Paducah, top ranked team in Texas, defeats Farwell

Paducah, the top ranked team in its class in Texas, showed why Tuesday night in beating Farwell's varsity boys' basketball team, 97-56, in state playoff action in Plainview.

Paducah used its overwhelming height advantage to key its victory. The Dragons, who advanced to Region 1-1A tournament against Vega, have a front line featuring forwards at 6'4" and 6'5" and a 6'7", 250-pound center. One of their guards is 6'6".

With its size, Paducah was able to block Farwell shots and passes and control the boards.

The Steers ended their successful season at 23-7. It was the first time in 10 years that they made the playoffs.

Paducah, which has beat the state's top-ranked teams in higher divisions, including 4-A, has lost two games this year. One was its season opener, played three days after its last football game; the other featured a game where the officiating was questioned.

Many members of the several hundred Farwell fans who attended Tuesday's game believed that Paducah's starting five was good enough to defeat small college teams. Two of the five players were new to Paducah this year, transferring from other high schools. Despite being outsized, Farwell players hustled throughout the game, pressing on defense and taking the ball to the hoop. But the Steers' usually-strong inside game was turned against them by the much-taller Dragons.

Both teams substituted liberally and all the Steers saw a lot of action.

The game began with both teams pressing and Paducah jumped out to a 9-0 lead.

A layup by Roy Perales ended the string, then another bucket by him made the score 13-4.

Paducah then reeled off 14 straight points before Jeff Actkinson made a pair of free throws. Late in the first quarter, Perales made two more buckets and Jody Ketch-erside made a layup off a steal, as the quarter ended with Paducah up, 31-12.

Paducah kept pulling further ahead in the second quarter. For Farwell, baskets were made by Actkinson, Homer Anzaldua, Damon George and Michael Day, with free throws added by Ketcherside, George, and Danny Rubio. It was 58-26 at the half.

The Steers made 8 points in the third quarter on baskets by David Woods, and Perales, and free throws by Perales and Ketcherside.

The fourth quarter saw both benches emptied. Scoring for Farwell were Boney Nicolas, Robbie White, Day, Curtis Chisom, Donald Rubio, Dustin Hardage, George and Ketcherside.

Farwell scoring included: Perales, 13; George, 7; Ketcherside, 8; Woods, 2; Danny Rubio, 1; White, 2; Anzaldua, 2; Nicolas, 2; Day, 8; Chisom, 2; Donald Rubio, 3; and Hardage, 2.

Steers stop Chillicothe

The hustling Farwell Steers varsity boys' basketball team overcame a 9-point deficit at the half to roll to an 80-60 win over the Chillicothe Eagles at Memphis Saturday in state playoff action.

The win boosted Farwell's record to 23-6. The Eagles ended at 24-5.

More than 300 Farwell fans made the three-hour trip to Memphis to cheer their team. They cheered the team throughout the game.

A tight, full-court press instituted at the start of the third quarter rattled the Eagles and forced them into numerous turnovers. The Eagles also were hurt by the fact that their ball-handling guard picked up his third foul at the end of the first half and had to sit out much of the third quarter.

Once again, the Steers, lacking height, were faced by a taller team. The Eagles made use of this the Steers' first trip to the basketball playoffs in 10 years.

At the beginning of the game, both teams appeared tense and missed several shots. The ice was broken at 5:58 on a bucket by Farwell's Roy Perales, off a steal. The Steer press caused three turnovers in the first quarter.

The Eagles scored two baskets and a jumper by David Woods tied the game. Chillicothe kept feeding the ball inside to its big men, taking an 8-4 lead. But scoring by Perales and Woods brought Farwell to a 9-8 lead.

Jody Ketcherside scored on a layup and two free throws to keep Farwell even at 13-all when the quarter ended.

