After completing high school, James attended college at Texas Tech for one semester, transferring to Tarleton State at Stephenville where he continued his education for the next three semesters. He began attending WTSC in Canyon in 1958, where he received his BS degree in physical education in June 1960 and began teaching at Quitaque the following September.

Hopper Wins First In 1962 TPA Contest

"From the Hopper," weekly column penned by W. H. Graham, Jr., owner and publisher of State Line Tribune, won first place in the Texas Press Association newspaper contests in the division for newspapers published in towns of 2,001 to 3,500 population. The award was presented to Graham at the TPA annual convention last week in Corpus Christi.

The Tribune also received a second place certificate for news pictures, being edged for first place by another county newspaper, The Friona Star, which is jointly owned by Graham and Joe A. Osborn of Austin. Graham's column won first place in the TPA contests in 1957 and 1959. Last year the Tribune won TPA sweepstakes in its division (newspapers published in towns of less than 2,000 population). A sweepstakes winner is not allowed to compete in the same division the following year, so the Tribune was entered in a higher class for this contest. Sixteen newspapers were entered in this division.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham were accompanied to the convention by Mr. and Mrs. Travis Harrell of Friona, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hamilton of Plainview, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bailey of Vega.

Joe Helton, Texico, poses with the plaque presented him from the Texico - Farwell Lions Club as outstanding member of the year. Helton was the club's nominee for Baby Deputy District governor this year.

Rain Slows Construction

Work on the curb and gutter project on Avenue A in Farwell has been temporarily halted due to water from showers this week.

Chamber Discusses City Park Work

A light agenda of business was on tap at the Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday at the AA Bowl Cafe.

The main topic for discussion was the problem of getting the new city park in shape. Various suggestions were offered by the five members present as to the weed problem and getting the new grass up. Due to a wind storm that hit the day the new grass was sowed, there are several spots that need to be resowed. Suggestions on either mowing the weeds right to the ground or using 2-4-D to kill the weeds were offered by various members with nothing definite being decided.

Hughes Nursery in Friona is the firm hired to landscape the park.

The watering of the park is now being taken care of by Bill

Quckel who has been picking up rocks and watering during the day. A suggestion was brought up that it might do some good if the park was watered during the night, too. This was discussed by the Chamber and will be decided at a later date.

The problem of tables was another item that was subjected to a round table discussion by the Chamber. Joe Crume will put up a table in the near future and it was brought up that possibly other civic organizations will want to put in tables as one of their projects.

If all goes as planned, the Chamber feels the park should be a place that will be enjoyed by the entire community by the time it is turned over to the city for maintenance next year.

Reason for the notice?? One of the men charged in the case was John Aldridge of Odessa, who was defeated for Democratic nomination for county judge of Ector County two years ago.

Leon Meeks Goes To School

Leon Meeks, a Mountain States Telephone Co. employee and president of the Communication Workers Union in Clovis, who recently returned from Milwaukee where he had attended the National convention of CWU left for Denver Sunday where he will attend an electronic school.

The Texico-Farwell delegates to the New Mexico and Texas Boys State sessions returned home recently after a busy week in Roswell and Austin. Bobby Actkinson was Farwell's delegate, while Vic Harrington and Willie Stover attended the session from Texico. Actkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Actkinson, arrived at the University of Texas in Austin early Sunday morning, June 3, on a chartered bus carrying 37 boys from the Amarillo area.

After signing in that morning, the boys were given a little time to get acquainted with each other and then were divided into cities, counties, districts and parties. The two parties were the Longhorns and the Pioneers. Actkinson was a citizen of Hood City, Cox County, Owsley District and was a member of the Longhorn party.

A typical day started when the boys got up at 6 o'clock and attended flag raising. After flag raising they engaged in callisthenics, and then had breakfast. They then attended a meeting during mid-morning and ate dinner about 12:30. At 2 o'clock they started their recreation period.

