Hutchins in band

Odds and ends today:

I enjoy picking out the games for the football contest each year, seeking to present good matchups. But I found something different this year.

The top college teams are playing schedules easier than ever before. Teams like Oklahoma, Nebraska, Miami (Fla.) are rated at the top - by whipping a bunch of patsies.

Anyway, if you noticed that I hadn't been putting some of those top teams in the contest often, it's because they have been playing some real wimps.

But I've been in luck in that the Southwest Conference had a whole raft of teams which are so-so. Thus, I've been using them heavily in the contest this year. When TCU whips Baylor, you KNOW it's a topsy-turvy year.

Here's an answer for the merchant who says the "economy is so poor" he can't afford to advertise:

A study conducted by McGraw-Hill Inc. of New York compared the business done by firms that reduced their advertising during the 1981-82 recession with firms that continued and even increased their advertising during the same period:

- Firms that continued or increased their advertising during such "hard times" experienced a 275 percent increase in total sales between 1980 and 1985.

- Firms that reduced their advertising lost an average of 19 percent in sales during the same period.

Martin Chandler, who is on the board of the Farwell Community Center, passed along a letter he received from Maxine and Leonard Morris, complimenting the lunch at the center in memory of Tom Mesman.

I had a chance to watch the Farwell 7th and 8th grade grid teams play a few times this season, since my boy is on the 7th grade squad.

The teams won some, lost some. But I'm not that big on "having to win" at that age. What I feel is more important is to see progress among the youthful players.

And that's what I saw this season - a lot of progress. Congratulations, Coach Cates.

P.S. And that Jody Mahaney is going to be a heckuva player.

I didn't ever think I'd see the time I'd write something complimentary about the Soviets but an article in Wednesday's Lubbock newspaper caught my eye.

The Associated Press article said that Soviet leader Gorbachev has undertaken a campaign to streamline government by cutting 50 percent of all ministry jobs.

As longtime Tribune readers recall, I spent nearly 5 years in the Washington, D.C., suburbs, where all my neighbors were either military or government employees. Time after time, I heard stories about how little work they had to do. Yet, our leaders' hands are tied when it comes to making cutbacks; instead they always talk of raising taxes.

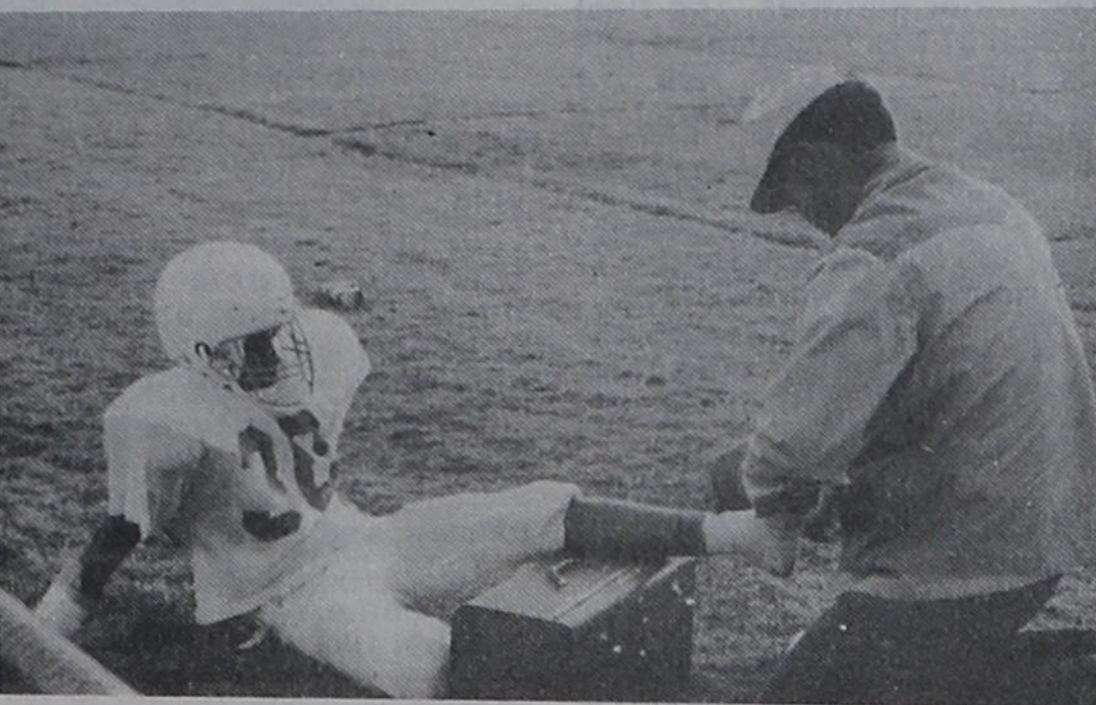

Perhaps, President Reagan could send a delegation of his top officials over to Moscow so they can learn from the Russkies.

Times change, don't they.

