico favored Democrat Joe A. Montoya over Republican Tom Bolack, 155-143, but in the race for state senator they gave Republican Bill Duckworth a slight edge over Democrat Albert Matlock, 152-150.

In other races, state and local, with the Democratic candidate being listed first, the vote went thusly:

U. S. Senator -- Anderson 177, Colwes 118; U. S. Representative, Montoya 169, Balcomb 121; and Morris 177, Robb 118; secretary of state -- Florina 173, Lake 122; state auditor -- Caster 179, Valdez 121; state treasurer -- Callaway 167, Branscum 124; attorney general -- Hartley 183, Schaber 117; commissioner of public lands -- Waler 172, Wilson 118; corporation commissioner -- Pickett 167, Cobean 127; and Falls 166, Chambard 123;

State representatives -- Smith

Two Injured In Car-Truck Collision

Two persons were injured last Thursday morning when a truck loaded with mlo and a car collided at an intersection near the Oklahoma Lane community.

Injured in the mishap were Mrs. Elton Wylie, driver of the 1954 Oldsmobile, and R. S. Smalts, driver of the grain truck. Both were taken to Parmer County Community Hospital at Friona where they were treated for cuts and bad bruises. Neither was seriously injured, however.

Two young daughters of Mrs. Wylie, who were riding in the car with her, received only minor injuries.

According to Sheriff Chas. Lovelace, who investigated the accident, the truck was traveling south on a farm road and the car was going west when the two vehicles collided at a blind intersection.

The truck overturned and grain was struck along the road and bar ditch. The car came to a halt against some telephone guy wires. Both vehicles received extensive damage.

Senior Play Termed Success

The senior play "Marrying Margaret" presented at Texico Friday night was termed a real success by the audience of about 250 persons.

The directors, Fred Danforth and A.D. McDonald, stated the play, a three-act comedy, was difficult to stage because of the large number of characters, but they feel that the acting was very good for high school students and are well pleased.

In the play, Harrison Hunter, played by Glendon Moss, issues an ultimatum to his two younger daughters, portrayed by Pat Patterson and Betty Westberry, that they may not marry the Stanton brothers, Terry Miller and Donald Caillouet, until their older sister Margaret, is married.

Margaret, played by Koleta Fosher, is plain and only interested in books. In desperation the two young girls run an ad in the paper for a man for Margaret. The plot thickens, however, when the busybody old maid aunt, played by Pauline Servatius, places an ad in the same paper for a man to do general work around the house.

There are several hilarious scenes and confusion and chaos rules when several characters, played by Leslie (Dyer) Winsper, Michael Trower, and Lee Spears, come in answer to the

Texico Band Marches In ENMU Parade

The Texico High School Band marched in the ENMU Homecoming Parade at Portales Saturday. This is about their tenth year to participate in these parades.

The Texico band did not place in the competition. They were classed in the B division, which includes schools with up to 300 enrolled in high school. Winners of this division were Olton, first; Ft. Sumner, second; and Hagerman, third.

Band members were served free barbecue at noon and were guests of the University for the homecoming football game. At the half time, they joined with other bands for a mass formation of the letters "ENMU" and the playing of "Officer of the Day March" and the trio of "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

The band carried a new drum which was purchased with the money won at the Lubbock Fair. It is a Ludwig Scotch street drum and weighs only 15 lbs. in comparison to the 30 lbs. that the concert drum they had been using weighed.

Speech On Safety At Farwell Class

C. A. Dempsey, safety officer of the department of public safety, Lubbock presented a program to the Drivers Education students of Farwell High school last Monday.

He brought out the importance of driver education in the public schools as one of the ways of helping youth to reduce accidents when they become licensed drivers.

He also spoke on "Driving Procedures" and stated that being able to prevent an accident, even though the other driver is at fault and may have violated a traffic law, would be defensive driving.

About thirty students heard the talk.

would be sold, with the P-TA to make 25% of the profits. An additional bonus would bring the total profits to 31%. Mrs. Ed Baldrige will be in charge of this project, and those wishing to order the merchandise should call her during the next three weeks.

The program, "Safety First," was under the direction of C.H. Webb, who introduced the members of a panel. Sergeant J. E. Syling, Jr., of the New Mexico state police, demonstrated the two latest approved methods of artificial respiration. Taft Turner, who has been a bus driver for 25 years, spoke on school bus safety. He emphasized the fact that if parents would teach their children to mind the driver, there would be less chance of injuries.

Mrs. Buck Doran substituted for Mrs. B. D. Younger in presenting the precautionary measure taken at school for the physical safety of the students. James Pierce talked on the ways they try to ensure safety in the shop at school, around all the power tools that are used in woodworking and the vocational agriculture projects. He ended by quoting a sign they have in the shop, "Horse play and horse power are a bad team."

The refreshment committee, Mr. and Mrs. John Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Don Fought, and Mrs. Ray Sharp, served doughnuts, coffee, and pop to approximately 35 members.

HERE! EASIER GOING FOR THE DRIVER AND THE LOAD. LONGER LIFE FOR THE TRUCK!