After the game was tied at 15, Chilicothe broke away on excellent shooting. The Steer guards missed on several shots as the quarter

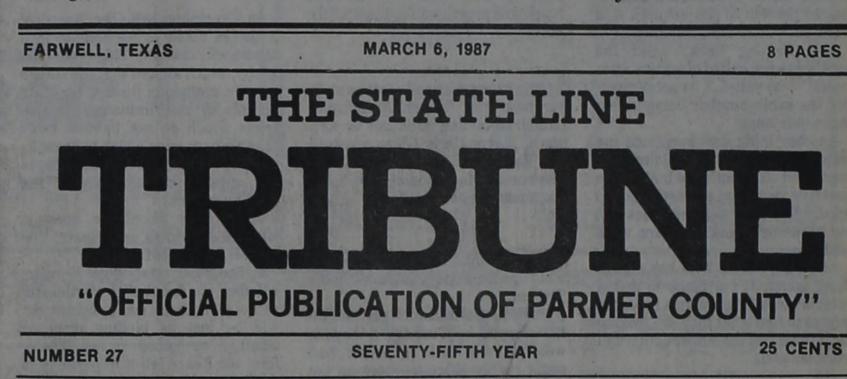

With Farwell down 38-33, Woods went on a rampage, hitting on four shots in a row, and putting Farwell ahead 41-40 with three minutes left in the quarter.

Farwell pulled steadily ahead on a basket by Homer Anzaldua and free throws by Ketcherside and Perales.

At the start of the fourth quarter, Farwell's lead was narrowed to 54-51 before the Steers pulled away

The Eagles were stuck on the 51 mark while the Steers scored on baskets by Ketcherside and Perales and free throws by Danny Rubio. Perales and Woods. With three minutes left in the game, Farwell was up by 11 points.

At that point, the Eagles began fouling the Steers. Of the Steers' next 14 points, all were scored from the charity stripe except for two baskets by Perales. With a minute left, Farwell led by 76-60 and the substitutes were put in by Coach. Larry Gregory. Curtis Chisom scored the final two baskets for Farwell. Farwell scorers were: Perales. 26; Ketcherside, 15; Woods, 21; Rubio, 5; Actkinson, 3; Damon George, 4; Chisom, 4, and Anzaldua.

throughout the first half, feeding the ball into their center and forwards for short turn-around jump shots.

But the pressing Steers, with excellent shooting, outscored the Eagles by 29 points in the second half, earning the right to face the state's No. 1 ranked team, Paducah, Tuesday night. Farwell Athletic Director Rex Cumpton said this was ended with the Eagles ahead 34-25. The third quarter was a different story as Farwell outscored the Eagles 26-11. The Eagles committed five turnovers due to the Farwell press.

First, Woods hit a shot. Then Ketcherside scored on a layup off a steal. A drive by Jeff Actkinson narrowed the margin to 34-31.

El Rancho de los Ninos

Dorm, burned by fire, to be rebuilt

BY JENINE FOSTER

A small group from Farwell and the surrounding areas, including Ralph Franse, Jerry and Pam Monk of Farwell; Herman Geries and J.B. Taylor of Texico, and John Rusk of San Jon, left for El Rancho De los Ninos in Guatemala, Jan. 28 and returned home Feb. 2.

The ranch had a fire on Nov. 23, which put a lot of pressure on operators Bo and Jeanne Bartley. "We already had this trip planned before we heard about the fire. But each of us felt that it was an even more needed trip because of the fire," said Mrs. Monk.

fire. "Their services were held at the ranch," she said.

The group that went did not travel lightly. They took with them 500 pounds of luggage, clothes, food and everything they could get into suitcases. Luckily for the group, it only cost them $24 for eight persons to get all of the suitcases down to the ranch.

Mrs. Monk said that the ranch as a whole was progressing very well. "Both Bo and Jeanne felt that it was because of God's answer to prayers, that everyone had been so helpful, both in Guatemala and the states,' she said.

While there, the group had to decide what to do about re-building the dorm. They decided to get a cost estimate on the reconstruction work.

