

Boy, Did It Rain!

Texico-Farwell residents can't remember when, if ever, it rained any harder than it did for about a half-hour Tuesday evening. Hitting at about 7 o'clock, the rain deluged the Twin Cities with over two inches of water and a spattering of hail. At times the wind was so high that some residents feared a tornado was imminent. However, no reports of tornadoes have been received. The pictures here are of a "lake" that suddenly appeared on the Texico schoolground, and two views of farmland north of town, where extensive crop damage and field washing occurred.

FROM THE HOPPER

BY HOP JR.

Tuesday's voting in the national wheat referendum rocked the administration back on its heels and surprised a lot of sideline observers, including this writer. I've gotten so accustomed to being on the losing side in this voting business that this comes almost as a shock.

Very few people locally would stick their neck out and predict the outcome of the voting. Nationally, the Progressive Farmer had predicted the vote would fall, but I privately refused to believe it.

Orville Howard of the Amarillo Daily News thought the counties north of the Canadian would turn down the referendum, and the ones south of the river would vote for it.

I figured that the farmers of Parmer County would defeat the referendum, but that it would carry on a national level. As it turned out, the issue not only failed to pull the required two-thirds endorsement, but didn't even manage a simple majority.

This was after a very heavy grower vote, and so accurately reflects the attitude of the nation's farmers, in spite of heavy government influence for a favorable vote -- including the personal endorsement of the president the day before the election.

Political planners might do well to take note of this shift in the thinking of the farmer. I say shift because just a few short years ago I believe the vote, even if it had been under the same conditions, would have been quite a bit different.

I believe that the farmer is becoming aware of what more and more government intervention is doing to his business, and that he is willing to take a serious financial risk to preserve some of his independence and freedom of action.

For a full generation farmers have seen ever greater government activity in the field of agriculture, with the result that opportunity has ebbed away, being replaced with pseudo-security.

It is true that the farmer has enjoyed some prosperous years, but often the prosperity has not been real but rather at the expense of others through involuntary taxation.

The government has not solved the farm problems, but has succeeded in postponing facing them, and the result has been that the problems have grown to staggering proportions. It is true that today if all government farm programs should be cancelled, the adjustment would be so severe that

County Wheat Vote Heaviest In Area

Parmer County farmers turned out en masse Tuesday, recording the largest vote of any county in the Panhandle or South Plains, as the national wheat referendum failed to carry.

Actually, Parmer County was one of the counties which gave the referendum a majority, voting 59.6 per cent in favor, but this was still below the 66.7 per cent required nationally for the passage of the program.

A total of 1534 people voted in the referendum, out of an estimated 1625 who were eligible. This figures out to a fantastic turnout of 94.4 per cent of the eligible voters.

The referendum has been one of the most controversial ones in recent years, however, and gained widespread interest due to high-pitched nationwide publicity. Preliminary tabulations showed that only one location in the county, Bovina, gave the referendum a two-thirds majority, voting 126-37 in its favor.

Three boxes, at Rhea, Lariat and Clay's Corner, went against the referendum. Rhea voiced the largest "no" percentage, turning the proposal down, 26-8. With two "challenge votes" to be counted, the vote was even at Oklahoma Lane, 34 voting for, and 34 against.

There were 284 ballots to be tabulated by the county committee, representing "challenge ballots" those whose names were not listed at the particular polling place at which they voted, and must be varied as to eligibility.

Early returns gave the program only a 42 per cent "yes" vote throughout the nation, and 43 per cent in Texas. The vote was by far a record turnout by county farmers. The former high for a referendum was last fall's cotton vote, in which 685 voters turned out.

Parmer County's 1534 votes compared to 1408 in Hale County, 1289 in Swisher, 1132 in Castro, 1128 in Deaf Smith and 1055 in Floyd.

The "yes" percentage was also the lowest for any program ever voted in the county. Last year's wheat vote carried by 73.4 per cent. Cotton referenda usually carry by over 90 per cent.

Early totals, which did not include challenge votes, were as follows:

Farmer Boys To Run Swimming Pool

At a special meeting of the Texico Town Council last week, plans were completed for the opening of New Tex Swimming Pool with Gary and David Farmer, sons of E. L. Farmer, to operate the pool this summer.

The city will furnish the water for the pool with all other overhead expenses to be paid by the boys. Any major breakdown resulting from the negligence of the boys or deemed to be their fault is to be paid for by them, according to the terms of the contract.

Both of the Farmer boys are licensed life guards and they will be on duty at the pool, at all times.

They plan to handle concessions and all money derived from the sale of such will be profit for the boys and will not go into the city funds.

Date for the pool to open has not been announced; however the boys are busy each day cleaning the pool and getting it ready for the summer. The pool will be open each day from 1-5 p.m.

To Receive State Farmer Degree

Ronnie Curry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Curry and a junior in the Texico School, was one of the boys chosen from among the 3000 FFA members in New Mexico to receive the state Farmer Degree. He will receive the degree at the state convention in June.

He was notified early this week that he has been chosen by the FFA Board of Directors and Trustees to serve on the State Activities Committee at the FFA state convention.

Ronnie who has been a member of the local FFA Chapter since entering high school has served as greenhand president and is serving the chapter this year as president. He attended the national convention in October in Kansas City.

Only two percent of the state FFA members are eligible to receive the state degree; and in order to be chosen for the honor a boy must have shown a profit of at least $350 during the time he has had productive enterprises in vocational agriculture. He must at the present time have at least $500 invested.

Ronnie's projects have included livestock, (hogs, cattle) and crops. He has had at one time 27 head of cattle, 30 hogs and approximately 30 acres of crops, from which he has realized a profit of some $2500. He plans to use his earnings to help finance a larger farming program.

Ronnie will be accompanied to the state meeting by James Pierce, Texico FFA advisor.

Hello Tribune Friends:

Thank you for sending some warm Texas weather along with the subscription notice! It seems most of our weather has been coming from Alaska the past few months.