Daniel Hutchins, who is attending McMurray College in Abilene, Texas, reports that he is playing alto sax for a religious band named "Yield."

Other members of the band, which recently presented a concert in Ballinger, Texas, are Dam Walters, youth director of the Ballinger Methodist Church; David Pomerincke, George Ragsdale and Tom McLeod.

This is Secondary Principals' Week in Texas, and we take this time to check with the secondary school principals in Farwell, Jerry Dee Owen and Lynn Burton.

Jerry Dee Owen tapes up a player

Owen: Teachers work harder than ever

Farwell Junior High principal Jerry Dee Owen, has worked in the Farwell School District as a teacher, coach and principal for 25 years.

He and his wife, Pat, have two sons, Mark and Kevin.

Owen praised the work done by the staff members, and said the public at large probably doesn't realize how good the teachers really are.

Junior high school students normally show the most variations in size, reading ability, and maturity of any age group. They are the most diverse group to teach. Many of the teachers at Farwell Junior High have worked out individualized programs to meet the needs of the diverse abilities of the junior high school students. Some also use computers to help them individualize their work with the students.

"If you want to know what kind of education your child is getting, you have to know the caliber of the people teaching your kids," says Owen. "The majority of the teachers in Farwell schools are the kind of people who sing in the choir on Sunday morning. I have a lot of confidence in the people I work with."

Owen went on to say that knowing the moral fiber of the teachers is more important now than it ever was. "Twenty-five years ago when I taught biology here, I felt that I had to be very careful how I taught the basic facts about reproduction to high school students. Today there are state officials who are telling us to teach fifth graders details about Aids and abortion." Obviously, knowing the character of the teacher charged to teach these things is important.

Owen says that he has noticed some changes in recent years. "Teachers today are working harder than ever. They are showing signs of stress, and they are tired at the end of a day, says Owen.

"People just don't realize that teachers have to be tuned-in seven straight hours without a break, and they often have to make on-the-spot decisions," he added.

"We have good students in Farwell. Those who have been here awhile usually fall into good trends. We don't want these students to say, 'All I learned was to play ball' when they leave here," said Owen.

Owen, who was a coach himself, quickly added that he felt that athletics teaches self-discipline, self-esteem, manners, and responsibility. But, he does not ever want to see athletics stressed to the point that it stood in the way of academics.

"I found I was poorly prepared in some areas when I went to college. I don't want that to happen to students in our schools. I want to have students' respect for their school when they leave."

Today in an effort to improve the academic results, the schools are emphasizing the mastery of facts as reflected by the scores the students make on standardized tests.

"House Bill 72 has put much stress on the teachers. I don't see them laugh as much as they used to. They don't have time to do the plays or Christmas programs. The emphasis is on mastering essential elements of learning."

Owen ended the interview midstream to go tape an injured athlete's foot during the Lazbuddie football game - kids come first.

Burton: We have a close-knit faculty

"I really enjoy working around him. He really cares about the kids," says Farwell High School secretary Dollie Villarreal about her boss, Lynn Burton.

Burton has worked in Farwell for the past 21 years as a teacher, band director and then as principal. He and his wife, Cheryl, have five children: Erik, Ivan, Heather, Hayley, and Heidi.

"I just try to keep a positive attitude, and encourage those around me," says Burton.

"We have a very close knit faculty," says Burton. "They all get along well, and they are pleasant. They all pull their own share, and do what they are asked to do."

"If a kid asks one of our teachers for help, the teacher would stay and help," said Burton, confident of his staff.

"I've seen some changes in the attitudes of students in the past 21 years. Kids today come from a different background than the used to," he said. Television has changed a lot of the attitudes in the homes. "We also have more students from one parent families.

Burton believes that these changes have made a teacher's job more difficult than it was in the past.

One of the most difficult changes in education has been the increase in paperwork. "Paperwork is driving us mad," he said, pointing to a pile of reports in front of him. He mentioned attendance reports, formal written observations of teachers, grade reports, records of disciplinary actions, and reports on test score results as a few examples of the numerous reports that cross his desk each day.

"Principals of small schools have to do it all," said Burton of the paper work.

Principals also have to lead their schools. If money were no object, Burton would like to see Farwell High School add honors courses such as English, chemistry, physics, or a second foreign language such as German some day.

Burton also hopes to see at least one computer per classroom.

He would also like to see some improvements made in the facilities.

"Someday, I'd like to see a new gym for the senior high."

THE STATE LINE TRIBUNE

"OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF PARMER COUNTY"

Harrison tops 9th competition

The 9th week of the Area Merchants Football Contest turned out to be the roughest one yet for entrants.

Three participants got only 1 of the 12 games correct, and several more only got 2 right.

Eleven right was about the best you could do because the Friona - Floydada game ended in a deadlock.

What made the scores disastrous were the pro games. Of the 5 NFL games in the contest, four were considered upsets.

