

Border Banter

By Mike Pomper

Wars make great 'heads'

Wars. I love them. No, not the kind where folks use bayonets and rifles. I prefer the bureaucratic types.

What brought the subject to mind was a recent newspaper headline that I saw: "Gas War."

"War" is a great word. It fits into all kinds of headlines. Like when city or county officials declare something has to be done about a rat problem, for example (there is always a rat problem everywhere), the headlines in newspapers the next day shout out "War on rats!"

In my time, I've seen wars on crime, wars on litterbugs, wars on dope peddlers, wars on junked cars, wars on trash and so on. All I can say is that we've lost a lot of wars.

My all-time favorite has been the "War on Dogs and Cats Running Loose." I've yet to find a community which didn't have this particular problem somewhere along the line.

Wherever I've lived, whether it was Illinois, Indiana, Virginia, Nebraska, New York or Texas, there have been times when I was out for my evening constitutional when some unfriendly "woof woofs" were heard. And there was a dog nipping at my heels.

Maybe we should have a "War on Nipping Dogs."

The interesting part of all these wars is that they happen again and again. We have fought the Japanese only once, in World War II, but I guarantee that we can see a War on Trash at least twice a decade.

And if a war peters out without a successful conclusion, not to worry. It will be repeated with the next government to come into office.

I'm sure all this negativism doesn't hold water all the time. Every reader surely has memories of successful wars. Why there even was a "War to End All Wars" once, back in 1914. Remember that one?

Personally, I would prefer that government officials not go to war so often, but rather battle the problem instead. I can live with a "Battle Against Dog Poop in the Streets," like a New York newspaper once headlined.

"Battle" is ongoing; you win some, you lose some. "War" denotes victory or defeat. And let's face it, you're never going to win most of the wars I've mentioned.

Perhaps, we could start a nationwide campaign to get government officials to forget wars (although I realize President Reagan is in the midst of his War on Drugs) and go for battles, instead. Think of the slogans:

"Make battle, not war."
Or "It's not the winning that counts, but the struggle."
Or "Keep on Battlin'."

Of course, there is a slight problem. My peers in the newspaper trade wouldn't be too happy. "Battle" doesn't fit as easily as "war" in those one-column headlines!

There was an incident involving the Farwell County sheriff's office last week alleging someone entering the premises on the q.t. Here's Sheriff Bill Morgan's comment on the rumors:

"On the contrary to all the rumors around Farwell, there was no break-in at the Farwell County Courthouse, no one was tied up or raped, and all the prisoners were not turned loose."

The incident in the early morning on Oct. 30 is still under investigation.

Congratulations to those Texico teams in the Clovis girls' basketball league this fall. They did super.

The Area Merchants Football Contest, now in its 10th week, is more popular than ever.

Last week, we set a record: 604 persons (over the age of 12) participated.

This year, with three weeks to go, we've already counted 700 entrants. That is one heckuva total for a small community like Texico-Farwell.

For those who were wondering how our printing business is coming, well, it's coming.

We've gotten in some stock, purchased some needed machinery and made a bunch of repairs. We've got a couple to go, plus more training. We hope to open up about Dec. 1, Lord be willing.

Hole in the wall

This is not a new drive-through at the Farwell Allsup's store. The big hole was made Tuesday when a Texico woman ran her car into the front of the store.

Clements, Combest win elections

Here's a look at the winners in Tuesday's elections for Texas voters:

'What Veteran's Day means to me'

BY KARA COZBY

It means that we should be thinking about the people who gave their lives, and their futures, for justice and humanity. Our brave soldiers fought and retrieved peace, so that we at home could live peaceful lives. Many came back insane, many injured, many didn't come back. The ones who did come back are criticized for keeping our country safe. Many sad families will visit today the graves of their beloved veterans who didn't survive the wars, others will think of those who didn't come back home.

BY DAWN LASSITER

Veterans Day means people who have gone to war for their country, the United States of America, and fought for the people of their country.

This day is to represent the thanks and gratitude to veterans. And to bring the thought to Americans that they sacrificed their lives and never see their families again.

