

Tribune football contest to begin 28th year

For the football fanatic, it's THAT time again.

It's time for area prognosticators to probe the sports columns, read the charts and check with their favorite armchair quarterbacks.

Then you mix the stew together and make up your own mind on who is going to be in the win column of the football picks in the upcoming Tribune Football Contest.

For the 28th consecutive year, area and local merchants are sponsoring the contest. This year, it gets under way next Friday, Sept. 5, when the initial list of 12 games will appear on the contest blank in the Tribune.

Top prize for the winner of the 12-week contest will again be two tickets to see the Dallas Cowboys play at Texas Stadium, plus free overnight lodging at the Regent Hotel, free transportation to and from Texas Stadium at Irving, and $50 to help with expenses.

This year's game will be the Cowboys' finale - against the World Champion Chicago Bears Dec. 21.

Here is a list of the merchants sponsoring this year's contest:

1. Security State Bank.
2. Citizens Bank (Texico branch).
3. Worley Mills.
4. Sherley-Anderson (Farwell and Lariat).
5. Eastern New Mexico Rural Telephone.
6. Cal Jordan Implements.
7. Farwell Farm Supply.
8. Farwell Insurance.
9. Carmack.
10. Jim Berry, CPA.
11. Waste Control of New Mexico.
12. West Plains Pharmacy.
13. Farwell Hardware.
14. Kirkland Pump.
15. Franse Irrigation.
16. Lovelace Oil.
17. Farwell United Drugs.
18. Capitol Foods.
19. Kelly Green Seeds.
20. Lunsford Auto Parts.
21. Farmers Cooperative Elevators.
22. Luce's Spur Restaurant.
23. Gil Kaltwasser.
24. JB's Discount Sports.
25. Williams Fertilizer.
26. Tedson Trailers.
27. Nutri-Tech.
28. Farwell Fertilizer.

29. Dura Bilt.
30. Burger Barn.

Rules for the 1986 contest will be the same as in the past. A person must be at least 12 years of age to enter. Entrants must choose the 12 teams they think will win the selected contests. Games will be divided among high school, college and professional ranks. In case of a tie game, unless a tie is predicted by the entrant, that game will not be counted.

Each entrant must also remember to pick a tiebreaker score, a very important feature of the contest since many weekly winners have also been determined by the tiebreakers.

The person naming the most games correctly each week will receive a check for $10 and the person choosing the second highest number correctly will get $5.

Each week's scoring is tabulated and kept on record at the State Line Tribune office. The standings are posted for inspection each Monday and may be seen at any time.

All entry blanks must be turned in to the Tribune office by 5 p.m. CDT Fridays or, if mailed, must bear a Friday postmark.

It's very important that you enter each week's contest in order to have a strong shot at being the overall winner. Even if you never pick an 11 or 12 to take a weekly check, you can take the overall prize with a consistent 8 or 9 weekly tally.

Entry blanks for the first contest will be in next week's Tribune and also at the Tribune office after 1 p.m. Thursday.

Last year's winner was David Dannheim. Other winners over the years were:

Bunk Phillips, Maxine Williams, Ken Horn, Jerry Dee Owen, Gay Goettsch, Thelma Alexander, A.D. Kirk, Dodie Atkinson, Greg Hargrove, Dee Owen, Doris Herington, Ruth Scott, C.L. Mahaney, Mrs. Roy Everett.

Also, T.J. Kittrell, Terry Craft, Becky Taylor, Willie Roberts, Jerry Roddam, Dale Sikes, Erlene Porter, Rusty McFarland and Sam Gonzales.

He crushed the ball!

Well, folks, if you look at the masthead on this page you will note that this is the 52nd edition of the Tribune's 74th year.

Yes, that means that next week's issue will be our Diamond Anniversary.

We've been working on a special commemorative issue that will contain an oral history of Texico-Farwell. Unless I miss my bet, it will be an issue you and your family will treasure for many years.

It's the Tribune's way of helping celebrate Texas' Sesquicentennial. We hope you enjoy it.

Also, in line with our birthday party, we've ordered a special cake from Ina's Bakery for Friday, Sept. 5. We'll have coffee here, too. We hope you stop by and help celebrate our 75th.

It should be one heckuva Friday, what with the start of the annual football contest. There's another story on this page dealing with that so I won't go into details here. Suffice it to say that more than 600 persons participated in last year's contest (12 years old and up). That spells a fun time.

I plan to keep to the same format that I've been using: four high school games, four college contests and four pro tilts. I like that variety.

