What do we root for?

Odds and ends today, folks: Did you ever see so much rain in such a short period? I'll bet some folks have had around 8 inches of rain the past two weeks. Please tell me, what do we root for? The rain to stop -- or the rain to continue? ... I ran into John Curtis and his family, of Hobbs, N.M. They had a Borden's distributorship when they lived in Farwell. The Curtises said to give their best to everyone. They moved away a couple of years ago but only sold their home a few months ago to Ricky Coleman, they said. ...

want to know what that building going up in Texico next to the bank will be used for? The building permit indicated a drive-in. ...

I hope you folks get behind Loreta Gonzales, our exchange student from Texico who is planning to go to the Philippines. Due to a sudden change, her moving date was pushed up from August to June 28. This means she won't have the opportunity to work all summer and earn money for the trip. ...

If you can help, donations are being taken at the Citizens Bank of Clovis' Texico branch, Box 88, Texico, N.M. 88135. ...

Let's all help have one of our kids get this type of experience (she will be studying at a university there). ...

Those individual storage areas are being built rapidly behind the former Curtis Smith Office Supply building (next to Capitol Food). It just seems that construction started yesterday but they already are advertising the spaces for use. I hope this type of venture goes well. They're a popular item in many towns where storage space seems at a premium. So if you need some individual storage space (ranging from RV's to household), call 481-3222. ...

That sudden rainstorm Sunday evening also brought with it some damaging hail to the Lazbuddie area. ...

Stopping by Farwell Monday was Milton Fox, a Houston State Representative who is campaigning for the Texas Railroad Commission as a Republican nominee. The former petroleum engineer had said during the primary that he would visit every Texas county -- and he is keeping his pledge. ...

Saturday is Flag Day. As usual, the Texico-Farwell Lions Club will be placing flags at the various Twin City homes and businesses that have signed up for the program. ...

Have you signed up? It doesn't cost much and I'm sure you will agree with me that it sure looks nice on holidays to see our flag flying proudly throughout the community. If you want to sign up, please call 481-3222. ...

The list of entries for the annual Border Town Days parade July 26 is growing. ...

It now totals 22. The recent additions are West Texas State University's buffalo and a float from Taco Villa in Clovis, a recent award winner at the Clovis Pioneer Days parade. ...

To register for the parade, just call the State Line Tribune at 481-3681 to be put on the list. There is no fee. ...

Did you notice that the "for sale" sign is no longer in the window of the McDorman laundry building? ...

Ted Magness, Barthel Ford and Walter Hughes of Farwell won the annual chili cook-off in Clovis June 7 and received a first place trophy. The name of the team is "Sidewinder." The chili cookoff was sponsored by Sertoma. ...

The team has entered the contest several times and placed and received showmanship. This is the first time they received first place. ...

Rumor of the Week: Work will begin immediately on the new Town & Country convenience store in Texico. ...

Barnes resigns as athletic director

Monte Barnes resigned Tuesday as Farwell Schools athletic director. He has taken the posts of track coach and freshman football coach at Sweetwater High School, a Class 4A school just west of Abilene, Texas. "I've been working on my administration certificate and several administrative openings are coming up at Sweetwater in the next few years," said Barnes. "The Sweetwater superintendent has suggested that I might return there and have an opportunity for one of those administrative posts later." Barnes was head track coach at Sweetwater for four years before coming to Farwell two years ago. Barnes, 34, is a native of Lazbuddie. During his two years at Farwell, he was athletic director, head football coach and world history teacher. His football teams posted 6-4 records both years, and made the state playoffs in 1984. Even though his resignation is coming later than normal, it appears the School Board will have a chance to find a successor before football practice begins the second week of August. Barnes' wife, Delayne, also has resigned as a fifth grade teacher at Farwell Schools. Barnes thanked the community and the Booster Club for their support during his tenure here. Looking ahead to Farwell's football season, here's what Barnes said: "Farwell lost some key players last year due to the graduation of Kevin Owen, Eric Williams, Jesse Anzaldúa and Blake Kelley. But defensively, Farwell can be real strong. The Steers will need to pass more to make up for the lack of experience at running back. If the offense comes around, they can be tough. "There's a goodly number of seniors on the squad but only a few juniors. A lot of freshmen and sophomores are coming up so the future looks good."