BY JOSEFRE GONZALES

Veterans Day means to me people who are American citizens who served in the armed forces, and fought in wars are remembered, and thanked for their heroic deeds. I think of them as heroes, and am very thankful for keeping our country the way it is. I am very thankful that we have not had a war on our soil since the Civil War.

Check your telephone bill

Many Farwell customers of Eastern New Mexico Rural Telephone Cooperative got a surprise in their bills this week: they were billed for the past two months.

The snafu was caused by a computer miscue, plus the conversion to a new billing system.

Orthodontist to open Farwell office

Dr. Robert H. Lindsey Jr. has announced the opening of an office for the practice of orthodontics in Farwell.

It will be at 112 Ninth St., the former site of the Farwell Grain Exchange office (across from Capitol Foods).

Dr. Lindsey and his staff will be at

BY GREG AKERS

It means that it's a time to remember who served in the war. It is a time to show you care for the people who served for our country.

In some places there is a monument of the people who died for us in Vietnam.

BY PAUL VELA

It means to me that people fought for our country. It means to me people died for me and my country. People risked their life for our country. If they had not of done it we might of had communists take over. If it was not for them we might not be free Americans. And that is what Veterans Day means to me.

BY ANGELA DOTSON

A veteran is a person has the courage and ability to go overseas and leave the things which are most precious to them. Those things being their families, futures, and occupations. Our country is known as the land of the free and the home of the brave. Which is the United States of America.

BY KENNY SHAW

Veterans Day to me is where everyone gives a great big hand and gives lots of thanks to the men and women who were in the wars our country has had. Some of these people even lost their lives for our country so we could be free.

SEVENTY-FIFTH YEAR

25 CENTS

Cole has perfect total in winning contest

Jerry Cole of Oklahoma Lane won the 9th weekly contest of the Area Merchants Football Contest with a perfect score of 12.

For that feat, he won the first place prize of $10. It was the first time he had entered this year's contest.

Two participants had 11 right -- David Rubio and Howard Carlyle. By virtue of being closer to the tiebreaker (Lorenzo 6, Farwell 0), Carlyle won the second place prize of $5. He was 14 points off the tiebreaker.

With 10 right were:

Gene Hardage, Bret Taylor, Kyle Stancell, Donnie McDonald, Red Lonsdale, Jaime Mendoza, Gary Patterson, G.L. Straley, Carolyn Stancell, Danny Rubio and Randy Davis.

Game results were: Texico over Ft. Sumner, Tulia over Muleshoe, Carlsbad over Clovis, Texas A&M over SMU, Texas Tech over Texas, Alabama over Mississippi State, TCU over Houston, Ohio State over Iowa, New York Giants over Dallas, New England over Atlanta, Tampa Bay over Buffalo, and Cincinnati over Detroit.

Meanwhile, the overall leader in the contest, Vicky Lynn, had 7 right last week to maintain her lead.

Here's a look at the leader board: 73 points -- Vicky Lynn.

74 -- Cheryl Scott and Steve Kittrell.

73 -- Don Gartin and Rick Castaneda.

Jerry Cole, winner of last week's football contest, receives his cash prize from Bobbie McFarland, of

72 -- Esther Ketcherside, T.J. Kittrell, David Lynn, Roger Robertson and Donnie McDonald.

71 -- Joannah Gartin.

70 -- Rex Cumpston, Ralph Franse, Cotton Robertson, Damon George, Jody Ketcherside, Stephen Ketcherside, Steve Franse, and Rhonda Webb.

The winner of the 12-week contest will get two free tickets to the Dallas Cowboy - Chicago Bear game in Texas Stadium Dec. 21. The winner also gets a free night's lodging at the Regent Hotel, with transportation to and from the game, plus $50 expense money.

When the war was over some people came back with no arms, no legs, and half of their brains missing. We would not be here today if we did not have the people who fought in the wars.

We give lots of thanks to those Veterans who are alive or dead because they were brave men and women who fought hard.

