SIXTY-EIGHTH YEAR

Issue Revenue Bond --

City Of Texico To Build New Fire Station

by Allan Blanchard
News Editor

Texico City Commission voted to issue a gross receipts tax revenue bond to Farmers Home Administration (FHA), during a special meeting on December 26, to serve as surety for an $80,000 loan the city has requested from FHA for the purpose of erecting a new fire department building.

The city's revenue bond guarantees repayment of the $80,000 to FHA should Texico fail to repay the loan. However, the loan will be paid back from funds that are allotted to the Texico Volunteer Fire Department yearly by the state of New Mexico, according to Commissioner Marie Christian.

New Mexico is unique in that it allots funds to the fire departments in each of its cities on an annual basis.

The original date for construction of the new fire department to begin was January 1, 1980, but it will be later than that as the bond had not been sent off to FHA as of Friday, Dec. 28.

The new station will be located at the corner of Hereford and Turner on land owned by the fire department in the Heberd Smith addition, block six and lots 11 through 16. It is located behind the vacant gas station at the corner of Wheeler and Turner.

The station will have four bays for housing fire department vehicles as well as a meeting hall and kitchen. A trailer has been purchased for the fire department's dispatcher to live in.

The Texico Volunteer Fire Department currently has two fire trucks, a rescue van, a rescue wagon and one tanker truck.

Texico will probably begin advertising for bids on the fire department building around the middle of January. Larry Abrams, a representative for FHA, said.

After the bond proceedings are sent to FHA then they'll order the money ($80,000). It'll take two to three weeks to receive the money after it has been ordered by the FHA, according to Harry Patton, Texico city attorney.

"The first payment will be due January 1981," he added.

"The fire department already has the first payment in the form of certificates of deposit," Mrs. Christian said. "Do you think that they'd (the FHA) loan money for us to purchase a fire truck?" Commissioner Lewis Cooper asked.

"We'll ask FHA to see," Patton said.

"When can the city advertise on bids to build the project?" Cooper asked. "I don't see why you can't advertise right now," Patton said.

The Tribune learned that as of Friday, Dec. 28, that the city had not begun to advertise for bids.

"This fire station will be the first in New Mexico to have been built with FHA funds," Mrs. Christian said. "It's been a year getting to this point as we field a preapplication in February 1978."

In other business discussed at the city commission meeting, the commissioners voted to pass a resolution supporting Emergency Medical Service (EMS) and to submit an application to EMS for funds to purchase equipment for the fire department. The request asks for a sum of $19,799.80 from EMS with Texico matching that with 25 percent of $5,019.95. The $5,019.95 is made up of $500 in cash with the rest in kind (or provided by personnel time).

The breakdown of specific equipment and the amount is as follows:

One trauma unit - $350; a Jaws rescue tool - $7,000; two ambulance stretchers - $2,000; one set of backboards - $250; floodlights - $1,200; two two-way radios - $1,000; a base station - $700; a used vehicle - $1,700; and 18 papers and chargers - $5,599.80.

The meeting concluded with discussion on the city's trash trailer which Commissioner Doshier said had a weakened frame and needed to be repaired. It was decided by the commissioners to have Doshier repair the trailer at Twin City Machine Works.

Those present at the meeting included commissioners Vane Doshier, Lewis Cooper, Bill Thigpen and Marie Christian. Absent was Mayor Manfred E. Turnbough.

Iranian Crisis --

Texico Commission Passes Resolution

Texico City Commission passed a resolution with regard to the Iranian crisis at a special meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 26. Copies of the resolution will be mailed to the President of the United States, the U.S. State Department and the Iranian Embassy.

The resolution in its entirety is as follows:

A resolution of the Texico

City Commission by its members all of whom are elected officials of this incorporated city of the state of New Mexico who, by this resolution support the president of the United States and the United States State Department in their actions taken during the past several weeks on the Iranian crisis.

Whereas, the Iranian government has condoned the actions of Iranian terrorists in the taking control of and occupying the United States Embassy in Tehran and holding American hostages with the threat of violence hanging over their heads; And whereas President Carter and the United States

State Department have been persistent in demanding the release of all hostages before any negotiations are commenced;

And whereas President Carter has:

1. Explored all diplomatic channels for an early and orderly resolution;
2. And prohibited the import of Iranian oil;
3. And screened and taken necessary action in deporting all illegal Iranians within the United States;
4. And attached all Iranian assets located within the United States;
5. And made it clear that the

Area Cotton Harvest About 90% Complete

Cotton harvest is about 90 percent complete while the cotton gins are backed up some in Parmer County, said Prentice L. Mills, county executive director for Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

"If the weather clears off, cotton harvest should be completed by February 1, with the gins finishing up sometime in February," he said.

"The cotton in Parmer County has been spotted due to the hail storms received. There were 10 storms which is not unusual for an average year," Mills said.

"We'll be getting production (actual yields) figures in from the cotton farmers in Parmer County sometime this spring," he said.

AROUND THE TWIN CITIES

Farwell School Board will meet Monday, Jan. 7, at 8 p.m. (CST) in the superintendent's office.

Texico School Board will meet Tuesday, Jan. 8, at 7 p.m. (MST).

Texico City Council will meet Tuesday, Jan. 8, at 6:30 p.m. (MST) in the City Hall.

Farmers Give Input On Legislation

One of three input sessions held nationwide was conducted in Lubbock on Saturday, Dec. 30. It was sponsored by the U.S. House of Representatives Cotton Subcommittee in an effort to solicit suggestions that cotton farmers across the United States feel should be included in federal farm programs in the future.

