Tracks to be fixed in July

Farwell Mayor Chris Gikas reports that the repair of the Santa Fe Railroad tracks between Texico and Farwell is supposed to begin July 1.

He said a private company will be contracted to do the work, which is expected to take three weeks. Two of the current five tracks will be eliminated.

Hats off to Judy Howard. She did a spectacular job with the program she produced and directed on May 10.

Farwell Elementary School's physical education classes presented "Circus, Circus, the Greatest KIDS on Earth," a program featuring the skills that they had learned in gym classes.

A standing room only crowd was thrilled by tigers and elephants and bears and inch-worms. Even P.T. Barnum would have trouble putting together a cast of characters like that.

I had the opportunity to go along with our local scouts on an overnight trip to Roswell last weekend to see the air show there.

It was the third air show I had ever seen and easily the best. They had the Golden Knights parachutists, vintage planes and modern jets.

What really stood out was a performance by the Harrier, the plane that can take off like a helicopter and still fly beyond the sound barrier.

I had to shake my head when I saw that plane stand still in the air, then go into reverse. It was like a comic book strip when I was a kid. Heck, everyone knew that it was impossible for a jet to stand motionless in the air, right? Modern technology is something else.

Anyway, I think the scouts had a fun trip. We camped out at a state park on Roswell's outskirts. We had really friendly neighbors, members of a team playing in a softball tournament. We got along so well with them that one of the fellas offered me two of his bats. It was downright hospitable. But I declined, of course.

Once again, I had a close-hand look at the great work that Charles Aycock has done with these kids. We can never show enough appreciation of his efforts at helping our sons.

Here's an addendum to my warmongering column a couple of weeks back on the need to overthrow the Marxist government in Nicaragua - a stand for which only a minority of Americans support.

There was a news article last week which said that a high-ranking defector from Nicaragua's government revealed secrets which included:

The Sandinistas had smuggled Soviet-made AK-47 assault rifles to communist guerrillas in Costa Rica; they had trained Guatemalan rebels with Nicaraguan infantry battalions; they had taught leftist rebels from El Salvador in how to use portable heat-seeking missiles.

All this points to only one thing: Nicaragua's leaders are preparing for a wider war of subversion against its Central American neighbors.

Yet what do we see on the TV news? Americans marching for "Peace Now." And a majority of our congressmen support that point of view.

Yeh, sure. Peace now. War later.

Texico Elementary will have an Art Enrichment class one day a week for students picked for their gifted and talented program. Miss Aragon and Mr. Schwartz will present the class.

Dutch Quickel is fourth from the right in the front row of this photo of the crew of the CG21 in Europe.

Quickel visited 22 countries

I.W. "Dutch" Quickel was a student at West Texas State in December 1941. When Pearl Harbor was attacked, he decided to volunteer for duty.

Quickel wanted to fly, but his lack of depth perception ruled out the Army Air Force and the Navy flight training program. He joined the Coast Guard thinking he could fly for them. "I saw some of their planes- 5,000 ft. over my head," said Quickel.

Quickel may not have flown, but he did travel pretty fast. During the next 5 years Quickel managed to visit the ports of 22 countries. "They never did tell me which coast I was supposed to be guarding," he quipped.

The first duty station Quickel was sent to was near New Orleans. He and the rest of the incoming Coast Guard troops spent 8 hours sitting in the railroad yard waiting to go to their camp. Finally, they were told that they could not get off in Louisiana because there had been a case of smallpox at the base. Instead, they were sent to Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

"We were reopening bases that were closed since 1932. We did manual labor in Ft. Lauderdale, and Key West," said Quickel.

From there he was assigned to a 23 foot patrol boat to guard the seaside of the installations.

Step taken toward new City Hall

The Texico City Council took a step toward a new City Hall Tuesday by hiring an architect to prepare preliminary plans for it.

For several weeks, the council has been discussing the deteriorating situation at the present building. At first, the council planned to have an architect give cost estimates on renovating it.

But Warren Pendleton, a Clovis architect, said at the Tuesday meeting that state requirements say that if renovation is taken up, the building must be brought up to current standards. And he hazarded a guess that this would mean removing everything except the outside walls and roof.

Councilman Doyal LaRue said he had spoken with several folks about the situation and they favored a new structure. "I support a new facility over putting a new building in this old shell," he said. Mayor John R. Hadley agreed.

LaRue said one resident suggested a new City Hall be placed away from the highway and that ample parking be available. Also, it was suggested that the building have a large community room for showers, meetings, etc.

LaRue said he would like to see a new building on the north side of the highway. An area near the bank was suggested.