New Chamber program

Steve Breckenridge left, president of the Farwell Chamber of Commerce, presented Floyd Coates a certificate with his first dollar from the Chamber of Commerce to welcome his new business. He will also receive a complimentary membership to the Chamber. Other new businesses receiving the certificate were Farwell Body Shop and Twin Cities Donut Bakery. The presentations and members are part of a new Chamber program.

Street lights OK'd for Texico

The Texico City Council Tuesday approved adding 14 street lights. Five will go on Hereford, 4 on Craig, 1 on Kindred, 1 on Highway 108, 2 on South Garwood and 1 on State Line Road. In other business, the council: --Called an executive session to discuss applicants for the city marshal's job. --Noted the mosquito problem. The state EID has been asked to spray the sanitation plant area. Also, weeds are a problem at the plant, it was noted. --Three potholes will be fixed -- one at the southeast corner of the swimming pool parking lot, one in the alley between Lamar and Anderson, near Eunice, and one on Hereford between State and Turner. --A mobile home variance was approved at Catherine and State Line Road. Since the zoning ordinance hasn't been approved yet, the council had to act on the matter.

Once the ordinance is passed, a variance request first would go to the planning and zoning commission. --Jim Burrows received permission to build his subdivision in two stages, the first being along Garrison. --Passed a resolution declaring an emergency concerning the water situation. This is necessary for a grant the city is seeking toward building a new water well. --Discussed some property owners keeping calves and sheep on their property. Under a 1970 ordinance, up to 10 calves or sheep are allowed but they can't be nearer than 250 feet from other homes. So letters will be written the property owners asking them to remove the animals. --Agreed to sell some surplus city property, such as a sweeper and grader. Sealed bids will be taken and the bids will be opened in July.

She will receive a $50 first load bonus. Reggie Selman of Worley Mills in Farwell reported their first load of wheat was received June 7 from Byrd Partnership Farm. The moisture content was 11.1 and 56 pounds per bushel. Fred Chandler, manager of Sherley-Anderson-Pitman of Farwell reported dryland wheat from Alex Brown south of Farwell. The moisture content was 11 1/2. Larry Tims brought the first load of wheat in June 6 from Texico. The moisture content was 12 1/2. Scott Brown, manager of Sherley (Continued on Page 2)

Area basketball team wins state crown

An area girls' basketball team won a New Mexico AAU State Tournament last weekend in Clovis. The 12-and-under team won five games to win the title. The team, co-coached by Larry Gregory and Patsy Camp of Farwell, plans to compete in the National AAU Tournament in Roanoke, Va., July 18-25. The team plans to seek sponsors and hold fund-raisers to bear the $10,000 cost of going to Virginia, said Gregory. "We have the time to raise funds and we definitely are going," he said. The team consists of players from six schools -- Texico, Farwell, Happy, Kress, Nazareth and Three-Way. Among its members are three from Farwell -- Amy Murray, Becky Barnes and Misty Stewart, and two from Texico -- Amy Chadwick and Denise Gonzales. The team, called the South Plains Dusters, never had a close game until the finals. They defeated Roosevelt County, 76-38; Clovis Red Raiders, 76-12; Socorro, 55-42; Lubbock Lady Raiders, 58-48, and, in the finals, the Four-Corner Warriors, 41-38. In addition to the Dusters, two others teams coached by Gregory placed second in their respective divisions in the tournament.