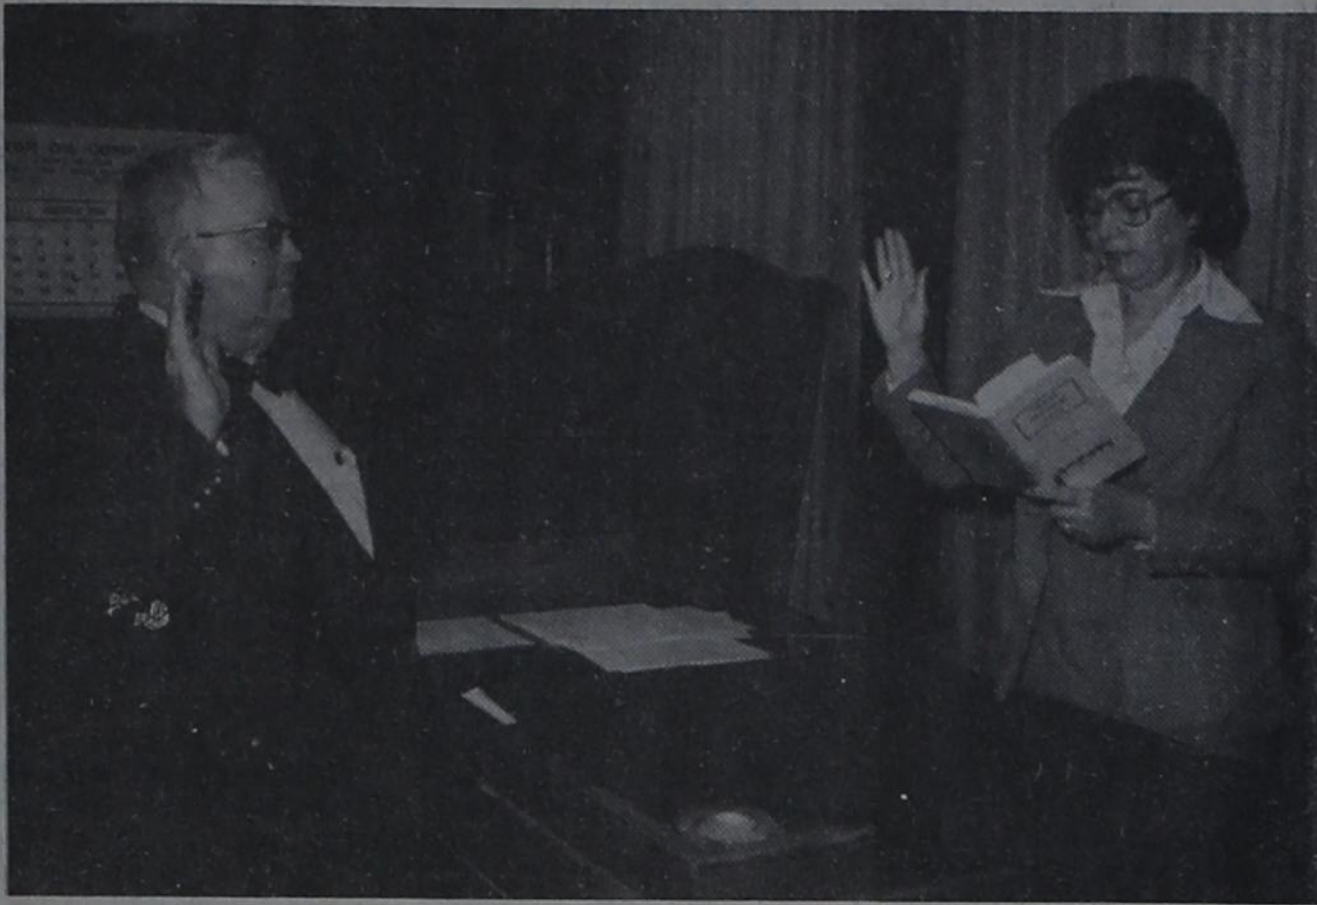

Mrs. June Saylor, state president for Women Involved in Farm Economics (WIFE), attended the meeting in Lubbock. The other two meetings were held in Greenville, Miss., and in Fresno, Calif. The three meeting places were separated in this manner so that cotton farmers would have one within driving distance.

During the course of the Lubbock meeting, several major suggestions were put forth by cotton producers. They are as follows:

1. To make the loan rate higher, at least to cover the cost of production.
2. To institute a mandatory 10 percent set aside program for cotton farmers.
3. Change the base mark from 3.5-4.9 to 3.0-4.9.
4. Administer the cotton program on a regional basis rather than on a national basis.
5. Raise the target price and figure it on a regional basis.
6. Don't drop disaster payments until a workable federal crop insurance program is in force.

According to Mrs. Saylor, a bill encompassing some of these points has passed the full House Agricultural Committee and is now pending further action by the rules committee.

New Parmer County Judge

Porter Roberts, left, of Friona was officially sworn in as Parmer County judge on Wednesday, Jan. 2, by Bonnie Warren, county clerk. Roberts was appointed as interim judge on December 10 by the Parmer County Commissioners Court and began his duties after taking the oath of office. Paul Fortenberry had previously submitted his resignation as county judge, effective December 31, 1979.

E.N.M.R. --

Telephone Cooperative Waiting On Paperwork

The only thing holding up Eastern New Mexico Rural Telephone Cooperative (E.N.M.R.) from purchasing the existing telephone equipment in Farwell from Mountain Bell is some paperwork, according to Robert Harris, E.N.M.R. Telephone Cooperative representative.

"The board of directors (E.N.M.R.) at their last meeting went ahead and gave their approval to order a DMS 10 digital switch," Harris said. "It will cost $363,020 and the shipping date is May 1, 1980.

They went ahead and ordered the unit before receiving approval to purchase the Farwell system from Mountain Bell.

"The digital switch will provide such services as call waiting, call forwarding and conference call. All the information pertinent to the sale has been sent to the Texas Public Utility Commission and REA, whose approval will let us go ahead with the sale," he said.

"After we receive interim approval to proceed with the sale we'll start looking for a lot in Farwell and then let bids to qualified, bondable bidders to construct a building to house the telephone equipment," Harris explained.

"We estimate that at the rates today this building will cost around $60,000. It won't have any windows because dust is detrimental to the expensive equipment. The temperature will be maintained at a certain level because it is very critical to the performance of the electronic equipment," he said.

"We were looking at an underground building as a possibility but problems encountered with seepage and leakage of moisture into this type of structure has turned us off to the idea for now," Harris said.

Harris told the Tribune that some men would be surveying the area in the near future, perhaps using binoculars and that local residents should not be alarmed. Hicks and Ragland is the engineering firm that E.N.M.R. has employed.

He added that area residents' telephone bills would remain the same when the sale was completed with Mountain Bell, and that for a majority of telephone customers there would be a decrease in installation charges.

More Vandalism Occurs In City

Farwell experienced several acts of vandalism and one gasoline skip during the past week, according to Sheriff Charles Lovelace.

On Sunday, Dec. 30, Rose Drug, Haney's Swap Shop, Farwell Hardware, Lunsford Auto Parts, Venture Food and the Dairy Queen all were vandalized. Sheriff's reports indicate that someone threw rocks through the windows of these businesses. Damage was estimated to be between $400 and $500.

