By Mike Pomper

Me? I'm just a follower

Well, folks, I thought the articles which ran in the Lubbock paper about Farwell were pretty nice.

Obviously, when a reporter comes to a small community and spends just a few hours there, you can't expect a very complete overview. But it's nice when a large paper like the one in Lubbock recognized our small communities. Now I look forward to one about Texico.

It was kind of the reporter to mention our little paper. What he wrote looked okay to me but I didn't say Farwell beat Haskell at Austin. Small error.

I'm still trying to figure out the difference between movers and shakers. As you noticed, I was not listed as either one - for good reason. As someone from a different country Yankee-land, I definitely am not, nor ever will be, one of the community's power brokers. That's fine with me.

There was a time, in the old days back in Indiana, when I had a goodly amount of power. It's a tremendous high, I must admit. Fortunately, after two years of using it, I outgrew it.

Here in Texico-Farwell, I prefer to be a follower. When the commander yells charge, I'm usually not too far behind. But it's hard charging out of the trenches while carrying a golf bag.

If you see that construction going on behind Farwell's First Baptist Church, it's pavement work.

Don't forget Monday's Memorial Day.

Among the places closed will be the ASCS office, county offices, City Halls, banks, drug store, etc.

The Tribune may be open part of the morning. We're expecting company so who knows?

I have to just shake my head at the wondrous poetry in motion that is exemplified by Michael Jordan of the Chicago Bulls.

The Bulls are not a particularly strong NBA team. They have little depth, poor rebounding, so-so outside shooting and average speed.

But they have Air Jordan. I didn't give them much chance against the Cleveland Cavaliers, a much improved team from a year ago. But the Cavs couldn't stop Michael.

Then came the Knicks and I expected a blow-out. Then I read the results in the paper and see the Bulls winning by scores in the double digits. I can't believe it.

So I watched that sixth game where the Bulls - led by a fella named Jordan - won and marched into the tourney semi-finals. What a competitor he is: eight clutch free throws in the final minutes to carry his team to victory.

I've never seen an offense in the NBA quite like the Bulls have: four players move to one side and let Jordan go one-on-one on the other side.

But the defense doesn't allow that. They run two or three players at Jordan - and he still gets free! Amazing.

Mary Ann Ostrander arrived at Texico Elementary on time last Tuesday because her grandfather, Carl Hoffmann, dropped her off at school - in his helicopter. The arrival caused quite a stir among Mrs. Oliva's other 5th grade students.

Michele Stover is red in the face these days, and red all over. She fell asleep while sunbathing the other day, and paid the consequences.

State may penalize Parmer County

The state of Texas plans to penalize Parmer County for having operated the former Lazbuddie dump despite, according to the state, knowing it was illegal.

But Parmer County may fight it.

The dump was closed late last year after a meeting of Parmer County Commissioners and officials of the Texas Attorney General's office and Board of Health.

In a nutshell, the state threatened to sue Parmer County if the dump wasn't closed and the site cleaned up. Parmer County agreed to do what the state wanted.

Parmer County thought that would end the matter. But at Monday's County Commissioners' meeting, the following letter was received from Burgess Jackson, assistant Attorney General, Environmental Protection Division (it was addressed to County Attorney Charles Aycock):

"Dear Mr. Aycock: 'I was informed today (May 5) that Judge Roberts has called the Health Department to tell them that Parmer County had completed work on the Lazbuddie dump site. Once we get an inspection report from Mike Graeber confirming the legality of the closure and agree on an appropriate penalty, we can draw up an agreed judgment and be done with the matter.

"In assessing a penalty, the State will have to take into account the number of years the county knowingly operated an illegal dump site. As you know, we do consider a party's resources available to pay a penalty, and how much money has gone into complying with the law.

"It would expedite settlement of this case if you would send me a copy of Parmer County's contracts for site closure, and of the county budget for the last year."

Roberts, county judge and a member of the Commissioners' Court, said he thought it was indicated at the meeting last year of the commissioners and state officials that if Parmer County agreed to close the dump and clean it up, there would be no penalty involved.

That's the gist of what the commissioners instructed Aycock Monday to write back to the state.

In other business, the commissioners:

- Decided to advertise for janitorial services for the courthouse.

- Leased mineral rights in Gaines County (Parmer County School Fund land) to G.S. Cromwell for $13,284 for a year, with an option for five more years at $1 a year. The site has 531 acres.