The Wes-Tex Stars, consisting of 14-and-under girls, lost to the Clovis Blue Diamonds, 42-32, in the finals. But first, the Stars had defeated Melrose and Farmington, then losing to Clovis. In the losers bracket, the Stars beat Lubbock, the Navajo Academy and Farmington a second time before facing the Clovis team again in the finals. The Stars had players from Texico, Muleshoe, Nazareth, Morton and Lazbuddie. Its Texico members were Andria Chadwick and Leslie Stewart, who was named to the All-Tournament team. Its Lazbuddie member was Mia Jennings. Gregory said Mia was awarded a special honor when the Clovis Blue Diamonds, who also are headed for the national tourney in Roanoke, picked her to join their team. A team heading to nationals is allowed to add three members, said Gregory, and Mia was one of the three Clovis picked. Gregory's 16-and-under girls team, the Wes-Tex Sandies, was defeated in its final by Four Corners, 40-37. Earlier this team had defeated Portales and Clayton before losing to Four Corners. In the losers bracket, the Sandies beat Window Rock, San Jon and Santa Fe before getting another crack at Four Corners. The Sandies beat Four Corners, thus setting up the final game two hours later, which Four Corners won. The Sandies included players from Texico, Morton, Muleshoe, Sudan, Nazareth and Lazbuddie. From Texico was Twilla Longo and from Lazbuddie was Amy McGeehee. Gary Cates helped coach. Gregory pointed out that he was unable to have any Farwell players on his 14-year-old and 16-year-old teams because at the high school level in Farwell and Texas UIL regulations don't allow him to coach youths from his own school in a non-UIL event, such as an AAU tourney. Gregory was able to get the three basically-Texas teams into the New Mexico tournament by petitioning last year. Since there is no AAU Association in West Texas, his teams were allowed into the New Mexico tourney. Gregory is in the process of setting up a West Texas AAU Association. Gregory said the victorious Dusters had been practicing since April. The 14-year-old Stars had all 8th graders and only two 9th graders. And the 16-year-old Sandies had only practiced one week before the tourney, again due to the Texas UIL rules.

Shrine to be dedicated at San Jose Church

A fiesta in honor of St. Joseph will be held at San Jose Catholic Church in Texico June 22 at 9 a.m. (MDT). The fiesta traditionally celebrated on May 1st has been postponed this year to coincide with the dedication of a hand-carved statue of San Jose erected in a stone shrine constructed on the corner of the property of the church. After the services, which are held every Sunday at 9 a.m., a procession will form in the church and proceed to the location of the Shrine. The master of ceremonies for this dedication will be Isidro Ortega, a member of the Knights of Columbus of the Council in Texico. Music will be provided by the San Jose Choir and the Mariachi Group from Our Lady of Guadalupe, Clovis. Local children will perform Spanish dances. After the dedication a noon meal will be served to all attending, parishoners and friends. "Members of the parish of San Jose extend a cordial invitation to all to celebrate with us for the occasion," said Fr. Godfrey Blank. The Statue of San Jose was brought from Mexico to the United States by the family of Pedro Arguelles, who donated it to the San Jose Parish on March 10, 1986. This beautiful statue was made by a sculptor in a small town close to San Lois Potosi, Mexico. The material of this statue is a hard natural-colored rock called "Cantera" which is found in the high parts of the mountains from which it is then brought down by physical labor, to the small house shops, where sculptors begin to make use of their chisel and hammer and create the beautiful figures they discover within this big rock.

Gifted, talented program approved

The Farwell School Board Tuesday approved a program for gifted and talented students. Starting in September, it will encompass about a dozen elementary students. School officials hope to add the program at the high school levels next year. The program will be totally distinct from regular classes and probably involve two 75-minute sessions a week, said Supt. John Grigsby. Current school personnel will be used to teach it. In other business, the board: --Hired two elementary teachers -- Candace Dyer and Steven Hudson. There still are three vacancies: special education, librarian and athletic director. --Turned down a request from the local AAU basketball group to use a school bus for its travel to games. There was a question of liability. --Decided to deed the arena to the Farwell Arena Association, due to a question of liability. --Hiked the salary schedule for para-professionals $400 a year. --Called a special meeting for June 26. --Decided to seek bids on a school bus. --Received a report on the Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills (TEAMS) results. Grigsby said the lower writing averages were in line with national averages. The report said:

Of the 38 students taking the math, in the third grade, 36 showed mastery or 95%. Of the 37 taking the reading test, 33 showed mastery or 89%. Of the 37 taking the writing, 23 showed mastery or 62%. In the 5th grade, of the 34 taking the TEAMS, 29 showed mastery on the math or 85%. Thirty four showed mastery on the reading or 100%. Nine showed mastery on the writing or 26%. In the 7th grade, of the 27 taking the math, 27 showed mastery or 100%. Of 29 taking the reading, 25 showed mastery or 86%. Of 25 taking the writing, 22 showed mastery or 88%. In the 9th grade, of the 38 taking the TEAMS test, 31 showed mastery on the math or 82%. Thirty four showed mastery on the reading or 89%. Thirty four showed mastery on the reading or 89%. Twenty nine showed mastery on the writing or 76%. On the writing test it is possible to have a perfect score on the written composition and still not show mastery in writing. Each grade has a cut-off score on the objective portion of the test and if at least a certain number of the objective questions were not answered correctly, a student cannot show that he demonstrated mastery regardless of his written composition score.