Sheriff Lovelace said that he encourages anyone with information concerning the vandalism to contact him at 481-3303. He added that the caller would not have to give his or her name.

On Thursday, Dec. 27, a spokesman for McKillip Dragline Service reported the theft of some gasoline from one of the station's pumps. Reports indicate that someone cut a padlock on the gas pump with a pair of bolt cutters and stole 17 gallons of gasoline.

On Friday, Dec. 21, the sheriff's office received a call on a disturbance at the country club in Farwell. Six juvenile boys from Clovis were apprehended for having vandalized two pickup trucks and a bag of golf clubs, according to Sheriff Lovelace.

A hearing was held Monday, Dec. 31, and the juveniles were ordered to report to the county judge's office and the sheriff's office once a month for a year, in addition to paying for the damages, Lovelace said. Restitution was made for the damage caused, he added.

Ponders New Decade

W.W. "Wren" Vinyard, one of Farwell's eldest citizens at a ripe 98 years, reflects on the past as he ponders the beginning of another decade. Mr. Vinyard, who will be 99 on the 27th of this month, has resided at Farwell Convalescent Center the past few years, but is still able to be up and around and enjoys riding around town, going for coffee, and making daily trips to his home on Third Street.

PURELY PERSONAL
by John

We have closed out another year and are beginning on not only a new year but a new decade. It's a sad commentary on our national leadership, but we feel that the outlook for the eighties is considerably less rosy than for any decade we can recall. To us, at least, it means that a reassessment of our national philosophy is called for.

The attempts of the last 30 to 40 years to throw money at our problems as a national cure-all must cease. First and foremost we must realize that our government cannot be all things to all men and all nations. People and countries alike must help themselves. The individual as well as the nation must be held accountable for their actions.

We must halt the ravages of inflation. This must start with the individual. We must realize that what we as an individual produce must pay our wage and also make a profit. We as persons must understand that we cannot continue to take more than we produce. The people must realize that to pass a law picking somebody else's pocket for our benefit only leads to higher prices and bigger deficits. Personal thrift and individual productivity is the only road out of the inflation morass.

Nations must also be assessed on the basis of their willingness to help themselves and the United States. Massive grants of foreign aid must cease unless the country receiving such help from the United States makes positive political and economic steps to help themselves and also this country.

Our politicians must be pragmatic enough to put the national interest of the United States first in all matters. This probably means throwing out two thirds of the highbinders currently ensconced in Washington.

As has been said before, "the past is prologue" and to view the future we must understand the failures of the past. The failures of the policies of the past three decades must be understood and rectified if the next decade is to see a preservation of our form of government and economic system.

The mayor of Houston has been credited with the remark that everybody wanted the garbage picked up but nobody wanted it put down. The residents of Congressman Kent Hance's district have exhibited the same brand of confused thinking. His latest poll of the voters in the 19th Congressional district shows that 75% of the people want more nuclear power plants but 60% of them are against storing nuclear waste in West Texas or Eastern New Mexico???????

All of us have heard about the modern art picture that hung upside down for a year before the error was discovered. We have another tale of the complexities of understanding impressionistic art.

According to our information an enterprising young artist took a series of canvasses and hung them under the roosts of his neighbor's hen house. After drying sufficiently he framed same and titled them Audubon's Oversight No. 1, 2 etc. The art critics raved over them and celebrities paid high prices to buy them. In fact, the artist purchased a large estate with the proceeds; however, next year his elephant series was a flop. The art critics said his show stank.

A vast hush fell across the High Plains last Sunday afternoon. America's team that lived by the two minute drill died by the two minute drill. As Doug Cole reportedly remarked, "we let the big play get away from us."

True, they did let the bomb sink them, but poor play calling had more than a tad to

Back To School

Many local students like Shelly Ford, an eighth grade student at Farwell Junior High, have enjoyed the warmth and merriment associated with the Christmas season, but are beginning to count the days left before they go back to school. She points to the day, January 7, that school resumes for Farwell students. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Ford.

For The New Year --
Local Residents Share Hopes, Goals

New Year's Day means various things - resolutions, parties and fresh starts to name a few - to many people. It is that magic time of the year when the old and young alike sit down to reevaluate the past year's activities and accomplishments and to set fresh, new goals for themselves.

Several local residents shared some of their resolutions for the year 1980 with the Tribune recently during a telephone survey. Their responses were as follows:

"If things work out I'm planning to become a therapist in the mental health field. To do so I'll need to attend college in Clovis," said Ruth Adkins of Texico.

"I'd like to have our football team win the district championship next year. I would also like to have a more successful athletic program," said Randy Adrian of Farwell said.

"My New Year's resolution for 1980 would be that there would be peace in the world and that there would not be so much disease," Peggy Holland of Texico said.

"I would like to see more peace in the world. Also, I would like to be a better mother to my kids and to have more patience," said Janie Ortiz of Farwell.

"Our resolution is to enjoy the trip to London we'll be taking this summer. We're excited about going," said Mrs. Donald Mason of Farwell.

"I just hope to do better in 1980," Mrs. John Hightower of Texico said.

Of all the people polled by telephone several said they had not given much thought to formulating resolutions for the upcoming new year. Many cited 1979 as a very busy and productive year.

"I want to try to be kind to every person I meet and to make them happy," said Maudie Primrose of Oklahoma Lane.

"I just want to be good," said both Ruby Billingsly and Zula Rundell of Oklahoma Lane.

"I want to throw away more stuff and stop collecting so many things," said Mary Jean Patrick of Farwell.

 Iranian government will be held responsible if any of the hostages are harmed.

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Texico City Commission:

1. That we, the members of the Texico City Commission, do hereby commend and support the actions taken by our President and our State Department and encourage them to continue to do whatever is necessary to insure the release of all hostages unharmed; and further, to make it very clear to the Iranian officials that if any harm comes to the hostages, all appropriate and necessary action will be taken to make them accountable to all Americans.

2. That all incorporated cities of the state of New Mexico be invited to demonstrate their support of our country in this crisis by resolution or petition.

3. That the Texico City Commission notify the President of the United States, the United States State Department and the Iranian Embassy of this action.