'61 TORSION-SPRING CHEVROLETS

If you don't think scrapping the front axle has made a world of difference, you haven't driven a Chevy in a while. A few minutes behind the wheel and you can feel why drivers are happier and breakable loads are better protected. But the biggest advantage of all, you'll realize, is that the truck itself (sheet metal, tires, chassis components, everything) takes less abuse. With independent front suspension soaking up road shock and vibration, the truck lasts longer, goes extra thousands of miles before trade-in time. Add that to what everybody's always known about Chevy dependability and you find yourself looking at the soundest truck investment you could bet your business on.

A panel and two pickups that put a thrifty air-cooled engine in the rear, the driver up front and as much as 1,900 pounds of load space in between! That's more capacity than a conventional half-tonner. Yet these Corvaire 95's are nearly two feet shorter from bumper to bumper. Highly maneuverable. Built to last and bound to save on a busy schedule!

Mrs. J. A. Cox Celebrates 90th Birthday With Dinner & Party

BY BETTIE BALDRIDGE

Everyone marvels that Mrs. J. A. Jennie Cox is 90 years of age. She lives alone, does all her house work, raises a garden and tends it herself as well as growing lots of flowers. She cans fruit, vegetables, preserves, and jelly and gives much of it away. She does beautiful crochet work, belongs and is active in church work, being a member of the WSCS and the Susannah class of the Hamlin Memorial Methodist Church. In fact, her energies could put many a younger woman to shame.

Tuesday was her birthday, but she was surprised Monday afternoon with a birthday party held in the home of Mrs. Guy Cox with Mrs. Clint Cox of Clayton assisting.

Three of her friends from Dimmitt, where she had lived before moving here, were here for the party, as well as local friends; a granddaughter and great granddaughter from Schenectady, N. Y., Mrs. Edward T. Chimenti and Danette Sue; her only daughter, Mrs. C. M. Frost from Houston; and her youngest son, Clint Cox, and his wife from Clayton.

Those attending from Dimmitt were Mrs. Fred Bruegel, Mrs. Bradley Fulfer, and Mrs. Joe Thompson. Local ladies attending were Mmes. Anne Overstreet, Albert Thomas, Jess Newton, A. D. Smith, John Zahn, and Mrs. Susie Jesko of Clovis.

Mrs. Smith recited two clever readings, which prompted Mrs. Cox to recall one that she learned when she was a teacher of expression and declamation in her early twenties. She recited "The Country Justice."

After Mrs. Cox had opened her gifts, the hostesses served party sandwiches, angel cake with strawberries, mints, coffee, and hot apple juice.

The family birthday celebration was a dinner for which they all contributed and it was held in Mrs. Cox's home Sunday.

Those attending were Mrs. C. M. Frost from Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Clint Cox, Clayton; James Cox, Logan; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cox, Patsy and Leroy, Lazbuddie; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cox, Farwell; Miss Marie Houston, Lazbuddie; and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Phillips and family, Farwell.

Two of her children, T. R. Cox of Amarillo and Victor Cox of Muleshoe were unable to be present.

Mrs. Cox feels that she has certainly had a wonderful birthday. In addition to the two celebrations, Saturday two grandchildren from Phoenix wired her a beautiful bouquet; Sunday she had a long distance call from a daughter-in-law, Mrs. William Cox of Phoenix, and a wire from the five children of her son who died two years ago; and a call Monday from a granddaughter who also lives in Phoenix, Mrs. Ronnie Catlett. She also received many lovely gifts.

Mrs. Cox was born Nov. 8, 1870, near Butler, Pennsylvania. She was one of four children born to Mr. and Mrs. John McCaslin.

The family came to Kansas in 1879. Before her marriage, Jennie taught school for four years. She was married in 1894. She and her husband lived at Oklahoma City before they moved two miles west of Plainview and lived there for 20 years. Her husband was a stockman and also owned farm land. He passed away July 19, 1936.

Mrs. Cox moved to Farwell in the fall of 1952 after living in Dimmitt for 12 years. She has seven of her ten children still living, 29 grandchildren, and 35 great grandchildren.

She comes from a long-lived family as her mother and sister lived to be in their eighties and a brother was 79.

One of the outstanding memories (other than family happenings) in Mrs. Cox's life concerns her attendance at the World's Fair at Chicago in 1933. She recalls that the ex-

Party Plans Made At Meeting Of Companion Class

The Companion Class of the Texico Baptist Church met Thursday night in the home of Mrs. Don Fought. The devotional, "A Place of Service for Every Christian," was given by Mrs. Mary Lyn London.

Class yearbooks were distributed and it was voted to take a Thanksgiving basket to the adopted family of the class. Plans were made for the Christmas party to be held at the next meeting in the home of Mrs. Mary Lyn London.

The hostess served lime sherbet, lemon cake, and punch to Mmes. London, Tena Roth, Ysleta Kittrell, Betty Thornton, Nancy Foster, Frances Boling, Charlotte Pierce and Pat Webb.