The only bad thing about the football contest is that I can't enter. On the other hand, maybe that's a good thing. If I won each year, it would take a lot of the excitement out, wouldn't it? (Just kidding, folks.)

Larry Cochran, our local Southern Union Gas fella, called the other day.

It seems that some elderly ladies in our community are being called by a fella who says he can sell them an item to save them on their gas bill.

Larry said he inspected one such "cost saver" and the only thing he could see was that the jet was smaller. This might mean that less gas is used, but it seems you have to run your gas longer - so it doesn't change.

Larry said his company is unable to find out who this salesman is because he isn't leaving his name or company's name; just telling the ladies what the cost to them would be.

If you are called by the salesman, Larry asks that you call him before buying the item in question.

A funny thing happened to me the other day. When I was in Hereford last week getting the Tribune printed, I had to stop by Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative for an ad for next week's special issue.

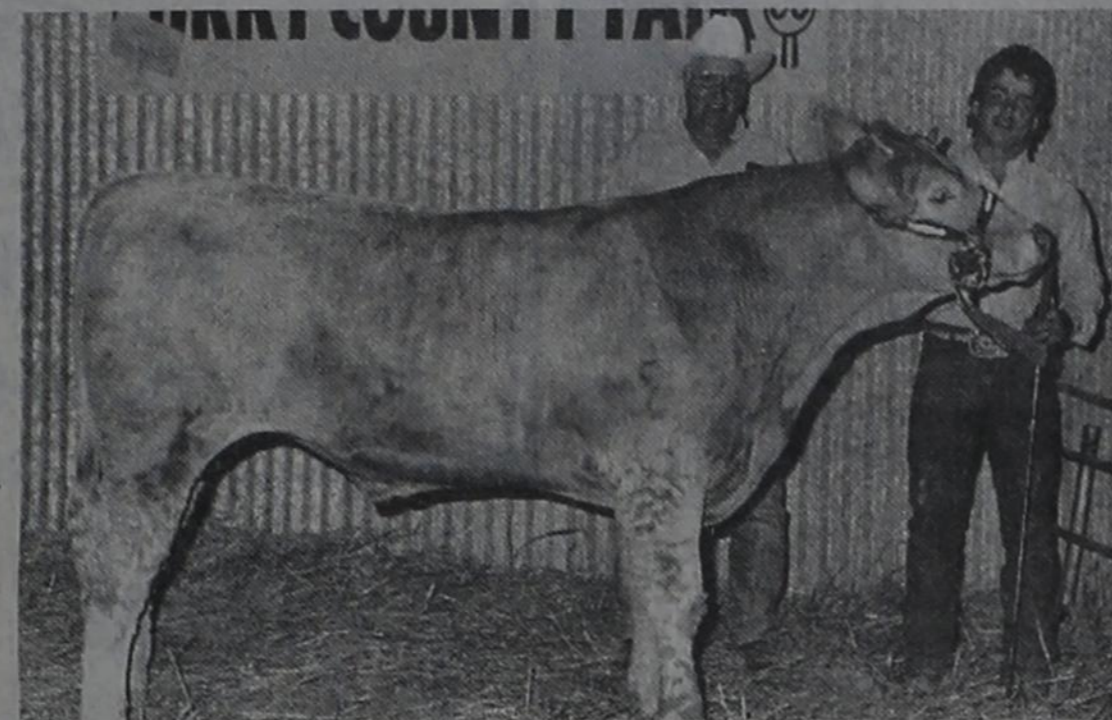

When I walked in, the place was in total darkness. I could barely make out the outline of several folks and immediately blurted out, "What? No electricity?"

They laughed and then explained that a few minutes earlier a motorist had sent his vehicle into a light pole, knocking out the area's electricity.