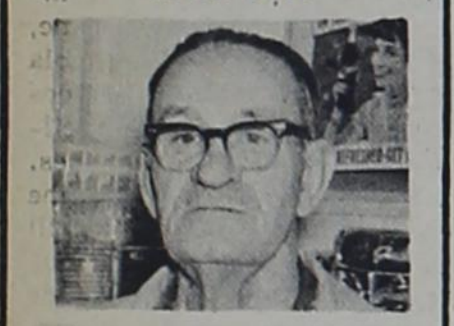

We are still enjoying the "Hopper" column very much, although I have lost my public outlet for it. Johnny Linn (formerly Uncle Ray of KGNC, Amarillo) used it often on his TV show here, however he moved to another area a few months ago.

The day was lovely and the guests spent most of their time outside. Since the yard was full of blooming things (roses, peonies, irises, etc.) the 35 guests came home with a large dose of hayfever! Hubby has a sunburn to remember the day by.

perhaps three-fourths of the farmers of the nation could not stand the shock.

The wheat farmers appear anxious to return to a more nearly free economy, but they will have a hard time doing it with the mountainous surplus owned by the government hanging over the market. The first concern of legislators who recognize the laudable desires of the farmers to more nearly support themselves should be to rid the nation of this moral and economic burden -- even if it means giving it away -- so that the laws of supply and demand can once more behave in a normal fashion.

In the complicated age in which we live, not many people can think past their pocket-books. This is true of teachers, newspapermen and ditch diggers just as it is of farmers. I was a little surprised, then, when a young farmer I talked with last week recognized the moral issues in government programs.

He took it down to a pretty personal level when he told me that standing in line at the ASCS office affected his self-respect in a way that was depressing. It was debilitating for him to accept a check for money he did not honestly think he had earned.

He said he was ready to drive his old car another year or two and eat steak less often and maybe skip going hunting to have a little less government in his life, and to help him win back his self respect.

I am proud of the man who would draw himself up to meet the issues in this way, and I have a resurgence of confidence in American farmers that they will break the shackles that bind their freedoms and seek the way back to opportunity and independence. It may cost them dearly, but they will have something to pass on to the next generation that is more precious than fat bank accounts and nice homes.

would rather be out here chasing cows than downtown chasing teen-agers." Sometimes it makes one long for the hot summer days of youth, barefoot on the dusty road, the quiet of the small town and the high wide blue sky creating daydreams -- then I remember the three pointed sticker known as a goatead and the way it feels firmly implanted in the heel. I look around at my green hills, the snow covered peaks and thank the good Lord that I live in Oregon, where that particular pest doesn't grow!

As ever,
 Belva E. Bandy

Dear Belva,
 Thanks for a very readable letter. We are limiting our letters to the editor to one a week too. And as for the goateads, they are not nearly so bad as they were when you were running up and down in your bare feet. The new improved ones we are raising these days have only two spikes on them--instead of three. If you folks would move back and help us with some research, we could probably come up with a one-pointed goatead, and might even grow them with no stickers at all if we'd really put our minds to it. The Plains can grow ANYthing. Anything but Bartlett pears, that is.
 --WHG

It isn't the managed news that bothers me so much these days as it is this problem of managed husbands.

What has happened to good ole Texas A&M? I never thought I'd see the day when they would actually open the doors down there to women students, except as a gag. I just couldn't believe it when I read that it had finally happened and that Aggie land is well on its way to becoming just another co-ed college.

I have been waiting for several weeks for the Aggie spirit to rise to the occasion and knock some sense into the heads of the regents and administration, but not much has been forthcoming. Even that fightin' Aggie Dolph Moten up at Bovina has fallen silent at his typewriter.

I just don't see how this makes sense. I'm for women's suffrage all right, and I believe the gals deserve a fair shake on the campus, but things are being carried to ridiculous extremes. Texas A&M has a heritage to live up to that won't be met if it is watered down with the co-ed philosophy that infects so many American college campuses of the day.

I've never studied an hour at Texas A&M, never even wanted to go to school there, and don't have any relatives who have convinced me it is the only place to go to college. Still, I for one like to see a little individuality and uniqueness in our institutions, and when women go in at A&M, the color and excitement will go out. You can mark that down.

It is reported that the reason they are going to start letting women go to A&M is because the school's enrollment is getting smaller through the years, and that, whereas Aggie land was once the biggest and grandest in the whole state of Texas, it now ranks down the list under the University at Austin, Texas Tech, and I think even Houston.

So we see that the mania for bigness has once again captured the mind of our colleges, and that while they claim this move is to give equal rights to the women of the state, secretly they just want to hike the enrollment to make A&M big again.

This is enough to turn my stomach. If we are launching a generation with the idea that being bigger is more desirable than being better, then we'd better examine our educational standards.

Incidentally, what are we going to do with Texas Women's University? Make it co-educational?

"SEARCH THE SCRIPTURES"