State runner-up

Friena man sentenced to 15 years

Francisco Escobar Pena was sentenced to 15 years in prison and given a $7,000 fine when he was found guilty of murder on May 18.

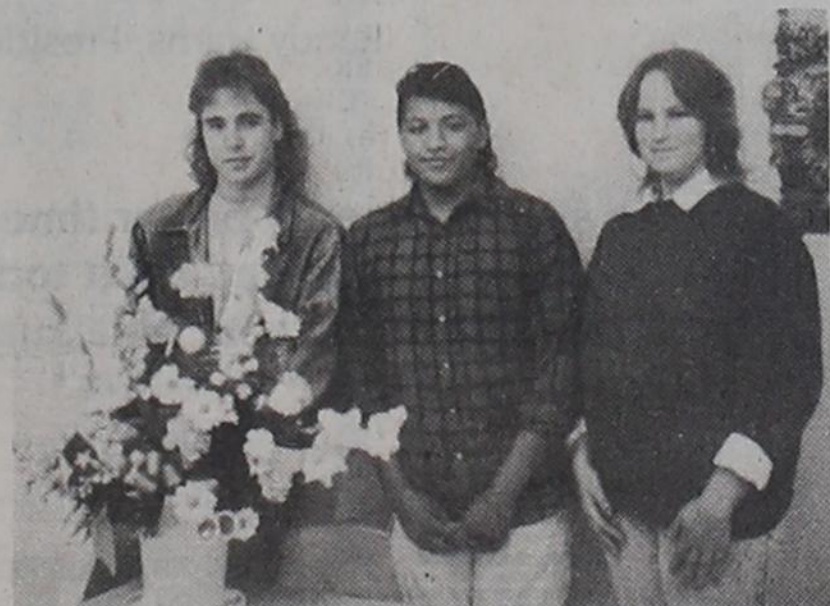

Pena was found guilty in the shooting death of Mike Diaz Jr., of Friena Oct. 23, 1988.

Diaz Jr. was a guest at a party in the home of Juakin Lopez when a group of people - including Pena - arrived at the scene. A fight broke out, and Diaz Jr. was shot.

During the fracas, a shot was fired at the police car driven by Friena police officer Jim Davis. Davis was also injured in the fray.

Charges have been filed against six other Friena residents in the case: Leo Gonzales, Jesus Romero, Martin Molina, Jose Caro, Jose Pavia, and Ramon Ramirez.

Honor Society

Chuck Hammit, Tony Nicolas, and Jennifer Nelson were inducted into the National Honor Society at Farwell High School on May 22. They join Jeff Actkinson, Audra Beavers, Brian Haseloff, Amy Johnson, Kristi Stephens, Chris Aycock, Kara Camp, Sonya Curtis, Jeremy Jones, Michael Lovett, Dickey Sosa, Angie White, Bruce White, Isela Mendoza, Greg Actkinson, and Joel Smith who are already members.

Texico moves on delinquent bills

At a challenging Texico City Council meeting Tuesday, steps were taken on a variety of important topics:

Water Department

The council was dismayed to learn that its rate hike last year in water and sanitation rates did not produce the extra revenue expected due to the large amount of delinquent bills and bad debts.

The council was told that there almost $5,000 in delinquent bills (past 30 days) and that another $7,000 in bad debts have been written off.

The council plans to take action to improve its water department bill collection. At the next meeting, it will discuss ordinance revisions, including increasing metered deposits, now costing $30, and ways to collect delinquent bills and bad debts.

What incensed the council was the knowledge that some people haven't paid their bills, yet continue to live in Texico and get city water. It was noted that if there is a severe illness in a family, or if children live in the house, the city is limited in its ability to "turn off" the water.

City Attorney Duane Hamar said liens can be put on the property of those who haven't paid their water bills. Also, court action is a possibility although it appears to be a losing proposition: paying an attorney $100 or more an hour to collect a $40 debt.

The budget

The council approved a "working budget" for the coming fiscal year which now goes to the state for approval. It includes 8.3 percent pay raises for city employees.

The tax rate won't be finalized until the state works into it state-shared funds.

The "working budget" approved includes a general fund category showing revenue expected at $167,000 and expenses expected at $195,000 - a deficit of $28,000. The state normally will not allow a deficit budget.