At the last council meeting, councilman Steve Chancy, who was absent Tuesday, suggested a building be placed just south of the current facility. But the council seemed to oppose that idea due to space limitations.

The water tower park was mentioned as a possible site. But the deed calls for the land to be returned to its donors if not used as a park.

Councilman Bryan Kube said he would like the architect's plans to include a place for senior citizens and a large community room. Also needed are offices for the city judge, marshal and clerk.

The council hired Pendleton to do up to 30 hours work on a preliminary design for a building on up to five lots.

In other business, the council: - Approved 3 percent across the board pay raises for city employees. Merit raises may be discussed later.

- Told City Attorney Duane Hamar to draft a water and sewer ordinance change to allow higher rates to be charged for persons buying bulk water, such as well drillers.

The suggested charge would be $10 per 1,000 gallons, with a $10 minimum purchase. Prior approval would be needed and fines allowed for violations.

- Tabled until the next meeting a discussion on raising water tap-in fees. Water Supt. Billy Hammit said the current rates are too low. He gave as an example the charge for a 3/4-inch tap-in is $75 - while it costs the city $163 to install it.

- Agreed to seek an appeal hearing of a Farmers Home Administration directive calling in a loan early. The city still owes FmHA $22,700 for the fire station, and the original schedule calls for it to be paid off in three years. The FmHA wants all the remaining money now. If the city wins the appeal, it could get an $1,100 discount on what is owed.

- Approved two mobile home permits, one at 803 Garwood for Clarence Sena, and one at Catherine and State for Boyd Cates.

- Hired Terry Bartley as pool manager. She was the only applicant who has a life-saving certificate. The council also voted to charge 10 cents per user to help pay for the pool's maintenance. Also, a profit and loss statement must be turned in by the pool manager at the close of the season. Previously, the pool has opened each year in late May.

- Paid the annual dues of $287 to the Eastern Plains Council of Governments.

- Heard Kube report on a sewer blockage in the alley between State Line Road and State Street. He said raw sewage is running down the alley.

So the council voted an emergency situation and authorized Mayor Hadley to immediately find a company to replace the sewer line, which Kube said was in very bad shape.

Kube, since his home is on the line, abstained from the vote.

New high school schedule okayed

The Farwell School Board Tuesday tentatively approved a new 8-period schedule for the high school.

The board will await any comments from the community before finalizing its action at its June meeting.

Presently, the school day runs from 8:25 a.m. to 3:39 p.m. The new schedule calls for it to run from 8:15 to 3:49. Buses would run 5 minutes earlier.

Supt. John Grigsby gave principal Lynn Burton credit for putting together the new schedule. Each period would run 50 minutes, down from the current 55.

Some of the advantages of the new schedule are:

- Tutorial classes can be put into the school day.
- A study skills class will be taught.
- UIL events classes offered.
- Class and club meetings can be held during the school day.

- Classes can be offered in speeded reading, photography, computer graphics, ceramics and leatherworks.

An innovative part of the new schedule calls for 5th period to be split in half: from 11:51 a.m. to 12:16 p.m., and from 12:16 to 12:46 p.m. This will allow for the new classes and meetings.

In other business, the board:

- Accepted the resignations of teachers Leesa Stephens and Gary Cates.

- Approved 2 to 3 percent pay raises for some employees: directors, secretaries, administrators, aides, computer operator and a coach. No increases will be given the superintendent, cafeteria workers, bus drivers, or custodians. Teachers get state mandated raises and school board is picking up the tab on part of their insurance at a cost of $300.

- Scheduled the next meeting for June 7.

- Re-elected Doyle Johnson, president; Richard Haseloff, vice president; and Roberta Johnson, secretary. New board member Katherine White was welcomed.

- Met with Herbert Brasher of BGR Architects, Lubbock, to discuss the gym bleacher problem. He will have a person who specializes in bleacher repair to contact Farwell. Meanwhile, he will estimate the cost for new permanent bleachers and also for replacing the folding bleachers.

- Agreed to seek bids for a facility study. A consultant will be hired to give Farwell an idea of the costs involved in fixing various building problems and prioritize them in a 5-year plan.

- Agreed to add a special education teacher next term.

- Voted to re-submit bids to Sudan for 2 portable classrooms. It appears Farwell will get them.

- Allowed Larry Gregory to operate a summer basketball camp here, and for Rex Cumpton to have a mini-program for football in June.

- Tentatively okayed the athletic department budget, which will be about the same as this year. If funds are available, shoes would be bought for varsity players.

- Agreed to add a 2nd first grade classroom next year due to increased enrollment. Youths with special needs will be identified and kept together in a smaller class for more individualized instruction.