The resolution was signed by Mayor Manfred E. Turnbough and commissioners Bill Thigpen, Lewis Cooper, Vane Doshier and Marie Christian.

 do with the Cowboys' untimely ouster. George Allen in the press box told Tom Landry all afternoon how to win the game and Tom didn't listen.

George said run at the seven man pass defense, Tom didn't. George said rush four men on the passer instead of three. Tom didn't. As a consequence the Rams did and our Cowboys must await next year.

It just goes to prove the old adage, even Tom Landry puts his pants on one leg at a time.

Fun In The Sun

New Year's Eve was a warm, sunny day and several local youngsters took advantage of the pleasant weather for a rowdy game of football in Farwell City Park. Beferendum --

Beef Producers To Vote On Research Program

Local beef producers will be joining producers nationwide when they go to the polls in February 1980 to vote on whether or not they want a nationally coordinated beef research and information program.

The upcoming referendum was announced recently by Assistant Secretary of Agriculture P.R. Smith. Voter registration by beef producers will take place between January 28 and February 6.

Husbands and wives can both register to vote at their nearest Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS). The one in Farwell is located at 114 Ninth Street, Prentice Mills is the ASCS county executive director.

Actual voting will take place between February 19-22 and will be by secret ballot.

The order issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture authorizing the program provides for a beef board of up to 68 producers to administer the program. There would be as many as five non-voting consumer advisors to the board.

Each state or geographic area would be represented on the board in proportion to its share of the U.S. cattle industry.

The program would operate as follows: It would be funded by assessments based on the value of cattle sold. During the first two years of the program, assessments could be up to two-tenths of one percent of the value of cattle sold (20 cents per $100).

Then after two years has lapsed, the board would have the option of recommending an increase of up to a half of one percent.

Consequently all sellers in the marketing chain would be assessed. The buyer at the point of slaughter would deduct the total assessment and forward it to the board. Any producer could request and receive a refund of the assessment paid.

Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of the department's Agricultural and Conservation Service, said his agency will conduct the referendum. The department's Agricultural Marketing Service would monitor the program.

Rules for registering and voting in referendums have changed. The department determined that 10 days (eight working days) would be sufficient enough for all producers to register and that the four-day voting period would result in a more efficient voting procedure and reduce administrative costs, Fitzgerald said.

A similar order, issued in 1977, although favored by 56.4 percent of voting producers, did not receive the required two-thirds approval. Since then the Beef Research and Information Act has been amended by Congress so that a majority of producers will be sufficient for approval of the order.

Following the change in legislation, beef industry organizations proposed a new order. A public hearing has been held in five locations. Based on the hearing testimony, the department issued a recommended decision and order in September.

Comments were accepted for 45 days and were considered in developing the order announced recently for the upcoming referendum.

Producers may register and vote at local ASCS offices. Registration and voting can be completed by mail if information and ballots are requested in advance.

The order and notice of referendum is scheduled for publication in the Federal Register December 14.

Copies of the order can be obtained from the Livestock, Poultry, Grain and Seed Division, AMS, Room 2610-S, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Referendum rules can be obtained from local ASCS offices or from the Emergency and Indemnity Programs Division, ASCS, Room 4095-S, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

FIRE CALLS

All was peaceful in the Twin Cities this past week except for a false alarm.

Texico Volunteer Fire Department responded to a call about an alleged barn fire located eight miles north of Texico on December 28.

Reports indicate that there was no fire at the location. The dispatcher at Texico said that all phone calls to the fire department are being taped in an effort to prevent prank calls.

was used for a whistle and hit my cousin in the eye. I ran away from home after that happened," he added.

"I was nine or 10 years old at the time I ran away and stayed with some Comanche Indians for three or four months. They taught me to rope, ride a horse, make and shoot a bow and arrow and how to use a sling," Lopez explained.

"I could throw a rock with the sling a full mile away," he boasted.

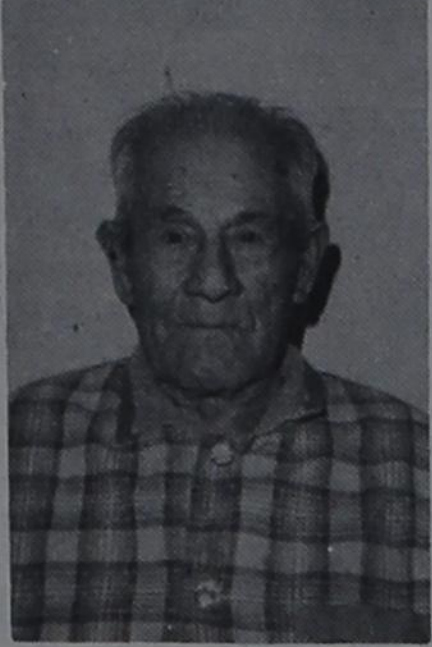

"In fact, several years later I stayed with a group of Indians and Spaniards deep in a forest in Mexico. While there a tiger came towards the camp's livestock and I killed it with a sling," he said digressing somewhat.

"I killed rattlesnakes mainly with my sling while with the Comanches," he said.

"While there I drank what I think was donkey milk. In order to cook their meat the Indians would dig a hole in the ground, fill it with wood and build a hot fire. Then they would wrap the meat in some hide, stick it in the fire and leave it there to cook overnight. The meat was from wild pigs they killed and it tasted just like barbecued meat," Lopez said.

"I tried to prevent him from doing it and he then tried to whip me with his whip. I grabbed an animal horn that

Matias Lopez

People often resort to reading novels or watching television to learn and profit from the experience of those people older and wiser than themselves. A person has to look no farther than his own community to find a person who has seen and experienced much. Such is the case with the Farwell-Tejico area and Matias Lopez, Convalescent Center resident, who willingly shares the wealth of almost a century of living.

by using sign language," he said.

"I had to crawl on all fours like a dog to go inside the tepee where I slept. I was staying with this tribe in the winter time and kept warm by digging a hole in the ground inside the tepee to make a fire," Lopez said.

"From time to time the Indians would set big rocks in a certain place with figures carved on them. They would kneel with their heads touching the ground and pray. I don't know what they prayed because they spoke in their own language," he indicated.

After Lopez had been with this tribe for three or four months his uncle came looking for him.

"When I saw him coming I hid beneath the skirts of an Indian woman. The tribe's chief told my uncle that I wasn't there, but my uncle saw my feet sticking out from underneath her skirts and he took me back home. He didn't beat me though," he said.