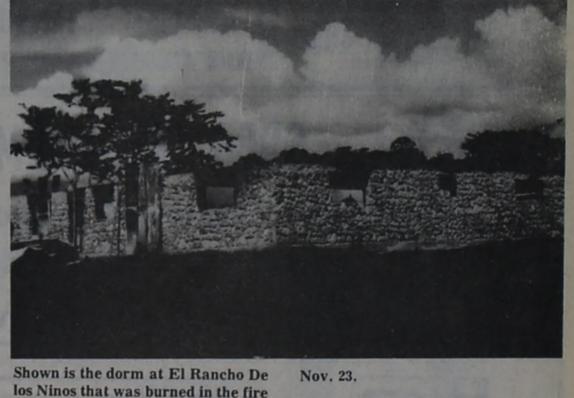

They have already begun to reconstruct the dorm. Mrs. Monk said that 60 percent of the money has already been raised for the reconstruction. The children are currently living in the cafeteria. The dorm housed 25 children.

Because of the difficulty in getting goods to the ranch, she said, "their financial support is the main need at

By Mike Pomper I should have bid

I really didn't know what to expect when I went to the first auction last month at the new Farwell Public Auto Auction.

I had never been to a vehicle auction before and I wondered what type of turnout they would get and what kind of prices would be received.

First that day I attended the Spring Hog Show at Texico. The temperature was in the 30s and snow was steadily falling. It was held in the old bus barn, with doors wide open and no heat.

But the show moved along well and as long as you kept shifting your feet, it didn't get too cold. The only harm caused was to my camera. Since it's self-developing, there are chemicals within it. When it gets real cold, those chemicals don't work as well. That results in photos lacking normal quality.

Anyway, the show attracted a nice crowd and 40 hogs were shown. It ended about 45 minutes before the auto auction was to begin so the timing was perfect. First, I drove by the auction and noticed that lots of folks had come early to view the autos, then went home for lunch.

I got back at the 2 p.m. starting time and was surprised that despite the steady snow and chilly tem-

THE McCAIN BROTHERS

McCain Brothers headline banquet

The McCain Brothers, well-known singers and humorists from Bovina, will entertain at the annual Farwell Chamber of Commerce banquet March 14 at 7:30 p.m. at the Farwell Community Center.

The banquet, which includes a steak dinner, will also feature awards to Man of the Year, Woman of the Year, Teacher of the Year and Farmer of the Year.

Tickets are available at the State Line Tribune office. They cost $7.50.

The McCain Brothers have welcomed dozens of well known personalities to their program. The list of those who have set their alarms extra-early include former Vice President Walter Mondale, country entertainer T.G. Sheppard and "Hour Magazine's" own Gary Collins, just to name a few.

When they aren't hosting their morning program, The McCain Brothers are likely to be found in boots and jeans, entertaining folks with one of the things they love best, country music. The McCains have opened concerts for the Oak Ridge Boys, the Bellamy Brothers, Merle Haggard, Ricky Skaggs, Don Williams, Mel Tillis and John Conlee. They've appeared live with Ralph

The show started on time and a classy little Fiat was driven in. The bidding only took a few minutes with the "sold!" yelled at the last bid, of $1,200.

I couldn't believe it. I didn't need a Fiat but for that price I should have bought it. You might say, that got my attention.

So I spent about two hours at the show watching the auction. I had an alterior motive. My little Chevette that I drive around town has been getting older and I may be looking for another car.

I'll be the first to admit that I don't know much about what used vehicles are selling for. But it seemed to me that most vehicles

Three groups are scheduled to go down and help rebuild the dorm. Two will go down in March and one in June.

The first group is from the Dallas-Fort Worth area and is headed by Rhonda Vaughn.

The second group is headed by Gary Clayton of Las Cruces, N.M. This group will work to put up a tower so Bo can use his radio equipment, since this is their only outside means of communication. The third group will consist of youths from the Merritt Island, Fla., "Teen Missions," who will mainly be helping with re-building the dorm.

were selling between $1,000 and $3,000. Some probably went below what their owners wanted, others above, and still others for about what was expected.