'Operation Assist' announced

The Farmers Home Administration office in Parmer County will begin immediately to participate in "Operation Assist," Weldon C. Rainey, County Supervisor, announced.

Operation Assist is a new effort by FmHA to help farmers obtain guaranteed operating loans. County Supervisors for FmHA will take completed farm credit applications to local banks or other lenders, along with the farmer wishing to apply for a guaranteed loan. "We will handcarry the applications, and personally introduce the applicants to our local lenders," said Mr. Rainey. "We will present a complete loan package, including cash flows, financial statements, and appraisals. If necessary, we will make a commitment to work with the lender to do an interest buydown. We will do everything we can to help the lender, and the borrower, by committing to guarantee the loan at our maximum 90 percent."

While direct operating loan funds are used up in some areas, there is still nearly $800 million available for the guarantee program.

Watch organization progresses

The Twin Cities' Neighborhood Watch program's organization is continuing as 26 persons met Monday night to discuss the next steps. The main topic discussed was to create a form which would list some medical information and relatives for persons living alone in case of emergency. This information then would be kept by the block captain and-or fire department. These forms have not been set up yet. Other points made were:
 -Block captains will meet once or twice a year.
 -It's important to display Neighborhood Watch decals on homes and businesses.
 -If street lights aren't working properly, they should be reported to city officials.

-If you go on vacation, let your neighbors and block captains know so they can watch your house while you are away.
 Farwell Watch Chairman Frances Kube reminded the persons attending of the purpose of the Neighborhood Watch:
 "To make everyone aware of the steps they can take to make their home and neighborhood more secure against crime, and to show how neighbors can help each other protect their neighborhood.
 "The main object is to get everyone caring about each other. Our communities are constantly being described by outsiders as very caring communities--let's keep them that way and even more so."
 The meeting was co-chaired by Ann Cooper of Texico.

Across the aisle from them they noticed Estellene Billington of Farwell who was attending the graduation of her grandson, Lyle Williams, the son of Lavoyda and Leonard Williams.

The two Williams graduates—who are not related to one another—walked in single file, with Lyle behind Karen. They had attended school together for years without even knowing that each had grandparents living in Farwell.

The commencement ceremonies were held at the University Coliseum at Houston.

Also attending was Bryce's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Harmon of Portales. His sister, Mrs. J.E. Hammond and son, Jayson of Hobbs were also present.

Cotton totals released

Official figures released May 30 to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service (TCLRS) show 1985 cotton production from the 25 PCG counties on the High Plains totaling 1,893,850 bales of 480-pounds net weight.

That is over 400,000 bales short of the 2,324,250 bale 1984 crop. It compares to the respective five and ten-year averages for the Plains through 1984 of 2,106,260 and 2,195,330. Record production for the 25-county area remains at 3,522,000 bales, produced in 1981.

TCLRS reported 3,051,800 planted acres for the Plains, 2,781,900 of which remained for harvest after an 8.8 percent abandonment. Blame for the loss of almost 270,000 acres, as usual, is shared by drought, wind and hail. Abandonment in 1984 was 7.7 percent. Ten year average loss from planting to harvest on the Plains through 1984 was 12.1 percent, including the huge 35.4 percent loss of 1.3 million acres in 1982.

Average yield in 1985 was 326.8 pounds per acre, a hefty decrease from the 359.6-pound average of the previous year. Five and ten-year average yields per harvested acre for the area through 1985 come to 325.7 and 328.8 pounds, respectively. All-time record yield was set 20 years ago in 1965 at 513 pounds per acre. Farmer's totals: 43,100 acres planted; 41,500 acres harvested; 496, yield per harvested acre; and 42,900 480 pound Nt. Wt. bales.