Miss Eleanor Buck, assistant home demonstration agent, and Mrs. Jo Bradley, county health nurse were in charge of the afternoon program. Mrs. Bradley showed pictures and gave a talk on "Diseases of the Heart."

Steers Romp In Playoffs

yards to give them a total of 34 at intermission.
 The second half was the same story as the Steers held Sudan to a net gain of 26 yards until the closing minutes when they put together an 80-yard touchdown drive. That came after all the damage was done, and after Farwell had built up a 38-0 lead.
 The entire Steer line was so aggressive and well-balanced that Coach Alexander wouldn't cite any one player as being outstanding. "They all played well," the coach said, adding, "It was almost a perfect game. The boys were always in position, right where they were supposed to be."
 The Steers wasted little time in letting the Hornets know that they were out for blood, scoring the first time they had possession of the ball. After kicking off to Sudan to open the game, the Blue and White held the Hornets on downs and took over on their own 38.
 On the third play from scrimmage, Halfback Carroll Huggins took a handoff from Quarterback Dial and shot over right tackle for a 55-yard jaunt before being hauled down from behind on the 7. Two plays later Dial drove over for the score and he booted the extra point to make the score 7-0.
 Farwell's second score came early in the second quarter after a sustained drive that started on their own 39. Fullback Jerry Lovelace plunged over the 1 for the TD to make the score 13-0.
 Just prior to the end of the first half the Steers drove to the Sudan 7 and on a fourth down play, Quarterback Dial booted a field goal to put his team out front 16-0 at that point.
 Early in the second half the Steers took a commanding 23-0 lead when Huggins went around right end and down the sidelines 20 yards for another score. Dial booted the extra point.
 The fourth touchdown came early in the fourth period when Lovelace broke into the open and galloped 29 yards for his second score of the night. Again Dial's kick split the uprights and the Farwell team enjoyed a 30-0 margin.
 At this point the Farwell second team took over and they too proved that they had the scoring punch when Quarterback Leon Lovelace passed to Halfback Joe Reed, who caught the ball on the 15 yard line and bulldozed his way past a throng of Hornets for the score. Lovelace passed to End David Lindop for the extra points to complete Farwell's scoring.
 Sudan's only score of the game came just as time ran out, following an 80-yard march down the field in the final three minutes of play.
 For the Steers it was a fearsome foursome in the backfield who provided the Farwell offense with its best balanced attack of the season. Besides the veteran mainstays, Dial, Lovelace and Huggins, junior halfback William Dannheim also aided the Steer cause by going for good yardage on many occasions.

On the third play from scrimmage, Halfback Carroll Huggins took a handoff from Quarterback Dial and shot over right tackle for a 55-yard jaunt before being hauled down from behind on the 7. Two plays later Dial drove over for the score and he booted the extra point to make the score 7-0.

Brewer Plans Meetings On Civil Defense

Parmer County Judge Loyde A. Brewer was in Austin last Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 25 and 26, attending a state conference for civil defense directors throughout the state.

State and national civil defense officials were featured speakers on the program and the meeting also included group discussions on various aspects of civil defense.

According to Brewer, Parmer County is one of only a few counties in this area without a civil defense organization. The judge plans to call several meetings throughout the county in the near future to see if there is enough interest in forming a civil defense group here, and to discuss the needs and possibilities of forming such an organization.

Brewer points out that probably the biggest need for Parmer County would be a program to cope with local disasters such as tornadoes. He also points out that a plan should be worked out to handle rural fires, especially in isolated areas.

tors their first tally but the score could not stand up as Larry Lee of Hart went 6 for period Billy Hardage scored for a touchdown and Roy Miller ran for the points. All the boys played well but Hardage and Riddle were rated tops for their respective teams.

THE HIGH PLAINS FARM AND HOME

Weather Rough On Cotton, But Harvest Begins

Harvest of a weather-beaten cotton crop is expected to swing into high gear within the next week and it is anybody's guess as to what the yield and quality of this year's crop will be. The weather has been alternately "against" and "with" the cotton farmer this year ever since he first got his seed planted in the spring. It all started with a cold, wet spell right after the cotton was in the ground, causing much of the crop to be plowed up and planted into other crops.

What was left (about 37,000 acres out of an original 49,000), was off to a late start when heavy rains in July further studied the growth. Then came several weeks of warm, sunny weather and things were looking up until more rain and hail caused widespread damage several weeks ago.

Along with the hail came a cold front, but it didn't freeze, and this siege of inclement weather was followed by more warm days -- just what the doctor ordered for cotton that was left and hadn't been too severely damaged by hail. The 10 days of warm weather helped much of the remaining cotton reach maturity before the first freeze on Oct. 31. "A week earlier and the freeze would have been disastrous," said one gin operator this week. There was still plenty of late-maturing cotton when the freeze hit, but another week wouldn't have helped much, he pointed out.

Because much of the cotton crop in Farmer County is late, there has been very little hand-pulling. Few of the cotton bolls were open prior to the freeze, and now, as soon as the bolls are open and dry, farmers will enter their fields with the strippers.