More than 50 vehicles were sold in that auction. I had wondered how many would be bought by car dealers but auctioneer Tom Flowers set met straight.

"Hey, this is a 'public' auto auction," Tom reminded me afterwards. "Sure, we had some dealers. But 80 percent of the vehicles sold went to individuals, not dealers."

And, looking back, when the numbers were called of buyers after "sold!" was yelled, I do not remember the same number being called more than once.

Another thing that surprised me were the good-looking vehicles to be auctioned off. Most were built in the past five years and seemed to sound good. Most were cars and pickups, but a camper, boat and vans were sold, too.

All in all, I think Tom has a good thing going. It's a place to sell a vehicle quickly, and also a place for buyers to find what they are looking for. I think this monthly auction will work out well.

three lagoons, then stored in the holding pond until applied to the land through irrigation.

The new plant replaces the one built in 1951. Federal and state funds are providing for most of the cost.

Concerning Farwell's attempt to purchase the former McDorman Laundry building so it can be torn down, Mayor Chris Gikas stressed that the funds would come from revenue-sharing monies and local tax funds are not involved.

Here's why I never worry about where an ad or story is placed in the Tribune:

Farwell School participates in lawsuit

BY JOHN GRIGSBY

Farwell School Superintendent

In December 1986, the Board of Trustees voted to participate in a landmark lawsuit, Edgewood vs. Kirby, which alleges that the state's current method of funding for state schools is discriminatory to districts which do not have a large taxable base upon which to draw its revenue. The court case challenges the very constitutionality of the funding system.

Many have asked the question why we elected to participate. The answer is two fold:

1. The case was to go to court whether we decided to participate or not. Whatever ruling comes out will be just as binding upon us whether we joined or not. Therefore, the Board felt it imperative to formulas which allocate these monies tie much of it to specific expenditures, but this is basically what it comes to per student. This amount is not even close to what it takes to operate an accredited school.

With the new requirements of HB 72, Chapter 75, Bulletin 679, 22-1, Special Education Transportation/ GT, our costs have rapidly increased. The statement the board is trying to make is:

If the state is to require the local districts to do all of these additional things in order to operate an accredited program, then the state should be willing to pay those additional costs. Whatever they require districts to do to meet these new mandates, they should be willing to fund. It is as simple as that. To be sure, the Board does not argue whether the new requirements are improving education.

But, if districts are to be required to build additional classrooms, add

Obituaries

Lawrence Bell Sr.

Services for Lawrence M. Bell Sr., 85, of Farwell were held in Ellis Funeral Home Chapel of the Chimes with the Rev. V.L. Huggins, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, officiating.

Burial was in the Bailey County Memorial Park under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home.

He died at 2:50 p.m. Sunday in Muleshoe Nursing Home after an illness.

He was born in Detroit and had moved to Farwell in 1976 from Vernon. He was a farmer and a cotton ginner. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge in Chillicothe and First Christian Church in Vernon.

Survivors include four sons, L.M. Jr. of Muleshoe, Billie Lee of Anchorage, Alaska, Hugh Glenn of Gruver and Howard Ray of Seattle Wash.; three daughters, Martha Jo Myers of Farwell, Judy Lott of Haywood, Okla., and Patricia Ann-Grippando of Muleshoe; four sisters, Mary Tarmann of Fallbrook, Calif., Beryal Lance and Ona Ruth Dunlap, both of Sudan, and Hattie Lee Gibbons of Bella Vista, Calif.; 21 grandchildren; several great-grandchildren; and several great-great-grandchildren.

On Feb. 18, Lazbuddie migrant teachers and aides conducted a migrant co-op PAC workshop. It stressed the importance of parent involvement in school programs, providing for good nutrition for students, and helping students with thinking and study skills.