However, Texico will also get either $10,000 or $26,000 in road funds to help decrease that deficit. And funds have been budgeted for items like a new city barn ($17,000) and a deputy police officer ($13,000) which can be taken out to get the budget into the "black."

The cemetery

The council decided to invite the members of the Texico Cemetery Association Board to meet with it to discuss possible land acquisition and general responsibility.

After checking records, Hamar said that the cemetery board is to have five members, including two women. It is appointed by the mayor with consent of the council. The board has $20,000 in the bank. The cemetery land belongs to the city.

The council knew of four cemetery board members - John R. Hadley, Mae Stone, Paul Skaggs and Lennie Mae Engram.

The landfill

Although the city landfill is closed, the council announced residents can take items to it for either burning or to be placed in the transfer station. First, they need to get the key at City Hall.

The "burn pile" has been closed while the landfill site was properly closed.

To ensure that residents bringing items to the site properly divide items between the "burn pile" and the station, councilman Butch Tharp suggested that a city employee be on hand when the dumping occurs.

Deputy officer

Most of the discussion at the meeting concerned this topic. Basically, the council appeared amenable to adding a deputy - if funds are available.

The council seemed happy with the job that City Marshal Brent Byrum has been doing and Byrum said he planned to stay here whether a deputy is added or not.

But Byrum said he has been putting in 70-75 hour weeks much of the time. He said it seems the work is increasing, especially with the summer-time approaching. "I'm tired," he said.

Mayor Steve Chancy said this was way too much to work and Byrum should stop after 40 hours.

Chancy strongly supported adding a deputy. He noted how the last few marshals before Byrum had told him a deputy was needed. Byrum noted that, as an example of the workload, there have been over 50 vehicle accidents in town in the year he has been here.

And Hamar and councilman Oran Jay Autrey noted that the expansion of Cannon Air Force Base will have an effect on Texico. Hamar said there will be a lot of transients working in the area - and that often means more problems. Autrey said some military personnel, knowing they will come to Cannon in two years, are checking on buying property and building homes around Texico and other small communities already.

But councilmen Tharp and Bryan Kube questioned how a deputy could be funded. Tharp said he had supported adding a deputy three years ago. "But we have to make sure we have the money before we hire him," he said. "If we have the money, fine."

Chancy replied that funds are budgeted for a deputy, and that other areas can be cut back to keep the budget in the black. "The money is there. It means shifting it away from other areas. We need to face this today," he said.

Chancy pointed out that Texico has less than half the city employees of other New Mexico cities its size. The two closest in size - Dexter and Tatum - both have three fulltime police officers.

"It's a priority to have protection for our citizens," said Chancy. "If we have to put off a new city barn, fine. But (police protection) is a priority."

The council also discussed the possibility of a part-time deputy but this didn't get much support due to the problems adherent with it.

Another idea broached was increasing the gross receipts tax at a referendum next March (the earliest it could be held). But this wouldn't raise much revenue.

The topic was tabled until the next meeting. By then, the council will know how much money in street funds it will get from the state and be in a better position to look at the budget.

Clean-up

The council received a note from state building inspector Bill Nancy suggesting that three homes in Texico be condemned if the city wants it done.

At least one of the homes is being cleaned up so the council decided to wait awhile and give all three a chance.

Autrey reported that he has received complaints of another property needing a clean-up of the junk stored on it.

Part of the problem enforcing property clean-up in Texico is that the ordinance is very broad.

"We need guidelines," said Chancy. Hamar, Byrum and City Judge Howard Billingsley will meet to set up better guidelines.

Miscellany

- Chancy announced that the swimming pool contract has been awarded to Delores Edwards.

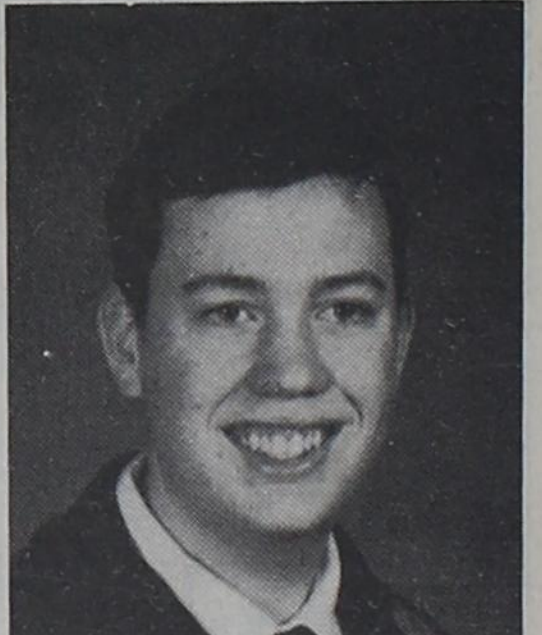

The pool will not be open for at least two or three weeks. It's being painted now. Then the filter must be cleaned, after the pool is filled. And a state inspection is needed.