From here Lopez' narrative skipped ahead to when he began working on the railroads at age 14.

"My job was driving spikes. I can remember the boss wanted to fire me because he thought I was too young. The foreman stood up for me and told the boss he would quit if I was fired. The foreman told him that I was one of his best workers and so I wasn't fired," Lopez said.

"I would work 10 hours a day, six days a week," he added.

Lopez' family also led an adventurous life. His father, Victor Lopez, and his grandfather, Tio Dosa Lopez, were both scouts for wagon trains in the 1800's. His grandmother was Indian while his grandfather was a Spaniard.

Later on while in his late 20's or early 30's Lopez joined the army during World War I for a two-year hitch.

"I worked on the boats that carried supplies to our soldiers overseas, but became sick and quit that job. For a while I was foreman over several carpenters who built buildings and store houses," he said.

"I can remember when I was on guard duty over some prisoners in the United States. I would always tell them (the prisoners) not to escape or I would have to shoot them," he said.

"Some of the other guards mistreated the prisoners, but I tried to treat them right," Lopez mentioned.

"I used to let them (the prisoners) play cards, and throw dice and when another guard would come near I'd whistle and they would hide the dice and cards. They liked me a lot," he said.

"My starting pay in the army was $30 per month, but later on I got as much as $100 per month," Lopez added.

On The Farm
In Parmer County

Corn producers in Parmer County should consider "winterizing their fields."

Area-wide stalk destruction through practices such as double discing, chiseling, and deep breaking destroy the plant crown, thereby increasing overwintering mortality of the Southwestern corn borer larvae.

If soil erosion could be a problem, simply shredding stalks at the soil surface would disrupt and expose the larvae to the harsh weather.

If stalks are being grazed, try to remove cattle prior to February 1 and then destroy stalks.

If this is not feasible, deep breaking may prove to be the best practice. This turns the crown under several inches of soil making emergence very difficult for the moths.

High Plains Water District Has Technical Advisory Meet

A brainstorming session at the High Plains Water District recently, among six local agencies and institutes involved in water related research and services, struck a cooperative chord.

The informal technical advisory meeting brought together vested water interests from Texas Tech, including the College of Agriculture and the Water Resources Center; the USDA Soil Conservation Service, the Texas Agriculture Experiment Station and the Texas Department of Water Resources to offer technical advice and critical review of the Water District's current activities and programs.

The District's Manager, A. Wayne Wyatt, explained the District's current activities with a number of Board directives in mind. He explained that the Water District's Board of Directors were, first of all, eager to inform these agencies, departments and institutions of current Water District programs and activities.

The Board also hoped to identify areas for promotion cooperative programs and services where similar needs existed, and further, to avoid unnecessary duplication of efforts. Also, Wyatt noted that the Water District's Board of Directors was seeking technical advice and counsel from these individuals to make sure the District's work activities are worthwhile and timely.

Wyatt explained, "The Board desired to examine the best possible use of the District's resources and personnel in working with other water related groups. The Board and staff needed their counsel to determine if this could be best achieved by supporting a research effort through supplying sorely needed equipment, jointly participating in studies, or acting as a distribution outlet to provide information and education."

The general consensus of the committee, echoed by each of the technical review members, complimented the Water District for its flexibility, scope of programs, good communications and current cooperative involvement with the other agencies.

Dr. Bill Lyle, Texas Agriculture Experiment Station, cited examples where equipment which the District had provided for use by the Experiment Station had made the difference in getting key water data otherwise out of reach.

Soil Conservation Service Area Conservationist, Mickey Black, explained the payoffs beginning to surface from the joint SCS-Water District on-farm irrigation efficiency test program with the Field Water Conservation Lab. "It's created interest by local farmers, who are now more aware of what's available, how they can get their hands on it and use it; and in local county commissioners' courts, some of which are considering expending funds to purchase equipment for on-farm analysis."

Black described another spin-off from the joint efficiency evaluations of irrigation systems. "Farmers are going back to the companies from which they originally purchased sprinkler systems and other farm equipment for further explanation and evaluation. The companies are going back to their installation in some cases and back to the drawing board in others. Also, the rural electric cooperatives and utilities are getting involved," said Black.

Then came the suggestions for future Water District activities, invited by a quip from Wayne Wyatt, "there's always a better way to do things, and the job ahead is bigger than all of us."

Water Resources Center Director, Bob Sweazy, mentioned a potential avenue for cooperation to improve efforts to secure research funds coming out of the Office of Water Research Technology in support of relevant water research.

A point that became apparent as the meeting progressed was the need for a broader balance of principle water users against technical expertise. That will come with future meetings as the District develops a nucleus of advisors with the expertise and experience to direct or redirect future Water District programs.

Holiday Visits And Visitors

Texico traveled to Aurora, Colo., for the holidays to visit with her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Williamson, Jackie and Steve. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R.R. Williamson, of Lubbock, flew up to join them.

Enroute to Colorado, the Wests visited in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward West, of Logan.

Kay reports that they had a great time, even if there was snow everywhere and that they enjoyed playing in the snow and staying in the house trying to keep warm.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Spearman of Texico were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cook of Denver. They arrived the day after Christmas and returned to their Denver home December 30.

Visitors in the Texico home of Aileen Teel were her daughters and families, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Glenn, Jeff, Kathleen and Al of Del Rio, Tx., and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Usrey, Mark and Steve of Portales; her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Teel, Kyle and Jennifer of Roswell; and her mother, Mrs. Dovie Brunson of Portales.

Aileen reported that she and her family celebrated their Christmas a few days early, on the weekend, and that she then spent Christmas Day at the Usrey's home in Portales.

Gary Green of Harlingen, visited during the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Green of Farwell. Also visiting in the Greens' home was another son, Dwight, of Snyder.

The Mike Camps traveled to Ballinger on the Sunday before Christmas to visit with his grandmother and eight aunts and uncles and their families.

After returning to their Farwell home, they enjoyed Christmas Eve with her mother, Mrs. Emma Wilhite, and her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Delton Wilhite, Lonnie Paul and Dustin as guests in their home.

On Christmas Day they enjoyed visiting with Mike's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Camp, and his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Camp, Stacia, Jeff and Justin, all of Lubbock.