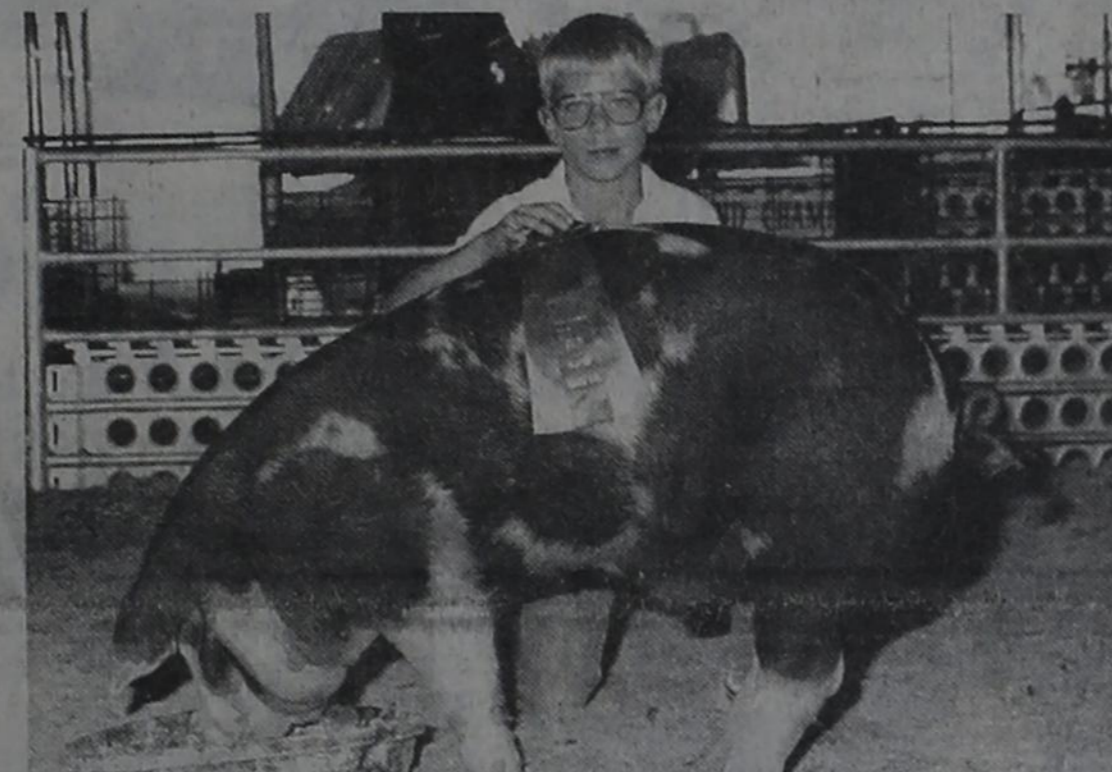

Speaking of unusual occurrences, here's another oddity. I found myself on the Muleshoe golf course last week watching Johnny Atkinson tee off. I believe it was the second hole.

Well, he whipped that driver around and the ball disintegrated.

Trash pickup times may be changed

John Good, district manager for Waste Control of New Mexico, attended Tuesday's Texico City Council meeting to discuss possibly changing the times when trash is picked up.

Since the service began last year, the date has been each Thursday. But there have been complaints that the garbage truck arrives at different times during that day to make their pickups.

Good explained that it's very difficult for one man to keep a tight schedule and make all the city pickups at the same time on a given day. He also noted that Waste Control has picked up added business in Portales and Clovis.

So the City Council agreed to Good's recommendation that half the city get their garbage picked up on Thursdays and half on Fridays.

No decision has been made yet on where the dividing line will be. Good said it will take a month or two to work out the details.

The council also agreed to another

Good suggestion: to locate a radio base station at City Hall.

Good said Waste Control will buy it and install it. The city will use it to contact city employees, and Good will use it to contact his employees.

It also was emphasized that residents should not put out garbage cans, but only use the Poly Karts.

Also, the city plans to give copies of the trash regulations to new residents.

In other business, the council expressed displeasure over the fact that work wasn't proceeding on the new well to be built.

At the last meeting, the council had hired Santa Fe engineer Ralph Vail to handle the project. But City Clerk Marie Christian reported that she still hasn't received a contract from him.

The council instructed City Attorney Duane Hamar to check with the state engineer for advice on how to proceed more rapidly.

The city only has one water well operating now. It just received an emergency $50,000 grant from the state to build a second one.

Also, at the meeting:

-The council approving allowing an office building to be moved into the city along the highway for Realtor Charlotte Pierce.

-Councilman Bryan Kube said parts of Lamar Street had large holes in it.

-The council approved a $100 a month raise for City Marshal Dave Wheeler and commended him on the job he is doing.

-The council appointed Councilman Butch Tharp to work with Wheeler and discuss how much private properties in the city need to be cleaned up (rid of junk). They will report back to the council before actions are taken.

It was noted that this area is one for the city planning and zoning commission to work on. But the new commission has tried twice to meet so far but hasn't had a quorum yet so its status is in limbo.

Booster Club expands scope

The Texico Booster Club decided Aug. 21 at its first meeting of the 1986-87 year to expand its focus.