According to Actkinson, there was just about every kind of sport you could think of to play. State championship tournaments were held and a boy could make All-State if he was good enough. The boys attended

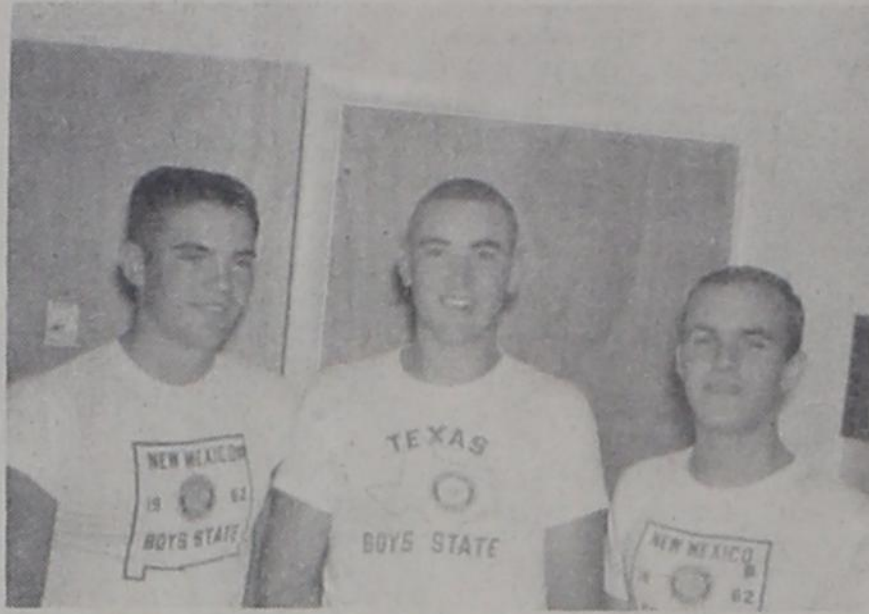

Jerry Henson To Attend Seminary

Jerry C. Henson of Farwell, has been approved for admission to the Southwestern Baptist Seminary, in Fort Worth for the fall term.

This will mark the beginning of the fifty-fifth year of operation for the seminary, the largest evangelical seminary in the world.

Dr. Naylor, president of the seminary will speak to the students on September 11 with Dr. T. B. Masten professor of Christian ethics to deliver the formal address September 12.

Other lectures scheduled throughout the year will include Dr. Billy Graham, Dr. Abner McCall, Dr. W. R. White, Dr. Franklin Littell, Dr. James B. Scales and Dr. Marshall Craig.

Local delegates to the 1962 Boys State sessions held recently in Roswell and Austin posed together this week in their State T-shirts. From left to right are Vic Harrington, Bobby Actkinson and Willie Stover. Harrington and Stover of Texico were delegates to the New Mexico session and Actkinson was the Farwell delegate to the Austin meeting. The boys will all be seniors in high school this fall.

flag lowering at 6 o'clock and then ate supper. In the evenings they attended city, county, or state convention meetings.

The boys campaigned for offices until Wednesday when the elections were held. Everything was handled exactly like the state government, with a Governor, Lt. Governor, Attorney General, Senators and other officers being elected. The Pioneers really swept the elections with nearly every office being held by a Pioneer, Bobby says. Actkinson was elected to the Senate and the meetings were started with the help of an ex-Senator. The boys passed bills and conducted themselves like real Senators for that day.

The highlight of the trip came Friday when they took a trip to the capitol and were taken on a tour of the building. The Boys State Senators held a meeting in the Senate chambers.

That evening, two boys were elected to represent Texas at the national Boys State, and the Governor's Inaugural Ball was held that night with girls from the surrounding Austin area invited to attend.

The delegates left for home about 9:30 Saturday morning.

The two Texico delegates, Vic Harrington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harrington, and Willie Stover, son of Mrs. Drew Greer, arrived in Roswell at the New Mexico Military Institute, where New Mexico Boys State was held, about noon on Saturday, June 9. They made the trip on a bus carrying all the Boys Staters from Curry and Roosevelt counties.

As soon as they arrived they were given all their material that they would need, including their Boys State T-shirts. They were then divided into two parties, the Nationalist and Federalist, and eight cities and four counties. Vic states that for a while they were very confused about what they were supposed to be doing but after they met a few boys they began to feel at home and at ease. The boys got their first real taste of what they were supposed to be doing, Saturday night when they were officially greeted by the counselors and the director, Al Ortiz. On Sunday they went to the churches of their choice.