Three of the Buster Gasts' grandsons paid a short visit to their grandparents this last weekend. Visiting were Rick, Mike and Robbie Vashaw of Denver, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Stancell visited with all of their children over the Christmas holidays, including Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Stancell and family of Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Stancell and family of West Camp Community, and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Taylor and family of St. Louis, Mo.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Stewart and children in Farwell during the holidays were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hensley of Montana. Joining the group Christmas Eve were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Stewart and Sharla of Farwell.

Visiting with the Smokey Gasts in Farwell were their children and families, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Walker, Jana and Jodi of Vega and Mr. and Mrs. Kent Gast of Farwell.

Jana and Jodi remained with their grandparents until New Year's Day when the Gasts returned them to Vega.

Visiting with the Bill Bolings were their daughter, Terri from Victoria, and Cheryl from Walcott, their son, John, of Weatherford, Okla., and Mrs. Boling's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Jones and Ann from Ft. Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Vinton and Robin of Farwell had both of the other Vinton daughters home over the holidays. Vicki is a student at San Angelo and Carol is a student in Huntsville. Also visiting the Vintons were Mrs. Vinton's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kirkland and Pam from Missouri.

The James McDormans of Farwell had Christmas Eve at their home with their children and families, Mr. and Mrs. Larry McDorman, Larry Jr. and Gaylon; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hardage; Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Hardage, Blaze and Dustin; and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hardage.

The group enjoyed Christmas dinner at the Gene Hardage home on Christmas Day and all enjoyed a good old-fashioned family Christmas.

Unable to attend was the McDormans son, Glyn, and family but they did get to talk to them via telephone. The McDormans' grandson, Ira James, had eye surgery the day after Christmas but Mrs. McDorman reports that all is well and that he is now home recuperating.

The T.J. Kittrells of Farwell celebrated Christmas in their home on the weekend prior to Christmas Day with their children and families, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Halmon of San Angelo and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Kittrell and Lindsay of Farwell.

The group then went to Ruidoso and stayed Monday, Tuesday and returned Wednesday. They all enjoyed the beauty of the mountains and the relaxation.

Terry and Chip Craft of Lubbock spent the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Craft of Farwell. The Crafts spent the Saturday before Christmas at her brother's home, Mr. and Mrs. Buster Kittrell, of Muleshoe. They spent Christmas Day at the Truman Kittrell home in Texico.

Larry, Brenda, Amy Jo and Richie Gulley spent Christmas Eve night and Christmas Day with Brenda's mother, Alta Mae Ellis, of Farwell. Also present was a daughter, Janet Ellis, of Muleshoe. They enjoyed a family Christmas and Santa brought the traditional toys to Grandma's house.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Pitts of Bridgeport, Tex., were in Farwell during the holidays to spend Christmas with her children and families, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Castleberry, James, Lezie and Lance, and Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Eubank, Alan, Gina, Ronda and D'Lynn. On Christmas Eve and Christmas Day the families were together at the Castleberry home for the traditional gift exchange and Christmas dinner.

On December 26 the Castleberrys celebrated Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Castleberry and his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Whitson and daughters who were here from College Station.

50 Family Members Help Fosters Celebrate 59th

Hospital Notes

Fifty children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren were present at the W.N. Foster home in Farwell to help them celebrate their 59th wedding anniversary on Wednesday, Dec. 26.

Family members also had their Christmas gift exchange on the anniversary date, as they do each year.

Children present, along with all of their families, were Georgia Foster of Farwell,

B.J. and Cindy Foster of Lubbock, George and Barbara Trimble of Texico, Nicky and Caroline Foster of DeKalb, and Jerry and Marcia Bell of Clovis. Another daughter and husband, Jack and Ernestine Feagan of Kansas were unable to be present, but plan a visit here soon.

Mr. and Mrs. W.N. Foster spent Christmas Day in the home of their daughter and family, the Jerry Bells, in Clovis. Also present were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Bell of Clovis.

Nash Wheatley, son of Joyce Wheatley and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. A.T. Watts, of Farwell, had surgery Thursday, Dec. 27. He is reportedly doing fine and is at the home of his grandparents for another week of recuperation.

J.E. (Ed) Hardage has returned home after being a patient in Clovis High Plains Hospital. He came home December 28, and is reported to be doing well.

A period of recuperation will be necessary, but his daughter-in-law, Mona, reports that he is glad to be home.

Son Born To Farwell Couple

Mr. and Mrs. David Garth Phelps of Farwell are parents of their first child, a son, born Sunday, Dec. 23.

The new arrival, who weighed nine pounds, two ounces, has been named Jaren David.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Coburn, Jr., of Farwell and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Don M. Phelps of Friona.

Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Coburn Sr., of Farwell and Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Phelps of Monitou, Okla.

Local Student Earns Degree

Bruce Kaltwasser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Kaltwasser of Rt. 1, Farwell, received the Bachelor of Arts degree from Concordia College, Seward, Neb., at graduation ceremonies December 15.

BRUCE KALTWASSER

The commencement address was delivered by Dr. Gene Oetting, Associate Professor of Education at Concordia College, Seward. Fifty-one graduates received degrees and/or diplomas during the ceremonies.

Kaltwasser plans to attend Concordia Seminary in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Concordia College is a four-year, co-educational college in its 85th year of preparing professional workers for the Lutheran Church. In addition to the Bachelor of Science and Master's degree programs in education, Concordia offers the Bachelor of Arts degree in several academic areas, a growing social work program, and pre-professional preparation in medicine, nursing, pharmacy, dentistry, medical technology and law.

From the TAP Kitchen

TEXAS STUFFED CHICKEN BREASTS

- 1/4 C. celery, diced
- 1/4 C. green onion, diced
- 1 1/2 C. butter (divided)
- 1 C. boiling water or chicken broth
- 4 C. dried cornbread mix (crumb type)
- 1 egg, beaten
- 3 whole chicken breasts, split and boned (with skin)
- 1/2 C. soy sauce
- 2 T. Worcestershire sauce

Saute celery and green onion in 1/2 cup butter. Combine green onion, celery, sauteeing butter, water, egg and dried cornbread mix in mixing bowl. Carefully lift skin from flesh of chicken, leaving skin attached at longest side. Place about 3 tablespoons stuffing mix in pocket formed between flesh and skin of each piece. Secure skin in place with toothpick. Place in 1 1/2-quart utility dish. In a saucepan, heat soy sauce, Worcestershire sauce, and 1 cup butter. Baste chicken with half this sauce. Bake for 15 minutes in a 325 degrees F. oven. Baste chicken with remaining sauce. Bake another 15 minutes or until brown and still moist. Serves 6.

