Top Citizens Named At Farwell Banquet

Farwell's Honorees

Nan Preston and Joel White were named Farwell's Woman and Man of the Year last Saturday night at the annual Farwell Chamber of Commerce Banquet in the Farwell Community Center. Each received an engraved plaque for the honor, presented to them by last year's top citizens, Gertrude Foster and Joe Jones. Both Mrs. Preston and White were cited for their many contributions to the community. The annual affair featured Dallas Cowboy Bill Bates as guest speaker.

A crowd of 275 persons was on hand Saturday night when Nan Preston and Joel White were named Farwell's Woman and Man of the Year at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet at the Farwell Community Center.

Guest speaker was Dallas Cowboy Bill Bates, and he held the undivided attention of the many young people as well as the adults in the audience as he told them how "I made my way to the Dallas Cowboys."

Bates related that he really started his trek at the age of eight, when he played neighborhood football. After a "pretty successful" four years as safety at the University of Tennessee (he was named All-American his first two years and All-Southeast Conference his last two years), he was told he would surely make the first rounds of the draft, and he waited and waited, but no calls came.

When the Dallas Cowboys invited him to walk on as a free agent, and when he saw 140 young men waiting in line for their chance too, he knew he had to do something really outstanding to make the Cowboys notice him.

"I knew I had to play and hit as hard as I could...really hard," said Bates. He got his chance on two different occasions, he related, when he was in the right place at the right time, and "I hit Drew Pearson as hard as I could," and then a short time later, "I really hit Tony Dorsett as hard as I could," but neither of the Cowboy stars nor the Cowboy staff appreciated his "roughing" the star players, at the time.

But Banzai Bates did open the eyes of the Cowboys and he made the pre-season cut, and went on to earn the NFL Specialty Player of the Year, and was named to the All-Rookie team.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was 287th District Judge Jack D. Young. Judge Young told several anecdotes about some of the banquet attendants, introduced the special guests from around the area, and introduced the chamber directors.

Director Jerry Monk introduced banquet speaker Bill Bates, and following his talk, Judge Young introduced all former honorees from the years 1971 through 1983. The 1983 Woman and Man of the Year, Gertrude Foster and Joe Jones, in turn announced this year's honorees and awarded plaques to them.

"Farwell Goes for the Gold" was theme of the banquet which was carried out in the decorations. Theta Rho chapter of ESA sorority members decorated the community center.

Advisor Richard Montgomery and his FFA boys set up the tables and chairs, and returned them to the school afterwards. The FHA and FFA class members, under the direction of advisor Martha White, served the meal.

Nan Preston, Joel White Woman, Man Of Year

Honored as Farwell's Man and Woman of the Year at Saturday night's Farwell Chamber of Commerce Banquet, Joel White and Nan Preston were both cited for their many contributions to Farwell and the area.

In introducing Mrs. Preston as the 1984 Woman of the Year, last year's honoree, Gertrude Foster, said:

This year's selection for "Woman of the Year" was born in 1916 in Mt. Pleasant, Tex. She was a middle child in a family that included four brothers and two sisters (which may or may not explain her perseverance and ingenuity). She was married in 1934 in Roaring Springs, and several years later, she and her late husband started a business in Sudan. In the mid 1960's they bought a business in Farwell, and she has lived here since that time.

She is the loving mother of one son and one daughter, and the doting grandmother of five grandchildren and one great grandchild.

She is a member of First Baptist Church of Farwell, and the Faith Sunday School Class, where she serves as a group captain. She is also actively involved in Senior Citizens.

She is also a very creative person. She is a talented artist who does both oil paintings and ceramics, she does handcrafts and makes quilts, and shares very generously with her friends and neighbors the bounty of her garden and fruit trees.

She is a charter member of Farwell Convalescent Center Auxiliary. She assumed the Hospital District Meeting Has Good Turnout, Interest

At the area-wide meeting Tuesday night, sponsored by the Farwell Hospital District in the Community Center, Ron Fechner, administrator of the Farwell Convalescent Center, made a presentation to 38 area residents on the concept of condominium-style living.