That night the boys got into the swing of campaigning when they had city elections, Vic was elected city councilman in the city of Castillo and also city party chairman.

During the next few days they had a continuous round of campaigning, party caucuses, lecturers and meeting people.

During the week, the Boys Staters had many good speakers. Dr. C. L. Kay spoke to them three times during the week on the "Menace of Communism," which, according to Vic and Willie, was very inspiring. A major highlight of the session was when Governor Mechem came to speak to the boys.

There were recreation periods in which they could play football, basketball, swim or anything else they wanted to do.

Harrington says that one of the most interesting phases of the session to him was the law and law enforcement school which included demonstrations by a state policeman in Karate and Judo. They also held a mock trial in which they tried a manslaughter case.

In reporting on his trip, Stover brought out these highlights of the history of Boys State: In 1935 the program of Boys State was born when men of the American Legion saw that a more efficient government could be insured if the youth today were inspired with a true sense of good citizenship. The program was based on the ideals and theory of "learning can best be done by doing and participating." In 1936 the program was adopted by the National legion program and in 1947, the New Mexico sessions of Boys State began, and has been successful. Now more than 20,000 boys attend the sessions all over the United States.

In summing it all up, the three boys who attended this year's session encourage every person in school to strive for being chosen to attend either Boys or Girls State. It is an unforgettable and invaluable experience, they say.

Higher Education Goal Of Most Farwell Grads

(Editors' Note: This is the second part of an account of seniors' plans began in the issue of June 15.)

By Mike Getz

With the coming of fall not far away, the 1962 graduates of Farwell High School find themselves in a position of having to decide about the future. The plans of the graduates are as varied as the graduates themselves.

Twenty-seven students out of a class of 33 have made plans to further their education by attending college.

West Texas State in Canyon is the favorite choice with 17 graduates to enroll there. Next is Texas Tech with three, Hardin Simmons University with two, Eastern New Mexico University, and New Mexico Military Institute with one each.

Two members of the graduating class plan to attend vocational schools while two plan to work. One graduate plans to farm and one is married.

After personal interviews with the graduates, their plans are:

Christine Paine received a scholarship to South Plains College where she plans to study medicine or art. During her senior year, she was an officer in the National Honor Society, was named "most versatile" and "most athletic." She was an office girl, co-editor of the annual, was a candidate for best all-around and was in the senior play. Christine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Paine.

Joan Potts is Mrs. Bill Flowers and is living on a ranch in Clayton, N.M. While in high school, Joan has been in the pep club and has been a cheerleader for two years. Among her honors are "harvest princess," candidate for football queen, candidate for "most beautiful" and candidate for Miss FHS. Joan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Potts.

Attending college at West Texas State is the plan of Pete Rolland, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Rolland of Farwell. Pete has been a member of the band, FFA and managed football, basketball, and track, while in high school. During his senior year, he took part in the senior play.

Carolyn Routon is to attend West Texas State where she plans to take a secretarial course. Carolyn has been active in the FHA and has been a cheerleader all four years. During her senior year, she was head cheerleader, named "most beautiful" and was on the student council. She was also chosen FFA sweetheart, named "biggest flirt" and took part in the senior play.

Karen Schell is working at the ASC office in Muleshoe and plans to continue her work there this fall. Karen has been a candidate for football queen, "most beautiful" and during her senior year was named Miss FHS. She has been an officer in the pep club, chorus, FHA, student council and was secretary treasurer of the senior class. She has also been class favorite, "best all around," "witliest" and was on the annual staff. Karen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Schell.

OUR AMERICAN HERITAGE

THE NEWS THAT CHANGED A COUNTRY'S DESTINY...

In July of 1776, Town Criers throughout the Thirteen Colonies shouted news that was never to be forgotten: "Congress declares that these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES!"

Our Declaration of Independence had been adopted, marking a new era of freedom for a young nation, giving it the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Our country's freedom was not, of course, won for us by this historic document, but the Declaration of Independence was the call to arms that inspired Americans to throw off the chains of oppression and to forge a new destiny for themselves and their children. Men who were willing to "mutually pledge to each other their Lives, their Fortunes and their sacred Honor" for the cause of freedom, answered that call. Because they did, we now enjoy the greatest form of government ever devised by man. It is our way of life . . . it is our American Heritage.