Gikas discusses police options

Mayor Chris Gikas reported to the Farwell City Council Tuesday on options involving better security in the city.

He doesn't envision the city having its own city marshal due to the high cost. It would equal more than 50 percent of the current city budget, he said.

Emphasizing this was still in its early stages, he said one option was to employ Texico City Marshal Brent Byrum.

Gikas said he has talked with Texico Mayor John R. Hadley about the possibility of paying a share of Byrum's salary for part of his time and extra work in his off-duty time.

Gikas said Byrum would have to be certified in Texas and that the marshal is interested in doing so.

Another option would be to employ Byrum as a security officer in his time off from regular Texico duties. Gikas said he, as mayor, is empowered to give Byrum such credentials. This would allow Byrum to issue citations and, if trouble was found, to radio the Parmer County Sheriff's office. Byrum would be paid hourly under such an arrangement.

Still another option would be for Farwell to pay the cost of a sheriff's deputy stationed in Farwell.

"We really need something," Gikas said. "It's just a matter of time before we take care of this."

Asked about the possibility of a sheriff's posse, or volunteers, Gikas said this would be up to the new sheriff. Rex Williams, as the Democrat nominee, doesn't have any GOP opposition yet in the November primary. If that continues, Williams would take office as the new sheriff Jan. 1, 1989.

In other business, the council:

- Greeted its new member, Milton Welling. He replaces Elizabeth Phillips, who didn't seek re-election.

- Decided to tour the city's streets next week to figure out which ones need seal coating this year.

- Voted to send City Clerk Cynthia Thigpen to a two-day clerk's school in Wichita Falls in June.

- Gave city employees the okay to spend up to $200 for used tools.

- Approved a new health insurance policy with a company represented by Mike Camp. The city will pay $937 a month, down $100 from what it had been paying.

- Will check into the need for a new lawn mower at the sewer plant.

- Will ask Vane Doshier to overhaul the cemetery pump or let the city know if it will be so costly that a new one is needed.

- Approved the suggestion of the fire department to seek bids on the old department van. Its equipment has been transferred to the new unit. Also, the council will check into the department's request to get a 9-passenger van for hauling folks to meetings. Several department members will need to attend school this year for emergency medical technician training.

- Had a lengthy discussion over a request to change the charge made for setting water meters for mobile homes. The council voted unanimously to leave the current standard in place.

White elected to School Board

Farwell and Lazbuddie voters went to the polls on May 7, and elected school board members. Farwell residents also elected hospital board members, and city councilmen.

Katherine White and incumbents Doyle Johnson and Steven Kaltwasser were elected to the three year positions on the Farwell School Board. Incumbent Joe Schilling was elected to the two year position.

City council candidates were all unopposed, and so were hospital board candidates. Here are the results, along with vote totals:

Elected to the Farwell City Council were Martin Welling, 50; and incumbents Martin Kube, 52; Fred Chandler, 48. The post Welling took became available because Elizabeth Phillips didn't seek re-election.

Re-elected to the Farwell Hospital Board were Bert Williams, 179; Troy Christian, 179; Tom Nichols, 180; Frances Kube, 178.

Chosen to the Farwell School Board for three years each were Doyle Johnson, 141; Katherine White, 130; and Steven Kaltwasser, 115. Others who ran were Willie Roberts, 111; Margaret Aycock, 90; and Virginia Loera, 13.

Chosen to the Farwell School Board for a two year term was Joe Schilling, 154. Also seeking the post was James Chadwick, 50. It became available after the resignation of board member Ed Corn.

Re-elected to the Lazbuddie School Board were: one year term - Mike Miller, 65; regular terms - Bobby Redwine, 71; Nicky Nickels, 64; and Phil Brockman, 59.

Most write-in candidates get very few votes, but Donnie McDonald had an impressive write-in candidacy in Lazbuddie. He got 39 votes. Jim Roy Daniel got 16, and Joyce McGeehee got 11 as write-in candidates for Lazbuddie School Board.

Use of chemical Azodrin is topic

There was a good turnout of at the Pleasant Hill Fire Department on May 5 for the meeting between farmers and representatives of the New Mexico Game and Fish Dept.

Among the guests attending were: New Mexico state Sen. Caleb Chandler and state Rep. Blake Curtis; Barry Patterson from the chemical division of the New Mexico Dept. of Agriculture; Chris Pease and Mike Bell from the Game and Fish Department; David Meeke, entomologist; Billy Dictson, Curry County Extension Agent, and Mike Blanton, Parmer County Extension Office entomologist.

The meeting presented an overview of the history of the use of Azodrin for control of spider mites in corn crops. The use of Azodrin has been banned because environmentalists allege that it kills game birds like pheasants. The meeting also allowed local farmers a chance to make public the need for using Azodrin.