ONLY THE TRUTH IS TRUTH

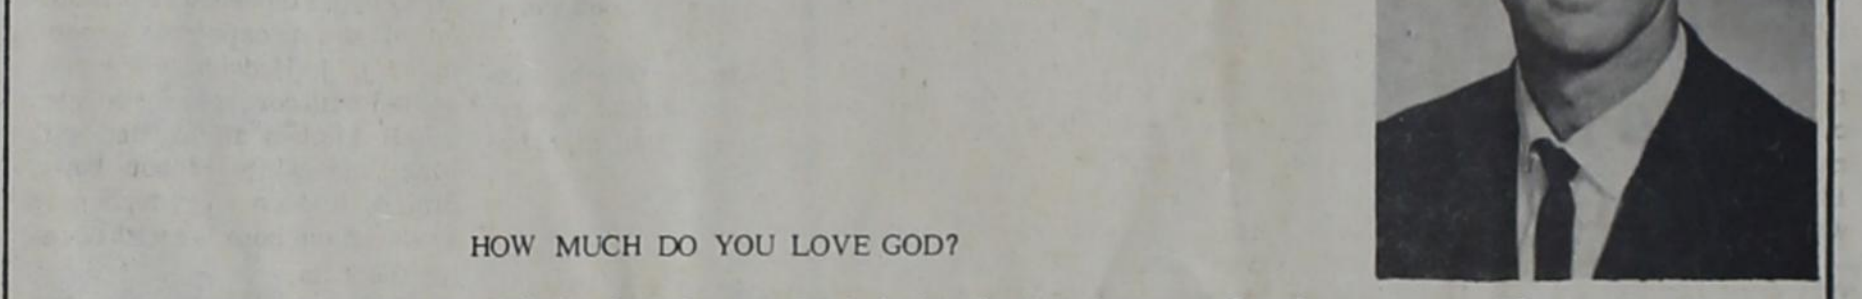

Jesus said, "Ye shall know the TRUTH and the TRUTH shall make you free." (Jn. 8:32). What is truth? Again, Jesus said, "Sanctify them through thy truth; thy WORD is truth." (Jn. 17:17). These two passages clearly show that GOD'S WORD (which is the truth) can make one FREE from sin or SANCTIFY him, or set him apart from sin. Doctrines of men make one's effort vain. (Matt. 15:9).

Some people reject the truth because they "believe" error to be truth. Error does not become truth to anyone just because he "believes" it to be true. Jacob "believed" that his son Joseph was dead when Joseph's brethren brought his coat of many colors back to their father with animal blood on it. Jacob reacted for years AS IF his son was dead, when all the while he was alive in Egypt. He was deceived. His "belief" in Joseph's death did not make Joseph dead. Saul of Tarsus served God in all "good conscience" while persecuting Christians. (Ac. 23:1). He actually thought he was doing God a favor. He thought it was right to do many things contrary to the name of Jesus. (Ac. 26:9). Yet, Saul was sinning all the time in this life. Finally, after believing and repenting, he was told to "arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins." (Ac. 22:16). Paul's kinsmen in the flesh had a zeal for God in their own way, yet they were lost while they followed their own way of salvation. (Rom. 10:1-3). Do YOU reject the truth because of prejudice or because your parents did not accept it? What happens to us if we reject God's Word--the truth? "And with all deceivableness of unrighteousness in them that perish; because they received not the love of the truth, that they might be saved. And for this cause God shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie; that they all might be damned who believed not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness." (2 Thess. 2:10-12).

Summer's coming, get going!

If this isn't a great time to get yourself a new Chevrolet—well, we just don't know when is. Why, you'd almost have to be anti-summer not to let one of these four convertibles get to you. Or any of Chevrolet's sedans, wagons, sport coupes and sport sedans, for that matter.

And there are a lot of other buy-now reasons besides the season. Like the care-free feeling you get on a long vacation trip in a brand-new car. And it's a smart time to trade, what with your Chevrolet dealer all stocked up for a busy summer. Chances are, he has just the model and color you want—be it Chevrolet, Chevy II, Corvair or Corvette—ready to go right now.

So maybe now you're all wound up? Then spring into summer at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Is your motor "talking back" to you?

Your foot on the gas feed tells your motor what it should do. Either it takes off like you want it to . . . or it balks and "talks back" with knocks, pings, and sputters.

What happens depends a lot on your gasoline!

When you're using a Sixty-Six gasoline, you'll get no "back talk". You'll get the response you want . . . smooth, lively and quiet!

Banquet Honors Farwell Seniors

Approximately 40 Farwell seniors and invited guests were in attendance at the banquet at First Baptist Church fellowship hall Friday night. Members of the Baptist WMU were hostesses for the event and mothers of seniors served the meal. Theme for the program was "The Last Roundup" and guest speaker was James Barber from the Baptist Student Union at Wayland College, Plainview. Master of ceremonies was Rev. J. L. Bass, who also gave the invocation. The benediction was pronounced by W. M. Roberts, superintendent of schools. Bruce Ayres, Gruver, was in charge of the musical program. He played his guitar and sang several western songs during the evening. Focal point of room decorations was a campfire scene, complete with a corral, cowboy, saddle and cacti. Tables were covered with brown wrapping paper and the room was lighted with kerosene lamps. Nut cups were miniature Stetson hats and programs were printed on small replicas of a chuck wagon. Flowers were arranged in boots, cow vases and in a loaf of French bread. Menu was bar-be-que, cowboy beans, potato salad, cabbage slaw, hot rolls, butter, tomato juice, tea and ice cream.

After the banquet seniors were invited to view the material sent from several church supported colleges. The banquet is given annually by the WMU to emphasize the need for students to attend college, and especially to encourage them to attend Christian colleges.

Eleven Accidents Investigated In Parmer County In April

The Highway patrol investigated 11 rural accidents in Parmer County during the month of April according to Sergeant W. E. Wells, patrol supervisor of this area.

These accidents accounted for a total of $5,065 property damage and two persons injured.

The highway patrolman is warning motorists to be especially careful during this month as many slow-moving farm vehicles and machinery will be on the road.

The sergeant also states, "Owners of boat trailers should check to see that they meet the State's Motor Vehicle Laws. If they do not a person is asking for an arrest or accident - or both. Every time you take your trailer on the road, make sure all warning and safety devices are working properly. Check the lights and the strength of the trailer hitch and coupling."

Wish I'd Said THAT

"A polite man today is the one who offers a lady a seat when he gets off the bus." — S. L. Sherwell, Salisbury (Md.) Advertiser.

"What this country needs is an architect who can design a front porch that a newspaper boy can land a paper on." — Burlin B. King, North Vernon (Ind.) Sun.

Carriers Distribute Survey Cards

Postmaster Albert H. Smith, Farwell, reminds rural patrons of the Farwell post office to be on the lookout for June livestock cards. Next week carriers will leave survey cards in a sample of boxes along their routes.

"USDA bases livestock and poultry estimates on replies to this survey," Smith says. "It is important for everyone who gets a card to fill it out and return it to the carrier. This way, USDA gets a representative sample of the area's livestock and poultry holdings."