Reese Graves from the Evangelical Lutheran Good Samaritan Society was ill and unable to be at the meeting as announced. Members of the Hospital District Board were in attendance to help explain the proposed program.

The meeting was for the purpose of explaining the living program, and ascertaining the amount of interest from local folks in such a program.

The proposed program would contain duplexes or apartments in a condominium setting with approximately 500-700 square feet for one bedroom or up to approximately 900 square feet for two bedrooms, with a self-sufficient kitchen. The units would not be connected to the nursing facility, but would offer independence and security, with personal and supportive services. Meals would be available in the central dining room if desired.

Fechner said that the program is not a total "life care" program, and that each person's or couple's financial investment was limited to the initial home investment and a stipulated monthly maintenance fee. Other assets of those living at the home location would be strictly each person's private property and not a part of the living program.

Each person or couple would pay only the amount that was necessary to build the type of residence, within prescribed guidelines, that they desired. An estimate of $45 per square foot was given for construction in this area.

Each person would determine beforehand the amount of support services they deemed necessary, and a monthly fee of a few hundred dollars would defray this expense. Fechner said that all contracts included at least one meal a day prepared at the Convalescent Center. This was to ensure proper nutrition to the elderly, a recognized vital necessity to good health.

Fechner listed the advantages of such an arrangement, which include monitoring health care, involvement in activities, emergency health service, diet and other counseling needs, and freedom from all home maintenance.

All yard work and home repairs would be done, housecleaning and other personal services could be contracted for, as well as access to transportation, beauty care, and other necessities.

Fechner also stressed that the building would be owned by the Good Samaritan Society and built on land owned by the Farwell Hospital District. This would mean that there would be no property taxes for the occupants to pay.

Jim Berry, local accountant, also explained that there would be several tax advantages depending on the original agreement. In most cases, there would be an annual income tax credit, the original amount would be removed from a taxable estate, and other credits would be available depending, again, on the original contract between the parties and the Society.

A hypothetical case given was that a couple could pay $30,000 for a duplex apartment and agree to pay $150 per month maintenance fee. They could live there for the rest of their lives, receiving one free meal a day. They would pay no state or local property taxes or fire insurance premiums, have their property maintained at all times, and watched over when they were away.

They would be free to participate in planned recreation, travel on their own, manage their other assets, and live independent lives.

Each person or couple would be dealt with on an individual basis, and a plan drawn to their desires would be entered into so that they would know their basic monthly expenses, and govern themselves according to their individual abilities.

Persons desiring more and detailed information are urged to contact the Farwell Hospital District at P.O. Box 177, Farwell, or see Ron Fechner at the Convalescent Center.

"You must believe in yourself, believe in God, and believe in the system. When you look into the mirror, you must like what you see. If you don't like what you see, you should change things," said Dykes.

Hurricane lamps holding dark blue lighted candles were centered on the tables and dark blue napkins imprinted with "Farwell All Sports Banquet, May 15, 1984" and light blue programs printed in dark blue completed the table decor.

An often cited remark of the comic strip character Pogo is that we have met the enemy and they is us. How true. The generic "us" in this case being the U.S. House of Representatives.

The actions of the House in regard to Central America has often bordered on insanity. On the MX missile vote, they went whole hog into political lunacy. We suggest that the House Chaplain have a qualified psychologist as an assistant.

The Reagan administration had requested the funds to build 40 more MX missiles. The leadership of the House, Tip O'Neill, had vowed no funds for missiles. So when the dust in the looney bin settled they had passed a "compromise" measure.

This measure would provide funding for 15 missiles, providing the Russians did not return to the arms limitation bargaining table. Yuk, all the Russians have to do to keep the U.S. from updating its weapons is to return to the Arms talks. It doesn't say that Russia has to agree to a thing, only show up.

Now Russia has been sitting on its hunkers and "nyeted" all our proposals anyway. What makes the fatheads in Congress think that they won't come back and holler no, no, no, all over the place again?

Russia now controls our defense policy if this outstanding piece of stupidity is allowed to remain. The only hope is that the Senate may be able to get its collective marbles together and rectify this monstrosity. Don't bet the family jewels on it, as the august Senate has exhibited definite signs of mental incompetence of late.