The Pleasant Hill Fire Department has threatened to cancel its pheasant hunt if local farmers are not granted permission to use Azodrin. The cancellation of the pheasant hunt would decrease the amount of money that the game and fish department makes on the sale of hunting licenses.

The meeting brought the problem out in the open. Data is being collected, and an appeal will be made so that farmers in New Mexico can get permission to use Azodrin. There may also be similar action taken in Parmer County.

Texico principal David Lynn and teachers Mrs. Sullivan, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Warmuth, Mrs. Lynn, and Mr. Schwartz attended a Chapter I meeting in Roswell on May 3.

'An officer is needed'

(Editor's note: This editorial was turned in to the Tribune by Farwell School 7th grader Ryan Williams.)

By Ryan Williams

Is the law enforcement in our community at its best? In the past month, 14 bikes were stolen, two were recovered. A hit and run accident with Kade Kent occurred, and the police aren't sure who did it. They can't be everywhere at once, but could we use a city marshal? This is just my opinion, but if someone were planning to steal a bike and they knew a police officer was patrolling the area, it would be a deterrent not to. Judge Smith, the city's Justice of the Peace, thinks Farwell could afford a City Marshal or a chief of police.

It would definitely help the city if we had an officer just for Farwell. There has been so much crime in our town lately, and I think something should be done. During the summer the schools are vandalized, and street signs are vandalized. Maybe if Farwell had an officer just for our city, something could be done.

Pylant resigns

Dick Pylant of Muleshoe has resigned his position as special investigator for the district attorney of the 287th district court after almost 14 years on the job here in Farwell.

Pylant has taken a job as a loan officer of the First Bank of Muleshoe.

Area youths excel at Albuquerque track meet

Randy Harrison took several area youths to participate in the 11 and 12 year old divisions at the AOC Invitational Track Meet in Albuquerque.

Brent Harrison, of Farwell, was 1st in the 100 meter in 13.4. He was 1st in the 200 meter in 28.5.

Oscar Calloway, of Clovis, was 1st in the 800 meter in 2:46. He was 2nd in the 80 meter hurdles in 17.5.

Nathan Ketterling, of Texico, was 1st in the 400 meter in 68 seconds. He was 2nd in the high jump at 4'1".

Jeremy Ortiz, of Farwell, was 1st in discus with a throw of 59'4. He was 2nd in shot with a 24'5.

Landon Reid, of Clovis, was 1st in the 1500 meter in 5:44.

The mile relay team of Harrison, Calloway, Ketterling and Reid was 1st in 5:03.

Since 1949, nursing homes throughout our country have observed NATIONAL NURSING HOME WEEK as a means of honoring those who live and work in nursing homes—the residents as well as the staff members, volunteers, advisory board members, and families who assist in providing care.

This year an estimated 19,000 nursing homes with over 1.5 million residents will join in the celebration. The theme of this year's observance, "Respect: The Heart of Caring," underscores the importance of revering these special persons.

Your local Good Samaritan center invites you to join in this special celebration—by offering your prayers and words of encouragement, by taking time to visit our facility and talk with residents and staff members, and by sharing in the special activities which will take place throughout the week.

By sharing an hour or an afternoon, a smile, a prayer or a warm word, you'll help brighten the day for our residents and help us make real our motto, "In Christ's Love, Everyone Is Someone."

Of course, visitors are welcome and encouraged year round at our facility, but during NURSING HOME WEEK, May 8-14, your visit will be of special importance.