SPS seeks #### rate decrease

Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) June 4 asked the New Mexico Public Service Commission for a $3.48 million decrease in retail electric rates paid by industrial and large commercial customers, and for a slight reduction in rates paid by residential customers.

Residential rates would drop by $90,733, or 0.25%, under the utility's proposal. SPS residential rates by May 1986 already had dropped 7.64%, compared to 1983 rates.

The utility requested the decreased rates be effective July 4, SPS New Mexico Division manager Lloyd Davis said.

Farwell Convalescent Center Chit Chat

By Lynne Gann Activity Director

In case you were wondering what all the excitement was at our kitchen door this past few days we will be very glad to share.

We have needed another direct water line to our kitchen for a very long time. We simply did not have enough water pressure to do baths, showers, laundry and for the kitchen staff to run the dish washer at the same time. The solution was a new pipe line for kitchen use and the rest works beautifully. You would never believe the hassle we had to go through daily for everyone to have the pressure they needed when they needed it. Thank goodness it's all done!

The sighs of relief are heard all over our building this morning. Thanks are given to the City of Farwell, Dee Hammit and our plumber Max Carter.

We lost two very dear friends this last week. Lyra Holland who recently celebrated her 100th Birthday and Rosie Mc-Killip. We shall miss them both.

Howard Carlyle has been admitted to West Plains Medical Center. Hope he recovers quickly.

Welcome home to Fern Castor! She was returned to us the 6th.

Fowler, Magness vows read

MR. AND MRS. KIRK MAGNESS

Krista Fowler and Kirk Magness, both of Odessa, exchanged wedding vows April 12 in the Odessa Gospel Lighthouse Church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fowler of Odessa and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Magness of Farwell.

Bishop Joe Black of Odessa officiated at the double-ring ceremony as the couple stood before a white heart-shaped arch entwined with greenery and decorated with pink, blue and orchid carnations, and white doves.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father, wore a traditional wedding gown of white organza and rachelle lace. The fitted bodice was accented with lace motifs and bridal pearls. The Queen Anne neckline was enhanced by a lace stand up collar dotted with matching pearls. Bishop sleeves of sheer organza featured lace motifs and wide lace cuffs. Three wide lace bands at intervals on the A-line skirt were accented by the lace and crystal pleat insert at the hemline. Tiers of organza fell from the back-drop waist forming a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a wreath of silk flowers.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses accented with blue, pink, and orchid carnations, and stephanotis, baby's breath and fern. Something old and borrowed was a cameo necklace belonging to her grandmother; something new was her wedding dress; and something blue was her garter. In her shoes she carried pennies minted in the years of the couple's births.

As she approached the altar she presented her mother with a long-stemmed red rose. And as the couple left the altar, she presented a red rose to the bridegroom's mother.

Maid of honor was Evelyn Roberts of Odessa. She wore a floor length gown of orchid taffeta fashioned with fitted bodice, puffed sleeves, and gathered skirt with wide matching sash at the waist. The skirt was trimmed with a wide lace band caught up in scallops at intervals around the skirt. She carried a nosegay of orchid carnations, fern and long orchid streamers.

Bridesmaids were Jodie and Susan Fowler, sisters of the bride. They wore dresses styled like that of the maid of honor, with Jodie in pink and Susan in blue. They carried nosegays of flowers matching the colors of their dresses.

Tiffany Spearman of Arlington, niece of the bridegroom, was flowergirl and wore a yellow dress styled like that of the other bridal attendants. She carried a white wicker basket filled with rainbow colored flowers. She wore a yellow headband with large yellow bow in her hair.

Ted Magness served his son as best man. Groomsmen were Donnie Jones and Darren Darby, both of Odessa, and ushers were Jim Will Jr. of Evansville, Ind., and Darren Darby. Todd Spearman of Arlington, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer. The bridegroom wore a white formal tux with tails, white tie and cummerbund and white and pink rosebud boutonniere. All his attendants wore gray classic tuxes with ties, cummerbunds and boutonnieres in colors matching the dresses of the bride's attendants. The bride's father wore a dark gray tux with tails featuring gray and black striped trousers, dark gray coat, white shirt, and striped ascot tie.

Jay Ferranti of Amarillo, cousin of the bride, played traditional wedding music at the piano. Kim Alles of Evansville, Ind., sister of the bridegroom, registered guests.