Previously, the club had been involved basically with athletics. It provides the awards for the annual athletic banquet in May and it has purchased various uniforms for athletic teams.

More recently, it provided the funds to send the cheerleaders to camp this summer where they were voted "No. 1," said Booster Club member Peggy Holland.

But the club has had a problem with a lack of parents showing up for meetings and getting involved. So the club decided to broaden its scope and get involved with other aspects of school support, such as with band, cheerleaders, elementary and junior high activities, clubs, etc.

The next club meeting will be at 7 p.m. MDT Sept. 2 at the high school library.

Club President James Holland said he hopes as many parents as possible attend, regardless of which activities their children are in. Club membership is $5 per year. The club meets on the first Tuesday of each month.

"It's your school, and your kids need support," said Holland, addressing the parents.

Also at the meeting, the club decided to go ahead with its annual calendar fund-raiser. The deadline is Aug. 30 for turning in ads to Holland.

Holland also suggested that a goal for the club be to build two buildings to house the ticket-sellers at football games. Currently, teachers at both entrances to the stadium sit at card tables during the cold weather.

Brooms, bulbs to be sold

Attention, Texico-Farwell: Two major sales are on tap.

On Sept. 2, 3 and 4, the Texico-Farwell Lions Club members, wearing their yellow vests, will be going door-to-door to sell light bulbs. This is a popular annual fund-raiser.

Also, on Sept. 4, the club will be selling brooms, to help the blind, in front of the Texico and Farwell post offices.

Outdoor Mass

At right, Maricruz Loera and Antonio Nunez were among the dancers who provided entertainment for the members of the San Jose Church, which held a Mass and picnic in Farwell Park Sunday. Below, are some of the more than 200 members present.

'Meet the Steers' planned

The Farwell Booster Club will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Farwell cafeteria.

This will be "Meet the Steers" night and parents of the football players will be introduced.

The program will be on the new football equipment and demonstrations will be given as to its safety for the players.

Parents of the first-time players, parents of the other players and any other booster fans are invited to attend.

Refreshments will be served.

Next week the booster club will have some high school officials from Lubbock come and discuss the rules and regulations of the game for all those would-be officials and other boosters.

Lady Wolverines prepare for season

Michael Littlejohn, Texico Lady Wolverines volleyball coach, says that the girls have a good mental attitude, are working hard and putting out a lot of effort.

About 17 girls will be playing with the varsity and junior varsity teams.

Littlejohn states that the girls are mostly younger and lack in experience.

"The team doesn't have a lot of height, so we will have to play better defensively. We have only two starters back from last year and have lost 12 years worth of experience, but we hope to build from that and gain the experience," he said.

The team has a lot of strength in Twila Longo. "She is a real good hitter and looks to be one of the top hitters in district," says Littlejohn.

Littlejohn states that Traci McDonald, a senior, serves good all around. Robin Pierce looks good as a setter and has improved from last year.

Geneva Garcia is coming along as a hitter and Heather Delaney, a junior from Austin has good skills as a setter.

Littlejohn, says Angie Liggins has worked extremely hard and is putting out a lot of effort. She could see some playing time. Leslie Stewart, a sophomore, is a good all-around player, is real quick, and is the best vertical jumper on the team, he said.

Deana McDaniel is a good setter and a strong server and Valerie Calvallerio, a freshman looks to be a good setter, states Littlejohn.

Littlejohn says that Jennifer Gentry is one of the hitters and is gaining good experience, and Tresa Thomas will be vying for one of the setter slots.

Among those working to earn a slot on the squads are Jennifer Williams, Christi Lovelace, Schree Thigpen and Paige Lewis.

Littlejohn states that the team is not as strong offensively, since they lost two all-state setters, but are working on setting, hitting, passing and a good general defensive game. "We want to try to play without mistakes and be aggressive, but at the same time keep our defense working," he said.

The Lady Wolverines will play the same schedule as they had last year.

The team is picked fourth in district but has won the district, regional, and state titles in the past years. Coach Littlejohn says, "If we can get past district, we can make it."

Teams from Clovis, Tucumcari, Elida, Floyd, Ft. Sumner and Texico met for a girls volleyball scrimmage at Texico Aug. 23.

Coach Michael Littlejohn reported that the Texico girls played extremely well as far as passing and serving, but that they didn't hit or set like they should. But they haven't been practicing those skills as much. Littlejohn looks for them to improve as the season goes on.