Gin operators contacted by High Plains Farm and Home over the weekend said that there had been very little activity up to that point and they were expecting the big rush to start sometime next week.

Except where fields were severely damaged by the hail, it is estimated that most of the cotton remaining will average about a bale to the acre. If this estimate is correct, the county should harvest from 35,000 to 40,000 bales.

However, as Wright Williams of Chester and Fleming Gin at Friona pointed out, the grade of this year's crop will be lower than last year's, thus resulting in the farmer receiving less money for his cotton.

"I think we can still make a bale to the acre but the price will be about 10 percent less than last year," Williams said.

Livestock Can Also Have Foot Troubles

During the cold, wet weather ahead, farmers and ranchers should be on the lookout for limping cattle. Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian, says that limping is one of the first signs of foot rot, a livestock disease that often develops during fall and winter.

The disease, which causes a raw condition similar to "athlete's foot," can spread rapidly through a herd. Foot rot is caused by an organism which gets its start when the feet of cattle become softened and damaged in wet, muddy lots and pastures, Dr. Patterson continues.

If treatment is begun early, the problem can usually be cleared up. The veterinarian will usually have to trim away the infected tissue before he can apply medication.

Farmers can help prevent the disease by keeping livestock away from pools of stagnant water and water-logged lots. Areas around water and feed troughs should also be kept clean and dry, Dr. Patterson concludes.

COTTON HARVEST CAN BE FUN if you can spend your time bouncing around in a trailer load of cotton like this little fellow. While he spends his time playing in the soft, fluffy cotton, his parents are in the field pulling by hand the cotton from one of the early fields in the county. Hand-pulling was a rare sight in the county this year, due to the fact that much of the cotton was late and only a few bolls were open prior to the freeze. Most of the fields will now be harvested with the mechanical strippers.

wet for combines to get through. HUB

Weldon Stringer of Hub Grain Company reported that the harvest was about 90 per cent complete in that area. There was some weather damage to fields but yields were good. Stringer said that he had handled about one-third more grain than he did last year.

The highest yield in the area was reported by Jack Briscoe, who cut 9,100 pounds off of 17 acres.

FARWELL AND LARIAT Elevator men here estimated that the harvest was from 50 to 75 per cent complete, but none would hazard a guess as to what the average yield would be. "Some were fairly good, some were average, and some were low because of hail damage," said Bill Dollar of Lone Star Grain.

Herb Potts of Worley Grain said he didn't know just what it would average but that there had been some yields of 6,000 and 7,000 pounds. "In another four or five days the harvest will be about over," he said.

Bull Dollar of Sherley-Anderson-Pitman, Inc., estimated that the harvest was from 65 to 75 per cent over, but said that there was just no way to compare yields this year with those of last year. He said that there was widespread hail damage and there were not many exceptional yields. "Just some exceptionally low ones," he added.

A small sports car coming down the street suddenly leaped into the air, came down, glided smoothly along for a short distance, then leaped into the air again. Down again, then up. A startled traffic officer signaled the driver to the curb. "What's the matter with this car?" he demanded. "Nothing, sir," replied the embarrassed driver. "I've got hiccups."

Income Tax Meeting Is Thursday

Farmers and their wives and other interested persons are reminded of the income tax meeting scheduled for this Thursday, Nov. 10, at 1:15 p.m. at the Hub Community Center. Howard Martin, of the Internal Revenue Service at Amarillo, will be on hand to assist citizens of the Farmer County area with income tax problems, including deductions and personal exemptions, depreciation and depletion, capital gains and losses and farm business expenses.

Also to be present at the meeting will be James Murphy, area farm management specialist, and Joe Jones, Farmer County Agent. They will discuss soil conservation expenditures, social security and estate and inheritance taxes.

You can't swap freedom for security without losing both.

Harvest Nears Completion

Grain sorghum harvest in Farmer County has passed the halfway point and in many sections of the area it is nearing completion, a check with most of the elevators in the county revealed this week.

Estimates of how much of the grain is already cut ranged from 50 per cent to as much as 75 and 90 percent, but all of the elevator men agreed that the harvest was past its peak and from now on the trucks and combines would finish the harvest at a slower tempo.

When asked about the yields and how they would compare with last year, most of the men who handle the grain said it was impossible to tell because of the widespread hail damage in the county. Where there was hail, yields were naturally low and even where there was no hail damage elevators were not reporting many exceptionally high yields.

If the weather remains good throughout this week and the early part of next, most of the grain should be harvested. A breakdown of the reports from each section of the county is as follows:

BOVINA

J. P. Macon of Macon Elevator estimated Saturday that the harvest was 60 per cent complete in that area and that the yields varied greatly because there was so much hail. "I don't believe the yields were as high anywhere as they were last year," he said.

At Bovina Wheatgrowers, Jim Russell estimated that the harvest was two-thirds complete and said that yields were good prior to the hail, but since that time a lot of them have been as low as 2,700 pounds. Russell said that it would probably be the end of November before the harvest would be complete.