Carriers assisting with the survey are Lee Meeks, Route 1, and Melvin Burns, Route 2. Survey cards will be forwarded to Cary D. Palmer, State Agricultural Statistician in Austin. After adding and analyzing these cards, USDA statisticians are able to estimate the state's milk production, calf and pig crops, lamb and wool crops and the number of hens and pullets.

Information from this survey will guide livestock and poultry producers in making important business decisions, says Smith.

When You Look in the Heart of a Tulip

When you buy tulip bulbs to plant this fall, choose some varieties for the beautiful designs inside their goblet-shaped blooms. Parade is the name of the variety illustrated above.

When you look in the heart of a tulip instead of just looking at the outside of its goblet-shaped flower, you're likely to see any one of several interesting changes.

There may be a distinctly different color on the insides of the petals as in varieties Kenard, which is bluish violet outside but plum purple inside; or Astrakan, which is magenta outside but a pale mahogany-red shaded golden bronze inside.

Or, the petal color may be the same on both sides but the base of the tulip may be of a different color that either blends or contrasts with that of the rest of the petal. Such is the case with varieties Blue Aimable which is mauve shaded purple but has a blending bright blue base; with Eclipse, a crimson-maroon flower with a contrasting steel-blue base; and with Scarlett O'Hara, which has a scarlet-red flower but a brilliant yellow base.

Again, as you look inside the chalice of the tulip, you may get quite a shock when you see the color of the stamens. They may be black as coal, as in the variety Gemma, or cream color as in Duke of Wellington, or white as in Glacier, or yellow as in Queen of Bartigons.

In some of these cases they are the same color as the base of the flower (as in Duke of Wellington); in others they form a decided contrast (as in the salmon-pink Queen of Bartigons).

Some tulip varieties are patterned inside, with a base color different from that of the upper part of the petals and a halo of still another color around the base.

All Bright, for instance, has a blood-red flower with a white base and a broad ring of deep

"Follow Not After Noah," Warns Baccalaureate Speaker

Speaking to Texico seniors Sunday night at Baccalaureate services, Rev. Glenneth Harrington, Methodist pastor at Truth or Consequences, and brother of senior Vic Harrington, related the story of Noah from Genesis telling how Noah after leaving the ark became drunk on wine and his own importance.

He admonished the graduates to not follow after the example of Noah, but to be ready to accept responsibilities, keep their feet on the ground, and not to become drunk with their own successes. He added that if each is to use his education to the best advantage, he must not become self-centered.

"We as American people are almost becoming drunk with our power" said the speaker in closing.

Special music was provided by the high school chorus under direction of Gary Stelling, music director. Invocation was given by Rev. Robert O. Tomlinson, local Methodist pastor and Rev. Harvey Hudnall gave the benediction. Processional and recessional were played by Donald Chandler, and graduate escorts were Millie Autrey and Sherron Elliott.

Commencement exercises for the 24 seniors were held Wednesday night. Processional and recessional were played by Kathy White and Donald Chandler. Graduate escorts were Jackie Hughes and Linda Campbell.

The high school chorus, directed by Gary Stelling, presented three musical selections, "Now Is The Hour", "A Perfect Year" and "Graduation Day."

Carol White, third high honor student gave the class history. Georgina Lambert gave the salutatory address and Linda Palmateer presented the valedictory address.

Supt. Buck Doran introduced the speaker, Rev. Leonard Gillingham, pastor of Kingswood Methodist Church, Clovis.

Diplomas were presented to the seniors by F. S. Thigpen, president of the board of education. Murray White gave the invocation and A. D. McDonald, high school principal, pronounced the benediction.

Seniors are scheduled to leave for Ruidoso Saturday morning for a three-day stay. They will be accompanied by class sponsors, Gerald Wilkinson and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harrington.

Candidates For Degrees At ENMU

Two local men, Allen Teel and Monty Singleterry, are candidates for degrees at ENMU.

Teel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Teel, is seeking a degree in business administration and marketing. He is a 1958 graduate of Texico High School.

Monty Singleterry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Singleterry and a 1959 graduate of Texico high school. He is seeking a degree in accounting and finance.

Baccalaureate services will be held Sunday evening, May 26, and commencement will be May 30, 8 p.m. Both services will be held at the University Stadium.

Speaker for the baccalaureate will be Rabbi Albert L. Plotkin of Temple Beth Israel, Phoenix, and commencement speaker will be Dr. Orlo Brees, public relations representative of the National Association of Manufacturers, Western Division.

Preceding the commencement exercises will be the traditional president's concert by the University Band.

A frightened householder excitedly reported to police headquarters that he had been struck down in the dark outside his back door by an unknown assailant.

A young policeman was sent to the scene of the crime to investigate and soon returned to headquarters with a lump on his forehead and a glum look on his face.

"I solved the case," he muttered.

"Amazingly fast work," his superior complimented him, "How did you do it?"

The young cop explained: "I stepped on the same rake."

Texico School Board To Consider Teacher Applications

Members of the Texico Board of Education will consider applications for teachers at the next regular meeting of the board, June 6; with the possibility that a high school principal will be hired before that date.

At the present time, six vacancies exist on the faculty with resignations received from Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wilkinson, who have accepted teaching assignments in California, Mrs. V. R. Rannals, fourth grade teacher, Paul Crooks, sixth grade and P. E. Mrs. Charlyne Danforth, business teacher and Superintendent Buck Doran.

A. D. McDonald, presently high school principal, has been hired to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Doran, thus creating the need for a high school principal.

In addition resignations have been accepted from Mrs. Roxie Crooks, school secretary and Mamie Hightower, lunch room supervisor. Several applicants for the school secretary's position have been interviewed and a choice is expected to be made this week.

At the last regular meeting of the board, members decided to donate old band uniforms to the Los Lunas Training school.