Just think of it, these boos are up for re-election. Every sitting member of Congress ought to be turned out of office and a new broom introduced to the hallowed halls of Congress.

Iran and Iraqi are in a battle to the death. The arena is the Persian Gulf, and a huge part of the free world's oil passes through that perilous part of the world's waterways. Without giving a red cent about who wins that fracas, we can say that it is rapidly reaching the point where this government can talk some hard facts to our so-called allies.

Uncle Sap has been spending billions of dollars it doesn't have to protect some of the most productive countries in the world. Now is the time to tell Japan and Germany to get on the sticks and pony up some yen, marks, or military might to protect their own vital interests.

If the balloon goes up and oil cannot get through the Straits of Hormuz, they will be the main ones to suffer. The U.S. will be only mildly affected by shutting off the oil spigot in that area of the world. There are at least 50 free world countries that will feel an economic pinch, including many of the Arab States in that area.

Let them carry the military ball. Let them ante up the muscle to protect their interests. Let them have meetings and conferences to settle their difficulties. This country should be a concerned spectator, not a main participant in that parade.

It isn't often that we have felt compelled to say something good about Jimmy Carter. We can say that he was a high-minded and strong-willed person when he believed he was doing right. He so believed and so done when we withdrew the U.S. team from the 1980 Moscow Olympics. He did that as a non-lethal method of protesting Russia's invasion and occupation of Afghanistan.

To those Soviet apologists who are now saying that Russia is only giving us what we gave them, overlook President Carter's reason for his Olympic boycott.

Today, the United States does not have armored columns shooting up its neighbor Mexico. We are not using poison gas

Tables were covered in white with red and blue streamers down the center which held stuffed Olympic eagles in red vests and red, white and blue top hats. White place mats printed with the evening's program in blue, and blue and red napkins completed the table decor.

Two larger stuffed Olympic eagles flanked the speaker's podium, and twin bouquets of red, white, and blue carnations and chrysanthemums centered the head table. On the wall behind the head table, a drawing of a large eagle, dressed as the stuffed eagles were, held an Olympic torch, and the words "Farwell Goes for the Gold" were in blue and gold on a large white background. The entire scene was edged in red and blue twisted streamers.

Pat Riley, pastor of First Baptist Church of Farwell, gave the invocation, and Ralph Gates, minister of Farwell Church of Christ, gave the benediction.

Cowboy Bates drew the winning stub from among the correct guesses as to who the Cowboy speaker would be, and the recipient was Doris Ford. She will be awarded two tickets to a Cowboy home game.

Ed and Juanita Hardage and Truman Welch provided the music before and during the dinner which was catered by Les Hubby's of Clovis. The menu was roast beef and gravy, baked potato, green beans, tossed salad, rolls, and cake.

Autograph Signing

Dallas Cowboy Bill Bates, right, guest speaker at Farwell Chamber of Commerce banquet, signs his autograph for District Judge Jack D. Young who was master of ceremonies for the annual affair. When he wasn't speaking, Bates was kept busy almost the entire evening signing autographs for the young and old alike, among the 275 persons attending the banquet.

Workday At Okla. Lane Cemetery

A starting time has not been set, says Harold Carpenter, association president, but everyone is urged to begin working as early as possible, and to bring their work tools with them.

IN MEMORIAM

This Memorial Day, taps will sound across countless graves throughout the land, as a thoughtful nation pauses to honor those men and women who have given their lives in the service of their country. Since the days of our forefathers, so many brave Americans have made the ultimate sacrifice in order to preserve our way of life. Today, we will be honoring their memory with many lasting tributes. But the most lasting tribute of all, is the dedication of all Americans to the goal of peace. Let us remember the departed most fittingly by achieving that peace.

Under God, we are determined that wheresoever, whensoever, or howsoever we shall be called to make our exit, we will die as free men.

THEY GAVE THEIR LIVES TO PRESERVE YOUR FREEDOM

It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us--that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, shall not perish from the earth.

Texico Elem. Library Sets Summer Hrs.

Texico Elementary School library will be open each Friday during the summer from 1:30 to 3 p.m. beginning this Friday, May 25, announces George Herrington, elementary principal. Each student will be allowed to check out up to four books per week.