"If it hadn't of been for the hail, yields could have run around 6,000 pounds," said Joe Moore of Sherley Grain Co. He estimated that the hail cut the crop by about 20 per cent. However there were a few yields around 7,000 pounds, he said. FRIONA

In the Friona area, where hail damage was not as severe as it was around Bovina, yields were averaging from 5,000 to 6,000 pounds, according to Arthur Drake of Friona Wheat Growers. The present harvest is "one of the best we've ever had," Drake said, adding that, "Where there was hail damage it was pretty bad, but generally speaking the crop wasn't hurt too much."

Preach Cranfill at Continental Grain said there were "mighty few" farmers through cutting, but he estimated that the average yield was somewhere around 5,000 pounds. He said that the harvest was more than half over and that it was now going down hill.

BLACK

Representatives of the three elevators at Black estimated that the harvest was 75 per cent complete. Most of the fields had been damaged by wind and hail but yields were better than farmers and elevator men had expected. There is still plenty of grain in the fields and most of them have been "spot" harvested due to fields being too

Cotton Burrs Increase Land Productivity

No longer is the cotton burr considered just a "waste by-product" which has no practical use and is only a major "thorn" in the side of cotton ginners.

Recent tests have proven that the once lowly cotton burr has "increased yields, increased the efficiency of water use in crop production and decreased losses from gin-yard fires."

This information comes from the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at College Station following a series of tests which have taken place at a substation near Lubbock.

By returning the burrs to the soil from which they came, badly-needed organic matter goes back into the ground and the tests show that the pounds of lint per acre of cotton is increased greatly.

In one test at the Lubbock experiment station, rates of 2, 4 and 6 tons of burrs per acre were applied annually from 1953 to 1958. Average production of cotton grown on untreated land in this test was 539 pounds of lint per acre, but the plots receiving the annual applications of 2, 4 and 6 tons of burrs produces an average of 649, 705 and 762 pounds of lint per acre, respectively.

This is an increase of 111, 167 and 224 pounds of lint per acre on each of the respective tests.

Each ton of burrs increased lint yield 36 pounds per acre for the six-year period, so therefore, an estimate of the total pounds of lint increase can be made by multiplying the number of tons of burrs applied by 36, the report says.

Also in the test, the average amount of rainfall and irrigation, and the yield of lint were used to calculate the pounds of lint produced from an acre inch of water. Untreated land produced 19 pounds and land that received 2, 4, and 6 tons of burrs produced 23, 25 and 27 pounds of lint per acre inch of water.

"These figures show a trend of increased efficiency of water use by cotton plants growing on burr-treated land," says Harvey J. Walker and John Box, agronomists for the extension service. They give two explanations as possible reasons for this:

- (1) Improved plant-soil-water relations within the soil and a possible increase in soil surface water intake rate and,
  - (2) Additional plant nutrients supplied by the burrs.
- In another test it was determined that the application of burrs during a three-year period would produce a residual effect. The continuous treatments received burrs annually during the 1953-58 period while the residual treatments received burrs annually during 1953-55 and did not receive any during 1956-58.

The three-year average lint yields in the residual plots were close to the yields of the plots receiving continuous burr treatments. These results show that increases in yield are maintained for a period of three years on land that has had three consecutive annual burr applications.

Parmer County Agent Joe Jones says that several farmers in this area have been using cotton burrs effectively. A report from some of these farms is planned by High Plains Farm and Home in the near future.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

BY RAYMOND EULER

Donald Christian was re-elected Vice President of PCFB last Thursday night in director's meeting, and Vernon Symcox was also re-elected Secretary-Treasurer. Committee members were not appointed, but probably will be appointed at the next meeting December 5th.

Texas Farm Bureau now has in excess of 80,000 members, which I believe indicates an increase of around 1,000 members over 1959. We feel like Parmer County's membership should keep pace with a similar percentage increase in order that we may maintain our voting strength within the overall organization.

Your dues, if not paid already, will be welcomed now, or any time. Your voice is needed to join with those already organized to give more strength to the local organization.

You will remember that Texas Farm Bureau and American Farm Bureau requested the Secretary of Agriculture to increase cotton allotments at least ten per cent and not more than 14 per cent for 1961. You are probably already aware, also, that the Secretary did make the increase of 14 per cent. Farm Bureau also asked that the support price be increased to above 70 per cent minimum in view of favorable marketing conditions. The support will be announced before the December 13 referendum.

We feel like you will profit by attending the American Farm Bureau Convention in Denver, Colorado December 11-15. It is our hope that many farmers from Parmer County will make it a point to be there. There is the place to see how American Farm Bureau policies are developed from the state resolutions. You will also get an idea of the strength of the largest voluntary farm organization in the world.

We think there will be five or six delegates go to the Texas Convention in Dallas this week. We'll know who they were next week, but we're reasonably sure M. T. Glasscock and Ernest Kube are among them.

Consider this: "Hearken unto thy father that begat thee, and despise not thy mother when she is old." Proverbs 23:22

A pioneer citizen celebrating his 100th birthday was being interviewed by a local reporter.