MICROWAVE INSTRUCTIONS:

Saute celery, green onion and 1/2 cup butter in small glass bowl for about 3 minutes on high. Combine vegetables, sauteeing butter, stuffing mix, egg and water in a mixing bowl. Carefully lift skin from flesh of chicken, leaving skin attached at longest side. Place about 3 tablespoons stuffing mix in pocket formed by flesh and skin. Secure with toothpicks. Place breasts skin side down in 1 1/2-quart glass utility dish. In a saucepan, heat soy sauce, Worcestershire sauce, and 1 cup butter. Baste chicken with half of soy sauce mixture. Microwave 8-10 minutes on high. Turn chicken over and baste with remaining sauce. Microwave 8-10 minutes more. Serves 6.

Stuffed Chicken Breasts combine the tender goodness and juicy flavor of chicken and cornbread stuffing without the necessity of cooking a whole bird. Chicken is one of the featured Texas agricultural products at the Texas Department of Agriculture Food and Fiber Pavilion during the October 5-21 run of the Texas State Fair in Dallas.

food focus

Mae Martha Johnson
Extension Food Specialist

Dear Food Focus:

I know from long experience about how many servings I can expect per pound from different cuts of beef, but I am using more pork now. Can you give me this information for pork?

The Ham

Dear Ham:

The following guide to the usual size servings per pound for different pork cuts, should help you when you buy pork.

Pork Cut	Servings Per Pound
Fresh roast, bone in (loin, picnic, Boston butt, fresh ham)	2-3
Fresh roast, without bone (loin, picnic, Boston butt, fresh ham)	3-4
Smoked ham or picnic, bone in	2-3
Smoked ham slice, center cut	3-4
Smoked ham or picnic, without bone	3-4
Fully cooked ham or picnic, bone in	3-4
Ham luncheon meat, without bone (depends on thickness of slices)	4-8
Pork chops	3-4
Spareribs	1-2

Dear Food Focus:

When I thaw frozen meat in my microwave oven, it cooks a little on top before it thaws on the bottom. I thought the microwave was supposed to heat from all sides. What should I do?

Slightly Cooked

Dear Slightly:

I suspect that you are trying to thaw meat that has been frozen in the package from the market. A plastic covering will help hold in the warmth of the meat as it starts to defrost, but the styrofoam tray insulates the bottom of the meat and retards thawing.

Remove the meat from the tray and the paper liner that is used to absorb meat juices. If it is not, the microwave energy will be attracted to the moisture in the liner and thawing will be slowed down.

When thawing ground beef or stew meat, thawing will go faster if it is broken up as soon as possible.

Dear Food Focus:

Almost all food packages have "Nutrition Information" on the back. What good is it?

Reading in Roswell

Dear Reading:

Reading the nutrition label before you buy can help you: find foods which are good sources of particular nutrients; compare nutritional value of different brands; select foods for special diets recommended by physicians; count calories; and compare new foods with familiar ones.

The first thing a nutrition label tells you is the size of a serving and the number of servings in the package. With this information, plus some simple arithmetic, you can figure the cost per serving.

Next on the label comes the amount of calories, protein, carbohydrates and fat. If the label is on a cereal box, it will probably give the same information about the cereal when it is combined with milk. You can now compare the calories or nutrients in different foods. The lower section of a nutrition label may need a little explanation. It is Percentage of U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance. The USRDA is a recommendation for the amounts of specific nutrients needed for good health. It is based on current research and previous findings.

The percentage on the label is based on the amounts of nutrients recommended for an adult man, except for iron. Since adult women need more iron than men, the recommendation for women was used.

This portion of the label most show the percentage in the food of the following nutrients: protein, vitamin A, vitamin C (ascorbic acid), thiamine (vitamin B1), riboflavin, niacin, calcium and iron. Other vitamins and minerals may be indicated if the food is a particularly good source.

While there are many more nutrients in the food, these chosen few are indicator nutrients. Foods that contain these nutrients are likely to also be good sources of the other vital nutrients.

Readers may send questions to Mae Martha Johnson, Extension Food and Nutrition Specialist, Box 3AE, New Mexico State University, Las Cruces, N.M. 88003.

Home Is Where Dessert Is

What better way to capture the flavor and goodness of the season's fresh apple crop! A combination of Jell-O butterscotch flavor pudding and pie filling, sliced apples and a crunchy topping of 40% bran flakes, Apple Crisp provides a hearty, nourishing dessert. Serve it warm or cold for all-family appeal.

APPLE CRISP

- 4 medium apples, peeled, cored and sliced (4 cups)
- 1 package (4-serving size) butterscotch flavor pudding and pie filling
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1-1/2 cups 40% bran flakes

Combine apple slices and half the pudding mix in greased shallow baking dish. Cream butter with remaining pudding mix and cinnamon; add cereal. Sprinkle over apple mixture. Cover and bake at 375° for 30 minutes, or until apples are tender. Serve warm or chilled. Makes 8 servings.

Let LOOMIX help your cattle overcome cold weather stress

Winter months are tough on both cattle and cattlemen. The weather is bitter-cold and wet. Cattle of all types need lots of energy just to survive. They undergo more stress during winter than the rest of the year combined. Natural forage is scarce, or nonexistent, so you have to feed hay and supplement.

Let Loomix help ease the hardships of winter for cows, calves, yearlings and yourself. Loomix is the different liquid feed supplement and it can make a big difference during the winter months. A difference that shows up in healthy cows and strong calves; in yearlings that keep on gaining; and in lower total feed costs and less work for you. Loomix is different because of its unique formulations. Natural, organic ingredients supply lots of natural protein, plus phosphorous, energy, vitamins and minerals.

The natural Loomix ingredients also stimulate rumen action so fiber digestion can be improved up to 44%. This means cattle get more nutrition from every bite of their other feeds, especially roughages. And cattle supplemented with Loomix hustle harder and farther for natural forage instead of standing around waiting to be fed. Loomix consumption is controlled by a natural, patented method, so it's easy on your budget. Independent Loomix dealers get out in the cold to assure regular service, filling troughs and controlling consumption. The delivered price is the fed price. Loomix won't freeze and isn't affected by snow and rain. Feeding Loomix this winter might be the best investment you can make ... for your cattle business and for you.