With scores averaging in the 4's and 5's, thus it was quite an achievement for two entrants to get 9 right: Kathy Harrison and Janel Lovvorn.

Miss Harrison, the Texico High grad who now attends Eastern New Mexico University in Portales, was declared the first place winner by virtue of being closest to the tie breaker: Clovis 42, Alamogordo 0. She was 22 off the tie breaker. So she received the first place cash prize of $10.

Getting the second place cash prize of $5 was Miss Lovvorn, who was 28 off the tie breaker.

With 8 right were: Gracie Dane, Jim Berry, Barb Franse, Joannah Gartin, Marion Hudson, Gaye Roberts, Kevin Owen, Cheryl Scott, Kay Warmuth, Sam Webb and Rebecca Delgado.

Results of last week's contest were:

Bovina over Petersburg, Friona and Floydada tied, Muleshoe over Dimmitt, Alabama over LSU, Texas Tech over TCU, Arkansas over Baylor, Texas A&I over ENMU, Buffalo over Denver, Detroit over Dallas, San Diego over Indianapolis, Philadelphia over Washington and Minnesota over LA Raiders.

Meanwhile, with the contest reaching the three-quarter mark, the contest for the two tickets to the Dallas Cowboys - St. Louis Cardinals game has heated up with a new overall leader.

Linda Gerles has taken over the lead with 75 points; she had 6 right last week.

She moved ahead of Steve Kittrell, who had been leading the contest for the past four weeks. He had 4 games right last week, and dropped into second place with 74 points.

They are followed by: 72 points - Kevin Owen. 71 - Jena Pyburn, 70 - T.J. Kittrell.

68 - Fuji Ortiz, Gene Hardage, Mamie Howard, Stephen Ketcherside.

67 - Don Gartin, Brent Green, Carolla Smith, Sammy Herrera, Carl Dean Goettsch.

All the totals are on display at the Tribune office during normal business hours. Entrants must be 12 years old or older.

All entries must be turned in at the Tribune office before 5 p.m. Friday (today) or, if mailed, must bear a Friday postmark.

The grand prize of the 12-week contest will be two tickets to the Dallas Cowboys - St. Louis Cardinals game Dec. 27 in Dallas. The prize also includes lodging at the Airport Hilton, transportation to and from the airport, and to and from the stadium, free brunch, tour of Cowboys Center and $50 spending cash.

Kathy Harrison was the winner of last week's Area Merchants Football Contest. Since she is in Portales attending school at ENMU, Mrs. Cotton "Shorty" Robertson accepted the $10 first place check in her behalf from "Shorty" Williams at the Farwell Public Auto Auction, one of the contest sponsors. The next auction will be Nov. 21. Mrs. Robertson is the mother of Roger Robertson, who attends Texas Tech University and is engaged to Miss Harrison.

Truck regulation proposal scrapped

The Texico City Council Tuesday unanimously scrapped a proposed ordinance dealing with monitoring semi-trailers.

Reaction from city residents, either through talks with councilmen or through answering a questionnaire which appeared in the Tribune two weeks ago, was highly negative of any extra regulations.

Speaking in favor of truckers at the meeting were Ed Autrey, Craig Chumley, Betsy Autrey and Crystal Bryant.

At the beginning of the discussion, councilman Bryan Kube recommended the council back off the proposed ordinance.

"The city is more at fault than the truckers," said Kube. "Some city streets are not as wide as they should be and the streets are not maintained as they ought to be. I'm against making the truckers park their trucks somewhere else. As for load limits, the state has limits and we can't lower them." Councilman Steve Chancy said that if property being damaged by trucks is a problem, that's a police matter, and doesn't call for a trucking ordinance.

In other business, the council:

- Approved a variance for Dean Henninger to install a new driveway. The council felt this didn't need to be sent to the planning and zoning commission first.

- Decided to get a copy of Curry County's ordinance dealing with businesses that have sexually-oriented material. Texico may use it for their own ordinance.

- Heard councilman Doyal LaRue say that EPCOG hasn't gotten back to him yet on his request to find out if grant money might be available for fixing up the City Hall building. Also, Kube said the outside needs to be painted.

- Noted that the next city election will be March 1.

Kellie sees videotapes of Farwell activities

Farwell High School Principal Lynn Burton brought Kellie Anderson last week a video tape of some of the activities at Farwell High School.

"Kellie got to see most of it," said Mrs. Marvin Anderson "but she got tired, and we had to return the VCR before she saw all of it."

Mr. Burton had videotaped many normal school activities - students in classrooms, students in band practice, and at football and cheerleading practice.

Kellie has been in a Phoenix hospital since July 26 when she entered in a coma due to viral encephalitis.

Kellie laughed and smiled while she watched the antics of her schoolmates.

Kellie's doctors are still adjusting her medications, and she is still doing her workouts with the physical therapists. "She does jumping jacks as well as the therapist," says Mrs. Anderson.