A group of elementary teachers have volunteered their time to help with this project to try to keep students from losing their reading skills during the summer months.

The idea of keeping the library open during the summer came from the teachers who believe that students will use the library more because it is more convenient than the one in Clovis. The school library is close enough for some students to walk to.

Two people will be working in the library each Friday, and if the program works this year, it may be open every summer.

Teachers volunteering their time for the program include Rita Dunsworth, Vicky Lynn, Ann Pearce, Alice Richmond, Joan Edwards, Cindy Osburn, Mary Morin, Dale Schwartz, and George Herrington.

Feed Assist Program - -

Parmer County Declared Eligible

John R. Block, Secretary of Agriculture, recently announced that emergency measures were being implemented by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to aid producers in areas still affected by a continuing drought and other adverse weather conditions.

As a result of this program, Martin Chandler, Parmer County ASCS Executive Director, said that Parmer County had been approved for the emergency feed assistance program (EFAP) and FmHA emergency loans because of the hot dry weather in 1983.

Livestock producers who have a foundation herd will be eligible to purchase low grade corn at Plainview, if they had a hay or pasture loss. The price is $2.05 per bushel, in Plainview, with no guarantee of quality. Transportation from site of purchase is an expense of the purchaser.

The corn cannot be resold and must be fed to cattle that the producer owns during the 30-day feeding period. A foundation herd is breeding stock owned for more than six months.

Loss of wheat, corn and grain sorghum crops will not make the producer eligible for the low grade corn. The grain purchaser's 1983 production of corn and grain sorghum will not count against them unless they still own some of the crop. The 1983 PIK corn and grain sorghum will be considered only if it has not been sold.

The local ASCS office will keep a statewide listing of hay and roughages that any producer may want to buy or sell. You must come to the local office to register for this statewide listing service.

Chandler says, "Come see us if you would like to apply for this corn or see the hay and roughage listings."

FARWELL INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT BUDGET MEETING

The Board of Trustees of the Farwell Independent School District will meet on June 11, 1983, at 8:00 p.m. in the superintendent's office for the purpose of adopting a budget for the 1984-85 fiscal year.

W.T. Perrys Plan Return To Farwell

Rev. and Mrs. W.T. Perry, formerly of Farwell, are returning to the Texico-Farwell communities at the end of this month. Rev. Perry was pastor of Hamlin Memorial Methodist Church for seven years, from 1970-77. This week he was granted, at his request, a Retired Relationship by the New Mexico Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church. He had requested this retired status because of health reasons.

ment, he will continue to serve as such. He has been a member of the General Council on Finance and Administration of the United Methodist Church, assigned to the Committee on Official Church Forms and Records for the past four years. He is to be re-elected to that position for the 1985-88 Quadrennium. Offices for this position are located in Evanston, Ill.

In the New Mexico Annual Conference, he has been a member of the Conference Council on Finance and Administration, the Conference Council on Ministries, a member of the Board of Trustees of Landsun Homes, Inc., located at Carlsbad, N.M., and for 13 years was a member of the Board of Commissioners and the Boys Ranch Board of Methodist Home at Waco.

This week, Rev. Perry was elected to continue to serve on the Annual Conference Council on Ministries and because of his relationship to the General Council on Finance and Administration, will be a member of the Conference Council on Finance. He holds these positions in the Retired Relationship to the Annual Conference without assignment as pastor of a local church.

The Perrys said that in reaching the decision to retire from the Church pastorate because of his health, he had informed Virginia that as she had followed him for a number of years where the Annual Conference had sent him, the time had come for her to select the place where they would live. Her immediate decision was to return to the Texico-Farwell communities.

Rev. Perry is a Past Master of Farwell Lodge No. 977, A.F. & A.M., is a Scottish Rite and York Rite Mason, and a member of Ballut Abyad Shrine in Albuquerque. He was one of the original directors of the Farwell Hospital District that planned and built the Farwell Nursing Home.

During his pastorate here, he was president of Texico-Farwell Rotary Club, and is a past-president of Farwell Chamber of Commerce. He was named "Man-of-the-Year" by the Farwell Chamber of Commerce in 1975. Both W.T. and Virginia state that they are happy to be "back home" in this Retired Relationship.