Littlejohn states he and the girls can see where they need improvement and that they have about three weeks to work on it, before the Cloudfcroft tournament Sept. 13.

Steers score 4 TD's

The Farwell Steers met Nazareth here Friday night with the Farwell Steers scoring 4 touchdowns and Nazareth scoring one.

Jeff Atkinson scored three TD's and Steve Lara scored one.

Coach Rex Cumpston says that the second unit offense scored two touchdowns and the first unit scored two, also.

Cumpston was happy with their performance, especially relating to the fact that Nazareth was rated higher than they were last year.

The defense played real well, and were a step ahead of the offense. Coach Cumpston thinks they will catch up, later.

Singleterry, Teague exchange vows

Melissa Kay Singleterry and Mark Lee Teague, both of Pleasant Hill, exchanged wedding vows June 7 in the Pleasant Hill Baptist Church. Melissa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Singleterry. Mark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Ray Teague. All are of Pleasant Hill.

Rev. Rick Ketterling of Clovis officiated at the double-ring ceremony as the couple exchanged vows before a 15 branch candelabra and twin 9 candle clusters. The candelabra were decorated with white candles and varieties of silk flowers featuring the chosen wedding theme colors of pink, green, blue, and yellow. Votive candle pew-markers, palms and garlands with candles completed the decorations.

The candles were lit by Martin Singleterry, brother of the bride and Justin Barnes, cousin of the groom. They wore silver-grey tuxedos with blue cummerbunds and bow ties.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mike Teague, brother of the groom. He wore a tuxedo matching the candlelighters. The soloist was Randy Cain, of Pleasant Hill who sang, "Our Love In Christ."

The bride given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father, wore a traditional wedding gown of satin and chiffon. The gown featured a high neckline and fitted bodice of lace with a lace ruffle defining the bodice. The high waistline flowed from the bodice into a fitted A-line skirt in the front to gathers in back and on into a chapel train. Three rows of deep lace edged the skirt and train. The bodice and matching fingertip veil cap were sprinkled with tiny seed pearls.

Long lace sleeves tapered to buttoned fitted cuffs and were also pearl sprinkled. White patent leather pumps completed her outfit. She carried a cascade bouquet of daisies, carnations, rosebuds and stephanotis. She also carried a keepsake handkerchief given to her by the groom's grandmother. In keeping with tradition, something old was her mother's ruby ring, worn by her mother in her own wedding. Something new were her shoes and pearl earrings given to her by the groom. Something borrowed was the wedding dress and veil, belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Wes Tanaka. Something blue was her garter.

Maid of honor was Leah Kelley of Pleasant Hill. She wore a tea length dress of dotted swiss. The dress had a deep v neckline and a dropped waistline repeating the v neckline. The skirt was full dirndle, the sleeves had deep pleats and ended above the elbows. Bridesmaids were Kelly Lynn, who wore pink; Coy Jo Burk, who wore green, and Lucia Jesko, who wore yellow. Their dresses were identical to the maid of honor. Each girl wore a white flower halo and carried arm clutches of flowers in colors matching their dress. They wore white shoes and accessories matching the dress color.

The bridegroom was attired in a white tuxedo with tails, white tie and cummerbund. His boutonniere was white carnation and stephanotis.

Gary Reid of Logan served as best man. Junior best man was Lance Teague, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Tad Mayfield of Phoenix, Frank Cantu of Farwell, and Steve Pruitt of Bedford, Texas. They wore silver-grey tuxedos with cummerbunds and ties matching the color of the girls dress they escorted. Ushers were Slade Clark of Friona, Brad Heflin of San Antonio, John Drake of Albuquerque, Shawn Smith of Dallas, and Doyle Garner of Bovina.

The mother of the bride wore a silk print dress featuring the brides chosen wedding colors. Her corsage was a pink lilly with tiny rosebuds and baby's breath. Her shoes were winter rose.

The mother of the groom wore a two piece dress of light blue accented with white lace. Her corsage was white rosebuds and blue baby's breath. She wore white accessories.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with white chiffon and decorated with ribbons. It was centered with a three tiered heart shaped cake. The cake was topped by two doves holding ribbon streamers that connected two smaller heart cakes to the larger cake. The cake was designed and decorated by the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Ray Barnes. The bride's bouquet was placed on a stand and used as decoration. Raspberry punch was served from a crystal punch bowl belonging to the brides grandmother, Mrs. Clyde Vandivere. The four wedding colors were used in the napkins.