Waiting for the doctors to release Kellie is very frustrating, but says Mrs. Anderson, "when we get discouraged, we think about where Kellie started from, and we look around at other people here who won't get well," that puts things back into perspective.

The Andersons have received many cards and letters to help cheer Kellie along the road to recovery.

Radios purchased

The Parmer County Commissioners Monday approved buying four walkie-talkie radios for the Department of Public Safety troopers in Parmer County.

The troopers made the request. The cost is $2,900.

In other business, the commissioners appointed a Jury of View to check into a request that a road in the Lazbuddie area be straightened. The purpose of the Jury of View is to make sure that such a change would not do any damage.

Appointed were Demp Foster, J.T. Mayfield, Claude Gregory, Elvis Powell and Max Steinbaugh.

The money raised from this event will help to pay for band expenses and for new uniforms. The old uniforms that the band uses are 26 years old.

Sheriff's Report

Here is the weekly report from Parmer County Sheriff Bill Morgan:

On Nov. 2, Terry Jesko, Friona, reported that someone broke into his home and took several items. The case is under investigation.

On Nov. 7, George Vega Roriguez, 26, Bovina, was arrested by Bovina Police on a charge of driving while intoxicated, 2nd offense. He pled not guilty before County Judge Porter Roberts and bond was set at $1,000. The case is pending in county court.

Rainfall to help spring planting

Above average rainfall received in the late summer and early fall this year should result in good soil moisture conditions for spring planting, says Mike Risinger, Soil Scientist with the Soil Conservation Service (SCS).

"We've had above average rainfall late in the growing season over much of the High Plains, so soil moisture should be a little better than usual. However, where corn, cotton and grain sorghum crops extracted a lot of water, I expect the upper two feet of the soil profile to be depleted. Wheat areas fallow through the summer should have good soil moisture for fall growth," says Risinger.

High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 staff, in cooperation with the SCS, will begin measuring soil moisture Nov. 16 and should finish by Christmas.

Approximately 220 soil moisture sites throughout the Water District service area will be measured. Six new sites in Crosby County and 13 new sites in Floyd County have been added this year. Neutron moisture meters, the most accurate moisture measuring devices available, will be used by the teams to obtain soil moisture data. Measurements are made by inserting a neutron probe into a previously installed aluminum access tube. Readings are then taken at six-inch intervals in a five-foot soil profile.

Soil moisture monitoring sites are representative of typical dryland or irrigated farming practices and are selected based on soil type, saturated thickness of the aquifer and the type of crop grown. The type of crop grown is important in interpreting soil moisture readings because some crops have different growing seasons and different water requirements. For example, areas which have supported corn and cotton crops throughout the summer will probably show lower soil moisture readings when measurements are taken in the fall, says Risinger. However, areas planted to winter wheat in the fall should show higher soil moisture levels if the fields were fallow during the summer.

New soil moisture maps should be available by early February, 1988. The Water District provides individual soil moisture readings to those landowners and operators with soil moisture monitoring sites on their land.

Risinger emphasizes that producers should monitor their own soil moisture. "There is considerable variation in soil moisture conditions across the District this year. Farmers are the most familiar with their farm's soil moisture conditions and should make individual checks," says Risinger.

A first for Amber Bruce

Thirteen year old Amber Bruce participated with her grandmother, Ardith Bruce, in the All Girls Rodeo in Abilene last weekend.

Amber tied for 5th and 6th places in the Junior Barrel Race to win her first professional money. She beat out some contestants who will be competing in the National Rodeo events in Las Vegas, N.M., later this year.

Lazbuddie to offer adult education classes

Lazbuddie Schools will begin a program of adult education classes in January.

The classes will start after the cotton harvest is over, and a bilingual teacher will teach the class.

Tuesday, the School Board approved its financial statement. The figures had to be revised to reflect the adjusted daily attendance figures where computed in October. The tentative budget was based upon last year's daily attendance of 251 students. The revised figures will be based upon the average daily attendance of 238.9 students. State monies are allocated on the basis of the average daily attendance figures.

The board amended the teacher appraisal calendar.

They adopted a change in the open meeting law. They will now have a certified agenda for their closed meetings.

The two Texico teams playing in the girls basketball league in Clovis, the Wolverines and the Bearcats, won three out of four of their games on Nov. 7.

The Wolverines lost to the Foxy Ladies in a close game, 18-16. Scoring for the Wolverines were Dara Jenkins, 8, and Natasha Shaw and Laura Vega, 4 each.

On Saturday afternoon, the Wolverines defeated the Rockettes 29-18. Scoring for the Wolverines were Dara Jenkins and Kelli King, both with 10 points, Cathy King, 4, Chesna Campbell, 3, and Natasha Shaw, 2.

The Bearcats defeated the Foxy Ladies 33-27. Scoring for the Bearcats were: Brandy Steward, 6, Jodi Chadwick, 6, Terri Askew, 6, Wendy Isaacs, 12, and Crystal Foreman, 3.