Texico Kings, Queens picked

The winners of the All School Halloween Carnival Kings and Queens contest at Texico School last Thursday night were:

Kindergarten-fifth grade, Dara Jenkins and Corey Horner; Junior High, Eric Brock and Marsha Hamilton, and High School, Angie Liggins and Corey McDaniel.

Serving as master of ceremonies of the King and Queen coronation were Brette Southard and Humberto Viescas.

For the first time since 1976, Texico School co-sponsored a Fall Carnival. The carnival brought out many "ghosts and goblins" and fun-seekers and added funds to the treasures of many organizations and groups. Topping the list of money-makers were the elementary's bingo games, the cake walk sponsored by the juniors and the high school cheerleaders sold picture buttons. Some groups went in the hole while others averaged $47 to $50 profit for their treasuries.

In addition to the booths, penny votes determined the winners of the king and queen contests for each of three schools.

Franse heads board of El Rancho

Bo and Jeanne Bartley have provided an update on El Rancho de Los Ninos, the Guatemala orphanage they operate. Here's what it says:

Summer has come quickly to an end! We have been in the states this summer and now we are back in Guatemala. We came to see Renee graduate from high school and to catch up on all of the activities that Todd has been involved in at Vinita High.

Renee is now enrolled at the Oklahoma Baptist University, studying medicine. She hopes for a great new year at school. Todd will be a Jr. at Vinita High School and plans to play football this fall.

'Crumbs, Inc.' set up

Mrs. Jennings' senior economics class at Lazbuddie recently created a corporation in class as part of their study of business organization in America.

Students named their corporation CRUMBS, INC., and the products they sold were brownies and cookies. Each student in the class was given the opportunity to purchase shares of stock at 25 cents per share. They had to realize before they bought stock that the company would be liquidated at the end of the week and that they might get back more than the initial price of stock but also that they might not get it all back.

Money was collected for shares sold, and it provided the capital outlay. Stock certificates were issued, and stock was traded during the week on a voluntary exchange.

Allowing one vote per share of stock, officers were elected as follows: President, Traci Elliott; secretary, Clint Russell; treasurer, Shonda Mitchell; reporter, Cathy Schacher; advertising executive, Mark Moore; and production executive, Shonda Mitchell. Other seniors who helped with the project were Cynthia Martinez, Dusty Jesko, Frances King, Tina Shairrick, Shane Mason, and Cami Ivy.

In evaluating results of the project, the class concluded they operated at a market equilibrium price because they were able to sell the last cookie by the end of the day. They rated their production with superior product quality and their price as what people were willing to pay. Advertising included posters in the halls, cafeteria, and teacher's lounge.

After all expenses were paid, a profit was determined. Dividends were declared to each stock holder with a 20% rate of return on their initial investment.

The class is now beginning a project on charting the stock market.

Conservationist

Henry L. Power is the new Soil Conservationist at Friona. Henry, his wife, Linda, and son, Tim have moved to Friona from Crockett, Texas. He has worked in Groveton and Crockett prior to the assignment to Friona. His duties will be to assist producers with the Great Plains Conservation Program, Conservation Reserve Program, and planning resource management system.

El Rancho has been operated by Pastor Mardecado and his wife, Lucy, since we have been in the states this summer. They are very responsible and dedicated people and we thank God for their leadership at the Ranch.

There are so many people that helped us get ready for our trip back to Guatemala. The Lord knew what we needed before we knew what we needed! First of all, a van was provided for us to transport all the necessary goods that we needed to take back with us. The bus that we have at the Ranch needs a diesel engine. That need was provided for us. We also were able to take with us a submersible pump and 380 feet of wire for our water well. The van was loaded with clothes, groceries, bikes, and other needed items for the children and operation of the Ranch.

We have so many people that we need to say a special "Thank You" to. Everyone that we have come in contact with over the summer has been helpful and eager to be of help to us. We ask that God will richly bless you for your concern and help to us. Please except our heartfelt "Thanks"!!!!

We are not only taking a loaded van home with us, but we are taking a sweet couple, who are "loaded" with the love of the Lord. They are George and Pam Dillard from Las Cruces, N.M. George and Pam felt the calling to go to Guatemala and spend some time helping us at the Ranch.