AMERICAN LIBERTY -- AN ADDRESS BY PATRICK HENRY

Mr. President

No man thinks more highly than I do of the patriotism, as well as abilities, of the very worthy gentlemen who have just addressed the House. But different men often see the same subject in different lights; and, therefore, I hope that it will not be thought disrespectful to those gentlemen, if, entertaining as I do, opinions of a character very opposite to theirs, I shall speak forth my sentiments freely and without reserve. This is no time for ceremony. The question before the House is one of awful moment to this country. For my own part I consider it as nothing less than a question of freedom or slavery; and in proportion to the magnitude of the subject ought to be the freedom of the debate. It is only in this way that we can hope to arrive at truth, and fulfil the great responsibility which we hold to God and our country. Should I keep back my opinions at such a time, through fear of giving offence, I should consider myself as guilty of treason towards my country, and of an act of disloyalty towards the majesty of heaven, which I revere above all earthly kings.

Mr. President, it is natural to man to indulge in the illusions of hope. We are apt to shut our eyes against a painful truth, and listen to the song of that siren, till she transforms us into beasts. Is this the part of wise men, engaged in a great and arduous struggle for liberty? Are we disposed to be of the number of those who, having eyes, see not, and having ears, hear not, the things which so nearly concern their temporal salvation? For my part, whatever anguish of spirit it may cost, I am willing to know the whole truth; to know the worst and to provide for it.

I have but one lamp by which my feet are guided; and that is the lamp of experience. I know of no way of judging of the future but by the past. And judging by the past, I wish to know what there has been in the conduct of the British ministry for the last ten years, to justify those hopes with which gentlemen have been pleased to solace themselves and the House? Is it that insidious smile with which our petition has been lately received? Trust it not, sir; it will prove a snare to your feet. Suffer not yourselves to be betrayed with a kiss. Ask yourselves how this gracious reception of our petition comports with these war-like preparations which cover our waters and darken our land. Are fleets and armies necessary to a work of love and reconciliation? Have we shown ourselves so unwilling to be reconciled, that force must be called in to win back our love? Let us not deceive ourselves, sir. These are the implements of war and subjugation; the last arguments to which kings resort. I ask gentlemen, sir, what means this martial array, if its purpose be not to force us to submission? Can gentlemen assign any other possible motives for it? Has Great Britain any enemy, in this quarter of the world, to call for all this accumulation of navies and armies? No, sir, she has none. They are meant for us; they can be meant for no other. They are sent over to bind and rivet upon us those chains which the British ministry have been so long forging. And what have we to oppose to them? Shall we try argument? Sir, we have been trying that for the last ten years. Have we anything new to offer on the subject? Nothing. We have held the subject up in every light of which it is capable; but it has been all in vain. Shall we resort to entreaty and humble supplication? What terms shall we find which have not been already exhausted? Let us not, I beseech you, sir, deceive ourselves longer. Sir, we have done everything that could be done, to avert the storm which is now coming on. We have petitioned; we have remonstrated; we have supplicated; we have prostrated ourselves before the throne, and have implored its interposition to arrest the tyrannical hands of the ministry and Parliament. Our petitions have been slighted; our remonstrances have produced additional violence and insult; our supplications have been disregarded; and we have been spurned, with contempt, from the foot of the throne. In vain, after these things, may we indulge the fond hope of peace and reconciliation. There is no longer any room for hope. If we wish to be free--if we mean to preserve inviolate those inestimable privileges for which we have been so long contending--if we mean not basely to abandon the noble struggle in which we have been so long engaged, and which we have pledged ourselves never to abandon until the glorious object of our contest shall be obtained, we must fight! I repeat it, sir, we must fight! An appeal to arms and to the God of Hosts is all that is left us!