Cemetery Working At Oklahoma Lane

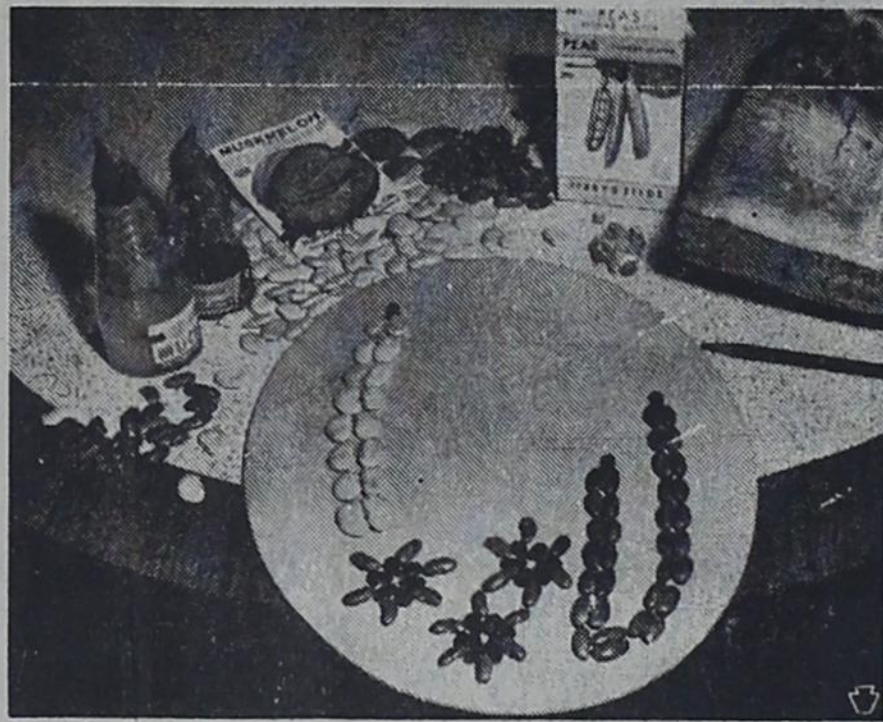

Announcement was made this week of a cemetery working at the Oklahoma Lane Cemetery, Memorial Day, May 30, by Sterling Donaldson, secretary of the association.

A business session will be held at 10 a.m. at which time one new director will be elected. Vernon Symcox is the retiring directors. Holdover directors are Donaldson and Clyde Perkins. All area residents are urged to attend the business meeting and cemetery working and bring a contribution. All contributions are used in the upkeep of the cemetery grounds and for the well.

The Children's Corner
Seed Plaques

Seeds of some kind are plentiful all year so it's always time to make a seed plaque. A background of wood or cardboard, mullage or glue-all, plus plenty of seeds are the chief needs.

Seeds are something you can find at any time of year in the garden when vegetables and flowers are maturing or in the supermarket where dried seeds are sold for food.

The only other materials besides seeds that you need to make a plaque are: a piece of wood, cardboard or construction board on which to glue the seeds, glue-all or mullage, a soft pencil, an adhesive cloth picture hanger - and lots of imagination.

Start by finding something for the background. The plaque in the picture is an oval cut from quarter-inch plywood; but any heavy cardboard, Bristol board, or even a section cut from a fallen log will do.

Next, collect as many different kinds of seeds as you can find. Keep each kind by itself. Dry seeds are easier to handle than wet seeds, so use layers of paper towels to dry any that need it.

Perhaps the background or the kinds of seeds will suggest a design for your plaque. If not, try drawing one lightly on the background. As long as lines are not heavy they are easy to erase if you change your mind.

When the design is settled, lay seeds in place over and along the lines of the design until you're satisfied. Then remove a few seeds at a time, apply glue-all or mullage to the proper places and replace the seeds, pressing them firmly onto the background. When all have been glued on, put the plaque to dry in a safe place.

Later you can spray it with lacquer, plastic or shellac to give it a finishing touch. Paste the picture hanger on the back and you're ready to hang the plaques on the wall of your bedroom or, perhaps, use it for a birthday or Christmas gift.

Drought Broken; Crops Ruined In Some Places

Parmer County Rainfall

The drought was finally broken, or partially so, in Parmer County during the past week, but to some the turbulent weather did a lot more harm than good.

Hundreds of acres of young cotton is to be replanted, as an aftermath of driving rain, hail, and sand which cut the plants down.

The rain varied from just a trace in northwest Parmer County, to two inches and more south of Bovina. In many parts of the county, Saturday's turbulence was followed by high winds and sand, which actually was the killer as far as the young cotton was concerned.

Areas which apparently were the hardest hit were around Oklahoma Lane, where at least 500 to 600 acres of cotton is to be replanted, west of Hub, an area around Black, and the Lazbuddie-Clay's Corner vicinity.

Apparently the heaviest rains fell south of Bovina, where several farms caught around two inches, and the Clay's Corner area, which got up to 1.75 inches.

Bovina measured 1.3 inches Saturday. Friona caught 1.12 Saturday, and had received .13 on Friday. Another .02 inches which fell Sunday and Monday brought Friona's total to 1.27 as of Tuesday morning.

The Farwell area's rainfall was light. John Hadley, who farms five miles south of Farwell, measured .60 inches, and E.E. Routon, seven miles east, had just a trace.

At Black, 1.6 inches of rain fell from Thursday through Monday, with 1.3 inches coming Saturday. The area immediately around Lazbuddie received around .25 inches of rain, but also experienced losses due to Sunday's sandstorm.

Lariat reported .8 inches of rain Saturday, with scattered hail. Amounts around Oklahoma Lane varied from a quarter of an inch to an inch or better, but all of this was offset by the damage done on Sunday by the wind and sand.

While the Rhea vicinity and the area west of Friona was practically skipped on moisture last weekend, the Rhea community did get about an inch of rain around May 1, which was their only appreciable moisture since last summer.

John Littlefield, who farms between Clay's Corner and Hub, said he received about .30 inches of rain, but Running Water Draw on his place was flowing from 150 to 200 feet wide, an indication of the heavy, hard rains to the west.