The groom's table was also covered with white chiffon and ribbons. It had a large German chocolate cake, made by Mike Teague and a brass coffee service and two blue candles on it. Brass appointments were used.

There was also a table decorated in the wedding colors with finger foods for the guests. The gold fruit serving set was from the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Noel Teague. Crystal platters were from the groom's great grandmothers. Servers were Melanie Furrow, Rachel Jaramillo, Kathy Harrison, Carolyn Kelly, and Wendy Sherill. Floating hostesses were Tany and Tena Vandivere, K'Aun, D'Aun and D'Laun Barnes, all cousins of the wedding couple.

Mrs. Ed Wilson, cousin of the bride, registered guests. The guest book table was covered with yellow and a white lace cloth. It was decorated with a bride and groom music box given to the couple by the bride's uncle, A.D. McDonald.

For a going-away outfit the bride wore a dusty pink three piece pants suit of cotton and silk. She wore matching pink shoes and a pearl necklace given to her by her grandmother, Mrs. Clyde Vandivere.

After a honeymoon trip to California the couple will be at home in Pleasant Hill where Mark is engaged in farming.

A wedding rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at their home. They were assisted by Mrs. Bill Read, Mrs. Paul Barnes, Mrs. Terry Lusk and Mrs. Juan Flores.

The couple was honored with three wedding showers and Melissa was honored with a lingerie shower in the home of Wanda and Leah Kelley. At a tea for the bridesmaids, Melissa presented the girls with wedding jewelry.

Texico plays 3-way scrimmage

Texico played in a 3-way scrimmage last week.

The Wolverines played Clayton with Texico failing to score and Clayton scoring one time.

In a scrimmage with Las Vegas Robertson, Texico didn't score.

Coach David Lynn says the boys played real good defense, but that they need to polish up on their offensive line. He was pleased with their physical contact and hitting abilities in the game. He says that they have a lot of young kids, and they need to be patient and let the boys mature abit.

Coach Lynn says that the main thing was that they found out what they need to work on.

Texico is playing seven boys who have never played with the varsity, and the scrimmage was a step in the way of a learning experience.

Texico will play Estancia at Texico, Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Texas Navy has a brief existence

1837: TUESDAY, AUGUST 29. Texas Navy Commodore H.L. Thompson, captain of the Invincible, today reported to the Navy Department the loss of the last two ships of the Texas Navy, which originally consisted of three ships. The Invincible was grounded Sunday on a shoal off Galveston Island during a battle with two Mexican warships, the Iturbide and Liberator. After two days of high winds and heavy seas, she has been wrecked beyond repair. The two Mexican ships have since departed.

In the same engagement, the other Texas ship, the Brutus, was also grounded. In a futile rescue attempt by the steamer Branch T. Archer, her rudder was destroyed, and she was broken up in the high seas.

The Navy's only other ship, the Independence, was captured by the Mexicans off Veslaco on April 17, while a large number of citizens watched the battle from shore. She has since been incorporated into the Mexican fleet.

During its brief existence, the Navy has plied Gulf waters, and has brought into Galveston a number of captured enemy ships. There have also been frequent landings along the Mexican coast, raiding and burning some eight or nine towns. While this has been annoying to the Mexican government, it has been the subject of sharp criticism in Texas, as well as in other nations, as an improper way to conduct warfare. In his report today, Commodore Thompson states that the Navy has claimed for Texas the large island of Cozumel, off the Yucatan coast. The Gold Star flag of the Republic, on a field of blue, was planted there on July 16. Commodore Thompson notes that it is "one of the greatest acquisitions to our beloved country that the Admiral aloft could have bestowed upon us." He reports that it has a delightful situation, a rich soil, and the finest kind of timber. A 23-gun salute accompanied the flag raising.

One of the captured ships brought into Galveston was the 180-ton English schooner Eliza Russell. She turned out to have no contraband cargo aboard, and has since been restored to her owners, to whom the Republic has agreed to pay damages.

President Sam Houston does not seem to be impressed with the Navy's exploits, and in view of this week's disaster, is expected to bring court-martial charges against Thompson and to suspend Secretary of the Navy S. Rhodes Fisher. Despite the fact that Texas now is entirely without naval protection, he has no immediate plans to obtain new ships. However, there continues to be a strong sentiment in Congress for an effective navy, especially from members who represent coastal precincts.