The Bearcats then defeated the Dribblers 40-22. Scoring for the Bearcats were: Brandy Steward, 4, Carol Servatius, 2, Terri Askew, 12, Wendy Isaacs, 6, and Crystal Foreman, 18.

On Nov. 14, all teams have only one game. The Wolverines and the Bearcats meet at 10:15 in old gym of Yucca Junior High.

Price speaks about band experiences

Tonya Price spoke to the Texico-Farwell Lions Club about her experiences with the New Mexico Lions Club Band last summer.

Tonya, who is a senior at Farwell High School and Drum Major with the Farwell Band, was chosen to represent the club at the New Mexico State Lions Club Convention.

Students from all over the state of New Mexico gathered in Albuquerque for a day of practice before they attended the convention. They played at a baseball game in Albuquerque, and then they went on to Santa Fe where played at the Lions Club Convention events.

From there they enjoyed the sights at Grand Canyon and Lake Havasu. Then they went to Los Angeles, Calif.

The New Mexico Lions Club Band paraded through Disneyland, and then the members had free time to enjoy the rides.

Jazzercise OK'd

The Farwell School Board agreed Tuesday to allow Alice Autry to conduct Jazzercise classes in the old gym three times a week. A fee will be paid to the school system.

Since one of the school board's goals is to improve compensation to teachers, the board offered a "wellness program" to Farwell teachers: the board will pay the first month fees for all fulltime employees.

The cost is $2 per session for adults; $1.50 for students.

In other business, the board:

- Approved the annual audit report.
- Cast 815 votes for Mark Schwertner to be on the county appraisal district board.
- Approved a new leave policy for para-professionals (non-certified personnel). If certain guidelines are followed, they can accumulate up to 25 leave days for major illnesses. Currently, their maximum is 5 days a year, and they would start off each new year with 5.

- Approved a credit by exam program. This will allow transfer students who passed courses in a non-accredited school, for example, to take tests in local courses and by passing them, get credit for the courses.
- Approved an advanced placement program. Basically, this allows any student to "klep" out of many courses (by getting a high enough score on a test, they automatically pass the course without taking it).
- Heard School Supt. John Grigsby say he was adding a clerk (as a contractual service). Paperwork has snowballed, he said, due to House Bill 72 and this clerk will do typing and filing where needed in the schools.
- Okayed a local sick leave pool for the professional staff. This is for emergency illnesses. Teachers can take 1 or 2 days of their own local sick leaves and place it in a pool where someone else can use it.
- Added a job title for Randy Grady, maintenance director. He also is now in charge of safety and management. Due to a new federal rule, all schools must check for any asbestos in their buildings. Grigsby said there isn't any asbestos here, but it still will cost about $3,000 to have a survey taken - due to the federal regulation.

- Added a job title to the high school principal, that of vocational education director.
- Agreed to form a committee to re-evaluate the placement and retention policy.
- Okayed a math computer program in the junior high. The computer will be used to supplement math teaching.
- Heard Grigsby say that the final bond payment on the high school will be paid Dec. 1. Debt payments will be paid for the next four years on equipment, though. Next year, Grigsby estimated the debt service tax will fall from 11 cents to 7 or 7 1/2 cents.

Puppet show set

There will be a puppet show in the Education Complex of Texico Schools Nov. 13 at 2:15 p.m. It will be presented by the Clovis Library.

Study Guide by Postal Exam
Preparation Center

The study guide by P.E.P.C. was researched and written by the foremost authority in America on how to gain employment with the Postal Service. The author, Mr. Stephen McNally, has the following qualifications:

- 1) former postal employee.
- 2) currently a Ph.D. candidate in education
- 3) averaged 96 on two of the strictly scored Rural Carrier exams

Mr. McNally, who averaged 100% on 7 out of 7 of the various postal exams stated, "The Rural Carrier exam is by far the most difficult of the 5 exams commonly offered to the general public." For this reason, proper preparation is essential to obtaining one's maximum score.

You may purchase this study guide for $15.00 (1st class postage and handling included).

What's in the new budget

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

AUSTIN — Texas legislators, as you all by now are aware, concluded their special 30-day budget session by approving a record $38.3 billion budget and $5.7 billion tax bill.

We voted against both the budget and the tax bill, and our reasons were many. The budget, while not as bad as some might imagine, still contained too much waste and too many examples of inequitable fund distribution, and the tax bill simply was written a little too hastily with not quite enough regard for the impact it might have on the state's economy.

The purpose of what follows, though, is purely informational. It is intended neither to support nor deride the budget and tax bills but merely to let you know what is in them. No matter how much we in the Panhandle-South Plains area may oppose the budget and tax bills, they will have profound impact on our lives during the next two years. It would do us all well to know a little more about their contents.

Despite the fact that the budget for the coming biennium is the largest in Texas history, it represents only a 4 percent increase from the budget that served the state during the last two years. Texas' population, by contrast, is estimated to increase by 4.2 percent during the next two years, and inflation is projected at a combined 9.2 percent over the same period.