George is a professional mechanic and his first job will be installing the diesel engine in the bus. Pam is a hard working lady and plans to assist Jeanne with the everyday tasks at the Ranch. She also wants to learn to make tortillas. George and Pam drove the van to New Orleans to have it shipped to Guatemala City. They met with our family to travel together to the City. The cafeteria built in January 1986, has not been completed at this time. We feel that each project we start must be finished before we begin a new one. The funds are not available at this time to finish our project. The floor and ceiling are the two things that we need to work on in order to complete the cafeteria. Pray that we will be able to finish this building soon. We want to be able to plan future projects.

The Board of Directors met in August and new board members were elected. They are: Ralph Franse, President; Jerry Monk, Secretary, both from Farwell; Cliff Ennen of Las Cruces, J.B. Taylor, of Clovis, James Bell of Las Cruces, Herman Gerles of Texico, Jeff of Ventura, Calif.

The Advisory Board consist of Rick Isenhour of Del Rio, Texas, Wayne Muncrief of Las Cruces, Rick Stewart of Farwell, Allen Franzoy of Las Cruces, Dave Martin of Stillwater, Okla., Art Snipes of Clovis, Rhonda Vaughan of Eules, Texas, and Jim Bristow of Artesia, N.M.

Bo Bartley also serves on the Executive Board. Pray for our members as they make the decisions for the Ranch.

We now have a sum of 48 children at the Ranch. That is a lot of "kids," but it is also 48 blessings. It is a pleasure to know that we have a part in helping these children make something of themselves. They are learning how to love themselves, as well as those round about them. Most of all, they are learning that God loves them and they are special.

Please continue to pray for our work in Guatemala. God has been good to us and we want to serve Him here. Pray for George and Pam as they work with us. Pray that God will provide all of our Needs for us daily.

God Bless You All,
Bo and Jeanne

Lorenzo blanks Farwell

The Farwell Steers were defeated by Lorenzo last Friday night.

Coach Rex Cumpston reported how the game went quarterly.

"There was no score in the first quarter, but Farwell's defense did a good job.

"In the second quarter, Lorenzo scored on an eight yard touchdown

Wolverines lose first

The Texico Wolverines lost in a game of undefeated teams to the Fillies, 30-28, in the Clovis girls basketball league Saturday.

It was an exciting game from start to finish. The first quarter ended in a 5-5 tie. At half, the Fillies were ahead, 14-13.

The Fillies had a high percentage of their shots fall through. The Wolverines had several roll around the basket and fall out.

The Fillies had a tall center who scored 22 of their points. Meanwhile, the Wolverines got into foul trouble with two girls fouling out.

Scoring for the Wolverines were Virginia Terrazas, 12; Marsha Hamilton, 9; Ruth Terrazas, 4; Kathy King, 2, and Dara Jenkins, 1.

Outstanding defensive players were Jenkins and the two Terrazas girls.

On Nov. 8, the Wolverines play the Rockettes at 10:15 a.m. and the Foxy Ladies at 12:45 p.m. at the Yucca gym.

pass. They completed a couple of passes to get to the position to score, and our defense did not do well. Farwell's defense did a good job of holding off Lorenzo on the extra two point conversion. This made the score 6-0 in the first half.

"There was no score in the second half. We had opportunities to get drives going, but we just couldn't put it in the end zone.

"Both teams exchanged punts three times inside the ten yard line, but neither team could score.

"We just can't seem to find a way to get the ball in the end zone. We do a good job moving the ball from 20 to 20, but seem to bog down as we get closer to the end zone. We have to strive to become more consistent. Defensively we did not play a real bad game. We let them get away once or twice, but for the most part, managed to control them."

Farwell's final game will be with Sudan at Farwell on Nov. 14 at 7:30 p.m.

Farwell's record is 4-4 overall and 2-3 in district.

A white flag brings a message

A white flag from the enemy brought the message that General Montoya wished to confer with Colonel Molano. The conference lasted almost an hour, with Molano sending back word through Lopez that Montoya had agreed to pay the Federalists $2000,000 to depart, but that Molano was demanding $250,000. Actually, Molano was merely delaying action until expected reinforcements for the Centralists could arrive. When they came in the early afternoon, they increased the Centralist army to more than 1,000.