- Voted to increase the lumination and number of the street lights along the highway. It will cost $128 a month. The vote was 3-2, with Tharp and Kube opposed.

Currently, the city has four 20,000 luminous bulbs along the highway, with the others at 7,000. They will be replaced with nine 27,500 and seven 15,000 bulbs.

- Chancy said the state will have its final hearing on grant requests for street funds May 26. Texico is seeking $200,000 in CDBG money. It will know by Monday whether it will get any of it.

- Set the next council meeting for June 13.

SPS to return more credits

Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) has filed to distribute $13 million in credits to its Texas retail customers, primarily representing these customers' share of proceeds from SPS's sales of electricity and other utilities.

A residential customer who uses 1,000 kilowatt hours a month would receive a credit of $10.21.

These new credits are separate from and in addition to previously announced credits related to recent SPS rate reductions.

As a participant in an experimental market program, SPS has been able to sell electricity to western utilities as far away as California on a competitive basis, said Jerry Diller, SPS's group manager of rates and regulation. Under the program, 75% of the difference between the cost of production and the sales price is to go to customers in the SPS service area, Diller said.

"Previously, these states required time-consuming approvals of individual transactions and a rigid price formula established by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission," Diller said. "Under the experimental program, utilities are able to buy and sell electricity in what amounts to a daily auction."

The credit also represents proceeds from SPS sales to other utilities made in the traditional regulated manner.

SPS has been successful in the bulk-power market because it is a low-cost producer, Diller said.

"Demand has been high because several power plants in the western United States have been out of service for various reasons," Diller said. "Also, hydro-electric power from the Pacific Northwest was limited due to relatively dry conditions."

These circumstances will change, Diller said, so it is difficult to predict if SPS sales at past levels will continue.

SPS filed the requested credit with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUCT). If approved, the credit would be recognized in August electric bills.

"We also are requesting that the PUCT establish a procedure whereby we can pass on any future credits from such sales on a periodic basis as they accumulate," Diller said. "Under present PUCT procedures this is not possible."

The proceeds from these bulk-power sales to other utilities are treated as a fuel-cost credit. The $13 million credit requested by SPS includes approximately $2 million in traditional fuel savings resulting from lower costs for coal and natural gas. The credit also includes interest at 11.7%.

Askew honored

McDaniels, Smith victorious

Roy McDaniels of Texico and his partner from Clovis, Maurice Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith of Farwell, won the Super Bowl for 42 players in the Texas Stadium.

Albert Smith of Farwell and his partner, Doyle Lowe of Clovis, won seven games in the tournament before they were beaten with only two games ahead.

There were 10 local people who attended the contest out of 256 contestants.

They could spend their breaks between games watching the football tryouts in Texas Stadium.

Cotton crop threatened

Although the fate of the 1989 cotton crop on the High Plains is yet to be determined, the threat of a crop disaster for many producers is "too obvious to be ignored."

So says a statement prepared by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, and presented in Amarillo May 19 to a hearing before a House Subcommittee on wheat, soybeans, and feed grains. On hand to give an oral summary of the statement and answer committee questions was PCG Vice President Larry Nelson, Hale and Swisher County farmer and ginner of Tulia.

The hearing was called by Subcommittee Chairman Dan Glickman (D-Kan.) as an outgrowth of the severe drought that devastated winter wheat crops in Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas. Congress in 1988 passed legislation giving federal assistance to last year's drought-plagued corn and sorghum producers. But the Administration advised the National Association of Wheat Growers that any extension of that bill's benefits to winter wheat producers would have to come from Congress.

In response, both Chairman Glickman and subcommittee member Bill Sarpalius (D-Texas) have introduced legislation. The chairman's bill would give aid only to drought-affected wheat producers who planted in 1988 for 1989 harvest. The Sarpalius measure would extend the 1988 disaster relief program to all 1989 planted crops and add freeze damage to the list of covered losses.