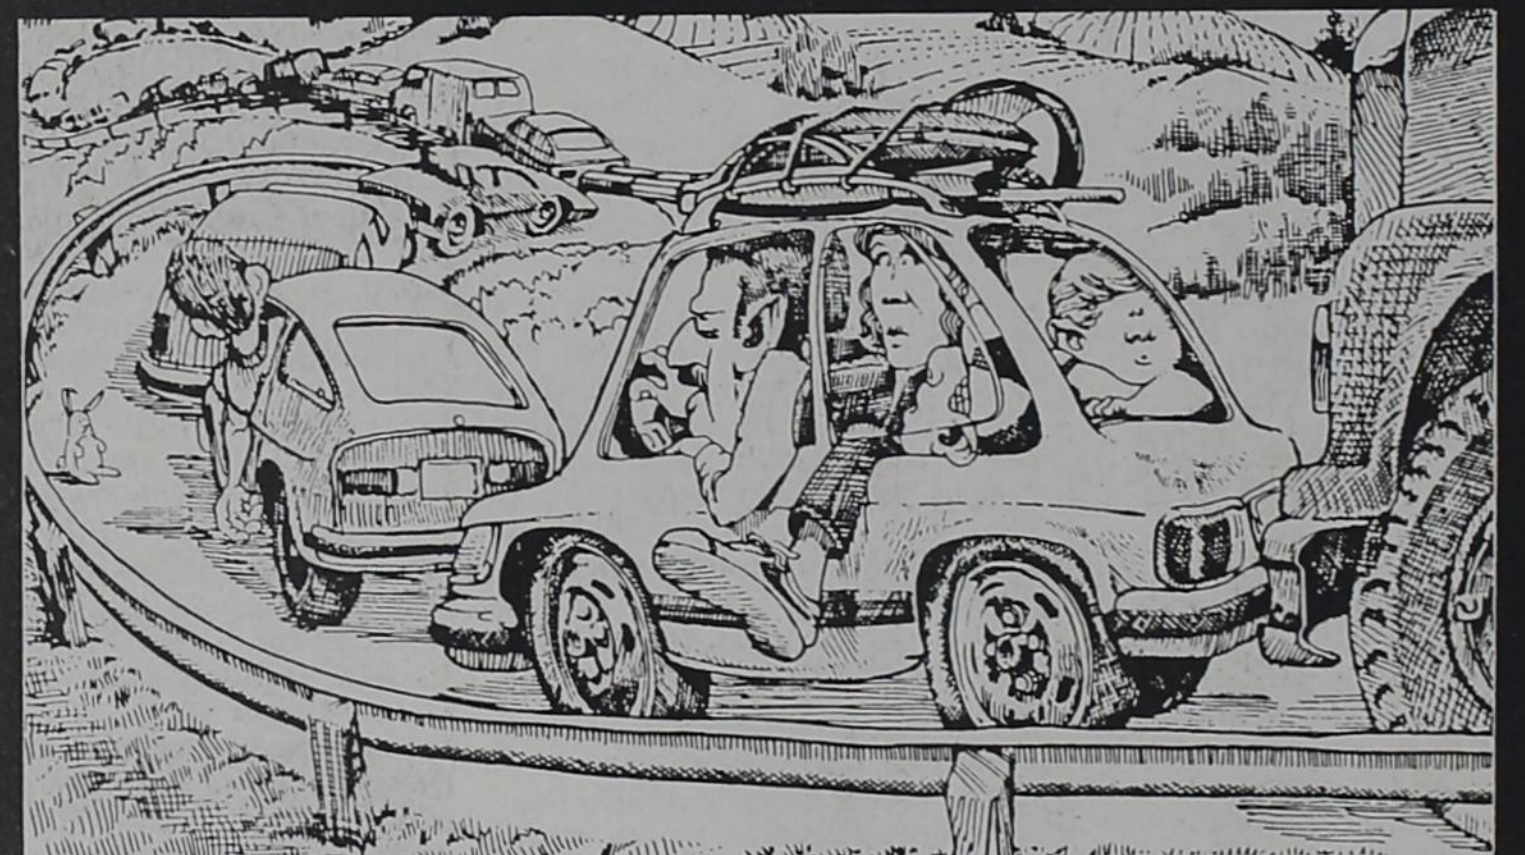

We invite you to join with us as we show love and respect for members of our nursing home "family."

If it takes energy to do it, LP-gas can get it done more efficiently.

Producing energy for your home is a pretty costly process in terms of natural resources.

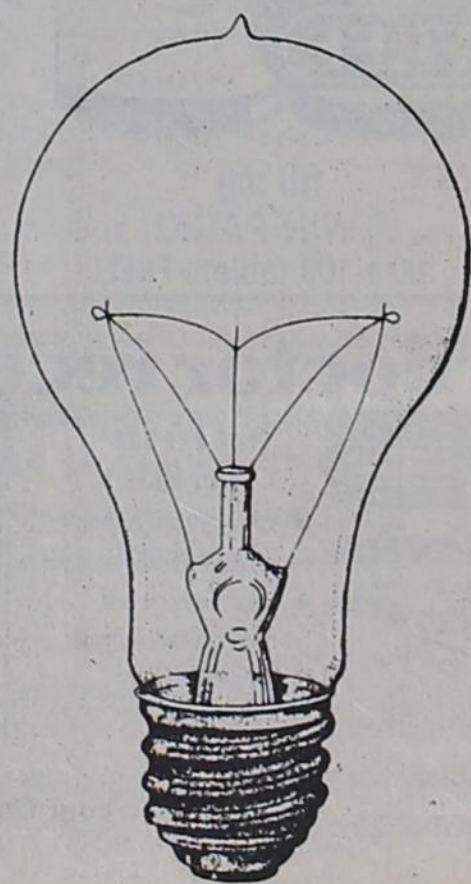

For instance, it takes a lot of coal, or oil, or natural gas to make electricity. And in the process, over 60% of the natural energy is wasted.