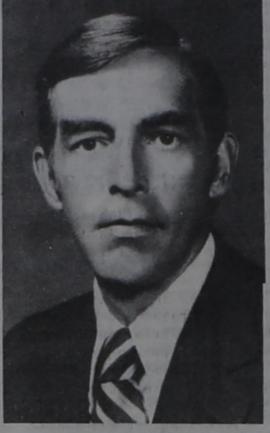

The elementary gifted and talented classes recently completed a unit on "other languages." They studied sign language for the deaf, Spanish, French, and German. Their teacher is Mrs. Reed-Farris. Guest instructors were elementary principal, Anne Farris, and librarian, Anne Corn. Mrs. Farris instructed the students in French, and Mrs. Corn taught them German words and phrases. Mrs. Corn wore an authentic German costume during her presentation.

Mrs. Spencer's third graders have just completed a study of the history of Lazbuddie. The students conducted interviews with long-time residents of Lazbuddie. During the unit, Mrs. Barbara Lust gave the students a presentation about the history of the Lazbuddie School. Mrs. Lust started school at Lazbuddie and attended until her graduation. During her senior year, she served as the newspaper correspondent for the State Line Tribune.

Clint Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Russell, has won a music scholarship to Clarendon Junior College beginning with the fall semester. ***

The Lazbuddie elementary, junior high, and high schools will observe Public School Week on March 9-13. All parents are invited to visit classrooms during the week and to eat in the cafeteria. If you plan to eat in the cafeteria, please call the elementary or high school office so that meals can be reserved for you. Lunches are $1.50 for adults.

Camp Fire sets banquet

March is "Father's month" for the Farwell Camp Fire Organizations.

On their agenda for the month is a father and daughter/son annual awards banquet at the Bull Barn in Hereford, March 18 at 7 p.m.

The banquet is an awards dinner in which Camp Fire recognizes itsachievements through national awards, tenure awards, candy awards and the most cherished WO-HE-LO Medallion.

The senior Horizon Club girls are special guests and hostesses for the night.

The younger Camp Fire members usually bring a box supper, because it places a responsibility on them to provide food for their fathers and themselves. The older girls usually bring a "covered dish" of their choice.

McDorman property purchase criticized

An open letter to the taxpaving citizens of Farwell.

In the Feb. 20th, edition of the State Line Tribune, the banner headline "City may purchase Mc-Dorman Property" caught my eye. Two short little paragraphs sidestepped what I believe to be a mistake of possibly greater consequence by our city fathers.

Do you really believe we need additional parking for our city hall? There are nine spaces on the west side, a minimum of six in front plus

Club still needs building

The Farwell Study Club met Feb. 17 at 6:30 p.m. in the Community Center for their regular monthly meeting.

The business meeting was opened by Eunice Crume, club president. The minutes of the last meeting was read by Julia Symcox in the absence of Mary Lou Hillock, recording secretary. Julia also presented the treasurer's report.

Gladys Hardage reported that due to insurance restrictions rummage sale items would have to be removed from the club room in back of the city offices. The club needs a building to hold their rummage sales in. The rummage sales are the primary source of raising money which is used for various causes for the community. If anyone is aware of a building, please contact Gladys Hardage or Eunice Crume.

The actual purchase of the Mc-Dorman property has not taken place yet. It is not too late. The citizens of Farwell can protest if they wish to save the $3,000 plus tax dollars in a really depressed economy for what I see as an unnecessary parking lot.

So many changes!

Our Dining Room is now the center of attention! We have new tables. They are circular and make the dining room look so very nice.

We eat our meals in two shifts and it gives so much more freedom to move about and eat in a quieter atmosphere.

We had ordered table clothes and they were the wrong size so as soon as we get those replaced, Look Out! I can hardly wait to see the finished product.

We are replacing the furniture in the lobby bit by bit. We hope to have a new face lift by spring. What a pleasant event to look forward to.