Colonel Lopez now claimed that Molano was being held prisoner, and ordered an advance. He proposed that the Mexicans and the Texians fight separately, and drew up a battle plan that would have sent the Texians into a deep gorge to be slaughtered. Upon perceiving this, they halted and decided to follow Lopez, who by now had rounded the hill. Here he halted his soldiers and told them that it was suicide to fight such an overwhelming force, and that the only alternative was to go over to the enemy. Firing his gun into the air, he shouted, "Death to Texas! Long live Mexico! Follow me, soldiers, and save yourselves!" He bolted to the enemy, followed by most of the soldiers. Colonel Jose Maria Gonzales and some of his unit refused to join them, and took to the mountains instead.

Seeing themselves thus abandoned, the Texians decided to fight to the bitter end. Holed up behind the walls of a nearby hacienda, they were subjected to a prolonged barrage of cannon fire. About 4 p.m., hearing no response, General Montoya assumed that most of them were killed. He ordered an attack, cheered on by the crowd of spectators in the rear.

Jordan told his men to hold their fire until the enemy was in close range. Almost every shot took its toll. Column after column advanced, faltered and fell under the murderous fire. At length the enemy because disorganized, panic followed, and they fled in wild disorder, joined by the men, women and children who had come to see "los diablos Tejanos" receive their due.

The Texians counted some 408 Mexicans killed and left on the battlefield, with but few wounded. They themselves suffered three killed and nine wounded, two of whom died later. They captured a large quantity of guns and ammunition, plus the enemy's two cannons.

Before the enemy could regroup, the Texians retired and started for the Rio Grande under cover of night. At a mountain pass they were attacked by a group of volunteers from Saltillo, who were put to flight after an exchange of fire. No Texians were hurt. Lost in the dark and passing through a cornfield, they heard cavalry approaching. They waited until the riders were within 20 paces, then fired into the darkness, bringing down some 40, and the others fled. One Texian was killed in this encounter.

That morning at a rancho they got accurate information regarding their route, and the next day they found the road to Monclova. They finally reached Laredo today, after being harrassed during the entire route by enemy cavalry, who, however, maintained a respectful distance and inflicted no casualties.

During the nine-day journey, one Texian straggler was captured by the enemy, and another took off into the mountains alone and has not been heard from. On the third day out they were joined by three of Gonzales' men who had refused to join the enemy, and last Thursday, when they reached Candela, they encountered Colonel Gonzales himself. He was making his way to Laredo, where he lives. With news of their approach, Colonel Seguin, who is currently stationed there, sent out a small contingent to escort them into town.

Colonel Jordan is now preparing a full report to General Canales, who at present is maintaining headquarters at Camargo. Upon looking through a trunk on one of the pack mules brought from Saltillo, he found Colonel Molano's entire correspondence with the Centralists, fully revealing the extent of his treachery.

1837: SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 4. Texians who have been held prisoners in Matamoros arrived in Galveston today to their freedom, aboard a ship especially chartered for this purpose by the Mexican government. They were released by order of Mexican President Anastasio Bustamante.

Most of those released were captured by the Mexicans on April 17 of this year as passengers and crew of the Texas war schooner Independence when it was taken by the enemy. They have been held since then in what President Sam Houston has termed "cruel and rigid confinement."

The release of the prisoners tends to allay fears that Mexico is preparing to launch a major attack, even though President Bustamante, in an address to his troops on September 28, said that they would soon be called upon "to gather new laurels on the fertile fields of Texas." Some 3,000 troops are reported to be assembled at Matamoros under General Vincente Filisola, but they are said to be poorly clothed and equipped.

The attitude of Texians is one of watchful waiting, without fear. They generally believe that they can counter odds of 10 to 1, since Mexican soldiers are often ill-trained, and many are convicts serving out their terms in the army.

1837: TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 7. President Sam Houston today submitted to the Texas Senate a message listing the "misdemeanors" which have caused him to demand the impeachment and court-martial of Secretary of the Navy Samuel Rhoads Fisher.