LP-gas on the other hand, utilizes energy more efficiently because 100% of it is

The couple will be married at Hamlin Memorial Methodist Church in Farwell June 18 at 5 p.m.

Ginger, a 1982 graduate of Farwell High School, received a bachelor's degree in elementary education from Eastern New Mexico University.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend the ceremony and reception.

Harrison first

Keith Harrison was first in the 110 hurdles with a time of 15.3, and first in the 300 hurdles with a time of 41.3 at the New Mexico State track meet in Albuquerque last weekend.

Harrison was also fifth in the 200 m. dash with a time of 23.3, and he was a member of the 1600 m. Medley Relay team which took fourth with a time of 3:55. Others on Texico's medley team were: David Johnson, Joe Pierce, and Brett Patrick. Justin Barnes took second in the state in shot put with a throw of 45'8". He also took third in discus with a throw of 124'10".

"I was really proud of the whole team," said Coach Curt Cook. "I was glad to see the winners, and I was just as glad to see the progress made by the others. For instance, David Johnson didn't make it the finals, but he ran his best time ever in the 100 m. dash during the prelims. He showed real progress there."

Texico girls 2nd in state meet

Texico High School's Girls' Track team finished second in the state of New Mexico at the Class A State Track Meet in Albuquerque last week. "It was a tough second place finish. We lost the state championship by .01 of a second. If we had won the mile relay, then we would have been state champions - but we lost by an eyelash. Overall, I thought we competed as hard as we could. It was a very good meet for both the girls and the boys," said Coach Roy King. The crucial point of the meet occurred in the 1600 m. relay. Texico finished second with a time of 4:22.25 - .01 slower than the victor, Tatum. The 1600 meter relay team of Krystala Cross, Penny Pierce, Leslie Steward, and Amy Chadwick barely missed a victory. Texico's strength was in the hurdles. Amy Chadwick is now the New Mexico State Class A champion in the 300 meter low hurdles with a time of 47.14. Leslie Steward and Penny Pierce were right behind in second and third places with times of 48.58 and 49.16 respectively.

Penny Pierce was second in the 100 m. high hurdles with a time of 17.0. The 800 m. relay team of Regina Isaac, Leslie Steward, Amy Chadwick, and Krystala Cross won the 800 m. relay with a time of 1:51.77. The 1600 m. medley relay team of Regina Isaac, Krystala Cross, Denise Gonzales, and Penny Pierce was first in the state with a time of 4:31.59. The 400 m. relay team of Regina Isaac, Krystala Cross, Leslie Steward, and Amy Chadwick finished second with a time of 52.45. Tracey Askew finished sixth in the high jump with a jump of 4'11". Twilla Longo was second in shot put. She threw 32'4 1/2". She also finished fourth in discus. She threw 100'4". Jennifer Gentry and Robin Pierce also competed in discus. Krystala Cross also competed in discus. Jennifer Gentry also competed in 100m. high hurdles. Geneva Garcia also competed in high jump.

The undefeated Farwell Yardapes include: Jourdan Nichols, Grant Oppinger, Jaime Maldonado, Spencer Ketcherside, Deon Billingsley, Kelsey Monk, Trevor Herrington, Shane Roberts, Tyler Chadwick, and Jeremy Pierce. The coach is Tom Nichols.

No segment of the economy has ever been challenged to change so fast and so completely as has the new agriculture.

Never in American history have so many innovations been adopted in such a short time.

When these changes have required capital, your Federal Land Bank Association has been a primary source of funds. We recognize the inevitability of change — except in the importance of the man and the land. We also believe that a free agriculture — based on the family farm — will continue to flourish in any new environment.

Deadline Nears For FmHA County Committee Nomination

Parmer County farmers interested in election to the Farmers Home Administration county committee have until May 19 to get their nominating petitions signed and turned in, FmHA County Supervisor Weldon Rainey said.

One person will be elected for a three-year term to the three-person committee at the June 30 election. Rainey said anyone who has an interest in a farm in Parmer County as owner, tenant or sharecropper is eligible to run for the committee seat and to vote in the election. A spouse of an eligible farmer also is considered to be a farmer for those purposes.

Nominating petitions, which must be signed by the nominee and two eligible farmer voters, and other information can be obtained at the FmHA county office at P.O. Box 196, Farwell, Texas, Rainey said.