"Pop," said the reporter, "I'll bet you've seen plenty of changes around these parts."

"Yep," the old man agreed. "And I've been against every darn one of them."

Fertilize And Inoculate For Best Legumes

Properly fertilized and inoculated legumes are literally on-the-farm nitrogen factories, but if non-inoculated legumes are planted in soil that contains no nitrogen-fixing bacteria, no nitrogen will be fixed. R. J. Hodges, extension agronomist, says this situation should not occur because it is an easy matter to get the right kind of inoculant on the legume seed before it is planted.

Above every acre of land surface there is about 35,000 tons of free nitrogen. With the exception of members of the legume family, no plants are able to use this free nitrogen. Nature was given legumes the power to take this nitrogen from the air and put it into the soil.

This process is carried on by plants through small growths on their roots. These growths, known as nodules, are formed by the nitrogen-fixing bacteria, Hodges explains.

Even though legumes have been grown successfully on the land where they will be planted again this fall, the seed for this year's crop should be inoculated, says Hodges. Be sure to check the container label so the correct type of inoculant will be obtained.

The legume plants must be thrifty and make a good growth if the bacteria are to thrive. For this reason, lime, phosphorus, potash and the trace elements must be supplied if they are lacking.

According to Hodges, fertilizer requirements vary with the different soil-type areas of the state. His general recommendations are that 150 to 250 pounds of 10-20-10 per acre be used on sandy soils, and 100 to 150 pounds of 13-39-0 or 16-48-0 per acre be applied to the heavier soils. Productive soils or soils high in organic matter should receive 200 to 300 pounds of 0-20-0 per acre. To be sure of their fertilizer requirements, farmers should have their soil tested.

Fertilizer may be applied as part of the seeding operation, says Hodges, by using a fertilizer attachment on the grain drill or row crop planter. This joint operation cuts costs and places the fertilizer where it is readily available to the plants.

Hodges points out that the time for planting winter legumes has arrived and the job should be done as soon as possible. Winter legumes, he adds, will give protection to the land during the winter, will provide grazing, can be used for a cash crop or they can be turned under as green manure. Any way you go, he concludes, legumes will contribute to any soil improvement program.

Effect Of Fumigants On Seeds Studied

College Station -- Many seed men have had damage claims filed against them because of the failure of fumigated seed to germinate. This failure could have resulted from poor field conditions, or it could have been the result of fumigant damage.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station conducted a study to determine the effect that specific fumigants have on germination and vigor of seed and the conditions under which they may be most injurious.

For the tests, seven fumigants were used to treat seed of barley, oats, wheat, rice, cotton and two varieties of corn and sorghum. Because previous research has indicated that moisture content and temperature of seed during fumigation affects the possibility of fumigant injury, the seed for these tests were fumigated at three different moisture and temperature levels. It was found that high moisture content and high temperature usually interacted to produce extensive injury to seed. The fumigants included in these tests were classified into three groups on the basis of their effects on seed germination. Hydrogen cyanide and carbon tetrachloride in the first group had relatively little effect on seed germination. Germination was not affected immediately after fumigation with these materials, but after 12 months' storage of fumigated seed, reductions occurred in some crops without regard to temperature or seed moisture during fumigation.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has published a complete report on this test.

Two Grain Men Looking Into Foreign Market

The position of U.S. Feed Grains in foreign market is getting a close appraisal by the U.S. Feed Grains industry this month.

Two nationally recognized agricultural leaders, Walter Goepfinger of Boone, Iowa and Reagan Peeler of Hereford, Texas are calling on foreign government officials, agricultural leaders and feed grain users, as representatives of the U.S. Feed Grains Council.

Goepfinger, an Iowa corn farmer is president of the National Corn Growers Association while Peeler is a Texas grain sorghum grower, and a past president and also director of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association. In addition, they are respectively president and first vice president of the U.S. Feed Grains Council which was organized in July of this year to combine the efforts of corn, grain sorghum, oats and barley growers, and the industry serving them, into a unified market development program. Corn and grain sorghum are the principal U.S. feed grains being exported to the expanding European market.

One of the chief objectives of the European study will be to appraise and give further direction to the market promotion projects which are being conducted throughout this area in cooperation with the Foreign Agricultural Service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The two U.S. travelers are being joined by Charles C. Gidney of Rome, Italy, director of the U.S. Feed Grains Council's European programs, as they visit Portugal, Spain, the United Kingdom, Netherlands, West Germany, Belgium, Italy, Greece, Turkey and Israel.

While in Spain they are participating in the Second Animal Feeding Symposium which is being held in Madrid as a cooperative program between the U.S. Feed Grains Council, the Soybean Council of America and the Foreign Agricultural Service.

Principal host of the group in the United Kingdom will be Walter Greenwood, president of the Liverpool Corn Exchange along with the other members of a British Feed Grain Mission which visited the United States recently as a part of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association's foreign market development program.