Funding for three agencies -- the Good Neighbor Commission, the Governor's Commission on Physical Fitness and the Texas Sesquicentennial Commission -- was eliminated in the budget, and three more economic development agencies' budgets were combined at a lower total into the newly created Texas Department of Commerce. In addition, the Texas Amusement Machine Commission was abolished and its duties transferred to the Comptroller of Public Accounts.

Twenty-five major state agencies saw their budgets cut, among them the Department of Highways and Public Transportation, the Department of Public Safety, the Texas Water Commission, the Texas Railroad Commission and the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Obviously, those cuts were more than offset by funding increases in other areas. Education received a lion's share of the additional expenditures, with $393 million in increases going to higher education and $352.3 million in increases going to public education.

In our area, however, the results were a little mixed. West Texas State University enjoyed a $4.3 million increase in general revenue funding over the previous biennium, but the Texas Tech Health Center saw its funding cut slightly. Among our junior colleges, Clarendon College and South Plains College enjoyed funding increases while Amarillo College and Frank Phillips College experienced declines in revenue. The combined total for the four indicated a funding decrease of about $600,000.

School districts in our part of Texas also received a mixed bag from the state. While most undoubtedly will receive additional funding, there are egry indications a few will receive less money from the state.

Major funding increases also were doled out to the Department of Human Services, the Department of Corrections and the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. Much of the DHS increase was made so the department could keep pace with the increasing number of people seeking its services.

Our prison system and MHMR received combined additional funding of more than $100 million because both are under federal court orders to upgrade their conditions and services.

The tax bill, meanwhile, raises the $5.7 billion necessary to pay for the budget by increasing a variety of taxes and imposing a series of new taxes as well.

Most prominent is the increase, effective Oct. 1, of the sales tax rate from the current 5.25 percent to 6 percent. The sales tax base is expanded to include more than 30 new items, including automotive repairs, custom software, janitorial services, pest control services, landscaping and private club memberships.

The State franchise tax is increased for two years from $5.25 per $1,000 of Texas capital to $6.70 per $1,000. The increase is effective from Jan. 1, 1988 to Jan. 1, 1990.

Taxes on cigarettes will go Oct. 1 from 20.5 cents per pack to 26 cents per pack. Other tobacco products' taxes will rise an average of 12.5 percent, also on Oct. 1.

Other tax increases and their effective dates include motor vehicle sales, from 5 to 6 percent, Oct. 1; insurance premium taxes (paid by insurance companies, not consumers), a 20 percent surtax, Sept. 1 (effective for only two years); and a new tax on insurance administrative services, 2.5 percent, Sept. 1.

Finally physicians, dentists, optometrists, chiropractors, psychologists, certified public accountants, architects, licensed engineers, real estate brokers, licensed securities dealers, veterinarians and attorneys are subject to an occupation tax at $110 per year for two years.

These, of course, represent only the highlights of the budget and tax bills. If you have questions about them or would like additional information, please write us at P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas, 78711.

Philgas gives a farmer the energy to get things done.

Half a century ago, LP-gas was considered useless. Now, the more we look, the more we find how well it works in modern farming. Flame weeding. Warming stock tanks. Running trucks, tractors and generators. Space heating. Irrigation. Cooking. Drying crops and clothes. Even heating brooder houses.

Today, a multitude of jobs are being done on the farm more efficiently, economically and conveniently than ever before, thanks to clean burning LP-gas.

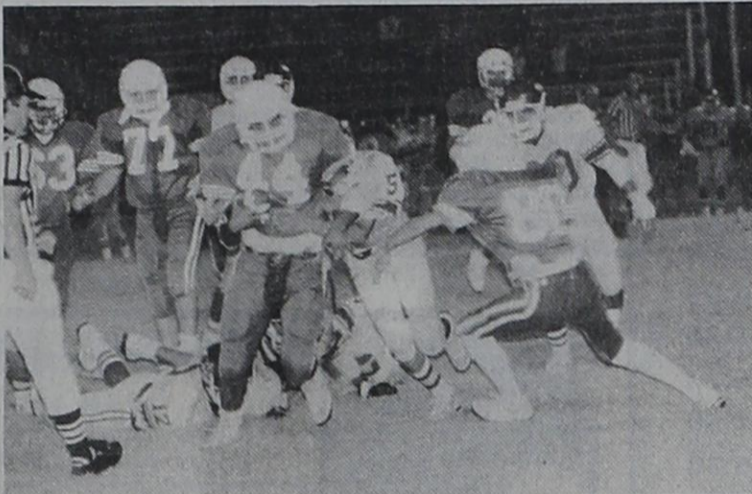

So come by and let us show you all the ways you can put Philgas to work to make life a little easier around your farm.

Changes possible

Only a little more than two years remain before the 1990 deadline for farmers of highly erodible lands to get a conservation plan approved by the USDA's Soil Conservation Service (SCS). And farmers might do well to seek an approved plan as soon as possible.