Cloudy, misty weather continued on the scene Tuesday, but most farmers were willing for it just to pass on by rather than provoke the type of weather that hit some sections,

Mixed Emotions

Parmer County farmers greeted the moisture of last weekend with mixed emotions. On the left is a map of the county, indicating the rainfall received during the past week through Tuesday, and the areas receiving heavy wind and sand damage, indicated by the wind clouds. Below is Tom Lewellen, who farms near Friona, Lewellen is typical of Parmer County farmers whose young cotton was hard hit by the hard rain, hail, and blowing sand, which reduced it to stubble. But in the other picture, it is evident that the wheat was for the most part unharmed. It was able to hold most of the moisture, and will profit from it.

FOOTSAVING EDUCATION

by James E. Edwards

Why Don't Cheap Shoes Fit Like "Good" Shoes?

There are two concepts of shoe fitting. One looks at the foot as it stands; the other as it works. The front of the standing foot is the toe end but the front of the working foot is the heel. Correct walking is heel and toe.

"Good" shoes are made to be fitted from the heel forward, through the arch, to the ball of the foot. A properly fitted "good" shoe does not fit the toes; it must be roomy ahead, on the sides and above the toes. With this desirable roominess up front, the arch and heel sections must fit well to keep the foot from sliding forward and popping out of the shoe. Such construction requires better, slower shoemaking and that costs money.

The other concept of a shoe fit regards only the toes. The one criterion is that the toes must be at or very near the end of the shoe. The heel won't slip because a short shoe exerts enough pressure to hold it on. After a short time the toe-fitted shoes give enough to allow the great toes to hit the ends of the shoes. Then every walking step is crowding those toes forward with a lever action which exerts pressure that is six to eight times the weight of the child's body.

Unfortunately there is no pain at the time but selective service examinations, the lost-time records of industries, and the millions of dollars America spends on foot treatment are ample evidence that we sabotage the future health and happiness of Americans more effectively than any enemy could hope to.

A $17,000 program sponsored jointly by the Texas Water Commission and the High Plains Undergruond Water Conservation District is currently being instigated in Parmer County and other counties in the water district.

The purpose of the program is to systemtize the "test wells" in the district and give them a permanent identification number.

"We are re-mapping the area and adding new wells in areas where we previously had no test wells," says Frank Rayner, geology engineer from the Texas Water Commission.

Rayner explained that when the water level measuring program was begun several years ago, some areas, which may have been considered remote, were skipped. The commission, in cooperation with the water district, hopes to get the entire district's test wells on a more representative basis.

There are around 53 existing "test wells" in Parmer County, it was pointed out, and about 15 new wells are to be added to the list. All the new wells are being identified with an aluminum plate, which has a number stamped on it for each particular well. The "old" test wells will receive these numbers as it is convenient.

Different farmers have different attitudes about the water commission and the water district using their wells for test purposes, Rayner said. "Some think we're interfering with them. Others request that we use their wells."

"Actually, it's an advantage for a well to be chosen as a test well," he said. "A farmer has an accurate yearly measurement of his water level at the well, and can tell when he will need to lower his pump, at a time when it is convenient to him," Rayner said.

The program amounts to an "insurance policy," the water commission representative said. He pointed out that this area, which has undisputed records of its water supply, are more readily accepted for farm loans than areas where the water supply is purely guesswork.

Rayner and Wayne Wyatt, of the water district, stressed that farmers should not place too much emphasis on water level comparisons from one year to the next, but should look at the long-time trend, if one is available.

"We can't take every well as a test well which people ask us to use," Rayner said, pointing out that they must stick by their general plan, and have wells located proportionately throughout the county.

As a general rule, Rayner said, High Plains farmers are the most practical users of their irrigation water than any other group in the United States.

A general awareness of the need to conserve irrigation water is prevalent, he said, and this is good. "Farmers are constantly looking for ways of saving irrigation water, through new hybrids, irrigation methods, and so forth," he said.

It's the general feeling that by handling their water conservation program themselves, and through the district as organized by farmers, the federal and state governments will be less likely to come in and regulate irrigation practices. And this is just another good reason for farmers to be conservative, and cooperate with their own water district.

Warren Promoted At Research Lab

Billy Gene Warren, Assistant Farm Foreman at the High Plains Research Foundation, has been promoted to Laboratory Assistant. He will assist Delbert Langford, Associate Agronomist in the soils and fertilizer research program at the Foundation.

"Warren's successful direction and operation of the farm's research program entitled him to his recent promotion," Dr. Earl Collister, Director, said in announcing the recognition. Prior to joining the staff at Halfway in 1957, Warren farmed at Daugherty, and he was elevator superintendent with the Producers Cooperative Elevator in Floydada. He received his high school diploma in Floydada and his bookkeeping certificate from Lippert's in Plainview.

Warren, his wife Johnnie and three sons reside at the Foundation Staff House number two at Halfway.

DERYL COKER

Last Saturday and Sunday sure wasn't cotton days for us. A great deal of cotton was damaged and some lost due to hard winds and some hail.

Most cotton was in the two leaf stage and at this point it is very susceptible to damage from anything.

Cooler weather and sand and hail damage is going to invite seedling disease. I have already observed some sore shin.

Seedling diseases are caused by a complex of seed-borne and soil-inhabiting organisms. Damping off losses may occur before or after emergence of the seedling. After the seedling makes more growth the disease is referred to as soreshin or seedling blight.

The various organisms causing seedling diseases are found in all cotton producing areas in the United States. Damage is most severe under cold, damp conditions which retard germination and seedling growth. Several of the organisms causing seedling diseases are carried on the seed. They remain on the seed until the next planting season unless removed or destroyed by seed-treating materials.

Seedling diseases have so many different effects on the plant that it is difficult to give any brief summary of them. In general, however, infected plants are pale, unhealthy and slow growing. Reddish-brown, sunken lesions near or below the ground line are typical of soreshin. Sometimes seedling diseases will wipe out entire fields of young cotton, but more often they result in skippy, uneven stands.