1843: SATURDAY, AUGUST 26. William Bollaert, a visitor from England, arrived in Bastrop today after a brief journey to Austin. He reports that upon entering that town, "dreariness and desolation presented themselves; few houses appeared inhabited and many falling to decay. The 'Legation of France' empty, its doors and windows open, palings broken down and appearing as if it would soon be in ruins. The President's House looked gloomy, the streets filled with grass and weeds, and the Western people say all this 'through the vindictiveness of Old Sam'."

"Old Sam" is President Sam Houston, who has made no secret of his dislike for Austin as a seat of government. Although he served there as a Congressman, and began his second term as President there, he has always considered it to be too remote from the population centers of Texas, and its frontier location too vulnerable to attack by Indians and Mexicans. During heavy rains, the extremely broad main streets, Congress Avenue and College Avenue, which are 120 feet wide, become seas of mud, and a person on one side finds himself almost entirely isolated from the other side.

After the brief occupation of San Antonio by General Rafael Vasquez on March 5 and 6 of last year, President Houston convoked the emergency powers granted him by the Constitution and moved the seat of government from Austin back to Houston City, where it had been located previously. In view of widespread rumors that a large Mexican invasion was on its way, he issued orders on March 10, 1842, for the transfer of the Republic's archives to Houston. He was especially concerned about the documents of the General Land Office, on which the legal ownership of all Texas land depends.

Austin had already been deserted by most of its citizens. The few who remained called a meeting and organized a resistance to the removal of the archives which they consider to be the last hope for the eventual restoration of Austin as the capital of Texas. The commander of the Austin militia, Lieutenant Colonel W.S. Wallace, issued an order to "stop any wagon running down the river, except those with a French passport." The French charge d'affaires Alphonse de Saligny, was having his archives removed to Houston. To implement Colonel Wallace's order, the citizens raided the munitions arsenal in Austin and supplied themselves with powder and lead, plus a small cannon with ammunition. They put the cannon under a shed near the corner of Congress Avenue and Pecan Street, to be used for "defense."

Meanwhile, the place is in a state of deterioration. According to the Bollaert, the elegant President's House, built especially for President Mirabeau B. Lamar, "is falling to pieces, and now the residence of bats. The Capitol is the abode of bats, lizards and stray cattle. The building having been built of green wood and run up with great expedition, the timbers have dried, become loose, the plaster peeling off, and the 'Austin soft stone' cracking. If these buildings and others in the city are not repaired in a short time, Austin will be a heap of ruins. In the flourishing times when Congress was held here, I am informed that there would be at times 1,500 people here; at present I hardly dare mention the number of resident population." Those few who have remained, he says, are among the original founders of the city, and those who have farms and plantations nearby, which they improve with great effort as "they hope for better times."

Farwell Convalescent Center Chit Chat

By Lynne Gann

Fall is around the corner. School is about to start, another cycle begins.

Christmas is four months away. Yes, I said Christmas! No, I'm not pushing, just preparing. After all it takes time to make things for gifts when you have a bunch of great grandchildren and grand-children. Time must be put to good use, ideas for all age groups thought out and all materials assembled.

Materials assembled. That brings us to the topic of this weeks article. [worked that in rather nicely don't you think?] We have several residents who crochet and have run out of yarn. They make afghans or shawls out of scrap yarn. They look quite lovely when finished. What we are hoping for is for anyone who has any yarn, any color or length, to let us know and we would be more than pleased to accept any donations. We will unravel articles and reuse the yarn also.

We are also looking for ideas on articles to make for children or small items for adults. Something that doesn't require sharp vision or nimble fingers. Any idea, hint or suggestion are welcome.

Bill Rich passed away, Saturday, Aug. 23rd. Our sincere sympathy to his family. We shall miss him.

Hassell tells lawmen: I'm here to pay the penalty

(Editor's note: The Tribune has received permission from the Amarillo newspaper to reprint this four-part series on Parmer County's most infamous tragedy.)

Hassell knew that one more must die: Alton, 21, his wife's eldest son. Alton was away, working for D.W. Crawford, a thresher operator of Clovis. Hiding the corpses, Hassell waited, planning to ambush Alton when he arrived. Four days later, just before sundown on Sunday, Alton returned. The wind howled bitterly and sleet assaulted the little house. Hassell killed a chicken and prepared supper, explaining that the rest of the family had "gone to see Aunt Liddy at Shallowater."

Alton and Hassell played cards until after midnight. At last, the youth decided to go to bed, retiring to the same room in which Hassell remained after selling the house. At about 4 a.m., Hassell crept into the room, placed the muzzle of the shotgun close the sleeping man's head, and fired.