FmHA county committees perform a variety of duties, including making decisions on applicants' eligibility for FmHA farm loans. Two committee members are elected by county farmers, and the third is appointed by FmHA.

Quickel

In December 1942 Quickel went to New York for a naval gunnery school. Then he was assigned to the 83-402 Coast Guard small cutter based in Miami to do patrol and convoy work.

"We didn't know it at the time, but there were some guys on the ship who monitored radio signals from the Caribbean and South America. We found that out later," he said.

Then his ship was involved in anti-submarine duty and convoy escort duty. In 1943 his ship was credited with sinking a submarine between Cuba and the Bahamas.

"We made one trip to EBAR on the west end of Cuba to pick up some parts. We didn't know it, but the radio wasn't working on that trip. Our base was trying frantically to reach us to tell us to report to New York. We rushed straight to New York, and then we had to wait six weeks before we were assigned to do anything. It was a typical hurry up and wait situation," he noted.

From New York his ship was loaded on to a much larger ship which carried 4 cutters on its decks to Ewe, Scotland.

"Here we were used for air-sea rescue. We later found out that we were there to pick up surviving pilots who had been involved in the bombing raids of ball bearing factories in Schweinfurt, Germany," said Quickel.

"Then we were told to report to escort a British cruiser. It turned out to be an old paddlewheel job that had patrolled from Rangoon to Mandalay."

"We went through the slot between the Cliffs of Dover and Cape Grisney. The British had developed radar, and theirs was more sophisticated than the German radar was. The British guns in place there had sheet of metal attached to them so that they would mess up the German radar."

Quickel's ship was then sent to Normandy. "At H hour on D Day we were just off Omaha beach to take wounded and dead to the hospital ships," he said.

Historians often note the rough seas on June 6 when the Allied troops landed at Normandy, but they do not always mention the storm that hit a few days later.

"On June 10th, the wind blew so hard that the anemometer on the British fleet flagship H.M.S. Ancon broke at 110 knots. We lost a lot of stuff in that storm. On our way back to England, we were strafed because some idiot turned on a search light."

During the next few months Quickel's ship went from beach head to beachhead delivering men and supplies and picking up wounded.

After a short period of rest and relaxation in London, the crew was assigned to work with SHAFE, which was then headquartered in London. "Our ship took dispatchers, couriers, and replacement officers across the English Channel. There were 12 ships making the voyages back and forth across the channel. We did that until SHAFE headquarters moved to Paris."

In December 1944, Quickel was assigned to a base at Poole, England while the rest of his shipmates went to Plymouth, England to prepare to go home. Two and one half months later, Quickel went to Plymouth to find his shipmates were still waiting to return to the States.

When they did get back to the U.S.A., Quickel enjoyed some leave time back home. It was during this leave that he met his wife, Dorothy. Later she traveled to New York where they married.

During the next four months, Quickel was assigned with the 3rd Naval District Intelligence at Ellis Island, where he spent most of his time guarding naval prisoners.

Quickel was then assigned to the U.S.S. Cobb, a Spanish American War vintage gunboat complete with a ram attached to the front.

He and his shipmates attended amphibious landing school and gunnery school in Long Island and New London, Conn. Quickel was on board the Cobb on VE Day.

Quickel was granted leave to take Dorothy back to Farwell before he was to report to his next duty. Isaac William Quickel was born while they were here; Quickel was glad to see his first son before he left for his next duty.

"I was assigned to the C.H. Muir APA 142. We made 7 round trips from Europe to Calcutta, India via the Suez Canal. We were in Calcutta when the Japanese announced they would surrender. From then until June 24, 1946, we spent our time hauling soldiers home."

Along the way Quickel saw many interesting sights including Hindu festivals in India and Ceylon (Sri Lanka today), cremations of bodies in India, and famous temples.

On one trip the Muir picked up troops in French North Africa and hauled them across the Red Sea to a conference in Cairo.

On another trip they were supposed to transport one of Chinese leader Chaing Kai-Shek's relatives. "She was afraid to step on the launch so a friend and I picked her up and lifted her in. It really made the diplomats upset," he said.

On another trip they transported 5,000 German troops home. "We could carry 10,000 if they slept in double shifts, but we only took 5,000 that time." He added.

After the trip to Germany, Quickel spent some time near Leghorn, Italy. "In 1946, the Italian Communists tried to take over the country. We were there to show force, and to evacuate people if it was necessary," he said.

He had two weeks of leave time near Florence, Italy where he was able to see the sights of the city including masterpieces by Michaelangelo, DaVinci and Cellini.

"We saw the cathedral doors that Cellini made. We were told that they were the only bronze sculpture that goldsmith Cellini did. Years later, after the flood in Florence they found that the doors were actually made of gold. Today, the real doors are in a museum, and bronze replicas are hanging on the cathedral door."