A major charge against Fisher is that he neglected his duties by sailing on the Texas naval schooner Brutus from June 11 to August 27 as it plied Gulf waters in search of prize vessels. With her was the Navy's only other vessel, the Invincible, thus leaving the Texas coast unguarded. The two warships also attacked a number of small Mexican towns along the coast, "plundering, burning, and destroying the property of defenseless and unoffending Mexicans, not warranted by the laws of war and of nations," according to the President.

Houston also charges that Fisher proposed using the Navy to obtain the release of prisoners being held at Matamoros, when he was fully aware that the President was attempting the same thing by negotiations and exchange. According to Houston, the Secretary "betrays a temper and hostility of feeling incompatible with the respect due the Executive and the confidence that ought to exist between them."

Although not listed among the misdemeanors, it may be that a major cause of the President's dissatisfaction with Secretary Fisher is the fact that Texas currently is without a Navy, since both the Brutus and the Invincible were grounded and wrecked off Galveston Island on August 27, the very day of the Secretary's return, during an off-shore engagement with two enemy vessels.

Secretary Fisher is known to have a number of supporters in the Senate, and it is unlikely that it will vote for his impeachment or court-martial. No doubt he will be encouraged to resign instead, since "the breach between him and His Excellency is such that it could not be for the interest of our common country that he should retain the station."

1840: SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 8. General Antonio Canales, commander-in-chief of the Republic of the Rio Grande, yesterday abandoned the Federalist cause and concluded an armistice with Centralist General Mariano Arista. The capitulation was initiated by Canales.

The so-called Republic of the Rio Grande has thus come to an end.

In the capitulation, the Federalists have agreed to turn over their armament, including a 4-pound cannon, and four armed ships partially paid for, reported to be moored at this time in Corpus Christi Bay.

The lives, liberty and property of all Federalists who surrender are guaranteed, and all officers and soldiers who were formerly in the regular army of Mexico are restored to their former rank, or they can apply for a discharge if they prefer. Whether Canales will retain his rank as general is not known. He was formerly a lawyer in Guerrero, and a colonel in the Mexican army.

Exempted from the capitulation are the Texians who have been fighting with the Federalists. They may either join the Centralist forces, or cross to the Mexican side of the Rio Grande to receive the pay due them, and return home. However, since the armistice begins with a statement that its purpose is to protect Mexican citizens from the "danger of exposure to the vengeance of the foreigners who menace them," it seems unlikely that many Texians will test the sincerity of this offer.

Farwell Junior High report given

The seventh grade literature class have been working in their textbooks. They've also critiqued a poem from one of their stories, and now they are being tested over what they learned. The eighth grade literature class have been writing analogies, and they have prepared them to send for possible publication in a student writing magazine.

The sixth, seventh, and eighth grade reading classes are all individualized. Each student works on his/her own reading level and on the particular skill that he/she needs to master. This makes learning much more meaningful and interesting. Sixth and eighth grade science students have been studying rocks and minerals. The eighth graders had a first-hand look at minerals from this region on their field trip to the museum in Canyon, October 30. The seventh grade life science class has been classifying objects, and they are having fun. They toured the dinosaur section of the museum at Canyon.

Appositives, their uses, and punctuation have been holding the attention of the sixth grade English pupils lately. Sentence structure and sentence elements have been the object of study in the seventh and eighth grade English classes. The two latter grades toured the Amarillo Globe-News Building on October 30 for a view of how a big-city newspaper operates. These classes plan to write their own classroom newspapers next semester.

The seventh and eighth grade history students enjoyed a guided tour of the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum in Canyon, learning many interesting facts about early life here in the Panhandle. The sixth graders have been reading about Greece and have learned many of the unique customs and traditions of that country. They especially enjoyed having our mayor, Chris Gikas, come to the classroom and speak to them on Greece.

The elective classes at junior high have been busy. The eighth grade ag class has been welding. The seventh grade home ec students are learning to make bread, and they are shaping dough and baking it in animal shapes. The band is preparing for the Christmas season by sight reading music to find some to play at the winter concert. They have also been having chair tryouts to determine how high each is in his/her particular section and what music each will play.