The PCG statement said "All indicators point to a subnormal if not disastrous year," citing a severe shortage of subsoil moisture all over the High Plains, the general absence of rainfall for seed germination on dryland farms, and the ever-present threat of wind and hail losses.

And if the threat of widespread losses becomes reality, PCG continued, "producers who lose a cotton crop will suffer just as much and will need and deserve help just as much as those who lose a corn or wheat crop."

Asked about the extent to which rains in the week preceding the hearing might have alleviated cotton's problems, PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson said the overall moisture deficit for most of the High Plains has barely been touched. "Hardly any of our area has enough rain to even begin to replenish the deep moisture we normally depend on for normal production," he explains, "and I'd guess there's still well over a million acres on dryland farms where getting a stand without more rain is either out of the question or very iffy."

PCG earlier had projected 1989 cotton acreage in its 25 counties at about 3 million, 1.8 million of which is without irrigation.

Hightower: Aid needed

"Texas farmers and ranchers need immediate assistance to survive the back-to-back droughts of 1988 and 1989," Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said.

"The release of the wheat production estimates underscores what we have been telling Congress for some time:

PCG answers some questions

At May 12, about 60 percent or 1.8 million of the 3 million acres expected to produce cotton this year on the Texas High Plains is powder dry.

On the other 40 percent, where at least light irrigation is possible, planting has begun and a small acreage, mostly in Gaines County, is up and looking good. But much of the irrigated acreage has been or is being planted under conditions not generally conducive to healthy strands and normal production.

Most critical, of course, is the situation of dryland producers totally dependent on rain for the germination of seed. And their plight is spawning a host of questions, says Donald Johnson, executive vice president of Plains Cotton Growers Inc.

Questions, he says, revolve around target price deficiency payments, permissible alternative crops if rain comes too late for cotton and the possibility of disaster payments. PCG has been able in a general way to answer many of these queries, said Johnson, but he cautions "as always, the final case by case authority on cotton program matters rest with the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service."

Other than loss indemnity from insurance, the only cotton income for producers unable to produce a crop will come from deficiency payments. So those without planting moisture want to know whether they will be eligible for those payments on acreage not planted, said Johnson.

The answer, he says, is that deficiency payments will be made only on acreage actually planted to cotton unless the producer chooses the "50-92" option. Under that option, producers who plant at least 50 percent of permitted acreage may receive payment on 92 percent of permitted acreage. The option is open until the final certification date July 15.

ASCS defines acres actually planted as acreage planted in a workmanlike manner in anticipation of a normal harvest. "Dry planting" is covered by that definition, said Johnson, unless ASCS determines it wasn't done in a workmanlike manner for some other reason.

Also, he continues, planting after the county's established final planting date will qualify producers for deficiency payments if payments otherwise would be due. After the final planting date, if a producer fails after making every effort to get and keep a stand of cotton, he may plant and harvest another crop on base cotton acreage and still collect cotton deficiency payments. However, there are conditions governing which alternative crops may be planted, said Johnson, "and that's something each producer should get from his county ASCS office."

Johnson isn't optimistic about disaster payments but says PCG is definitely pursuing that possibility. In that regard, he said, PCG Vice President Larry Nelson of Tulia, Texas, will testify May 19 at a hearing in Amarillo. The hearing, called by a House Subcommittee on Wheat, Soybeans and Feed Grains, is to discuss pending measures that would extend last year's drought relief law to cover certain 1989 losses.

The drought is wreaking havoc in as many as 100 Texas counties, and we need help now," Hightower said. USDA estimates that Texas winter wheat production will drop 32 percent from last year, while nationwide production will be down 8.3 percent.

According to Hightower, the entire Texas Panhandle, which produces 37 percent of the total Texas wheat by dryland methods, is between 34 percent to 64 percent below normal precipitation. Not just wheat farmers, but also ranchers who graze wheat pastures are suffering. April placements on Texas feedlots jumped 6 percent over March, to 2.15 million head as burned pastures have forced many ranchers to sell early. Prices for feeder steers have slid, from $1.00/head in March to $0.92 currently.

"The price of wheat has jumped significantly because our stored surplus is down. Last year at this time, wheat was trading between $2.36-$2.58/bu. on the High Plains. It is currently trading between $3.88- 4.05/bu.