Another interesting sight that Quickel saw was a military cemetery near Florence. The farther back he went into the cemetery, the older the gravestones were. When he was way back into the cemetery, he came to a concrete block building surrounded by graves from the 14th and 15th centuries.

"Suddenly a man in a white robe appeared. If he had said 'Boo' I would have thought that the place was haunted. Instead, he invited us into the building to see the old log and plaster church inside. He was a member of a Catholic order that kept the building up. He said that it was founded in 96 A.D. by Demetrius," Quickel related.

Finally, Quickel returned to the U.S.A. "We made one trip to Puerto Rico; we picked up the Puerto Rican National Guard in New Orleans and took them home. Then we went back to New York and Baltimore before we were discharged," he said.

Quickel and his Coast Guard shipmates had been needed to transport troops and supplies. They were classed as essential personnel, so they were not allowed to leave the military until most of the other veterans had gone home. By the time he arrived home, the parades were over and most of the other veterans had already found jobs. Quickel decided to return to West Texas University to complete his degree.

In July, 1947 he began teaching in a G.I. school in Farwell. It was a job he kept for 5 years.

Today the Coast Guard is part of the Department of the Interior. During World War II it was part of the War Department (now called the Department of Defense). At other times it has been part of the Treasury Department.

"The U.S. Coast Guard is one of the largest police forces in the world. They stop smugglers, teach ship safety, run search and rescue missions, inspect piers and docks, and their big thing now is stopping drug smuggling," said Quickel.

Letter To The Editor

'Award was a wonderful gesture'

Dear Editor,
Last night, another Farwell High School Honors Banquet was held in the Community Center. I want to personally congratulate Mr. Burton, his staff, the students and the parents for a wonderful banquet.

I know of no other school in this region that goes to such effort to provide a separate banquet for its honor students. It is a rare thing and I hope that everyone in the community will appreciate this very special time.

Again, congratulations to the honor students and their parents and a special thanks to Mr. Burton and his staff for going that "extra mile" to honor Academic Achievement.

Respectfully yours,
John A. Grigsby,
Superintendent
Farwell Public Schools
P.S. The ESA dedication of the new "Maxine Williams Award" was a wonderful gesture in honor of a great lady that we all miss. On behalf of the Board of Trustees, thank you for your support of our schools and our children.

Farwell Convalescent Center Chit Chat

By Lynne Gann Activity Director

What a week of excitement!

Monday, we had our Mexico breakfast buffet. Delicious!

Tuesday, we had a six car caravan and drove the streets of Farwell, blowing our horns and waving at all who could see.

Wednesday, we have hug day. Residents and staff sign a collection sheet for every hug they give or get. At 5 p.m., we count the hugs. The resident with the most hugs received will win a Furskins Bear. We have Dudley Furskins and Hattie Furskins. One resident and one staff member should be very pleased to have been hugged and won a bear for being loved. Bill Hugg will give the bears to the lucky winners.

Thursday, we have staff recognition day. We'll have a hot dog party on the patio for staff from 11:30 to 1. This is our way of saying thank you to our hard workers.

Friday the 13th, we have our birthday party, except it begins at 4 p.m. instead of 3 p.m. We will have a hamburger cookout, assisted by the Ladies Auxiliary, on the patio. The Border Town Four will entertain us (excellent as usual).

Saturday the 14th, we begin our yard sale on the patio at promptly 9 a.m. until ? We will have a large assortment of things, clothing, odds and ends donated by the people of Farwell and staff. Proceeds go toward a new whirlpool bath.

Please come and see us show how much we care.

Ortiz hired as Texico cafeteria employee

The Texico School Board Tuesday approved its 1988-89 school budget.

The board voted to accept federal 94142 funds to be spent on special education. These funds will pay for a teacher and a teacher's aide for a work study program for older youth in the program. They will also pay for a computer and exercise equipment for the three and four year old children.

They also voted to accept funds for the Chapter II program to purchase 7 computers, a microscope, a VHS VCR and a television. Ken Shaw is the Chapter II coordinator.

Funds were also accepted for the drug and alcohol abuse program. Last year Anne Southard purchased materials for the high school students. This year materials will be purchased for elementary school students and for home economics classes.

The board voted to use a firm chosen by the Cooperative Education Service of New Mexico to conduct an asbestos management program to bring Texico schools into AHERA compliance. The program will include inspection of all facilities, sampling of materials, assessment, management plan, and training of custodians and maintenance personnel. The cost of this program will be .034 cents per foot.

Juanita Ortiz was hired in the school cafeteria.