In football, Thursday, October 23, the Yearlings traveled to Anton and beat Anton Junior High 28-6.

Farwell got the scoring going on a flare pass to Shawn Stewart. He also ran in the extra points. Later in the first quarter, Stewart scored another TD on a sweep. Monty Delgado ran the extra points.

In the second half, Monty Delgado took a handoff from quarterback Greg Actkinson and ran 35 yards for a score. The extra points failed. To round out the scoring, seventh grade QB Chad Byrd threw a TD pass to tight end Cody Monk. The extra points failed.

'Crime does pay'

This letter is addressed to Jacquelyn Robins, Chief Public Defender, Santa Fe.

Dear Ms. Robins:

The people in Curry County and across New Mexico are finally beginning to question the cost of crime and what it is doing to us as law-abiding taxpayers. The citizens are alarmed that the criminal justice system favors the criminal with many rights and enormous costs, while the victim, their family and friends, must endure "Life sentences" of fear, and often the loss of a loved one.

The recent trial in Tucumcari made necessary by paroled Edward Lee Adams for the brutal rape-murder-arson-burglary-kidnaping of 80 year old Ola Temple has made our people "fed up" with the costs and a slap in the face for letting violent criminals out of prison to again prey on law abiding citizens.

Please itemize the cost of this trial of Edward Lee Adams, including the following:

Salary of individual lawyers and the days they spent on this case.

The lawyers' staff's costs.

Cost to transport the penitentiary inmates to testify at the trial.

X-rays and pathologist reports, etc.

Autopsy.

Sheriffs' deputies, or others in this capacity.

Judge and his staff.

District Attorney and his staff.

Curry County and Clovis City Police Officers necessary to this case.

Mileage, food, lodging for all of the above.

All other costs necessary to the apprehension, detention and trial, and Jury expenditures.

The above itemized costs provided by the ew Mexico Public Defender's office will be made public, and the costs will also be requested for future trials. Evidently crime does pay in New Mexico. Crime has become the Number One concern in our state. Your public information will help us get this disgrace corrected, and your prompt answer will be greatly appreciated.

Most sincerely,
 Gerladine Wilson

This is our busy time of year! Next month we will have something almost daily. We will try to keep everyone up to date as best we can.

Our next holiday is Thanksgiving. We will have our Family Thanksgiving dinner. The nursing home supplies the turkey and drinks. The families bring a covered dish. If you have not attended our family get together you've missed an exciting evening of entertainment.

With each family bringing a covered dish we have food that would tempt a king. Every kind of vegetable, every kind of pie or cake. We all over eat, but, oh how sweet it is!

We have The Border Town Four to sing and play for us -- so mark the date and time on your calendars -- Nov. 25th at 7 p.m.

By popular demand our friend, Horace, will remain with us for a while longer. He has turned out to be a "Regular" so we've asked him to extend his stay with us and he has graciously accepted. Such a Gentleman!

Speaking of Gentlemen. Our thanks goes out to W.M. [Jr.] Pool of Muleshoe and Howard Carlyle of Farwell for donating the dried Harvest Arrangement in our lobby. The stalks of corn, colored ears of corn, a bale of hay, cattail millet, milo, sunflowers, and cotton. They made such a lovely display we hate to part with them. You still have plenty of time to come and share their beauty with us!

Don't forget -- Family Night is the 10th. We look forward to new faces to beat in Skip-Bo and dominoes! See you Monday Night about 6.

Texico wins in overtime

By Janice Jenkins

Texico ended the season with an overtime win over Ft. Sumner, 14-8. The Wolverines finished the season at 3-7 and 2-3 in district.

Although Texico moved the ball up and down the field on the Foxes, Ft. Sumner scored first.

Both teams were held scoreless in the first half. Texico would run a straight power play, get 6 or 7 yards and be just inches away from breaking free. But the Foxes would manage to stop them. In the second quarter the Wolverines moved the ball down to the 2-yard line. Then Ft. Sumner's defense came up with a big play to keep Texico out of the end zone.