The bride's mother wore a street length dress of blue and rose floral motif on white. She wore rose accessories and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of gray and peach with peach accessories and an orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with white lace panels over orchid and was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, a silver and white bridal candle, white napkins inscribed with silver. The cake was decorated with wedding bells and bows of rainbow colored ribbon with streamers attaching one tier to the other. White columns separated the tiers which were each topped with clusters of wedding bells. The top also featured an arch and rainbow colored ribbon bows encircling the bells.

Cake, punch, nuts and mints were served from silver and crystal appointments by Kim McCrury and Jana Lieck, both of Odessa.

The groom's table was covered with a white cloth with gray topper and held a silver coffee service, the groom's cake, and rainbow colored candles in a wooden candelabra encircled with rainbow colored flowers. Napkins in rainbow colors inscribed with the couple's names and crystal and silver appointments completed the table decor.

The chocolate cake featured a lake scene and a yellow boat with miniature tin cans and old shoes attached. The boat was pulling a skier carrying a "Just Married" sign. Presiding at the groom's table were his sisters, Kris Spearman of Arlington and Karen Magness of Evansville, Ind.

For a wedding trip to Ruidoso the bride changed to a two-piece multi-colored pastel dress and white accessories.

The couple is now at home in Odessa where he works for Ryder Truck Rental, and the bride is employed at Texas Instruments.

On the evening prior to the wedding, the groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner for family and friends at an Odessa restaurant.

Funds still needed

Dear Editor:
This letter is to try to explain the JCCA's (Joint Community Civic Association) situation.
First of all I would like to thank and wish the new Farwell Arena Association all the luck in the world. I'm thankful for what they are doing for the community and the arena. I'm glad to see that they will be sponsoring the 19th annual Border Town Day Rodeo.

I hope the community will continue the support to the FAA like you have the JCCA, the successor of the Jaycee's in the past.

Question: If there is no longer Jaycee's or JCCA, why the caps at summer and the shotgun give-away in the winter?

Answer: In 1978 the Farwell Jaycee's started a $500 scholarship fund, $250 to be given at fall semester $250 for spring semester. They were very proud of this and they should be, for this does help a student to get going. When the JCCA took over they, the Farwell Jaycee's, asked one thing, that we keep the scholarship going. In 1983 when the JCCA took over we included the Texico seniors. The $500 was divided, $250 went to Farwell and $250 went to Texico in hope to get both schools up to $500 a year but time failed.

The charter members will continue to sell the Bordertown Day caps and give-away of a shotgun at pheasant season to enable them to continue the Texico-Farwell Scholarship fund that was started some time ago and with your continued support we will be able to do this as we feel it is a good project.

All the money that is made off these projects is for the scholarship fund only. The books are open for the public to view.

So when you buy a give-away ticket and a Bordertown Days cap you will be supporting the scholarship fund not some person who will pocket the money individually.

I hate to see this fund die. It must keep going for our kids future. College is so expensive now days every little bit helps.

I would like to thank you for your support in the past and future.

Thank You,
Sam Drager

Petra says goodbye

Dear Editor:
This has been probably the most important year in my life and I really would like to thank you all for this.

Letter To The Editor

It was a wonderful experience to come to America and especially Texico-Farwell. You taught me a great deal. It has been interesting to live in a small town and to meet so many different people. You really can be proud of your twin towns.

I hope this exchange program is going to continue in Texico-Farwell. I think it's important for the understanding between different cultures in the world.

I would like to thank my host families, the Rotary Club, friends and school for all their friendships and concerns.

Thank you very much,
Petra Breyne

Muleshoe plans 4th of July activities

Even though the fourth of July is still a month away, the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture is planning a huge celebration. Along with the traditional activities, several new twists have been added.

Ten of the classes of Muleshoe High School are planning their reunion for that weekend.

Entertainers have been invited to perform at the civic center during the day and again that night at the park before the fireworks display. All area clubs, groups, and craftsmen are invited to have a booth at the civic center and booths will also be available at the park from 5:30 to 10 p.m.

The day will begin early with a 2 mile-10 K run for all runners of the area. Activities around the Bailey County Civic Center will begin at 10 a.m. and continue til 2 p.m. and will include kids contests, booths, entertainment, golf tournament, water polo and adult contests.