They tell us, sir, that we are weak; unable to cope with so formidable an adversary. But when shall we be stronger? Will it be the next week, or the next year? Will it be when we are totally disarmed, and when a British guard shall be stationed in every house? Shall we gather strength by irresolution and inaction? Shall we acquire the means of effectual resistance, by lying supinely on our backs, and hugging the delusive phantom of hope, until our enemies shall have bound us hand and foot? Sir, we are not weak, if we make a proper use of the means which the God of nature hath placed in our power. Three millions of people, armed in the holy cause of liberty, and in such a country as that which we possess, are invincible by any force which our enemy can send against us. Besides, sir, we shall not fight our battles alone. There is a just God who presides over the destinies of nations; and who will raise up friends to fight our battles for us. The battle, sir, is not to the strong alone; it is to the vigilant, the active, the brave. Besides, sir, we have no election. If we were base enough to desire it, it is now too late to retire from the contest. There is no retreat, but in submission and slavery! Our chains are forged! Their clanking may be heard on the plains of Boston! The war is inevitable--and let it come! I repeat it, sir, let it come!

It is in vain, sir, to extenuate the matter. Gentlemen may cry peace, peace--but there is no peace. The war is actually begun! The next gale that sweeps from the north will bring to our ears the clash of resounding arms! Our brethren are already in the field! Why stand we here idle? What is it that gentlemen wish? What would they have? Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God! I know not what course others may take; but as for me, give liberty, or give me death!

1963 Wheat Quotas Postponed 30 Days

Acree allotment and marketing quota proclamations for the 1963 wheat crop have been postponed for another 30 days under a special resolution passed by the U. S. Congress.

Prentice Mills, office manager of the Farmer County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, said that the new resolution permits the Secretary of Agriculture to defer until July 15 any proclamations which otherwise would be required on acreage allotments and marketing quotas for the 1963 crop.

The resolution also permits any referendum on marketing quotas for 1963 wheat to be held as late as August 25, 1962. The permanent legislation which authorizes the quota-allotment programs directs that the required proclamations be made by May 15, and that any wheat quota referendum be held not later than July 25. A previous 30-day deferral of the proclamations was authorized in mid-June.

The USDA has announced that barbecued meats prepared under Federal meat inspection will continue to be limited to products cooked by dry heat from burning hardwood or hot coals formed by burning hardwood.

ELLIS, KANSAS, REVIEW: "It's a tough world for the American businessman. Every time he comes up with something new the Russians invent it a week later, and the Japanese make it cheaper."

WITH THE COUNTY AGENT

DERYL COKER

For all practical purposes, wheat harvest is over and a great deal of farmers were disappointed in their yields. From talking with several farmers about yields, I was surprised to find yields running as low as 15 bushels per acre, and highs running 50 to 60 bushel.

The continuing hot dry winds this spring blasted a great number of fields, which will bring our average yield down considerably this year. The Southwestern Great Plains Field Station has harvested the fertilizer rates plots on the Connie O'Brian farm and these results are going to be interesting on a year like this one as compared to the last several good years. The experiment station had 16 different fertilizer rates replicated four times. This should give some very accurate results. These results will be made available to the public as soon as all calculations are figured. Many thanks to Connie O'Brian.

Already several fields of wheat straw have been burned, but it will be to your advantage not to burn this straw, for one of these days our soil will be hard to plow and irrigate because of a low organic matter content. Let's try to at least maintain our present organic matter level.

On June 29 and 30 there will be a Horse Management and Training Short Course held at Texas A & M College. The course will cover nutrient requirements, feeding and rations, disease, parasite control, care of horses, shoeing and several other items. If anyone is interested, come by the office for further information. Also, there will be a sale connected with the short course.

This is the year that the U. S. D. A. is celebrating its 100th Anniversary. Agriculture and the American Farmer have come a long way since 1862. Following is a short article that I thought would be of interest to you.

Downtown, uptown, wherever they work, businessmen and manufacturers depend on the American farmer for a lot more than food. For instance, he supplies over half of all the raw materials used by American industry—wool and cotton, tobacco, wood for newspapers and rocking chairs, hides for shoes and handbags, soybeans for paints and plastics.

Industry also depends on farming for jobs and gets them—16 million nonfarm jobs in all.