In Rotterdam, which is the principal port in Europe for U.S. agricultural products, the offices of other U.S. agricultural groups located there will be visited, including Great Plains Wheat Market Development Association, Soybean Council of America, American Poultry Industry's Institute and the American Farm Bureau.

The Agricultural and Industrial Institute at Thessaloniki, Greece, which is conducting livestock and poultry feeding demonstrations under auspices of and in cooperation with the Council, will come in for close study as proposals for expansion of projects there are appraised. Vasfi Hakman of Ankara, Turkey, Editor and Publisher of "Yeni Ziraat" (The New Agriculture), will be host to the travelers.

"Imagine my delight when the church men's committee built us a Medallion Home!" says Mrs. Bruce Clark of Stratford, Texas.

MEDALLION HOME LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY

"What will my new home be like?" We all ask that question, even when we plan the home ourselves. Well, the Church Men's Committee of the First Christian Church in Stratford came up with the perfect answer when they built a new home for their pastor and his family. They built a Live Better Electrically Medallion Home. And that's pretty easy to understand, because men, as well as women, enjoy the every-day comforts and conveniences that make a home — and electricity provides most of them. Ask your builder — or Public Service manager — to help you plan a Medallion Home — hallmark of home building excellence.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

This year the above average rainfall has been very beneficial to some farmers and to others it has not. It has been beneficial to those that have their farms protected from erosion due to heavy rains.

It is easy to point out the farms that were not protected. Much damage has been done by gully and sheet erosion. There is no way of determining the amount of valuable topsoil that has washed into the lakes and draws.

The depth of topsoil in this area is about 6 inches deep and not 3 or 4 feet as some believe. Look at it this way. If a piece of land is worth $200 an acre, you can figure that 75% or more of this is in the top six inches. Therefore, it is extremely important that all topsoil stays on the farming land and not in the lakes.

There are several farmers who plan to install diversions and waterways this fall and winter.

I attended the opening of Moore County's first commercial feed lot along with Bruce Parr, Ira Parr, and John Aldridge of Farmer County, which was held Saturday, November 5. The feeding plant is located 3 miles north of Dumas on Highway 287 and has a capacity of 5,000 head.

To build this feed lot a corporation was formed in the name of Moore County Feeders Inc., and with 50 stockholders. The plant to date has cost about $135,000. The feed lot facilities were in turn leased to Diedrichsen and Son of Nebraska who will run the feed lot. The people of Moore County felt they could profit by a commercial feed lot, but no one individual seemed to be interested in investing in the facilities. This in turn led to the corporation being formed and stock being sold to build the feed lot, and

Flame Cultivation Tests Encouraging

Field drying grain sorghum by the use of flame cultivation was a new experiment conducted at the High Plains Research Foundation in September and October. The objective was to reduce the moisture content to the 13% acceptable for safe storage or government loan, without dockage.

The results secured were encouraging enough to justify continuation of the tests. During the winter months the experiment will be continued on grain sorghum in the Rio Grande Valley and at the Foundation at Halfway in 1961 by Dale Price, agricultural engineer.

A high clearance tractor equipped with a flame cultivator was used in the tests. Two additional burners were added per row and the burners placed opposite each other. The flame was directed at the base

One job that most mothers of growing children do not enjoy is that of buying shoes for the youngsters. Perhaps one reason for this is that too many of us do not understand the points that need to be considered when having shoes fitted.

Letting the shoe salesman do the job is the easiest way to handle the situation, but perhaps this isn't the wisest course to follow.

Seven points to follow when fitting shoes are being printed for your consideration. Study this list then the next time you go shopping for shoes for the children the task will be easier.

1. Enough width and circumference at the ball of the foot.
2. A box toe high and wide enough to allow toes to stretch out and wiggle. The shoe should give about 3/4" extra toe space.
3. Ample width throughout the shoe to allow the foot to rest properly on its suspension points.
4. A snug fit at the heel. A heel that fits too loosely is an invitation to blisters.
5. The material used should be firm, for support, but pliable for comfort.
6. Strong shanks that give firm support to the arch.
7. Oxfords should be cut low enough to avoid rubbing the ankle bone.

"Breaking in a shoe" often means breaking in a foot. If the shoe doesn't fit comfortably in the store, leave it there! The chances are it won't fit any better later.

If you are one of those homemakers who have difficulty whipping a mixture of unflavored gelatin and fruit juice or milk for a chiffon dessert, your timing may be bad. The best time to start whipping such a mixture is when the gelatin mixture has cooled and thickened slightly more than the unbeaten egg white.

At such a stage, the volume can be increased two to three times that of the unbeaten gelatin.

If you are not making use of your freezer as an ever-ready food storage unit, you're not getting the most out of it. By preparing foods in large quantities, serving part of it for the next meal and freezing any amount left over for future meals, your food preparation will be made easier.

Two recipes that are especially good for this kind of cooking were printed in a recent issue of the Farmer-Stockman and are being re-printed here.