Since leaving Texico-Farwell, Rev. Perry has served First United Methodist Church of Jal, N.M., and for the past four years has been pastor of First United Methodist Church of Crane, Tex.

In addition to his pastoral responsibilities, Rev. Perry has been Statistician of the New Mexico Annual Conference for the past eight years. In retire-presidency of that organization in mid 1981, and was re-elected in January of this year to serve her fourth consecutive term as president. Over the years, she has given hundreds and hundreds of hours of volunteer service to Convalescent Center residents. She has made gallons and gallons of ice cream and thousands and thousands of cookies. She has put millions and millions of curlers in the hair of the ladies, and done countless other services there. In the last couple of years, it became obvious to her that a need existed for a quiet place within the Convalescent Center for devotionals and Bible studies, or for residents and their families who needed a refuge for prayer or meditation, and it became her dream to create a Chapel for these purposes. She inspired her fellow Auxiliary members to make this their dream, too, and it was through her inspiration, exhortation, and leadership that this small group of volunteer women was able in six months time to raise over $5,000 to pursue and complete this project. She is untiring in her enthusiasm to involve all members of our community in service to the elderly among us, and so it is with great pleasure that we honor our 1984 "Woman of the Year"...Nan Preston.  Joel P. White, the 1984 Man of the Year, was introduced by last year's honoree, Joe Jones, who said: Our selection for the 1984 Man of the Year was born in Farwell and graduated from Farwell High School where he played basketball and football. As a young man, he worked for John Porter, Carl Davis, and Walter Hardage, and in WWII, he served in the U.S. Navy. He has farmed in the Farwell community for about 30 years, and he is a good family man who always puts his family first. He is the father of three girls and two boys. He is a member of Hamlin Memorial United Methodist Church and attends church regularly. He can always be called upon to fix and repair things around the church property. Our honoree has served as a volunteer fireman with the Farwell Fire Department for over 20 years, and served on the ambulance crew since 1969. He has had over six years of Emergency Medical Training, and he is fire chief of the Farwell Volunteer Fire Department. I am proud to announce our 1984 Man of the Year...Joel White. Mrs. Preston and White were each presented with an engraved plaque from the Chamber.

Joe Hughes, right, 1960 graduate of Farwell High School, was the first person to donate money toward the purchase of a multiplex which the high school sociology class hopes to purchase to preserve the senior composites of past graduating classes. "I really believe that we should contribute something to this cause," said Hughes. "We aren't just preserving a composite, we are preserving a whole other era." Accepting the check from Hughes is High School Principal Lynn Burton.

Something Out Of Nothing

With a little imagination, the scrap heap can be turned into something useful. Guy Cohee, manager of Worley's Farwell elevator, built this staircase to the top of their flat storage building from old elevator leg buckets and the center axes of scrap grain augers. The buckets were turned upside down for the steps and the auger blades were cut off to provide the props and framing for the stairway. Cohee says the steps sure beat going up a vertical ladder on the outside of their tall storage buildings.

MEMORIAL DAY

We will be closed in honor of this national holiday

Monday, May 28, 1984

LET US HONOR THOSE WHO DIED FOR OUR FREEDOM

A large part of the history of any free nation has had to be written in the blood of its heroes who gave their lives on the field of battle in order to preserve that freedom. For every privilege that you enjoy today, you owe them a tremendous debt of gratitude; and the only possible way you can repay it is to live your own life in a manner worthy of their supreme sacrifice. Honor them the year 'round by attending the Church of your choice regularly - itself one of the freedoms you owe them - and by maintaining an ever-alert vigilance against any erosion of your liberties, presented under the guise of protection. The finest memorial you can give your nation's heroes is the assurance that they have not died in vain.

"Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us; and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren."
-I John 3:16

Cars Collide

A 1971 Ford Mustang driven by James W. Arrowood of Clovis and a 1982 Delta 88 Oldsmobile driven by Robert G. Hazel of Baton Rouge, La., collided at the intersection of Third Street and U.S. Highway 84 in Farwell. The Arrowood vehicle, traveling east, was attempting to make a left hand turn from the highway north on to Third Street when it came in collision with the Hazel car, which was headed west on Highway 84. No serious injuries were reported, according to the investigating officer, THP Craig Hunt. Arrowood was issued a citation for failure to yield right-of-way on a left hand turn.