As a customer, the farmer is America's biggest buyer of petroleum products. He buys enough tires annually for 6 million cars and spends a sizeable fortune every year on farm machinery. He spends a great deal more on all the things from dry cleaning to TV sets than city people buy too.

And if it weren't for his unmatched productivity (he's only seven percent of the Nation's work force), industry and business would simply not have the manpower needed for them to make their vital contributions to our high standards of living, our strength as a world power.

This dependence works two ways, of course. The farmer couldn't do a single day's work without the active partnership of industry, not only in research and manufacturing, but in providing income for the millions of nonfarm workers he depends on to buy his products.

Naturally, industry and the farmer both benefit. And so do you.

Thrip Infestations Have Caused Some Damage To Cotton

Although rains have greatly improved conditions for growth and fruiting of cotton in most areas, wind and hail damaged or destroyed stands on sizeable acreages in a number of counties. Replanting to cotton will likely continue through June in most localities.

Thrips infestations have increased rapidly in many fields during the past week. Heavy hatching has occurred, particularly in plantings of older cotton. Damage is apparent in many plantings, leaves showing silverying on the under surface as well as abnormal size and shape. Some loss of tiny squares has occurred where infestations are heaviest.

Cotton should be checked frequently for thrips and their damage. As plants reach the squaring stage, plants should also be checked for the presence of fleahoppers.

In Farmer County, thrips have damaged cotton to some extent, but we shouldn't have to be so concerned now, as a month ago. Farmers should continue to check for thrip, however, and heavy infestations should be treated, states County Agent Deryl Coker.

Why Do Cowboys Wear High Heels?

I have always assumed that the high heel was to provide a surer grip on the stirrup and to dig into the earth when the cowboy roped a steer. Those advantages are real, but the most important reason, supplied by a Texas Ranger, is that the high heeled shoe holds the foot in a position that allows it to slip out of the boot if the cowboy is thrown from his horse.

In language almost as colorful as he is, the Ranger told me that if a cowboy wore shoes like mine, and he was thrown from his horse he would be "drugged."

HD Agent's Notes

BY MISS ETTIE MUSIL

In spite of our comparing the cost of living today with that of years ago our food costs are not as high as we seem to think. Yes, there's supposed to be an extra nickel left in your pay-day dollar these days after you buy your food.

This information comes from economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service. They report that the family food bill in the mid-forties was about 25 cents of our take home dollar. Today, they claim that we spend only 20 cents. Our incomes have gone up faster than food prices, they point out.

Ten years ago, for example, an hour's work bought 2.3 pounds of chuck roast. Today, we get 3.3 pounds. In the early postwar years, an hour of work was worth 22 eggs; today, it's worth 43 eggs.

* Guess we don't know when we have it so good, as far as food prices are concerned. Our grocery bill seems high because we have so many extras on the grocery store shelves. Next time you come home from the grocery store, take time to notice all the extras in the grocery bag. You'll find laundry detergents, freezer bags or jars and jar lids, writing paper, hosiery, tee shirts, pencils, records, or a variety of drug store items.

Some of our food costs add up with convenience foods. Instant foods are the first choice of many food shoppers today. Many of our foods are packaged and ready to serve. Of course, we pay for these conveniences. Our time of preparing these foods is of more importance than the extra cost of the packaged foods.

Sometimes we pay for food value that does not reach our table. One of the easiest ways to lose food value is in the cooking process. Storage of foods can be an investment that we sometimes lose if foods spoil before cooking.

Baking, steaming, and cooking vegetables in their skin helps retain food value. When using water, use the smallest amount possible. Begin cooking vegetables in salted water at a high heat, but lower the heat when water and vegetables begin to boil. Be sure to have the water boiling when the vegetables are added to it.

Food value is lost if vegetables are cut in small pieces or are allowed to stand in water before cooking. If water remains after cooking, use this liquid in gravies, sauces, and soups.

Avoid over-cooking. Just cook vegetables until tender. We used to cook cabbage and corn on the cob all morning, but now 8 to 12 minutes is long enough for tender foods. Then serve vegetables as soon as possible after cooking.

With so many fresh vegetables soon to be on the market and in our gardens, you may want to try different ways of preparing them. Come by or write us for the bulletin, "Vegetables" available free upon your asking.