"This price rise will lower government costs significantly, since every nickle rise in the price of wheat will generate about $100 million in taxpayer savings," said Hightower. "These savings should more than offset the cost of extending 1988 drought relief programs to the 1989 crop."

Texas is the number four producer of winter wheat, after Kansas, Oklahoma and Washington.

Seat belt law to be expanded

Starting on June 16, New Mexico will change its seat belt laws to include all vehicles under 10,000 pounds or less.

It will no longer apply only to passenger vehicles. In the past, law enforcement officers were faced with a problem of determining whether a vehicle was classified as a passenger vehicle or a truck. Now all vehicles under 10,000 pounds are included.

The number of fatal accidents in pick-up trucks has risen drastically in the last three years in New Mexico, so the state legislature decided that it needed to include pick-up trucks and vans and other vehicles in the safety seat belt use law.

For several years previous to passage of the act, New Mexico had been in the top three states in the nation in the number of motor vehicle deaths on a per capita basis and on a miles driven basis.

Under the new law, if a child is a passenger in a vehicle without a seat belt the driver receives a citation and a fine. If an adult or teenager is riding without a seat belt, the passenger himself is ticketed.

The law enforcement officer does not need to stop the vehicle for any other traffic violation before he stops a vehicle because passengers are not wearing seat belts.

The new law applies only to vehicles used on public roads. It does not apply to farmers or ranchers using vehicles on their own property. It does not apply to vehicles manufactured before safety belts became standard equipment.

Lance Akers

Akers recognized

The U.S. Achievement Academy said Lance Akers of Texico has been named a U.S. national award winner in mathematics.

This award is a prestigious honor: the Academy recognizes less than 10 percent of all American high school students.

Akers was nominated Ronnie Warmuth, math instructor. Lance will appear in the academy yearbook, published nationally.

Lance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Akers of Texico. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ben Akers of Clovis.

New drill team

The Farwell Steer Band will have a new drill team next fall; (front) Lena Ortiz, Lisa Gerles, Amber Bruce, (middle) Liz Galvan, Veronica Soto, Kathy Grantham, and Karen Aycock will be led by Loretta Haseloff (rear).

Nominations sought

Farwell High School Principal David Reynolds is seeking nominations for the gifted and talented program which will be implemented at the high school level this fall.

It will be called the Discovery program. All nominations submitted will be screened by a committee for evaluation and placement.

The new program is for students meeting the criteria for the gifted and talented according to Texas House Bill 72.

The gifted and talented student is defined as:

"Gifted and talented students" means a student who, by virtue of outstanding mental abilities is capable of high performance. The student may demonstrate, one or in combination, above-average achievement or potential in such areas as general intellectual ability, specific subject matter aptitude, ability in creative and productive thinking and leadership ability.

If you know a student who fits this description, please notify the Farwell High School counselor's office. Give the name of the student, and the reason for nomination.

Stephens honored

A graduation luncheon was held in honor of Kendra Stephens Saturday in the home of Susan Johnson.

Eighteen guests enjoyed a luncheon of strawberry soup, baked chicken salad, Spring salad, hot rolls, and brownies ala mode. Each of the 18 guests received a framed calligraphy saying made by co-hostess Robin Gregory.

Refinishing tackled

Students in one of Kendale Burch's home ec classes at Texico did some unusual projects this year: they tackled upholstery and furniture refinishing.

They refinished a big desk, a table with 8 chairs, a dresser, and a rattan rocker. They upholstered chairs and a recliner.

"We're always trying something different," says Mrs. Burch.

Hail damages some areas

Last week's rain brought spotty patches of heavy hail. The areas around Rhea, Clay's Corner, Oklahoma Lane, and Hub received the most damage.

The Parmer County ASCS office reports that few hail damage claims have been filed because many of the wheat fields had already been declared disaster areas. The drought this year had destroyed much of the wheat. Luckily, farmers in this area are allowed to hay and graze all year because of the drought conditions.

OLD FASHIONED AMERICAN PRIDE

There was a time in this country when the things we made, we made by hand. Skilled craftsmen who cared about the work they did took the time to do the job right. And every object they made was stamped with pride.

That spirit of endeavor is not lost today. You'll find it in Americans from coast to coast — men and women who still care enough to do their best. From artist to accountant, farmer to factory worker, Americans can be proud of the work they're doing. Just as they can be proud of the country that work has built.