That's the opinion of Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock. Failure to meet the deadline will render a producer ineligible for virtually all farm program benefits, including payments and all types of loans.

As of now, Johnson points out, SCS is approving conservation plans that meet "field office technical guide" requirements. But that could change. USDA earlier had announced that plans would have to control erosion to the extent dictated by much more restrictive "T" values. "T" value is an inflexible number that, theoretically, reflects the soil loss a field can tolerate without jeopardizing future productivity.

Field office technical guides give some consideration to economical and practical as well as technical feasibility of conservation plans. "T" values don't.

The change in requirements came as a result of a barrage of protests from PCG and others, stating that compliance with the "T" value rule for many farmers would be economically fatal, with dire consequences for agricultural communities.

The announcement permitting plan approval under field office technical guides went into effect following an interim ruling published in the Federal Register on June 29. The most recent Federal Register notice Sept. 17 left that interim rule in effect, but stopped short of making it final. Public comment on the ruling is still being accepted and SCS says final rule will be issued "at a later date."

A failure to make acceptance of technical guides final, Johnson notes, indicates there is still a lot of opposition to it. The June interim ruling generated 2,696 letters and 8,400 comments, he says, "and it's obvious many of them were from environmental groups not at all concerned with the well-being of agriculture or farmers."

Should the ruling be reversed, Johnson reasons, more strenuous and more expensive conservation plans would subsequently be required to meet rigid "T" values, "so producers would be well advised not to take a chance on a change, and to get a plan approved while the current ruling is in effect."

They will have their Christmas Pot Luck dinner on Dec. 8 at 6:30 p.m.

Rag baskets are program topic

Members of the Alpha Rho Lambda chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met at the home of Kendale Burch on Nov. 10. They enjoyed a program by Lynne Mahaney on rag baskets. Mrs. Mahaney brought several examples which were made by Gwen Hughes and Karen Lovelace, and she brought materials for the members to practice the craft. During the business meeting, members discussed the Pheasant Hunter's Breakfast which will be held on opening day of the Pheasant Hunt, Dec. 12. A social is planned for members and their husbands on Nov. 14 at 7 p.m. in the Farwell Fire Hall. Following the meeting, members enjoyed nachos, strawberry ice cream cake, and a cheery cheesecake. Attending the meeting were: Jennifer Bearss, Anne Norton, Robyn Palady, Gay Roberts, Cynthia Thigpen, Sheree Christian, Leigh Ann Woods, Peggy Goettsch, Joyce Ketcherside, Kittie Johnson, Kendale Burch, Rhonda Kirkland, Lynne Mahaney, Joan Johnson, Colleen Stover, Debbie Phillips, and Judy Pomper.

Ordinances upgraded

The Farwell City Council spent the bulk of its Tuesday meeting upgrading old ordinances. This included:
 - Updating the fines for various violations from either $100 or $200 to up to $500.
 - Abolished the need for the fire chief to make a monthly report.
 - Agreed to draw up a new ordinance on drilling and excavating for minerals (like oil).
 - Changed one of the penalties for building without a permit to have the work repaired within 2 work days, instead of a "reasonable time."
 - Agreed to get a sample ordinance so they can update the animal ordinance.
 In other business, the council:
 - Bought a street sweeper for $2,250.

- Noted that Jerry Ellison has resigned from the planning and zoning commission and candidates will be checked on.
 - Noted that Jimmy Meeks will buy a small portion of city property for $200. Part of his fence and house sits astride that portion, said Mayor Chris Gikas.
 - Indicated it may go ahead and have a new small office built for city employee Dee Hammit.

RAISE / LOWER WITH "HITCH COMMAND"

Case IH added a touch of genius to 3-point hitch operation with electronic "Hitch Command" in new MAGNUM tractors. Just touch a switch to raise the hitch. Touch again and it lowers. Always to the exact limits you pre-program... and at precisely the speed that optimum operating conditions require.

Only new Case IH MAGNUM tractors give you electro-hydraulic hitch actuation that saves time and effort at the headlands and with all soil types, implements and field conditions. Isn't it time you switched to electro-hydraulic hitch control? It's standard on the all-new Case IH MAGNUM tractors, 130 to 195 PTO hp. See us for details.

MAGNUM means more.

Top finisher

Larry Cochran holds the trophy that the Panhandle District of Southern Union Gas earned for having no accidents, no personal injuries, and no property damage in 1986. This is the second year in a row that the Panhandle District has won a first or second place in the competition.

Students hired to clean buildings

The Texico School Board Tuesday hired two students to clean the junior and senior high school buildings. Charles Herrington and Mark Hernandez were hired. The board discussed a communicable disease policy for students and staff. The policy needs to be formulated by July 1988.

The board also discussed an instrument to evaluate the superintendent of schools.