This bulletin includes these appetizing recipes: scalloped green beans, sweet and sour green beans, swiss style green beans, and green beans with hot mustard sauce. Okra gumbo or fried okra are both delicious. Maybe you would like to try potato fluff, potatoes napoli, potato cakes, or parmesan potato sticks. To change your squash meals try preparing stuffed patty pan squash, chicken-baked squash, squash and onions, Mexican squash, squash squares in sour cream, and squash rings with peas.

All of these recipes are tried and tested.

NEWS FROM THE

FARM BUREAU

BY RAYMOND EULER

"A number of county Farm Bureau leaders in Texas have reported that their Congressmen have informed them that they cannot vote against the Administration's Omnibus Farm Bill without losing a large part of federal moneys spent in their district. Leaders should surely remind these Congressmen that if the United States Government is going to be run by people who are controlled by threats and/or economic favors, then the United States has already abandoned its traditional system of government." This is a quote from Bill Wedemeir who edits Facts For You for Texas Farm Bureau.

President J. H. West of Texas Farm Bureau, in congratulating members in their successful fight against the above mentioned farm bill, now urges them to express appreciation to those representatives who had the courage to vote against it. He also urges Farm Bureau members to urge strong support to the Farm Bureau bill and get it out of the House Committee. This, he says, would be the surest way of preventing a future successful effort to ensnare farmers with the bill that was just defeated, even after many concessions made in the effort to make it acceptable.

Farm Bureau people are interested in freedom and prosperity for the United States farmer. Freedom, although it sounds a little old fashioned to some people, is the only thing that makes prosperity possible, so it comes first. Witness prosperity in this country in comparison to any country that has embarked upon a program of government control of farm and industry management.

"To speak of victory in the Cold War with Russia is impermissible. Such talk has a militaristic and aggressive ring. It implies an all-or-nothing approach which leaves no room for accommodation with the Soviet Union." This is the official statement of American policy filed by the State Department with a special Senate subcommittee.

It was filed in defense of censorship procedures against military leaders deemed too forceful in their anti-Communist speeches. Here is another paragraph from the same statement, filed by your State Department: "Such objects as the slavery of captive peoples in the Soviet satellite system must be avoided. Nor must such adjectives as 'brutal' be applied to the Soviet government." Does this sound like the voice of America to you?

Farm Bureau directors will meet Monday night, July 2, at about 8:30. You are welcome. CONSIDER THIS: Wilt thou set thine eyes upon that which is not? For riches certainly make themselves wings; they fly away as an eagle toward Heaven.

Girls Attend YWA Camp At Ridgecrest

The highlight of a lifetime, say Vicki Moss and Sherri Austin of their recent trip to Ridgecrest, North Carolina where they attended the Ridgecrest YWA camp for Baptist girls.

Leaving Farwell June 12, the girls traveled by car to Dallas where they boarded a special train filled with approximately 230 Texas girls who were going to the camp. At Ridgecrest they were joined by 1,970 other girls from all parts of the United States as well as several foreign countries.

Theme for the ten day camp was "To Make Christ Known." The girls heard talks by missionaries from Japan, Brazil, Italy, Chili, and two native missionaries from Nigeria.

The local girls chose Dr. Donald Brandeis, a converted Jew who lives in Dekater, Geo., as the most interesting speaker they heard. He is serving on the president's committee to study narcotics and alcohol, having been appointed by former President Eisenhower.

Dr. Brandeis related his life story and told how as a boy he was not permitted to read the Bible and had studied for eight years to become a Rabbi when he won a Bible as a prize in a contest and decided to read a portion of it. He immediately believed it's teachings and was converted to the Christian way of life. He also spoke on alcoholism stating that alcoholism is the No. 1 disease in the United States, even greater than heart disease.

The girls saw six new missionaries commissioned to the foreign fields with a couple sent to Nigeria, a couple to Southern Rhodesia, one to France and one to Japan.

The Texas delegation won the athletic award for their ability in all sports.

The two local girls say "Any girl would be spending her time and money wisely if she would plan now to attend the camp, it is the most inspiring thing we have ever attended."