A large percentage of the sick plants will survive and produce cotton if favorable conditions exist throughout the growing season.

Good cultivation would help keep the soil aerated and promote faster recovery.

If you are thinking of replanting your cotton be sure you don't have a stand, because if you were to lose the next stand it would be too late to make a good crop, and also plant the fastest varieties available.

Not Too Late For Summer Pasture

It is not too late in most areas of Texas to provide for temporary summer pasture.

Of course, points out A. C. Novosad, extension pasture specialist, moisture conditions are a primary consideration and until very recently soil moisture deficiencies were widespread. Recent rains, however, have been received in many areas and have made planting possible.

He says four groups of plants, Sudangrass, including Common, Sweet, Tift, Greenleaf and Piper; Sudan-Johnsongrass types such as sorghum alnum and perennial sweet sorgrass; Sudan-sorghum hybrids which include a large number of commercially available hybrids and Pearl millet, including Gahl-1, Starr, Texas No. 7 and Common, are the most satisfactory for temporary summer grazing.

Sudan-sorghum hybrids have generally ranked first in yield tests followed by the Sudan-Johnsongrass types and Sudan varieties. The Sudan hybrids and types generally have a larger stalk than the varieties, however, this characteristic does not seem to create a palatability problem, says Novosad.

Pearl millet will produce more forage than Sudan varieties on acid soils in East Texas, on severely eroded soils in Central Texas and on soils where Sudan and other sorghums "yellow-out."

Pastures should be mowed if forage growth gets ahead of grazing, says Novosad. This keeps the plants producing new growth of high quality forage if moisture and fertility are available. The excess forage should be utilized as hay or silage, he says.

Top dressing with nitrogen is especially important after each hay cutting or grazing if moisture is available and more forage is needed. If weeds are a problem, and a chemical such as 2,4-D is used for control, be sure the weeds are young, succulent and growing fast and that the chemical is used with care to prevent injury to susceptible crops.

Novosad suggests that plans be started now for fall grazing crops and that the county agent be contacted for local recommendations and other information.

"Soil Stewardship Week" Proclaimed By Governor

"Today, with our population rapidly increasing, we must recognize the indispensability of soil, water and plants as the major sources of food and fiber for our people and raw products for industrial processing and handling," so said Governor John Connally in proclaiming the week of May 19-26 as Soil Stewardship Week in Texas.

Kerrville, and Lynn Pittard, soil and water conservation specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reported interest in this year's observance at a high pitch. They added that churches throughout Texas are planning special services during the observance and invite all citizens to attend and participate in them.

"As these resources are conserved and developed, we are making possible the continued strength of Texas and assuring our people of a continuing high standard of living. Most important of all, the soil and water will be continued in its lasting service to men of future generations as a God-given trust," he continued.

Many of the state's soil conservation districts are also planning tours, special meetings and recognition for achievements in their districts. The theme for the 1963 observance is -- "Eyes to the Future."

George Holekamp, chairman of the Soil Stewardship Committee, Association of Texas Soil Conservation Districts,

The Farmer County Soil Conservation District has been conducting four separate tours, later in the summer. SCD officials indicate that these may be lumped into one tour this year, to be held in July or August.

Soil Stewardship Week is sponsored nationally by the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts.

Experiment Station Begins Program On Boll Weevils

W. L. Owen, Associate Entomologist at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Lubbock has reported to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. that TAES will begin an intensive vigilance for cotton boll weevil appearance in 26 counties in and around the High Plains Area. Actual checks for weevil presence will start on Monday, May 20, and will continue for two weeks.

From one to seven farmers in each of the 26 counties have planted plots of early cotton on land adjacent to possible weevil hibernation points, and initial checking will be done on these plots along with any other cotton in the area which may be far enough advanced to attract the dreaded pest, Owens said. He added that recent hot weather should bring the weevils out of hibernation if they have overwintered in the area.

To assure a complete check, the Plant Pest Control division of the USDA is sending about eight men into the area to work with TAES personnel; the aid of county agents and Future Farmers will be enlisted; Charles Chapman of the Texas Department of Agriculture will be in the area with two men from that agency, and John Thomas, Associate Extension Entomologist from Texas A. & M., will assist on a part time basis. The survey will be under Owen's supervision in the area from Aspermont North, and another TAES Survey representative, W. H. Newton, will be in charge of counties south of Aspermont.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., which has been working with the boll weevil problem since damage was first noted in the eastern section of the High Plains, will continue to make its staff and facilities available for use in boll weevil detection and eradication programs.

Counties in which early planting plots are located include Wheeler, Donley, Collingsworth, Briscoe, Hall, Childress, Hardeman, Wilbarger, Wichita, Clay, Dickens, Knox, Baylor, Kent, Stonewall, Haskell, Throckmorton, Fisher, Jones, Mitchell, Nolan, Taylor, Coke and Runnels.

Fire Losses--

bined, their loss rates averaged about 15 cents per $100 of insurance.

Farm fires continued to strike about two out of 100 farms each year. The "burning rate" (per cent of value destroyed) for farm and rural property is about six times that for urban property, according to annual reports of state fire marshals in three midwestern states.

Buildings and their contents accounted for about 85 per cent of fire losses paid by the sample companies. Dwellings and contents accounted for 42 per cent; barns and their contents, 27 per cent; and other buildings including rural churches and schools, 16 per cent.

Personal property, chiefly machinery and equipment, livestock and unstored produce, accounted for the other 15 per cent of losses paid. About 80-90 per cent of the losses paid on livestock were due to lightning.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU BY RAYMOND EULER

Not for the sake of the organization, Farm Bureau, but for the sake of the members and non-members of Farm Bureau, the American farmers, we hope the results on the wheat referendum are NO. The answer will be known when you read this.

We hope and believe the American farmer is well aware of the things, generally, which are referred to as free enterprise and capitalism, that have made it possible for an individual to go into business and fall or succeed, whichever his management provides. And, if he fails, gives him the opportunity to try again to succeed.