Two-Vehicle Accident Occurs On Highway 84

Two vehicles collided at the intersection of Third Street and U.S. Highway 84 in Farwell Monday afternoon.

According to the investigating officer, Texas Highway Patrolman Craig Hunt, James W. Arrowood of Clovis, driving a 1971 green Ford Mustang headed east on U.S. Highway 84, attempted to make a left hand turn north at Third Street.

In the attempt, the Arrowood car allegedly collided with a 1982 maroon Delta 88 Oldsmobile driven by Robert G. Hazel of Baton Rouge, La., who was traveling west on Highway 84.

There were no serious injuries, according to THP Hunt. The Hazel car was carrying three passengers, his wife Betty, and Homer and Eudora Haber of Port Arthur, Tex.

Arrowood, who was traveling alone, was issued a citation for failure to yield right-of-way on a left hand turn, reported Officer Hunt.

DPS Urges Motorists To Exercise Caution

Major V.J. Cawthon, Commander of Department of Public Safety, Region 5, said, "Memorial Day weekend signals the start of summer vacation season. This increases dangers to motorists in Texas this time of year." The Major urged drivers to exercise caution during the upcoming holiday weekend and throughout the summer.

"The best way to keep your vacation safer and accident free is to keep your speed down, wear your seat belt, and obey all traffic laws. Your safety and the safety of your passengers is in your hands," added Major Cawthon.

Slow down a little and live a lot! Have a nice Memorial Day Weekend!

Temptation Too Great

Ever see a puddle of water that little boys could resist? The Jamison boys couldn't. Joshua, Jason, and Jeremy showed their appreciation to the weatherman for bringing last week's gentle and bountiful rainfall by getting out and wading in the water. The boys are sons of James and Marianne Jamison of Farwell. Moisture measured from 2.70 inches in the city to more than four inches in the surrounding areas.

Spring Rains Bring Much Needed Moisture

Last week revealed that Spring does indeed come every year. Just when residents had adjusted to the fact that this year the weatherman intended to cast us from the cold of winter directly into the heat of summer, he pulled a surprise and sent rain.

Not just any rain, either. This was the type of rain that anyone could appreciate, not just the farmers. For four straight days, the clouds gently poured rain down on the farms, crops, and neighborhood lawns, and gardens, without cold, without wind, and without hail. Just rain.

What did this rare occurrence do for the area besides give us a break from the already hot and very windy days?

"It was excellent for the crops," said Fred Chandler of Sherley-Anderson-Pilman elevator in Farwell. "It finished out watering the wheat, it helped bring up the corn, and will help with planting cotton," he said. "Most of the farms received a fair share, too," he added. "The Barry Williams farm southwest of town received four inches. Our gauge showed that we received 2.70 inches in town."

Martin Chandler, executive director of Farmer County

ASCS office agreed. "Last week's rain was really nice," he said. "We had several pre-watered crops around the area that were drying up, but thanks to the moisture, they are in perfect shape. I haven't been able to get an official report on the exact amount of rainfall around the county," he said, "but I do know that most of the area received from two to four inches."

"We weren't that lucky," said Lonnie McFarland of Sherley-Anderson elevator in Lariat. "We were just on the edge of the whole thing, and only received about .8 of an inch. It seemed like the farther west you were, the more rainfall you received."

The Harold Carpenters in Oklahoma Lane received only .86 inch, but they reported that the Wendol Christian farm had 1.50 inches.

On the Leon Langford farm north of town, 2.50 inches were reported, and south of town on the Bert Williams farm, 2.60 inches of moisture were received.

Farmers were not the only ones happy with the much needed moisture, as it was appreciated by most everyone. A local neighbor who enjoys gardening commented, "The rains came just in time, and it couldn't have fallen more perfectly."

"This is just what it took to bring my flowers to bloom," and "My lawn is just soaking this up," were just some of the comments by local residents.