"I'm here to pay the penalty, whatever that may be," Hassell told the lawmen. "I tried to make it a death penalty." Later, he added that he would tell everything at his trial. "I want to be in shape to go to the electric chair when my time comes. That is why I do not want a long jail sentence, nor do I want to fall into the hands of a mob." He recanted the story of the California murders, saying only, "There is no one doing time for anything I have ever done and when I go I do not want to leave anything open that would cause anyone to suffer for any crime of which I may be guilty."

District Judge Reese Tatum, of the 69th Judicial District, ordered a special session of the district court of Parmer County to be convened Monday, Jan. 8. Threats of mob violence prompted authorities to spirit the prisoner away to Plainview in a closed limousine. Sheriff Martin and Bailey County Sheriff Douglas had the car escorted by another car filled with armed men. District Attorney Clifford Braley, of Dalhart, was brought into the investigation.

On Dec. 30, Hassell decided to tell where the victims in California were buried. Police learned that Hassell's mistress disappeared from Whittier nine years before and Hassell had sent her mother a photo of the woman and children with a note stating, "You will never see them again."

The Parmer County Grand Jury returned nine indictments against Hassell on Jan. 4. Trial was set for Thursday at 9 a.m. Hassell was moved to Muleshoe for safekeeping. W.H. Russell, of Hereford, was appointed to defend Hassell on the charge of murdering Alton. Russell entered a plea of not guilty. Hassell intervened and tried to plead himself guilty, but Judge Tatum refused to accept the plea.

The trial opened Jan. 11. Evidence included the fatal shotgun, which had been purchased at the auction by R.F. Loyd, and a ring taken from Hassell's finger and identified by Alton's older sister as one she had given Alton for his birthday. Alton's boss from Clovis testified that after Alton was taken home on Dec. 4, Hassell came to Clovis two days later to collect Alton's wages, saying that Alton would not be back. Relatives of the victims told of Hassell's sudden rages over trivial matters.

Defense Attorney Russell pleaded that Hassell's mental condition should be considered. F.N. Sawyer, superintendent of Farwell Schools and a student of psychology and criminology, testified for the defense that Hassell's beliefs "of life, death and eternity were peculiar."

The Clovis doctor who treated the defendant's near-fatal wounds following his suicide attempt said Hassell "joked and laughed" while being treated, and seemed as "jovial and unconcerned as though nothing had happened." Sheriff Claude Benton, of Deaf Smith County, said Hassell joked about the fact that he was wearing Alton's shoes.

During testimony, Hassell sometimes amused the spectators with his prowess as a tobacco-spitter who could hit any target he selected. He maintained a cheerful manner.

When the jury retired, Russell left the courtroom and did not return. Local citizens presented him a "pot" of $113, inasmuch as he had not received a fee from the state.

The jury found the defendant guilty on the first ballot, requiring deliberations of about 30 minutes. A death penalty was returned after a two-hour argument. One juror favored life imprisonment. Hassell appeared to be weeping at one point during the deliberations, but remained silent when the judge asked if he had any statement to make before sentence he passed, and showed no emotion when he was sentenced to be executed on Feb. 25.

Later, in jail, Hassell said, "I got a big kick out of the newspaper stories that I was weeping. Why, I haven't cried in so long I don't think I could. That's why my father used to whip me so much harder than he did the other boys. I believe he continued because I wouldn't cry. No, I wasn't crying, I was just blowing my nose and wiping my eyes... I used to lead the prayer in church meetings and only one other man could pray longer and louder than I could."

At the end of the month, Hassell revealed that, nine years before, he and Marie Vogel had lived as Mr. and Mrs. G. Baker in Whittier, Cal. He said Mrs. Vogel believed in spiritualism and had visions of a treasure buried beneath the house and insisted that he dig for it. After killing the woman and three adopted children (George, 8, a girl, 2, and an infant, 1), he dug the hole deeper and placed them in it. He said it took three days and nights to prepare the tomb. He chuckled as he told of later intimacies with a housekeeper in the same house.

Clues led Whittier police to a house at 236 S. Whittier Ave. After two days of digging under the back porch, they unearthed the intact skeletons of the four victims. Each skull had been crushed and ropes encircled the necks. The boys skull was wrapped in heavy cloth.

CONTINUED NEXT WEEK.

The Lazbuddie Longhorns scrimmaged Kress Aug. 21 at Kress with both teams scoring one touchdown.