CHICKEN STARTER
4 stewing hens
3 quarts water
4 cloves
1 cup celery tops

6 peppercorns
4 bay leaves
4 sprigs parsley
4 carrots
1/4 cup salt
1 teaspoon black pepper

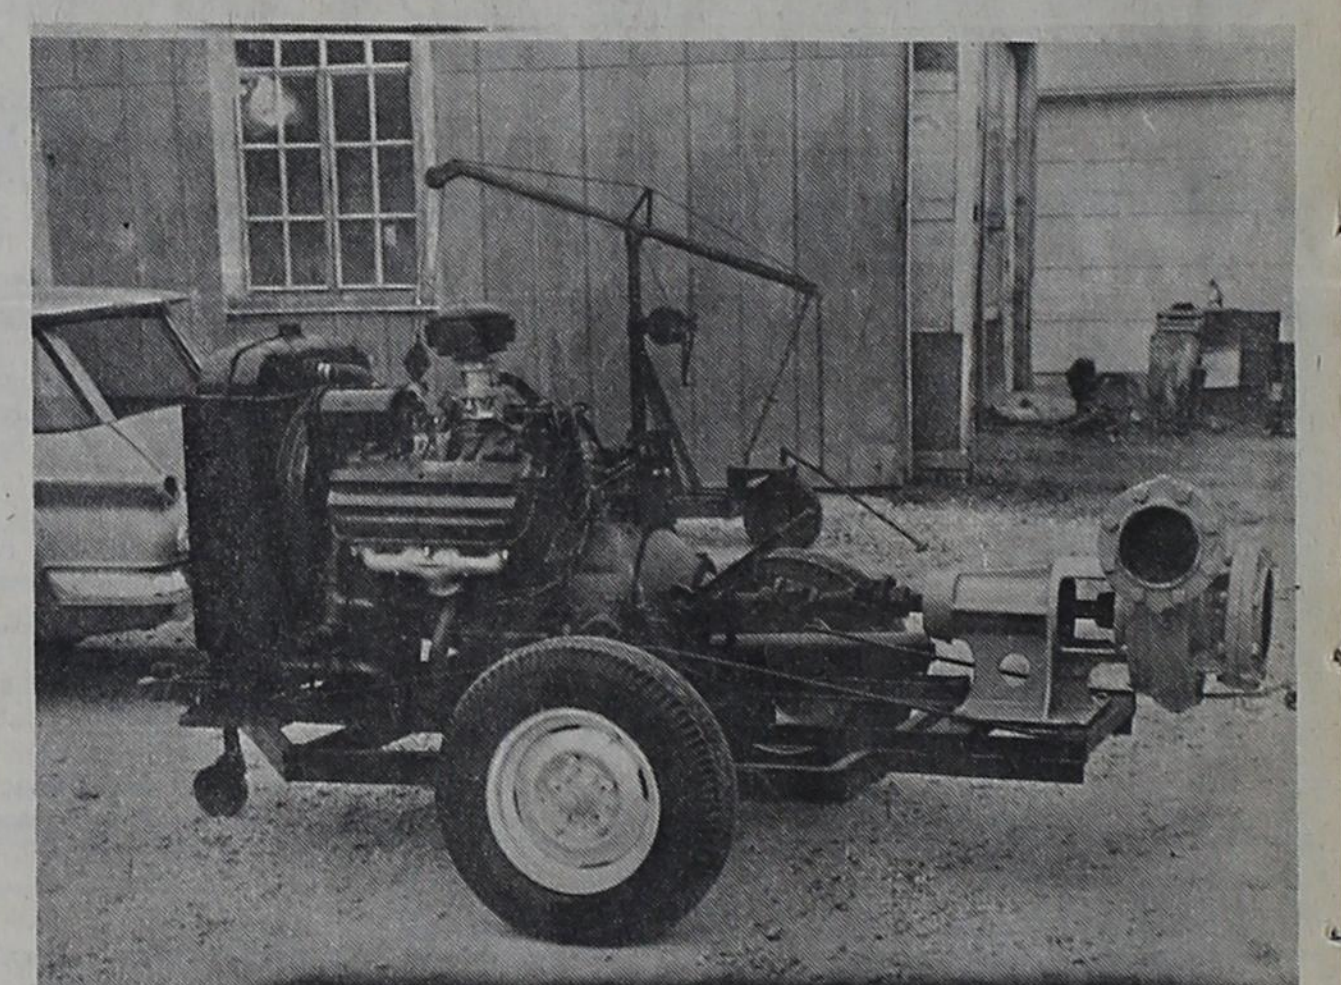

Cut up chicken, place in deep kettle, add water, seasonings and vegetables. An onion may be added to stew if desired. Simmer for 3 or 4 hours, or until chicken is fork-tender. Add more water if needed. Cool chicken and broth quickly, setting it in pan of ice or in front of a fan. Strain broth and freeze in meal size packages for soups, casseroles and gravies. Remove meat from bones, dice it and package for freezer.

This should yield about 12 cups cooked chicken plus broth. Some broth may be frozen with meat, depending upon your future serving plans. A chicken mixture might show up at a party creamed in patty shells, as an almond-chicken mousse, croquettes or souffle.