One highlight will be the World Champion Mule Shoe Pitching Contest. There will be divisions for men, women, doubles, children, youth and grand championship. Everyone is invited to participate and the entry fee is $5.

The parade will be held at 5 p.m. through downtown. This year's theme will be "Texas Celebration." The community picnic, entertainment, 4-H barbecue and booths will be held in the city park beginning at 5:30 p.m. The day will close with the firework display around 10 p.m.

Entries for the runs, booth space, parade and contests can be obtained through the Chamber of Commerce.

Texas Congress authorizes mounted corps

1837: MONDAY, JUNE 12. An act of the Second Texas Congress approved today authorizes the formation of a corps of 600 mounted men for the protection of the northern frontier, primarily against Indian raids. The corps will consist of volunteers for a six-month term. Each must provide "a substantial horse, well shod all around, and extra shoeing nails, a good gun, 200 rounds of ammunition." They must also provide their own provisions, except for beef, which the government will furnish. In addition, each six men are required to furnish themselves with a pack horse.

Officers will receive the same pay as those of like rank in the ranging service, and privates will receive a bounty of 640 acres of land. The corps will be divided into three divisions, and it is hoped that each division will have attached to it a company of friendly Indians to serve as scouts and spies. They will probably come from the Shawnees, Cherokees or Delawares.

President Sam Houston has been granted a 30-day leave of absence by Congress to organize and "set on foot the corps of mounted men." The Texas government has always been keenly aware of the need for rangers to guard the frontier. The day after the Declaration of Independence was declared on March 2, 1836, the Convention received a motion from Robert Potter, delegate from Nacogdoches, "that a regiment of rangers be raised." It passed, and Potter then moved that Colonel Jesse Benton and Lieutenant Griffin Banes be assigned the task of raising the regiment. This too passed, but because of the fast-moving events of that time, the motion was never implemented.

Last December 5 President Houston signed a Congressional act requiring him to raise a battalion of 280 mounted riflemen to protect the frontier. As with the law approved today, the men were required to furnish their own horse and rifle, and a brace of pistols if they could be procured. It also authorized the President to make treaties with the Indians and to appoint agents to reside among them, with authority to distribute presents among them not to exceed a total of $20,000 in value. It required the President to cause to be erected such block-houses, forts and trading houses as he deemed necessary to prevent Indian depredations.

Indians have been especially troublesome this year, despite a number of ranging forces, which are located on the Trinity, at the falls of the Brazos, at the freeforks of Little River, on the Colorado, and near the mouth of Walnut Creek. There have been engagements recently near Cameron in Milam County, in Fannin County, in Colorado County, in Fayette County, and on the upper Colorado near the site where the new capital of Texas is being built. More than 30 Texas citizens have been killed since the beginning of this year.

1838: MONDAY, JUNE 11. Tonight will see the opening of the first professional stock company in Houston, in a room arranged for theatrical performances in a building provided by a local merchant, John Carlos. A company of eight men and three women, under the management of Henri Corri, will present the popular comedy by Sheridan Knowles entitled The Hunchback.

The performance will open with the singing of a new National Texian Anthem by the entire company. It was written expressly for this occasion. After the performance of The Hunchback, the audience will have an opportunity to enjoy the popular farce The Dumb Belle, or I'm Perfection.

An entire season is being planned by the company. Plays to be seen include The Stranger, Therese, The Rent Day, and The Maid of Munster.

1843: TUESDAY, JUNE 13. An armistice with Mexico, to become effective June 15, was proclaimed today by Texas President Sam Houston, "until due notice of intention to resume hostilities." It is to expire on May 1, 1844, unless there are prospects of a permanent treaty of peace.

Diplomatic negotiations for the armistice were handled by the British Minister to Mexico Percy Doyle, and their charge d'affaires in Texas, Captain Charles Elliot. They transmitted a message from Mexican President Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna to President Houston which offered an armistice with a total cessation of hostilities if Texas would agree to the same. If the armistice was concluded, Santa Anna stated that he would agree to accept commissioners from Texas to treat with Mexico.