We note with satisfaction that the astronauts who have been performing for the space agencies of our defense department express an abiding faith in God as the primary reasons for their confidence when it comes time for the crucial blast off or landing operations. Statements from their families also point to the fact that this faith in, and dependence upon God is not something reserved for crucial hours or times of distress, but that they play a part of importance in their daily lives.

Even though there are many dark pages in the history of America, because of the acts of unethical men in places of power, the prayers of the faithful Christian men and women have upheld the country for a heritage of each new generation to demonstrate their faith in God to make it possible for them to retain their freedom and leave behind a better world for their children to live in.

Economic and social matters are important to any group of people, but ideals of either of these are dependent upon the placing of Christian ethics first. These are only facts of history and the future. Sometimes we lose sight of these important things because of the time consuming nature of the material things.

We urge you to call upon us anytime we may be of service to you in any way.

CONSIDER THIS: A wise servant shall have rule over a son that causeth shame, and shall have part of the inheritance among the brethren. Proverbs 17:2

Screwworm Cases Show Big Decrease

There was good news this week from the officials of the screwworm eradication program and also a word of warning. They reported that the number of screwworm cases in Texas in April totaled 357 compared with 2,633 during April 1962, a very sizable drop. Also, that only 574 cases were reported during the first four months of 1963 as compared with 3,085 cases for the same period last year.

Authorities credited the combined factors of a severe insect-killing winter, heavy release of sterile flies and good cooperation from farmers and ranchers who are detecting and treating infestations for the decrease in screwworm incidence.

Grazing Cattle May Face Big Nutritional Deficiencies

Beef cattle which have been on dry ranges for the past six months or more may face serious nutritional deficiencies, says U. D. Thompson, extension animal husbandman. Of major importance is the lack of sufficient range grass or forage. The low quality or absence of total digestible nutrients is a further complicating factor, he adds. This kind of roughage contains little or no protein, phosphorus and vitamin A.

Decisions are difficult to make during stress periods. An attempt should be made to balance livestock numbers and forage supplies. Calves may be weaned earlier to help relieve grazing pressure and improve cow conditions. Fewer replacement cattle should be kept and culling is always in order. Non-breeders, slow breeders, irregular breeders and cows which consistently produce lower grade, light weight calves should be marketed. Thompson recommends that cows be palpated to determine pregnancy and to sell those not pregnant.

Under conditions of extreme drought, it may be advisable to confine the foundation herd to a small acreage. High energy feeds such as grains and protein supplements may be fed in limited amounts for maintenance. Forage is the critical feed, however, and is usually high in cost for total digestible nutrients, he says. A protein supplement fed with the forage will improve digestion.

Phosphorus is the most likely mineral to be deficient under drought conditions. A mineral supplement high in phosphorus should be fed free choice or in controlled drinking water and salt should also be fed free choice, the specialist advises.

Vitamin A may or may not be deficient depending upon the forage available. Protein supplements fortified with vitamin A should be considered. Synthetic vitamin A is available for use in drinking water, injections or for mixing with feed.

Thompson points out that most Texas livestock producers have had experience handling stock during periods of stress and that decision making on management practices becomes almost an individual proposition.

Sudan FFA Sweetheart Is Winner

Dyanne Curry, daughter Mr. and Mrs. Bill Curry Sudan recently won the title of Area I Sweetheart over 17 other candidates.

Dyanne and the other finalists represented the six districts which make up the Area I. This area consists of chapters and over 4,000 vocational agriculture members. A of the Panhandle of Texas is Area I.

Each of the district winners competed against 15 to 20 girls to be eligible to compete in the Area contest. The Area contest was held in conjunction with the Area I FFA Convention held in Amarillo, May 11. Approximately 300 people attended the convention.

There are ten areas in the state of Texas. Each of these areas have elected their own sweetheart. In July delegates from over 900 chapters will assemble in Lubbock for the State Future Farmer Convention. Each of the areas will bring their chosen Sweetheart to compete for the title of State FFA Sweetheart.

"Only Spent $1.75 For Repairs Cutting My Maize Crop!"

CASE 600 COMBINE OWNER REPORT FROM

George Douglas, Oklahoma Lane Farmer

--- Best Combine In The Field ---

Select The Case Combine That's Right For You Now!

"I bought my Case 600 combine the latter part of September, 1961. I cut over a million pounds of maize—260 acres that averaged 6,000 pounds, and 50 acres of dry land maize that averaged 1800 pounds per acre—and spent only $1.75 on repairs! This is the best combine I have ever used. The 600 combine handles easy and turns around at the end just as easy as my Case 600 tractor. I farm 485 acres of land, and cut 115 acres of wheat and about 300 acres of maize in 1962 with my 600 combine."

Farmers Offered Chance To Host City Vacationers

Do you need a little additional income from your farm this summer?

Now that the children are off to school or married, do you have a little extra room in that farm house? Then maybe you'd like to become a host for a few weeks each year for Farm Vacations and Holidays, Inc.

The crowded city, the family car, the superhighway and the friendly countryside seem to have a natural outcome... farm vacationing. Thousands of city dwellers this year will take to the highway, then to the country road and wind up in the homes of farm folks who a week or so later seem like old friends.

Most farm vacationers are families. Some are senior citizens. Others are children going off without their parents. Still others are travelers from abroad, learning something about America at its real grass roots.

Farm Vacations, Inc., is a New York organization that helps these people get together with farm families who want the experience of playing "hosts" to travelers -- and make a nice profit at the same time.

Although farms in some 27 states and in Canada are listed as vacation sites, the service does not yet have any Texas farms included. And many Texas farmers -- especially those close to the hundreds of scenic wonders and recreation spots -- are perhaps missing a real opportunity.

If the idea of paying guests appeals to you, an inquiry to Farm Vacations may bring dividends in many ways. The address is: Farm Vacations and Holidays, Inc., 36 East 57 Street, New York 22, N. Y. If the organization feels your farm is a possible vacation site, a representative will call to make an investigation and arrangements.