It may sound corny today to say it, but we're proud of America — proud of the old-fashioned values this country stands for and still has. America, you're the greatest!

A TIME TO REMEMBER

A day to remember, to reflect upon the price so dearly paid for freedom.

It is a day rich in history and emotion. Established three years after the Civil War, it was originally called Decoration Day ... when graves of friend and foe alike were honored. Those with no one to mourn their passing were not overlooked: they too were remembered for the enormous price paid for liberty and justice for all.

Our country is politically stalwart today because these Americans invested all they had - their lives - in America. Their investment returns security, freedom, and human dignity to the living every day.

Americans cannot abandon the justice and freedom for which these brave men and women have fought and died. Spend a moment remembering.

Outage reported

The combination of damage to a major transmission line by high winds and a problem at a power plant resulted in an outage of up to 40 minutes on the night of May 9 for some customers of SPS.

At about 9 p.m., one of the generating units at SPS's Talk Station power plant near Muleshoe suddenly went out of service due to a problem with its internal unit controls.

The SPS system is designed to withstand the loss of a large generating unit without interruption of service to customers. However, the company's largest transmission line, a 345,000 volt inter-connection with the Southwest Power Pool, was out of service. High winds virtually destroyed six miles of the line near Vernon, Texas, two weeks ago. Thirty of the steel towers that support the line were literally ripped from the ground or severely damaged.

Normally, the line would instantly provide emergency power to SPS from other electric utilities to the east. With the line down, the other SPS inter-connection with the power pool was unable to handle the load.

Protective devices engineering into the SPS transmission network automatically cut power at various points positioned around the SPS service area in order to stabilize the system. The outage affected customers representing less than 10 percent of the electric demand at the time. The safeguards prevented the outage from affecting more customers.

Other SPS power plants immediately began increasing their generation to make up for the lost Talk Station unit. Within 20 minutes, power was restored to many customers. Within 40 minutes, all power had been restored.

The Talk Station unit was restored to service later that evening. Repair work continues on the transmission line, which is expected to be back in service within a week.

PCG says support up

Plains Cotton Growers Inc. has gained more support for its objections to increased loan program cotton quality discounts for 1989.

The more severe penalties will mean millions of dollars in lost income for Texas cotton producers in 1989, PCG President Steve Verett said. The effect of this year's discount increases will figure into the discounts for future years as well. USDA figures the discount as a simple average of the previous year's loan discounts and average spot market quotations for the first 7 months of the same marketing year.

That system in the past has resulted in smaller loan program discounts following a year when the market imposes quality discounts below those contained in the loan schedule. Producer observations, on the Plains at least, indicate that that's what happened in 1987 and 1988. Discounts narrowed in 1988, as expected. But for 1989, the spread between the base quality and lower qualities widened, and PCG is leading an effort to determine why.

Verett said the Texas Association of Cotton Producer Organizations is backing PCG's position that producers are due an explanation.

The couple will exchange vows on June 10 at 4 p.m. MDT at Texico First Baptist Church.

The bride-elect is a 1989 graduate of Texico High School. She plans to attend Frank Phillips College in Borger and major in cosmetology.

The prospective groom is a 1987 graduate of Texico High School. He is employed with D.E. Rice Construction in Borger.

The ceremony and reception are open to all relatives and friends.

Farwell Convalescent Center Chat

By Lynne Gann
Activity Director

This week is a time of "welcome backs."

Debra Looper, our administrator, has returned after several weeks of recuperating from surgery. And Bertha Alfred, our volunteer manicurist, is to return Tuesday after a long bout of rest and healing of a broken leg. We have missed both Debra's and Bertha's cheerful smiles and companionship. Welcome home, ladies.

Last week was a busy one for us. The petting zoez was our Wednesday highlight with a boa constrictor, baby ducks, baby goslings and chicks, two ferrets, an owl and two rats. The boa and rats were met with much restraint while the ducks, goslings, chicks, ferrets and owl were a huge success. Everyone wanted to touch and fondle the pets.

It was a very enjoyable visit. We hope to have them come share more of their zoo with us in the future.

Country and western dress-up day was fun. We had staff and residents join in. Cowgirls and cowboys were everywhere.

Do join us for our birthday party Friday the 26th. With the Border Town Fourt, we are bound to have a good time.

From all of us to all of you, have a safe and fun Memorial Day weekend!