The board assumed responsibility for paying the lunchroom aides. State law exempts teachers from lunchroom duty. Most of the aides in Texico Schools were hired under guidelines set by the federal government, which will not pay aides for lunchroom duty. Therefore, the board voted to make up the difference in the aides' pay.

A landmark since 1910

David and Carol Snider are the owners of Lovelace Oil, one of the oldest businesses in Farwell.

The grey landmark building has stood on North Fourth Street and Avenue A since 1910. When the business first opened, kerosene and axle grease were mainstays of the business. Today the Sniders sell gasoline and fuel oil to their customers.

The company has distributed Texaco products since the days when the company was known as the Texas Oil Company.

Woodrow Lovelace and his brother, John, ran the Lovelace Oil company from 1947-1987. "Woody" semi-retired earlier this year after 40 years in business, and sold the business to his nephew, David Snider.

"David helped Uncle Woody for the past several years," says Carol Snider; "now Uncle Woody helps us."

David has concentrated on the outside work, while Carol has learned to manage the office. "David was farming before we bought this business, and he has always enjoyed outdoor work which does not keep him tied to a desk."

Both have learned the business through on the job training, although David's classes at Texas Tech and Carol's at Temple Junior College and Sam Houston didn't hurt.

"David knows more about things like hoses and filters and what weight oil a piece of farm equipment needs than I do, but I'm learning," says Carol. She uses her spare time to read trade publications and manuals so that she will be more helpful in the future.

"It is important to know the products and to know which ones can be successfully substituted for one another. We sure don't want to put something into an expensive piece of machinery that will harm it."

Starting in January, oil companies will no longer carry leaded gas. "We aren't really sure what will be substituted for the leaded fuel, but we know that the oil companies will not leave their customers hanging," says Carol confidently.

David drives the delivery truck, and does most of the dock work. Carol handles the bookkeeping and office chores, but she can also do the dock work if David is delivering a load of oil.

The Sniders are still in their 20's; but they feel confident about owning their own business. "This was an Carol Snider established business with a good reputation, and that helps a lot," says Carol.

David and Carol Snider live on a farm south of Farwell. They enjoy working together and being on the same schedule. In one of Carol's previous jobs, she worked nights and he worked days.

When asked what the future will bring, Carol replied: "We are playing the same waiting game as the farmers are. If the farmers aren't making it, neither will any of the business in this area that rely on the farmers. We may have a few lean years ahead, but it will pick up."

Farwell Convalescent Center Chit Chat

By Lynne Gann Activity Director

I've asked several of our residents what they thought of the weather change and so far everyone agrees - this wind is for the birds!

Everyone has a favorite story they can recite about "the worst winter I can remember was..."

One must admit the winters they tell about are much more frightening than anything I've ever seen.

Snow drifts house high, animals buried, fences blown away or covered so the animals took a much desired walk.

On and on they go, telling a part of history that made this an exciting country. Beginning the first of the year, our article will include a few of these experiences. We hope to have a regular gab session each week to share and compare how these events altered lives!

I'm looking forward to them. Oh, yes, about the wind... Well, so far I don't have to rake my leaves. The wind did it for me. I like that kind of wind. Don't you?

Meals on Wheels

Noon meals can be delivered to your door. For further information, contact the Farwell Convalescent Center at 481-9027. This program is for elderly, handicapped and temporary illnesses.

Revival planned

"People Need The Lord" is the theme of a revival planned at the Pleasant Hill Baptist Church Nov. 15-22. Sunday services are set for 10:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.; weeknight services at 7.

A different evangelist will lead each night, starting and ending with Rev. Gary Warren of the Pleasant Hill church; Monday, Rev. Royce Denton; Tuesday, Dr. Herbert Bergstrom; Wednesday, Rev. Dick Ross; Thursday, Rev. Hoyt Welch; Friday, Rev. John Combs, and Saturday, Rev. Jes Stafford.

A BSU team from ENMU in Portales will provide music. The BSU singing group, "Surrender," will be featured one night.

After-service fellowships are set for Wednesday and Saturday nights; a hot dog supper is set for children and parents Monday at 6 p.m.

Marriage Licenses

There were five marriage licenses issued by the Farmer County Clerk's office last week.

They were issued to Terry Pierce and Gwendolyn Eckstein; Gregorio Martinez and Estela Vega; Charles Nutt and Janis Drake; Melvin Clark and Pamela Taylor; Howard Roebuck and Joanne Brend.

Fire Calls

The Farwell Fire Department answered one ambulance call last week.

The ambulance was called to a site 3 miles south of Farwell on State Line Road at 1:10 p.m. on Nov. 5. No one was transferred.

There were no Texico Fire Department calls reported this week.

Mix mayonnaise, cream cheese, confectioners' sugar, and food coloring with the syrup from the pineapple for 30 seconds or until smooth. Add remaining ingredients. Mix carefully.  1 c. quick grits
 1 lightly beaten egg
 4 oz. sharp Cheddar cheese, grated