On offense Larry Dudley gained a lot of yardage (103 yards on 22 carries) and Texico's defense held the Foxes to just 74 yards on total offense.

In the second half although Ft. Sumner would get loose on runs of 25 and 27 yards off a new formation, they had negative yardage.

The Foxes came out in a single wing. It was pretty deceptive and took Texico awhile to catch on. All the misdirection didn't prevent Texico's defensive end Mike Williams from recovering a Ft. Sumner fumble late in the game. The Wolverines started on their own 35 yard line and drove down to the 1-yard line. Then fullback Paul Brown plunged in for a 1-yard touchdown.

The Wolverines were forced to go for the two points to tie the game. Quarterback Rod Smith kept the ball on an option play and dove into the end zone to tie the ball game at 8-8.

For the second time this season Texico found themselves in an overtime situation. In New Mexico, the overtime consists of each team getting the ball for four plays from the 10-yard line.

Texico won the coin flip and elected to play defense.

On Ft. Sumner's second play Jesse Martinez broke through and got to the ball the same time the Foxes' running back did and caused a fumble and the Wolverines recovered.

Smith wasted no time and scored on a quarterback sweep that gave the Wolverines their win.

Coach David Lynn said, "I thought it only appropriate that we won our last game in overtime. I think we more or less dominated the game, even though the score was close. I think anytime we had a chance to win we accomplished it. We won the games that we could."

Lynn recognized some of his players for the fine jobs they did

Friday night. Rod Smith, "played an excellent ball game, Ken Murphy for having played an excellent defensive game, Spicer Lewis and Paul Brown, who also played a good game."

The offensive linemen played well and did a good job in controlling the line of scrimmage, said Lynn. He commended Brett Southard, Robert Amick, Jesse Martinez, Urban Orozco and Justin Barnes.

"I feel like we're right on track for next year," said Lynn, "It's a good way to end the season on a win instead of a loss."

The Wolverines ended their season with a record of 3-7 and a District record of 2-3.

Recipe of Week

RAIN-OATMEAL COOKIES

- 1 cup flour, sifted
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 1/2 cups quick cooking oats
- 2 egg whites, slightly beaten
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup oil
- 1/2 cup skim milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup seedless raisins

Sift together flour, baking soda and cinnamon. Stir in the oats. Combine egg whites, brown sugar, oil, milk, vanilla, and raisins and add to flour mixture. Mix well. Drop batter a teaspoon at a time onto an oiled cookie sheet. Bake at 375° for 12 to 15 minutes, depending on texture desired. Shorter baking time results in a chewy soft cookie, the longer time in a crisp one.

Lady Wolverines lose in tourney

The Lady Wolverines volleyball team were defeated last week in the Class A District Tournament by Tatum, with Tatum winning three out of four games.

Coach Michael Littlejohn said, "We played real well, except for our passing. We served the best that we have all year. Twilla Longo had a dislocated thumb, but was still able to do a pretty good job of hitting and passing. She just was not able to serve. Blocking was our biggest problem."

The Lady Wolverines ended their season with a record of 10-8.

Littlejohn said, "I think we had a real good year. We had our ups and downs and were inconsistent at times, but on the whole the girls did what was expected of them. I was pleased at how they played. We won some games we weren't supposed to win and I think that's doing pretty well."

Littlejohn said that he was looking forward to next year and thought that the Wolverines would have a good team next year with more experience. He mentioned that they would be losing only one senior this year, Traci McDonald.

Attendance dinner set
Farwell High School will host a 100% attendance dinner for all high school students who have had a perfect attendance from Oct. 6-31 on Nov. 7 at the Pizza Mill in Clovis from 6 to 8 p.m.
The attendance counting is done for the state and is one way that schools are funded.
An attendance contest was ran for the class having the highest percentage of students present on a weekly basis. The junior class won four weeks in a row with 100% of the students present every week in October.
There will be 116 kids eligible to attend the supper.
The pizza supper is mainly an incentive "to encourage the students to attend school regularly," said high school principal Lynn Burton.