The events leading to the present armistice go back to January 9 of this year, when Judge James W. Robinson addressed a letter to Santa Anna. Lawyer Robinson, as he is often called, was at that time a prisoner of war in Mexico, after his capture at San Antonio by General Adrian Woll in September, 1842.

In his letter, Robinson stated that he believed that Texians, after seven and a half years, were anxious for peace and would gladly accept it upon terms of reuniting with Mexico. He asked for a meeting with Santa Anna, who granted it, remarking to an associate, "Nothing can be lost by hearing him." Judge Robinson has been prominent in Texas affairs, having been vice president of the provisional government in 1835-36, and later a judge and a member of the Texas Supreme Court.

The interview resulted in Robinson's release on February 18 with a letter from Santa Anna to the government of Texas, proposing peace on the following terms: that if Texas acknowledges the sovereignty of Mexico, it will be recognized as an independent department, with autonomy on all local laws, rules and regulations; that Texas would have representation in the Mexican Congress; and that no Mexican troops would be stationed in Texas.

Robinson landed at Galveston, and after a short stop in Houston, reached Washington-on-the-Brazos, the current seat of government, on April 6. He delivered Santa Anna's letter to President Houston, who understood immediately that the entire matter had merely been a ploy by Lawyer Robinson to gain his release. He proposed that Robinson report to Santa Anna in a "confidential" letter which Houston himself dictated on April 10. Inclosed with the letter were newspaper clippings to show that Robinson has publicized Santa Anna's proposals to the Texians.

The letter was carefully concocted to give Santa Anna considerable pause. It stated that Robinson had found much public concern that Texians were still being held as prisoners, and urged Santa Anna to release them, saying that "it would have a good effect on the people." It warned that many Texians "are very anxious for an invasion of Mexico," and are "ready for any action the government of this country might think it necessary for this country to take." General Rusk, the letter stated, was at that very moment raising a large expedition to march the Rio Grande.

Where the money goes from your school taxes

BY JOHN GRIGSBY
Farwell School Superintendent

Because we are discussing budgets and taxes, this seems to be an appropriate time to discuss the nature of school budgets.

- 75% - Payroll
- 5% - Bonded Debt
- 17% - Other
- 97% Total

Payroll: Education is "labor-intensive" industry. Our greatest cost factor is in personnel and salaries. Professional salaries are set by law and personnel is dictated by the program offerings (most of which are required) and student enrollment. The school payroll, on the average, determines 75% of the school budget.

Bonded Indebtedness: This takes approximately 5% of the budget. This is the amount required to pay for bonds passed for buildings. Some districts are "debt-free" but most districts have some bond debt.

Other: These "other" things comprise about 17% of the budget. They include building maintenance, food services, utilities, transportation, program supplies, materials, equipment and extra curricular activities.

This leaves approximately 3% of the budget where any real flexibility can be exercised. But this basically means that services or programs which directly relate to students must be eliminated or reduced. Since we are in the business of serving students, these are the things we try to cut last. Cuts in this area tend to have a significant impact on minority students and participation in activities.

One of the things peculiar to our district is that the average age of our buildings is 31 years. Because older buildings cost more for upkeep than more modern ones and are not as fuel efficient, we spend a disproportionate amount for building maintenance and utilities than do other districts. We have dedicated ourselves to make our existing buildings more energy efficient and try to control our significant energy costs.

Not too long ago, utilities were a small portion of our budget. Now, they represent the single item where the most significant savings can be demonstrated. Unfortunately, to see these long term savings, it will require significant capital investment in materials, repair and training.

Most districts are fortunate to have funds which can be carried over each year. Some people call them "surplus", "carryover", "excess funds", etc. These terms tend to diminish their importance. Districts do not begin to receive state funding until after the 25th of September and receive little tax revenue until the first of November.

Because we must have payroll and operating revenue in August,

September, and October, it is critically important to have enough funds to cover September and October, our biggest cost months. We must order our supplies during the summer or we would have to start to school without the proper materials.

We are fortunate enough to have the carryover funds to get us through the months of September and October, but because our costs are continually rising, these funds are slowly being depleted. Once that happens, the district will be forced to borrow money from lending institutions to carry us through those early months, and, for my part, paying interest on borrowed funds, for a school district, is throwing good money after bad.