We have a new resident who joined us. George Smith is a retired airlines pilot from Washington state. He and his wife, Ruby, lived in Sudan before George joined us. Welcome! Dear Mike:

Farwell, Texas:)

Texas:

I've never lost interest in your area of the USA since first arriving there in an "Emigrant Railroad Car" on April 8, 1906.

We settled on a farm about three miles southwest of Texico; I was 14. I attended one-room schools at Union and Locust Grove and a three-room school in Farwell. I started working for the Santa Fe Railroad April 1, 1910 at the Texico depot.

I spent 52 good years with the Santa Fe, including agency at Friona, 1913-14, then 23 years in Amarillo general offices and 25 years in Galveston general offices. I had

Cotton planting to be explored

Critical decisions which normally confront Parmer County cotton producers at planting time are being compounded this year by new regulations and increasing economic pressures, says County Extension Agent, Gary Patterson.

But information which will help area farmers make those crucial decisions will be explored at a meeting March 9 in Lubbock.

The South Plains Development Program cotton conference will be from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center in Lubbock. The center is on FM 1294, just east of I-27 at the Shallowater exit.

Considerations that will be examined will include cotton provisions of the farm bill, conservation compliance implications for area cotton, soil fertility, declining cotton yields, mill demands for fiber quality and ways to minimize barky cotton penalities.

Provisions of the federal farm bill which affect cotton producers on the High Plains will be explored by Dr. Carl Anderson, Extension agricultural economist and cotton marketing specialist from College Station. Effects of conservation compliance regulations on High Plains cotton producers will be explained by Dr. B.L. Harris, Extension soils specialist, College Station.

Programs of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Texas Agricultural Experiment Station to help apply farming systems methods to conservation compliance needs will be discussed by Dr. John Abernathy, resident director of research at the Lubbock-Halfway Experiment Station.

An update on 1986 soil fertility surveys will be presented by Wayne Watt, general manager of the High Plains Underground Water District No. 1, Lubbock. The relationship of fertilization and declining yields will be explored by Dr. Art Onken, professor of soil fertility at the Lubbock-Halfway Experiment Station. New technology in textile processing and its impact on fiber quality demands will be presented by Dr. John Price, head of processing research in the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech University. Dr. John Gannaway, Experiment Station cotton breeder at Lubbock, will look at ways to meet those quality needs.

What's being done to help farmers minimize the problems of barky cotton will be reported by Dr. James Supak, Extension cotton agronomist at Lubbock.

Herington heads Bailey Co-op

Two hundred and fifty-three persons attended Saturday's annual Bailey County Electric Cooperative Association meeting in Muleshoe. J.W. Herington was elected board president; Alfred Hicks, vice president, and Guy Kelley, secretarytreasurer.

Kelley was elected from District 3, and Tommy Kirk was named director from District 6.

Other board members are Lewis Shafer, Nelson Carlisle and Ernest Trull.

Rogers, Thornton top bidding

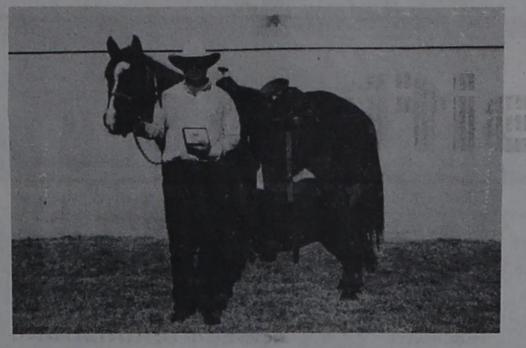

The Texico Production Sale sponsored by the FFA and FHA Organizations was a success.

The students were bid on as individuals for their work skills with Brian Rogers receiving the highest bid in FFA and Kayla Thornton in FHA.

The students did everything from painting barns, driving tractors and picking up fences to house and domestic work. The students did any job needed to be done and did them to the best of their abilities.

FFA earned $1,267 for their organization and the FHA organization earned $432.