To Be Honored --
Rosedale Basketball Teams To Reunite

Rosedale Night has been slated for Saturday, Jan. 5, and will be held at the Texico High School gymnasium. The 1951, 1952, 1953 and 1954 Rosedale basketball teams will be honored that night. The Rosedale alumni will be honored between the varsity and junior varsity basketball games in which Texico plays Logan on Saturday. Each alumni will be introduced by emcee Eddie Harrington. Janice Turner has been responsible for locating and contacting members of the Rosedale teams as well as others to be honored throughout the basketball season. The half-time activities have been coordinated by her.

A reception is scheduled immediately following the varsity and junior varsity basketball games. The reception is for the Rosedale team members, their families and the 1979 Wolverines. It will be held in the home economics room of Texico High School.

TWO ASPECTS OF CHRISTIAN LIBERTY

"And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free. . . . If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed" (John 8:32,36).

The true believer in the Lord Jesus Christ enjoys glorious liberty. And our Lord Himself said that there are no strings attached. "Ye shall be free indeed," free even from the most oppressive of all slave masters: sin. While the law never saved one man from sin, the Lord Jesus by His death on Calvary did, for we read that "Christ died for our sins."

Therefore the Apostle Paul wrote by divine inspiration: "Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage" (Gal. 5:1). His letters thunder severe rebukes against those who "desire to be under the law."

To the Colossian believers he wrote: "Let no man therefore judge you in meat, or in drink, or in respect of an holyday, or of the new moon, or of the sabbath days: which are a shadow of things to come; for the body [substance] is of Christ" (Col. 2:16,17).

But true liberty is used for good, otherwise it only reverts to bondage again, for whatever overcomes a man becomes his master (1 Pet. 2:19). Thus, the Apostle Paul says further:

"But take heed lest by any means this liberty of yours become a stumblingblock to them that are weak" (1 Cor. 8:9). "For, brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another" (Gal. 5:13).

"Happy is he that condemneth not himself in that thing which he alloweth" (Romans 14:22).

UNITED MERCHANTS GUIDE

This Material Prepared By Rocky Mountain Press Service

STANSELL'S THRIFTWAY

Randy Stansell - Manager

"The store that service built!" That's what they call STANSELL'S THRIFTWAY, where smart shoppers find everything they need for good eating at substantial savings. Located in the Highland Shopping Center in Clovis, phone 763-5122, this fine grocery store features all of the famous brand names you look for in a first-class market. From the moment you walk in until the time your groceries are taken to your car by a smiling employee, or delivered, you'll find the extra touch of service that's missing from many of the giant chain stores which exist today. Service in the old fashioned tradition and modern discount pricing are the things which set STANSELL'S THRIFTWAY apart from "ordinary" grocery stores. Everything you need and want is right here in one convenient (and courteous) stop! The writers of this 1980 United Merchants Edition recommend this fine market to all of our readers.

PURDY MOTOR MACHINE SHOP

Gary Purdy - Owner

"PRECISION WORK"

When it comes to automotive and industrial machine work, it pays to have the job done right the first time. The place that does the job right is the PURDY MOTOR MACHINE SHOP.

Directors Discuss Beefendum

Curry County Farm & Livestock Bureau directors discussed the Beefendum, Legislative Breakfast, 1980 Membership Drive, Young Farmer and Rancher state and national Leadership Conference and introduced a new insurance agent when they met in Clovis for their December meeting. Hubert Qualls, president, presided during the meeting.

Andy Norton, Roswell, state field man for NMFLB, said registration for the Beefendum would take place between January 28-February 5 with voting following February 19-21.

Norton said Farm Bureau had a policy supporting the Beefendum. Registration and voting will be held at county agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) offices.

CCFLB members were urged to meet with their legislators before the legislators go to Santa Fe on January 15. The NMFLB legislative breakfast is set for all districts in Santa Fe on January 23 at 7 a.m. at the Sheraton Inn. A meeting of the NMFLB Board of Directors will be held in conjunction with the breakfast. The board meeting will begin on January 22 at 1:00 p.m. at the Sheraton and will be continued into the next day.

Paul D. Barnes, Pleasant Hill, was appointed Organizational Director for Curry County. He will be in charge of the membership drive which will be launched January 13.

The Young Farmer and Rancher State Leadership Conference is set for January 18 in Albuquerque according to Butch Priest, president of CCYFR, and the YF&R National Leadership Conference is set for February 9-12 in Nashville, Tenn. Delegates to these meetings from Curry County will be Wesley and Elnabeth Grau of Grady; Jamie and Pam Jones, Ranchvale; and Butch and Kathy Priest, Clovis.

Happy Pierce was introduced by Bob Taylor, Farm Bureau Insurance agent. "Pierce will be insurance agent for the Melrose area," said Taylor.

Eddie Harrington reported on the bus tour he is sponsoring to the National Farm Bureau Conference at Phoenix January 6-10 and post convention tour to California and Las Vegas, Nev.

Me And My Buddy

W.W. Vinyard, right, appears to be listening intently to the tale being told by his "good buddy" Jesse Coburn. Vinyard, a resident at Farwell Convalescent Center, will be 99 years of age on January 27. His friend Coburn comes by the Center daily to visit and to take him for a ride around town. For many years Mr. Vinyard was the local dispatcher for Santa Fe Railroad and has many interesting stories to share about the early days of Texico-Farwell.

Copper Clad Coin Worth A Mint Too

by Alan Blanchard
News Editor

Can you remember when in 1965 everyone was curious to see the 'new' quarter, simply copper sandwiched between some silver. Yes, those were the days that silver coins, wheat back pennies and even an occasional silver dollar could easily be found in your pocket change any given day of the week.

Well, like most things on earth, change has come and now you can look through your pocket change until your eyes hurt and not find a single silver coin.

However, when you find a 1976-D quarter in the next handful of change the cashier gives you, don't spend it on a candy bar thinking it is only worth a quarter. Unlike its sister copper clad coins, the 1976-D quarter could be worth $25, so perk up and take note. The ones that are worth this tidy sum can be identified with the naked eye by examining the word "Liberty." If you see double or rather if the word appears to have a doubling effect on all the letters in the word and to a lesser extent, a doubling of the letters "I," "N," and "G," in "In God We Trust," you have a valuable little coin in your possession.

So in the future as you look through your pocket change for wheat back pennies and silver coins, don't overlook the sandwiched coins.
